

Twentieth Annual Mackay Day Observed With Gay Celebration

Colorful Program Promises Several Unusual Events

Haseman Memorial Service to Be Important Ceremony in Celebration

Both Luncheon and Whiskerino Scheduled to Have Many Things of Interest

BY FRANCES SMITH

With a complete and colorful program of events, just the right amount of advertising and talking it up among the students to get the whole campus on their toes, careful organization and skilled management and the promise of good weather tomorrow, Nevada's annual Mackay Day on Saturday holds the prospect of being the most successful campus has ever seen.

All plans are definitely completed and the committee, with Fred Wilson as chairman, feels a certain amount of gratification in being able to present to the students a program full of life and action, and in a large measure worthy of the benefactor the day is set aside to honor. Every event has equal importance in the eyes of the committee, and they promise the campus a good time from the start of the morning clean-up to the midnight ending of the Whiskerino dance.

One event to which the students have looked forward for a long time and for which they feel a certain amount of responsible pride is the Haseman memorial service under the direction of Phil Daver. The location of the proposed bench has been changed from the site close to Artemesia hall to one about twenty feet from the Orr ditch and tram, down toward Manzanita lake from the tree with the circular stone bench around it. The alteration was made in cooperation with Joe Lynch, superintendent of grounds, who recommended that the memorial bench placed in this position would fit in much better with the landscaping scheme of the university campus. From this point, it was further suggested one can get an excellent view of Mount Rose, the entire range of snow capped mountains and the whitewashed "N."

Phil Daver, chairman of the memorial committee and the chief force behind the productive drive will conduct the services and give a talk for the occasion. As a part of the ceremony the three Mackay queens will plant three Norway spruces, a species of evergreen tree, beside the bench site.

Ticket sales for the luncheon had, by the last report, increased to record size and from all indications the freshmen girls will be busier than in former years carrying food to the packed gymnasium. Besides the hundreds of students expected, invitations have been extended to the five regents and to Governor Balzar, who are tentatively planning to be present.

Luncheon Program
Professor Samuel Bradford Doten, a close friend of Clarence H. Mackay and director of the agricultural research department, will be the chief speaker during the luncheon hour. President Walter E. Clark will give the welcome at the beginning of the meal, while toastmistress honors will be vested in Miss Vera Selmer. During the time set aside before the A. S. U. N. meeting Colonel Brambila will present both men's and women's rifle awards. Gothic "Ns", Italic "Ns" and Block "Ns" will also be awarded to those who have

TRAILED BY WOMAN SLEUTH

Trailing three eccentric young men has been no easy job. However, since these enthusiastic newspapermen were eating a meal, was evident at all hours of the night. The dinner must have been one was seen to fall down the steps, a success because on coming out, no and there was no evidence of pugilism during any part of the evening. During the earlier part of the week Jackson was having a great deal of trouble due to the fact that fella wanted to take other people's girls out, and other fellas seemed to resent this fact. However, byones were hasbens and toward the end of the week everything was patched up, including Jackson.

The great Wafflefoot Johnson, being so fast, was a more difficult assignment to cover. In view of the fact that he apparently had been hunting through the purse of a certain Miss Wardleigh for the root of all evil when

Several Important Matters Concluded By Finance Court

Consideration of Reappointing Graduate Manager at Next Meeting

Suggestion that a committee be appointed to have complete charge of the Nevada historical buildings was made at the finance control meeting held in the office of the graduate manager Tuesday. Ed Cantlon will appoint this committee which will determine the method of action to be taken concerning the buildings, and the housing of the various groups therein.

At the same time J. E. Martie reported that work had begun on the repairing of the tennis court, and Graduate Manager Hartung was notified to watch the proceedings.

Formal action was taken on the appointment of C. L. Mitchell to the position of head coach of the university at a salary of $3600, the contract commencing August 1, 1932.

The consideration of the reappointment of the graduate manager will come up at the next regular finance control meeting.

Lack Of Finances Prevents Juniors From Giving Ball

Seniors May Not Be Honored With Annual Farewell Dance

There will be no senior ball this year unless something's done soon about the financial situation of the junior class, is the word given by Peggy Johnson, chairman of the ball committee, after a meeting held Monday afternoon.

Due to the fact that there is very little money in the class treasury, the committee was unable to formulate any plans concerning the formal dance which the juniors give every year in honor of the graduating seniors. No action can be taken at all without an entire class meeting of the juniors which will probably be called next week.

The Junior Jump was planned to raise money for the ball, but the poor attendance at this affair caused a deficit in the budget. Methods of raising money, whether by individual assessment or some other means will be discussed at the coming meeting of the class before the committee can go on with plans.

Over the week end Johnson was inactive, due, no doubt, to the tired condition brought about by the chase. However, in company with his pal, Junie Dixon, it is known that anything but a quiet week was had by all, down at their place by the gas works. It could not be learned if the wassail bowl had been partaken of or not, but certainly if it were, Ken Johnson had nothing to do with it, because he is just a good clean boy out for a good clean fun.

But love forgives all, and the purse incident was forgotten, because Johnson, in company with Miss Wardleigh, was seen tripping the light fantastic at the Junior Jump, he being one of the ten couples in attendance, which was only natural, as he was chairman of the dance committee.

It could not be ascertained just what happened to Umber. When interviewed concerning his activities, he would not commit himself, but from a reliable source it was learned that he spent a considerable amount of his time asleep, resting up for his return to the Brush office to thrill the impressionable sob sisters.

Mackay Luncheon Program Is Filled Says Committee

A. S. U. N. Nominations Occur At Special Meeting Tomorrow

Mixing pleasure and business, the Mackay Day luncheon promises to be one with not a dull moment. Plans have been made by the committee to have various activities during the luncheon which will occupy the entire time. The luncheon will be held in the university gymnasium at 12:30, with Vera Selmer presiding as toastmistress.

Fred Wilson announced that no one would be admitted until the completion of the Soph-Frosh tug-of-war across Manzanita lake so there is no need to leave until the completion of the event. Plans are being made for from 450 to 500 students but at the first of the week tickets were selling slow. On Wednesday the price of the tickets raised from thirty cents to forty cents. Sam Doten will be the main speaker of the day. He is the one of the few men on the campus who knows the Mackays personally. He will speak on both John W. and Clarence Mackay. It is hoped that Governor Balzar will be able to be present and speak. The board of regents has been invited to attend and those who live in town plan to do so. Dr. Clark will also give a short speech. There will be a speakers' table as in former years.

A. S. U. N. Nominations
There will be a regular A. S. U. N. meeting which will be presided over by Ed Cantlon and which will be broadcast by KOH. The nominations for the student body officers for the coming year will be made at this time.

The Italic Ns will be awarded the following people: the Sagebrush staff by the editor, Joe Jackson; News staff, Howar Umber, Ken Johnson, Katherine Wright, Neva Shaw, Kathryn McCormack. On the business staff the following people will receive awards from Robert Merriman: Marion Stone, Arvin Boerlin, Lowell Russell and Charles Koerner.

Announcement of those women attaining Gothic Ns for athletic merit will be made.

The following basketball men will receive their letters: Al Seidger, manager; Dan Bledsoe, Vic Carroll, Mike Gould, Bob Bankoffier, John Griffin, Bob Leighton, Toby Guffrey, Harold Curran, Eldridge Farnsworth, Ray Hackett and Roy Bankoffier.

Everyone has been asked to learn the Mackay song for it will be sung in honor of Mackay Day.

Entertainment will be furnished by the university which is composed of Al Burns, Fred LeMars, Walter Linnehan and William Squires.

The committee, in charge of Fred Wilson, asks the students' cooperation that the affair may be a success and one which will be enjoyed by all.

W. A. A. Election To Be Held Today

Election of W. A. A. officers for the semester will take place this afternoon. All members who have paid their dues for both the fall and the spring semesters will be allowed to vote, and those who have not paid are urged to settle their accounts with Mary Trudelle, treasurer, at once.

The contest for presidency is between Helen Peterson and Mary Trudelle; for vice president, Genevieve Wolf and Kathryn Martin; for secretary, Charlotte Pope and Mathine Solares; and for treasurer, Blanche Keegan and Marjorie Sanborn.

