Forty-Six Delegates Arrive For A. C. A. C. W. Conference

Representatives From Nine Far Western States Begin Three-Day Session With Open Meetings, "Get Acquainted" Program

Forty-six delegates participated today in the first business meetings of the eighth Western Sectional Conference of A.C.A.C.W., which opened on the campus this morning. Nearly every train arriving in Reno yesterday from 6 o'clock in the morning until 11:20 at night brought in delegates to make a record-breaking convention for the University of Nevada.

Twenty-four junior colleges, teachers colleges, and universities scattered throughout nine western states, are represented. As each new arrival was brought up to Artemisia Hall, she was registered, given an official badge, and then taken to either a sorority house or to a room in the dormitory. Last night the delegates were brought together for the first time at a "get-together" party in the home economics room, where Dick Hillman and Dudley Nix provided the music for dancing.

A skit, burlesquing the registration procedure, was given by Mary Trudelle, Kathryn Martin, Helen Peterson, and Marthine Solaris. At 9 o'clock this morning the conference was officially opened in the Education building auditorium by Dora Clover, president. After welcoming addresses by Mrs. Walter E. Clark, Dean Margaret E. Mack, and Professor Elsa Samoth, a summary of the last sectional conference was given by the University of Washington, and the subject of health week was reported on by the Universities of Washington and Oregon.

The Pan-Hellenic Council took the delegates to Hutton's Hut for luncheon at 12:30 after which the open meeting was resumed with a report on triangular play day by the University of California, and one on high school play day by the University of Montana. Further problems were discussed later in the afternoon and a closed meeting, attended only by official delegates, was held for the purpose of choosing the location for the next sectional conference.

After a "gold rush" dinner at Verdi Glen, sponsored by Cap and Scroll, women's honorary society, the guests will attend the annual Spring Festival under the direction of Elsa Samoth, with a cast of 80 women students chosen from the physical education department. This year the program is divided into two groups, the first—Spring Interlude, and the second—Fire. It is expected to surpass previous festivals in variety and talent.

Tomorrow morning will be occupied with further reports and discussions and in the afternoon the trip to Virginia City will be made. Luncheon will be served at Waa-Neva Cabin by the Gothic N Society while informal discussion of lodges and cabins are given by Mills College, Oregon State College, University of Oregon, and the University of Nevada.

The tour of Virginia City will be brief but thorough, with "old-timers" serving as guides to all places of historical interest. The return to Reno will be made by way of Geiger Grade and in time for the formal banquet at the Century Club which will be attended by many members of the Associated Women Students. Mrs. Walter E. Clark is to toastmistress. This banquet will conclude the three day session and delegates will leave Reno tomorrow night and Sunday for their homes.

Exhibits of W.A.A. awards, handbooks, scrapbooks, plaques, and pins prepared by members of the conference will be on display tomorrow morning in the library room on the second floor of the Education building. They will be judged according to their relative merits and announcement of the best display will probably be made at the formal banquet.

Paint-Streaked Savages Swoop Down On Campus

Primitive Drama Presented By Initiates of Coffin and Keys Today

A horde of paint-streaked savages swept down upon a defenseless campus this morning, striking terror into students as they pursued their blood-thirsty way through classrooms and campus to announce "Drippings," the year's biggest melodrama, presented by the newly elected members of Coffin and Keys, men's honorary society.

A volley of shots heralded the approach of cannibals who erected a colorful tent on the lawn below the tram. Their attention was soon attracted by beautiful Indian princesses staging a primitive dance around a handsome chieftain, who accompanied their mysterious and fantastic postures with native music.

Cannibals Capture Indians Advancing upon the unwary natives behind brush screen, the cannibals made a surprise attack and brought their prisoners back to camp. Gladys Hapbottom resorted to Eya's ancient tactics, bringing well-polished apples and bananas to appease the savage chief, but lost her life while enabling her companions to escape.

Following a war dance with jungle tom-toms beating a melancholy rhythm the escaped Indians turned upon their persecutors, hurling spears and firing slings into the cannibal camp. A respite into the "musical" sent cannibals hustling for blood after the Indians, doing gory murder and bringing back the dripping knives to the chieftain for his delight.

Indians Victorious Successful in another counter attack the Indians chased their enemies into retreat and followed to finish the affair with a wholesale scalping.

Coffin and Keys is a men's honorary upperclass fraternity and is the highest honor a man can achieve on the campus. Members are elected each spring from the outstanding leaders of the two upper classes, and the informal initiation takes place on election day in the form of a burlesque on some historical event, or a representation of a native scene.

Crowds of students, faculty, and townpeople lined the tram and gathered on the edge of the campus to view the presentation, which is annually staged by Coffin and Keys.

New Members Named The players and their stage names are: Art Brewster, Chief Standarscratcher; Ted Overton, Chief Harry Wilde Bottom; Irvin Ayer, Chief Wash Hadit; Stanley Johnson, Chief Drip Drip; Bill Blakely, Go and Fetchit; John Griffin, How He Canvased; Eddie Cantion, Fannie Under-slung; Wallace White, Gladys Hapbottom; Joe Jackson, Minnie Close to the Ground.

Electrical Students See Education Movie Through the courtesy of the Westinghouse Electric Company the University of Nevada chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineering were shown a two reel movie film last week. The film, entitled "The Story of the Steam Turbine," was mostly a technical illustration of the operation of the steam turbine, and also showed various stages of construction.

