Former Wolf Stars Meet Barnstorming Champs Tonight

Nevada Varsity Meets Swedes Tomorrow in Third Game of Year

Bledsoe High Point Man as Entire Squad Played in Two Contests

One of the brawniest Wolf Packs of Nevada's basketball history will play its third game of the current season tomorrow night in the university gym against Olson's Terrible Swedes, a barnstorming aggregation, which on the present trip has won 75 out of 78 games. The Swedes style themselves as the "world's champion basketball club."

The invading team is composed of nine men who average six feet two inches in height. They know basketball in all its departments, and team work is the basis of their system. The Swedes play spot basketball which depends upon accurately timed plays for success. Most of these men have been college stars. Tim Barnard, their 240 pound center, holds all American honors.

Meet Wilson Cubs

Tonight the barnstormers are scheduled to tangle with the Wilson Cubs on the university floor. The Cub five is made up mainly of former Nevada basketballers. Jack Gilmarin, coach at Virginia City, plays center; Jake Lawrence, a former varsity captain, guard; Jud Dakin and Al Lombardi, forwards; and Speed Weaver running guard. The last three were members of last year's varsity.

Tomorrow night when the Swedes go on the floor they will oppose a Nevada varsity that equals them in size and ranginess and a system that hammered down San Francisco State two weeks ago. Coach Martie uses a shift-off zone defense and a fast breaking offense which have proved very satisfactory in past games. It is expected that a combination of Griffin, Bledsoe, Carrol and Gould will be used to keep the Swedes from having an advantage in size.

Scoring Threats

Bledsoe is Nevada's main scoring threat, having been high point man in both of the games against San Francisco State. College. Nevada emerged victorious in both of these contests, the scores being 34-18 and 46-22. Roy Bankoffier, Carrol and Farnsworth will also have to do some scoring to hold up their past record.

Coach Martie has been using Carrol, Gould and Stowel in the center position and although they had little trouble in taking the tip-off from San Francisco, it is expected that Olson's all-American will be able to give any of these men plenty of trouble.

NEWS WRITING STUDENTS ACT AS REPORTERS

Five senior students in journalism will have an opportunity this semester to gain actual newspaper experience when they work one afternoon a week as members of the editorial staffs of the Reno Evening Gazette and the Nevada State Journal.

Through an arrangement made by Prof. L. Higginbotham with Joe McDonald, city editor of the Gazette, and president of the university, and F. W. McKechnie, Jr., who recently acquired the Journal, the students will act as reporters and follow the practice of journalism throughout the entire semester.

The senior students who have enrolled for this work are: Fritz Wilson, Margaret Ede, Joe Jackson, Frances Armbruster and Sutcliffe Bourne.

Miss Lucille Dromiack, a former student at the university, was a visitor in Reno during the Christmas holidays. At the present time Miss Dromiack is attending the San Francisco College for Women in San Francisco.

'Berkeley Square,' Mask and Dagger Play, Wednesday

Hill Thespians Play "Strangest Love Story Ever Told" With Great Cast

Original Settings, Costumes Procured; Presentation at Granada Theatre

Opening the university dramatics season, and marking the first attempt during the entire school year, John Baderston's "Berkeley Square" will be presented by Mask and Dagger and Campus Players next Wednesday at the Granada theatre, with the initial curtain scheduled to rise at 8:15 p. m. Comprising the efforts of a group of campus thespians including bright stars of former Nevada dramatic vehicles, the play will introduce a new type of drama here. Geographically costumed and enacted on a set exactly duplicated after that used in the original London production, it marks an innovation which should be extremely pleasing.

Unique Settings

The set was constructed in the campus workshop entirely through the efforts of William Kelly Collanon, dramatics director, and several associates, including Ocean Robinson, Farnell Balthasar, Dorothy Cooper, and Herbert Peck. Stage furniture is an exact duplicate of the eighteenth century in which the play is set.

Through an arrangement made with the costumers, the production staff has been able to secure the original costumes used in the professional west coast production in San Francisco last year.

Strange Love Story

"Berkeley Square" is the story of a modern American who in some strange way is cast into the shoes of an eighteenth century ancestor, whose London house he has inherited. He steps into this ancestor's shoes, and then begins the strangest love story ever told, to love of a modern maid for a girl who has died two hundred years before his time. The man, Peter Standish, has a strange role, but he accepts it as best he can. He tries hard to make a success of his new life, but cannot, and at last he returns to 1932, bringing with him nothing save the memory of the girl he loved.