Initiation Climaxes First Celebration Of Phi Kappa Phi

Anthony Blanks Gives Lecture On Virgil's Place in Literature

W. E. Clarks' Hold Reception In Aggie Building Friday

Finishing an eventful first annual Phi Kappa Phi Day, club members held initiation for new members Friday evening, March 11, in the Aggie building.

A large crowd of graduate members and friends attended the open initiation. "Lachrimae Rerum" was the title of Professor Anthony Blanks' lecture. He stressed Virgil's humanity, his influence on scholarship, and world literature. "Every great poet is proud to kneel before him," he quoted as indicating the place Virgil holds in literature.

A reception given by President and Mrs. Walter Clark took place upstairs in the Aggie building, Friday evening. The celebration of Phi Kappa Phi Day began Friday morning when at 11:25 the new members of Phi Kappa Phi were announced by Professor A. L. Higginbotham; from the College of Arts and Science were Frances Armbruster and Edwin J. Force; from the College of Agriculture, Frederick J. Weeks; from the College of Engineering, John Pant and Norman Blundell.

New faculty members elected into the honorary scholarship society are William R. Blackler, Col. Robert Brambila, Theodore H. Post, Claude C. Smith, Irving Sandorf and Merie Deming.

Professor Anthony Blanks of the University of California gave a lecture on Eugene O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra." He illustrated his lecture with excerpts from the play.

Mask And Dagger Elects Members

Tentative Initiation Date Set For Early in April by Dramatic Society

Editor's note: An error made in the last issue of the Sagebrush announced that Mask and Dagger held initiation for new members following the production of "June Moon" on March 9. An initiation had been contemplated, but was postponed when it was found that some of the new members could not attend the ceremony at this time.

Mask and Dagger, national honorary dramatic society, has tentatively set initiation of new members for early in April. Those who will be initiated at this time include John Mariani, Clark Jackson, Cliff Devine, Walter Clark, Edith McLaughlin, Geraldine Harbert, Blythe Bulmer, Lou Trevitt, Professor Paul Harwood and Governor Fred B. Balzar of Nevada, and Governor James Rolph of California.

Mask and Dagger is the highest honorary dramatic society on the campus, being founded in 1890, and the Nevada chapter being installed in 1928. Membership in the organization is limited to twelve people doing upper division work on the campus, who have had at least three years' experience in campus dramatics, and who have played three major parts in productions.

The present active members who will install the new ones are Fred Trevitt, Dan Trevitt, Helene Turner, Bob Griffin, William Colman and Professor and Mrs. E. E. Williams together with alumni.

Lois Carman, Nevada graduate with the class of 1931 and women's editor of the Sagebrush last year, has been confined to her home in Reno this week with an attack of appendicitis. She is teaching in the Dayton high school. During her absence Bob Geyer, who also graduated last year from Nevada, is conducting her classes.

WOMEN EDIT MACKAY DAY 'BRUSH ISSUE

That no members of the masculine sex receive praise—or blame (that's very thoughtful)—for this issue of the Sagebrush, the editor and business manager for this week want it distinctly understood that the women's edition has been put out by women of the staff only.

Those women who worked we thank, those who didn't will be dropped from the staff for the rest of the semester—so it is not necessary to say anything more about them. We maintain that the paper is a very superior one and we would all like to do it again—some other time.

Political Expose Gives Both Sides Of The Question

Doubtful as to Whether Tongs "Beyond the Pale" Will Remain Satisfied

Nothing New Has Developed In Way of Predictions For Candidates

BY GERALDINE BINGAMEN

While the editor-in-chief of the Sagebrush felt called upon last week to write a slashing expose of the campus political situation, cool reflection would lead one to believe that he was misinformed upon several points at issue, and would also lead one to think that the campus political situation is not yet nearly so unclear as it is shown to be by his article.

That the editor was right on one point is certain beyond all question. When he pointed to the way in which the "big" combine lined up he was correct, and when he said that the present combine had become so large that it was likely to crumple under its own weight he hit the nail straight on the head.

Taking up the matter where he left off, it would seem that nothing new has developed in the way of nominations, other than it seems more and more likely that Phi Beta Phi will run a secretary and that Gamma Phi Beta will have to be content with the woman's representative position. This, of course, would leave Delta Delta Delta a clear field for the vice presidency.

Head Coach Assumes New Duties This Week; Takes Over Track Team

New Head Mentor Gives His Opinions

Mitchell to Visit State High Schools in Search of Material

BY KATHRYN M'CORMACK

"The situation at the University of Nevada, is not an impossible one, and I believe that I have the mistakes of the past eight years to be guided by." Thus spoke C. L. "Brick" Mitchell, Nevada's new head mentor for the coming football season in an interview last Tuesday.

The new coach went on to say: "I am going to try to pursue an athletic policy for the men in the school, and will see that there is a development of the material on hand. I believe that there has been a great deal of material in the state and in your high schools that have been overlooked, and I plan just as soon as the college semester is ended to go around and look this material over."

In reply to the question of "when will spring football practice start?" Coach Mitchell replied: "I think we will begin on April 1. Training will not be vigorous, but I wish to familiarize myself with the men at the university and to anticipate what each one can really do."

"I plan to hold practice so that it will not interfere with the other spring activities, but for part of the time, I would like to see all of the candidates on the field so that I may learn their names and become acquainted with them."

Cantlon Accepted By Harvard Board

Edwin Cantlon, president of the A. S. U. N., just received word that his application to Harvard Medical school has been accepted. Cantlon plans to enter Harvard next fall for graduate work.

Vernon Cantlon, former A. S. U. N. president and brother of Edwin, is now completing his fourth year in Harvard, having received many honors in scholastic work when there.

WHISKER-GROWING CONTEST

Women Know Dates By Voices Only

NEARS GRISLY CULMINATION

BY GRACE ARMBRUSTER

With the majority of beards on the brawny sex at the stage where finetooth combing is advisable for safety's sake, speculation is rife among the women as to probable winners in the great forthcoming Whiskerino Derby.

Whether three weeks of avoiding Mr. Gillette's product is sufficient to raise a virile, manly beard, has a number of scrubby answers. Oscar "Little Giant" Bryan—and, incidentally, master of ceremonies at the Whiskerino parade, demonstrated at the start a week was just about six days too long for him to grow a beard. The fiery orator played hooky, though, after the first week or so, and mowed the lawn. Rumor has it that there was a woman in the case. At any rate, Osc is now back in the race, and not "left at the post" either—not by a long crop.

Fritz Wilson, another prominent "dark horse" made an impressive beginning in this men's contest, with a set of grisly stubble—but it turned into goofish feathers, sah.

On what looked—around the eyes—a little like Johnny Griffin, was discovered one of the most villainous beards on the campus. But, running brush and bristle with Griffin in the man with the toughest beard on the hill, and it's inky-black to boot. The stalwart behind the camouflage is one Vic Arobio. The lad has been unjustly accused of "Gorilla" warfare by a lot of weakies and meanies.

There are blonde beards, black beards, "Blue-Beards," ingrown beards, itchy beards, red beards. But more remarkable than any of these is a set of chin whiskers carved into a nifty Block "N." The public spirited gent owning them has not yet been identified, but should turn up Saturday in time to cop a prize.

Hot tips on the red beard brigade indicate that either "Jiggs" Clark or Red Ayers is a sure fire winner in the flaming whiskers division if neither catches fire in the meantime. "Jiggs," however, is generally conceded the edge in this contest.

Blonde beards never were much to write home about, but "Bushy Bill" Gelder has a fair crop of thatch. For people like the "Bashful Adonis" all we can offer is "Consolets" and "better luck next time." It's tough luck to be a platinum blonde.

Among the people we won't mention here are the slackers and the fellows who chickened out after a few days of whiskerino. The gals might have had something to do with it, but it looks like a case of no "g—" plus no school spirit—and those who have shaved know who they are.

'Brick' Mitchell Chosen To Coach Collegiate Sports

Takes Charge of Track Team For 1932 Season This Week

One Year Contract is Signed With Former California Grid Assistant

Closing a long period of discussion on the coaching situation, "Brick" Mitchell, former assistant coach at the University of California was chosen Friday night to fill the position of head coach at Nevada. Boxing and track as well as football will be under his supervision for the coming year, according to the terms of the contract.

