

Few Donations Made to Student Union Building

Students and Alumni Disagree As to Whom the Fund Should Belong

By ADELYN ROTHOLTZ

Nevada's student union building fund is composed of but $2038.57. It was revealed recently, against $1959.43 of last year, and since no more large donations have been made the fund is standing in the comptroller's office collecting interest, biannually, because of the mixup between the alumni and students regarding as to whom the fund should belong.

The first donation for this student union building was given in the spring of 1929, by the senior class, totaling $199.23, which was the total balance of all the seniors' blanket deposit. The next donation was given by Mrs. M. O. Ella, Freeman, amounting to $5. Then, on July 28, the general deposit of the summer school students totaled $559.00. Following these donations, the class of 1929 gave the remainder of their general deposits, which gave a total of $1083.70. In December, 1930, the interest was $73.88; June, 1931, $34.42; December, 1931, $39.18, and in June, 1932, $39.96, making a grand total of $2038.57, for the Nevada's Student Union building, with which nothing has been done as yet.

There has been and still is a struggle going on between the students and the alumni as to whether this union building is to be a student union building or an alumni union building, because most of the money received so far is from graduates of old, thus giving it a chance to become an alumni union, preferred to a student union.

After this struggle between the alumni and students, Kelly Lyon, president of the student body of 1928-29, conceived the idea of using the old Nevada Historical building for a student union building, because at this time all of the exhibits there were moved downtown to the State building. Lyon went to the state legislature with his proposal and in the spring of 1929 the legislature turned down the matter.

For two years following, the idea remained dormant, and was again taken up in the spring of 1931 by Jack Walther, then president of the student body. He also carried it to the legislature and finally the matter was passed upon.

Immediately after the legislature had granted the request, plans were formulated by the student body, under the direction of Bernard Hartung, graduate manager, to get the building in readiness for student occupancy in the fall of 1932.

During the summer remodeling work went on inside and outside of the building, under the direction of Hartung, who devoted the full summer supervising the work, and the fall semester of 1932 found the structure ready for use, and for students offices to be moved in. The senior class of 1932 donated a total of $576.70 as its senior memorial fund for the furnishings of this building.

Among the many features that were added to the building this summer were a new insulated ceiling, partitions providing separate offices for all of the university publications, a complete new lighting system, a thorough overhauling of the heating system, complete new sewage and lavatory facilities, repainting and retinting the interior of the building and rebicking and surfacing the outside walls.

Hartung will manage and act as general supervisor of the building. All matters regarding the property and upkeep of it will be handled through his office.

CO-EDS OF 1924

In regard to the changing of one of the traditions of Nevada there was a great deal of comment. The question arose over the advisability of changing the college hymn from "U. of N. So Gay" to "Nevada, My Nevada." Dorothy Crandall '25, leader of the Women's Glee club, said, "A hymn should not be the memorial to the good times of college life—the deuce of a time we had while we were there. It should show a dignified and respectable pride for the alma mater in particular and the state in general. Nevada, My Nevada" fulfills all these requirements better than the other title."

Fifteen women from Manzanita went to the California-Nevada game. Those who stayed home consoled themselves with a candy pull.

The W. A. A. was making plans for a colonial dance at the Majestic theater in December.

Back in 1913 one of the peppiest numbers in the He-Jinks was given by Manzanita, although it was not scheduled on the program. As they were extremely hungry they tried to get away with the food and were caught in the act. After making them sit on the platform for half an hour, supposedly ignored by the men, the intruders were allowed to go on their humble way.

Also back in 1913 there was a "College Equal Suffrage club," the object of which was to interest college women in political affairs and make them "as smart as men."

The seniors in the school of education were entertained by Dean and Mrs. Hall at their home on University terrace. There were games and music and at a late hour refreshments were served.

Plans are being made to offer approximately 360 different courses for students, teachers and the general public during the University of California intersession and summer session in 1933, according to a recent announcement.

Of the 360 courses to be offered, approximately 130 will be given in intersession, and some 230 in summer session. Noted scholars from various parts of the world will be invited to come to Berkeley as instructors in many of the courses.

Native Hindu To Speak Before Y.W.C.A. Group

Sadhu J. Nelson-Christanada, a Christianized Hindu and native of India, will address the students of the university on social and religious Hindu institutions at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Y. W. C. A. floating university committee Monday at 4:30 in Artemisia hall.

