

Haseman-Jones Memorial Plans Accepted; Approved by A. S. Representatives

Nevada Engineer's Designs Approved By Student Body

Monument To Be Twenty Feet Long; Surmounted by Bronze Wolf

Superintendent of Grounds to Have Charge of the Construction

Work on the foundation for the Haseman-Jones memorial bench will be started next week, when President Walter E. Clark, who is in the east on business, returns and approves the final plans for the construction.

The plans, drawn by Paul Fontana, electrical engineering student, have already been accepted and approved by A. S. U. N. President Keith Kee, Professor Paul Harwood, chairman of finance control, and Professor R. C. Thompson, dean of men.

A fund for the construction of a memorial to Deans Charles Haseman and J. Claude Jones was started last year. Donations from students of the university have resulted in a sum of nearly $700. The cost of completing the bench will be approximately $500.

The memorial will be located on the north side of Manzanita lake, directly between the two shrubs that were planted last Mackay day. The ground has been surveyed and staked out by Paul Fontana, assisted by George Schilling and Dan Harvey.

The bench will be a circular, flat top structure, a foot and a half wide at the top, constructed in semi-circular form. The foundation will measure twenty feet at the widest part. In the center space will be a circular lawn plot.

An extension of the sidewalk from the bulletin board to the circular bench will lead to the memorial.

The memorial will be surmounted by a bronze wolf standing on a boulder. A bronze plaque containing the dedication will also be placed on the boulder.

Two concrete steps will lead from the sidewalk to the platform of the bench, and from the platform to the semi-circular offset.

The concrete will be laid this fall, weather permitting, and the bench and offset will be added in the spring ready for dedication on Mackay day.

Joe Lynch, supervisor of grounds of the university, will have charge of the construction.

Independents Win Intermural Cup

Bernice Lam, representing the Independents, defeated Katherine Martin, Kappa Alpha Theta, in the women's intermural tennis finals, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1. Miss Lam will be presented with a silver loving cup at the next student body meeting.

This is the second successive year that the Independents have won the W. A. A. Intermural tennis matches. Last year they were represented by Marjorie Sanborn. If they win the cup again next year they may keep it permanently.

This match completed the women's tennis until next spring, when tennis will be offered as a sport but with no intermural competition. Margaret Kornmayer was manager this semester.

Intermural Sports Includes Women's Rifle Competition

Women's rifle may be an intermural sport as well as an intercollegiate sport, according to Mrs. Mae Simas, instructor in physical education. Sororities and organizations have been notified to have their members sign up Monday afternoon for the sport, and if enough respond competition will be carried on between the various groups with an award given to the winner.

Rifle is the only women's intercollegiate sport offered on the campus. The Nevada group will send out challenges to other colleges next semester. In the spring the scores of all the colleges competing are compared and rated according to the lowest and highest score.

About fifteen girls have signed up for rifle to date. The practices are held Monday and Thursday afternoons under the direction of Sergeant Hustis, with Myra Sauer, manager.

Miss Ann Jenkens of the Pi Beta Phi sorority went to Berkeley last week end to attend the California-Stanford game.

Annual Initiation of Phi Kappa Phi to Occur Tuesday

Three Men and Four Women Will Be Elected to Membership in Honor Group

Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary society, will hold its annual initiation next Tuesday evening at 7:30, in the home economics rooms at the Agriculture building.

Students who will be initiated are Harry Duseath Jr., Edward Dyer, Alvin Jacobs, Helen Peterson, Marjorie Myles, Elsie Seaborn and Margaret Rawson.

To become eligible a student must be a senior and outstanding in scholarship. The students mentioned above are all outstanding in their studies and activities here at the university.

The purpose of Phi Kappa Phi is to promote scholarship in all departments of American universities.

Professor A. L. Higginbotham will talk on "The Government and the Newspaper."

Parents of all the initiates have been invited to attend and all members have been urged to be present.

Nev-Fresno Game May Be Broadcast By Amateur Radio

Possibility that the Nevada-Fresno game, to be played at Fresno tomorrow, may be broadcast over the amateur radio stations of Fresno and received by the amateur set at this university was expressed by Prof. Irving Sandorf of the school of electrical engineering yesterday.

If the broadcast is given, it will be received in the Education building auditorium, Sandorf said.

A letter asking for permission to have the game broadcast was sent to a radio operator on the coast and a favorable reply was received. Although amateur broadcasts are supposed to be restricted to messages only, it was said that such a broadcast, if entirely non-profit in nature, might be permissible.

U. S. Naval Officer Speaks to Students On Naval Problems

Capt. Gatewood Sees National Danger in Lack of Naval Power of U. S.

Charges Neglect of National Defense Is Neglect of Nation

Charging that the decline of our sea power means the ultimate decline of our nation, Captain A. B. Gatewood, U. S. N., retired, spoke before members of several history classes Tuesday morning on the subject of "Sea Power and American Destiny."

"The United States is so busy with her personal interests internally that she neglects international matters to such an extent that her protective navy and merchant marine are at the present time totally inadequate," he said.

Stressing the necessity for an adequate American navy, Captain Gatewood remarked that the British motto, "a powerful navy," means strength and profit to the nation that it represents and that "natural law" is the law of the seas.