Told in this bare outline, the story seems preposterous. It is a challenge to the ingenuity of the author, yet the author has met that challenge amazingly well. The thing is done so easily, so quietly, and with so little machinery that it is as convincing as it needs to be. The scene is dancing perpetually on eggs, but the eggs never break, and the suspense, the sense of a mystery to be taken quite seriously, never falls.

Collanon Returns

The part of Peter Standish is played almost faultlessly by William Kelly Collanon, former hill drama luminary, who is now director of dramatics. Inactive for two years, Collanon has seen much service on the campus stage and returns in "Berkeley Square" in what critics say is destined to be his greatest role.

Cast as Helen, the long ago girl whom Standish loves, Miss Geraldine Harbert gives a finished performance. She has everything an actress needs to make a show go over. Miss Harbert has played several leads in important productions at the University of Idaho, and this summer turned down a professional theatre engagement to resume her studies at the University of Nevada.

Clifford Devine, flyweight boxer on last year's debate, couchpuncher and former actor, returns to the stage in a major part for the first time in two years in "Berkeley Square." Devine played a bit part in "The Rocket" last year. Previous to that time he appeared in "Androcles and the Lion," "Lilliom," "Three Dead Files" "He Who Gets Slapped" and others. As Tom Pettigrew, never-do-well brother of Helen, he turns in a fine performance, accurately portraying the character of a typical English gentleman of his time—coarse, frank, brush, and very weak.

Historical Character

John Thurston, transfer from San Mateo Junior College, plays the role of Throstle, griggish, pedantic wooer of Helen, who has his throat cut by Peter Standish. Throstle is an actual historical character, and was closely associated with Joshua Reynolds. In the museum of fine arts there is a portrait of the real Throstle, and the likeness between this man and Thurston is unmistakable.

Devonshire Revived

Throstle is not the sole historical character. "Berkeley Square" sees the revival of the Duchess of Devonshire, that remarkable hostess, diplomat and setter of fashions, whose name is still alive, and whose memory is vivid in history. She lives again in the play in the person Miss Helen Perlee.

Luminaries appearing in the play include Marion Stone, R. O. T. C. honorary major, who makes her debut before the footlights, Elsie Kibbee, Anita Sourwine and John Bryant.

Edith McLaughlin is cast as Miss Kate Pettigrew, and does a nice bit of work in holding interest. Miss McLaughlin did some superior acting when she was a student here three years ago, and is expected to repeat in the forthcoming production, Blythe Bulmer, character actress, comes forth again with a flawless performance and Walter Clark appears for the second time. Clark played Dirk, the drunken reporter in "The Rocket" last year.

Helene Turner and John Mariani are two more favorites who appear in the cast, and Gordon Klempeter comes

Back to Work

Miss Edith McLaughlin, prominent member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, who returned to Nevada last fall to resume her education and went to work on dramatics. She gives another fine performance in Mask and Dagger's "Berkeley Square."

Conference Meet Postpones Action On Frosh Standing

Schedules Drawn by Coaches and Athletic Directors for Next Season

Representatives Thompson and Martie Receive Offices at Winter Meet

Contrary to expectations no drastic changes were made in conference athletic rules at the Far Western meeting which was held last December 17, 18 and 19 in San Francisco, reports Graduate Manager Bernard Hartung. The meeting was held for the purpose of drawing up schedules, selecting the conference football champions, and making rules for conference competition in basketball, track and football. The important rule pertaining to freshmen eligibility was discussed but definite action on it was postponed until next fall.

Nevada was represented by Graduate Manager Bernard Hartung, Director of Athletics J. E. Martie, Coach George W. Philbrook, and Prof. R. C. Thompson. Martie was elected president of the coaches and managers association, and Thompson was made president of the Far Western conference.

Freshmen Eligible for Varsity

The proposed rule which would make freshmen students ineligible for varsity teams came up for much discussion with a permanent decision being postponed until next fall before the football season. At present members of the Far Western conference may freshmen on any athletic team. As freshmen often fill important units on Nevada's track and football squads, a change in the present ruling may materially affect these departments.

