

Hoover Receives 178-119 Majority In Campus Vote

Montgomery and Jeffers Speak to A. S. U. N. Assembly This Morning

319 Votes Are Cast in First University Straw Ballot

With the Republican candidate for president carrying the University of Nevada campus in a straw vote by 59 majority over Roosevelt, the political campaign staged in the auditorium following the usual meeting of the A. S. U. N. was brought to a decided climax. Norman Thomas, Socialist, polled 22 votes.

Dean of Men R. C. Thompson introduced the speakers, referring to the Democratic representative, Elwin Jeffers, as the Washoe Zephyr and the Republican candidate, Ed Montgomery, as the Burlingame Breeze. Jeffers, the first to speak, spoke of Hoover as being "up in the air and it was up to the voters to get him down."

Jeffers Flays G. O. P. He also pointed out what the Republican party had failed to do in regard to the unemployment situation, and the misrepresentation that has been made by the administration concerning the merits of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Ed Montgomery was then introduced by Dean Thompson as the Burlingame Breeze who would calm the Washoe Whirlwind. Montgomery in opening his speech quoted that "Things couldn't be so bad that they couldn't be heard."

At the conclusion of the rally the ballot of the students was taken, and the Hoover majority was turned in. This rally followed the A. S. U. N. meeting, which was opened by the band to an enthusiastic group of students and professors totaling over 300.

Proposed amendments to the constitution were read by Sam Arentz and accepted by the A. S. U. N. Dan Harvey was appointed chairman of the rally committee to take the place temporarily of Cliff Devine, who has withdrawn from school.

Sam Arentz warned any student against renting or loaning his student body card to other people. Anyone found doing this will have all student body privileges revoked and the card will have to be forfeited.

The social hour which has been held on Wednesday will be held tonight instead in the gymnasium due to the several house dances having to postpone their dances.

Men's Dorm Master Confined at Home

Paul A. Harwood, associate professor of English and master of Lincoln hall at the University of Nevada, has been unable to meet with his classes since a week ago last Thursday, when he was confined to his home by a threatened attack of pneumonia. He is recovering, but is not expected to be back to school before the first of next week.

During Mr. Harwood's absence his classes are being met by Professors A. E. Hill, A. L. Higginbotham, K. Riegeluth and W. R. Miller of the English department of the university.

Civil Engineers Will Hold Meet

There will be a meeting of the Student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers in the Electrical Engineering building at 7:15 Tuesday evening. After the business of the meeting is dispensed with there will be an illustrated lantern slide lecture on the "Carquinez Straits Bridge," given by a senior engineering student, Fred Needham.

Officers of the society are: Walter Reid, president; Jack Smith, vice president, and William Squires, secretary.

Junior Prom Plans Well Under Way

Arrangements for the Junior Prom to be held Saturday night, November 19, are well under way, according to John Flounroy, chairman of the junior prom committee.

The affair will be held in the State building, with bids selling at one dollar per couple. The affair, a formal, is open to the entire student body. Those assisting Flounroy on the committee are Bruce Gould, Rowan Colgan, Claire Galvin, Oscar Robinson, Margaret Martin, Dorothy Pope, Harold West, Dan Harvey Virginia Cross, Mary A. Thompson, Clair Beemer, Bob Marean, Gene Salet, Russell Elliott and Jean McIntyre.

Campus Players Announce Cast For 'First Night'

Freshmen Students Will Have Many Major Parts in Production

The major characters in the cast of Campus Players' production, "First Night," were announced today by the director of dramatics of the university, William C. Miller.

Only two of the cast have had previous experience in campus productions. Both are members of Mask and Dagger, university honorary dramatic society.

Geraldine Harbert, who played in last year's dramas, "Berkeley Square" and "June Moon," will be seen in "First Night" as Joan Reid, the actress. John Mariani, who also played in "Berkeley Square," will take the part of Rizzo, an Italian character.

The other members of the cast who have been selected have had no previous experience in university dramatics, and are members of the freshman and sophomore classes. Frandsen Loomis will play the part of the Duke. Don Brown and Fred Dodge will play Owens and Bissano, two detectives. The part of Stanley Carter, Miss Reid's brother, will be taken by John Lewis.

William McDonald will play the warden, while Lindsey Green will be seen as Larry, a convict. Morgan North will take the part of Barnes, the stage-door man. The character of stage manager will be played by Joe Ackerman.

"First Night" is a comic murder-mystery play in three acts. It will be performed in the university auditorium in the Education building December 7 and 8, and perhaps it will run a third night. There are twenty-six characters in the cast, some of which have not yet been selected.

Play production will be in charge of Wyman Evans. Herbert Peck will act as stage manager and Katherine Wright will have charge of costumes.

A new ruling has been made this semester by Dean of Women Margaret Mack and Mr. Miller prohibiting first semester freshmen women from participating in dramatic productions.

California Game Sidelights Noted

For the first in several years, a warm, sunny afternoon greeted the football fans in the California Memorial stadium in Berkeley for the annual Nevada-California game last Saturday.

A crowd of 10,000 was present, and there was plenty of spirit evident in the cheering stands. "Tightwad" Hill, which overlooks the stadium, was well populated with nonpaying onlookers.

Late in the third quarter of the contest came the most spectacular play of the afternoon. It was a lateral pass from Ambrose to Harris to Backer, which completely fooled the opposition and gained 17 yards. For a moment it looked as though Backer was away for a touchdown, but he was neatly tackled on the California 30 yard line by the safety man.