Captain Gatewood declared: "The United States merchant marine is not sufficient to maintain successful commerce and protection for our shores. Our merchant marine must be built up to a much greater extent or we cannot hope to maintain our present position as a leading nation of the world."

"While our merchant marine is barely holding its own among the nations of the world, the other major nations are using ever increasing subsidies to finance the building of new and more modern fleets for their growing commercial interests."

When questioned as to the vital factor that was responsible for the destruction of American shipping supremacy, Captain Gatewood was emphatic in his opinion that it was not our commerce laws but the fact that the American people have no appreciation of the meaning of ships.

"The low efficiency of the navy is not at all the outcome of our governmental laws," he said. "These laws are a great benefit to the nation."

"What we should do," he continued, "is to come forward with even bigger subsidies for the expansion of our navy."

Captain Gatewood cited several instances in history where the action of a navy was the deciding factor in the outcome of a battle, and that navies have taken the most decisive actions in wars.

Continuing with the naval problem, Gatewood pointed out the backwardness in structure of the majority of the United States sea craft, and the fact that it must be modernized as soon as possible if the American people are to be sure of their national supremacy.

In conclusion, Gatewood remarked that before this can be accomplished the American people must drop the foolish idea that their nation's geographic seclusion does not warrant a proper naval defense.

Prospecting Course Offered for Miners Next Semester

A revived course in prospecting will begin at the University of Nevada January 16, 1933, and run to February 10. Any student or person who wishes to enroll for this instruction may do so by registering on the open day at the registrar's office in Morrill hall between 8 and 12 a. m.

The object of the prospectors' short course is to increase the efficiency of Nevada prospectors by giving them practical instruction which will be helpful to them in their work. The course is not intended to teach men unacquainted with prospecting how to become prospectors, and although it may to some degree serve to such an end (especially in the case of students who have received some training along chemical, geological and metallurgical lines) it is recommended that men without prospecting experience who wish to become prospectors enroll in certain of the regular courses at the Mackay school of mines.

A bulletin listing the courses of instruction and other matter relating to enrollment has been issued by the university.

Room and board may be obtained at Lincoln hall as long as there is room at the rate of $35 a month. No charges are made for instruction in this course, but a $5 fee to cover the cost of supplies used and extra expenses incurred is collected. No textbooks are required, but certain books are recommended. The students provide themselves with notebooks.

Upon the satisfactory completion of the course a certificate is issued to those who attend with regularity, perform all experiments and show good progress in their studies. No formal examinations will be given.

KING SOL DECLARES MORATORIUM

If King Sol persists in casting his warm rays on the Nevada campus as he has in the last week the students of the university can put their ice skates back in the basement and get out their bathing suits.

Moratoriums being in vogue, it seems that "Old Father Nature" has declared a moratorium on bad weather, but you don't seem to hear anyone kicking about it.

Here it is past the middle of November and most of the students have spring fever. This might be a good thing for the professors as they will not have to contend with this weakness when spring rolls around.

Combination salad, dainty sandwiches, iced tea and ice cream will probably replace the perennial turkey and dressings in university houses this year if these clear, warm days remain in our midst, and from all indications the balmy weather will continue for some time.

Feature Lecture Given Students Last Friday

Climaxing a lecture program of unusual interest, sponsored by the University of Nevada Cosmopolitan club, Bathie Stuart of New Zealand delivered a university audience Friday evening with a colorful performance of native Maori songs and dances.

Costumed in the striking native costume of the Maoris, Miss Stuart executed the rhythmic war and play dances taught her by the natives, including an ancestral group and typical dances of normal everyday existence.

A novel feature of the dance presentation was her singing in the Maori language of the songs which always accompany the dancing. An English interpretation of each song was given by the dancer, the only white woman ever to learn the Maori tongue.

Among the vivid collection were the ancient alarm dance of the sentry-warrior, a young maiden's lament of love, while perhaps most intricate was the play or poi dance performed with brightly colored poi "balls."

The brilliant cloaks and costumes worn by Bathie Stuart, she explained, were given her by the Maoris, while of one of her dances she remarked that both chant and dance "would make an excellent college yell."

Miss Stuart, who appears in this country as a good will emissary from New Zealand, described the island in Kipling's words as "lost, loveliest, loneliest, exquisite," during a running commentary which accompanied a series of lantern slide views.

A brief motion picture dealing with Maori civilization and some of the wonderland spots of the country augmented the slides.

The pictures, however, in Miss Stuart's opinion, only "inadequately" represented the "wealth and luxuriance of color and beauty that is New Zealand."

An interesting revelation in her lecture was that New Zealand was the "dairy farm" of the British empire, with "thirty sheep and two cows per head of population." Miss Stuart also stated during the course of the lecture that she "had no Maori blood."

1933 Artemisia Contracts Awarded

Advertising Rates Lowered by Business Manager Wheeler

Contracts for the publishing of the 1933 Artemisia, University of Nevada yearbook, have been awarded and the book is rapidly rounding into form, according to Sessions Wheeler, business manager for the publication.

The Reno Printing Company has been given the contract for printing, the Graphic American Yearbooks company will do the engraving and the S. K. Smith company has contracted for the covers.

Prices of advertisements for the book have been greatly reduced this year because of business conditions.