The meeting decided to let the four way tie for the conference football championship stand, although it had been expected that a committee of coaches and managers would be called upon to select a team to receive the trophy. Nevada tied with Fresno State, College of Pacific, California Aggies and Chico State for the honor.

The other colleges sent the following representatives: College of Pacific, Coaches Righter and Corson, and Graduate Manager Bob Breedren; Fresno, Borleskie and Hanner, coaches, and Ad Dewey, manager; Chico, Coach Art Acker and Manager Studley; San Jose, Coach McDonald and Manager Benton; Cal. Aggies, Coach Crisp Toomey and Manager Woods.

Word Received From Students at Meeting

Word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Dan Trevitt, who are attending the Eleventh Quadrennial Students Convention at Buffalo, N. Y., that Y. W. C. A. discussions are underway.

Mrs. Trevitt has chosen for her topic of discussion "The Case for Missions of Today," as being of help in the local student volunteer movement. Mr. Trevitt will discuss "The Relation of the Religion of Jesus to One's Philosophy of Life and One's Life Choices."

Mr. and Mrs. Trevitt, popular students at the university, were sent to Buffalo by the campus Y. W. C. A. Nevada's representation was the result of a recent visit to the university of Miss Lucille Day, noted lecturer.

Jerry Poncia, '32, has resumed his studies after a year's absence, during which time he was associated with his father in business. Poncia is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Alpha Delta Theta Takes Place Among Nevada Sororities

Beta Delta is Fifth Chapter of New Sorority to Come to Pacific Coast

Campus to be Entertained with Tea Tomorrow Afternoon at Century Club

The last local on the hill has become a national. The Beta Delta sorority is now known as Alpha Delta Theta and will make its debut on this campus at a formal tea to be given Saturday afternoon.

Alpha Delta Theta was founded at Transylvania College at Lexington, Ky., in 1919. Transylvania College is the oldest college west of the Alleghenies and is sponsored by Washington and Lafayette. Alpha Delta Theta is incorporated under the laws of Kentucky and became a full member of the Pan-Hellenic Council in 1928.

The installing officers for the Nevada chapter of the sorority are staying at the El Cortez hotel where all the work is being given.

Thursday morning at eight o'clock pledging began, and immediately after pledging, pledge examinations were given. At six o'clock Thursday evening the private dining room of the El Cortez the active chapter gave a dinner for the visiting officers. The tables for the dinner were decorated with pink candles and roses.

This morning at nine o'clock initiation began, and this evening a banquet will be given by the alumnae chapter. Saturday afternoon from three until five o'clock Alpha Delta Theta will entertain the campus with a tea at the Century Club. Saturday evening from six until eight a banquet will be held for the members. From nine until twelve Saturday night the new sorority will entertain the campus with a dance. Music for both the tea and the dance will be furnished by Ray Hackett and his orchestra. At the tea violet corsages will be worn by the members and at the banquet sweet pea corsages will be worn. The sweet pea is the flower of Alpha Delta Theta, and their colors are turquoise blue, searlet and silver.

At eight o'clock Thursday evening the prelude to the initiation was held at the El Cortez. Sunday will be spent with the grand officers, and the active chapter will receive instructions concerning information and work to be carried out by the newly installed chapter.

Beta Delta Organized in 1923

Beta Delta was organized at the University of Nevada during November, 1923, by Billie Lee, Alice Corothers and Gladys Conkock. Since its organization Beta Delta has been represented in scholarship and has been represented in almost every activity on the campus. Several members of the former local have been honored in Phi Kappa Phi, Cap and Scroll, Gothic N and other honor groups. Beta Delta has permanently won the scholarship cup offered by the local Pan-Hellenic Council, and in eight years of existence has placed first on the honor roll five times and second six times.

The officers of the sorority who are installing the Nevada chapter are Mrs. A. F. Hemenway of Cortona, Ariz, grand president; Mrs. McManigal of Berkeley, Calif., alumni officer of Iota chapter, Berkeley; Mrs. Carl Gray of Berkeley, president of Province G, Southern district; Miss Ruth McCoy, active member of Iota chapter, Berkeley, and Miss Alice Houston, active member of Phi chapter, Los Angeles.