Mitchell's salary was fixed by the coaching committee at $3600 for the one-year period, a settlement being made with former Coach George W. Philbrook in the sum of $1900 for the remainder of this year and for one additional year his contract had to run. Spring football practice will probably start the end of this month, but for the present the new coach is concentrating on the track team of which he took charge Monday night.

"Brick" Mitchell has made football history since 1915 when he was on the University of Oregon team then under that famous coach, Hugo Bezdek, and 1917 Mitchell was a member of that team which defeated Pennsylvania in the Rose Bowl, New Year's day.

Leaving Oregon to join the marines during the world war, Mitchell's football game was front page news all over the country, and he was chosen by the late Walter Camp, designer of American football, as an All-American end. During the time he was with the marine team Mitchell had an enviable record of playing 17 full consecutive games.

At the close of the war he was employed at Stanford university as line coach, holding this position under Bob Evans until 1919 after which he coached the Olympic Club team in San Francisco.

For five years he was head coach in the San Mateo high school, producing two state championship teams during this time. He left there to become freshman coach for the University of California, advancing after three years to the position of California line coach under Nibs Price.

Mitchell left California with a splendid recommendation when Navy Bill Ingram came from Annapolis to coach in Berkeley and brought with him his own complete staff of assistants.

Junior Jump Held In Honor Of Teams

High School Penants Used in Decorating Gym at Junior Fete

Banners and penants displaying the names and colors of the eight high schools represented in the annual high school basketball tournament were used to decorate the gym for the junior jump held last Saturday night.

The dance is usually given to raise money for entertaining the seniors with a senior ball, but it had a double purpose this year in that it was held especially in honor of the students here to participate in the games. The committee headed by Ken Johnson, felt that in that way closer contact could be established between high school and college students.

Although the attendance was not as large as was expected, those in charge state that the dance was a success socially.

The committee in charge composed of Ken Johnson, chairman, Keith Lee, Katherine McCormick, Katherine Ligon, Katherine Wright, Walter Baring and Frances Barnes, secured an orchestra under the direction of George White for the occasion.

Miss Margaret Mack, Miss Louise Sissa and Mrs. J. E. Martie were patronesses.

Razzberry Sheet In Disguise To Appear At Mackay Day Feed

A substitute for the annual "Razzberry" which is put out by the men of the university will be ready for distribution at the Mackay Day luncheon tomorrow. Joe Jackson and Robert Merriman are in charge of this substitute which has been sanctioned by the student affairs committee. The substitute will not, as it formerly was, be a newspaper in the ordinary sense, but probably just a sheet, the nature of which is being kept secret.

Benefactor Gives Many Donations To U. N. Campus

Science Hall is Latest Gift; Million Dollar Mark Is Exceeded

Clarence H. Mackay, Nevada's chief benefactor, has given donations to the University of Nevada that exceed the million dollar mark. It is in his honor that each spring the university celebrates its Mackay Day.

Latest of Mackay's gifts to the university Mackay Science hall, erected at the southeast end of the campus at a total cost of $500,000, stands a structure that combines the best features of college laboratories throughout the United States. Clarence Mackay dedicated the building himself during his visit to Nevada one year ago last Homecoming.

Donations began by Clarence Mackay and his mother in honor of her husband, John W. Mackay, Nevada pioneer have continued from the time of their first gift in 1907 until the last donation of Mackay Science hall in 1929.

Largely due to Clarence H. Mackay it is that Nevada's university has grown from a place of few comparatively small buildings to one that is represented by structures of the most modern equipment possible.

Mackay Quad Laid Out
At first a fund was established by Mrs. Mackay and her son from which resulted the Mackay School of Mines, Mackay Athletic Field and the Mackay Training Quarters, besides the contribution of $25,000 for general use. At this time Mackay Quad was laid out and the famous statue of John W. Mackay, which was created by Cutzimm Borglum and which has stood on the Nevada campus for two decades, was erected.

Through a series of money gifts for the upkeep of the Mackay School of Mines, that structure has attained its present size and merit from a building that was little more than half its present size. Begun in 1912 when $150,000 was donated by Mackay and his mother for this purpose these gifts were continued. One hundred and eighteen thousand dollars was donated in 1925 and in 1926 Mr. Mackay gave $100,000 for the enlargement of the building.

In the year 1928 gifts to the university included seven bound volumes of the "Virginia City Enterprise," valuable history of Nevada's early days, and $65,000 for the Mackay School of Mines.

The following year, 1929, saw the beginning of construction of Mackay Science Hall. In this same year Mr. Mackay gave the university $27,000 to be used in enlarging the stadium, besides the Walther Library of Desert Geology, and arranged to continue indefinitely a fund of $18,000 for use by the Mackay School of Mines. Provision for the continuation of this fund has been incorporated in the will of Clarence H. Mackay.

CLARENCE H. MACKAY

Omegas will have a head man again this year. That Lambda Chi Alpha will run Sam Arentz for treasurer is also almost certain. Arentz may have shot his political bolt, as the editor seems to think, but still he has the combine behind him, and would probably be able to handle the job.

That Sigma Alpha Epsilon will put up Gene Salet for men's representative is almost a foregone conclusion, while the Beta Kappas may nominate one of their present sophomores for junior representative. This will leave Beta Sigma Omicron and Alpha Delta Theta to receive whatever they may get insofar as the major appointive offices are concerned.

So much for the "big" combine. Then what about the other houses which the editor called beyond the political pale? Kappa Alpha Theta, it is understood, will nominate no candidates for any offices. Sigma Nu will nominate no candidates. Phi Sigma will nominate no candidates. Phi Sigma Kappa will run no men. Delta Sigma Lambda will stay out of the race. This is only a surmise, but it may be the correct dope, because none of these houses has signified any intention of running in combine, and it would be suicidal for any of them even to contemplate running without the backing of any other house.

And so will go the election the big combine swept unanimously into power while the other houses sit by and take it because they were not included in the initial conferences of the combine formed three years ago, not for the purpose of backing University of Nevada activities, nor even for the purpose of putting the correct man into office, but for the sole and selfish purpose of personal and individual fraternity advancement.

During the remainder of the time until election, something is apt to break for surely the situation cannot continue to be satisfactory to all the houses in the combine. Nor is the silence of the tongs "beyond the pale" to be taken as an indication that these houses are going to sit idly by and take it. An unheard of something, is bound to happen. When it does happen it will, as has been said already, create the greatest uproar ever heard from the Nevada campus.

Misconduct List For Examinations End

Now that the worries of mid-semester examinations have been left behind, the students seem to be neglecting their work and to be paying more attention to "cutting up" in the library. This week 26 students are subject to dismissal and this is one of the largest lists the library has had this semester.

The following is the list of students subject to dismissal: Ruth Williams, Margaret Lyon, Walter Clark, Graham Kisingbury, Florence Lehmkuhl, Mary A. Thompson, Beverley Douglas, Monty Boland, Fern Ambrose, Donald Brown, Elizabeth Carpenter, Margaret Fuller, Mary Sweet, Wayne VanVoorhies, Rachel Warrington, Ruby Canonis, Kathryn Hansen, Hael David, Raymond Frolich, Walter Christian, Elsie Seaborn, Florine Frank, Jack Hill, Alonzo Priest, Ina Johnson, Clara Galvin.

As to the women in the case, it is likely that Frances Fuller will be run, because she is well known, and because she has held an A. S. U. N. office before. Not that it would make a great deal of difference who was run, but the combine chiefs dare not pull anything too raw.

The Gamma Phis seem to have some likely candidates for the women's representative job; with there being some possibility that Marguerite Miller or Neva Shaw might be run. It is a certainty that Kathryn "Tick" Ligon will be run for vice president.

With Keith Lee still leading the field for the presidency, it seems virtually assured that the Alpha Tau

STARTING PROMPTLY AT 8 O'CLOCK

This year . . . as never before . . . sports apparel will predominate in the first Spring Showing of what's new in Fashion. Indeed, every student at the University of Nevada will find their time and effort well rewarded by attending Reno's 1932 Showing of the new Spring mode . . . both for men and women. Mannequins will pass before you on elaborately arranged promenades. Men's apparel for every occasion will be specially displayed. No fashion-conscious student can afford to miss this complete showing of the newest in apparel.

Spring Opening Gives Western Interpretation of Paris Life

Bringing to the campus a good idea of what is being worn in Paris and eastern colleges in the way of fashionable spring clothing, Reno stores tomorrow night at eight o'clock will effect a grand spring opening to display the newest in campus togs and clothes for all occasions.

