Committee to Present Plans

Than Month

Mariani Resigns From Yell
Leader Position as New Men Sought

Action on the proposed Dean Haseman memorial will come within the next month and final plans for the proposal will be placed before the students as soon as possible according to a decision reached last night by the executive committee, which was designated to investigate the proposal at the last A. S. U. N. meeting.

To gain a wider viewpoint regarding the type of memorial required, President Cantlon appointed the following committee, which will act within the next month, and have a proposal ready for general discussion in the A. S. U. N. meeting: Phil Dayer, Dorothy Ernst, Ruth Stewart, Sam Arentz and Howard Umber.

John Mariani tendered his resignation from the position of yell leader at the session, and the resignation was unanimously accepted. Mariani will hold tryouts to fill the vacant position next week.

Track Awards Okeyed
The committee recommended Neil Scott, Howard Arthur, Roy Salisbury, Fred Waltz, Frank O'Brien, Byron O'Hara, Al LeFebvre, Dan Bledsoe and Dave Jackson, manager, as being eligible to receive Block N's for track during the past season.

The members also went on record as favoring the enforcement of last year's ruling which requires that no students be allowed to lay on the grass north of the tram. The lawn south of the tram may be used for parking quarters by students who feel so inclined, however, the committee decided.

If the remainder of the posters spread by the freshmen two weeks ago are not removed immediately some one will come in for much deserved punishment, President Cantlon of the A. S. U. N., announced during the meeting.

Football Season Tickets Selling

Hartung Predicts That This Will Run Far Beyond Expectations

University of Nevada sale of season football tickets has been going forward at a very fast rate, according to Graduate Manager Hartung. He predicts that this season the number will run far beyond any expectations.

The tickets were distributed last Wednesday at the Blue Key meeting where every member has to sell ten tickets or buy them. Interest is running high and every member was sure that they would have no trouble in getting rid of them. Tickets are also on sale at six different stores in the city and between them and the Blue Key members the town should be thoroughly canvassed.

Eddie Canton says: "Numerous requests have come into my office as to when and where the tickets were to be put on sale, and taking this as an indication of the number of tickets sold will run far beyond last year's record."

The tickets, which will cost $5.00, and will include five home games and any other athletic event of the first semester. There is a late estimate that over 500 of these tickets will be sold, and special care has been taken to see the people buying these tickets will have ample seating space by reserving the center section of the stadium.

Blue Key Selling Tickets for Frolic

Organization Will Sponsor and Handle Business For the Show This Year

Blue Key tryouts this year will consist in ticket sales for the Wolves Frolic, ushering at plays and the frolic, ushering at football games, selling football season tickets and other general campus service tasks, according to a decision reached at the service organization's first meeting last Wednesday afternoon.

The organization will continue to handle the outside business on the frolic this year as in the past, and will sponsor the show with the cooperation of Campus Players.

Wolves' Frolic Tryouts To Be Held Thursday

1931 Frolic to Be Built On a
Central Theme Plan With Varied Acts

Hackett's Band to Be a Musical Feature Throughout the Entire Program

Tryouts for Wolves' Frolic acts will be held in the Education Auditorium Thursday, according to an announcement issued by William Colman, dramatics director, last night. He requested that all campus organizations send anyone to the tryouts who has any entertainment talent whatsoever.

Any kind of gymnastics, tumblers, dancers of any sort, age or description; comedians, masters of ceremonies, in fact, anyone who pantomime, gesture or swallow a sword is requested to make an appearance at the tryouts Thursday.

Colman stated that the Frolic this year will be made up of the best variety of acts, and, that contrary to the usual policy of former shows, will be built around a central theme with only one stage set. This set will be good enough, however, to merit the absence of any other sets.

Chorus Probability
It is rather indefinite at this time whether there will be a chorus or not, but all the girls who participated in last year's ensemble have been asked to report to Colman some time early next week. There will be no individual house acts in the show but all organizations are to send in material for approval.

A 14-piece orchestra under the direction of Raymond Hackett will furnish all the musical entertainment for the evening and will stay on the stage during the entire performance.

The Frolic this year is touted to be the best ever because all the material will be written, directed and acted by University of Nevada Students proper.

Freshmen Victors Over Sophomores In Field Battle

Jostling Match Declared No
Contest After Unfair
Tactics Used

Field Day Culminated Several Weeks of Hostility Between Classes

The freshman class triumphed over the sophomores at the annual field day Saturday with a final score of 30 to 25. The freshmen won the tire run and two of the boxing matches, while the second year men won the tie-up and one of the boxing matches.

The boxing for the first year team were Jack Adams, 175 pounds; Mike Sherrup, 145 pounds, and John Denison, 135 pounds. The sophomore team consisted of Cecil Stowell, lightweight; Ed Martinez, lightweight and Ben Sheehan, middleweight. The freshmen won two of the fights and gained a lead of five points.

The tie-up resulted in an overwhelming victory for the sophomores as ten freshmen were captured as against one sophomore. Although the score was so uneven the contest by no means lacked excitement. The tie-up carried a score of 20 points which put the freshmen far behind.

Next came the jousting match which was won by the freshmen until it was found that one of their men had violated one of the rules of the game. After much discussion it was called "no contest" and the fifteen points were not counted.

The deciding event was the tire-rush which carried twenty points. After a heated struggle, centering around the smallest tire on the field, the freshmen managed to gather in eleven of the nineteen tires. This left the field in the hands of the first year men by the narrow margin of five points.

The freshman victory came as a culmination of several weeks of decided hostility; the freshmen having pasted derisive posters on the walks and resisted the attempts of the sophomores to lake them. Several of the sophomores resulted in many sophomores being wetted along with their victims.

Two Men to Compete For the Four Scholarships in the Seventh District

Students wishing to compete for the Rhodes scholarship, providing for two years' study at Oxford and an annual income of approximately $2,000 for the two years, must present their applications with the University Committee consisting of Dean Maxwell Adams, Professor R. C. Thompson and Professor C. R. Hicks before October 1, according to Charles Chaffield, secretary of the State Rhodes Scholarship Committee and former Rhodes Scholar from Nevada.

The University Committee will select any number of candidates which it sees fit, primarily on the basis of scholarship, Chaffield says. However, they must also have some decided interest in extra-curricular activities concerned with campus life.

The men chosen by this committee must then appear before the state board which selects two men to compete for the four scholarships against men chosen from California, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico.

At the present time Nevada is represented at Oxford by Fred Anderson, who entered in 1929, and Francis Duborg, who entered in 1930. Last year the district system of selecting the Rhodes scholars was inaugurated and neither of the Nevada candidates was selected. Anderson is spending this year in advanced research at Oxford while Duborg has not yet made plans for his third year.

The Rhodes scholarship was instituted in 1907 in accordance with the wishes of Cecil John Rhodes who, at his death, left the bulk of his great fortune for this purpose. The scholarship provides for two years' study at Oxford and a third year's work at any university in the world other than one located in the native country of the student. The scholarships are each of the value of approximately $2,000 annually.

Coaches Named For Wolf Pack Squad For Coming Year

Philbrook Names Linehan and
Weaver as Assistant
Coaches

With the arrival of Gene "Jake" Lawlor and the appointment of Walt Linehan and Willard Weaver as assistant coaches, all the coaching staff positions have been filled.

Coach Philbrook has working with him this year a corps of men who will not only drill fundamentals of football into the squad, but will instill fight and spirit in them as well. One of the biggest jobs is being filled by Chet Scranton, who will coach the Frolic squad. This is a big assignment for one man, for a freshman coach has the job of building up his cohorts to fill positions on the varsity during the following three years.

Scranton, however, has already demonstrated his ability as coach, in his handling of the varsity basketball for the last several years, and the manner in which he handled the basketball during the absence of Doc Martie. Chet is also well remembered as a backfield star of the Wolf Pack not so many years ago, and as captain of the Famous Nevada wonder team which tied California in 1923.