Five Chapters on Coast Now

Alpha Delta Theta is represented on the Pacific Coast by five chapters, not including the one being installed at Nevada, which are Theta, at the University of Washington; Iota at the University of California; Mu, at the University of California at Los Angeles and Phi, at the University of Southern California.

The active members of Beta Delta who are being initiated into Alpha Delta Theta are: Nora Gardella, Blanche Radcliffe, Ruth Sauer, Mary Venna Selmer, Lois Barber, Helen Records and Juana Barber. The pledges are Alice Parman and Isabell Baker.

The graduate students and alumni who are being initiated this time are Martha Huber, Billie Powles, Edna Erickson, Alice Priest, Olive Berger, Vera Sauer, Vera Brown, Edith Peddicord, Florence Kilgore, Maude Fulstone, Beatrice Brown, Helen Dunn, Helen Morris, Hannah Mitchell and Olga Lalois.

Taber Announces Drastic Change in Year Book Policy

Panels Must be Paid for Before Insertion, Artemesia Chiefs Say

Ad. Section Goes to Press on February 29, as Deadline Set That Date

Announcing a complete change in policy, Harold Taber, business manager of the 1932 Artemesia, school year book, said this morning that the panel of no organization would be inserted in the book this year until the panel has been paid for, and until the panel of the previous year has also been paid for.

Explaining this drastic revision of policy, Taber said that he did not intend to "fool around" for a year collecting past debts. He said that as a general rule Artemesia managers had spent all summer and a large part of the next fall collecting for panels, and said that in many cases the money was never collected.

Must See President

He requested that every president of every organization on the campus get in touch with him or with Editor Elbert Walker within the next two weeks regarding membership and panel layout. Because of the enormous cost of art work in a book of this type, Taber said that all bills will have to be paid before March first, the day that the panels will be sent to the engravers.

The business manager also set a deadline for advertisements as February 29, and said that immediately after that date the advertising section of the book would go to press. The business staff in the future will meet each Monday and Friday instead of only once each week as has previously been the case.

Staff Appointed

Announcing staff appointments for the book, Taber said that they were as yet only temporary, but that he expected to retain this same staff for the remainder of the semester.

The staff was named as follows:

Assistant managers: S. S. "Buck" Wheeler, Donald Brown and Adelyn Rotholtz.

Subscription staff and sponsor page: Don Brown, manager, aided by Ed Lorenzo, Denver Dickerson and Charles Nichols.

Copy staff: Buck Wheeler, manager, aided by Adelaide Shogren, Edward Montgomery, Angelo Urrutia and Curtis Farr.

Advertising solicitation staff: Adelyn Rotholtz, manager, aided by Bernard Mergen, Elwin Jeffers, Mary Jauregui, Marjorie Rather, Katherine Wardleugh, Mary Murphy, LaRuse Stark, George Southworth, Fritz Roberts, Bruce Moore, Ruth Bixby and Isabelle Matley.

Secretarial staff: Louise Gastanaga, Margaret Waits, Marjorie Record and Donnie Sullivan.

NEW FROSH SLOW TO BUY DINKS

With the opening of school for the spring semester incoming freshmen have so far been slow to respond to insistent demands to "buy dinks and bibles," according to Graduate Manager Bernard Hartung and Keith Lee, treasurer of the A. S. U. N.

"From present indications," said Hartung, "there aren't many frosh around. Only ten dinks have been sold."

It is the desire of Keith Lee that all new freshmen get their bibles at once. To date no bibles have been sold. Freshmen failing to buy either bibles or dinks will be directly responsible to the vigilance committee.

At the present time four hundred twenty-four student body cards have been issued. This means that not quite half the students have secured their student body cards for the new semester. They may do so at any time by calling at the office of the graduate manager. Any student not possessing a ticket will not be admitted to basketball games during the year.

Cards Completed Number Less Than In Former Years

Men Out-Number Women by Approximately Same Ratio as in Past

New Registration System Helps Speed Registration Facilities

With 774 students completing their registration last night, 451 men and 323 women, the University of Nevada registrar, Miss Louise Sissa, expressed her belief that the total of completed cards would exceed 800 for the first week of registration.

This compares favorably with last year's total of 812 at the same time last spring semester.

When the office of Miss Sissa closed on the third day of registration last semester, 749 students had completed their enrollment, 427 men and 322 women. The official total for last semester's enrollment was 924 students, a decrease compared to the enrollment for the fall semester of 1930.

