Campus Players Will Start Complete Re-Organization

Conduct Plea Made In McCarran Talk At Assembly Today

Athletes Are Urged To Keep Training In Grid Season

Homecoming Committee Was Named in A. S. U. N. Meeting Today

Dean Haseman Memorial Plans Sent to Executives For Action

"You can't build a football team out of a bootlegging joint. It has never been done, and it can't be done now," was the essence of a talk by Hon. Judge Pat McCarran, former Nevada student at the first Associated Students meeting held this morning.

Judge McCarran admitted criticizing the university students because they have tolerated men on the teams who drank, and quoted as his authority the fact that he is among the business men and people of the state who are in close touch with the affairs of the university.

At the beginning of his talk Judge McCarran said, "I hope that the benches in this auditorium are fastened down, because I'm going to say something before I get through." Later the speaker said, "I couldn't be your friend and simply smear it over with a sugar coat. If I have said anything that has come close to anybody, I am glad, because I love this university and I am anxious to build up the institution."

Judge McCarran urged that the students of the university fraternity men, sorority women and sweethearts do everything to help men on the athletic teams to keep training. The speaker urged the athletes to give the best they have to the sport, to make an effort that is worthy of the university. "Nevada can win her football schedule this year," Judge McCarran declared, "but not unless the players keep training rules. They must have the moral support of the students behind them."

Officers Introduced

President Edwin Cantlon introduced the following A. S. U. N. officers to the new students: Margaret Walts, vice president; Catherine Ligon, secretary; Keith Lee, treasurer; Walt Mitchell, men's representative to finance control; Frances Fuller, women's representative; Calvin Banigan, junior representative to the executive committee; Sam Arentz, sophomore representative.

Announcement was made of the appointment of the men's upperclass committee, which consists of Norman Blundell, Roy Salisbury, John Griffin, Ray Hackett, Walt Mitchell, Ben Solari, "Bull" Mohorovich, Louis Gardella, Pat Sanford.

Irvin Ayer was announced as chairman of the 1931 Homecoming Day committee. He will be aided by Cliff Devine, vice chairman; Pat Sanford, Louis Gardella, Verma Selmer, Bill Blakely, Ethel Hanson.

Keith Lee spoke of the death of Dean Charles Haseman, and suggested that the Associated Students discuss the proposal of a permanent memorial to his name. According to President Cantlon, the executive committee will be in charge of the undertaking and will consult with President Walter E. Clark for further plans.

Freshmen Warned

An answer to the freshman class for putting out their posters was given by Ed Martinez, sophomore president, who announced that the first-year men were given until one o'clock to remove them or take the consequences.

The executive committee appointed Fred Weeks to the position of A. S. U. N. historian.

Sagens Assist at A. S. U. N. Meeting

Proceeds made by the Sagens during the football games last year will be turned over to the fund for furnishing the new Women's Union room, it was decided at the regular meeting of that organization on Tuesday night.

'WISE' FROSH FEEL SOPHS' AUTHORITY

"Beware! Men of '35, don't you drink between sunrise and sunset, carry your frosh bible, and don't cut campus," was the cry of the Vigilance Committee last Monday afternoon.

"Violators will be prosecuted to the full extent of the paddle, the lake or both, on Friday, September 5," rang the cry on the semester opening days.

So be it! At one o'clock today the following "wise" frosh were tossed bodily into Manzanita lake: D. Stoddard, D. Dickerson, E. Jeffers, E. Springer, J. Sullivan, C. Weigand, V. Arobie, R. Bagley, C. Smith, K. McLean, N. Nelson, R. Menente, J. Blakely, R. Frolich, L. Ori, U. Kwan, H. Rossolo, E. Murray, E. Lozano.

The sophs were out to get the hide of the class of '35. Jim Wallace, sophomore president, announced that the committee representing the class of '34 were going to teach all members of the '35 class that thought they knew it all to behave and keep up the Nevada spirit and traditions.

Those serving on the Vigilance committee are: Ed Martinez, Paul Fontana, Robert Leighton, Jess Christenson, Cecil Stowell, Tom Hilberg, Dan Harvey, Grant Rice, Ralph Smith, Lloyd Guffrey and John Flournoy.

Class Brawl Plans Told as Date Is Set For September 12th

Frosh-Soph Rivalry Will Be Decided After Clash For Supremacy

The sixth annual Frosh-Soph Field Day will take place on Mackay Field September 12, when the two classes will settle their traditional rivalry in a series of events to be supervised by the Men's Upperclass Committee. Boxing, jostling, a tie-up and tire rush will furnish the excitement for the occasion.

Freshmen leather pushers will have a chance to see what they can do to the second year fighters as lightweight, light-heavy and heavyweight matches are scheduled. Several of the men in both classes are promising battlers and are certain to stage good bouts.

Jostling Teams Meet

Fifteen picked teams will meet in the jostling. Mounted on the backs of their team mates and armed with poles padded with cloth which is well smeared with paint, the contenders attempt to topple their opponents.

The tie-up will take place between men on each side, each man equipped with a short length of rope, the idea being to tie up as many of the enemy as possible in a given period of time.

The one event of the day in which all members may participate is the tire rush. A pile of tires is stacked in the center of the field and when the signal is given, the opposing parties charge in and stage a battle royal over them, the side succeeding in dragging the most tires across their own line being the victors.

Winners Rate Vests, Derbies

The winners of two successive field days are entitled to sport white vests and derbies as well as carry a cane, but as the sophomores were defeated last year they have not a chance of gaining this privilege. The class of '32 is the only class in four years to rate the traditional vests and derbies.

Field day was inaugurated when the poster and cane rushes were discarded because of severe injuries sustained by those taking part. These dangerous rushes were eliminated by the upperclass committee who also instituted the more peaceful Field Day.

Former Track Star Visits University Friends Thursday

Ray Ede, a member of the class of '27, visited the university Thursday. Ede has been spending the summer at the ranch of his parents in Sierra valley. He is employed as a teacher in a San Diego military academy.

Initiative Taken By Yearlings in Annual Interclass Rivalry

Second-Year Men Insulted By Handbills Which Call Class Worthless

Offenders Unknown as Move- ments of Freshmen Cloaked in Deepest Secrecy

Ed Martinez, sophomore vigilance committee chairman, gave the freshmen three hours in which to clean the posters from the campus walks in an announcement made in the A. S. U. N. meeting this noon.

By PROBOSCUS

Evidently despairing in their long wait for members of the sophomore class to come forward with some tangible contribution to the perpetuation of interclass hostilities which are deemed so necessary during the early days of college life, freshmen took matters into their own hands during the early hours of this morning and smeared the campus walks and trees with glaring red and white posters which decry the worthlessness of the sophomores.

The posters read:

Sack-faced
Saphead
Scummy
Sophomores
CLASS OF '35
Bow down on your knees to us you spineless species of slumgullion, as the only good sophomore is a DEAD ONE
SO BEWARE

The event marked the first appearance of class posters of this nature since the fall of 1928, when handbills of much the same description as those scattered last night were hurled out to electrify a campus which has resigned itself to go posterless.