Mr. Nelson-Christanada, who has completed a speaking tour of Europe and Canada, is touring America in the interests of an Episcopal mission which he supports in India. He has devoted a major portion of his life to the spreading of Christianity among the Hindu people of India.

While Mr. Nelson-Christanada is in Reno he will hold a conference hour with students Sunday evening at 6:30 at St. Stephen's chapel. He will also address the congregation at the Trinity cathedral Sunday morning and the members of the Rotary club Monday at a luncheon meeting.

In America he has so far addressed audiences in Chicago, Omaha, Denver and Salt Lake City, and after leaving Reno will speak in San Francisco and other coast cities.

Byron O'Hara Pays Visit to Campus

Returning here on a leave of absence before he takes up active army air service, Byron O'Hara, former student of the University of Nevada, visited the university military department this week.

O'Hara completed an advanced army air course at Kelly Field, Texas, and graduated on October 15. He will stay in Reno a short time before taking up active duty in Hawaii, where he will be stationed for two years, with the possibility of remaining there permanently.

The ship carrying O'Hara to Hawaii will leave San Francisco on October 29. O'Hara's friends here that Newton Crumley and Walter D. Mitchell, two other former Nevada students who are receiving training at the Texas air field, are doing good work.

Ann Jenkins and Frances Slavin will visit Ann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rees T. Jenkins, in Susanville, Calif., this weekend.

FORMER A.S.U.N. PRESIDENTS IN FIELDS OF MODERN LIFE

The former A. S. U. N. presidents are following varied careers since their college days at Nevada. All of them are working in important fields of modern life, which may tend to show that the students of this college have chosen capable men as their leaders.

Edwin Canton, president last year, left September 15 to enroll in the Harvard medical school. Jack Walther, who presided in '31, is in Reno working for the Nevada Finance corporation. Carol Cross '30 is now Nevada state reporter for the International News Service. He formerly was on the editorial staff of the Nevada State Journal.

Elmer "Kelly" Lyons is in South America with an engineering company. After his graduation in '29 he lived in McDermitt, Nev. Vernon Canton of the class of '28 is an interne at the Long Island college hospital in New York. He graduated from Harvard last spring and received several scholarships while there.

Harry Frost '27 bought the Reno Printing company after working there for several years. The president of 1926, Proctor Hug, has been in charge of the physical education department and the boys' basketball team at the Sparks high school since he left college.

Edward Reed '21 is the Washoe county extension agent, and John Cazier is engaged in the cattle business in Wells. Harry Harvey manages the advertising for the Imperial Valley Hardware company at El Centro, Cal. Melvin Jepson is a prominent attorney in Reno.

Chance selection of an impure chemical for experimental purposes five years ago has enabled Prof. W. H. Chandler of the department of pomology to discover recently a cure for the disease of little-leaf, now ravaging California orchards. Five years ago trees were treated with various chemicals, including a large amount of impure iron sulphide. Prof. Chandler has now determined that the zinc, contained in the impurities of the iron, affected the cure.—Daily Californian.

A.S.U.N. Treasury Enriched by Grad Homecoming Fetes

Approximately $1455 was the net profit gained by the A. S. U. N. as a result of the Homecoming day activities.

Despite the new amusement tax levy on the dance, Wolves' Frolic and football game, the proceeds were only slightly lower than the total profit gained last year.

Prices for stags were raised this year for the annual Homecoming day dance, but couple admissions were the same. A total of $75 was cleared from this feature of the celebration.

The Wolves' Frolic, one of the biggest drawing cards of the entire fete, showed a profit of about $530. Because of the tax, this is slightly lower than the amount made last year.

The football contest between the Cal Aggies and Nevada Wolves again proved to be the main feature of the occasion, as it showed a total profit of $850. The proceeds from the dance and frolic go in the general A. S. U. N. fund, while the money from the football game is added to the athletic fund.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

WITH CLIVE IN INDIA
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the noted artist, Karl Godwin . . . inspired by the fierce and brilliant assault by Clive and a handful of followers, outnumbered 20 to 1 by savage hordes of bloodthirsty natives, at the Battle of Plassey—the birth of the British Indian Empire—as described in the famous Henty book, "With Clive in India."

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?
