

Finance Control Committee Head States Position

Reasons for Abolishing Wolf Given, Artemisia Is Discussed

A. S. U. N. Revenue Drops During Last Three Years

By PAUL A. HARWOOD
As chairman of the finance control committee, I have been asked to explain to the student body at large why the committee has recommended the abolishment of the Desert Wolf, and the reduction of the Artemisia fee from $4 to $3.

A detailed explanation would necessitate the printing of the completely itemized A. S. U. N. accounts covering the last three years, for the financial situation now confronting the committee did not spring up overnight. It gained on us for some time; it caught up with us when the banks closed, "freezing" $6500 of last semester's A. S. U. N. fees; and since then it steadily has been drawing away from us despite our best efforts to keep abreast.

Obviously, therefore, a completely itemized report cannot be given here because of time and space limitations, and I shall be obliged to limit my discussion to the largest and most significant items. But I want at this point to remind the members of the A. S. U. N. that the graduate manager's accounts always are available for inspection, and that the finance control committee meetings always are open to members of the association. In fact, if more students would attend the meetings a report such as this would not be necessary.

Receipts Decrease

The first contributing factor to the present financial crisis is the marked and growing decrease in A. S. U. N. receipts. During the 1930 season, for example, the revenue from football (of which guarantees for games away from home is the largest item) amounted to $11,559.81. This dropped to $9873.36 in 1931, and last fall to a new low of $8689.50, or a total loss in receipts alone of $2870.31 during the three-year period. Every effort was made to take up this slack last season, but without avail. As you will remember, only three games were played at home—for the only game played on Mackay field that ever clears expenses is that scheduled for Homecoming—and the expenses for the entire season were cut nearly $2000 below the cost of the sport in 1930.

Basketball tells the same story, though of course neither the expenses nor receipts ever are as high. Last spring basketball returned $1699.73 to the A. S. U. N.; to date this semester the receipts have been approximately one-third less. Yet here again expenses have been cut to practically an irreducible minimum. Though the season is not yet complete, it is already certain that they will be approximately $1000 less than they were in 1931.

Track Non-Paying

Track never has been, and never will be, a "paying sport." In 1931 $1254.40 was spent for track, including guarantees for meets here; of this amount, $375 came back as revenue. Last year the expense was reduced to $972.77, but revenue dropped to $356. The track budget for this spring has yet to be allowed.

Other revenue-sources which have brought decreasing returns are the Wolves Frolic and the A. S. U. N. fees themselves. In 1930 the Frolic netted the student body $1364.15; this dropped to $713.50 in 1931; and last fall to $648.24. The amount received from the student body fee depends, of course, on the number of registered students from whom the fee may be collected. Total registration figures are misleading here, for the following are exempt: Graduate students; unclassified students, except those taking regular work; and specials when registered for five hours or less. A close estimate by Comptroller Gorman made a week ago indicates that the return from this source this semester will be some $600 less than it was last fall.

A second contributing factor concerns necessary established expenses, which are provided for in the A. S. U. N. constitution, and which the finance control committee is powerless to reduce. Chief among these are the allotments specified as subscription fees to the publications, the class dues and salaries to coaches and the graduate manager. (Though it should be remembered that the graduate manager's salary was cut $100 a year ago.)

The fees for publications alone amount to about $5360 annually, and if any of them have created a surplus in recent years, it has not been returned to the A. S. U. N. Salaries for coaching will this year amount to $4650; class dues are set at 50 cents a semester for each student.

Under the third contributing factor, may be grouped the non-revenue returning activities which nevertheless warrant and necessitate financial support. Among these are: W. A. A., A. W. S., band, dramatics, forensics, minor sports, conference and convention

Year Book Plans To Carry No Ads

Instead of the usual advertisements, this year's Artemisia will be supported in part by donations from Nevada merchants, which will be acknowledged by printing their signatures in the yearbook, it was announced today by William Gilmartin, editor.

The change is an economy measure to cut down the size of the book and authorities said that the returns will be about the same as in the past, because of the fact that money lost from those who will not donate has been already made up by the added contributions from state officials who would not have given under the former system.

Gilmartin also announced that the taking of pictures for the book would be completed by next week, after which the editorial staff will begin work. Additions to the staff will be announced just before the book goes to press.