Students Baffled

Members of the student body this morning were in a quandary as to what action would be taken regarding the matter. Many were of the opinion that while the step showed that the yearlings have little regard for the regulations of the university which is to harbor them for the next four years, on the other hand, in taking the initiative in the interclass rivalry the new students showed a spirit which is much akin to that which is said to have existed in the early days here.

Sophomores were inclined to regard the matter as a personal insult, and members of the vigilance committee went about with that determined look which boded no good for first year men up for lakings this afternoon.

Frosh Deny Deed

Freshmen leaders denied all knowledge of the distribution of the posters, and those who actually carried out the deed had succeeded in keeping themselves well under cover. That the event must have been well planned was evident from the thorough manner in which the posters were glued to the walks and the secrecy involved in the proceedings.

The action of this morning recalls to mind hectic days and nights of former years, when hours were consumed in the deep of night by brawls between the two lower classes in poster and flag rushes. Sometimes three nights were taken up, with the extent of the battle ranging from friendly scuffles to actual bloodshed, featuring gory fistfights and heartbreaking wrestling matches.

In those days the sophomores took the initiative in spreading posters decrying the worthlessness of the freshmen with the yearlings retaliating by attacking the poster spreaders while they were at work.

Brawls Halted

Class brawls of this nature were halted by the stand taken by President Clark, who three or four years ago went on record as decidedly opposing the flag and poster rushes. The presidential action is said to have come after numerous injuries were received in the fights.

To take the place of the rushes, an annual frosh-soph field day was instituted, with all of the brawling being done in one afternoon of organized contests taking the place of days and weeks spent in hazing and retaliation. This method is in vogue at the present time, but freshmen, evidently acting in the belief that the sophomores were a worthless lot, put their thoughts on paper and flaunted them before the eyes of the entire campus.

Unless direct action opposing retaliation by the sophomores comes from executives of the university at once, it is the general expectation that the second year men will be prepared to avenge the insult within the next few days.

Hill Thespians Launch New Plans For Three Groups

Pins, Recognition Badges Part Of New Program For Drama Uplift

Mask, Dagger Election System Would Have Ballots After Each Play

While plans for the annual Wolves Frolic were being worked out in their initial stages this week, members of Campus Players Wednesday night voted a complete re-organization of their group, to become effective immediately. If successful, members of the organization believe that the plan will once more place campus dramatics on a sound basis.

The plan calls for three sets of players, organized in such a manner that the purposes of each individual group will be welded together to make a complete body of hill Thespians.

New Election System

With a new system of elections to Mask and Dagger, national honorary dramatics society, a new body will be added in the form of the Junior Campus Players. Members of this group will be composed of the regular Campus Player tryees.

Elections from this group to the regular Campus Players would be based on work done by outstanding members of the junior group. Mask and Dagger members would be selected by a vote by secret ballot of the Campus Players as a body.

Basis for the Mask and Dagger elections would be placed on performances in plays during the semester, with a ballot on the outstanding players being taken after each performance. The ballot box would be sealed and opened at the end of the semester. At that time the three people in each performance securing the largest number of votes would automatically become members of Mask and Dagger.

Individual Ballots

To increase attendance at plays and to secure general interest, each individual Campus Players member would be required to vote at each performance, the vote to be taken at the end of each performance after the voters have registered in a special book.

With regards to the Junior Players, all students trying out for dramatic activity would appear before the Campus Players membership committee for tryouts which would consist of memorized speeches. The speeches, previously determined by the committee, would be published in the Sagebrush at least one week prior to the time set for the tryouts.

Tryouts Each Semester

The tryouts would be held each semester after the completion of the registration period. Membership would be open to any enrolled student body member.

Duties defined for the Junior Players would consist of acting or work on the technical production, house or managerial staffs, with all positions interchangeable at the discretion of the membership committee.

Junior Players would be entitled to attend Campus Players meetings, but would not have a vote. Records would be kept by the various heads of departments in Campus Players of the work done by each Junior Player.

Elections on Recommendation

Satisfactory competition of all assigned work, with recommendation of the department heads, would make the junior players eligible to election to Campus Players.

As an added feature of the reorganization program, members of both the junior and senior players will wear pins for recognition. The junior pins will be similar to pledge pins, while pins for the senior players will probably be in the shape of keys.

The first tryouts under the new system are scheduled to take place Thursday afternoon in the education auditorium. New students, or any student wishing to try out for any of the various departments of Campus Players are urged to be present at that time. It is a requirement that the tryouts for Mask and Dagger be held in the evening, with the selection left to the discretion of the tryee.

The selections are as follows:

Plan Submitted For Weekly Social Hour Wednesday Evening

Informal, No Date Dates Are Expected to Create Better Spirit

Nevada's first weekly social hour will take place in the gymnasium beginning at 6:45 Wednesday evening and last until eight o'clock, according to an announcement made this morning from the graduate manager's office. There will be no dates for the affair, and fifteen cents for males and ten cents for co-eds will be the tax. The hottest orchestra ever heard on the campus will furnish music, the announcement said.

Approved by Margaret E. Mack, dean of women, who states that she will do her utmost to forward the movement, the plan for Wednesday evening socials, submitted by Graduate Manager Hartung, was sanctioned Tuesday afternoon by the date committee.

The general idea, which it is hoped will be favored by the Associated Students, is for a weekly social hour to take place in the gymnasium every Wednesday evening between 6:45 and 8:00 p. m.

No Dates

No dates will be permissible, and the affairs will be strictly informal, intending to promote better school spirit and a wider acquaintance among students, as has been accomplished with great success at several other coast universities in which the plan has been placed in effect.

That all freshmen will be required to attend the weekly get-together is a part of the idea, as submitted by Hartung, who considers that the members of this class will derive considerable benefit in the way of increasing the numbers of their acquaintances.

An admission fee of 15 cents will be charged all men attending the functions, and 10 cents will admit women. Music will be furnished by an eight piece band, formerly of the Deauville club, and an all-union organization, with every member playing three or more instruments.

Registration May Reach Former Mark Of Fall Semester

Enrollment Totals Approxi- mate Last Year's Record- Breaking Figures

Registration cards given out numbered 911 yesterday with cards completed totaling 865. Of the 865 students enrolled at the university, 511 are men and 354 are women. The number of new students reached 216 and the number of out-of-the-state students came to 57.

At this time last year there were 912 cards out, 869 finished, 255 new from Nevada and 63 new from outside the state. Thursday's freshmen numbered 275, sophomores 282, juniors 170, seniors 94, graduates 24, unclassified 11 and special students 9.

Registration May Increase

If Nevada's registration could keep ground with the figures of last year as it is very nearly doing, according to university officials, it could at least near last year's record-breaking enrollment. However, on account of the condition of the general prosperity of the country, it has not been expected that the number of students this year will compare closely to that of last year. It is expected that quite a number of students who are now working will appear at the administration building around the 8th, 9th or 10th of this month to register for the fall semester.

William Lloyd Dies From Spinal Attack In Summer Vacation

William T. Lloyd, '34, of Pioche, Nevada, well known in campus and fraternity circles, died from an attack of spinal meningitis on the fourth of July. Lloyd was stricken in his home and transferred to the Latter Day Saints' hospital in Salt Lake City for the attention of specialists, but he succumbed to the attack.