"I have lowered the prices to make it easier on the merchants who are having a hard time and who, in the past, have done their best to support university publications," stated Wheeler.

The price cut policy is expected by Wheeler to result in a greater number of advertisements, making possible the publication of a first class book.

Nevada Meets Fresno Tomorrow In Big Thanksgiving Day Contest

San Jose Gridders Down Davis Aggies By Decisive Margin

Victory Cinches Spartans' Right to Tie for Championship

Fresno Win Would Throw Conference Crown to San Jose

San Jose assured itself of at least a tie for the Far Western conference championship last Saturday by defeating the California Aggies of Davis, Calif., by a 19 to 7 score in the only conference contest of the weekend.

Still in a tie for conference leadership, the University of Nevada Wolf Pack must defeat the Fresno State Bulldogs on the Fresno field on Thanksgiving day in order to complete their claims to a tie for the championship with the Spartans for this season.

The only other conference game to be played tomorrow as the Far Western conference teams finish up their season is a tilt between the College of Pacific and Chico State.

If Nevada should lose its contest with the Fresno Bulldogs, it would send the Wolves catapulting to the bottom of the conference standings and list with one win, one loss and one tie.

Nevada won from Fresno eleven last year by a 31 to 13 score, but is given a good chance to down the Bulldogs, who have been twice defeated and once tied in conference play and have not won a conference game this season.

They are determined to defeat the Wolves, however, in order to throw the championship to San Jose and help bolster up their percentage.

The conference standings are as follows:

	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
Nevada	1	0	1	1.000
San Jose	3	0	2	1.000
Pacific	2	1	0	.666
Chico	1	1	0	.500
Aggies	1	4	0	.200
Fresno	0	2	1	.000

Classes for Hoop Officials Planned

No coaches will attend the meeting of Nevada basketball officials to be held at the University of Nevada on December 19, 20 and 21 to discuss the new rule changes and learn how to apply them, it was announced today by J. E. Martie, head of the physical education of the university and coach of the varsity basketball team.

Martie believes that the coaches could not afford to spend an entire week of their time in making trips from distant parts of the state to attend the meet. It is to be in the form of a class at which the officials will be lectured to regarding the rule changes.

A letter has been sent to every high school basketball coach in the state requesting him to send to the meet representative officials from his section who he expects to have referee games.

It is also planned that if the officials agree to it, a state basketball officials' association will be formed that will decide upon interpretation of rules in the future. The officials will be guests at the Nevada versus Stanford and Nevada versus Davis-Elkins college on December 22 and 23.

Interfraternity Cups Are Awarded

The cups for the various interfraternity sports held this semester were awarded to the winners last Monday. Since there was no student body meeting last week and as there will not be a meeting for some time, it was decided to award the cups at once.

The awards were as follows: Sigma Nu received the basketball and horseshoe singles trophies, Sigma Phi Sigma received the trophies for tennis doubles and horseshoe doubles, Alpha Tau Omega received the volleyball cup and Sigma Alpha Epsilon received the cup for tennis singles.

Next semester will see competition in track, baseball and handball, with the usual trophies for the winners.

Janitress Injured In Chemical Blast

Mrs. Dora Hook, janitress for the Mackay Science building, was injured early this week when she was preparing to clean a large porcelain jar which had sodium in the bottom of it. When water was added it exploded, burning her severely about the wrist, arm and face.

Nevada Center Credited With Longest Kick

Tom Cashill, sophomore Nevada center, holds the United States 1932 record for distance in field goal scoring, according to the compilations made by Parke H. Davis in the November 9 issue of the New York World-Telegram.

Cashill's drop kick covered a distance of 55 yards to score 3 points for Nevada against Cal Aggies in the Homecoming day classic.

Not only is the record given to this Nevada griddler, but his picture appears in the Telegram beside the pictures of J. T. Haxall of Princeton and Charley Brickley of Harvard, who are rated in football history as some of the best kickers to ever boot the pigskin.

The article in the New York paper states that "for the record goal of the year, we must go to the far west. Tom Cashill, center on the University of Nevada eleven, stands out as the hero of this exploit with a 55-yard place kick in the game with California Aggies."

Cashill's kick, which was termed by the Telegram as a place kick, was in reality a drop kick, and it approaches the all-time drop kick record of 63 yards established by Mark Payne of Dakota Wesleyan 17 years ago.

The field goal which scored 3 points for Nevada against Cal Aggies in the Homecoming game was kicked early in the second quarter. Nevada has reached the Aggie 35-yard stripe and was unable to gain, so on the last down Cashill dropped back to the 45-yard mark and sent the ball through the uprights. Since the goal posts are ten yards beyond the goal line, the kick traveled a total distance of 55 yards.

Eddie Kelley of Boston college holds second place on the list compiled by Parke Davis, with a kick of 35 yards from placement. Ernie Smith of Southern California and Martin Guy of Colorado college are the only other two men from the Pacific coast listed by Davis. Both are credited with 26-yard field goals.

Scandal Show Scheduled For Friday, Dec. 2

Sponsored by Y. W. C. A. This Semester, All Secrets Revealed

Friday, December 2, has been set as the date for the showing of the Y. W. C. A. scandal show that is sponsored every year. Campus secrets and other misdoings of prominent folk will be exhibited by members of the Y. W. C. A. in the Education building auditorium during the 11:25 assembly period.