In contrast, however, to the parent notion, the styles shown will be typically western and the spring and summer modes shown will go far to please the student who is planning his vacation on the Pacific coast.

Some mighty revolutions in men's and women's correct dress will be unveiled in the show windows but the clever woman will note that the spring silhouette, marching across the campus will be simple, straight and slim, the embodiment of youth, gaiety and color.

The all important evening decolette in view of the campus formal to come and summer evenings in town are, by Tapaui, based on a higher, less reveal-crow-neck and the V-neck. For very there. Lelong—an arrangement of straps, shoulder straps and bands, or a second decolette in contrasting color. Jane Regney's bathing suit decolette exposes the skin at either side of the waist and is most original. Skirts for evening wear are straight and slim, down to the ankle front. The back has a flowing panel-like effect, sometimes attached as far down as the knee and trailing slightly.

Day time will find the woollens in preference, represented by wool crepes ribbed in diagonal weave and herring-bone fashion, and jerseys. The heavier materials are the rustic types, pebbly, or with over-hairs left in the wool. Color schemes are confined to either the bright or the neutral with special cognizance to billiard green or one of the many reds. Blue is perhaps the best color of the season in all of its shades while red comes next and white is assured of being in popular demand. Jaunty turbans make up almost all of the hats worn, but white linen and pique will see the summer through with a wide representation.

College Men's Fashions

The college man may pretend indifference to new developments in his world of fashion but nevertheless he is alert to what is going on and tomorrow night will doubtless find as many men's noses pressed against the dazzling show window panes as co-ed's.

For sports wear Cossack coat, leather jackets will be worn with slacks and knickers. The knickers will be best in the plain colors tan, white and grey or figured with a small inconspicuous design. The slacks are a new type of men's trousers fitting snug at the waist cut full through the knees and with twenty-three and twenty-four inch

Mackay Day
Necessitates
New Clothes

With Mackay Day preceding Easter by such a short time, well dressed collegians will be contemplating their spring wardrobes already. Many outfits will have been purchased by now, but for those last minute details and for those who have been too busy all of Reno's shops are waiting with complete new stocks of the very latest things for spring.

For the luncheon tomorrow, surely the co-eds will want a new dress, or preferably a suit that will do for other occasions in the spring. And then to go with the suit there are clever little hats in all kinds of becoming styles, and so many of them are being displayed in the millinery shops and department stores that it will take no time at all to find the hat that was designed exactly for you.

For the Whiskerino tomorrow night, little shopping will be necessary, but your costumes must be clever and original and you will probably need a rough shirt of some sort, or some fluffy material for a dancing girl's skirt. If you can't decide just what you want and what things you should buy to accomplish your idea, why not ask the sales people in the stores. They are always busy thinking of ideas that will be different and you just might hit upon exactly what you want.

Sweaters are correctly worn in the crew-neck and the U-neck. For very informal evening wear, however, the ing line with diagonal slits here and of wearing a tie which is uncomfortable with either of the other forms. For sport evening wear also, the double breasted coat will be worn with striped grey, tan or white trousers.

Two types of suits will be shown, the loose fitting four piece golf suit for sports and the Broadway type for town.

The most popular shoes for afternoon will be the two-tone type showing white with either brown or black, or two shades of brown or tan.

Selections of the above styles and suggestions will be found in stunning variations in the windows of Reno's style shops at their unveiling on Friday night. In the windows of Grey Reid and Wright and J. C. Penney Co., will be shown correct wear for the entire family for every occasion. In those of Burke 'n Short, Hollywood Men's Shop and Paterson's Men's Shop will be shown the newest and smartest in all lines of men's clothing. Women will take particular interest in the displays of the Vogue, Frances Style Shop, Vanitie Dress Shop, Grey Shop, Kanters, the Marta Howland's, Mayfair and the New York Millinery. Exclusive and stylish footwear will be displayed by Tait's, St. Pierre's, Sunderland's and Fowler and Cusick's.

Peasant Theme in Materials
And Colors Are To Predominate

BY DOROTHY ROSE

Whether you intend to spend your summer in the country or are just buying a wardrobe that will see you through the last hectic days of the school semester and a city or resort summer keep in mind the keynote of the Paris Openings "Fashion Goes Native."

Back to the peasants for rough woollens, heavy crepe silks and even sturdy cottons; vivid field flower colors and soft tints reminiscent of summer. Back to nature again for the flowers that adorn practically every item of dress.

The colors most often seen are shades of beige and brown or gray for sports-country or street attire but blue in various tones is generally accepted as the smartest color for more strictly defined town wear.

"Strictly tailored" is the fashion decree, but feminine ultimatum varies all rules; the trend shows itself in wider or more intricately fashioned lapels on the coats, scarf collar treatments, fancy button effects, ranging from big bulbs of silver to little contrasting buttons used profusely. A three-quarter length cape for early spring wear especially with the tweed outfits is a new addition.

Easter Bonnets Clever

Easter bonnets will resemble nothing so much as the Breton sailors and berets with little up-curling brims that children used to wear. Tilted sailors trimmed with wreaths of bright flowers are extremely youthful and smart.

It's to be a classic season in shoes. Oxfords and pumps with variations, in all white, brown and black, the latter two taking first prize; with the very darkest of dark blues coming in for their share of votes for wear with blue spring suits.

No drastic changes are noted in spring styles for men, accessory variations being the most marked. Gray powder blue and browns are the predominating color trends with a new fad for green felt hats becoming especially noted.

Fashion authorities have it that spats are again coming into their own, along with knit ties. Shirt collar points are buttoned down, and although the colors are not so vivid, there is still a trend toward tints in combination with the new suits.

Mackay

Clarence H. Mackay, "Nevada's Benefactor," will be honored by all the campus tomorrow in a day set aside in appreciation of all he has contributed to the University. From the cleaning of the grounds in the morning to the last dance of the Whiskerino at night, every event of the day will contain a thought of the man who has made our attendance on a thoroughly modern campus possible. It is very little that we can do for him who has done so much for us, but that little bears much in the terms of sentiment and well wishes.

This Mackay Day promises to be one of the fullest and most completely planned of any ever held. Those who can look back on a long chain of these celebrations believe every one to be better than the preceding ones, and hope that future occasions will be brighter than ever.

The name of Mackay is closely allied with the history of the state from the very beginning of its pioneer days when John W. Mackay found wealth in the hills of Virginia City. A true pioneer miner, he loved the roughness and the excitement of those early days in the Silver State and this love is the most valuable inheritance that he passed on to his son, Clarence H. Mackay. Mr. Mackay counts as the bright spots in a notable career, those occasions on which he has an opportunity, in the midst of his varied interests, to return to the state and to share with the students of the University the happiness of a celebration.

And so it is with deep sincerity and seriousness with which all of the campus anticipates the coming of tomorrow, when our stored up appreciation may be expressed. It will be a gala celebration and a joyful day, but it will not be unthinking joy that fills our hearts, but the joy that rises from the depths of true happiness.

Nominations Open

Election nominations take place tomorrow. Those who have guided the course of student life for the last year prepare to vacate their posts, hoping to leave them in good hands, that the A.S.U.N. might not only prosper for another year, but hoping that these new officers will be the link between a successful past and a long future.

Thinking people are assailed with doubts when they consider the way in which nominations are usually made. The big political bosses themselves have moments when they wonder if what they are putting over is for the best welfare of the campus, but they know that if they hesitate they are lost, so they banish their dubious moments and continue counting the votes that such-and-such a house will have to offer if one of their number receives the nomination for some office or other.

Things look brighter this year. Steps have been taken to break down combines, campaigns against "dirt" have made headway. There has been a noticeable absence of that usual pre-nomination bitter spirit. There are several reasons for this friendly attitude with which the formal making of nominations has been approached.

The two combines which have heretofore existed have come nearer to breaking up than ever before, mainly because one became so strong that there was little competition left. The situation now is as though there were just one combine with a few houses playing the role of objectors rather than competitors. Next year there will undoubtedly be a split in the stronger group and the cycle of combine election will repeat its course, but for the present all is well and peace seems to be reigning on the eve of election.