High Mark in 1927-28

Total registration for the college year of 1927-1928 reached the high mark, with 1002 students enrolled in the University. This total included students of both semesters, and others who attended for one semester only. Graduate special, and unclassified students are included in all registration figures.

Enrollment for the entire college year has increased with each year, an average of the students attending the University from 1886-1907 showing a total of 204, an average of 300 in the period from 1907-1919, and a steady growth to the 1002 mark in 1927-28.

Figures for the first days of registration for the last ten years show an increase which corresponds to the totals for the entire year. On Monday, first day of registration, saw 650 cards taken out showing that the majority of the students came in for the first official day of registration.

New System Helps

The new system of securing cards alphabetically has eliminated a great deal of the time usually wasted in securing the registration coupons. Also the speeding up of the facilities in both the registrar's office and that of the control room has received much praise from many of the old students who recall the time it used to take to register in comparison with the new methods now used.

No definite figures are available as to the number of students registered in each college or class status but from observation and fraternity pledging figures the number of incoming first-semester freshmen is much less than in the past few years.

New Names Added To Social Groups During First Week

First Semester Rushing by Hill Sororities Eliminates Hectic Times

Due to the exceedingly small number of freshmen enrolling this semester, both sorority and fraternity rushing are not being given the paramount importance that is given rushing and rushees the first semester.

At the last report Lambda Chi Alpha was leading in the rush for pledges among the fraternities by having garnered six new pledges. The men are: Jack Belz, Harold Westfall, Lovelock; Peter Anchor, Lovelock; Leonard Voorhis, Lovelock; Joe Mastriani and Hugh Rothral.

The Alpha Tau Omega announces the pledging of five new men: Daniel Toquero, Reno; Aubrey Loux, Reno; Darrel Berry, Fallon; Robert Hansen, Yerington, and Robert Nelligan of Reno.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon pledged Bill Crowl, Tonopah; Steele Haux, Los Angeles.

The Delta Sigma Lambdas pledged Bruce Byer and Ross Wainwright, both of Reno.

The Phi Sigma Kappas announced the pledging of William McEspy; Moringner, and Spike Clark.

Beta Kappa pledged two men: Paul Turner and Jim McGowan.

Sigma Nu have pledged Don McDonold.

The Stray Greeks have swelled their number by two new members: Edwin Lewis of U. S. C. and Dr. Peilenmichael of the University of California.

Sorority rushing will begin at the close of friendly relation week next Monday. Due to the small number of women to be rushed each house will have only two formal dates and one formal date. The formal dinner will be the preferential dinner as at last semester with a small change, in that the bids to the preference dinner will be taken to the lawyer and they will also be the bids to the sororities. The preference dinner will again be binding on the part of the woman and the house.

Joe Cook, ex-'31, has been visiting at the S. A. E. fraternity house during the Christmas holidays and will be back in school for the fall semester.

Joseph Horton, '32, has resumed his studies at Nevada after a year's absence, during which time he was employed in Reno.

Date Committee Meets to Arrange Social Calendar

Each Organization Given Two Dates per Month for Events

Social Chairmen Urged to be Prompt in Their Attendance

Dates for the spring semester social season will be drawn up next Tuesday afternoon at the first regular meeting of the University Calendar committee, which will take place in the Agricultural building, Helen Turner, secretary to the dean of women, announced Tuesday.

Each organization will be allowed two dates per month for the four months in the semester, but it is not expected that many of the groups will take advantage of this offer. It is understood that the majority of the organizations have voted to curtail dances to a minimum of one or less each month.

Spring formal, highlights of the season for each fraternity and sorority, as well as the dormitories, are expected to begin as early as the first part of February. These will in all probability be staged one each week until the end of the school year, May 14.

Calendar to be Made Up

In addition to the dances, debates, basketball games, one or two boxing cards, track meets, ice carnivals, lectures, other social events will be placed on the calendar. The press mardis gras, the senior ball, and the frosh glee are the outstanding all-campus events to be scheduled.

Dean of Men J. Claude Jones, Dean of Women Margaret E. Mack, Helene Turner, secretary to the dean of women, and the social chairmen of all fraternities, sorority and dormitory groups and all societies and clubs comprise the calendar committee.