This will be the first attempt of Y. W. to put on a show of this nature because in the past Chi Delta Phi has charge of this event. Next semester the honorary English women's society will sponsor a show of like nature.

Starting Lineup

With these men back, Coach Mitchell will have two full strings and a handful of able third string men to use. His starting lineup for the contest will probably be as follows: Jack Hill, quarterback; Parsons, fullback; Guffrey and Hanley, halfbacks; Bankofoer and Austin, ends; Thies and Madriaga, tackles; Beemer and Haynes, guards, and Cashill, center.

Mitchell may start Bannigan in place of Hanley at halfback, Carroll instead of Parsons at fullback and Mohorovich in place of Cashill at center.

Passing Improved

With a ground attack that included a bewildering variety of reverses, delayed bucks, laterals and end runs perfected to a smoothness that it has not displayed before this year, the Wolves will offer plenty of offensive drive to the Bulldogs. Coupled with it will be a new phase of their attack which did not click until their game with the San Francisco Olympic club, a passing barrage.

The Bulldogs, rated as a strong defensive team, are pointing to keep the Wolves from scoring in this contest. They have lacked a scoring backfield combination all season, but have held two strong teams to a scoreless tie with a stubborn defensive line.

Record Poor

They opened the season by losing to the West Coast Army by a score of 7 to 6. The following week they dropped a 3 to 0 game to the California Aggies and then took a terrific setback from the College of Pacific to the tune of 35 to 0. Against San Jose State and the Arizona Teachers, Fresno secured scoreless ties.

Two weeks ago the Bulldogs came out on the short end of a 26 to 0 score in an inter-sectional contest with Washburn college, Kansas. They returned to nose out La Verne college, 13 to 6, on their home field last weekend.

Yell Leaders May Get Public Address System Next Year

Plans for a public address system to be used by Nevada yell leaders at Mackay stadium for future football games are under consideration, says Paul Fontana, a yell leader.

The set will be for the use of the yell leaders alone, in order to facilitate their instructions to the rooting section previous to leading a cheer.

Fontana stated that most of the larger universities have such local systems and he believes that more satisfactory results will be obtained here through the use of one.

The system will be constructed from material present in the electrical engineering building.

Wolves in Crucial Turkey Day Tilt With Fresno State

Victory Over Bulldogs Means a Tie With Spartans for Championship

Full Squad of 29 Men Leaves for Game in Perfect Condition

By BILL McMENAMIN

Thanksgiving day will find the University of Nevada Wolf Pack providing a football feast for the fans at Fresno, Calif., in a tilt with the Fresno State Bulldogs, their last grid contest of the season, in which their chances to tie the San Jose Spartans for the Far Western conference championship are at stake.

Leaving by train with a traveling squad of 29 players last night, Coach C. L. "Breck" Mitchell headed for the California city in plenty of time to give his men a chance to recover from the fatigue of the journey before entering the crucial contest.

With one tie and one victory, the Wolves are tied with San Jose at the present time for the conference championship. San Jose, after conquering the California Aggies in their last conference game of the season last Saturday by a 19 to 17 score, have a record of three wins and two ties.

Victory Needed

The outcome of this game will either place the Wolves alongside of the Spartans on the conference throne or send them down to near the bottom of the list. Since Fresno has not succeeded in winning a conference game this season, the Wolves are favorites to chalk up a victory.

With a full squad, filled with vigor and freshened by more than a week's rest, Coach Mitchell will be able to throw his full strength against the Fresno aggregation in this tilt. Madriaga, the outstanding defensive player on the team, is back at tackle and Harvey Hill, sophomore quarterback who is the fastest man on the squad, is again on the roster.

Starting Lineup
With these men back, Coach Mitchell will have two full strings and a handful of able third string men to use. His starting lineup for the contest will probably be as follows: Jack Hill, quarterback; Parsons, fullback; Guffrey and Hanley, halfbacks; Bankofoer and Austin, ends; Thies and Madriaga, tackles; Beemer and Haynes, guards, and Cashill, center.

ARE WE THANKFUL

Tomorrow is the three hundred eleventh anniversary of the first Thanksgiving day celebrated by the Pilgrim fathers following a year of abundant crops. This year, despite one of the worst depressions in history, the descendants of these pioneers are thankful for the chance to secure a livelihood, and the undergraduates of the many American colleges and universities can well be thankful for the future opportunities that may be afforded them resulting directly from the present hard times. It is up to the present generation of college graduates to lift the country out of the rut in which it has allowed itself to fall.

GLEE CLUB ACTIVITIES

The members of the combined men's and women's glee clubs are to be congratulated for the fine performance which they gave at Fernley last Friday evening. Not only was the musical program rendered by the clubs of unusual merit but the entire management and directing of the occasion showed that in the future Nevada will be advertised in concerts that are meritorious of the university.

"FIRST NIGHT" POSTPONED

Director of Dramatics William Miller showed considerable discretion in postponing the first campus production scheduled for next week until the first of the spring semester. In past years there has been a lax state of affairs as to financial consideration of university productions, and, as a result, the A. S. U. N. has had to stand a considerable amount of losses due to these financial failures.