Campus Tulip Beds Show Signs Of Life With the advent of spring the campus takes on a brighter and fresher look as the grass is getting greener and the tulip beds are showing signs of life. By Commencement time it is hoped that the tulips will be in bloom.

Each year it is planned to have different varieties of flowers in each of the beds. Handicapped by the illness of John Rosasco, the gardener, the work has been carried on under difficulty but it is progressing rapidly.

Graduates Visit Hill In Vacation During the Easter holidays Misses Margaret Baird, Mary O'Neill, and Lucille Baker visited in Reno. The women are members of the Tri Delta sorority, and graduated from the University several years ago. All three are at the present time teaching in McGill.

Cantlon Elected A.S.U.N. President When Final Results Are Announced

While votes, cast from 8 o'clock this morning until 4 o'clock this afternoon in today's A.S.U.N. election was being counted, interest on the campus was at a high peak as to which of the 21 candidates will fill the ten student body offices. With every office except those of yell leader and vice president contested by two and in some cases three students, close votes resulted in every case, and the successful nominees were not decided until the final count tonight.

This year has seen less activity on the part of the political combines than in past elections. The leaders of the three combines witnessed many splits when the time had come to vote and speculation was high as to the validity of many prelection promises. Due to the fact that nominations were closed prior to the decisions of the eligibility committee as to the qualifications of the candidates, the combine headed by the S.A.E.'s found the office of vice president uncontested.

Many bets were posted as to the outcome of the presidential race, and the fact that there was an abundance of Wilson money indicated that the Cantlon supporters were a trifle worried. Bets for the minor offices were being consistently made and there was no trouble in getting any amount of money covered.

Because the eligibility committee declared Viou Trevitt short of hours to compete for office may have caused the independents to cling a little closer to their ticket. Being one of the leaders of the Independent group, Viou Trevitt's ineligibility caused considerable ire among this faction, particularly since they were not given an opportunity to fill in the office later in the race.

This is the first year in a good many that the independents have been organized so strongly. A concentrated effort on the part of Viou Trevitt and Walter Clark in bringing this group to the polls, a considerable weight in the outcome of the election.

Voting this year was held in the old Chemistry building instead of the Mackay School of Mines.

Forensic Artists To Appear Here

The annual Nevada State High School Forensic League will be held at the University of Nevada April 17. A number of high schools have already signified their intention of entering this contest and as the final date is not until tomorrow several more are expected to join. Any student is eligible providing he is passing in at least two-thirds of his school work, has not attended high school longer than four years, and is recommended by his principal.

The tournament consists of seven different contests. There is to be a debate, extemporaneous speaking, an oratorical contest, humorous readings, Shakespearean scenes, serious readings, and one-act plays, both of a serious and humorous nature. As yet the subject matter of these contests has not been decided upon.

The tournament held last year was well contested and was of high interest to both the participants and the audiences. Reno High school managed to carry away highest honors, obtaining five of the seven cups that were offered, and Elko and Lovelock the other two. The one act play, the Shakespearean scenes, the extemporaneous speaking, the humorous reading, and the oratorical contests were won by Reno High, while Lovelock won the serious reading and Elko the debate.

The high schools who have already joined the league are Elko, Carson City, Fernley, Virginia City, Reno, Sparks, Ely, Humboldt, Reno, Las Vegas, Lovelock, Carlin, and Winnemucca.

Difficulties Met In Using Historical Society Building

Prohibitive Repairing Expenses Make Student Union Headquarters Dim Possibility In Old Structure

A possibility that the Nevada Historical Society building, authorized as a gift to the students of the University of Nevada by the recent Legislature, may not be used for a student union, loomed this week when student officials realized more fully the nature of the property given them.

It was thought that the frame building in the rear of the Historical Society building was meant to be used for publication and student body offices. However, it was found out that the residence to the north of the brick building was to be used for this purpose.

$500 Necessary In order to make this building suitable for office use it was learned that between $50 and $750 would have to be expended for the repairing of floors, walls and the installation of a lighting system.

Should the frame building be repaired for this purpose, the balcony of the Historical Society building would be partitioned off into rooms that would be a meeting place for the different organizations on the campus, and the bottom floor would be used for

University Women Invited To Attend Special Services

Rev. Moll Case Will Conduct Program Sponsored By Federated Church

An all-university women's service will be held at the Federated church this Sunday. The custom of holding such services is increasing in popularity on many campuses of American universities and will be followed up each year by the Federated church, as sponsor to students of the University of Nevada. An all-university men's service will be held two weeks from Sunday.

A general invitation has been extended to all women, and they will be asked to sit in the center of the north transept of the church under the memory of windows installed in memory of Sarah Hartman ex-'30, who lost her life three years ago. She was an honor student on the campus and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

The services will be conducted by Rev. Wm. Moll Case of the Federated church. Dr. Case has been university pastor at the University of Oregon and at the College of Idaho prior to coming to Reno. He is a graduate of Yale University and held the Yale fellowship at Spring St. Neighborhood House at New York City. Dr. Case offers a vital message and helpful suggestions to students who attend.

As in the past years the whitewash will be mixed at the base of the hill and will be transported to the "N" by means of a bucket brigade.

Women members of the class will attend and will furnish some sort of refreshment at noon.

Kappa Kappa Psi Sponsors Concert

The spring concert which is given annually by the University of Nevada, band will be held on the campus below the tram next Sunday at 2:30 under the auspices of Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary society for band men.