Linehan Coaches Goofs
Walter Linehan, last year's Wolf Pack captain, and all conference guard, will be in the role of Goof coach the rest of the season, and will build up reserve material for the varsity. Linehan has already done some mighty fine work in the process of conditioning the varsity during the time which Philbrook has been unable to direct the team. But with the head coach taking the field on Tuesday, Linehan will be relieved of some of the responsibility which he has shouldered since the opening of school and will teach the goofs some of the intricate processes of football.

Assisting with the varsity will be Jake Lawlor, last year's line coach, who will fill the same position this year. Last year Lawlor whipped the Wolf bone crushers into one of the finest lines ever seen on Mackay Field. Lawlor wore the grid togs for four years, playing both line and backfield on many Nevada elevens, and his work this year will undoubtedly be instrumental in the success of the team.

Weaver Directs Ends
Another Wolf Pack gragger, Willard "Speed" Weaver, who last year proved to be one of the best conference wing-men, has been assigned the duty of teaching the ends the art of getting down the field under punts, and the other technicalities of such an important position. Weaver has an extraordinary task in that he must develop one to fill the very position he vacated last spring in receiving his diploma.

Thus Coach Philbrook at the helm and such a staff of able assistants working under him, Nevada should be due for a good season on the gridiron.

O'Hara Goes to March Field

Bryon O'Hara, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, left this summer for Riverside, California, where he will take up aviation at March Field. O'Hara is working for a pilot's license.

American Chemical Society Meets On Campus Tomorrow

The Sacramento section of the American Chemical Society will hold its seventy-second meeting in room 215 at eight o'clock.

Dr. Ralph H. McKeen nationally known chemist, will be speaker of the evening. McKeen is the official chemist of the American Paper and Pulp Association and a member of the faculty in the Columbia University, New York City, where he organized university courses in paper and pulp technology.

His subject will be "Newer Developments of the Paper Industry." The problem he will discuss is similar to the problem in disposing of waste liquors from the Floriston paper mill on the Truckee river.

The meeting will be open to the public.

Bob Long Recovers From Serious Illness

Bob Long, prominent member of the junior class, who was forced to leave school last spring on account of illness, is reported to be completely recovered in health and is now spending a pleasant vacation at his home in Palo Alto, Cal. He is assured of returning to college next semester.

During the summer Long made a brief stay with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Blackler and visited many Reno friends.

Library Rules and Hours Are Same as Those of Last Year

University of Nevada library hours will be the same as last year, with the doors opened until noon on Saturdays, and from 1:30 to 5:30 p. m. on Sundays, in addition to the regular week-day schedule, according to Miss Thea Thompson, librarian.

Books on reserve are to be used in the building during the day, and may be withdrawn for overnight use when the library closes at night, the librarian said. Saturday books may be taken out in the morning and returned by 2:30 on Sunday. If books on reserve, taken for all night use during week days, are not returned by 9:30 the following morning, a fine of 50 cents will be charged, plus ten cents for each additional hour, although these fines will be reduced half if paid at the time the book is returned.

These library rules will be rigidly enforced, Miss Thompson said, as the library is open to students for studying only. Violation of rules and failure to respond to overdue notices are punishable by dismissal from the library, she said.

Big Ovation Greets Head Coach As Official Gridiron Season Opens

Trevitt Named as General Manager Campus Thespians

Robinson Retained as General
Art Director For the Coming Year

Evans Only Junior Manager to Return to School
This Year

Fred Trevitt, '32, who for the past three years has been on the general direction staff of Campus Players, last week was named general manager for that body, with his tenure of office to last for the next two semesters.

In the capacity of general manager, Trevitt will supervise the management of all dramatic presentations on the part of the Hill dramatic group, and will have direct supervision over a staff of almost 30 junior and sophomore managers and treasurers from the junior players group.

Evans Returns
The sole junior manager to return to school this year from last year's large staff was Wyman Evans, who aided in stage management and general supervision work last year. Charles Nichols, who worked with Evans, had decided not to return to school this semester and Donald McKay, make-up expert and general stage supervisor, is at the present time occupying the position of sound expert with the Paramount studios in Hollywood.

Newly appointed to aid Trevitt in his work is Graham Kistlingberry, a transfer from San Mateo Junior College, where he is said to have had considerable experience along this line. He will direct the activities of the Sophomore managers.

Working with Kistlingberry are George Hunter, Ralph Meyers, Eddie Olsen, Donald Brown and Oscar Robinson. Hunter and Olsen were freshman managers from the staff last year, while Meyers and Brown worked out for a time, but were forced to drop out later on.

Robinson Art Director
Robinson, who came up from Reno High School last year with a strong reputation for creative ideas, put his thoughts to good effort in the plays presented last semester, and has been retained as general art director this year. His work on the play "Go Easy Mabel" was especially meritorious.

To aid the sophomore managers, Lloyd Leonard, Denver Dickerson, Robert Creps and Beverly Douglas have been retained as frosh managers. Robinson's art staff this year will consist of George Davis, Frances McGill, Adelaide Shogren, Ruth Fish, Altabelle Germain, Josephine Knowles, Katherine Hansen, Dorothy Rose and Ina Johnson. On costumes, Margaret Martin, Mary Adeline Thompson and Fiffie Lippman will work with new tries.

'Stray Greeks' to Organize in Full

Fraternity Men Belonging to
Other Groups to Meet
Monday Night

Organizing for the purpose of cooperation, certain men of the Campus, hailing from other universities, and belonging to fraternities not represented on this Campus, have united, calling themselves the "Stray Greeks."

Their first meeting was held Wednesday evening, at which no definite conclusions were reached. A second meeting is to be held Monday, and more members are hoped to be present. So far only six men have joined the organization. They are Anthony Tesone, University of Colorado; Ralph Robinson, Stanford; Dick Fry, University of California; Jack Smith, Washington State; "Cal" Burns, University of California, and "Nel" Watkins, University of Southern California. They plan to attend the Wednesday night dances in full force.

Members of the new group, it is said, hope to become a recognized Campus organization, to function as a unit in intramural sports, and in the social activities of the campus as a whole.

Any members of the organizations that do not maintain chapters on the Nevada Campus are eligible for membership in the group. The present members hope that the men on the Campus who qualify for membership will take it upon themselves to affiliate with the new organization.

Perry Hayden Goes To Take New Post

Perry Hayden, graduate of Nevada with the class of '31, left Wednesday night for Charlotte, N. C., where he will enter Johnson C. Smith University as the winner of a business scholarship.

Homecoming Plans Shape Up as Clubs For Alumni Active

Grads Show Interest in Annual Celebration as Meeting of Associations Is Held

Campus Committee Under
Ayres Plans Most Unusual
Fete Ever Held

Stimulated by Homecoming, the Alumni clubs throughout Nevada and California are unusually active. The success of last year's celebration has interested every alumnus, and all those that possibly can come will be here this year.

The Reno Alumni meet Thursday to begin the Homecoming Day schedule. According to Joe McDonald, president of the Alumni Association, this year's celebration looks as though it will turn out as well or even better than last year's.

Committee Acts
The Homecoming Day Committee under the chairmanship of Irvin Ayres, is organizing one of the best and most unusual celebrations ever staged. As yet only tentative arrangements have been made and no statements of arrangements have been issued. Fraternities, sororities and organizations are being urged to start planning their floats and entries in the parade which is to be an outstanding feature of the celebration this year.

The Wolves Frolic is being managed by Blue Key with the co-operation of Campus Players under Colman and Harwood, who state that it will far surpass all previous efforts on past Homecoming celebrations.

Old grads are expected in great numbers and are to be welcomed by their old classmates and fraternity brothers and sorority sisters.

Members of the committee are Irvin Ayres, chairman; Clifford Devine, Bill Trevitt will supervise the management and Pat Sanford.

Announcements of sittings for Artemesia photographs were made yesterday by Elbert Walker, editor of the Artemesia. Pictures will be taken at the Paralta Studios, 219 West Second street, near the El Cortez hotel.