If the play picked for this semester's production had been carried out as first planned there is no doubt that there would have been another loss to be stood by the associated students.

FRESNO GAME

Twenty-eight Nevada gridders left last night for Fresno State college, where they will play tomorrow in a football game that will decide whether or not Nevada ties with San Jose State college for the Far Western conference football championship. To date Nevada has won one conference game and tied one, that tie being with San Jose. A win tomorrow will give the Pack two wins and one tie to correspond with San Jose's record of three wins and two ties.

Nevada has to win this game to make a really successful season and from present indications is going into the final game of the 1932 season with its first full strength since the Oregon Normal game. No excuses will be accepted for not registering a clean cut win in this game.

NEVADA'S THANKS

Tomorrow Nevada's Wolf Pack concludes one of the heaviest schedules ever undertaken by a team representing this institution. In hanging up the moleskins for another year, this aggregation may rightfully feel that it has completed a task in a manner that has proved a comfort both to the student body at large and the townsfolk who have enjoyed watching a fighting team play heads-up football.

While the Pack is deserving of praise for completing so successfully a season of strenuous play, there is even a greater respect in which the entire Nevada aggregation is deserving of commendation.

For the first time in years, the entire squad of men has complied earnestly with the rules of their trainer. Supporters of Nevada football have viewed with satisfaction the sincerity of these men in complying with the wishes of a sincere coach.

No evidence of individuals breaking training, no scenes of midnight brawling, no display of ill feeling or petty grievances and no lack of respect has arisen to mar the return of Nevada's spirit.

Again the Pack has returned to its state of former years, able to finish a season "on its toes" and in fighting condition. Again a season has been completed without the undertone of "bleacher athletes" criticizing every move the coach has made. Again Nevada's rooters are willing to stick by their team through victory or defeat.

For the comeback staged by this year's Pack, thanks should be given first to those forty some odd individuals who put co-operation above personal gain and secondly to Coach C. L. Mitchell, who, with his selected aides, has turned Nevada from "a coach's graveyard" to an institution to be recognized once more in the field of intercollegiate athletics.

Nevada is proud of its Pack; Nevada is proud of its coach. Thanks being the order of the day, Nevada expresses its sincerest thanks to those individuals who have successfully striven to restore Nevada's long lost spirit.—E. M.

By JOHN HOLDEN JR.
 Somebody was awfully kind this week and was going to write our column for us. Ha, but we fooled them, and sort of sneaked this in when they wasn't looking. Gee, it is too bad that those people who are designing against the author can't seem to make connections. But Johnson and me's pals... La, La.

This week we have two men of the second. The boys who are going about establishing themselves in the hearts of numerous co-eds are none other than Eddie Kell and Gene Salet. Having developed a line that would put anybody across, the boys do not let their favor drop on any one lady too long, but dash hither and yon, seeing what they can see. Seriously, this is a good policy when there are so many nice young things to be considered, but the situation being as it is how has it gone on for so long? Be that as it may, our Rover Boys have a great future and we are all for their tactics.

And what is this we hear about the great god. "Little Eros" Hartung no longer gets the hoops and jingles over any of our Venuses (shades of Earl Leaf) and rumor has it that Nance applied the screws. We know that it couldn't be the depression because, with all his money in the one bank that is open why should Hartung worry?

The answer to what are the students going to do, now that they have a lounging room all furnished, is that as soon as there is a radio connected up, a few more indirect lights and one or two more chesterfields put in dark corners, just come around sometime and see what happens when Anson starts the dancin'.

Two of our beautiful (?) Thetas spent the afternoon in the S. A. E. house the other afternoon, visiting with their boy friends. 'S a good idea, as long as it might have been a windy day and there was no other place to go, but it was as clear as a bell and the air was invigorating. But woe is me. The thrill of it all, sitting before an open fireplace, on a nice, soft, luxurious divan.

It is so near Thanksgiving that we are going to give the dirt does a break and cut this thing short. Better think up new ways to make whoopee, and keep it out of the dirt column while you are away, because with all of our operatives you can't escape the all-seeing eye, that is, not for long. And once more we thank the kind hearted person who thought he was putting something across.

When a night watchman becomes the proud father of twins it's time to mention the fact. Of course a lot of people are wondering where the consistency lies in all this. But then—oh—is that so, Mr. Mullens. Well—if you feel that way about it—we won't even mention it.

According to current reports the local gals brushed up on all the "angles" when Bathie Stewart put on the old grass skirt jig for the Cosmopolitan club the other evening. Well, wagger, however, that the Pi Phi from Texas who adorned our campus last year could show the illustrious Bathie a few curves—that is, if the now famous party (Yes, we had to resort to that again) can be used as a basis of comparison.

Dear Editor:

The recent election, whatever its future effects may be, has had one advantage to the students on the Nevada campus—it has shown that Nevada students do think seriously on matters of state or national importance.

Colleges are frequently being condemned because they do not foster a serious turn of mind in the students. So much untrue propaganda, or rather mere misinformation, has been spread to the public through humorous college magazines, motion pictures and the extreme instances of the lack of serious thought by students which get into the newspapers, that the idea among the public at large is that college students side the campus.

do not think seriously of anything out of the election showed conclusively that at Nevada there is a serious minded student body, which does take a keen interest in political and economic affairs.