J. Little and Kenneth Elges; a World War medley with incidental solos by Mrs. Theodore Post and George Gottschalk; and several selections by the band.

This concert will be the closing feature of the band's season with the exception of two or three military review functions later on.

Sagens Rest Room Plans Furthered

Members of the Sagens gave reports at the regular meeting Tuesday night on furniture which the women had collected for the new women's rest room. Members of the home economics classes are to work out the decoration scheme and the Sagens are to collect and paint the furniture under their supervision.

Cars are to be furnished by the members to take visiting W.A.A. delegates to Virginia City tomorrow morning, and the women also met the out of town delegates at the train and took them to their residences Thursday and Friday afternoon and evening.

Lecture Recital Is Presented By Kany

California Professor Gives Last Of Scheduled Addresses

Presenting a musical journey thru Spain, Dr. Charles E. Kany entertained an audience in the University auditorium last night with an explanation and examples of characteristic Spanish folk songs. He accompanied himself on the guitar and piano.

Dr. Kany discussed the primitive forms of music which still exist in the rural sections of the Spanish peninsula. He sang the Basque national anthem, the jota, or dance song of Navarre and Aragon, which is concluded with a peculiar short cry similar to the neigh of a horse.

The songs of the province of Galicia, Dr. Kany explained, are characterized by pastoral grace and simplicity, melancholy and peace, and are usually played on the bagpipe.

Serenades Exist Serenades exist in many forms in all parts of Spain. The young men of the village "rarely sing their serenades in their own villages, but hide themselves to other villages and then gather together beneath the windows of the black-eyed señoritas, who throw them sweetmeats and cakes."

Dr. Kany illustrated many other types of Spanish songs—fandangos, saetas, or songs which express gratitude or sorrow in piercing, nasal tones, combined with sobs at the end of triplets.

Dr. Kany is the last speaker on the 1930-31 lecture series.

Inter-Greek Body Considers Rules

Each member of the Interfraternity Council was given a copy of the constitution of the organization at the meeting held Monday, in order to consider any changes which might improve it. Inasmuch as the present representatives of the fraternities on the Hill have been members of the council for two semesters, it is believed they should have some definite ideas concerning changes in the constitution so that it may be made as efficient as possible. Suggestions for the revision of the constitution are to be prepared and submitted at the next meeting, to be held April 20th.

Election To Be Held The next meeting of the council will also be the last one of the year. New delegates from the fraternities will be present and the election of officers for next semester will take place.

Former U.N. Student Writes From France

"Holland is a wonderful country, and its milk, cream and cheese is 100 per cent pure. It is also interesting to note that on New Years, that is, one day out of the year, that Holland Dutch enforce one day of prohibition."

History Of W.A.A. Dates To Founding At Nevada In 1920

Connected with the Athletic Conference of American College Women in 1922, the Women's Athletic Association has existed on the Nevada campus since 1920 when it was a section of A.W.S. The organization has always been the stressing of "play for play's sake" rather than any competition motives, thereby giving to every woman the opportunity to join in all sports. A further aim of the group is cooperation with the physical education department in promoting interest in athletic activities.

Special projects that have been undertaken during the history of W.A.A. include the handbook which was published last fall and contains a complete outline of the various sports seasons, reports, constitution, and by-laws. A health week is sponsored every year in which emphasis is laid on the importance of perfect health as a foundation for well-rounded living.

W.A.A. Scholarship
One of the important side-issues that W.A.A. is responsible for and has carried on since 1923 is the awarding of a $75 scholarship, raised through the sale of ice cream and candy during the high school basketball tournaments, to a desirable member.

The highest honor given to any W.A.A. member is election to the Gothic N Society, made on the basis of sportsmanship, scholarship, activity on the campus, and service in W.A.A. A summary of the sports sponsored by the organization include hockey, soccer, volleyball, tennis, rifle, baseball, basketball, archery, golf, swimming, riding, and hiking. At the conclusion of each season, a banquet is held to which all members participating in the sport are invited, and at which time the mythical varsity team is announced, composed of the best players who took an active interest in the sport.

Membership to the organization was formerly based on a point system, which was abolished in 1929, as giving too much importance to competition to gain awards, and not enough on the spirit of playing the game.

W.A.A. is controlled by an executive committee, consisting of the managers of the various sports and the officers of the organization, who included this year Dora Clover, president; Dorothy Ernst, vice president; Dorothy Kallenbach, treasurer, and Helen Peterson, secretary.

Mae Simas Helping With Meeting Plans

Mae Simas, physical education instructor and direct of W.A.A. activities, has taken a major part in making the extensive preparations necessary for the success of the A.C.A.C.W. conference here this week-end.

A graduate of the University of Nevada in 1928, Mrs. Simas is thoroughly familiar with the W.A.A. organization. As its president in her senior year, she attended the national A.C.A.C.W. conference at Cornell. Since then, she has been a member of the physical education staff, and last year in the absence of Elsa Sameth, served as acting head of the department. For the past three years she has also acted as faculty advisor of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet. Mrs. Simas is a member of Gothic N, Cap and Scroll, and Kappa Alpha Theta.

Spring Interlude, Fire Dances Featured As Theme Of Production

One of the most distinctive Spring Festivals ever given at the University of Nevada will be presented tonight at 8:15 in the gym as a special feature of the A.C.A.C.W. conference.