Students are urged to have their pictures taken on the day scheduled, not only because it is to their own advantage but also because late sittings are an inconvenience to the Artemesia staff.

All sittings will cost fifty cents. Late sittings will cost $1.00. Pictures will not be taken on Sunday as has been the custom in past years.

The Artemesia sittings are as follows: Sept. 16, 17, 18.—Alpha Tau Omega.
Sept. 19, 21.—Beta Kappa.
Sept. 22, 23.—Delta Sigma Lambda.
Sept. 24, 25, 26.—Lambda Chi Alpha.
Sept. 28, 29.—Phi Sigma Kappa.
Sept. 30, Oct. 1, 2.—Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
Oct. 3, 5.—Sigma Nu.
Oct. 6, 7, 9.—Sigma Phi Sigma.
Oct. 9, 10.—Beta Delta.
Oct. 12, 13.—Beta Sigma Omicron.
Oct. 14, 15, 16.—Delta Delta Delta.
Oct. 17, 19, 20.—Gamma Phi Beta.
Oct. 21, 22, 23.—Kappa Alpha Theta.
Oct. 26, 27.—Pi Beta Phi.
Oct. 28, 29, 30, 31.—Manzanita hall.
Nov. 2, 3, 4.—Lincoln hall.
Nov. 5, 6, 7.—Seniors.
Nov. 9, 10, 11.—Juniors.

Football Ushered in As Philbrook Takes Field for First Time

Brewster Adams Introduces
Speakers Amid Cheers
From Gathering

Philbrook Asks Student Support
During Entire Grid-iron Season

Ushering in the football season with the advent of Coach George Philbrook on the field for the first time since last November, a small but enthusiastic crowd of students braved a sweeping northwest wind to stage the first rally of the season Tuesday afternoon.

Cheers, speeches and band music occupied the interest of students, coaches and a part of the football machine which many believe will make football history for Nevada this fall. The rally under the direction of Yell Leaders Mariani and Blakely, was given added impetus when the Sagers and Sagens paraded the Campus and nearby fraternity and sorority houses and dormitories urging attendance.

Brewster Adams Speaks
Rev. Brewster Adams, for many years vitally interested in Hill athletic circles introduced the speakers, amidst a loud yell of approval from the assemblage. Adams urged the students to activity, telling them that no team will play if the school is not behind it.

"The right spirit will win," he said, and reiterated a statement made by J. E. Martie, a few weeks ago, to the effect that it was the old-time Nevada spirit which will enable the Wolf Pack to meet teams such as Stanford and California.

Urges Bleacher Spirit
"Martie said a mouthful," Adams said. "You can't beat a team when it plays for the love of the game and the love of the school. This is the type of spirit which must and can be developed. But the Pack won't play unless they know that you care. You must show them that you are backing them to the limit. If you haven't the spirit up there (he pointed to the bleachers) you can't expect them to have the spirit out there. If you fight they'll fight. A show of spirit is all that is asked of you."

Coach Philbrook takes the field this year with heavy feet," Adams added. "He has a tremendous responsibility. He has expressed that responsibility many times. He wants to put the best team on the field that has ever been fielded here, and he faces a tough proposition in doing this. I hope sincerely that he is light-hearted when he comes off the field at the end of the season." Adams also praised a dinner to the team if it defeated both California and Stanford.

Philbrook Urges Support
Adams then introduced Philbrook. "Give him your best," he said. "He is entitled to it."

Head Coach Philbrook urged the support of the entire body all season. "I do feel a great responsibility," he said. Then he introduced his aids, Chet Scranton, Jake Lawlor and Walt Linehan. Scranton assured the students that if those in the bleachers would do their part the team would give all it had. Lawlor said that spirit was more than half the battle. Philbrook then said that condition had much to do with winning and losing games, and introduced Walt Linehan, who has been sending the gridders through their setting-up exercises and early season fundamentals. "The fellows on the field will fight, the staff will fight, what we need is your pep and backing. I know we will get it," Linehan, who captained the Pack last year, said.

Spirit Makes the Team
Philbrook came back with a few closing remarks to say that spirit makes a team, and that the team would play in proportion to the support given it by the student body. He also mentioned the praise given the players in the local papers, saying that no player should ever read a newspaper. "If they read a false conception of their real value, and often spools a good man, making him impossible to work with," he said in commenting on the flattering articles written. He said that praise after the season was ended was acceptable, but that this was not the case during the season. "Praise is all right, but it is like saying the right word at the wrong time to praise a man before the season is well under way," he said in closing.

Graduate Manager Bernard Hartung said he could add nothing and then stepped into his old role of yell leader to lead the students in a big "N-E-V." Yells and more band music followed the speeches, and the rally broke up with the singing of "Hail to Our Sturdy Men."

Sagebrush Tryees Have Staff Meet

A meeting of the Sagebrush general staff was held in the "Brush" office Monday afternoon. Margaret Ede, women's editor, instructed the tryees on style and technicalities of newspaper writing. Ken Johnson, sports editor, urged the staff to get acquainted with the "Brush" rules.

The trial period will be over next week, and at the end of that time, those who have shown themselves capable will be put on the regular staff.

Construction For New Pi Phi House Nears Completion

Sorority Home Ready For Use By October, Says Balthasar

The new Pi Beta Phi sorority house, which was begun last spring, will be ready for occupancy about the first week in October, when a house warming will celebrate the official opening, according to President Parnell Balthasar.

The new sorority house is located on Sierra Street just north of the Kappa Alpha house. The Nevada Alpha chapter of Pi Beta Phi was established in 1915, the second national sorority on the University of Nevada Campus.

At a cost of $26,000, the new house will be the latest addition to "Sorority Row," making four nationals on Sierra Street. The Pi Beta Phi house is the first sorority house built in Reno originally intended to be used as such.

The alumni are financing the house and the active chapter is going to rent from the alumni chapter. This will make living expenses in the house no heavier than those of the other houses, as has been often misunderstood.

The new house, built on the Colonial style, is three stories high. The first floor contains a large living room with a fireplace. The library, house mother's room, dining room and kitchen are also on the first floor, as is a guest room for visiting Phi Phis from other states.

The second and third stories are taken up with bedrooms and shower rooms. There are accommodations for 20 girls, two girls being in each of the ten bedrooms. These bedrooms are very large, having at least one good-sized window in each. Every girl has a separate closet.

There will also be a chapter room on the second floor in which meetings will be held.

In the basement are the heating plant, laundry room, trunk room, storage room, as well as the cook's room and bath. Although at first a vapor steam heating system was planned, efforts are being made to substitute an oil furnace. It is thought by the members of the sorority that the latter will prove more satisfactory, making it easier to control the temperature. Thermostats will be installed in each room so that the occupants can, if they wish, regulate the heat themselves.

The grounds around the sorority house will be landscaped. The house itself is made of red brick, as is the walk leading to the front sidewalk.

Miss Parnell Balthasar, the Nevada delegate to the Pi Beta Phi convention held in New Jersey this summer, and Miss Doris Thompson, who accompanied her, presented a scrapbook to the convention. This book contained drawings drawn to scale of the entire interior of the house. All of the furniture, draperies, ornaments, even the kitchen utensils were described, priced and illustrated in the book.

As soon as the house is completed, members of Pi Beta Phi now staying at Artemisia hall, will, for the most part, move to Sierra Street. Some of the other members, at present living in Reno apartments and at home, have also announced their intentions to live in the sorority house.

Chase Recommended For Degree of B. A.

Emory Chase was recommended for a Bachelor of Arts degree at the meeting of the faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences on Tuesday.

The Department of Mathematics will be allowed to enroll the active members of the mathematics society in Mathematics 150 the faculty decided. Such a course will offer one-half credit a year.

A preliminary report on major and minor requirements for graduation was given at the meeting.