With their 170 musicians the California band presented an imposing spectacle as it marched through the north gate of the stadium and performed a number of brilliantly executed formations.

The longest run of the day was made by Fred Hector, a substitute left halfback for the Bears. The star of the game, however, was Leon Vallanos, first string halfback, who raced down the field twice, once for 42 yards and a touchdown and again for 38 yards to be downed one yard short of a touchdown.

The U. of N. band was the first to enter the stadium and was given a noisy ovation, as it marched immediately to the California stands to salute. The band then crossed over to the Nevada section and formed a huge N to play the Nevada song.

There will be a general meeting of the University Y. W. C. A. Tuesday at 4 o'clock in Manzanita hall. Members of the floating university committee will furnish the entertainment. Refreshments will be served. All members are urged to attend.

Nevada Loses California Game At Berkeley Bowl

38 - 0 Score Registered by Bear Squad in Tough Game

Carroll, Harris and Theis Play Outstanding Ball for Wolves

A fighting but tired Wolf Pack went down to defeat at the hands of the powerful University of California eleven last Saturday in the Berkeley Memorial stadium when it came out on the losing end of a 38 to 0 score.

A crowd of 10,000 people was out to see the contest, of which 800 were Nevada rooters.

The game was featured by the long runs of Vallanos, Shamlin and Hector of California and the flurry of Nevada passes in the third quarter, which had the Bears worried. Two long passes which brought the stands to their feet cheering like mad were the highlights of the game. A bulletlike throw of 17 yards from Ambrose to Theis, who was surrounded by California men, was completed. In the next play Ambrose shot another pass to Harris, who, just as a California man tackled him, lateraled the ball easily across to Bill Backer, who in turn ran the ball to the Bruins' 31 yard line where he was downed after another 17 yard gain.

Hill Hurt Misfortune pursued Nevada, however, when Harvey Hill was taken out of the game, after having played for only a few minutes, with an injured knee which necessitated him having to be carried off the field, and when Bob Madriaga, giant tackle, was hurt.

Hill was Nevada's only speed threat and so his loss was felt deeply. Madriaga was taken out of the play suffering from an injured hand, a hurt he had received several days prior to this engagement.

Carroll, Ambrose and Jack Hill starred for Nevada in the backfield, while Beemer and Harris took the honors in the line play.

Carroll Stars Carroll featured the game with his superb defensive play and his numerous drives through the line, while Ambrose starred in his accurate passing, being the chief Nevada threat in that direction, and his 25 yard gallop around end proved to be one of the best runs of the afternoon. Jack Hill supplied the kicking power that put Nevada out of danger many times. One of his best boots was a 50 yard punt off the side of his toe with half the California line on top of him trying to block it.

Theis starred in his defensive play, although he was on the receiving end of a 17 yard pass, several times making tackles that seemed an impossibility for a man of his size to accomplish.

Harris Fights Hard Spud Harris, sent in as a substitute end, proved his worth by going through the California line to make numerous hard tackles, making up for his lack of weight by speed and drive.

The first tally for the Bears came in the first quarter as a result of a fumble when Relles dropped the ball on the Pack's 8 yard line and which was recovered by Baldwin from the arms of Ambrose on Nevada's 1 yard mark. Vallanos took the ball over for the score and then successfully converted.

Vallanos Scores Vallanos also made the second touchdown after a long run of 35 yards which placed the ball on the 5 yard line, after which he succeeded in taking it over for another 6 points.

In the second period the third and fourth scores were made by California when Shamlin took the ball around end to Nevada's one yard line, from where it was pushed over by Klein, and when Vallanos took the ball around end for 20 yards to score.

The Wolf Pack successfully fought the Bears in the third quarter, but were unable to hold them in the final period when Hector went 67 yards through a broken field for a touchdown and Vallanos intercepted a pass to take the ball to Nevada's one foot line, where it was put over by Hector.

Chi Delta Phis Enjoy Meeting at Theta House

The Nevada chapter of Chi Delta Phi will have original poetry and prose, written by its members, published in the national Chi Delta Phi magazine. This is the first time that Nevada will have been represented.

Miss Peggy Johnson is in charge of the contributions and she has chosen many selections to be published. Discussion of modern American and foreign novels was the feature of Chi Delta Phi meeting, held at the Kappa Alpha Theta house Thursday evening. Each one present gave a review of the book which she had read.

This is the first year that Chi Delta Phi has had any program other than a regular business meeting.

TWO HOUR SOCIAL FEATURE TONIGHT AT GYMNASIUM

An idea to have a longer social hour to be held tonight is under consideration at the present time, according to word received from the graduate manager's office. In view of the fact that most of the social functions have been canceled for the next two weeks, suggestions from a number of students have resulted in an attempt being made to hold a two hour social this weekend.

The affair, which is scheduled to begin at 8:30 and run for two hours, will have an appropriate theme for the evening in keeping with the latest catastrophe. A good five piece orchestra has been arranged for and a number of feature dances will be held during the evening.

As usual the social will be a no-date affair, with admission 20 cents, and all sororities and fraternities are urged by those in charge to give their cooperation.

Nevada Band Serenades Cal. Rooting Section

Forty Members Attend Game at California Memorial Stadium

Adding zest to the annual Nevada-California "big game," the University of Nevada band men won an ovation Saturday when they serenaded the California stands preceding the football clash at Berkeley Memorial stadium.