Elsa Sameth, professor of physical education, has directed the production through several months of preparation and rehearsal, assisted by a committee composed of Gladys Morris, publicity; Fern Witmer and Denise Denson, set designers; Ruth Fish, Clara Tomlin, and Julia Baldini, properties. This group has met twice a week to plan the music, settings, costumes, dances, and other parts of the program. Almost every woman enrolled in the physical education department has a part in the festival which has a cast of over 80 students.

Two Sections Included
The festival will be divided into two sections. The first group of dances will be known as the Spring Interlude, and the second division will have Fire as its special theme. Included in the fire dances will be two Hindoo fire worship, which Dr. James H. Cousins, a recent lecturer at the University, declared were authentic.

The symbolism which underlies the Spring Interlude is expressed on the program as follows: "Spring dances through the world, with the spirits of the trees and flowers, of the sunlight and the warm winds, and of the waters. A mischievous winter sprite and rollicking spirits of the cold winds, the storm cloud, and the falling snow, burst in upon them. The winter maidens burst in upon them. The spring maidens made friendly overtures but their very friendliness is too warm for her. She

LOOK UP at the windows of Larkness to find out what the Yale man smokes. In the spring-time you'll see him sitting in his window seat with a pipeful of Edgeworth between his teeth.

On Chapel Street... out at the Bowl... everywhere the Yale man goes, his pipe and Edgeworth go with him. And at 42 out of 54 of the leading colleges and universities Edgeworth is the favorite tobacco.

A tobacco must be good to win the vote of so many discriminating smokers. And Edgeworth is good. To convince yourself try Edgeworth. You can get it wherever tobacco is sold... 15¢ a tin. Or, for a generous free sample, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Virginia.

Dancers Represent Nature
Amy Yarrington takes the part of Spring, and Viola Huych that of Winter, with a group of dancers representing trees, flowers, clouds, and winds. Eighteen small children have been selected for the role of snowflakes.

The second part of the Spring Festival called "Fire," is composed of an origin myth, sacrifice, and third a rhapsody with Hindu dancers, sparks, and conflagration. Ruth Fist, as the human sacrifice; Nell Lozano as the slave, and Clara Tomlin as the dervisher, have solo parts in this group of dances. In the last figure Fern Witmer is the central figure, and in the sunrise set the following women have leading roles: Leone Kramer and Gladys Morris, priestesses; Marguerite Bridges, priest; Mildred Robinson, fire giver.

Other committees who have helped in the production of the Spring Festival are: Settings, Oscar Robinson; music, Denise Denson; lighting, William Collonan; costumes, Jessie Pope.

Establishing an entirely new event on the Yale calendar, prominent leaders of the Yale class of 1934 have announced that plans have been completed for a freshman dance.

Gothic N, Highest Award For Women Given By W. A. A.

Gothic N, women's honorary athletic society, has existed at the University of Nevada for almost 20 years even though its purpose and qualifications for membership have shown marked variations in response to new ideas concerning women's athletics.

Established in April, 1913, Gothic N began as a sort of "letter" organization with the announcement of new members made at the first Mackay Day luncheon, and was the only women's athletic group at a time when only the two intercollegiate sports, basketball and tennis, were participated in. Awards of Gothic N, therefore, were presented only to those women who had taken part in a one-half of an intercollegiate basketball game or tennis match.

In 1921 competitive sports for women were discontinued and the University of Nevada women played their last basketball game against Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis. Accordingly Gothic N drew up a new constitution, making the organization an honor society, conferring letters upon those juniors the seniors who had excelled in several of the major sports offered by the physical education department.

From time to time, new requirements have been added, such as good sportsmanship, leadership, scholarship, and active participation in other campus activities.

Although Gothic N sponsors certain events throughout the year, such as a freshman party to acquaint women students with W.A.A. sports and with each other, it serves mainly as an award for exceptional ability and good sportsmanship already demonstrated in W.A.A. work.

The old award of a heavy white sweater and a blue Gothic N insignia has recently been displayed by a navy blue hockey blazer with three patch pockets and a white Gothic N being placed on the breast pocket. The change was made because members felt that the award should be more serviceable, some article of apparel which they could wear more frequently on the campus.

A NEW CONSTITUTION

The newly revised constitution of the Associated Students is this week being presented to the student body through the columns of the Sagebrush. Next week it will be presented to the students in assembly for their consideration.

While the entire constitution is before every student in print it behooves each one to peruse the document carefully, comment on changes and additions, and to offer suggestions if necessary. True enough, it will be a difficult task for each individual student to consider each section in detail. However, there is a part in the document which will affect every student and his interests. Thus a complete investigation of each section in this manner by those most vitally interested in specific parts will be a complete consideration of the document by the student body.

Many changes have been made in the new constitution. The entire code has been reworded for the most part and condensed in almost all sections. New clauses and provisions have been added in order to keep up with the progress of the University. The revision which has just been completed has been so adequate and so complete that annual revision, so long a nuisance in the past, should not be necessary.

The Associated Students owe a debt of thanks to the hard working, consistent committee members who have given their time for a period stretching over two semesters in order that a suitable constitution may be used to guide and direct student activities.

PAINT THAT "N"

Another attempt at painting the "N" will be made tomorrow morning by the freshman class. The job was skipped last spring because of an apparent laxness on the part of the upperclass Committee and the sophomore class.