Lloyd was pledged to the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity last spring in his first semester of university life.

SOPHS MEET TO DISCUSS BRAWL PLANS

The sophomore class held their first meeting of the year this afternoon with President Jim Wallace presiding.

Plans are rapidly getting under way for the annual Soph Hop which will take place about October 3rd. According to Wallace and the following committee this will be the outstanding event of the year.

Charles Koerner is chairman with Gene Salet, Florence Hamilton, Mary McCulloch, Ned Morehouse, Frank Walter, Oscar Robinson, Gladys Compton, Hollice Scruggs and Allen Young assisting him.

The president appointed Elmer Hawkins, Hazel Davis, and Fred Barkow to serve as the budget committee.

Mike Gould was appointed fight captain for field day which takes place September 12th. There will be a meeting next week of the sophomores to arrange the events for field day. All sophs are urged to turn out and make this a great day.

Wolves Frolic To Be An All-University Affair This Year

Central Theme to Be Followed In Entirety With House Acts Eliminated

Plans for a totally new and different Wolves Frolic were in their initial stages of preparation this week with the appointment of committees who will handle the affair and the announcement that supervision of the annual Homecoming presentation would continue under the management of Blue Key, national honorary service fraternity, with Campus Players aiding the directors in the productions as a part of its yearly dramatics curriculum.

Formerly composed mainly of acts staged by the various social organizations, the Frolic this year will follow one central theme. Individual house acts have been eliminated, and the skits and plays to be presented will be put on by casts selected not only from among the membership of the houses but from non-organization members as well.

Preliminary Tryouts

Preliminary tryouts for parts in the Frolic will take place before the Campus Players membership committee next Thursday afternoon in the education auditorium. Students wishing places in the casts will memorize one of the selections appearing in the Sagebrush this week for regular Campus Players' membership tryouts. The selections are to be found immediately following the story concerning Campus Players re-organization.

While no single theme for the annual hill get-together has not been decided upon as yet, it is thought possible that a Fanchon and Marco idea will be followed. Continuity and acts for the presentation are at present in the initial stages of preparation, and it is expected that these will be finished within the next few weeks, so that actual work on the production may be started as soon as possible.

Harwood, Colloman Direct

Paul Harwood and William Kelly Colloman will act as general directors of the Frolic this year as they did a year ago. Professor Harwood was called in to the directorship only three weeks before the production was staged last year, filling the position left vacant by the illness of the late Dean Haseman. Colloman, in addition to aiding in the direction, will personally supervise make-up.

Acting both for Blue Key and Campus Players, Fred Trevitt will hold the capacity of general chairman, while Oscar Robinson will be art director. Writing of script for the various acts will be under the direction of Walt Clark, and he will be aided by Marion Stone, Denise Denson, Lou Treviee, Alice Mae Atkinson and Berry McAnally.

Blue Key, acting as a committee of the whole, will take care of all outside and managerial work, including ticket sales and advertising. The organization has been highly successful in this work in the past.

Blythe Bulmer and Walt Clark are in charge of cast selections and will be assisted by members of Campus Players in this work.

Philbrook Is Set To Take Field On Tuesday, Sept. 15

Assistant to Head Coaches Are Unnamed as Possibilities Are Mentioned

Opening the first practice session of the Nevada Wolf Pack 1931 football season, 58 gridders turned out in grid tugs Wednesday night on Mackay field and it is expected that over thirty more suits will be distributed before the end of the week.

The first practice session showed a wealth of backfield material combined with a husky bunch of linemen who did the usual amount of warming up exercises and running, kicking and passing of the pigskin.

Linehan Directs Squad

Under the direction of Walt Linehan, captain and running guard of the 1930 varsity, the Wolf Pack will be put through a conditioning process until September 15 when Coach George Philbrook officially takes over the squad, less than two weeks before the Nevada-West Coast Army game September 26.

With Nevada facing one of the hardest and yet most promising football schedules in recent years, Philbrook's charges give every early season indication of being in that physical shape that will insure against the injury jinx which has followed Nevada football for the past few seasons.

Letter Men Back

Among the 80 or more football candidates for varsity berths are fifteen letter men of last year's runner-up for the Far Western Conference football championship. These men are: Art Levy, Neil Scott, and Less Tomley, ends; Hank Rampoldi and John Griffin, tackles; Bob Madriaga, Ole Hills and Bob Magaragan, guards; Bull Mohorovich and Sebe Caldwell, centers; Milt Young, quarterback; Clem Sulternfuss, Al Lefevbre, Jack Hill, Fern Ambrose, Bill Backer and Guffrey, halfbacks; Gale Parsons, fullback.

Other men who are working out every day and who were on the Pack roster last year are Spud Harris, Bill Beemer, and Dan Bledsoe, ends; Nungesser and Sherrup, guards; Austin and Brewer, tackles; Bud Beasley, quarterback.

Coming up from Coach Mort Kaer's frosh squad, promising varsity candidates are: Salet and Rivers, ends; Stock, center; Monty Boland, quarterback; Harold Curran and Curly Colgan, fullbacks.

New Material Promising

These veterans of the Philbrook system will have plenty of competition for varsity berths from Harvey Hill and Kern Bradley, Fallon stars, and Towle, former All-City Los Angeles star in the backfield and Haynes, Lee, Pauer, Butner, Adams, Cashill, McLean, Phillips, Carroll and Montgomery in the line.

The squad will be worked hard, according to Coach Philbrook in order to secure ample reserves and to uncover some unknown stars to take the places caused by the losses of Weaver and O'Bryan, ends; Walters, center; Rusk and Kell, guards; George Drury and Herbie Bartels, fullbacks; Risley and Elliott, quarterbacks. These men were among the mainstays of the 1930 Wolf Pack and securing capable men to take their places will be one of Philbrook's main worries.

Coaching Staff a Secret

Nothing definite has been announced as to the addition of members to Philbrook's coaching staff but rumors are out that Jack Walkers, former regular center for last year's varsity is in line for a line-coaching job as well as the possibility of Jake Lawlor's returning to the campus to help in the coaching of the Nevada varsity.

"Z" Formation

Those who are in on the "inside" say that Coach George Philbrook's new "Z" formation is some brainchild of the Nevada football men who will materialize soon after the West Coast Army game. In this contest the coaching staff plans to get a good line on the capabilities of the entire squad.

There is an air of confidence centered around the squad and from all reports Coach Philbrook's charges are destined to win more than his share of the football glory in the fourthcoming season.

Dora Clover, former president of W. A. A., is instructor on the Berkeley playground for children. In addition to this work she is taking a post graduate course at the University of California.

University Avenue May Bear Name of Nevada Benefactor

City Council Hears Proposal to Name Through Street Mackay Avenue

The name of Mackay Avenue, which has been suggested as a suitable title for the present University Avenue that will soon be joined with Center Street through the removal of the Southern Pacific freight sheds, has met with favorable approval from the residents of the two thoroughfares, several of the business men, and has won applause from a great number of the University students.