The other reason for the calm is the fact that there is just one logical candidate to be chosen for most of the offices, and the political bosses have the sense to realize and respect this fact. Instead of choosing some one just for the sake of competition they are accepting the situation as it is; accepting it not in that martyr-like, holier-than-thou attitude of consoling themselves in the fact that they are being noble losers, but accepting it by realizing that this is the best spirit in which to start a new officer who really deserves the office.

So it is with considerable confidence that the present A. S. U. N. officers contemplate giving up their positions. And it is with easy conscience that the campus will hear nominations tomorrow and go to the polls on election day to vote for the candidate whom they feel truly deserves to win the election.

The Women Work

Once again the women put out their annual edition of the Sagebrush, one of the few large editions of the publication, and one always anticipated and accepted with mingled emotions by the men on the campus. The men always expect it to be a complete failure; usually when it comes out they have to admit that it is "not so bad." But the women know that from the viewpoint of cooperation, hard work, and good writing that it is the best paper of the year.

The women's edition is a tradition. As with all traditions there is annual talk of abolishing it, but that is one tradition that manages to remain unaltered. Every woman on the staff takes a personal pride in it, and works as she never did before, realizing the handicap of a limited staff.

Usually calm and easy-going people discover and display many neurotic tendencies before the week is over, but like real troupers they take "on with the show" for their motto, keep their sense of humor, and put out an undeniably good paper.

Welcome, Mitchell

The University of Nevada welcomes C. L. "Brick" Mitchell; welcomes him not only as a coach and a man whom we feel confident will have the welfare of Nevada at heart, but as the end of a disagreeable situation which cannot help but have been undermining the morale of the track team and all those interested in it for the past few weeks.

A successful basketball season has just been concluded, people are in the psychological mood to back to their fullest extent the efforts of Nevada's new coach. They feel that his appointment came just in time, and they feel that it is a wise one. He is starting his work to the rhythm of a long "Go now!"

The Wolves have tasted success, and they are ready for more. A new coach and this new spirit in his supporters can accomplish nothing short of a miracle. And it is with confidence that we view these good omens and welcome Mitchell, knowing that our luck has changed.

Painting of the "N"

That freshmen women are failing to uphold the traditions set by their predecessors was plainly shown last Saturday when the "N" was whitewashed. Only a few women appeared to share the duties of carrying buckets and spreading the paint on the "N," and the few who did come were more interested in attracting the attention of the older men who had gone along to supervise the painting, than they were in the task itself.

That the entire freshman class should participate in this old custom seems to be disregarded more every year by the feminine group. In past years it was an occasion to be looked forward to, with every one attending and making it more of a picnic than a task.

Why can't the freshmen of today do the same, instead of letting go of the few traditions that are left for the underclassmen to abide by?—N. S.

Brains Make Champions

That brains as well as brawn is a prerequisite of champions is indicated in the high scholastic averages made by the members of Nevada's championship basketball team of 1932. Figures released by the registrar's office show that as an average the men on the team made higher grades than did the rest of the men on the campus.

There is nothing new in this statement. Indications everywhere point to the fact that intelligence is necessary to success. Nevada's basketball men may have been giants this year, and most of them were, but even giants cannot succeed unless they use their brain to its fullest capacity.

Coaches have learned, often to their sorrow, that a good little man can take a good big man, provided that the little man has the brain and the will to fight. Perhaps that's why the old lumbering gigantic football players have been replaced by small, faster, quicker-thinking men.

Anything That's Right

Although men are acknowledged to be worse gossips than women, perhaps they are strong with their dirt and prefer to hash it over in the privacy of their bull-sessions, at least the women that are running this week's Brush aren't too chicken to hang their soiled laundry (and everybody's else) out in the sun to air. Therefore, gentle readers, hearken to the terrible truths herein set before you.

It seems that the painting of the "N" was a most jolly affair last week, what with big Block N men supervising the whitewashing job when they took their attention from the beautiful frosh girls long enough to throw a glance at the men. A circle of upperclass braves sat at the head of the "N" watching the perspiring queue of first-year men sling buckets. Gaile Parsons, Wolf Pack star, became very concerned about some men he thought were leaving their line of duty, and while futilely chasing after them, took a smashing header down the hill to the great delight of the underclassmen who witnessed his accident.

Herbie Peck gives vent every now and then to a violent "cockle-doodle-doo" when he sees the co-ed who was too "chicken" to kiss him. And still they insist the weaker sex has no sense.

Although all the political deposters may be wrong about Margaret Martin's wanting to run for an A. S. U. N. office, how about the collapse of her long-term love affair with Fred Trevitt, which came to a bitter end recently? They do say that love must be sacrificed to politics, and with Bob Bankofier catching her on the rebound the situation looks entirely different.

"Capital 'T'" Mann rates this column's notice for the finally completed feat of hanging his pin on Jerry Bingamin. He appeared very hurt when he failed to receive publicity on his success—but he's in his glory now that he is the permanent Daddy of the Tri-Delt house.

Moving picture fans will be delighted with Bill Colman's find of an ancient film in the negative stage showing apparently black skinned platinum blonde bathing beauties of the big-bloomer era sporting themselves throughout an entire reel.

Speaking of platinum blondes—Mae Vutch had to fight off crowds of Los Angeles beauty operators who insisted that they were going to make her another Jean Harlow.

Did you hear that: "Fellow" Jackson's favorite poem is "Thanatopsis".....that the bare leg brigade is a sure sign of spring—and a swell chance for some razor salesman... Brick Mitchell's looks are all that a coach's should be... the Sigma Phi Sigmas have some smart looking porch furniture... the "Bashful Adonis" was very chagrined to find that some brunette man's picture was placed above his write-up... the student affairs committee met Monday... that some people think that a 2.68 is quite enough on which to initiate pledges.

Friendliness Shown On Tucson Campus Says Gamma Phi

"I thought that Nevada had a friendly spirit, but I have never seen such hospitality as that which was evident in Tucson," said Mae Vutch, president of the Nevada chapter of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority, who recently attended a Gamma Phi convention in Tucson, Arizona.

At the University of Arizona there is complete cooperation among the fraternities and sororities, said Miss Vutch. One manifestation of this cooperation is the weekly exchange dinners when members of each sorority and fraternity are guests of other houses. In this way the different organizations become friends instead of enemies, and cliques, which are so common at universities are eliminated.

One of the most interesting features of the campus is the serenades in which all of the fraternities participate, she said.

"On special occasions, such as the Gamma Phi Beta convention, all of the fraternities gather beneath the windows of the sorority or dormitory in question, where they sing fraternity and college songs, and also songs of that organization which they men are serenading."

Good Looking Men
The students there are about the same as the students at Nevada, except that the men are better looking, according to the Gamma Phi Beta president. She said that all of the men that she saw were handsome and had curly hair, but that the women on the Nevada campus could hold their own against the Arizona co-eds.

"I did not see a woman that was as good looking as the good looking women on the Nevada campus," she asserted.

The student body at Arizona is about twice as large as Nevada and it has the support of the entire community of Tucson, which is typically a college town, and has little other interest. There is a town square that is primarily for the college students, and which has establishments where students gather to discuss student affairs and to drink "cokes."

Ralph "Buck" Farnsworth drove up Saturday to attend the annual Phi Sigma Kappa breakfast dance. Farnsworth is at present employed in the chemical laboratories of the Standard Oil Company at Berkeley.

Industry takes a hint from the kitchen

The domestic art of baking is closely paralleled in telephone manufacture at Western Electric, where plastic molding is an exact science.

Telephone bell boxes, for instance, are no longer formed of metal. They are molded from a phenol plastic compound—containing carbolic acid, formaldehyde and other ingredients—because Western Electric manufacturing engineers saw the way to make a better product at lower cost. These men developed a new and exceptionally efficient type of plastic molding press—and determined precisely how long to bake the mixture and the exact temperature to use.

In quickly taking advantage of the new art of plastic molding, Bell System engineers once more showed that they have the kind of imagination that keeps American industry forging ahead.

Huskies Are Victorious Over Tonopah by One Point Margin

Lovelock Takes Junior Title, Defeats Virginia City 17 to 13

For the second time in two years, Reno high school won the championship cup in the Nevada state high school tournament, when they defeated the Tonopah aggregation in one of the most exciting games ever played in the tournaments, winning by a score of 20 to 19 after overtime playing.