GRAD MAKES SURVEY OF SANITATION

Vernon Cantion, '28, spent his summer vacation this year making a survey of the sanitary conditions of the city of Reno, and will embody his findings in a 100,000 word thesis to be turned in at the Harvard School of Medicine when he returns there for his third year next month.

Cantion will be remembered at the University of Nevada for the high scholastic record he established and the prominent part he took in campus activities, chief among which was serving as student body president in his senior year.

At Harvard he has also established a high record and has won scholarships each year that he has attended. He will return this year with another. He has been residing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cantion, of Sparks, during the vacation period.

Many New Books Are Presented to Library

Another gift to the already growing donation list, was one made by Mrs. S. J. Hodgkinson of Reno in the form of a beautifully bound set of books entitled, "Papers and Messages of the Presidents," from 1789 to 1903.

The following books, recent additions, were presented to the University Library by Professor M. J. Webster:

- Blanchard—Child and Society; Bogardus—Immigration and Race Attitudes; Riegel—Elements of Business Statistics; Weeks—Social Antagonisms; Storck—Man and Civilization; Brown—Estudios Gramaticos Espanoles; Kany—Fiestas y Costumbres Espanolas; Cano—Cuentos Humoristicos Espanoles; Crawford—Los Abencerrajes; Jackson—Electricity and Magnetism; Mudgett—Statistical Methods and Graphs; McPherson—Chemistry and Its Uses; Marden—First Spanish Grammar; Parker—Intermediate Spanish Grammar.

The following is the gift of Librarian Emeritus, J. D. Layman: Bennett—Imperial Palace; Lewis—Elmer Gantry.

Other recent additions are: Replifier—Mere Marie of the Ursulines; Cody—Life and Adventures of Buffalo Bill; O'Neill—Dynamo; Howell—History of the Incandescent Lamp; Merimee—History of Spanish Literature; Liddell—Metallurgists' and Chemists' Handbook; Meeker—Ox Team Days on the Oregon Trail; Who's Who Among North American Authors; Statutes of Nevada, 1931; Winchell—Elements of Optical Mineralogy; Jones—Musico-Dramatic Producing; Bernowitz—Handbook for Prospectors; Chapman—Anthology of 17th Century French Literature; Chapman—Anthology of 18th Century French Literature.

Vogliotti Honored at Rome University

Reno Vogliotti, former University of Nevada student, who is now attending the Royal University at Rome, ended his semester period June 23, with high honors. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Vogliotti of Reno, received a cable telling of their son's achievements.

The honor of "trenta con lode" was bestowed on him. He is studying international law under former Minister Victor Emanuel Orlando Capo del Consiglio, who was a signer of the Treaty of Versailles in 1919.

Students Discuss Campus Honoraries

Orientation Class Learns of Honors Conferred Upon U. of N. Students

"Student Honor" and campus honorary organizations were the subjects of discussion by Professor J. A. Carpenter, Juanita Johnson, Fred Wilson and Bruce Thompson, at last Tuesday's orientation class.

Miss Johnson described the women's honor societies and explained their functions: Chi Delta Phi, national honorary English society for women; Cap and Scroll, to which noteworthy women are elected; Gothic N, women's honorary athletic association; the Sagens, Hill pep and service group, composed of representatives from women's social organizations.

Fred Wilson spoke on the purpose and function of men's honorary societies. Square and Compass, Coffin and Keys, the Sagers, Blue Key, and Sundowners, the last mentioned, a congenial organization started by ex-service men upon their return to college after the war.

Honor Discussed
"The only time a bluff is successful is when you are sure you are right—and then it isn't a bluff," was the essence of a talk by Bruce Thompson, honor student.

Professor Carpenter spoke briefly of Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic society; Thursday's speaker, Professor J. E. Martie, introduced by Dean Maxwell Adams, told the freshmen of the function of the hospital association and the college physician. The keynote of Martie's speech was, "You are not preparing to live four years from now a well rounded education and your preparation in college include physical as well as mental exercise."

Foreign Language Classes at Night

Because of the large number of students enrolled in foreign language courses, two evening classes have been created under the instruction of Professor Murgotten. One hour of the three-hour course, French 73, comes on Thursdays at 7:15, and a one-hour course in German is given at 7 o'clock Tuesdays.

Past Summer Session Shows Enrollment of 118 Students in Term

Faculty Maintains Vacation School Independently Of University

A summer session with an enrollment of 118 students was maintained during the vacation period by faculty members of the University of Nevada entirely independent of the University to replace the summer school formerly supported by the University.

Sufficient funds to support the session were provided by curtailing the course of study, by eliminating one of the rooms formerly used, and by raising the tuition fee. Mr. W. W. Anderson, superintendent of public instruction, aided in reducing expenses by sending out publicity matter through his office and publishing the announcement of the summer session in the Nevada Educational Bulletin.

In order to compensate for the additional tuition fee the summer school was run for six weeks and five days of recitation as before.

Announcements

Miss Sissa urgently requests that all students who have not notified her of any change in their addresses or phone numbers to please do so at once in order that the university records may be kept straight.

One hundred and fifty-three students out of the 876 who, through completion of registration are members of the A. S. N. U., have not called for their student tickets. These tickets, which include admission to the five home games, are obtainable at the executive office in the Old Chemistry building. Graduate Manager Hartung urges the students to get these now as they are already paid for.

Registration for teachers will be open until Saturday noon. They may still take out cards.

The mental tests for freshmen will be given next Tuesday and Thursday in the Orientation period.

Colonel Brambilla To Deliver Address

Constitution Day Speech to Be Given Friday Morning At 11:25

Speaking on "Military Phases of the Constitution," Colonel Robert Brambilla will deliver the annual Constitution Day address on Friday, September 25, at 11:25. It was announced today by Professor A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the University committee on assemblies and lectures. Colonel Brambilla is a graduate of Nevada with the class of '97, and is the professor of military science and tactics.

Thursday, September 17, was the 144th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States. The Constitution Day Assembly, however, will be on Friday, September 25, and will include also several patriotic numbers by the University band.

Six Freshmen Hit The Lake Wednesday

Six more freshmen hit Manzanita lake Wednesday afternoon at the request of the sophomores. They were R. Menente, H. Brandis, B. Morgan, C. Dukes, U. Kwan and J. Hodge.

The class of '35 showed more fight than at any previous lakings, reports those sophs sponsoring the lakings.

Football Broadcast To Be Sponsored by Standard Oil Co.

The Standard Oil Broadcasting truck is to broadcast the football game on Homecoming Day as during previous years. Final negotiations have not been made as yet, but it is thought that their announcing facilities will be available on the above named date.

The Associated Oil Company has completed preparations to broadcast football games through KOH the local Bee Radio station. An announcer will be selected from students attending the University. This company also announced plans to put out and distribute windshield stickers. The Nevada football schedule will be printed on the back of the sticker.

Introducing none other than Fern "Swede" Hansen, freshman of Manzanita hall. Also Tri Delt pledge, but we will forgive her for that. She inhabits chop suey joints, goes out with senior men, has a very cute line, and is an all around good kid. She particularly cares for the nickname of Swede so we hope the campus won't disappoint her.

Ceremonies Held By Six Sororities To Pledge Women

Delta Delta Delta Wins 1931 Derby With Seventeen New Members

Climaxing the two weeks of rushing on the Nevada Campus, pledging ceremonies were held Saturday night by Delta Delta Delta, Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Beta Sigma Omicron and Beta Delta sororities. Gamma Phi Beta pledged Monday evening.

Delta Delta Delta pledged the following 17 women at the chapter house: Fern Hansen, Susanville; Fay Lewis, Dallas, Texas; Ellen McFarland, Berkeley; Elizabeth Cazier, Wells; Theresa Glennan, Sarah Graves, Dorothy Jackson, Dorothy Schidler, Betty Wilt and Helen Malloy, all of Reno; Virginia Sauer and Helen Smith, Sparks; Louise Tidball, Ely; Elva Neddinrip, Gardnerville; Ruth Brown, San Francisco; Geraldine Harbert, Jarbridge; and Nadine Fischer, Sacramento.