With the removal of the freight sheds, a through street with three names—University Avenue, North Center and South Center will be left. To avoid the confusion which is bound to arise with such a situation it was suggested to the City Council that one name be given to the entire street.

The other objection, which is a long standing one, is that there are already too many other places in Reno bearing the name of University, including University Terrace, University Heights and University Station. With the elimination of University Avenue, much of the confusion will be eliminated, and this will prove an aid to visitors, merchants and postal employees.

When the suggestion was made that the street be called Mackay Avenue, it was given for two reasons. When the through cut is finished it will make a straight drive from the southern part of town almost to the Mackay station on the University campus. Then it was stated that due to the fact that Clarence H. Mackay had done so much for the University of Nevada, the street leading to the statue should bear his name.

The matter of naming the street will be brought before the City Council at their next meeting on September 14, and it is possible that a petition containing the names of the residents on the streets in question will have to be presented to the councilmen at that time.

Appropriation For Lectures Curtailed

Colonel Brambilla to Deliver Annual Constitution Day Address

Because of the curtailed income of the University of Nevada, there will be fewer lectures at the university by prominent speakers of the United States than in former years, according to Professor A. L. Hogginsbotham, chairman of assemblies and lectures. Some interesting speakers will visit the campus this year, however, he said.

Miller Elected Head of Freshman Class

Freshman elections, held Wednesday at four o'clock in the education auditorium, resulted in the election of Orson Miller of Reno for president by a large majority over his only opponent, Ed Montgomery. The final voting returns showed a total of 109 votes for Miller and 40 for Montgomery.

Dorothy Nason of Sparks won the vice presidency from Florence Doyle, while Peggy Smith of Reno defeated Frances Kramer by a narrow margin. W. McCullough was chosen treasurer over Harvey Hill.

Ed Cantlon, A. S. U. N. president, presided at the meeting and the executive committee was in charge of the balloting. Cantlon notified the freshmen that Fresh Field Day would be September 12.

Many Enroll In University Band

Music Group to Play at Games and Other Public Functions

Many new members have enrolled from all over the state in the University Band, and prospects are excellent for a good band this year, according to Professor T. H. Post. Indications point to the largest clarinet and trumpet section for years.

CAMPUS LAWS ON PARKING ENFORCED

Parking on the campus is prohibited north of the gates and south of the electrical building and the gymnasium between the hours of seven-thirty in the morning and four in the afternoon. It was stated here this week by A. E. McFadden, assistant on grounds.

First Desert Wolf May Experiment On General Idea

Numerous changes will be apparent in the Desert Wolf when it comes out at Homecoming this semester, according to Editor John Mariani.

Full Staff Will Be Enlisted to Carry Out Change For First Edition

There will be no distinct theme for each edition, but the campus comic will experiment with the idea of making the Wolf a more general book—something on the type of Life or Judge.

If finances permit, the whole make-up, including the cover, heads and a body will be changed. In order to help the financial condition, an attempt is being made to get more national advertising instead of the local which the Desert Wolf now carries.

Professor Rocklund Dies Following Pneumonia Attack

Fishing Trip Proves Fatal to Shop Instructor at University

Professor Oscar T. Rocklund, instructor in shop practice in the mechanical engineering department here, died at his home in Reno on Tuesday, June 16, after but a week's illness with pneumonia.

Mr. Rocklund had just returned from a fishing trip and it is believed that he was killed when his boots proved too small and he waded into the cold water without them.

The following day he seemed to suffer no ill effects and assisted in installing some new equipment in the electrical building at the university.

That night, however, he was seized with chills and fever and rapidly grew worse. Failing to rally successfully for the crisis, he died eight days later.

His remains were immediately shipped to his native city, Lawrence, Kansas, for burial.

Professor Rocklund is survived by his widow, Mrs. O. T. Rocklund.

Before coming to the University of Nevada, Rocklund was employed by the University of Kansas in the same position that he held here. He has been on this campus since 1923.

While teaching at the university, Mr. Rocklund seemed always in the best of health. He was well liked by everyone who knew him and was one of the most popular instructors in the engineering department.

Rhodes Scholarship Recipients Win High Honors in England

Fred Anderson, Francis Duborg Excel in Particular Fields in Oxford

Fred Anderson and Francis Duborg, Nevada men and recipients of the Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford University, won high honors at the English institution this year, according to word received from Charles M. Chaffield, state secretary of the Rhodes Scholarship committee.

Anderson, '29, who is taking his work at St. John's college, received a high place in his field in the final examinations in the school of medicine, held last July. He was one of the four students who received firsts in the tests, which were given to 40 undergraduates some of whom had been studying for three years.

Will Do Research

Anderson's scholarship has been extended, and he will spend the following year at Oxford, doing research work in physiology and anatomy. Six weeks of the present summer vacation were spent in clinical work. Anderson intends to spend the remainder of his time in Italy before resuming classes in October.

Nevada's other representative at Oxford, Francis Duborg, is also at St. John's college, specializing in French. To supplement his work, he resided with a Parisian family for a part of the summer.

Attached to Embassies

Duborg is abroad on his scholarship, under orders from the United States naval academy, and is given the nominal rank of special naval attaché to the embassy in the country in which he is residing. During the past summer he was connected with the American embassy in Paris, and in his tour of Italy the embassy in Rome. While in Oxford he is attached to the embassy in London.

His success at Oxford has not been exclusively in the educational field. He was a member of the College Eight, and was in the winning shell in a number of races. Rowing was Duborg's premier sport at Annapolis, in addition to which he won his N in football.

Cantlon, A. S. U. N. President, Urges Freshmen To Observe Traditions, Back Hill Activities

Edwin Cantlon, A. S. U. N. president, gave the freshmen students an impressive talk on student body affairs, traditions, and rules when Dean Adams' class in Orientation met for the second time last Tuesday.

Cantlon urged the incoming students to take an interest in student body affairs, to observe Campus rules and traditions, to study the Frosh bible, and back all University athletic and other activities.

Meet Officers Urged

"Meet the student officers and support the student body," Cantlon said. "It belongs to you just as much as it belongs to any other student. It is your government, and it is your duty to give it your support."

"Take an interest in student body affairs," he said. "Don't be afraid to come forward and express your views on how the student body's business should be conducted. A freshman has every right to be seen and heard in A. S. U. N. meetings."

The president also pointed out that of the group of schools entering into major collegiate competition on the Pacific coast, Nevada is among the smallest of the universities represented. That Nevada can compete with larger colleges only through the cooperation and coordination of each individual member of the student body was the opinion expressed.

Must Preserve Spirit

"The University is built up on spirit, cooperation and tradition, and it is up to the new men and women to preserve and to protect these vital points so dear to all Nevadans," Cantlon said.

Dean Adams, under whose direction the course is being carried on, gave the three purposes of Orientation as teaching the students how to find themselves in university life, how to pick the right course, and how to choose a life work.

He compared the purpose of the course to the manner in which a captain orientates his ship by finding his exact location. "When you are walking, fishing or hunting, and get lost, you will climb a rock or a tree and get your direction," Dean Adams said. "Now you are entering the University, meeting new friends and you must adapt yourself to the environment by orientating yourself."