Carrying out the expectations of the fans Lovelock won the state junior championship and took the cup in the consolation tournament, winning over Virginia City in a fast preliminary game by a 17 to 13 score.

Tonopah kept a slight lead over the Reno Huskies throughout the first half; at the end of the third quarter the Huskies had a four-point margin, the largest margin either team held during the game; near the end of the fourth quarter Tonopah had a lead of one point. Ayer of Reno tied the score with a free throw, 18 to 18, as the regular game period ended. Frank Hart made a basket for Reno on a fast break, and Nowling scored a free throw for Tonopah with the final score standing 20 to 19, this being the second straight year that Reno has won the championship by one point.

Murphy, lanky Tonopah center, tied for high point man of the game, with six points to his credit. Semenza, Reno substitute forward, played his best game of the season, also having six points when the game ended.

New Coach Begins Track Squad Work

Emphasizes Cooperation at His First Meeting with Cinder Team

That Brick Mitchell, newly chosen Nevada coach, is "not coming here with the expectation of setting the world on fire," was his declaration as he met Nevada's 1932 track squad for the first time Monday afternoon.

Emphasizing the need of cooperation between squad and coach, Mitchell said that with this one factor to go on, "a school is bound to have some kind of team whether the sport be football, basketball or track."

After routine work out with the track team on Monday and Tuesday Mitchell returned to San Francisco to settle business he has there. He will return to Reno early next week to begin intensive training with the track men. Spring football training also will begin Tuesday.

Nevada's track team will take part in the far western conference meet May 7 at Sacramento. Before this, on April 23, Nevada will meet San Francisco at Reno, and April 30 will contest with Fresno State College at Fresno.

Few Veterans
Nevada's 1932 track squad has few men who have been represented in this sport before. Roy Salisbury and Neil Scott are the two veterans whose past records are outstanding. Salisbury out for the mile and two mile events, and Scott running in the 440 and 220 yard races.

Others with previous experience include Earle Seaborn, two mile; Fred Wilson, 440 and three men from Southern California, Bob Seibold, dash; Dan Bledsoe, javelin, and high jump; John Fulmis, weights.

Thirteen Frosh Receive Laking

Punishment was meted out to thirteen freshman men Tuesday afternoon by the sophomore vigilance committee, as a result of the breaking of campus traditions by these men.

Light up... Convince Yourself that Chesterfields Satisfy

FLIP OPEN a pack of Chesterfields! Help yourself to a cigarette... Light up... and let's get the facts.

Mister... you're dead right. They're milder!

It's no secret in tobacco circles that Chesterfield buys the finest tobaccos that grow... Turkish and Domestic... sun-ripened, mellow, pure!

Chesterfields are blended first... then cross-blended... to make them milder... and milder still! There's no mistaking that rare balance of flavor built up by Cross-Blending. You enjoy it in every fragrant puff!

Even the cigarette paper is different. Cleaner, whiter, tasteless... the purest that money can buy.

Listen, smokers... this is straight. You can't put taste in a cigarette... unless quality goes in, too.

THEY'RE Milder... THEY'RE Pure... THEY TASTE BETTER... They Satisfy

English Honorary Initiates Members

Eleven women were initiated into Chi Delta Phi, national honorary English society for women, at ceremonies held Sunday afternoon in the home economics rooms of the Agricultural building.

The new members are Connie Phillips, Lois Hutchinson, Katherine Hansen, Dorothy Rose, Ina Johnson, Mary Sourwine, Dorothy Pope, Charlotte Pope, Florence Diskin, Millicent Johnson, Dortha Robertson.

Following the initiation, punch and cookies were served to the new members and active members who participated in the ceremonies.

Scandal Show Discussed
Discussion of a tentative scandal show and plans for the annual Founder's Day banquet were started last Sunday afternoon at an initiation-meeting of the Chi Delta Phi.

If no scandal show is produced this year, it will be the first time in many springs that the choice campus "dirt" has not been thoroughly raked over as only a scandal show can do it. It has become practically traditional on the Nevada campus for the members of Chi Delta Phi to bend their energy toward enlightening, for one morning, such members of the student body as are willing to give a dime to the cause. In the past such enlightenment often has proved startling to say the least, when some one suddenly finds his or her failings publicly displayed.

The Founder's Day banquet to be held April 25, is to honor the founders of Chi Delta Phi. The Nevada chapter of the fraternity was established in 1931, the local group at that time being called Delta Alpha Epsilon.

Thursday the finals were played between Beta Sigma Omicron and the independents, the winners taking the championship cup offered by the Pan-Hellenic Council.

Forty-Niner Days To Be Revived At Campus Function

Decorations, Costumes, Music
To be in Keeping with The Occasion

Reviving the "Days of '49" with beards and gingham aprons, bars and Floradoras, the former custom of the "Whiskerino Dance" will be renewed in the gymnasium tomorrow evening bringing to a close of the celebration of Mackay Day.

The hall will be decorated in a grand conglomeration of barrels, bars, mirrors, cuspidors, one and mine machinery. Ray Hooper is completing a Bas Relief of John Mackay similar to the statue in front of the mining building which will be featured by a spot light during the dance. "Nick" Bourne's orchestra, which will also be decked in old costumes, will bring back memories of old time numbers, as well as the more popular music of the present day.

Cider and near beer will be served in mugs over the bar by white aproned bartenders throughout the evening.

A chorus of Floradoras will entertain with various dances to the accompaniment of Ray Hackett on an old fashioned organ. The campus quartet will render several selections in honor of the evening. An old time fiddlers contest will be held which will be judged by the popular applause.

The three reigning queens of the day will give out the prizes to the winners of the contests from the top of the massive bar at the end of the hall.

It is expected that there will be a hundred per cent attendance in costume. A few students have signified their intentions of arriving in a stage coach drawn by horses, and everyone will be searched for pistols as they enter.

During the evening flash photos will be taken to be used in the 1933 Artemesia. To bring the dance to a close the Mackay Song will be sung by the entire crowd.

An invitation has been issued to Governor Balzar to attend the Whiskerino but as yet word has not been received as to his intentions.

'N' Is Whitewashed Saturday By Frosh

With most of the men showing up and a few of the women, the freshman class gave the Block N on Friday morning its annual spring whitewashing, which always takes place immediately prior to Mackay Day.

The frosh left Reno Saturday morning and spent most of the day on the mountain, with the women preparing lunch at noon. A committee of Block N men, headed by Gale Parsons, supervised the whitewashing.

Miss Martha Wiggins Lane, province deputy of Delta Delta Delta, will visit the Theta Theta chapter next Tuesday en route to Salt Lake.

Mackay Contests Will Bring Awards From Business Men

All Prizes to be Presented by Queens at Whiskerino
Dance Saturday

Due to the cooperation of the downtown merchants with the plans of the Mackay Day committee, many prizes are to be offered as a result of the numerous contests to be held during the celebration of the day.

The fraternity having the highest percentage of workers in the morning cleanup will be presented with a cup that has been donated by Paterson's Clothing Store. The Ginsburg Jewelry Store has also given a cup that will be presented to the fraternity having the highest percentage of "checked in beards." These two cups are the largest in the collection and are probably the most dearly sought among the organizations.

During the day two contests will be held for the engineers, one of which will be a mucking contest. The idea of the other has not as yet been determined. Cups for these contests have been offered by Grey Reid and Wrights department store and the J. C. Penney Company.

A wood chopping contest is to be held for the Aggies participating in the celebration. The reward for this is a cup donated by Sunderland's shoe store.

During the "Whiskerino Dance," the evening of Mackay Day, an old-time fiddler contest will be held, the winner of which will receive a cup that has been donated by Herz jewelry store. A contest, the nature of which is yet undetermined, will also be held during the evening for the faculty. The prize will be a pair of book ends given by the Armanko Office Supply Company.

Prizes donated by the Block "N" and Margaret Burnham's will be given during the evening for the best costumed man and the best costumed woman.

Prizes will also be given to the owner of the blackest beard, the loudest beard, the reddest beard and the longest beard.

Bouquets for the three ruling queens have been promised by the Nevada Flower Market, the Reno Floral Company and the Eddy Floral Company. Compacts with the girls' initials engraved upon them will be given to the queens by N. E. Wilson, Edises jewelry store and Hilps drug store.

All rewards for the winners of the various contests will be presented by the queens from their positions upon the bar at the end of the dance hall.