The social chairmen are urged to be prompt in their attendance at the meeting Tuesday as failure to appear is liable to result in no dances being scheduled for the organization whose representatives do not attend.

STRING BREAKING PROFESSOR MAKES HIS HOBBY PROFITABLE

California's string breaking professor, Prof. J. W. Gilmore, is at the University of Nevada now working on his queer hobby, and visiting with Prof. L. W. Hartmann for the next few weeks. Professor Gilmore is one of the few men who have hobbies and are able to make them pay. He hangs a small pan from a piece of string, and then pours sand into the pan until the fibre breaks.
He does not do this only for fun, however, as he is deeply interested in the properties of commercial cords, and investigates their strength, ability to twist without splitting, ability to take in water, and stretching quality. He has been occupied in this strange study for 20 years, traveling the globe to study the fibres in every country. Countries he has visited in an until this time, futile search of some means of identifying the various straws and strings used in commerce, include China, Mexico, United States and South America. When he is not traveling, he teaches agronomy at the University of California.

At the present time he is on leave of absence and is visiting Nevada while working on his hobby. Professors Gilmore and Hartmann were classmates while they were attending Cornell University.

Wolves Open Year With Double Wins Over 'Frisco' State

Pack Shows Great Possibilities as First Stringers All Over Six Feet Tall

Opening the season with a double victory over the San Francisco State Teachers last week end, the University of Nevada's Giant Wolves romped over their opponents to win by comfortable margins and established a well founded hope of a successful season among the student spectators.

A second half rush that completely overwhelmed the small but valiant Teachers aggregation gave the Wolves a 34 to 18 victory on the first night. The Wolves dropped point after point into the bucket with little opposition to win the Saturday night game with a 46 to 22 tally.

Teachers Weaken
The first half of the Friday night game was the only period in which the Teachers gave the stalwart Wolves any opposition worth mentioning. A clever passing attack gave the teachers an 11 to 10 lead at the end of that period. They weakened in the second half, however, and the Wolf Pack quickly forged into the lead.

Dan Bledsoe, rangy ball hawk forward, for the Wolves, dropped nine points through the hoop the first night and ten on the second to make himself high point man of both contests. He was high point scorer of many of the games of last season.

Giant Team
Nevada opened both contests with a rangy team that passed over the heads of the smaller San Francisco aggregation. The team was composed of Roy Bankofier and John Griffin, guards; Vic Carrol, center; Bob Bankofier and Dan Bledsoe, forwards.

Carrol took the tip-off on nearly every toss, tipping the ball into the hands of his team mates to make possible many of the scores.

The second five of smaller but faster men held the Teachers on an even par when they entered the contest during the second quarter. This five is composed of Roy Salsbury, Jack Hill, Mike Gould, Ray Hackett and Edge Farnsworth.

The third squad composed of Keith Lee, Lloyd Guffrey, Bob Leighton, Harold Curran and Cecil Stowel, piled up several points when they entered the first game during the third quarter and made a better showing than did the second squad.

Coach Chet Scranton's Nevada freshman basketball team play the strong Sparks high school team tonight in the first official prep school game of the season. With the largest frosh turnout in years, well over thirty men, Scranton should develop a powerful freshman team. Likely starters in tonight's game at Sparks will be Arobio and Cashill, guards; Phillips, center; Paul Leonard and Frank Leonard, forwards.

Sophs Issue Edict To Freshmen On U. N. Traditions

NOTICE TO THE CLASS OF '35
The class of '35 wishes to warn the class of '34 that due to the fact that the first semester freshmen failed to cooperate with the sophomores and obey all traditions there will be no let up this semester in discipline.

All frosh rules must be strictly adhered to. The poor spirit displayed by the freshmen convinces the sophomore class that the class of '35 has not as yet learned and obeyed Nevada's traditions, nor acquired the true Nevada spirit.

Moreover, the lessons have been revised and the sophomore class is prepared to teach them through the agency of the Soph Vigilance Committee.

A word to the wise is sufficient, if it isn't there are no other ways and means, so frosh learn and obey Nevada's traditions and regulations.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS.
Signed: DAN HARVEY,
President Sophomore Class.
PAUL FONTANA,
Chairman Soph. Vigil. Com.

Such was the edict issued by the class of 1934 this morning and congruent with this was the announcement of the members of the sophomore vigilance committee who will act for the coming semester.