Dean Adams offered his services to the freshman in discussing their troubles at any time. Professor Post led the class in singing University songs for 15 minutes prior to the lectures.

Finance Committee Holds First Meeting

Budgets to Be Made at Next Regular Meeting on September 15

Meeting for the first time this semester, the Finance Control Committee passed favorably on the budget for the Women's Athletic Association for $266.20, which amount is to be used for women's hockey, volley ball, badminton and basketball for the coming semester. Budgets of all the Campus organizations must be presented to the Finance Control Committee at their next meeting on September 15 to be passed for this semester.

The committee discussed the advisability of moving the student body and publications offices to the old Nevada Historical building which has been presented to the University, but decided to let them remain in the Chemistry building for the time being.

In order to avoid complications, the committee decided that in the future all requisitions for medical fees and X-rays for injured football players must be issued by Prof. Martie or Dr. Hood.

Night Football Considered

Representatives of the Giant Manufacturing Company placed before the committee a proposition for the installation of flood lights on Mackay Field for night football. No action will be taken by the committee on this proposition until later in the year.

All meetings of the Finance Control Committee are open and members of the student body are invited to attend and express their opinions. Notices as to the time and place of the meetings are posted on the bulletin board.

Faculty Members Get Together For Year's First Picnic

Getting together for the first time since the close of the university year, members of the faculty, their families and friends assembled at Lawton hot springs Saturday afternoon for a picnic sponsored by the women's faculty club.

The picnic is an annual feature of the club and this year was in charge of a committee consisting of Miss Martha Huber who is connected with the agriculture department, and Mrs. Thomas Buckman.

Most of the guests went swimming in the new pool and much amusement was provided by races and diving competitions. The women's faculty club provided coffee and picnic suppers were eaten on the new tables on the grounds.

The faculty was well represented and from all reports enjoyed their picnic very much.

Nevada Football Schedule Completed For 1931 Season

Wolf Pack to Meet Both Cal. and Stanford On Gridiron

Meeting both the University of California and Stanford gridiron teams the Nevada 1931 football schedule which calls for nine contests with five home games is the toughest and most desirable schedule in recent years.

Two new gridiron teams are brought into history of U. of N. football when the Blue and Silver warriors clash with the West Coast Army in Reno on September 26, then later with San Jose State also playing at Reno on November 7.

October 3 Nevada meets Brigham Young University at Reno. Last year the Wolf Pack battled bravely to eke out a 6 to 6 score with the Mormons.

First Night Games
The next two week ends the Nevada team will journey into California to play under the electric lights which is the latest fad in athletics. On October 9 they meet their old rivals, the California Aggies who were defeated by the fighting Wolf Pack on the last Homecoming day celebration. The following Saturday they will meet the College of Pacific at Stockton who almost upset the dope bucket last year only to lose to Nevada in the last few minutes of play by the score of 20 to 13.

Homecoming Game
Fresno State College will come to Reno this year on October 24 to engage in one of the best battles of the year. Last season they were the stumbling block for the Nevada eleven when they stopped them in a 6 to 0 game to give the starters the conference crown.

The big game with the University of California will be held in Berkeley on October 1. Nevada is always given a fighting chance against California for their great battle in '23. In 1930 California managed to win by the small score of 3 to 0. San Jose plays at Reno November 7.

After a lay off of five years the Nevada eleven again resumes play with the Reds of Stanford on November 14. In 1926 the fighting pack downed the Stanford team the first half but tired quickly in the second part of the game and were defeated 33 to 9.

The season ends on November 21 when the University of San Francisco invades Reno who took the Nevada pack into camp last year in the most exciting game of the year with the close score of 20 to 13.

Boerlin Represents Ninth Corps Area In National Meet

Nevada Man Travels to Camp Perry, Ill., to Meet Best Shots of Nation

Alvin Boerlin, senior at the University, left Reno August 19 to represent the Ninth Corps Area R. O. T. C. in the national matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. While attending training camp at Monterey, Boerlin made one of the best records in musketry among advanced camp students who represented schools in the entire Ninth Corps Area. His score of 222 out of a possible 250 gave him the rating of expert, the highest which the United States confers. He also made the rank of sharpshooter with the pistol, a rating which is second highest. The only other men who gained the rank of rifle expert were two men from U. C. L. A.

It will be three weeks yet before Boerlin will be back to the University to resume his studies. He has all expenses paid by the government in this trip.

Competes With Best
While at Camp Perry, Boerlin will compete on the ranges with the cream of the United States' marksmen who represent corps areas from the entire country.

Last year Boerlin received his first experience in musketry when he was a member of Nevada's rifle team. He received a cash prize for having the fourth highest score in Ninth Corps matches. He is presently a member of the local chapter of Scabbard and Blade, national military fraternity.

Competing in the matches were men from U. C., San Diego Military Academy, U. C. L. A., U. of N., besides students from Washington. Aside from his experience on the Nevada rifle team, Boerlin received only three days' training at Monterey before he started shooting in the matches.

Blue Key Initiates Eleven Members

Dinner Is Served to Fraternity at Hutton's After Ceremonies

Eleven members were elected to Blue Key at the last meeting held in May. The initiation took place at Hutton's Hut where dinner was served for the fraternity.

The new members are Oscar Bryan, Joe Jackson, Dan Trevitt, Del States, John Winters, Dwight Leavitt, Bruce Thompson, Elbert Walker, Ken Johnson, Ben Johnson and Phil Daver.

They were chosen on the basis of work done during the year for Blue Key, especially on the work done on the Wolves Frolic last fall.

New officers elected were Al Davis, president; Fred Trevitt, vice president; Irvin Ayres, secretary, and Fred Weeks, treasurer.

Mary Moore Norris, '28, will have charge of the commercial department in the Fallon high school this year. She has recently returned from a trip through the eastern and southern states.

GRIDDERS SPEND USEFUL SUMMERS IN PREPARATION FOR CAMPAIGN OF 1931

The University of Nevada Wolf Pack veterans should be in tip-top physical condition when Coach George Philbrook calls the roll on September 15, if hard muscle work during the summer months is any kind of a strength builder.

Practically every member of last year's squad who is scheduled to return to the Mackay turf to fight again for the glory and honor of dear old U. of N. spent his summer vacation at some form of strenuous labor.

Hard Work Favored
Every kind of hard toil from pitching hay to piling lumber and driving dirt trucks for the state highway department was tackled by the varsity pluggin' maulers in an evidently successful effort to put on more brawn with which to face the Far Western Conference football season.

Milt Young, the quarterback who will probably pilot the Wolf squad to victory this year, spent the summer pitching hay on his father's ranch in Northern California. Bud Beasley, out for the same position, as is Monte Boland, spent the summer working and playing baseball at Hawthorne, Nevada. Boland spent the summer heaving milk cases on and off trucks in Reno.

Ole Theis, the big blond giant who played at guard last year, used up his summer vacation tossing freight ballast for the Western Pacific railroad at Doyle, California. It is also rumored that he was a body guard for a divorcee's son part of the summer.

Husky Ice Men
"Tripod" John Griffin and Hank Rampold, tackles, decided to follow in the footsteps of Red Grange and worked all summer as ice men.