Gamma Phi Pledges Monday
Gamma Phi Beta pledged the following 15 women: Grace Armbruster, Billie Burke, Caryl Carman, Helen Mortensen, Mary Jauregui, Anna Nelson, Marjorie Rather, all of Reno; Dorothy Nason, Margaret Walker, Carol Devine, Sparks; Wanda Morrill, Sacramento; Kathryn Nichol, Reno; Esther Ronzone, Tonopah; Marcelle Barkley, Sacramento; Kathryn Wardleigh, Wells.

Pi Beta Phi held pledging ceremonies for 13 women at the home of Mary Adaline Thompson on Riverside Drive. Those pledged were Mary Durkee, Helene Stark, Virginia Nelson, Grace Semenza, Peggy Williams, Margaret Smith, Kathleen Haffey, Edna Hicks and Mary Murphy, Reno; Patricia Harrison, Minden; Marjorie Cannon, Patricia O'Connell and Bernice Walker, Ely.

Theta Pledges Thirteen
Kappa Alpha Theta pledged thirteen women at the chapter house. They were Elizabeth Young, Sally Fagan, Virginia Murgotten, Florence Doyle, Alice Mason, Marie Richards, Harriett Heidman, Kathryn Nichol, Helen Per Lee, Betty Howell, Pearl Lunsford, Reno; Teresa Jauregia, Elko; and Frances Cramer, Las Vegas.

Beta Sigma Omicron pledged Mary Fay, Truckee; Ann Sullivan, Reno; Eva Edwards, Panaca; Mary Tucker, Susanville; Margaret Lyon, Reno; Ruth Williams, Ely; Margaret Richards, Fernley.

Beta Delta pledged Alice Parman, Juana Barber and Helen Records, all of Reno.

The Beta Sigma Omicron formal was held at the home of Mrs. V. P. Gianelli on Nixon avenue. Decorations consisted of ruby and pink candles and roses. Entertainment was furnished by Melva Fowler who presented a piano solo, and Delphine Trulove who gave a violin solo, accompanied by Anna Kelson. Mrs. Theodore Post sang several songs and a clever tap dance followed. The guests were Mrs. Theodore Post, Mrs. V. P. Gianelli, Mrs. William Robinson and Mrs. J. H. Headley.

The women signified their intention of joining a sorority by attending the preference dinner which was given Friday evening and was binding on both the part of the sorority and the rushee.

Prominent Women Y. W. C. A. Guests

Maude Russell, Helen Price and Mary Bentley, a former Nevadan, are guests of the University Y. W. C. A. this weekend. The prominent women who arrived Thursday evening, were taken to the El Cortez for dinner by the cabinet members. This morning Maude Russell spoke to the combined history classes from 9:30 to 10:30 about the present condition of China.

The advisory board of the University Y. W. C. A. entertained them at lunch. Friday afternoon Maude Russell talked to the World Education group better known as Floating University. Maude Russell has many Nevada friends from Asilomar. All these friends and the Campus women as well as all downtown women were invited. An all day trip to Pyramid Lake tomorrow will conclude the week-end program. All Y. W. C. A. members are urged to notify Catherine Slavin nad to come on this picnic supper.

Maude Russell is on the second part of her vacation. She has been in South America and is leaving soon for England where she will be for four months. She plans to make a concentrated study of internationalism and student problems of the world. From England

Students Receiving Hospital Treatment For Lacerations

The bread slicer in the University of Nevada dining hall has been the cause of three students receiving lacerated fingers during the past week. The students are Fern Wiltner, Murel Acheson and Jimmie Cazier. All are receiving treatment at the campus hospital.

These cases, however, are the only ones which have required much attention at the hospital so far this semester. At the beginning of last semester, 45 students were reported ill with the flu, besides several cases of appendicitis and minor illnesses causing the hospital to become overcrowded with patients.

Music Department Plans Stunt Night For Glee Clubs

Individual Talent of Members Will Be Displayed at Entertainment

Stunt night in which the members of the men's and women's glee clubs join for entertainment, will take place next Wednesday night, September 23, according to Professor Theodore H. Post. Stunts will be presented for the entertainment of the singers and refreshments will be served.

In addition, talents of the individual members will be displayed, with outstanding stunts being used in larger entertainments to be staged later in the semester.

With enrollments of twenty-six members in each club, plans are being made for a big year in the music department.

Even more joint work will be done this year than ever before, stated Professor Post. This work will take the form of mixed voices, double mixed quartets, the members to be selected from the whole group. These smaller groups will be used where it is not convenient to use the entire club, as in programs down town.

Each club will give a concert sometime during the year at the Century Club. Arrangements have been made by Mr. Post with Mrs. Spann, the president of the Twentieth Century Club, for the use of the hall.

The first meeting of the women's glee club was held last Tuesday night. Much enthusiasm was displayed and they are eager to make up for lost time. Because of the rushing season, no classes were held until everyone could come to the meetings.

The men's glee club meets Monday afternoons at four o'clock as well as Wednesday nights at eight in order to take in football men who cannot attend the afternoon meetings.

Non-Coms Tryout In Military Unit

R. O. T. C. Class to Be Divided Into Three Groups for Semester

Drill tryouts for non-commissioned officers in the military department started Thursday during the 7:45 class, according to Colonel Robert M. Brambilla, who stated that companies will be formed much sooner than has been the custom during previous years. There will be three companies in all. In each company non-commissioned officers include two sergeant-guides and six corporals.

The two highest ranking men in scholarship and discipline during their freshman year are chosen as staff sergeants on the battalion staff. Colonel Brambilla announced Wednesday that Russell R. Elliott and Paul A. Fontana were the two ranking men in these respects and so had been automatically appointed, provided their discipline did not fall in grade before the try-outs are concluded.

Members of the class whose grades were in the upper division of the class during their freshman year will be tried out in drill in the capacity of the office which they are expected to fill, and will receive preference over those whose grades were lower, provided they pass the drill test satisfactorily, the colonel said. Those men who held offices in other schools previous to their registration here will also be given preference. Their status depends entirely, however, on their ability shown during tryouts and their discipline record since enrollment. Receipt of any demerits automatically eliminates them from the list of tryees. Men who had perfect records in discipline will also receive attention, he said, and their ability as officers will be investigated.

Dwight Leavitt and Claude Snooks returned yesterday from San Francisco where they have been attending the biannual convention of Delta Sigma Lambda fraternity. While in the bay city they met Claire Lehmkuhl, 29, who announced his intentions of visiting in Reno over Labor Day.

HASEMAN, ROCKLUND HONORED IN MEMORIALS BY FACULTY

Memorials honoring the late Dean Charles Haseman and Professor Oscar T. Rocklund were adopted by the University Faculty at last Friday night's meeting. Dean Maxwell Adams, Professor J. C. Jones and Professor L. W. Hartman drew up the following statement with regard to Dean Haseman:

"On July 9, 1931, in his fifty-first year, Dr. Charles Haseman, professor of mathematics and mechanics at the University of Nevada, died at his old home near Linton, Indiana. On this day a strong, valiant spirit and a wise counsellor and friend passed from our midst.

"Educated in the public schools of his native state, he received his baccalaureate degree at the University of Indiana in 1903, and serving his alma mater as instructor in mathematics, received his master's degree in 1906. The following year he spent at the University of Goettingen in Germany where he received his doctorate. In 1909 he was called from Indiana to the University of Nevada where he has served as professor of mathematics and mechanics for over 20 years, and as dean of men since 1929.

"In his death the faculty of the University of Nevada has suffered an irreparable loss. Few men possess his poise, his straightforward honesty and strength of character, his thorough understanding and grasp of the essential elements of University life. His keen mind and discriminating judgment was most valuable in the problems of the faculty. His just but firm decisions were most effective in student control. His abiding interest in good music and in the promotion of clean sport left a lasting impression upon the generations of students who came in contact with him. Ever friendly, approachable, and helpful, with high standards of scholarship, with wonderfully effective and efficient methods of teaching his influence with faculty and students was large.