WILSON SENDS INVITATION TO FACULTY

Inviting the men and women of the University of Nevada faculty to partake in the celebration of Mackay Day Saturday, Fritz Wilson, chairman of the Mackay Day committee, has promised them entertainment that will, he says, in the hope of the committee, help to make this year's Mackay Day celebration as good or better than any of years preceding.

Requesting their attendance, in a letter to members of the faculty Wilson outlined the general program of celebration for Mackay Day, and said that their presence at the Whiskerino "is eagerly desired."

The first agricultural broadcast by the Nevada State Farm Bureau was formally opened over KOH Thursday noon by Walter E. Clark, president of the University of Nevada.

The broadcast is in charge of Mrs. Florence Bovett, secretary of the Farm Bureau and its purpose is to further stimulate interest in the benefits of rural life.

Colorful Program

won them. The mysterious substitute for the former "raspberry sheet," which some of the master minded journalists on the campus have been spending hilarious hours in the making will be passed out to all those present.

As the last business of the noon hour, President Cantion will call a regular A. S. U. N. meeting and nominations of officers to carry on the student body government of next year will take place.

A stage will be erected at one end of the gymnasium and loud speakers will be installed so that the audience may well be able to both see and hear the speakers.

Radio station KOH will broadcast the activities of the luncheon for about three-quarters of an hour. During this time several of the speakers and notables present will be introduced to their friends of the air. The station will also give an hour's broadcast of the Whiskerino dance Saturday evening, when Oscar Bryan, master of ceremonies, will give a description of the dance, the decorations and the costumes.

No neckties will be allowed during the day, nor at the luncheon, and the seniors are expected to turn out in the splendid and dignified attire of derbies and white vests, one of the few chances they have during the year to wear them.

Whiskerino Dance.

Saturday night will find the campus transformed into a picturesque forty-niner camp with the gymnasium the scene of the much anticipated Whiskerino dance. It is expected that everyone will come in costume, and prizes donated by downtown merchants, will be given the man and woman having the most appropriate garb. Reliable suggestions for forty-niner costumes are, cow punchers, miners, Indian braves, squaws, coolies, dance hall queens, parsons, negroes, tramps and desperadoes. A very elaborate stage coach has already been engaged by a party of the forty-niners who will strive to make of the big real celebration of the old days.

The "Hoe-Down-Downers" orchestra under the direction of "Harmonica" Harry Bourne will change into a stringed orchestra now and then to offer some diversion from the popular pieces with the old rag time tunes of the wild and woolly saloon brawls.

Decorations to create the right atmosphere of an old dance hall will be put up by a staff of the Mackay Day committee as soon as the luncheon is over in the afternoon, and although there are some surprises to greet the corners they are assured of finding barrels, cuspidors, lanterns, an old nickelodeon and various other items of the wild west.

White coated bartenders will preside over real bars lining the dance floor arrayed with fancy mirrors and pictures, and serving as a good front to conceal the many barrels of cider and near beer which will refresh the revelers during the evening's dance.

Not content with the decorations, the costumes and the honest to goodness drinks alone for the diversion, the committee has provided among other things, a fiddlers' contest, the winner to be determined by popular applause. Those entered are Andy Anderson, Lloyd Leonard, Al Jacobs and John Brooks.

A Floradora chorus, comprised of Jean McIntyre, Gladys Morris, Abigail Hackett, Margaret Martin, Edith Mortensen and Jean Zuick will revive old stage numbers to the music of an ancient organ.

Snappy vocal numbers will be furnished by the well known campus quartet composed of Al Burns, Walt Linehan, Bill Squires and Fred La Marsna.

Queens Give Cups

The three Mackay queens, Hazel Davis, Donnie Sullivan and Geraldine Harbert, will at this time, present the winning cups for the various contests during the day. The seven contest cups and the four cups for the beard winners have all been secured and are now on exhibition at the library. Spacious bouquets and engraved compacts donated by downtown merchants, will be presented to the winners.

The dance marks the end of beard growing endeavors going on among the men for the past nineteen days, prompted by the desire to win a cup for themselves or for their houses. It is rumored that girls are apt to be left standing alone while the men rush home at exactly twelve o'clock to get rid of the foliage. However, the campus has become so used to seeing them in their native state that the beards have ceased to be a novelty and become more or less of a test manhood.

A large turnout and an extra amount of enthusiasm is expected for Mackay clean up in the morning due to the advent of the new system of having all the men check in with their names and houses to Ed Bath, who will be in the gymnasium from 8 to 9 a. m. The fraternities are urged to have their members bring as many of their own tools as possible. The various houses will work at the following places and will be directed by committee members signified as follows:

Track—Sigma Nu and Sigma Phi Sigma. Jack Miles in charge, in collaboration with track manager, Jasper. Baseball field—Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Sigma Kappa, Alpha Tau Omega, and Beta Kappa. Farnsworth and Reazzone in charge. Soccer field—Delta Sigma Lambda.

Jack Smith in charge.

Bleachers—Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Stray Greeks. John Winters in charge.

Any of the above listed places will be worked by Independents. Tennis courts—Faculty.

Students and visitors will be called from one place to another during the day by the clear call of a bugle by Bill Squires. At nine o'clock sharp he will call for the commencement of work. At noon he will call mess for the luncheon and in other times he will make the appropriate signals.

Experiences Told By Rhodes Scholar

Fred Anderson Gives Resume Of Activities at Oxford

In a recent letter to Dr. Walter Clark, Fred Anderson, '28, Rhodes scholar from Nevada, gave a resume of his activities since he has been at St. John's College at Oxford.

Rows on Winning Crew

His athletic interests are centered chiefly in rowing, and he rowed for the college in the first Torpid. His crew was a winning one as they made four bumps in the first division, consequently they were awarded their oars and will be sent to London at the end of the term to participate in the "Head of the River" races at Putney.

Anderson has also joined several clubs and societies. Among these are the King Charles Club, a college dining club, and the Osler Society, which is medical in nature. He has taken a minor part in student offices and committees. His travels have taken him through France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Holland, Belgium, and a small part of the country surrounding Tangiers. In most of these countries he felt that he was handicapped by his incompetence as a linguist.

Studies Medicine

During his first two vacations he studied anatomy at Surgeons' Hall in Edinburgh and at the University of Frankfurt in Germany. He had planned spending his third year doing research for a B. S. until a communication with Harvard Medical School advised his getting as much practical knowledge of medicine as possible if he desired to transfer to Harvard. Accordingly, this year has been spent so far in pharmacology and pathology supplemented with work in the hospital. In addition he has been engaged in a certain amount of research work with his former tutor, Dr. C. G. Douglas.

If Anderson is admitted to Harvard it will be to a third year standing, and two more years are required for his medical degree.

Lives Out of Town

Last year Francis Duborg and Anderson roomed together at college, but this year Fred is living out of town with a Rhodes scholar from Tennessee. Duborg, Anderson says, is one of the most popular students at St. John's. He is doing the schools of modern languages, but finds them quite difficult as his foundation was not very good along these lines.

During his stay at Oxford, Anderson has met two of Nevada's Rhodes scholars. Just recently John Ocheltree, '25, spent a week with him. After receiving his B.A. from Nevada, Ocheltree earned another B.A. degree from Oxford in 1929. He is now with the American consulate in Hamburg. The other predecessor which Anderson met was Stanley Pargellis, '18. Pargellis was a Rhodes scholar from Nevada in 1919. He first received his Oxford degree and then a Ph.D. from Yale in 1929.

Anne Guthrie is Honored with Tea at Morrison Home

Miss Anne Guthrie, Y.W.C.A. continental secretary for South America will be the guest of the University Y.W.C.A. at a formal tea to be given at the home of Mrs. S. K. Morrison in Elma Court, Newlands Heights, this afternoon from 4 to 5:30. Members of the faculty and women students on the campus are invited to meet Miss Guthrie.

This morning Miss Guthrie gave an interesting lecture to the combined history classes on present conditions in South America. She is on furlough and after five months in the United States, will return to the southern continent and continue her work in Argentina, Brazil, and Chili.

Miss Guthrie is a graduate of Stanford University, and was, for a number of years, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A. in Chicago. Before going to South America she studied at the University of Madrid.