Of the halfbacks, Toby Guffrey worked at the local race track and for the Bell Telephone company; All Lefebvre did track work for the Los Angeles Athletic Club; Bill Backer worked as a life guard on Catalina Island; Clem Sultenfuss, an outstanding star last year, was surveying near Austin, Nevada, for the state; Fern Ambrose, Goldie Holmes and Jack Hill worked for the Reno garage and played baseball.

End's Work Hard
Art Levy, stellar end on last year's squad, worked for the Union Oil company and on the construction of the Reno garage. Neil Scott who played the same position, drove truck for the Humphrey Supply company. Les Tomley, end, worked at gardening at Hayward, California. Spud Harris shoveled gravel and Bill Beemer, a promising candidate last year, was forced to refrain from hard labor to recover from an appendix operation. Gene Salet, also an end, worked for the highway department shoveling gravel and driving a truck.

Of the guards, Speed Rose also worked for the state highway department, and Bob Madriaga, the black haired behemoth, worked at the Reno garage.

Miners Present
Nevada's powerhouse center, "Bull" Mohorovich, whiled away the weary summer months tearing the earth apart in a mine at Jackson, Nevada, in training for what he hopes to do to the rest of the Far Western Conference centers. Lowell Horschman worked for a local coal and wood yard and John Stock, also a center, was a swimmer at Long Beach, California.

Ken Austin, a powerful man at tackle position, worked in a mine in the eastern part of the state. Harold Curran, an outstanding freshman fullback last year, worked at a local warehouse, and Curly Colgan, another of last year's outstanding fresh fullbacks, drove a delivery truck.

Gilmartin Secures Coaching Position

Other Former Wolf Pack Stars Coaching Throughout the State

Jack "Goon" Gilmartin, '31, former Wolf Pack basketball and track star, has accepted the position as athletic director of Virginia City High School. He will be physical education instructor as well as basketball and track coach. Gilmartin is one of seven Nevada graduates who are coaching athletics in the high schools of Nevada.

Championships Won
The best known of these men is Herb Foster, '24, who is head coach of Reno High School. Under his direction Reno has won the Nevada state high school championship in football, basketball and track.

Another outstanding Nevada athlete to be successful in coaching is Proctor "Bunny" Hug, '25, who has been coaching at Sparks High School for the past five years.

Other Successful Coaches
Al Lowry, '24, is head coach of all athletics of Winnemucca High School and Yerington High has two Nevada athletes at its athletic helm. These men are "Bozo" Watson, '29, who works with Harold Bailey, '29, George Gadda, '29, is physical education instructor and coach of all athletics at Reno's Billingshurst Junior High School.

W. A. A. Commences '31 Hockey Season Managed by Perri

Hockey will be the first sport sponsored by the women's athletic association of the university. Lena Perri, manager of the season, and a varsity member of last year's team announces that the sign up list will be posted soon, as practice starts September 1, the final games being over October 16. Mae Simas will coach hockey and a large number of players are expected to turn out because of considerable talent in the freshman class.

Ruth Stewart, W. A. A. president, plans for a meeting of the organization early in September at which time the schedule of seasons will be announced for the semesters. These will include hockey, volleyball, tennis, riding and probably fencing.

Aggie Club Arranges For Trips to Stock Judging Contests

At the first meeting of the Aggie Club, plans were made for the various trips that the members will make to the Pacific International Livestock Show at Portland, Oregon, the California and Nevada State Fairs and to the Elko County Fair.

Ben Solari was appointed to the Finance Control. He was also appointed to fill the treasurer's office left open when Chris Gansberg did not return to school. Solari will work with Fred Weeks on a new budget.

Keith Lee was appointed for the Homecoming Day float. Kelly Hill and Fred Kingsley will work with him.

Graduate Manager System Begins Its Second Season

Efficiency Improvement Is Shown During First Year Under Plan

Swinging into its second year at the university, the system of graduate management thereby denotes its success and preference over the old system of student manager for each sport. Bernard Hartung is continuing in the capacity of graduate manager, which he filled last year.

The graduate manager has a direct control over all campus activities, acts as a liaison between the faculty, finance control committee and the associated students, and checks on the finances of all university organizations.

A. S. U. N. Budgets
Under the system of graduate management, all departments of the associated student body make out budgets for their expenditures. These budgets are voted on by the finance control committee and the funds are paid out in a system of vouchers and requisitions through the graduate manager, who verifies all bills. The graduate manager also has complete charge of the gate receipts of all athletic contests, and keeps an official check on box receipts and other forms of revenue coming from dramatic productions.

In the case of the various publications, however, he has no more than the privilege of examining the books and determining their credit.

Graduate Manager Bernard Hartung is a graduate of the University of Nevada with the class of 1928. He is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, Blue Key service organization, Block N Society, was a member of the varsity track team, yell leader in his senior year, and a member of both the Sagebrush and Artemesia staffs.

Harold Johnson, '25, Arrives From Denver
Harold Johnson, '25, arrived in Reno Sunday, August 23, from Denver, Colorado, where he is employed as commercial engineer by the General Electric company. While in Reno Johnson has been visiting his father, Thomas Johnson, and the local chapter of Beta Kappa fraternity, where he was an active member during his college career.

Margaret Gottardi Hart, '31, has accepted a position as modern language instructor at the Nevada Secretarial school in Reno.

1904 Nevada Coach Notes Changes

Dr. A. C. Steckle, coach of the Nevada football team which swept to glory and fame by winning the Pacific coast championship in 1904, arrived in Reno yesterday. That team, which has never been forgotten by old Nevada football fans, defeated such formidable institutions as Stanford and the University of Washington.

Dr. Steckle comes from Vancouver, Wash., on his first visit to Reno in 27 years. He says that there has been a great change in Reno and its vicinity, but that the greatest change of all is in the university.

Freshman Football Plans To Be Made

Scranton to Organize Schedule At Meet of State High School Coaches

Chet Scranton, who is to be coach of the freshman football squad for the coming season, expects to make up a schedule for his team at a meeting of the Western High School Association of Coaches which will take place some time this month. Scranton expects to arrange games with several Nevada high school teams as well as a game with the Lassen Junior College at Susanville.

The freshman squad will probably start practice about the 16th of September. A number of frosh will be out for the varsity and those who fail to make the grade will be relegated to the frosh squad.

Graduate Manager Bernard Hartung announced that the frosh football team will be completely outfitted for the forthcoming season and that several of the freshman games will precede the varsity games on Mackay Field.

MIDNIGHT SHOW IS SCHEDULED FOR SEPT. 26TH

Setting his first midnight show for university students for Saturday night, September 26, following the west coast army game, Pat Stevenson, new manager of the Roxie theatre, announced this week that he has selected suitable reels for the show and will be prepared to cooperate with student leaders in staging all rallies this semester.

He plans to stage several more midnight shows during this semester in an effort to work up school spirit. Mr. Stevenson has had many years of experience in the management of theatres catering chiefly to students, and intends to follow the same procedure in Reno that he has followed in other places, he says.