When students can express as intelligent views of national questions such as prohibition or the tariff as were commonly expressed by many of the students at Nevada, the charge of being lacking in serious thought can not hold.

Many of the students proved quite sharp in detecting the loop-holes in the unproved assertions of the candidates who made claims that were not plausible.

When Roosevelt proclaimed himself a dyed in the wool dirt farmer or when Hoover based his chief claims to reelection on the theory that the administration should not be changed at this time, many Nevada students could more easily point out why these statements should not be considered than could the majority of voters of many years' standing.

Those of the Nevada students who were of age and were voting could give better reasons for their choice than could the average voter. Some students followed parental choice, but that is only what most of us do when voting for the first time. These students were not in the majority, however.

The frequent discussions on the campus which were so evident the last two weeks were not merely airings of unfounded prejudices, but were exchanges of sound reasoning, or at least reasoning of a more nearly sound nature than are the usual downtown political arguments. Students backed certain candidates not just because he was a Republican or a Democrat but because he had done or said definite things on the questions of the day. And the student was ready to prove

Here and There

For the first time in the history of Northwestern they have had to have a salary cut. This is to help make up an expected $400,000 deficit.

She was only an aviator's daughter, but she was flighty. And there was the wealthy aviator who still insists that he is one of the plane people.—College of Pacific.

All students taking the course of hotel administration at Cornell university received positions within a week after graduation.

Southern Methodist university co-eds have formed a "perfect date" club, to which the most attractive girls belong.

The co-ed at Northwestern who was elected the "most beautiful and most popular co-ed" is engaged to the university's "ideal man."

Fifteen fraternity pins were found that his choice was good by citing instances where what he claimed was true.

The result was that students at Nevada knew more about the recent election and were more interested in it than was expected of them.

Whatever the faults of the Nevada student, lack of serious thought on current political issues was not one of them. POLITIX.

"All mankind is descended from the same wormlike mass of protoplasm which floated about in the pre-medieval sea, but it shows more on some people."—Oregon State Barometer.

If Socrates were living in the United States today and they handed him a cup of hemlock he'd probably say, "Okeh, where's the ginger ale?"—College of Pacific.

"A professor recently told his class why dictionaries are not popular student reading. The same excuse might be advanced for non-use of text books: the plot is not very good."—The Silver and Gold.

An election bet was paid at the University of Minnesota when the business manager of the Minnesota Daily pushed a wheelbarrow containing a fraternity brother down the street. It is needless to say "who was for who."

A department store in Seattle, Wash., is conducting a limerick contest for college students at the University of Washington. The winners are given a credit account of $35.

Co-eds at Northwestern have formed a "widows' club" for girls whose sweet-hearts are absent. The members wear yellow ribbons on their necks to signify that no dates are to be had.

Thirteen freshmen face expulsion for entering the women's dormitory after a rally at Stanford university. It is a tradition to try to enter Roble hall, but this is the first time the men have succeeded in six years. Windows were broken, furniture smashed and co-eds were dashing wildly about and screaming until the affair was brought to an end by authorities.

The University of Colorado shows no partiality to sex. Two co-eds must take their punishment along with the men for breaking traditions—the panty being thrown in the lake.—Silver and Gold.

Due to the depression there is a ban on corsages at the junior prom at the University of Southern California.

The co-eds of Ohio State are all agog. The men of that university have elected their "loveliest girl" and she is none other than Madine Ormsby. Madine Ormsby happens to be a prize cow.

Something for pipe smokers to think about!

ABOUT 1864, farmers began to grow White Burley Tobacco. A few casks were taken to the St. Louis Fair in 1867 and sold for 58c a pound.

White Burley Tobacco is used to make Granger. It is the best pipe tobacco that grows.

You will notice the difference as soon as you light up your pipe of Granger. It burns slower, smokes cooler and never gums a pipe.

Pan-Hell May Give Dance Next Month

Attempt to Uphold Tradition To Be Made by Committee in Charge

Pan-Hellenic will have only one more regular meeting this semester and it will be next week, the meeting of last week being postponed until that time. The meetings from now on will include a series of talks by the representatives on the history, aim, standards and outstanding points of their various sororities. At next week's meeting a Phi Beta Phi representative will occupy the time.

Entertainment, including refreshments, will be given after each meeting, according to the tentative plans of Blanche Radcliffe, president.

The Pan-Hellenic dance, which was postponed on account of the bank holiday at the first of the month, will be given about the middle of December, the committee hopes. By personal solicitation of several women on the campus Blythe Bulmer, chairman of the dance committee, found that no one at that time could afford to go to the affair and a vote taken at the regular sorority meetings revealed the same condition. However, the committee feels that it is necessary that they give the dance this semester to uphold the tradition and to furnish some place to go for the students.

Gamma Phi Official Visits Local House

Mrs. Violet Keith, province director of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority, who has been a guest of the Alpha Gamma chapter at Nevada for the last week, left Tuesday for Berkeley, Calif., where she will visit the California chapter.

Mrs. Keith is director of the seventh province, which includes Nevada, California and Arizona. Prior to her visit in Reno she visited the chapter of Gamma Phi Beta in Tucson, Ariz.