Showing real Nevada spirit, the band in blue and white uniforms marched into the California stadium playing the California anthem. The blue and gold bedecked rooters of California rose and answered the tribute by singing their anthem to the music of the Nevadans. Forming a huge block N in midfield, the band then faced the Nevada section and played the Nevada song as the team entered.

A few minutes later the huge California band, numbering almost 170 men, formed a V at the mouth of the stadium and ushered in their players. Returning the tribute which Nevada had given them, these California men formed in front of the Nevada section and played the Nevada hymn.

Through finance control aid the band was able to make the Berkeley trip. Those members who went were Robert Palmer, William McMenamin, Murray English, Wesley Jordan, Nolan Gault, Tom Trythall, Kistler Rivers, Jack Williams, Reed St. Clair, Hugh Rossolo, Edward Parmenter, Ellis Ceander, Robert Best, Ralph Scott, Fred Hartman, Clarence Byrd, Fred Dunn Grant Rice, Herbert Peck, Lloyd Leonard, William Durbrow, Adolph Conoglio, Dale Hart, Victor Maxwell, Walter Hargreaves, W. J. Little, Don Butler, Paul Raine, Claude Hunter, Walter Matson, Gall Jensen, Walter Foucher, Alvin Jacobs and Prof. T. H. Post.

Hollywood Revue Will Be Theme of She Jinks Thursday

Women's Costume Affair to Be Parody on Hollywood Film Stars and Shows

The Marx Brothers, Greta Garbo, Clark Gable, Mickey Mouse, Flip the Frog and Bing Crosby are some of the featured stars to be present at the "She Jinks" to be held in the gymnasium Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

The theme for the "She Jinks" will be a Hollywood revue and everyone attending has been asked to come in costume representing some well known movie star. Short skits will represent parts of recent pictures and a beauty contest will determine the possibilities for aspirants for screen fame.

The "She Jinks" is sponsored by Delta Delta Delta and has been held every year since 1906. The purpose is to create a friendly attitude among the different sororities and non-sorority women. In the past, the jinks has been the most outstanding entertainment held for women only.

Refreshments will be served and music for dancing provided by a girls' orchestra. Prizes will be offered for the best impersonations.

Due to the "bank holiday" the Delta Sigma Lambda fraternity will be the only house on the hill this weekend to give its scheduled dance.

Lambda Chi Alpha has postponed its dance from Friday to Saturday night and will give a "radio" dance in place of the original one planned.

Gamma Phi Beta and Kappa Alpha Theta, the two sororities which had planned dances for Friday night, have been forced to postpone them indefinitely.

Campus Politicians See Equal Chance For Both Nominees

Predictions of Hoover Victory Slightly More Numerous Than for F. D.

"Roosevelt Is Bound to Win, He's So Cute," Is Feeling of Nevada Co-Ed

The campus has become politically minded. During the past ten days there has suddenly risen in our midst dozens of would-be politicians. Prophets are running wild with predictions, and wagers of every sense and description are being hurled about just as though they really meant something.

With the election only four days away several prominent students have ventured to predict the winner. While their individual votes may vary with the results they predict, and notwithstanding their speaking, they have chosen to "call their shots" as follows:

Walt Linehan—I believe the thinking people will vote for Hoover, but as 90 per cent of the people don't think I predict Roosevelt will win.

Florine Frank—Hoover. Bill McMenamin—Hoover by a close count.

George Mann—Roosevelt by a narrow margin. Ed Kell—I pick Roosevelt.

Roy Bankofer—Hoover by a walk. Harvey Hill—it will be Hoover. Elizabeth Young—All Hoover.

Oscar Robinson—Hoover will win. Paul Fontana—I think Hoover has it.

Sally Fagan—Why, Mr. Roosevelt, of course. Denver Dickerson the stanch Democrat—I'm afraid it will be Hoover.

Jack Miles—Hoover. Bill Judson—Last minute sentiment will sweep Hoover into office.

Kenneth Maclean—it will be Roosevelt. Theodore Overton—For the good of the country, Hoover.

Graham Kisingbury—Hoover without a doubt. Keith Lee—Hoover hasn't a chance.

Edwin Jeffers—Roosevelt, naturally. Ed Montgomery—Why ask?

Helen Steinmiller (Y. W. C. A. prexy)—Roosevelt, if you please. Florence Diskin—Roosevelt.

Denise (Candy Lamb) Denson—Roosevelt is so cute. He's bound to win.

"I think Hoover will get it, but I won't say so," says John McNamara.

Frances Smith—Hoover by all means. Myra Sauer—I really think that Hoover will win.

New Morehouse—The bonus marchers hurt Hoover. I pick Roosevelt.

"Tick" Ligon—I'm certain Roosevelt will win. Charles Koerner—Hoover has it in the bag.

Jean Sauer—Hoover, and why not? Kathryn Wright—it must be Hoover.

Virginia Garside—Roosevelt. Kenneth Johnson—Roosevelt and beer. Helen Olmstead—Hoover, without a doubt.

Florence Lehmkuhl—Hoover will win. Bud Beasley—if we can't have Hoover, give us another two fisted guy like Pop Eye.

Helene Per Lee—Hoover has to win. Marie Richards—Hoover is the one man for the job.

Darrel Reed—Hoover will be re-elected. Miriam Clark—Hoover.

Howard Umber—Roosevelt will walk away with it. And so far into the night. Take your pick. One's a cinch and the other's sure of winning.