Paul Fontana was made chairman of the committee which will police the freshmen this year, and the following men were announced as his assistants: Jack Dolan, Gene Salet, George Southworth, Cecil Stowel, Bill Crowell, Robert Siebold, Henry Sangren, Bill Lawrence, Elmer Hawkins, Edgar Olson, Rowan Colgan, Jack Hillberg, Rector Fuhrman, Jess Christiansen, Bill Nelson, Nolan Cault, Chet Hart and Bruce Gould.

These men have been instructed to be on their guard for all violators of Nevada traditions and since violations

NEVADA HOOP CAGERS HAVE FIFTEEN GAMES

Two games scheduled with San Jose State for January 29 and 30, completes a fifteen-game schedule for Doc Martie's hoop cagers, who last week won two pre-season games from San Francisco State Teachers College by scores of 34 to 18 and 44 to 22.

The Wolves had a game scheduled with the Terrible Swedes for two nights but are allowing the Wilson Cub quintet to play them tonight, and tomorrow night the Nevada varsity will go into action against the Swedes.

The complete schedule follows:
January 8 and 9—Olson's Terrible Swedes.
January 15 and 16—St. Marys U.
January 22 and 23—Chico State (there).
January 29 and 30—San Jose State.
February 5 and 6—Fresno State (away).
February 12 and 13—College of Pacific.
February 19 and 20—S. F. U. (there).
February 26 and 27—Cal. Aggies.

have already become so noticeable, it is expected that the first paddling of the year will be held next week, stated Dan Harvey, president of the sophomore class, this morning.

While Nevada's football stock is having a "bear" market, prospects for a banner basketball season are very much in evidence. Coach "Doc" Martie has developed a big powerful team that gives promise of winning the majority of games played this season.

With a good basketball team Nevada will be well represented when it faces such strong teams as San Jose State, 1931 Far Western Conference champions, San Francisco

University, St. Marys and possibly the "Terrible Swedes."

"Berkeley Square"

Campus Players present Mask and Dagger next Wednesday evening in the annual production of that honorary dramatics society. This time the members have chosen "Berkeley Square," John Balderston's fine play, for presentation.

Members of both acting and production staffs have left nothing undone which might give the students and their friends an evening of rare enjoyment. To meet the average student pocketbook, the prices have been lowered to as low as fifty cents. No seat will be sold for more than one dollar.

The play itself is one which should hold student interest. In the two years since it has been written, audiences in England and the United States have widely acclaimed its excellence. Certainly the play itself is worthy of consideration, and there is a cast of the most experienced talent available on the campus, which is something in itself.

There is the other side of the question. On the success or failure of "Berkeley Square" rests the future of dramatics on the campus. If the play is a success, the students will be favored with more outstanding dramatics offerings. If it fails, then this truly important activity will have to be abandoned.

There is one sure way to make the play a success. That is for every student to dig down "even unto the last shekel" that dramatics may continue on this campus.

Advice Repeated

Nevada is facing a new year. No matter how bad the depression becomes, that year may be a good one, or it may be a bad one, for the school, depending on how willing the students are to cooperate with one another in the fulfillment of those several tasks which go to make up the life of the school.

At the beginning of last semester the Sagebrush urged cooperation, pointing out that unless this was secured in the fullest year would likely end in disaster. The advice given out at that time, naturally enough, was taken with a grain of salt. The students continued to satisfy their own needs first, then he needs of their various social groups, then the needs of the school.

Particularly was this noticeable in the elections. This phase has previously been discussed. There is no need to dig up facts for any more post-mortems. It was noticeable in the handling of the several campus organizations. In at least one of these organizations the members voiced their loyalty to the group, expressed their wish and their willingness to do whatever was best for the organization, then turned around and almost knifed fellow members in the back because of personal grievances. This example does not apply to any one group. It applies to several groups which faced similar circumstances during at least some part of last semester.

The Sagebrush, at this start of the new year, repeats the advice and warning it handed out in its first issue under the new management. It urges the students to lay aside their personal grudges and their personal likes and ambitions for the good of the whole school. After all, the school were here long before we came. It will be here long after we are gone. It owes us nothing. But we owe it much, and it is our duty to acknowledge that debt. We may acknowledge it in part by unselfish service to the University, to the organizations which are a part of the University, and to our fellow students.