Nevada's fine old tradition of having her famous symbol on Peavine receive a new coat of whitewash every semester should not be allowed to fall into the discard as has been the case with the majority of old traditions. Attempts last year were made to paint the "N" but on several occasions so few of the freshmen reported that it was impossible to carry out the work.

It is hoped that the same thing will not happen tomorrow. When the call is given for all freshmen to meet in order to make the journey, there is no better opportunity to display a living loyalty and school spirit. It has always been the case that there are a few laggards who are disinterested and without spirit, but their attitude should be only an added stimulus to those who are intent on doing the work.

One of the greatest things which could be put down in the history of the present freshman class is the fact that they turned out in full force to paint the "N," as freshman classes long ago did every semester. Such an event would be a contrast to the slipshod manner in which the job has been done for the past five semesters, and the golden chance is before the class of '34 to reinstate one of Nevada's most beneficial traditions.

WELCOME DELEGATES

The University of Nevada, represented in particular by the Women's Athletic Association, is this week-end host to a group of representatives from twenty-five colleges. Nevada can feel justly honored in being able to entertain these many guests from representative colleges of the western states, and to have the privilege of holding the eighth Western Sectional Conference on its campus.

A hearty welcome is extended from all hands to the many delegates who are here this week, and they are without a doubt being royally entertained in the true Nevada spirit by the feminine portion of the student body. Should the women guests in their stay find something new and interesting every day, and see the best things which are fundamental in Nevada life they will have received added benefit from their convention.

Sageless Brush

Pounding the pavements isn't given over only to the unemployed. The University will have to have an extensive paving program next year if the gardeners on the campus go on watering the grass and sidewalks at the same time and force students out into the streets to avoid getting wet. It's almost as bad as putting that ungodly covering over the grass to make it green—or that's what we've been told it does. I'd turn green too if that was ever me.

Wouldn't it just be like Coffin and Keys today to have their running? Election isn't enough to have to go through. Sounds like I was running for something, but that's just emul. (Good word.) Canton and Wilson will know by the time the paper is out whether it was worth the trouble to flash the old Pepsodent smile (adv.) on the campus for the last two weeks. But that doesn't explain where Canton got the shiner.

Monday the S.A.E.'s warmed up to the fact that Minnie wasn't receiving enough publicity among certain members decided to drag the skeleton out of the closet—or rather the dog out of the kennel—and show her to all the world. If there is any doubt as to Minnie's ancestors here let it be known that a jack rabbit was mugged up in it somewhere. Minnie doesn't walk like a common dog. She hops along the road like a bunny and her tail hangs along in the dirt. (Wouldn't my English professor that expression!) There's no doubt that Minnie is quite the purp.

We are promised another Wolf this semester by Editor Mariani. Won't that be fun! If it comes out like the last one, only a month and a half late, college will have to remain in session to allow the world's best comic to be put into circulation. It will probably be a Fourth of July issue. Or maybe it will come fifth and scape (oh, no that line is for something else).

On strolling around: First signs of spring love—as good a meeting place as anywhere, the libe, or the tram; the libe is more popular for you just don't rate the campus unless your name is up on the subject to dismissal list at least every week. And the tram isn't private any more; or rather I guess the authorities on such trivialities would say it was too private and one wouldn't receive enough publicity there. Not being so foolish to mess with such things myself, I don't know just which is best; but there is always the chance of good clean fun in the libe by being dismissed.

Wish Marian Blackmer would park some of the brass. If she ever falls into Manzanita lake she'll drown from too much weight; but then as one young gentleman stated, she has lots to hold it up (the brass, I mean).

Just four more issues of the Sagebrush and we can all relax for the summer—but then, who cares just now whether one relaxes or not?

HERE AND THERE

Continual violation of the no-smoking ordinance for both men and women on the campus of the University of Colorado, may, if violated often enough cause suspension from the university, according to a statement in the student paper there recently. The ordinance is to be strictly enforced.

At Yale University a warning has been issued by one of the professors in the chemistry department to graduate students and research students that they must not make beverages out of the grain alcohol kept in the university house for experimental and laboratory work.

When the new co-op store opens at the University of South Dakota, six coeds will be behind the fountain dispensing drinks. It is frightful to think of the increase in tardiness to class that will no doubt result.

The men in the coking class at Oregon very seldom, if ever, burr anything, so carefully do they follow instructions. They now prepare one meal a day, but they expect before the end of the semester to serve a banquet.

EX-S.A.S. CUTS THROAT OF LUNSFORD, FORMER BROTHER
Ted Lunsford, pride of Higgle's journalism class, turned white with anger last Tuesday night as Brice Kincaid, his former fraternity brother, cut his throat with a dull knife by taking Ethel Hansen, Lunsford's fiancée, to dinner in a fashionable Reno refreshment palace.

To date Lunsford has done nothing about the affair, but it is current reports that the lad plans dire things in case Kincaid pulls the same stunt again. Kincaid, upon hearing this information, came forth with the following statement: "Never mind, Lunsford, eat your dinner!"

THETAS HUNGRY; MOVE IN ON PHI SIGMA KAPPA HOUSE

Four Thetas, evidently having been starved for many days, dashed into the Phi Sig house and demanded food recently. Not only did they demand dinner, they removed coat and hats and sat down at the dinner table, to plunge in hand and feet at the piles of food placed before them. And it was only after every frosh had been exhausted dragging in trays of edibles, according to reports, that the gals were satisfied.