Co-Eds Entertain At A.S.U.N. Meet

Entertaining the student body is apparently the ultimate desire of the freshmen women on this campus, judging by the number who appeared to display their vocal talents this morning at the A. S. U. N. meeting.

They seem to have the knack of getting in the public eye, but their system is really very simple. Just fall to appear at a frosh meeting, girls, and the women's upperclass committee will put you on the stage.

If you aren't a frosh, and still have a feeling that you must show off, go to the library and have a chat with any upperclass man who is trying to get some studying done.

The girls who were presented this morning to an appreciative audience of penny throwers were Nelle Price, Dorothy Shoup, Julia Sibley, Lillian Smith, Evelyn Matson, Evelyn Anderson, Elizabeth Barnes, Ruth Brandis, Jean Burrow Margaret Crosby, Betty Ochsner, Eleanor Fisher, Virginia Hill, Lucille Hook and Dorothy Withrop.

Three Teams Lead In Closing Weeks Of Hoop Tourney

S.A.E., Sigma Nu, Phi Sig Tie; Tournament Will End Next Week

After five weeks of play the teams of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Nu and Phi Sigma Kappa remain tied for first place in the intramural basketball tournament, which will be finished in two weeks. Each of these teams has won five games and lost one.

The strong Phi Sig team has not, however, played the S. A. E. or the Sigma Nu teams yet, and the outcome of these games will be a deciding factor in the championship. A game between the Sigma Nu and the Phi Sigs was scheduled for last week, but was postponed until next week.

Monday night the Lincoln Hall team won on a forfeit from the Independents, who, up until last week, were tied for first place. The Sigma Nu quintet defeated the Lambda Shi team 25 to 15 before a fair crowd of rooters. Paul Leonard of the Sigma Nus was high point man.

The A. T. Os. scored a win over the Beta Kappa team in a fairly slow game which ended with the score of 24 to 14. Keith Lee played good ball for the Taus and Harvey was the outstanding player of the Beta Kappas.

The S. A. E. aggregation continued its string of wins since its defeat by the Sigma Nu team and delivered a severe beating to the Sigma Phi quintet 43 to 6. Flounroy was the best player of the evening for the Sig Alph outfit and Kibby played well for the losing team.

Next week will see the leading teams in a fight for the championship. The games next week between the Phi Sigs and the Sigma Nus and the Phi Sigs and the S. A. Es. loom as real exhibitions of heads up basketball.

THREE AUTOS WRECKED ON BERKELEY TRIP

Three automobile accidents marred the California-Nevada game when two carsloads of Nevada students and alumni turned over on the Auburn-Reno highway, and a third car collided with a San Mateo street car.

Ross Whitehead's car, carrying three passengers—Steve Comish, Wilber Peterson and John Lewis—blew out a tire and turned over when it hit a loose boulder twenty miles east of Colfax last Friday.

Comish and Whitehead were treated for cuts and bruises in Colfax. Four stitches were taken in Whitehead's back, Comish had to have four stitches taken in his head where he was cut by flying glass, Peterson had a few of his teeth knocked out in the accident, while Lewis escaped unhurt.

Their car was wrecked so badly that they had to come back to Reno by train, arriving here Saturday morning.

Oscar Bryan, a last year's graduate, and Glen Lidster escaped injury when their car turned over as they failed to make a sharp curve on Donner summit. With the help of a farmer they righted their car and continued on to Sacramento. The car belonging to Lidster was badly damaged but was able to get to Sacramento under its own power.

Riding through the streets of San Mateo last Sunday, Howard Brandis was unlucky enough to get in the way of a street car. The car in which he was riding was completely wrecked, but Brandis came out unhurt.

"President Hoover has shown remarkable statesmanship by consulting the heads of industry and finance in determining the best means of relief," stated Pugh.

Packsters Clash With Spartan Grid Eleven Tomorrow

Conference Championship Is at Stake in San Jose Battle

Twenty-nine Nevada Players Leave for Game Thursday Night

By BILL McMENAMIN Twenty-nine University of Nevada Wolves, with their coach, C. L. "Brick" Mitchell, and managers entrained last night for San Jose, where they will meet the San Jose College Spartans, with the Far Western conference leadership at stake, at 2:15 p. m. tomorrow.

Standing in a good spot to take the championship for the first time in several years, the Wolves have only to win from the Spartans and defeat Fresno State to take the championship. A loss in either of these, their only remaining conference games, would tumble them close to the bottom on the conference pile.

Impressive Record San Jose also stands in a fair way to win the conference championship if it can get past the Wolf Pack in this contest. They have defeated Chico State, 14 to 7, downed the College of Pacific, 7 to 0, and played a scoreless tie contest with Fresno State. They have only to defeat Nevada and the California Aggies to win the championship.

Poor Passing In running off their offensive plays in scrimmage this week, the team showed the precision and speed that Mitchell desires. The Pack appears to have a well-rounded offense except for the lack of a strong passing attack. Both Jack Hill and Ambrose pass, but they have not seemed to develop enough accuracy. There appear to be plenty of good pass receivers, among them Harvey Hill, Ole Theis, "Spud" Harris and Gail Parsons.

Minor Injuries The Wolf Pack is slightly handicapped by colds and minor body injuries. Bob Madriaga, Jack Hill and Holt, all able gridgers, have been unable to practice this week due to attacks of the "sniffles." Harvey Hill, quarterback, has a slight knee injury, while Ole Theis, tackle, is troubled by a sore shoulder.