Ten years ago Miss Guthrie, who aided in the organization of the Young Women's Christian Association in Reno visited here, and her messages at this time expressed her eagerness to return. The down-town Y.W.C.A. invites all men and women of the community who are interested to hear Miss Guthrie at a dinner meeting Friday evening in the Methodist church. She will speak on "South America Today."

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Ross' home on Virginia street was the scene of a St. Patrick's dinner party Monday evening in honor of the birthday of their daughter Emily.

Engineers Inspect Hawthorne Station

Professor Boardman with the senior and junior students in civil engineering, made a trip to Hawthorne last week end to view the dam that is under construction for the navy arsenal plant. They were the guests of Lieutenant Hiddlebottle, who is in charge of this depot.

They were conducted on an inspection tour to the dam which is being built in a canyon to provide the base with a larger water supply, and explained the phases of its construction. Some pictures were taken of the dam. The group was also taken to view the ammunition storage tunnels of which there are about 85, and the principles of their construction were explained. These tunnels are built according to most scientific methods of storing explosives. The navy depot, which is a city by itself, was visited and the students conducted through the many plants and buildings.

Saturday night the visitors were entertained with a dance at the officers' club house.

Professor Boardman, Al Davis, Norman Blundell, Gerry Brummond, Mason Myers, Walter Mattson, Ted Kitchen, Bob Millard, Harold Pierson and Willard Douglas made the trip.

Ten Women Will Get Rifle Awards

With the women's rifle season now at an end the ten women who competed in the inter-collegiate matches, will be awarded certificates by Colonel Bramblie at the Mackay Day luncheon Saturday. The women are Mary Smith, who ranked first with the highest score, and Dorothy Gordon second with the next highest. The other eight are: Elizabeth Frey, Myra Sauer, Ellen Eckman, Wanda Morrill, Marcelle Barklay, Della Renfro, Cora Henriksen and Dorothy Kallenback and Grace Amanette.

Results of the entire rifle season in competition with other universities showed four games out of nine in favor of the University of Nevada women's rifle team. The other four colleges represented were: Michigan State, University of Kentucky, Northwestern University and Keen Normal. The five colleges that defeated Nevada were: University of South Dakota, University of Idaho, University of Washington, Carnegie Institute of Technology, and the University of California. There were three other matches, but two of them were not counted as the scores were late in arriving, one of which has not yet been received.

The women's rifle team held a match with the first five of each team tying the score, forcing them to count a sixth which gave the men a winning margin of five points.

Y.W.C.A. To Give Easter Pageant On Campus Sunday

Legend of Holy Grail Modern Allegorical Story of Sir Galahad

The legend of the Holy Grail will be presented in the form of an Easter pageant Sunday morning at 9 a. m., on the Mackay Quad, by members of the town and campus Y. W. C. A. organizations.

"The Consecration of Sir Galahad" was first introduced here six years ago when Mildred Van Every was secretary of the Y. W. C. A. Girl Reserve movement in Reno, and Sunday will see its seventh annual presentation.

The theme of the pageant concerns the ancient story of the Holy Grail which exemplifies sacrificing love and eternal life. Galahad represents the modern youth striving for the ideals of purity and service as lived by Christ. The part of Galahad is taken by Mary Trudelle. The mother is played by Dortha Robertson and signifies divine motherhood and church protection. The Voice, is that of Fred DeLongchamps, and it typifies the voice of the Spirit. Norma Brown, Isabel Grainer, Nola Oden, Marie Belz, Betty Nelson, June McKennon, Erlmonde Baker and Sybil Furchner, all members of the Girl Reserve groups, will take the part of the Virtues which represent Nuns of Courage, Loyalty, Endurance, Purity, Graciousness, Gentleness, Faith, Hope and Love.

Edith McLaughlin, who has appeared in a number of university dramatic productions, will play the part of the Woman and Beatrice Flow will depict the Temptress. Grace Semenza and Marion Nichols who were the Hermit and Angel in the pageant last year will again play their respective parts.

Other characters in the pageant are members of the Y. W. C. A. and Girl Reserves.

Assisting the production Sunday are the Women's Glee Club of the university, and the university and community orchestra under the leadership of Theodore Post. Miss Leota Maestretti and Mrs. Theodore Post will present special music features, Mrs. Post singing Schubert's "Ave Maria," and Miss Maestretti playing violin solos.

Last year over one hundred and fifty people attended the pageant, and if the weather permits, the affair will again be given on the Quad, but if it turns cold the pageant will be held in the gymnasium. There is no charge for the production and the public is invited to attend.

Recently Mr. A. M. Smith of the Nevada State Bureau of Mines, spent six weeks in Southern Nevada making a study of the nonmetallic mineral resources with a view to their future utilization by means of cheap electric power from Hoover dam.

State High School Forensic Tourney Staged For April 7

Robert S. Griffin, instructor in English, announced this week that the annual high school forensic tournament would be held again this year April 7, 8 and 9 on the campus, bringing to Reno an aggregation of participants and their coaches from all over the state.

Among these high schools which have entered contestants in the various events are: Douglas county high school, Gardnerville; Pershing county high school, Lovelock; Lincoln county high school, Panaca; Winnemucca, Sparks, Reno, Carson, Wadsworth, Virginia City, Las Vegas, Elko and Carlin.

Included in the tournament are debate, dramatic interpretations, one-act plays, Shakespearean scene, and extemporaneous speaking contests. Some schools have entered all of these while the smaller schools have entered in fewer events.

Among the coaches who have placed entries in the forensic tourney, are Elizabeth Johnstone, Frances Hilborn, May Fitzpatrick, Julia Baldini, A. H. Bachelor, Douglas Daschell, Dick Hillman, Earl Wooster, Randall Ross, Don Harvey Bell and Charles Priest.

No Accidents Occur When 'N' Is Painted By Freshman Class

Contrary to past experiences, the "N" received its bi-annual whitewashing without a single accident occurring. For years the University hospital, according to Mrs. Ethel Shurtliff, has received at least several students to be treated for injuries sustained while touching up the "N," but this year's painting took place without a single freshman or sophomore appearing for treatment.

At present Edith Smith, sophomore normal student, who had her tonsils removed by Dr. Dwight L. Hood last week, is recovering from her operation. During her illness Mrs. Shurtliff, University nurse, had a special trained nurse on duty to assist her with the case.

Campus Players Get Finance Report

Campus Players held its bi-weekly meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. The purpose of the meeting was a check up on the ticket sales from "June Moon."

A report on the financial outcome of "June Moon," although tentative, showed the organization to be in the red. As a result of the existing financial status of the organization, William Colman, director of dramatics, announced that he would not attempt to produce another play this semester, except for the purpose of getting the club out of debt. He announced a tentative plan to produce a melodrama of the last century but left the decision up to the discretion of the members of Campus Players.

Some discussion ensued regarding a social affair to be given by the organization in the next month, but all arrangements were left up to the committee, with Farnell Bathazar as chairman. Professor Bob Griffin asked the support of Campus Players for the forthcoming forensic tournament, especially in the matter of award, for the one-act contest and the most outstanding actor and actress. This matter also, was put in the hands of the committee.

Archery Practice Begins For Women

A new feature of the spring archery practice and tournament which will start Monday, will be out of door practice on Mondays and Wednesdays. Heretofore all activity has been confined to the university gym in which the range is limited.

A sixty foot range is considered a standard for general archery competition and the maximum to be obtained in the gym is 40 feet which is adequate only for beginning practice.

All women desirous of going out for this sport should sign the list posted on the bulletin board in the women's division of the gymnasium or see Dorothy Rose, archery manager.

The first meeting will start at 3:45 Monday and all who sign up should endeavor to be present for instruction in the fundamentals of archery.

An intramural tournament will be held later on in the semester. Manzanita Hall Association represented by

Haseman Memorial Site Is Changed

The proposed site of the Haseman Memorial has been changed from the north end of Manzanita lake to a location near the Library, on the south end of the lake and on the east shore. The memorial will be erected some yards away from the circular bench near the bulletin board.

This action was taken recently by the Haseman Memorial committee, according to their latest announcement. The definite plans for erecting the memorial have not yet been made, but will be made public at a later date.

The Mackay Day queens — Donnie Sullivan, Hazel Davis, and Geraldine Harbert—will plant three spruce trees at the new site tomorrow.

Shirley Johnson, won the cup awarded by Pan-Hellenic last year.