"His energy seemed boundless, no task was too arduous for him. He was an indefatigable worker and his interests included both the University and State. His deeds speak so eloquently that words seem inadequate to express our deep sense of loss.

"Be it resolved, that the faculty of the University here records our appreciation of the life of Dr. Haseman and deplores his untimely death. In his passing we feel that we have lost a true and valiant friend."

The statement honoring Professor Rocklund was drawn up by Professor Stanley Palmer, Professor H. P. Boardman and Professor Fred Bixby. It reads as follows:

"Whereas, the University faculty has suffered a great loss through the death of our friend and colleague, Oscar T. Rocklund, we wish to express our feeling of appreciation of his kindly and genial disposition, his friendliness to others, and his interest and co-operation in the College of Engineering.

"He was competent and efficient in his work and beloved by all of those students and members of the faculty who were fortunate enough to have been associated with him."

A copy of these memorials was sent to the respective families of each of these men.

Reverend Graves Is New Pastor of St. Stephens Chapel

St. Stephens Chapel, student branch of the Episcopal Church, has as its new chaplain the Reverend F. D. Graves to succeed Howard Harper of last year. Mr. Graves is a graduate of Hobart College, New York, from which he received his B. A. degree.

He is a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity. His B. A. degree from Divinity was also secured in New York City. From college he went to parts of Nebraska and Wyoming. For the past 15 years he has been in California, coming here from Fresno. At Fresno he was engaged in administrative work and this will be his first experience as a student chaplain.

He comes well recommended by his summer student conferences as a faculty member. He is most interested in religious drama, having been a member of Fresno's Little Theater, and a member of the National Committee on Religious Drama and is very interested in what college dramatic societies are planning for this year.

During an interview, the Reverend Mr. Graves said: "I hope to have a large acquaintance and many friends among the students both out of my church and in it, and I want to help anyone who comes to me." Some time

Campus Club For Students Started At Local Church

The Federated Church at Fifth and Virginia streets, next Sunday evening at 6 o'clock will begin a new campus student program, when an informal get-together dinner will be held for the University students who gave the Presbyterian or Congregational church as their preference.

After the dinner a playlet will be given by several of the members of the group.

"The motive of the Campus Club is to offer a Sunday home to those who are away from home, attending the University," stated Dr. William Moll Case, the pastor of the church. "During the year representative speakers will talk to the group on modern Christian problems of the youth of today," Dr. Case said.

One of the features of the organization is the establishment of the group known as the Pilgrim Players whose function it will be to present Biblical dramas during the school year.

Dr. Case urges that all students are to consider themselves welcome to attend these meetings.

Ellen Olson is home economics teacher at Lund, Nevada, for the coming year.

At The Roxie

Don't miss Nevada's first exclusive midnight frolic, beginning at the Roxie theatre promptly at eleven o'clock, Pacific standard time, one hour before midnight. When? Next Friday night, September 25. This is a hot tip. This is a hot tip. Be there.

The football season opens the next day, and you will want to get in tune for the rooting section. Exercise your lungs, and be there, the whole nine hundred and thirty of you. Pat Stevenson, the Roxie's manager, knows how to put those midnight shows across. You won't want to miss the fun.

And you will be exclusive. No one but college students will be admitted. You can sing, root, cheer to your heart's content. You can do anything but tear the covers from the seats. And speaking of seats, any chair in the house can be bought for twenty-five cents. This is the admission price and you may get your tickets Friday afternoon any time between the hours of 1:30 and 4.

Stevenson has secured the picture "Follow Through" with that well matched screen couple Buddy Rogers and Nancy Carroll. He went to the coast especially to select the piece for the midnight frolic.

Keep the eleven o'clock hour on Friday night open. Bring a date or come single, but make a date with yourself for the biggest show of the season so far. Oil up your lungs and get there. If you can't come at eleven o'clock, come at twelve. The merriment will still be there.

Football Campaign Gets Under Way as Pack Meets W. C. A.

Nevada's Strength Lies in Speed and Deception, Says Philbrook

Relative Strength of Teams is Unknown as Opening Game Nears

The curtain will raise Saturday, September 26, on Nevada's football campaign, when the University of Nevada and the West Coast Army teams take the field in Mackay Stadium in the initial appearance of the Wolves. The kickoff is set for 2:30 o'clock.

Prospects are for a fast, hotly contested game, with neither team enjoying such an edge over the other that a one sided score will result. Being an opening game, not a great deal is known about the strength of the contestants, so the edge cannot rationally be given to either outfit. It is just a matter of sitting tight and seeing what we shall see.

Speed, Deception Used

Coach George Philbrook of the Nevada Wolf Pack, intimates that he will try to vanquish the Army with speed and deception, embodied in Nevada's new 'Z' formation. Speed has always been a strong point with the Wolves, and since the days of "Rabbit" Bradshaw the elevens from Reno have been playing bigger and heavier teams.

Clem Sultenfuss will lead Philbrook's attack at halfback, paired off with Bloedel, a good man but not too experienced. Young, with a year's seasoning, will start at quarterback. H. Hill, J. Hill, Monty Boland, Spud Harris and Hugh Towle will see action in the backfield.

Parsons at Full

At fullback Philbrook will start Parsons, a good man with two years' experience. Bill Bradley will be ready to relieve him.

Levy and Bledsoe will open at ends for Nevada. Levy has had two years' experience, while his mate has yet to put in his first year on the first string. The tackles will be cared for by tested men.

Thies, playing left tackle, has had two years' experience, and Madariaga claims two. John Griffin will be ready to relieve one when it is necessary.

Scott at guard, was seen at end last season, but Coach Philbrook has converted him into a linesman this year. Just how well he will function in his new position remains to be seen. Nungesser, the other guard, is making his debut as a varsity player.

The Wolf Pack is fortunate in having Mohorovich and Caldwell as centers, for the Nevada line will be up against a hard charging pivot man in Heim of the Jarheads.

Captain A. Ross MacKechnie's hope lies in Gannuzzi, a veteran of five years' experience on the West Coast Army eleven. He is a tower of strength on the offense and a big aid in the defense. Others who will help him in the backfield are Gilbert Traub, Goldberg and Gallagher. These men are full of tricks and all have had plenty of experience.

Committee Grants Money For Coaches

The Finance Control Committee, at its second meeting Tuesday night, voted that $100 be granted the football team to hire two assistant coaches; one at $25 a month for one month and one at a like sum for three months. Doc Martie made the proposal and it was unanimously carried.

Budgets for the A. W. S., the Aggie Club and the tennis team were approved. Budgets for Campus Players and the band were held over until the next meeting in order that a more complete financial statement could be compiled.

Doc Martie also brought up the subject of more court space for the varsity tennis team to play on. It was then decided to investigate the possibility of using the tennis courts of Evans Avenue near the S. A. E. house. These courts are in need of repair and it is hoped the city will repair them and allow the team the use of them.

Graduate Manager Bernard C. Hartung reported that season tickets for town people are on sale at several of the Reno stores. These tickets sell for $5.00 and admit the holders to five games.

WOLVES WHO ARE READY

Philbrook Has Six Squads Working On Football Field

Nine of Last Year's Regular Men Are Working for Positions

Philbrook Plans Three Teams to Use Against West Coast Army

Six full squads, including a pack of yearling whelps, are working out every day on the Mackay gridiron under the direction of George W. Philbrook, 1931 coaching staff. Philbrook has but one short week in which to build a machine capable of handling the experienced veterans of the West Coast Army eleven.