Mitchell will probably start Bankofer and Austin at ends, Linehan and Theis at tackles, Haynes and Beemer at guards, Cashill, center; Guffrey and Backer, halfbacks; Parsons, fullback, and Ambrose, quarterback. Frequent substitutions throughout the game are expected, however.

The men who will probably be making the trip are Bankofer, Beemer, Beasley, Banigan, Backer, Theis, Madriaga, Monorovich Haynes Stock, Stowell Turner, Guffrey, Parsons, Salet, Hackett, Cashill, Carroll Adams, J. Hill H. Hill, Holt, Ambrose, Hanley, Harris, Kell, Linehan and Priest.

New Coach San Jose, after finishing at the bottom of the conference last season, has developed into one of the leading teams of the conference on the field this year under a new coach, Dud De Groot. Nevada defeated the Spartans 16 to 0 last year.

With the largest student body of any college in the conference, over 2800, the Spartans should have plenty of material to pick a team from. De Groot brought eleven letter men with him from Menlo Junior college when he took over the position of head coach at San Jose this year. He has an outstanding coaching record and is definitely pointing for the championship this year.

Wool Stars Wool, fullback of the San Jose team, is rated as one of the best ball carriers in the conference. His sweeping end runs and center drives may cause the Packsters considerable trouble. Veteran performers in Hornbeck and Carmichael at guard and Hardiman and Collings at tackle bolster up the San Jose line, which is rated as one of the strongest in the conference.

Blue Key Holds Dinner Meet at Lam Chi House

That twelve or fifteen men will be elected to Blue Key was decided at the dinner meeting of this organization Tuesday night at the Lambda Chi house.

The new men will be chosen from the tryees who did outstanding work in helping Blue Key at rallies and in selling tickets to the football games and the Wolves' Frolic.

In order to arouse more interest in the organization most of the meetings will be in the form of dinners at the different fraternity houses. The Sigma Phi Sigma house will be the next meeting place, on November 14.

W. A. A. will hold its general meeting the second Tuesday in the month instead of the first. All new initiates are required to attend as well as the older members.

Reno Attorney Speaks on Campus To Republicans

Mr. Clarence Pugh, member of the Washoe County Bar association, addressed the "Hoover for President" club at its final meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the Mackay Science building.

Introduced by Chairman Ed Montgomery as one well posted on national politics, Mr. Pugh traced the origin of the two major political parties in existence today.

Mr. Pugh outlined the causes of the depression and praised Hoover's work in combating the situation. He commented on the sound judgment Hoover displayed in preparing a program of relief.

"President Hoover has shown remarkable statesmanship by consulting the heads of industry and finance in determining the best means of relief," stated Pugh.

CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS

Tomorrow afternoon the Wolf Pack plays San Jose State Teachers' football team in the second Far Western Conference football game on the Nevada 1932 gridiron schedule. Both teams have been undefeated in conference play, Nevada winning from the California Aggie on Homecoming day and San Jose winning 7-0 from the powerful College of Pacific aggregation and Chico Teachers' team, but were held to a tie by Fresno State.

The game at San Jose tomorrow is more significant to Nevada football fans and supporters for though the Far Western Conference is considered below the class of Nevada athletic teams, the Nevada football team has never in seven years of conference play won the title outright, and last year, one of the most disastrous in Nevada football history, the Pack made its best showing in being placed at the top of the heap in a four-way tie with C. O. P., Fresno, Cal Aggies, with two wins, one loss and one tie.

This season Nevada must win all three of its conference games to win the championship and with a fine start in defeating the Aggies 16-0 Homecoming day, the Pack must keep up the fight and has to down the Spartans tomorrow and carry on until after the big Fresno State game Thanksgiving for the third victory and win its first Far Western Conference championship trophy in football.

Last year the Nevada gridiron men gave the San Jose team a real cleaning to the tune of 18-0, but with a new coach in Dud De Groot, of Menlo Junior college fame, and a new squad of players and former J. C. stars on the Teachers' roster, Coach "Brick" Mitchell and his Wolf Pack will be presented with a stiff argument for conference honors. Both De Groot and Mitchell coached California junior college teams and are in their first year as Far Western Conference mentors, and a championship for either would be quite a sendoff for a first-year man. With these thoughts in mind, both teams will be fighting out there tomorrow and the destiny of the Nevada football future will be determined in this game.

No glamorous crowd of earnest supporters and rooters will accompany the men on this trip, but if the Pack regains its form exhibited in both the Utah and Cal Aggie games, a conference win should be registered and Nevada will continue its way to its first gridiron trophy.

A WORD TO THE WISE

Unfortunately the frosh president and two of his fellow Las Vegans have not yet come to the realization that they are now attending the University of Nevada.

It is expected of all men entering an institution of higher learning that their heart and spirit be imbued with their newly chosen environment. High school sentiments are forgotten as one enters the service of a new alma mater.

A loyal Nevadan is entirely out of his sphere when cheering for the opposition, even if such opposition happens to be his or her former alma mater.

For the good of all concerned, the disloyalty displayed by those in mention on Saturday last had best not be repeated. A word to the wise is sufficient.

MILITARY AND P. E. GRADING SYSTEMS ARE FAULTY; THEY SHOULD BE REORGANIZED

The move for the abolition of grade points in the required lower division physical education and military science and tactics courses has met with the approval of the head of the department of physical education.