Not being content with mere food, the Thetas broke in on a private beer bust being held in the basement, and drank all the brown liquid in the place. Current reports have it that the gals only ate the food as an excuse for being in the company of Eldridge "the Pow" Farnsworth, who had lately been christened "the Vagabond Lover."

HILARITY BREAKS PEACE IN FASHIONABLE NEWS SANCTUM

Three young gentlemen, said to be inmates of Becker's beer palace, visited the Sagebrush office last night and made merry at the expense of the staff, threatening the drag the assistant editor in the mire of corruption, and raising Cain in general.

Names of the young men could not be learned at a late hour today, but operatives working on the case state that they will have the three scooters rounded up within the next 24 hours. Thoughts of forming a vigilance committee to apprehend the offenders were rampant among many, but the idea was squelched when it was learned that too many prominent people would be involved.

CONLON ROBBERY TERMED FAKE PUBLICITY STUNT

"It was only a stunt to gain him some publicity." This was the statement issued today by Miss Donna Wilson, Conlon's companion during the recent robbery in which the sum of $25 is said to have been taken from the youth.

Enlarging on her remarks, Miss Wilson said that the robbers were grossly intoxicated at the time, and that she seized a gun in the hand of the dark gentleman, but was commanded by Conlon to "let go."

It has been rumored that Conlon feared he would spend all his money on Miss Wilson and framed the holdup as he had a date from the colony the following evening.

POETRY—WHAT!

SUNRISE ON MOUNT ROSE

Dedicated to Professor Church
The first swift rays of light that pierce the morning mists
Rest gently on the snowy crest of fair Mount Rose.
And as it glows, life seems to thrill the vastness of its deep repose.
The purple folds of lower light sweep round it base
As softly clinging garments close might fold some Perfect form in warm embrace.

Standing thus vivified, and clother, a perfect whole,
Its beauty and its grandeur thrills the soul.
In wondering awe we stand and gaze
Through mist and light and softening haze,
As worshippers in far Japan their eyes to Fujiyama raise.
—ANONYMOUS.

Upon the heights there beams a light
That sheds its rays afar
To aid some pilot in the night
And be his guiding star.

The beacon turns the whole night thru
It encompasses the land
It helps such folks as me and you
As it flashes across the sand.

There's nowhere in Nevada state
That beacons light don't shine,
No matter if the hour be late
Its path will lighten thine.

It's like the truth of God's great plan
That sometimes comes to us below:
That glory somewhere waits each man,
Though his upward journey be slow.

So Nevada friends let's accept the light
As a proof of God's guiding hand.
For back of life, with a powerful might Shines truth—like beacons in Nevada land.

—VIVIEN L. MAXWELL.

Out of Bounds

AT LAST the Frosh cut loose and decide to paint the "N." Last year the Babes lacked the get-up to paint the big block during the spring semester. It wouldn't be a bad idea to provide some form of stringent punishment to the class failing to perform this duty twice a year. If the "N" doesn't mean enough to the youngsters, then it is up to the rest of us to pound it into them some way. Associations with the old letter are almost sacred, and the Block N Society, Executive Committee, or sophomores should take it upon themselves, seriously, to see that it is done and done well.

THANK HEAVEN the elections are over. The candidates can stop being a bunch of hypocrites and save us the trouble of smiling or waving back at them. However, the elections sort of make things pep up every year and counteract the logginess of spring days so we mustn't bemoan the practice.

THE CAMPUS beautiful. Yes, it would be if it weren't for one spot. The lake is a disgrace to a university that prides itself in its grounds. The muddiness of the waters is hidden only at night and all day long we have the pleasing experience of gazing at a lake not a little resembling the excellent beginnings of a swamp.

LOOKS LIKE a race between Smith and Mariani to see who gets their publication out ahead of the other. Mariani has the difficult job of getting out another issue of the Wolf before Senior Week, while Smith is hoping to get his annual to the students by the first day of Senior Week. Bets will no doubt soon be in order up in the Publication's Hall.

Twelve hundred students of Missouri University participated recently in an all-sports night.

Yours Truly

To the Associated Student Body:
What right has the Executive Committee to take away the rights of any student as a member of the A.S.U.N.? It the A.S.U.N.—an organization by the students or by the Executive Committee? When such a drastic measure is taken the approval of the student body should be obtained. No ruling was passed by the student body that any one not apologizing for breaking traditions should lose his student body rights, and until such measure is passed by the students and Executive Committee should not have the right to take away these rights.

Cinder Artists Get First Test: Meet Gray Fog

San Franciscans Look to Take Wolf Pack in Bay City Track Duel

Nevada cinder path artists will have their first chance this afternoon to show their ability when they invade San Francisco and meet a comparatively strong foe in the San Francisco University track team. The advantage will be with S. F., because they will be on their home field and have already two victories "tucked under their belt."

Coach Emerson "Bud" Spencer, former Stanford track star, relies on Montague in the dashes, big Bob Kleckner in the weights, Alex Thomas in the javelin, and Wardlow in the broad jump and in the high jump.

Scott in Broad Jump
Nevada will be well represented in the dashes by Captain Neil Scott, a veteran of two years, who has run both dashes in previous years. Scott will be a running mate to Scott in the 220 and will also enter the quarter mile and will be expected to break the tape in this event.