During her stay here Mrs. Keith devoted her time to the solving of the problems of the local chapter and in offering suggestions for its betterment.

Mrs. Keith was the special guest of the sorority at its annual founders' day banquet, which was held at the Donna Anderson of Kappa Alpha Theta house, will visit her parents in San Francisco over Thanksgiving vacation.

Las Vegas Go Home For Thanksgiving

Nelle Price, Helen Olmstead, Jerry Davis, Lee Ward and Frank Mildren leave Wednesday to drive to Las Vegas, where they will spend Thanksgiving vacation with their respective families.

Margaret Place Plans Entertainment

Margaret Place of Manzanita hall will be in Berkeley visiting her parents over Thanksgiving. She plans to entertain a few friends at her beach home at Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Founders' Day Celebrated

Members and guests of Theta Theta chapter of Delta Delta Delta gathered at a founders' day banquet at the Riverside hotel last night to celebrate the forty-fourth anniversary of the founding of the sorority.

chapter house November 11. After dinner there was a social hour which was held to enable the sorority members to become better acquainted with Mrs. Keith.

A three ring circus was carried out through table decorations and clever toasts. The placecards were in the form of clowns. Balloons and striped bags full of peanuts gave a circus atmosphere. The sorority colors were carried out with gold chrysanthemums, silver candles and blue ribbon. Several skits representing circus stunts were a part of the program of entertainment.

Those who attended the dinner were Mrs. James G. Scrugham, Mrs. Dale Lane, Hugo Quillici, Nick Francovich, Howard Haynes, Charles Roeder, George Brown, Harry Gosse, Charles Mapes and John G. Kirchen; Misses Helen Adamson, Juel Callahan, Mildred Bray, Geraldine Bingaman, Ruth Brown, Blythe Bulmer, Virginia Cole, Nadine Fischer, Clara Galvin, Sarah Graves, Jessie Gulling, Florence Hamlin, Geraldine Harbert, Enid Harris, Carolyn Hunt, Ina Johnson, Millicent Johnson, Margaret Kornmayer, Kathryn Ligon, Frederica Lippman, Blanche Lucas, Helen Malloy, Kathrine McCormack, Elva Neddenreip, Anne O'Neill, Dorthea Robertson, Betty Belle Saxton, Jean Sauer, Myra Sauer, Martha Scrugham, Dorothea Shilder, Louise Tidball, Odessa Bick, Lois Brooks, Roberta Browne, Jean Burrow, Georgia Cole, Darrel Doyle, Florence Ford, Charlotte Robison, Orva Selkirk, Dolly Hawkins.

Alpha Delta Thetas Have House Party

A delightful party was given at the home of Nora Gardella Saturday evening. The rooms were attractively decorated and bunco and mah jong formed the diversions of the evening.

Those attending were Misses Nora Gardella, Eleanora Campbell, May Parman, Elizabeth Barnes, Velma Ramelli, Julia Zunnino, Lucille Hook, Lucille Berg, Billie Powles, Helen Dunn, Alice Parman and Isabel Baker.

The Beta Sigma Omicron house was the scene of an informal tea Sunday afternoon when members of the sorority entertained a few friends. Bridge and corn popping were the diversions. Entertainment included several piano selections by Misses Marjory Fay and Marthine Solares.

New Women's Swimming Class Sponsored Now

An additional swimming class will be held for university women at Moana Springs on Tuesday evenings at 7:30, according to Mrs. Mae Simas, women's physical education instructor. This class will start next Tuesday, October 29, and will be for both advanced and beginning swimmers.

Both swimming and life saving have been offered in the W. A. A. sports schedule this semester. The four women out for life saving, Miriam Butler, Katherine Martin, Mary Fulton and Margaret Traner, will take an examination December 1 for membership in the Red Cross Life Saving association. Swimming classes are held every Monday and Wednesday afternoons in the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool. About 25 women are out for swimming, and at the end of the semester they are required to swim a quarter of a mile free style. The classes are under the supervision of Mrs. Mae Simas and Viou Trevitt.

Former Student Attends College

Miss Helen Webb '31, who withdrew from school last semester because of illness, is now attending business college in Oakland, Calif.

Miss Webb is living in Berkeley with her mother and two sisters.

She does not intend returning to the University of Nevada to finish her senior year, but instead after graduating from the business college she will take a position as a stenographer in a San Francisco firm.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

THE PILGRIM'S FIRST WINTER

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Herbert Rose, celebrated painter... inspired by the bitter hardships endured by America's first settlers in their conflict with raw, wild nature (1620). "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Glee Clubs Give Fernley Concert; Well Attended

Solos Featured During Two Hour Program Last Friday

Appearing before a large assemblage of Fernley residents and university students, the University of Nevada music department presented its initial concert of the year last Friday night at the school gymnasium in Fernley.

Solos by Fred La Marsna, Miriam Clark, Marjorie Stout, Gene Salet and Adolph Roncaglio featured the program, which was formed around the men's glee club, the women's glee club and the university community orchestra.

The community orchestra opened the program with the selections "Meditation" from "Thais," "L'Arlesienne" suite by Bizet and the "Pomp and Circumstance March."