The disadvantages of giving grades in military training are similar to those that have been recognized for the department of physical education. Friendships with upperclass officers tend to control the marks. High grades are often given, undeservedly, to those lower classmen signifying an intent to take upper division work. And those participating on the rifle teams often receive better grades than they might otherwise obtain.

But scholastic credit should not be given for extra-curricular activities. Nor should the condition exist whereby a failing student can remain in school because of ability as a buck private.

A pass or fail marking system should be inaugurated in both the military and physical education departments.—Daily Californian.

MACKAY GIVES RADIO SPEECH ABOUT 100TH ANNIVERSARY OF INVENTION OF THE TELEGRAPH

Director John A. Fulton of the Mackay School of Mines received a letter from Clarence Mackay this week in which Mr. Mackay gave transcripts from his speech over radio station WOR, commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the invention of the telegraph.

The transcript follows:
One hundred years ago the slow sailing packet Sully left England bound for America. On board were two Americans—one a painter of note by the name of Samuel F. B. Morse, the other Dr. Charles T. Jackson of Boston. From the time the little packet left Land's End to the time it reached the American shore there was no chance of communication between these men and the rest of the world.

During the voyage Dr. Jackson initiated a discussion upon electricity and magnetism and referred to lectures to which he had recently listened while in Paris. He had with him an electro-magnet, given him by the immortal Faraday, which he showed to his artist friend. From the discussion on that trip was born the idea in the mind of Professor Morse which, four years later, became an accomplished fact in the laboratory at New York University when the first telegraph message was sent from one room to another through the use of his dot and dash alphabet and the apparatus designed by him.

On May 14, 1844, this became a commercial development which was to revolutionize the communications of the world when Miss Ellsworth in Baltimore sent to Professor Morse in Washington the first message, which read, "What hath God wrought."

The invention was graphically described in a letter written to Professor Morse in 1838 in which it was stated:
"Your invention, measuring it by the power which it will give to man to accomplish his plans, is not only the greatest invention of this age but the greatest invention of any age. I see an almost immediate effect, that the surface of the earth will be not-worked with wire, and every wire will be a nerve, conveying to every part intelligence of what is doing in every other part. The earth will become a huge animal with ten million hands, and in every hand a pen to record whatever the directing soul may dictate. No limit can be assigned to the value of the invention."

How accurate was this prophecy may be determined by the fact that within ten years the telegraph was an accepted method of communication and telegraph lines soon became a part of the landscape in every part of the civilized world. Within a comparatively few years later it was possible to communicate by submarine cable with every continent. Today, one hundred years later, it is possible to send a message by telegraph, by cable or by radio with the dots and dashes of Morse to every corner of the world, to ships at sea or to explorers at the poles. Telegraph communication, first conceived by Professor Morse on board the Sully, has made the world small indeed.

Moreover, from the development of electrical communication has come the only universal alphabet in the world. Those who have studied the science of written languages will tell you that the Morse code was the first new alphabet to be created since the ancient Phoenicians drafted their linguistic symbols.

The development of civilization has depended principally on communication. The runners of the savages, the tom-toms of Africa, the camel trains of the Mongols, the galleys of the Romans, the merchantmen of the Indies, the signal fires of the Indians, the pony express and stage coach of the great west, and railroads and steamers, all are forms of communication. Each in its time and place contributed to the advance of civilization.

But not until Samuel Morse contributed the telegraph has any invention or means of communication given an impetus to the progress of mankind even remotely comparable to the results from his great invention. By annihilating distance it revolutionized commercial, political and social practices, not to speak of the closer knowledge and understanding it brought between peoples of the world.

Morse was the most illustrious American of his age. A distinguished artist, a great inventor and a highly esteemed gentleman.

It is, therefore, with a feeling of awe and reverence and a realization of high privilege that I come here tonight to pay tribute to this distinguished American and to his outstanding contribution to the welfare and progress of the entire world, and in the accomplishment of which he went through many years of poverty and struggle. As Americans we are proud that he is one of our foremost contributions to the world's hall of fame, where he ranks with the great scientists and inventors of all time and has taken his place with the immortals.

Democrats Stage Lively Meeting

A meeting of the students' Roosevelt-Garner for President club was held Tuesday in the Education auditorium. The principal speakers for the meeting were: James G. Scrugham, candidate for congress on the Democratic ticket, and Judge P. A. McCarren, Democratic candidate for United States senator.

The speakers were introduced by Keith Lee, president of the Associated Students and president of the Democratic club on the campus. The main issues of the coming election were discussed at length by the two speakers.

A great deal of interest has been shown by the two college political groups on the campus during this campaign. With both groups solidly supporting their candidates, election day will be lively.

Neither fear, nor wish for, your last day.—Martial.

An Open Letter to "Curley" Grieve, Sports Editor of the San Francisco Examiner

Dear Sir—How sad it is that your contacts with the athletes and undergraduate bodies of many universities should have failed utterly to impress you with the spirit of fair play and true sportsmanship that pervade intercollegiate athletic activities. With all possible concession to your evident desire to pander to a partisan reading public, your review of the football game between California and Nevada is a confession that you have entirely missed the true significance of the annual game between these two institutions of learning.

For your information and future guidance, please understand that not even the most rabid Nevada undergraduate expects our team to triumph over the Golden Bears. Our most ardent hope is that our boys might possibly score a touchdown against California. This is understood by California as well as Nevada and is the reason that the game is scheduled as a breather for California before their contest with U. S. C.