Wolf Pack Beats Jap Hoop Team in Odd Sized Battle

Small But Skillful Players Astonish Nevadans With Tricky Passes

Third String Wolves Play Most of Game Against Clever Japs

Handicapped by their small size but with a strong determination to win, the diminutive quintet from Meiji university, Japan, put up a game battle with the Nevada Wolf Pack Tuesday evening, but the superior height of the Nevada players proved to be too much for them. The gun sounding the end of the game showed the Wolves on the long end of a 47 to 30 score.

"Doc" Martie used his second and third string players until the closing minutes of the last period, when he gave the first squad about a two minute workout.

All Small

Under the leadership of their five foot captain, Zuzuki, the Meiji team had the second string Wolves sweating and puffing at the end of the first half. Their intricate passing offense and fast floorwork coupled with their small size kept the Nevada men on their toes. The ability of the left forward, Nishiwaki, to score from any angle necessitated the spreading out of the Wolf defense. The half ended with a tie score of 18 up.

In the second period Lee replaced Hill and Stowell went in for Phillips at center. From that time on the Nevada team kept the ball over the Meiji men's heads and began to run up the score, but every time a slip was made the small Japs raced up the floor like lightning and slipped under the arms of the Wolves for scores.

When the first squad went in during the last minute of play the crowd raised the roof with laughter because the Nevada men looked like giants compared to the Japanese, but the little fellows kept up their man to man defense and managed to stop many of Nevada's plays. Their clean playing and polite attitude brought the applause of the crowd whenever they scored.

Bob Leighton was high point man for the Wolves with 14 markers to his credit, while Nishiwaki followed close behind him with 12 points for Meiji. The box scores are:

| Nevada— | fg | ft | t |
|----------|----|----|----|
| Hill | 2 | 0 | 4 |
| Lee | 0 | 2 | 2 |
| Bledsoe | 1 | 0 | 2 |
| Leighton | 7 | 0 | 14 |
| Guffrey | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Phillips | 2 | 0 | 4 |
| Stowell | 1 | 2 | 4 |
| Gould | 2 | 0 | 4 |
| Hackett | 3 | 1 | 7 |
| Bankofer | 3 | 0 | 6 |
| Carroll | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| | 21 | 5 | 47 |

| Meiji— | fg | ft | t |
|-----------|----|----|----|
| Zuzuki | 1 | 1 | 3 |
| Nishiwaki | 6 | 0 | 12 |
| Masuda | 4 | 0 | 8 |
| Kondo | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Nishikawa | 3 | 1 | 7 |
| | 14 | 2 | 30 |

Officials for the game were Sullivan and Ligon.

Jacobs Receives Honor From Medical School

Alvin Jacobs, prominent pre-medical student and December graduate, has been accepted to the first year class of the Johns Hopkins Medical school. He will enroll in September.

Jacobs is the first Nevada graduate to receive this honor in seven years. Eric Henriksen '26, who was accepted at that time, is now on the hospital staff of that institution.

Elko Paper Blames Schools for Hiring Outside Graduates

Employ Nevadans Whenever Possible, Says Elko Independent

Agitation has been started in Elko county over the fact that graduates from other colleges than the University of Nevada have the preference in securing teaching positions in the Elko schools.

In a letter to the editor of the Elko Independent, a citizen cited the fact that Nevada people are paying taxes to support the university, and to educate their children for positions. After they have graduated from the education department they are not chosen to fill positions for which they should be as equally well fitted as out of state graduates.

The citizen believed that if Nevada graduates are not capable of teaching, a new system of training should be established here that will make them capable.

Elko county schools are not the only ones to employ out of state teachers when Nevada graduates could fill the position. The same thing is happening throughout the state, says the Independent, and suggests that the legislature pass a bill ordering the boards of education in the state to employ Nevada graduates in preference to others if they can fill the position.

Fresno to Forfeit Games With Wolves Says Coach Martie

Use of Alleged Ineligible Players Makes Game Illegal

"Fresno State college will have to forfeit the basketball game it won from the University of Nevada here last weekend," J. E. "Doc" Martie, director of athletics and basketball coach of the university, stated last week.

Martie said that several of the Fresno players, whom he did not name, were alleged to be ineligible to compete in conference play. He declared that he had sent in an official protest to the officials of the Far Western Conference.