Roy Salisbury will enter the mile and the half mile events. Wilson and Reid, two fast men, will help him in the shorter race, while Johnson and West will be his running mates in the mile run.

Frank O'Bryan will enter the two hurdle races, pole vault, and discus events. O'Bryan is best in time hurdles and will likely bring home a couple of first places. Arthur, a veteran of last year's squad, will run O'Bryan a close race in the high hurdles and will account for points in the high jump.

O'Hara Entered
Byron O'Hara, the only three year veteran on the squad, will be entered in the pole vault. Al Lefebvre, one of the greatest athletes that ever went to Nevada, will be entered in the shot put, broad jump, pole vault, low hurdles, 100 yard dash, and javelin throw. Lefebvre's best events are the broad jump and the javelin.

The personnel of the Nevada which entrained for San Francisco Thursday is: Coach George W. Philbrook, Captain Neil Scott, Howard Arthur, Dan Bledsoe, Arvid Johnson, Alfred Lefebvre, Frank O'Bryan, Byron O'Hara, Walter Reid, Roy Salisbury, Earl Seabold, Robert Seibold, Fred Waltz, Harold West, Fred Wilson, and Manager Dave Jackson.

Freshmen Win In Interclass Meet

Exceptional Times Turned In During Trial Contest As Waltz Stars

Off to a good start, and showing a strong finish, the freshmen won the annual interclass meet with 59 points as the juniors tallied 41½, the sophomores 27 and the Seniors 2½.

Captain Neil Scott, leading Lefebvre to the tape in the fast time of 9.8, looked good in the century, but was nosed out in the 220 by Waltz, freshman star. Waltz turned in a 22.4 race in beating Scott, and took the quarter mile in 52.4 for what was almost record time.

O'Bryan, also a freshman, won both the low and high hurdles by beat Howie Arthur of the sophs. The times were 15.3 and 25.8. Lefebvre looked good in hurling the javelin 175 feet 6 inches, and taking the broad jump from Scott with a leap of 23 feet, 3.5 inches.

Tennis Team Meets San Francisco U. at Coast Tomorrow

The Nevada varsity tennis team will meet the University of San Francisco team in the first match of the season on the courts of the bay city university tomorrow afternoon.

The Nevada team is made up of Walter Clark, Dave Clark, Russel Elliot, and Merwin White. They will journey to San Francisco with the track team which is scheduled to meet the University of San Francisco in a track meet on the same date.

The Nevada team has had only two weeks of practice this season due to unfavorable weather and the complete team has not yet been made up. The four men selected to go to San Francisco held the top positions in the ladder tournament started by Coach Martie to pick the team.

BRUSH SPORTS

Sport Sallies

With the Pack looking to be in the pink so far as condition goes, things should be interesting in the meet with San Francisco University this afternoon. The Gray Fog has been growing stronger with each season, and this year may put the Wolves away for the first time in the history of the dual track meets between the schools.

Fred Waltz looks good in the quarter mile and should take a first; while Waltz and Scott should come through in the sprints. Wilson and Reed are strong in the half, and despite the poor time in the interclass meet, should show something extra fine on the sojourn to the bay city.

Lefebvre and O'Brien, all-around men, who look good in any contests they choose to enter, should come through with a few firsts apiece. Lefebvre hurls the javelin, broad jumps, sprints, hurdles, and pole vaults, while O'Brien runs the high and low sticks, pole vaults, throws the discus, runs in the relay, or what have you.

Howie Arthur, who won points last year has been making a strong comeback after a poor start in the first weeks of practice, and if he is right, will run O'Brien a close race in the sticks, as well as show someone a mean time in the high jump. While O'Brien did not extend himself greatly in the sticks last Wednesday, Arthur was right behind him, and nearly ran first in the high barriers. Since that time, Arthur has gotten down to good steady training, and if he stays that way will bring in many more points this year.

With the Olympic games coming up next year, a greater concentration on the cinder path has been shown this spring than has been the case in the past year or so. The 1929 season saw a slight letdown, and even though standards of competition improved in the large meets, the small contests did not show so well. 1930 failed to show any great progress in track. This year, however, a decided spurt in the right direction has sent track honors sky high, and it will take a superman to win most of the events, as new athletic stars trail across the horizon.

O'Brien and Lefebvre, along with Arthur, Waltz, Scott, and Salisbury, might crash into the big time in the trials for the games. Salisbury has been shaving off many seconds in the half mile, and is gaining experience and endurance as the years roll by. He should be ripe for the games, and bring some glory to Nevada, which has lived up to its reputation as a desert state in respect to furnishing Olympics material in the past many many years.

Fitz Lohse, former Nevada distance ace, is running for the New York Athletic Club, and intends to enter the Olympic games, according to current reports. Lohse was a strong man in the mile and two mile, but looked better in the half. It is said that he plans to concentrate on the 880 this year.

Nevada Mentor, Rockne Teammate Talks of Knute

Irish Will Still Play For Great Coach, Philbrook Opines

"I look for no demoralization in Notre Dame's football ranks next year," was the statement of Coach George Philbrook, former teammate of Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach, who was killed in an airplane crash recently.

"Of course the team and the school have been dealt a crushing blow, as have all the sport's followers in the nation," Philbrook said, "but Knute's spirit still lives at Notre Dame, his memory will endure for many college generations, and no Notre Dame student will ever be allowed to forget him."