Nevertheless, each year Nevada makes the long trek to Berkeley to take its beating and, strange as it may sound to your alien ears, considers it a privilege. These games have been an annual event "since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary," but it remains for your gifted typewriter to add derision to our expected annual defeat.

In your observation of various football games you have noticed and commented on opposing players picking up fallen opponents and have mentioned the incidents in your columns as samples of good sportsmanship. The fact that you notice and consider such commonplace happenings worthy of mention demonstrates that good sportsmanship, as such, is foreign to your conception of intercollegiate athletics. It is evident that you require your football games spiced with the dirty tactics of the prize ring and wrestling mat.

Our football team was dubbed the "Wolf Pack" by some sports writer of the raw meat football type. Because our little school has the temerity to engage in football with an institution of ten times our size, you derisively term our team the "lamb flock" and are so tickled with your cleverness that you carry this splendid idea throughout your running story of the game.

Really, Mr. Grieve, now that it is all over, it was nothing but a football game or rather an intermingling of students of Nevada with the students of California. We came, we saw, we were conquered, and we will be back to take another licking next year. Try and understand and please do not hold us up to ridicule if you just can't understand.

Yours very truly,
LARRY DU FOUR.

In The Know

What is the matter with Peg Smith and her gal friend? Must they go down town at the last minute and get dates to the campus dances? Whether they do or not it at least seems that way from the looks of things at the Homecoming dance. It is a good thing that the Golden hotel has a bar in the lobby and all that, or maybe they, the girls, wouldn't have looked so enticing to the Cal Aggie boys. We are glad, however, that the boys had a nice time. Nevada girls do make good hostesses.

G.A.A. Convention Forms Constitution For Hi School P.E.

Each School Contributes Part for Consideration by Members

The State Girls' Athletic association met at the University of Nevada last Saturday morning. High school girls from Winnemucca, Carson, Sparks and Reno attended the convention as representatives of their respective schools.

The purpose of the convention, which is held annually under the direction of the university Women's Athletic association, was to form a constitution governing physical education which would be uniform in all Nevada high schools. Mary Trudelle, president of W. A. A., turned the convention over to Mary Louise Carmody of Reno, who acted as chairman.

Each portion of the constitution prepared by different schools was voted on and accepted. It was decided to vote on the constitution as a whole at W. A. A. play day, which will be held for the various high schools of the state the last week in April.

Following the completion of the convention business, the W. A. A. took its guests to the We-Ne-Va lodge at the foot of Mount Rose, where a luncheon was served. After the luncheon Mrs. Mae Simas, instructor in physical education at the University of Nevada, spoke to the girls on games that may be played by a group, and she also suggested new songs for their organization.

Those who attended the meeting were Mary Louise Carmody, Evelyn Keegan, Lila Stoddard, Lorna Pettipiece, Miss F. Humphrey, the coach, and Mary Trudelle of Reno; Margaret Bagley, Rowena Epperson of Sparks; Margaret Snyder, Virginia Osdell, Florence Condon, Dalien Anderson, Isabel McNichols and the coach, Miss A. McKnight, of Carson; Pauline Bachus, Elsie Johnson, Gertrude Polander, Doris Damon and the coach, Miss I. Loring, of Winnemucca.

Badminton Begins in Women's P. E. Class Tourney

The first practice game of badminton, taking place November 1, started the practice for a series of games which will be played off about the first part of December between the physical education classes and the sororities of the University of Nevada. Practice games will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays from 3:15 to 4:30 and on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3:15 to 4 o'clock.

Because of the popularity of this game quite a few girls have signed up and soon teams will be formed.

The games will be refereed by Mrs. Mae Simas, instructor of physical education for women.

Glee Clubs Join State Celebration

The combined glee clubs of the University of Nevada participated in the Admission day program presented on the steps of the Washoe County Library building Monday afternoon.

At the request of the Admission day committee the musical groups of the campus accompanied Mrs. Bertha Raffetto in singing "Home Means Nevada." This number, written by Mrs. Raffetto, is awaiting sanction of the state legislature as to the possibility of becoming Nevada's state song.

Professor T. H. Post, director of music, is now preparing a program to be presented in Fernley in the near future. The university community orchestra and both glee clubs will appear in the Fernley concert.

Pan-Hellenic Dance Set for November 12

When the annual Pan-Hellenic dance is held November 12, at the Washoe County Library building, Nevada women will have an opportunity to show their skill in the art of entertaining and escorting.

The dance is sponsored by the Pan-Hellenic organization, which consists of all the sororities on the campus, and the custom is for the women to call for the men in their cars, take them to the dance, and pay all expenses.

Decorations and programs will be blue and silver, and Dud Nix's orchestra will furnish the music.

The committee includes Blythe Bulmer, chairman, and Nora Gardella and Florence Lehmkühl.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

THE INDIAN RAID

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the celebrated artist, Fred Madan . . . inspired by that wild, bloody scramble of covered wagons in the Colorado Gold Rush (1858), as described in the National Geographic Magazine. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies
—that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Nevada, San Jose Lead in Far West Conference Race

Each Has Perfect Record; San Jose Wins From Chico and C. of P.

With the University of Nevada Wolf Pack tied for the conference leadership with San Jose State college, Far Western conference play takes on a new interest this weekend as the two leading teams face each other on the gridiron at San Jose.