The protest is an incident in a long series of disagreements which have occurred between the athletic departments of the two schools. During the last football season, the conduct of the two teams in conference games was the subject of a heated controversy.

If the protest is allowed and Fresno is forced to forfeit this game, Nevada will still remain undefeated in conference play and will be tied with the California Aggies and the College of Pacific for the conference leadership.

Men Clear Streets Near U. N. Campus

After having cleared the campus streets and sidewalks of snow and ice a crew was busy this week in chipping the ice from the streets bordering the university. Since the opening of the spring semester hardly a day passed without the invasion of some crew of men who have done repair work on Morrill Hall, out the poplars on the quad and battled the snows.

Labor Free

These men have been furnished jobs by the Nevada state emergency relief fund, provided through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Joseph B. Lynch, superintendent of buildings and grounds, is in charge of all work done by these men on the campus.

A crew, which varied in number from 12 to 20 men, was kept busy for over a month clearing and widening the irrigation ditch east of the baseball field.

Students and faculty were attracted for two weeks by another large gang of men who sawed down and split up the poplar trees on the quad.

Repair Bell Tower

Repairs were started on the bell tower in Morrill Hall at the same time.

Right now, besides the final work being done on streets adjacent to the university, several men are working on the Mechanical Engineering building, pointing up the brickwork.

When the snows have completely melted from the logs piled on the edge of the quad, about fifteen men will be put to work sawing, splitting and piling some fifty cords of firewood. Mr. Lynch estimates that this wood will last for two years, saving the annual purchase of twenty cords, which have been used in various wood fires in the older campus building.

NOTICE

There will be a mass meeting called Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock for all independent men and women students of the Associated Student body. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss the new amendments to the A. S. U. N. constitution with the members of the constitutional revision committee.

Student Leaders' Views on A.S.U.N. Constitution Given

With one week passed since the introducing of the new form of student body government to the A. S. U. N., last Friday by the constitution revision committee chairman, Elbert Walker, campus opinion was generally in harmony with the new changes in their entirety.

Reporters from the Sagebrush have interviewed most of the fraternity and sorority heads and have found that these people personally are in favor of the new government, but the proposal to abolish the Desert Wolf is the only contested clause.

Ermyrn Goodin, president of Kappa Alpha Theta, said that the new form of student government and other constitution changes are in direct harmony with her own ideals and those of the Theta women.

Sigma Nu Speaks

Alonzo Priest, president of Sigma Nu, stated that personally he was very much in favor of the new form of government but there were several other matters not concerning the government itself that should be voted on separately. That also was the opinion of the majority of the members of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Juney Dixon, president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, believes that the proposed changes are good in their entirety, in that both factions on the hill are conceding, the big combine is conceding offices and the outsiders are conceding the added financial support by the abolishing of the Wolf and cutting the Artemisia price.

Chick Koerner, president of Lambda Chi Alpha, stated that he personally is very much in favor of the new constitution and the majority of his house also has taken the same attitude.

Sam Arentz, A. S. U. N. treasurer and member of the constitution revision committee, has stated that he is wholly in accord with the proposals made by the committee and urges every Nevada student who is desirous of better student government to back the constitution changes to the limit.

U. N. Hoop Squad Poses with Cagney On Hollywood Lot

If Hollywood's hard boiled man of the movies, James Cagney, slaps his way back to the fame he once achieved before his split with Warner Brothers, there are several Nevada students who will never miss a chance to boast of having met him. They are the members of the basketball team who posed with Cagney for a photograph at Warner Brothers studio in Hollywood.

The team was on a visit to the studios while on their trip to play the University of California at Los Angeles. They were admitted through the courtesy of Tommy Young, who is in charge of Warner Brothers private police force.

Young had several prints made of each picture taken with the star, and each one was autographed before being sent to the players. The leading lady of the picture which was being filmed at the time the players were there, Alice White, wanted to pose, too, but Cagney objected to having what he called a publicity photo show him with any of the female stars.

Eastern Architect Advises Engineers On Getting Jobs

With financial conditions such as they are, engineering students were glad to take a pointer from Austin I. Kelly, New York architect, when he talked to them recently on how to get a job after graduation. Kelly, a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and of Oxford university in England, spoke to three separate classes of the engineering department.