Will Fight for Knute
The fighting Irish will play to win for Knute in death as well as in life, and his assistant coaches, who know his system by heart will turn out strong teams. Of course they do not understand the fundamentals of the game as well as Rockne, and no man can act as his successor. There was something in his style of coaching which no man can expect to carry on. He gave something to the game which can never be duplicated.

Philbrook played side by side with Rockne when Philbrook played tackle in 1911 to 1912. Rockne was an end and, according to the Nevada coach, was one of the finest the game ever produced.

Was Keen Student
"Rockne, even as a player, was a keen student of the fundamentals of the game. He always wanted to know why you did this or why you did that," Philbrook attributes most of Rockne's later success to this study.

Naming some of the secrets of Rockne's strategy, Philbrook first talked of the speed, which Rockne deemed paramount. He said that King Knute built all his plays alike, on either side of the line, and that the speed of the backs made it impossible for opponents to decipher the play until it was on top of them. Few plays were used by the Ramblers, he said, and thus made the highly polished team which represented Notre Dame last fall.

"Rockne used no more than six runnings plays in the Southern California game last December," Philbrook said, "and he had no more than nine running plays all season. Speed, perfect teamwork, perfect condition, and a fighting spirit led the Notre Dame teams to victory—this, and Rockne."

Used No Fight Talks
Rockne had the faculty of keeping conceit far from the minds of his players, according to the Nevada mentor. He added that Rockne was never addicted to long harangues and "fight talks" either before the games or during halftime, but that he always had his men at the right pitch for every contest.

Describing the personality of the great coach when off the field, Philbrook said that he was "plain as an old shoe, with never a shadow of pretense of hypocrisy. He was straightforward, jolly, full of cheer and banter, and very friendly, and he had the faculty of answering every question on the spur of the moment—a quick comeback for every joke. Coaches knew and respected him as a true friend rather than as a fellow coach."

Rockne's system of play was exemplified under the Shaw regime, which ended at Nevada in 1918. Shaw is now assistant to Clipper Smith, another Rockne disciple at Santa Clara. Philbrook, although he played with Rockne at Notre Dame when that institution was rated as a "little college" in the football world, has never used the Rockne system, although he has installed a variation of it in some of his plays.

Serge M. Gluschenko '29, is now with the Nevada Consolidated Copper Company in Ruth, Nevada, doing underground work.

Meets Scheduled For High School Track Athletes

Reno, Yerington, and Sparks, Stewart To Clash in First Meet Of Season

Prep school cindermen from all over the state are working out daily in preparation for the coming meets, most of which are to be held on Mackay field under the management of the Block N Society.

The first scheduled meet in the western part of the state is to be held April 18, at which time Sparks, Stewart, Yerington, and Reno high school athletes will battle for points on Mackay field. On April 25, Reno, Susanville, and Sparks are slated for a triangular meet, which is to be held in conjunction with the interfraternity contests. In case the interfraternity meet is run off on a later date the University freshmen will enter a team in the high school event.

Date Set For Meet
The western Nevada meet is set for May 2, and the all-state meet will probably be held on the 9th.

Coach Herb Foster of Reno reports that about 25 men have turned out to work on his spring squad. Among these are several that took points in the state meet last year. Dale Hart placed in the quarter mile. "Spot" Ayers in the broad and high jumps.

Gold Ore Samples Given To Museum

Mackay School of Mines Museum is the recipient of some samples of very high grade gold ore recently taken from the mines at Belleville, near Mina in Mineral county. B. G. Hood, owner of one of the mines, was the donor.

Considerable interest and excitement has been aroused among the students at the mining school, as the ore is very unique in appearance, being a soft, reddish black broken mass, easily passed over by a prospector without any consideration. Inspection with a glass after panning shows a very high content of free gold.

Fallon Has Sprinter
Hill of Fallon looks as though he is going to drag down a score of points in the state meet. He is a first class sprinter, running second to Welch last year, and holds the high jump record at present.

Yerington, second in the state meet last year, promises to come back strong again this season. Ayaza, Yerington weight man, holds the discus record. They also claim to have a good half miler.

Ely is reported to have a good man for the mile, and Las Vegas is going to show up with a couple of sprint aces. Winnemucca and Sparks are not looking strong on the cinder path this year.

Nevadans Renew Acquaintance At Fraternity Club Dinner

An informal dinner and get-together meeting was held Saturday at the Fraternity Club building, 22 East 38th street, New York City, for all Nevadans living in or near that city. The invitations were sent out by the secretary E. Kelly Lyon, a graduate from the University of Nevada.

This dinner afforded an opportunity for Nevadans to renew acquaintances and to meet other Nevadans whom they were unaware, perhaps, were in New York.

The Fraternity Club building management offered a special room rate to Nevadans living outside New York City, and Florie Braghetto was there to see that everything was satisfactory.

Although the list of addresses possessed by the club is incomplete, there were many invitations issued. These were sent to the following people:

Bob Long Improves; Goes Home For Rest

Robert Long, a sophomore at the University of Nevada, has been removed to his home in Palo Alto after a two weeks stay in the campus hospital.

Long was seriously ill with a severe case of streptococcus, a throat infection. The doctors had given up all hope for Long several times, but he suddenly showed a decided improvement. Rather than wait until a possible relapse, he was moved to his home on Sunday, April 5. His respiration was bad, and it had been his intention of leaving the high altitude for a lower one before he became ill. It has been reported that he made the trip successfully, and his condition is steadily improving.