The leadership of the conference and possibly the championship will be determined when the two teams clash tomorrow. Nevada's record is slightly better since it has not been tied in conference play while San Jose tied with Fresno. The tie has no effect on the official conference standings, however.

In one of two conference games of last weekend San Jose defeated Chico State by a 14 to 8 score. Chico put up a much better battle than was expected in holding the powerful San Jose team to a low score. San Jose made both of its touchdowns in the last half. The other game was a complete rout in which the College of Pacific downed Fresno State 35 to 0. Every score was brought about by completed long passes. Pacific proved to have a clever aerial attack and a strong defense.

Conference standings of the Far Western teams are as follows:

	W	L	T	Pct
Nevada	1	0	0	1.000
San Jose	2	0	1	1.000
Pacific	2	1	0	.667
Cal Aggies	1	2	0	.333
Fresno	0	2	1	.000
Chico	0	1	0	.000

Men's Upperclass Committee Issues Warning to Frosh

Declaring that a few of the freshmen were paying no attention to the traditions of the university, Pat Sanford, president of the upperclass committee, took steps last week to punish the offending frosh.

A meeting of the committee was called by Sanford and the frosh who persisted in wearing corduroys on the campus were ordered to attend the meeting. They were dealt with accordingly and told not to be caught wearing cords again or the circumstances would be many times worse. The old tradition of wearing cords is for the pleasure of upperclass men only and woe unto any other person caught wearing them.

Interfraternity Net Competition Near Conclusion

Interfraternity tennis nears its conclusion this week with three teams still tied for the championship in both singles and doubles competition and the issue still in doubt.

The number of fraternity tennis teams competing in the singles tournament has been reduced from eight to three. They are Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Sigma and the S. A. Es.

The S. A. E player, Miller, has a slight edge over Cameron of the Sigma Nus and Moore, Sigma Phi Sigma, since he has lost but one of his matches. When Cameron and the Sigma Phi Sigma player play their next match one will eliminate the other, since each has lost two matches.

The Lambda Chi Alpha team, Voorhees and Williams, leads in the doubles, having lost only one match. Miller and Paradis of the S. A. Es, Moore and Clark of the Sigma Phi Sigmas, Gibson and Kelly of Lincoln Hall have all lost two matches. When the Sigma Phi Sigmas play Lincoln Hall one will eliminate the other.

Since this is a triple elimination tournament, a team has to lose three matches before it is eliminated. If a team has an "off" day, it has a chance to make it up by winning the rest of its matches.

Nevada - San Jose Game Broadcast Over Radio KQW

The football game between the Nevada Wolf Pack and San Jose State, to be played at the San Jose stadium tomorrow afternoon, will be broadcast over radio station KQW, San Jose, starting at 2:15 o'clock. Fans are taking more than usual interest in this contest, as it will decide the 1932 championship of the Far Western conference. Both teams are undefeated in conference games at the present time. Theron Fox, San Jose football official and former sports writer, will broadcast the play by play description of the contest.

Frosh Gridders Play at Ely

Yearling Squad Will Face One of Strongest Pep Teams in State

A more experienced but rather deflated Frosh team will meet the Ely high school at Ely next Saturday. The yearlings, under the direction of Coach Chet Scranton, have been practicing far into the night and are all set to do battle with what is probably the strongest team in the eastern part of the state.

The Frosh team this year has been badly handicapped by injuries and lack of experience. Out of the twenty-five men now out for practice ten have never played football before, and an even dozen are now temporarily held back by injuries and sickness. Four have not been out for practice at all, and eight, although out, have been unable to "mix it up." One man, Chris Koontes, was badly injured in a scrimmage at the beginning of the season, and has just returned to school this week.

Scranton finds his men badly in need of someone who is able to break through the line. Wanke, end, is the only member of the squad who has shown any ability along this line and Scranton will probably give him a chance to play at guard instead of at his regular position of end.

So far this season the Frosh have played five games, winning from Fal-ion and losing to the College of the Pacific Freshman team, Reno high school and Las Vegas, the state championship holders for 1931. Last Saturday the Frosh ran up against one of the strongest teams of the state and were not in it when it came to fighting. The sturdy southerners were able to walk right through the Frosh but, not as in the Reno high-Frosh game, the Frosh put up a good fight this time.

The whole Frosh squad will make the trip to Ely and Scranton will probably start the same line as in the past games.

The lineup will probably be: Toquero, center; Gerow and Peters, guard; Hadlin and Cummings, tackles; Eisanman and Wanke, ends; Walker, full; Beacas quarter, and Kepl and Cockrell, halves. Tapogna, the power house of the aggregation, will probably see action as quarter, and Benson, end, will probably go in, although he has been laid up for the past week.

What is Cross Blending?

an Artist

might explain it this way...

"Let's say you're painting clouds. You've got your primary colors here on the palette. But you haven't the clouds until you blend certain colors into the special tone you want.

"This is very much what happens in making a good cigarette. And I gather that what Chesterfield means by Cross-Blending is what an artist does with colors. Their Domestic and Turkish tobaccos—many varieties of each—are the primary colors.

They blend and cross-blend these tobaccos until they get the special tone they want—in other words, the Chesterfield flavor.

"And just as each color you use acts on the others to change and enrich them, so each Chesterfield tobacco partakes of the fine qualities of every other.

"You 'weld' different kinds to get a better kind. That's Cross-Blending!"