He told the students emphatically that they needn't expect white collar jobs upon graduating. It would be put to work sawing, splitting and piling some fifty cords of firewood. Mr. Lynch estimates that this wood will last for two years, saving the annual purchase of twenty cords, which have been used in various wood fires in the older campus building.

Press Club To Be Revived on Campus By Sagebrush Staff

Former Club Believed Needed by Journalism Students of Campus

A suggestion made at a recent banquet given by the U. of N. Sagebrush for its staff members to form a press club, met with such great favor that plans are under way to revive the University of Nevada Press Club which lived a very active life on the campus from 1924 to 1928.

The constitution of the old club is being revised by Kathryn, Wardleigh, Ed Montgomery and Bill McMenamin. These students, along with other members of the Sagebrush staff, have decided that charter members of the proposed club will be limited to students who have served two semesters on the paper or who are majoring or minoring in journalism.

New Club Like Old

Montgomery will talk to the various classes in journalism and explain the club's purposes and plans. The new club will be modeled after the old, being mostly of a social nature. Prominent writers and newspaper men will be asked to talk at various meetings.

Club Is Active

The Press Club which disbanded in 1928 at one time had a roster of 75 members. They had the distinction of hearing talks from Sherwood Anderson and Will James, author of "Smoky," "The Drifting Cowboy" and other western stories. Several faculty members gave talks at various meetings. Problems of journalism and problems which faced the University of Nevada publications were discussed. Many social events were held annually, including parties, picnics and a press dinner.

Temporarily the Student Administration building will be used as a meeting place for the new association of journalists, it is planned. The first meeting will be held next week with the purpose of accepting a constitution and drawing up a set of by-laws.

Mackay Day To Be High Celebration On Local Campus

Committee Promises Novel Program for Annual Festival

Mackay Day this year is expected to be more original than last, according to the committee making plans for the big day of March 25, at their first meeting last Tuesday. The beard growing contest and the Mackay Day dance will be held.

A three weeks' growth of beard, starting on March 4, will bring prizes of razors and trophies to those who succeed in raising the longest, blackest and reddest whiskers. Mackay Day queens will be selected by the committee a few days before the twenty-fifth. They will hold sway over the workers and will be the honored guests at the dance which will climax the event.

The luncheon under the direction of Mildred Huber and the home economics department will bring an end to the work day at about 1 p. m. Speakers from downtown, coaches and professors will keep up the spirit at the luncheon. Work will be apportioned to the different houses, and trophies will be offered to the house with the largest percentage of workers, as well as to the house best represented by beards.

Plans as yet incomplete point in favor of the dedication of the Hase-man-Jones memorial on this day.

Ex-U. N. Student Author of Volume

"Ten Women in Gale's House," a book of verse written by Walter V. Clark, is the subject of a review in "Fantasy," well known eastern poetry quarterly, in the section called "Under the Boughs."

Clark is the son of President Walter E. Clark of the university. He attended the university here and later taught in the department of English.

The literary review of the poetry volume describes it as "a book of arresting verse, the first few poems containing a promise which is realized in the title poem. With subtle and cutting stroke Mr. Clark has drawn up a word picture of ten women Gale Wilcox knew too well."

In the magazine's opinion, the title poem is a splendid piece of modern work that is more than novel, in that it is good poetry and fine philosophy.

Pack Places Third In Tournament Now

Results of Far Western Conference basketball games of the last weekend placed the University of Nevada Wolves in third place in conference standings, with five victories and one defeat, while the College of Pacific and the California Aggies lead the conference.

Last weekend the Nevadans dropped a game to the Fresno State college team and won another one; Pacific defeated Chico State college two games straight, and the Aggies downed San Jose in both tilts of a two game series.

Conference standings are as follows:

| | W | L | Pct |
|--------------|---|---|-------|
| Pacific | 4 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Calif Aggies | 4 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Nevada | 5 | 1 | .830 |
| Fresno | 1 | 1 | .500 |
| San Jose | 0 | 6 | .000 |
| Chico | 0 | 6 | .000 |

Wolf Pack Loses First Conference Basketball Tilt

Fresno Bulldogs Down Nevada in Last Minute Rally by One Basket

Both Games Hotly Contested; Sensational Shooting Is Feature

By MERLE ATCHESON

Nevada split a two game basketball series with Fresno State last week to chalk up its first conference defeat of the season. Both games were closely contested, and finished in a mad rush with each team trying to gain a lead before the gun.