The new theatre manager came to Reno from Lone Pine, California, where he managed a theatre. Prior to this engagement he was vice president and general manager of the All Star Motion Picture company at Los Angeles.

Before coming to the Pacific coast, Stevenson managed the only successful musical comedy ever presented in Iowa City, and it was in this place that he staged the first midnight show for students at the University of Iowa, following a football rally.

Men's P. E. Classes Take Strength Tests

With the assistance of advanced physical education students, the men's physical education department has been giving strength tests each morning for the past week. As yet no records have been reported broken.

Martha Hansen will leave next week for Stockton where she will enter the College of Pacific in music. She is a member of Beta Sigma Omicron.

CO-EDS FIND NEW SPORT IN BADMINTON

P. E. Department Secures Equipment After Demonstration

Enthusiasm in women's sports at Nevada this semester has been roused by the introduction of one of England's most popular indoor sports, Badminton. Mrs. C. S. Huntley, physical education instructor at Riverside, California, and former member of Nevada faculty, visited the campus last Tuesday for the purpose of demonstrating the new game.

Faculty members and students interested attended the exhibition, and because the sport proved fascinating to many, the Nevada P. E. department has sent for the necessary equipment.

Indoor Sport
Badminton is an indoor sport which originated in India and was adopted in England. It is played with a light racket which somewhat resembles a tennis racket. The scoring and playing of the game are similar to both tennis and volleyball, but are not a combination of the two. In place of a ball a feathered article, Shuttlecock, is passed across the net.

Badminton on the Nevada campus will be open to women wishing to go out for extracurricular gymnasium work.

First Get-Together Banquet Promotes Football Interest

Business Men, Coaches, Student Representatives Plan Cooperation

The first get-together banquet of business men, coaches and student representatives was held last Friday noon at the Golden hotel. The purpose being to promote cooperation in regard to football between business men and university students.

The business men showed a strong feeling against football players who break training. They wish the student body to show its disapproval of those who break training in every way possible. They themselves will give no work to any athletes who does not hold to the training rules. They believe that in this way training rules will be strictly observed to the benefit of both the athletes and the university.

Martie Optimistic
Professor Martie was very optimistic in his view of Nevada's outlook for the coming football season. He believes that in such a small school as Nevada, a much better and livelier spirit may be aroused which will make up for the deficiency of large numbers of football players. Coach Philbrook was not quite so enthusiastic as Professor Martie, but expressed hopes of a very good showing this year.

These meetings between the downtown business men and the university representatives are to be held throughout the school year in the form of regular luncheons.

Additional Sports Are Offered P. E. Classes

J. E. Martie, director of men's athletics, announced that fall track and tennis would be offered to physical education students in addition to the regular gym courses and football. As in previous years, fall track is being offered as a conditioning sport for the benefit of those who aspire to making the 1932 varsity track squad. Work-outs will be held every afternoon under the direction of George W. Philbrook.

Tennis classes will be held each afternoon under the direction of Chet Scranton, assistant director of athletics. The classes will be separated into freshman and sophomore divisions.

Back This Plan

Graduate Manager Hartung's plan for a weekly social hour cleared its first hurdle Tuesday when it met with the unanimous approval of the Date Calendar Committee and Miss Margaret E. Mack, dean of women.

Having received such an emphatic ovation in its initial appearance, success or failure of the project now rests with the students. An enthusiastic response to the plan on the part of the major portion of the student body will mean that the weekly socials will become a regular part of the social program.

That the idea has merit is without question. There is a distinct need for a closer association of the students at Nevada, and the weekly social hour should adequately fill this need.

The introduction of a plan for a general meeting in a spirit of festivity, where ideas could be informally exchanged between the dances should bring about a decided revival of interest in things collegiate.

School spirit, that intangible something which either makes or breaks a Campus, has been allowed to sink deeper and deeper in the mire of this lethargy. The question "Why should this be?" can best be answered by pointing to the failure of the leaders themselves to be "collegiate."

That there should be some decided effort to drown out the prevailing indolent attitude is self evident. Weekly social gatherings are one method, and possibly the best method which could be used.

Lot Recast

In voluntarily taking over the responsibilities of a first semester freshman after he had attained second semester rating, Edward Montgomery makes a step which will go down in the annals as one of the most unique in Nevada history.

Whether he realized the deep extent of the step he was taking, he accepted the decision of President Cantlon of the A. S. U. N., and agreed that he would take on the freshman responsibilities, and abide by the freshman rules.

According to the terms of the agreement, which was an unwritten one, but which is none the less binding, Montgomery will wear a dink, carry a bible, refrain from queening in the library, and observe all other traditional freshman duties.

It is difficult to appraise a situation of this kind. Montgomery was defeated in the election, and was risking defeat when he made his agreement. But that he had the courage to face an added semester of hazing in order to attain a goal he had set for himself is significant of one thing.

Is Pan-Hell a Failure?

That Nevada is not the only Campus beset by turbulent conditions whenever its women meet in Pan-Hellenic sessions and that the method installed by Pan-Hell in attempting "fairness" in rushing is not proving satisfactory, is indicated in an editorial clipped from the Daily Californian of last week.

Nevada co-eds, in their rush for nuggets, would do well to heed the wisdom set forth by the Berkeley editor.

"Unscrupulous tactics during sorority rushing have been so obvious this season that the long-winded Pan-Hellenic appears somewhat as a joke. Taking refuge behind its parchment of printed rules, it has as yet to establish any principles of fair play.

"Perhaps it is an intangible sense of honor which makes one house observe not only the stipulated regulations but also the spirit which lies behind them, while another house indulges in high-handed and cut-throat maneuvers. If it is a sense of honor, that some possess and others lack, a thousand rules could not help.

"Rule breaking may be penalized and dismissed. But it is the malicious and underhanded dealings which Pan-Hellenic can never hope to cover in its law.

"They can ride brazenly over the rules that govern personal dates, covering up their tracks by a supposedly 'chance' meeting on the Campus. They can make private engagements which cannot help but obligate the final free choice of the rushee.

"The way to alleviate this problem does not lie in making the list of rules a few feet longer. If the motive and desire for fairness that actuated the organization in the first place is not sufficiently strong, it can never be maintained through more restrictions.

Hill Drama Reawakens

Reorganization of Campus Players, which was begun by the members of that body last Wednesday night, is a long-awaited step. It comes at a time when interest is at a low ebb, and if it is successful, should be instrumental in placing Hill drama on a sound basis once more.

The decline of interest in the doings of the Hill Thespians began some time ago, and activity in this line has hit the down grade ever since, with impetus being gained almost with every passing month in the sure flight to the lower regions.

Seemingly, the fault lay not in the manner in which the plays were produced, or in the efforts of both cast and director to please the small audiences.

Either the tax of 75 cents was too much for the scholastic pocketbook, or the students did not choose to be entertained by local talent when downtown shows were running an all too close competition.

This in the face of the fact that students, after all, should be willing to back home talent to some extent at least. A second fault lay in the lack of cooperation among the members of the Campus Players organization itself.

With a sincere effort to put their organization back on its feet, and with every member apparently pulling with every other member towards a common goal, this attitude on the part of the players themselves seems to have been completely eradicated.