Nine of last year's regulars are making an early season bid for berths on the Varsity Wolf Pack. These are: "Spud" Harris, end; Bob Madariaga, guard; Ole Thies, guard; Art Levy, end; Milton Young, quarterback; John Griffin, tackle; Ken Austin, tackle; Gael Parsons, fullback; and Bill Backer, halfback. Two veterans, Hank Rampoldi and Les Tomley, have signified that they will not play football this year. Barthels, Walter Linehan and Toby Guffrey are scholastically ineligible for athletics this semester. These men would bolster the 1931 squad materially, for there are many vacant berths.

Coach Philbrook plans to have at least three teams ready to take the field against the Army. The line-up of the varsity is tentative as yet, but it is expected that a first string will soon be chosen, and work started upon elementary tactics so that cooperation and smoothness may be gained as soon as possible. So far about sixty-five men are turning out in suits each afternoon. Freshman Coach Chet Scranton, has almost two teams to work on this season. Linehan, last year's captain and guard, has been appointed as coach of the goof squad. The goofs are the varsity trial horses or opposition.

Several of the new men are putting up real battles for the positions left vacant by regulars who failed to return. For the center position, opened by the graduation of Jack Walther, there are four contenders, Mohorovich, Caldwell, Molin and Cashwell.

The pack was materially weakened by the non-appearance of several members of last year's varsity. Kell received a broken leg several weeks ago and was not able to enter school this semester.

O'Brien has not returned and it is said that Al Lefebvre is attending U. S. C. Three potential football men, Nick Ures, Jimmy Olivas and Wally Rusk are ineligible because they have turned professional in boxing or wrestling.

Football Banquet to Be Held in the Fall

The annual football banquet given by the business men of Reno has been postponed until after the football season, it was announced by Graduate Manager Hartung.

It has previously been the custom to hold the banquet early in the fall.

Brigham Young Grid Squad to Meet Pack

Second Football Game of 1931 Wolf Pack Season to Be October 3

For the third consecutive year the Brigham Young University gridiron warriors will clash with the Nevada Wolf Pack in the one of the most promising battles of the year. Brigham Young is one of the strong teams of the Rocky Mountain Conference and will invade Reno on October 3, with the hopes of keeping her slate clean from defeat by the Wolves.

In 1929 the Mormons took the Blue and Silver into camp by the close score of 10 to 7. Butch Lawlor, now Pack line coach, was the star of the game for Nevada, when he galloped over the goal line with Tupper's pass and then kicked the goal on the try for point. Buck Jones was the mainstay in the line and repeatedly threw the Cougar backfieldsmen for losses.

Last year the Nevada eleven traveled to Provo and held the Mormons to a 6 to 6 tie. In this game Sultenfuss, Nevada's star back, raced 70 yards to a touchdown in the opening play, but eventually the Cougar's started an attack which could not be stopped by the fighting Wolf Pack and again the Blue and Silver saw a chance for victory slip away.

This year the Nevada team will enter the field as the team to beat. The material this year is the best since the Pack has been playing the B. Y. U. outfit and the boys will be in there fighting to atone themselves for the loss in '29.

The Football Stadium Is One Place Where Nevada's New Spirit of Sophistication Should Not Be Displayed

Nine hundred and thirty-two students on the Nevada campus have a responsibility this year, as in other years, in fielding a team of gridiron trampers which will bring glory to the school where thousands of loyal Nevadans have tramped the walks for these many years hoping against hope that the Pack would prove a winner.

Perhaps these thousands have voiced their whispered hopes in years gone by. Certainly the fighting spirit of the Wolf Pack is sufficiently renowned to make the Nevada team a welcome foe on any field. Many times a team is said to have "fighting spirit" when there is nothing else displayed. Nevada has come under this category once, but no longer need the Wolves feel content with this consolatory statement—"They fought."

This year the Wolf Pack looks competent to meet most of its opponents on even term. The players are in high spirits, and the coaching staff is not unduly pessimistic as to the season's outcome. And the rest of the school while still partially assuming an attitude of indifference towards things in general, has displayed enough interest to at least wonder who will win the next game. Which indicates something.

But no matter how competent the Pack looks now, no matter how willing the gridriders are to do their stuff at the present time, no matter how much assurance of this willingness is made, the stuff won't be there next Saturday, nor the next Saturday, nor the next, if the bleachers are not filled to capacity, if every student body member does not show up at the games, and keep showing, and let the team know he is present by making a 100 per cent display of his lung power.

In times past, the bleachers made so much noise that the quarterbacks had to beg for a silent moment in which to call signals. Of late, however, noise has been an absent factor, and this absence has been felt. It has left a large hole in an otherwise perfect afternoon of football. Either the Nevada students have reached the point of sophistication where they deem it unruly to make noise, or they have grown old, old, old. They are older than the oldest graduate, who still

What, Derbies!

"Every day is Derby Day at Nevada," judging from the number of supposedly chic co-eds who go breezing to classes in the new atrocities designed to give that coquettish air to the most provincial damsel.

"A-hunting we will go," sing the sophisticated co-eds who wear the severe derby, adorned with an oh-so-smart pheasant feather. (Although it's a wonder they don't wear the fox brush which goes with the grand old sport.) Langorous Greta Garbo types affect seductively plumed Empress Eugenie chapeaux with appropriate Campus sport dresses to make a luxurious ensemble.

Some distinctive personalities find themselves suited to the mongrel classes of the new hats, which include Robin Hood versions of the mode, George Washington tricorner, and plain beanies, or perhaps last year's felt hat made into the hit of the season by a "few simple stitches and the addition of a clever feather."

Any day now these coy women may be expected to appear in gaiters, monocles and canes to match the derbies. Perhaps they'll also bring the horse.

Clean The Posters

Sophomores who have been content to see themselves termed as sopheads ever since the poster rush, and freshmen who so adequately described this year's lagging crop of second-year men, came in for their share of criticism at the last executive committee meeting.

While the vigilance committee made a feeble effort at forcing the freshmen to clear the unsightly red and white stickers from the campus walks, the yearlings made a poor job of it, and for the past two weeks visitors have been treated to the unsightly spectacle of a half-done piece of work.

The executive committee has promised dire punishment to someone (just the exact someone was not named) if the work begun two weeks ago is not finished immediately. The committee is right, and if the remains of the freshmen's inglorious gesture are not removed by Monday, the whole frosh class should be treated to a first-class tubbing, with ice for trimmings, and the sophs should be tossed in the lake in a body.

comes back at times to add his voice to the voices that mean so much to a team fighting desperately for yardage. Only now there are no voices raised which he may join, and he, too, must sit in silence.

If sophistication is the answer, then it should be done away with. Sophistication is very well in tea rooms or fashionable parlors, but it has no part at a football game, where men should be men and show themselves as such.

And there is no reason for this sudden show of sophistication. It does not make itself felt in any other quarter. Football, Nevada football, should not be made to bear the brunt of this new germ. The team needs the backing of every student. It needs the hearty assurance of those 900 voices that there are not only 900, but 900 times that, behind them to the last ditch, resting their fullest confidence in them to bring home the bacon.

The Wolf Pack needs to know that the students care whether they win or not. They must know that the students care greatly. They must bolster up their sagging spirits with this assurance. By this token alone will Nevada pull through to a successful season.

Brewster Adams last Tuesday told the students who had been dragged to the rally by the Sagers and Sagens that you can't beat a team when it plays for the love of the game and the love of the school. And the Wolf Pack will play for the love of the school just so long as the students show them that there is anything in the school worth loving. Their only supplication is that you support them. They will do the rest.

If Nevada students turn out 900 strong next Saturday when the Pack meets the Jarheads, and display in no uncertain terms a spirit which will leave nothing in doubt, Nevada's football team will be off to a good start. And they need a flying start to successfully complete the hardest schedule any Nevada coach has been called upon to face in recent years. The Pack is ready to go through to give their best, to win for Nevada, to play the game. If the rest of the students are willing to do their part from the sidelines, there will be a team on the field. If not . . . ?

Keep Off The Grass

The executive committee yesterday went on record as favoring the enforcement of last year's regulation concerning students who loll about on the grass north of the tram. In accordance with this decision all those who trample on the grass during the sunny afternoons will be punished, and deservedly so.