Scores—Friday, Nevada 23, Fresno 21; Saturday, Fresno 32, Nevada 30.

Games Tight

Although the game Friday was not as fast and thrilling as many on the local floor have been, it was a tight contest, with many fast breaks and sensational shots to pep things up. Both teams played conservatively, maintaining as strong defenses as possible.

Coach J. E. Martie used five men for the game—Carroll, Bankofer, Gould, Bledsoe and Guffrey. Bledsoe was high point man with 12 points.

Thrills Plentiful

In the second game of the series both teams turned to more offensive tactics, and gave the crowd thrill after thrill with sensational shots and mad dashes down the floor. The Wolves held a 2 point lead at the half time, but lost it early in the second period. From then on the score climbed fast, with first one team ahead and then the other.

With but two minutes to play Guffrey sank two shots in rapid succession, to put the Wolf Pack in the lead by four markers. Nevada cheers were suddenly dimmed when a last minute rallying spurt of the opponents tied the score. Then Herman, star Fresno forward, dropped the ball through the loop just before the gun ended the game.

Coach Martie used nine men for this contest—Carroll, Bankofer, Gould, Lee, Curran, Bledsoe, Hill, Guffrey and Stowell. Gould went out on fouls in the second half. Carroll held high point honors for the evening with 8 points.

Sigma Phi Sigma Still Undefeated In Handball Meet

Defeat Lassen

The second week of intramural handball finds all but two teams eliminated in the first bracket and all but three in the second bracket. The Lambda Chi Alpha and Sigma Phi Sigma teams succeeded in remaining the only undefeated teams of the series by beating the A. T. O. and Independent groups by fairly close scores.

As a result of losing their first games of the series the Independents and the Taus were automatically placed in the second bracket. Here the A. T. O. defaulted to the Beta Kappa aggregation. As yet the Independent team hasn't played.

The Beta Kappas, Delta Sig and Independents stand at the head of the second bracket with only one game lost apiece. Both of the former teams won their last two games by defaults which prevents the fans from getting a very good idea as to their strength.

The scores of the games played this week are as follows:
Lambda Chi vs. A. T. O., 21 to 12, 21 to 17.
Sigma Phi vs. Independents, 21 to 10, 21 to 18.

Final games of the tourney will be played from 2 to 4 p. m. today in the university gymnasium.

Crucial Contests Face Wolf Pack at Pacific This Week

Nevadans' Chances to Take Far Western Conference Title at Stake

College of Pacific Undefeated in Conference Play; Said Strong

By BILL M'MENAMIN

Nevada's basketball team plays one of its two hardest conference series of the season when it meets the College of Pacific aggregation at Stockton in a two game series tonight and tomorrow, that will determine whether the Wolves have a chance for the conference championship.

Despite the defeat they suffered when Fresno State college downed them in the second of a two game series on the university court here last week, the Wolves are still in the running for the championship. If they defeat Pacific this week, they will have a chance to down the California Aggies in their last games of the conference season on February 24 and 25 and win the championship. But if they lose, they will sink to third or fourth place.

Good Shape

In fair shape following a week of intensive practice, the Wolves have recovered from a slight mid-season slump. Ten men are making the trip to the coast city with Coach J. E. "Doc" Martie. They are: Bledsoe, Hill, Guffrey, Leighton and Lee, forwards; Gould, Phillips and Stowell, centers; and Carroll, Curran, Bankofer and Hackett, guards.

Pacific has had a successful season so far, having defeated San Jose State college and the Chico State college teams, winning both games by comfortable margins. They defeated the House of David in an overtime period, while the long bearded boys walked away with a game with the Wolf Pack.

Center Dangerous

Outstanding among the players on the Pacific team is "Breeze" Odale, captain of the team, who favors at the center position. Tall and rangy, Odale should give Gould, Nevada center, a tough battle for the tipoff.