The move begun by the drama group is a worthy one, and deserving of support.

WHICH WAY ?

Does the field of fraternity lie in the rose bed of social life, good fellowship, and political rating, or does it lie in the bed of thorns emanating from disillusionment, expense, and artificial friends?

In the cartoon, the first semester freshman, as yet not orientated to his new surroundings, is walking towards the spider, an apparently friendly gentleman in a plug hat.

The reception the spider will give him depends largely upon the attitude the freshman will take when he is drawn inside the fraternal net. It is he who will choose the course. The sad thing about the whole matter is that he must make this choice before he has learned the inner nature of the circle.

ANYTHING THAT'S RIGHT

Thetas Sever Relations With Delta Delta Delta

Relations between the Tri-Deltas and Thetas were completely and finally severed early this week when members of the KAT house installed a brand new sewer line of their own to replace the old line which was held in conjunction with the Delta mansion.

The final break between the neighboring houses is said to have grown out of a long series of disputes over flooded basements. No statements were issued by either house as to the final property settlement division.

After being given the runaround three or four times by a little freshman from Elko, George Adamson decides to stick to divorcees for the rest of the year. It looks like for once that Hartung really won a bet from Adamson.

Fresh !! Get in on the Know

The first so-called University dance downtown was given by Adamson and Wilson, the chisler twins, and not by the Sagers as was commonly thought.

You aren't expected to call this your school, your football team, etc., but rather Big Shot Hartung's. If you doubt this walk in his office anytime and get your own impression.

If you want to be a social success, male or female, leave your name and address in the Wolf Den, the Sagebrush office, or be seen at a dance either with the graduate manager or the new student body president.

Will the tall brunette girl with long hair that wore the red blouse and black skirt please get in touch with George Adamson as he has a message of utmost importance for her.

Frosh men—Beware of the three and four-year sorority women angling you into dates with them. There are a few of the left-overs in very house who are just waiting to prey on the unsuspecting.

As seen by a casual observer... Bryan seems to be wasting away for the nurse he left in Vegas... New house rules for co-eds will make it tough on local night clubs' collegiate business...

Dyke's Speech in "The Valcutt" Dyke (raises his own hand in turn): I've heard that repentance, Father, is the sick bed of the soul—and mine is very well and flourishing. The man deserved to be killed; he wasn't fit to live.

According to Mr. Hacket, leader of the Deauville (ex) orchestra, said orchestra is the highest paid orchestra on the west coast—but they have never been paid.

WE'LL HAVE NO FLIES

While Nevadans have long accused each other of creating the blackest political system of any college in the land, students registering this semester have found a new menace to a clean classroom and a cleaner Campus.

Flies, numbers of them, have infested rooms all week, and have made concentration an impossibility. For who can listen to an instructor when flies buzz close by, threatening to alight on any unprotected spot, depositing deadly germs which may lead to illness and even death?

Obviously, something must be done about the situation if regular classroom work is to be carried on. There are two alternatives. Either they may stay in the classrooms and learn nothing or they can cut classes, and learn nothing, too.

There is one way out. Fly guns must be purchased, even if the money comes from the student's own pocketbook. Either each individual should carry his own personal fly gun, or each classroom should carry a stock, loaded and ready for instant use.

And President Cantlon should instruct the upperclass committee to treat all flies as erring Frosh and make them mend their ways.—Oscar Owsli-

THE WOLF HOWLS

Dear Editor:

I have heard much discussion recently concerning the opening of Center Street through the removal of the freight sheds. This, of course, means that University Avenue and Center Street would be the same.

There are several good arguments in favor of this. In the first place it would help the Post Office Department in the distribution of the mail. They are very much in favor of this new name.

Another angle worthy of consideration on the part of University students as well as all residents of Reno is that of appreciation. Mackay has done more for this University than any one else could possibly do.

People driving up the new Mackay Avenue would find that it leads to a greater University of Nevada and Mackay has led the way in more ways than one.

Yours truly, ONE WHO APPRECIATES.

Dear Editor:

I am a very well known gentleman on this Campus and even though I say it myself there are very few women on this Campus who pass me by without stopping to speak a word or two.

Almost every girl I have spoken to lately has had this ailment which is called perspiration. The women jokingly call this B. O., whatever that stands for. Now just because the weather happens to be hot is no sign that feminine charm should be sacrificed.

Whether it is an artificial remedy or a bath makes no difference.

Sincerely, S. S. T.

Manzanita Hall, September 3, 1931

Dear Editor:

I think, and all of the rest of the Manzanita girls stand behind me on this, that your column called "Anything That's Right" should be abolished at once. It has become so that us poor girls from the hall can't even go out and park on the Purdy road any more without our names being published.

By the looks of things, the editor and business manager plan not only on putting themselves through school, but are also making arrangements for financing their grand children. They made enough money on that last issue to buy the (name of paper censored) and start business on a large scale.

Watch them both and the author of this letter will give any odds that both of them sprout out in new cars, clothes, dates (if anybody will go out with them) and other odds and ends.

If the University only got the money they made, the whole State of Nevada's debt could be paid. The two of them should be ashamed to show themselves on the Campus, but by the colossal nerve they showed in putting out the last issue of what was supposed to be the Sagebrush, we won't be a bit surprised to see but one news story appear in the next issue.

Are the students going to stand by and see such outrageous actions perpetuated on our dear old U. of N. Campus? Watch us rise up and in arms and overthrow these bolsheviks that have gained a foothold on our school.—Virgo.

If the students as a whole are ready to criticize the actions of the editor and the business manager in making ends meet, the administration of this paper will be more than glad to abide by their decision.

spoken the sincerity of my gratitude. As for that smooth tongued hypocrite, who would have seduced the wife of his too credulous friend, while he affected honourable addresses to his ward—I behold him now in a light so truly despicable, that I shall never again respect myself for having listened to him.

Dyke's Speech in "The Valcutt" Dyke (raises his own hand in turn): I've heard that repentance, Father, is the sick bed of the soul—and mine is very well and flourishing.

I beg your pardon, Father, I don't mean to trample on anything that's sacred to you, but what I do mean to say is this: If I've got to be judged by God Almighty for the crime of murder, I'm not afraid, because the other fellow will certainly be there, too, won't he? And when God hears the whole story and both sides of it, which you never heard and never will—and they never heard it in the court room, either—why, then, if he's any kind of a God at all, I'm willing to take my chances with the other fellow.

Julie's Soliloquy in Lilioms Julie. Liliom, sleep—it's no business of hers—I never even told you—but now I'll tell you—now I'll tell you—you bad, wicked tempered, rough, unhappy, wicked—dear boy—sleep peacefully, Liliom—they can't understand how I feel—I can't even explain to you—not even to you—how I feel—you'd only laugh at me—but you can't hear me any more. (Between tender motherliness and reproach, yet with great love in her voice.) It was wicked of you to beat me—on the breast and on the head and face—but you're gone now. You treated me badly—that was wicked of you—but sleep peacefully, Liliom—you bad, bad boy, you—I love you—I never told you before—I was ashamed—but now I've told you—I love you. Liliom—sleep—my boy—Why shouldn't a soul—mine, for in-