It is pleasant to lie in the sun and read, but the stretching can be done south of the tram as well as on that part of the campus where the lawn is in especial need of peace if it is to continue to grow properly.

The executive committee has promised to see to it that violators of the rule suffer severe penalties. If the rule is adhered to the campus will be better off.

Stray Greeks Meet

Men from fraternities who do not have chapters on the campus organized this week into a society with a purpose. They will foster Nevada spirit, compete in intra-mural games, and otherwise back University activities.

There has been a need for such an organization. If the Greeks who are transfers from other campuses will keep up the work they have started they will adequately fill this need. Men who have not yet affiliated are urged to join at the earliest opportunity and get in the swim.

Speaking of mixing business with pleasure, the Sagebrush business manager eats with one side of his mouth and dictates letters to four secretaries at the same time out of the other side, meanwhile directing his advertisers by means of pre-arranged hand signals.

Freshmen males are afraid to dance with co-eds at the get-togethers. And by the way, the get-togethers are successful. If you don't think so, come around Wednesday night. The tax is nothing more than the price of a package of cigarettes.

Don't believe what you read in the magazines. Nevada's men students aren't gigolos. At least not all of them.

People who lay on lawns get rheumatism. That's the moral of the executive committee's ruling.

ANYTHING THAT'S RIGHT

THIS WEEK'S "WHAT A MAN"
Presenting Mr. John Mariani, who yesterday decided he could not be bothered with leading yells for the football team this semester, and whose resignation was unanimously accepted by the executive committee.

Mr. Mariani will be able to devote all his time to his Desert Wolf, while one or two totally inexperienced cheerleaders will take over the task of creating a winning spirit at the football games.

While Mariani will devote much of his time to the Wolf, it is rumored that he resigned so he would have time to compete with Mr. Adamson in the race for the affections of Fern Hansen, who is too good for either one of them.

If Mariani enters the race against Adamson, it is believed that the new What A Man will win handsily, as his beautifully curled raven locks and snapping black eyes are said to be practically irresistible, especially to frosh women.

Take it easy, John.
Miss Mack has been taking up a collection for a new smoking room in Manzanita hall.

Bernard Hartung has been named as the typical Joe College by the freshmen women, even though he has yet to appear in a coon-skin coat.

Fave Lewis falls for the boys on Stewart hall steps.

Peggy Smith and Lionel Jasper have been seen going the rounds together . . . in the library door.

Spud Harris might get his gray pants pressed (contributions now open.)

The Pi Phi house is situated in a most convenient position for the A. T. O's.

Art, Levy is the Hill's best chance for winning the Pepsoed contest. (Art evidently goes in for Dentney.)

Most of the dates of last week end were made at the social dance. (Here's hoping for bigger and better dances.)

Despite the depression, Reno furniture stores have been getting considerable sorority trade for chesterfield sets. It's going to be a long, cold winter, boys, so make your reservations now.

WOLF HOWLS

Two years ago the Associated Students passed a ruling that smoking be permitted on the campus, presumably for both men and women. Naturally, a group of the old fashioned prejudices against the sight of a woman indulging in the vulgar habit in public, Nevada women who smoke regularly in sorority houses and at campus gathering places refrain from any cigarettes on the campus, as they respect the gossip which would be started concerning their actions.

No co-ed would smoke on the street in broad daylight, and would accordingly not smoke on the campus. But there is not a place on the campus where one can indulge in a quiet smoke between classes, since dressing rooms in the buildings are barred from this use, and the A. W. S. room in the basement of Artemesia hall prohibits smoking.

Surely there must be some place on the campus available for a smoking room and lounge for women. For instance, I believe that the library contains a room which was originally intended for women's use, but at the present time this room is locked, probably from the fear that women might possibly smoke in it. According to people who saw it before it was locked forever, it contains comfortable and attractive furniture, which is now being put to no use whatsoever.

I believe that Nevada women would appreciate consideration in this matter, and as we are living in an advanced age, we might as well forget ancient prejudices and be modern for a change. Come on, co-eds, let's hear your opinions.

Hopefully,

Rushing Rarities: And now the big question before the house is: Is rushing harder on the sorority girls or the freshmen? It's a known fact that most of the sorority gals expend so much energy thinking of novel ideas for entertainment that their minds remain a barren waste for the remainder of the semester.

We heard the Tri Deltas admonished, "Now, unless you're one of the first ten pledges, we won't get you a date for the next A. T. O. dance." That, at least, was some incentive to become a Gamma Phi or a Theta.

The reason you haven't been able to get your favorite house lately is because the Pan Hell president has been keeping the wires hot informing the various houses that they had just been accused of dirty rushing.

All the rushees thought that the Pi Phi were awfully sweet girls. Yes, but remember, dearily, hard wood floors aren't so easy to polish.

We wonder if the various houses are going to reimburse the men for all the money spent on rushees taking them to the shows, etc. And by the way, there's nothing like exploiting the good old masculine S.A.E. for swinging the pledging your way. What was this we heard about certain men taking choice nugsgets for a ride at one p. m., mid day and not bringing them back until it was time to declare their intentions without changing their mind, thank you.

Famous last words: What, you went that sorority? And you look like such a sensible girl, too.

If you see three or four of our big he-men running around with a silly grin and a high giggle, you'll know it's just the effect of the Ed. 34 class. You know, cutting our paper dolls for Little A. B. C. books.

That lawcenter's association, the Women's Upperclass Committee, had a meeting the other day. And now that the frosh girls know there is such a committee in existence they can just continue as usual.

It takes quite a nerve to be one of those kiss-her-goodnight-at-the-door types on the Manzanita hall porch right before that bright light and God and everybody, but we know of at least one Delta Sig. Was he Claude Snooks, who has the courage of his own convictions regardless?

Heard in a French class the other day: "The way you pronounce that word it sounds like 'L'. You know, I wouldn't say so myself, but since you mentioned it, I rather thought so, too."

What's wrong with the Nevada campus? About two years ago the Mad Hatter, while writing his Swan Song said: "I today scribble a printer's '90' to this space because any attempt at exciting a contagious spirit on this campus, any gesture at bettering university conditions, must, by the very nature of conventions, be impotent. All the king's horses and men cannot advance this student body, let alone a puny individual like myself. Your cobwebs are cables." And by the looks of things it seems like conditions are in the same rut as they were then.

I know I can never achieve the literary style of the Mad Hatter, but I can, at least, bring before the students the truth about existing conditions at our university.

Again I ask . . . what's wrong with our institution, and why, why, why can't there be something done to remedy the situation?

Petty jealousies, worthless organizations, no cooperation are just a few of the answers to this problem. I am not laying the blame on any one person, but why haven't we any SPIRIT; why are the student body meetings sleeping sessions where we are all led around like a band of sheep by one or two people; why is there so much fraternity rivalry in place of school, and why, why . . . we could go on all night naming ing these things. YES, BUT IF I DID, who would take enough interest in it to try and better conditions?

Next week I will receive numerous letters, through the Sagebrush, wondering why such a traitor is allowed on the Nevada campus. But if someone will have the intensional fortitude to try and find out about this, I will willingly apologize before the next student body meeting. BUT, I know there won't be anyone that will even bother to take the trouble. And do you know why? The answer is that you are all dead in spirit, and willing to have the wool pulled over your eyes for the rest of your lives.

Next week Omar will be a little more explicit, but whatever is written, it will not be for the purpose of peddling dirt, but to try to create a little interest and spirit like they had up here about five or ten years ago when Nevada really meant Nevada.

After reading this, don't you think that there might be some truth in what has just been written by

OMAR.

Manzanita received its annual call from the fire department Thursday night, while the Matizes were all dressed up to have a good old dormitory get-together. It's a good thing firemen are familiar with the sight of a mob of girls in deshabille. Miss Mack attributed the call to the small boy mind of one or two "smart" college men.