Jacoby, forward, has been hitting the hoop with deadly accuracy so far this season for the Bengals and he may go on a scoring spree against the Wolves in these games. McCain, forward, and Ritter, guard, are the other outstanding members of the team. "Swede" Righter, well known basketball mentor, is coaching the Pacific team in the hoop sport again this season.

Yearlings Down Sparks and Lassen During Weekend

Completely outplaying their opponents, the Nevada Wolf Cubs basketball team defeated the Sparks night school cagers 29 to 16 last Friday night and Lassen County Junior college cagers 24 to 15 Saturday night, at the university gym, in preliminaries to the varsity games.

Starting off at the opening whistle in the Sparks game, the Cubs played aggressive ball and soon piled up a heavy lead. At the half-time the Wolf Cubs were leading 19 to 9.

Cubs Strong

Opening the second half, both teams fought hard, but the Cubs soon proved to be superior and gradually increased their lead over their opponents. Both coaches used their entire string of players in the contest.

Kelly and Tannehill tied for high point honors for the Cubs with seven markers each, while Haight scored 6 points to lead Sparks.

The lineup for Sparks was: Forwards, Haight, Cray, Imone, Powers; center, Cullen; guards, Lockridge, Hurstine, Taylor, Ray, Spears.

Defeat Lassen

The game with Lassen County Junior college proved to be exciting, with both teams fighting hard throughout the contest.

The Wolf Cubs had an edge on the teamwork, and were able to pile up a 7 point lead in the first half, which ended with the score at 16 to 9.

In the second half, both coaches substituted often, but the Wolf Cubs continued outscoring their opponents.

McDow Stars

With his red hair bobbing up and down, McDow, hard working center for Lassen, was all over the court, and proved to be the outstanding player in the game. Jacobsen, forward for Lassen, tied for high point honors with Cameron, flashy forward for the Wolf Cubs.

The lineup for Lassen was: Forwards, Madison, Jacobsen, Allway; center, McDow; guards, Galloway, Mar, Allen, Martin, Parker.

The same lineup for the Wolf Cubs played both games. They were: Forwards, Eisenmann, Kelly, Becas, Cameron; centers, Tannehill, Topogna; guards, Hadlin, Lansden.

In another preliminary tussle the Freshman Reserves lost to Susanville high school, 23 to 22.

PROGRESS

The majority of campus leaders as well as sorority and fraternity presidents have been interviewed during the past week by Sagebrush reporters and in almost every case these leaders personally are very much in favor of the new A. S. U. N. constitution that was proposed last week by the constitutional revision committee. The groups and organizations that these people represent have also, in the majority of cases, given their approval of the proposed changes.

It has been found that the biggest opposition to the new changes come from the factions that have direct control over the Desert Wolf, which was to be expected because of the fact that with the abolishment of this activity these interested parties would lose a very valuable activity.

There have been several letters sent to the Sagebrush concerning the comic quarterly and because of lack of space in this issue of the Brush only one is published. The writer of this letter brings out several good points in favor of the Wolf, but in his slogan "Keep the Wolf at the Door" he has forgotten to remember that the only reason for suspending the publication of this magazine was to keep the "Wolf" away from the door, in regards to student body activities in general. That is, the added revenue brought into the general fund of A. S. U. N. will be necessary to tide the student body expenditures over these pressing times.

The constitution revision committee will meet with every organization during the coming three weeks before voting on the changes and will try to solve any questions that may come up in the minds of interested individuals or groups as a whole, about any phase of the proposed government and plans for financing its operation.

LEGISLATIVE WISDOM

In rejecting the proposed legislation last week that would have lowered the salary of the president of the university to $6000, or less, annually, Nevada legislators responsible for the rejection are deserving of high commendation.

Members of the legislature now convening at Carson City who were foresighted enough to prevent the passing of such a drastic "economy" measure can further their fine work by opposing certain bills now pending that would be highly destructive influences to the welfare of Nevada's educational standards.

Of the two bills about to be proposed, one has a direct bearing on the University of Nevada, in that it proposes a reduction in the salaries of all state employes, including the university faculty members. The second proposed bill would permit the control of elementary and secondary school expenditures and appropriations to fall into the hands of a body whose official routine is too far removed from educational problems. As the grade and secondary schools are the very foundation upon which the university rests, their welfare is of vital importance to the university.