There followed the women's glee club singing "Glow Worm," "Estudiantina" and "Adieu," composed by Professor T. H. Post and Ray Hackett. Following solo numbers the men's glee club presented three numbers, "The Doogie Song," "Chloe" and "Auf Wiedersehen."

La Marsna's solo, "Pink Elephants," was so well received that the crippled gridman leaned back on his crutches and sang "I Guess I'll Have to Change My Plans" as an encore.

Following the musical presentation a dance was presented for the visiting collegians, through the courtesy of Superintendent Tapscott.

Florine Frank '35, journalism student, is ill at her home suffering from an attack of the flu. Miss Frank is a member of Beta Sigma Omicron sorority.

Nevada Graduate Holds Position In National Office

Clement S. Jeep, graduate of the university and a member of the national board of governors of Delta Sigma Lambda fraternity, left Reno today after a visit of several days to the local Delta Sigma chapter.

Jeep is on a tour of inspection of the fraternity's western groups. From Reno he left for Tucson, where he will visit the Delta chapter at the University of Arizona.

Jeep was graduated from Nevada with the class of 1922, and is an alumnus of the local Gamma chapter of Delta Sigma Lambda.

P. E. Track, Tennis Classes Dismissed

There will be no more physical education this semester for those students who take fall track and tennis instead of the regular P. E. course to fulfill their physical education requirements, Prof. J. E. Martie announced Monday.

Since the beginning of the semester the tennis courts have been busy taking care of the P. E. class and other tennis players. Three times a week the class in fall track has been out on Mackay field doing two or three laps each afternoon.

As winter will be here soon, making it impossible to get out for these sports, Martie has excused the classes for this semester.

A combined Thanksgiving dinner and dance will be given by the Beta Kappa fraternity at their house Thursday evening. The music will be furnished by radio.

John Stevens of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity will spend the Thanksgiving holidays in Fresno.

High School Hoop Coaches Plan Meet

A meeting of high school basketball coaches of Nevada to arrange for a schedule for the coming hoop season will be held at the University of Nevada on December 23, it was announced today by Block N society officials.

The Block N society will sponsor the meeting as usual. Although all of the coaches in the state have been asked to attend as in previous years, only the coaches from the western part of the state usually are present.

The coaches will be guests of the university at the Nevada varsity hoop team's contest with the Davis-Elkins college men, to be played on the university court on December 23.

Society

The Tri Deltas held a depression dance at the chapter house at which an orthophonic, loaned the house by Saviers, furnished dance music. The programs were made on blank checks.

Those attending were Enid Harris, Bob Geyer, Blythe Bulmer, Wm. G. McDonald, Geraldine Bingaman, Philip Mann, Ruth Brown, Roland Boyden, Nadine Fischer, Beverly Douglas, Clara Galvin, Lloyd Guffrey, Jessie Gulling, Kirby Stoddard, Florence Hamlin, Herbert Rocom, Geraldine Harbert, Wm. Frosh Gridders Receive Numerals

Awarded on Basis of Practice and Attendance This Season

Coach Chet Scranton of the Frosh squad will recommend the entire Frosh squad for numerals. Those who will receive awards are as follows: Harry Austin, Charles Adams, John Benson, Walter Bowrin, Victor Becas, Ralph Birchard, Paul Bohlke, William Cookrell, Bert Cummings, Vernon Eisanman, Pete Gulisti, Lynn Gerow, Jack Horgan, George Hadlen, Maxwell Kepf, Tom Morris, Francis Mathews, Russell Poulsen, Joseph Peters, John Stevens, Vernon Tapogna, Dan Toquero, Irvin Wanke, Doyle Wakeling, Paul Walker and Francis Wise.

Numerals are awarded on the basis of attendance at practice and attitude toward the game instead of on time played as are varsity letters. Although the Frosh did not have a successful season, winning only two games throughout the season, Coach Scranton says that several men will probably develop into varsity material after they have gained more experience.

Stewart Mayfield left Wednesday spend the Thanksgiving holidays visiting for Suisun, where he will be in his folks.

Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Chappelle are planning to spend the Thanksgiving vacation in Berkeley. They will be back in time for classes Monday.

John Lee and Larry Du Four are visiting their parents at Sacramento during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Wolves

Mathieson Star

Mathieson, a shifty big halfback who carries a triple threat of running, passing or kicking, will be the man the Wolves will have to keep their eyes on the most in this contest. He is recognized as probably the best punter in the conference this year. He averages about 45 yards for the entire season. The Bulldogs have been troubled by injuries throughout the season, but they are expected to have their full strength to throw against the Wolves. Mathieson, out for several games this season, should add considerable to their chances of victory.

Strong Combination

With Mathieson, Fresno has the veterans Glenn and Horner in the backfield. Captain Glenn, quarterback, is a fair open field runner and Horner, fullback, is recognized for his passing as well as running ability. Both of them were instrumental in the 31 to 13 drubbing the Pack handed the Bulldogs here last year. Either Payne or Coles will take over the right halfback position.

Wickstrom and Schleibaum will hold down the end positions for the coast eleven. Kaufman and Johnson will take over the tackle assignments, and Metzler and Pharis, guards, and Bessey, center.

Spirit is running high on the Nevada team and the Pack is determined to chalk up a victory, while the Bulldogs appear to be pointing for a win more than they have in any other battle this season.