Debaters Defend Divorce Laws In Go With Marquette

Six Debates to be Held Here and 5 Away, Comprise 1932 Schedule

Easy Divorce Forms Subject of Contests in Tour of the Northwest

Nevada divorce laws will be defended when the University of Nevada debate squad, led by Coach Robert Griffin, goes into action against Marquette university of Milwaukee here to start the debate season February 5. The Marquette squad, traditional enemies of divorce from the Catholic university will attack Nevada divorce laws from the rostrum of the university auditorium. Plans are being made to broadcast the debate over radio station KOH.

The completed schedule of university debates was announced yesterday. The Nevada orators will participate in 11 debates, of which six will be held in Reno and five on a tour of the Northwest to be started February 19.

Following the Marquette contest, the Nevadans will debate the University of Pittsburgh on "Resolved, That Congress should enact legislation embodying the essential elements of the Stuart Chase plan for economic stabilization." Nevada will take the affirmative.

Economics Debated On March 31 Nevada will debate the University of Southern California at Reno on "Resolved, That the Republican party is a major cause of the current economic depression." April 8 the College of the Pacific will come to Reno to debate on the failure of the capitalistic system of industry.

The date for the Nevada women's debate squad to meet the Oregon state women's team has not been set, but the Nevada women will defend divorce against the Oregonians.

A picked team of Nevada men will go on a tour of the Northwest February 19 to debate the University of Oregon at Eugene, Reed College at Portland, Willamette University at Salem, Oregon, and the University of Washington at Seattle. They will return to Reno February 28.

Teams Defend Divorce

The Nevadans will defend easy divorce, as the colleges of the Northwest are anxious to debate the divorce problem and to learn the reactions on the matter of those who live in Reno. The university squad is composed of the following debaters: Vernon Loveridge of Sparks, Bruce Thompson of Reno, Keith Lee of Panaca, Dan Trevitt of Reno, Granville Fletcher of Eureka, Richard Clewett of Tonopah, Robert Marean of Fallon, Bernard Mergen of Sparks, Richard Bagley of Sparks and Clifford Devine of Sparks. The women's squad comprises Pearl Romwall, Teresa Clennon and Emily Drake. Loveridge, Thompson, Lee and Fletcher are veterans from last year's squad.

Student Applicant To U. S. Air Corps Accepted by Board

Walter Mitchell Successfully Passes Entrance Tests at Army Airport

Many Applicants Rejected for Minor Defects in Physical Make-up

Walter Mitchell, senior student at the university has been passed by army authorities in the entrance examinations given to applicants for the training course in the United States air corps, it was learned yesterday when Mitchell received a letter announcing the results of his tests. He will probably be called with the July class of cadets, although he was not informed definitely. Mitchell took his examinations during the Thanksgiving recess at Riverside, Calif.

Harland Stuart, who was examined at Mather Field, Sacramento, during the latter part of the semester last year, was disqualified because of faulty reflexes in wrists and forearms. Stuart's academic work in military here has been very high, according to Col. Brambila, professor of the department, who states that it was unfortunate that Stuart was disqualified because of a slight physical defect. Stuart is senior company commander in the cadet corps here and has the rank of cadet captain.

Gordon Kleinpeter, the third member of the trio which last year applied for appointment to the corps, has not as yet taken the examination, but plans to do so in the spring. He has completed the military courses at the university and at St. Johns military academy at Washington, D. C.

Commissions Granted Any man who passes the examinations and who has passed two years of college work is admitted without mental examinations, but is given a classification of "J" the lowest. If he graduates from a university of recognized standing and has good academic work in military, his classification is raised to "E," as is Mitchell's. When Mitchell graduates from the university in the spring, he will have the rank of second lieutenant in the infantry reserve from this institution.

At the completion of his course of training at Kelly field, Mitchell will be commissioned as second lieutenant in the air corps reserve. If his standing is high, he will be commissioned as second lieutenant in the regular army corps, provided there is a vacancy. To receive a commission in the regular army, a man must be a graduate from a four-year university.

Examinations given to applicants are extremely difficult and the applicant must be practically perfect physically, as well as possessing a very good academic and activity record in a university. Stuart's class of ten men, with whom he took the examinations, were all disqualified because of some minor physical defect.