A respectable educational system is wholly dependent upon the standard of the faculty within that system.

In realization of the importance of education, a constant effort has been made in the past to attract intelligent people into the field of teaching. Adequate and secure compensation is the surest attraction. Lower the compensation and the standard of teachers will drop accordingly.

While on the surface it appears that an immediate "saving" can be realized by carrying through a policy of salary reduction, this "saving" would soon prove a gigantic loss, for cheaper education cannot help but become poorer education.

Salary ratings for the faculty of the University of Nevada are, and have been, less than the average salaries for faculties of similar institutions. The president's salary is no more than the average salary paid presidents of like universities. His present voluntary salary reduction places his compensation far below the average.

Truly enough, there is dire need of an extensive economy program throughout the state. Those to whom the power of legislation has been entrusted will do well to carry on the attitude expressed at the state capitol last week and look for other means of saving.

Educational standards, for the sake of future generations, should not and must not be tampered with. — E. M.

The modern women are more serious minded than those of former generations, according to a professor from Wellesley college.

Wolf Howls

By WALT HERZ
 Basketball fans find the Wolf Pack center of attraction in Toby Guffrey this season. Even his more serious moods on the floor are laugh riots for the crowds. Always bucking up the spirits of the Pack with shouts and slaps, he sometimes startles everyone with his "team driver" language. From the foul line after tossing a free throw the ball sometimes needs verbal direction, which it usually gets in the form of "Get in there you son of a so and so."

An example of loyalty among undergraduates is found in the case of Pearl Lunsford, who devotes practically all her spare time to Don Ateschon. Don is coming along fine in his recovery since a serious injury received building a float for Homecoming Day.

The Gamma Phis have the sweetest house mother this year of the lot. Undoubtedly Mrs. Wells will be a big attraction, and I don't mean only for rushes.

Gordon Klinepeter, who was once "young man about town," has aged ten years in appearance since his graduation last spring.

They will have to mark off the quad for parking spaces if any more cars crowd onto the campus. Where is the director of traffic who used to tell us to move on?

Will the Mackay Day committee carry on with the "Mackay Day Queen" idea? And if so, will they rob Jean McIntyre again? Maybe a few roses will be pinned on some of the beautiful freshmen women, who will of course be spoiled ever more.

Katie McKormack was all set to issue a petition among members of the soon to fade (?) big combine who were in favor of continuing with the Desert Wolf. Something muddled her plans, or perhaps the favor of the quarterly was less than she had estimated.

Campus gossipers will find feast some day when the announcement of a secret marriage of a sorority president breaks into print. 'Twas the summer of 1931, and very few have been told since. And probably they will keep their secret until after graduation, which is okeh by this howler.

An artist in the handling of subtle wit is S. A. E.'s freshman, Johnny Noyes. But sometimes his friends are prone to wonder if it is subtlety or a mild psychopathic disturbance.

To Mrs. Associated Press Yocom, congratulations! The Tri Delt's are glorified by your proof that they have not lost their charm.

Letters to the Editor

Editor Sagebrush—Possibly because I have been out of Nevada some three years you may not be interested in my views over the proposed abolishment of the Desert Wolf, but as a former editor of that publication I have a load to get off my chest.

The Wolf has, and no doubt (if permitted to do so) will continue to hold a prominent part among college magazines in the west. Its position in the Western Association of College Comics is one which has long reflected flattering attention to Nevada, even among larger schools on the coast. Wolf editors and managers have often held offices in the organization, from that of president (1929) on down. That year the organization held a convention in Reno.

But most important of all is this: If the Wolf goes, what outlet will there be for Nevada students of literary or artistic ability? Certainly not the Artemisia, and of course not the Brush.

Why penalize the only student activity paying its own way to support those who must lean. For the proposition appears to be nothing more than the division of the fat carcass of the Wolf so that the dramatic group will get the subscription money and the Brush the advertising.

I have been president of Mask and Dagger and a member of Campus Players and in those times we were proud of the fact that dramatics paid their own way. When pressed for funds our director was ingenious enough to make his own sets and costumes with our aid, from odds and ends, instead of crying because he had no funds.

I am an advertising man by profession and the idea of the quarterly published Wolf taking ads away from the weekly Brush is nothing but an expose of what must be a singularly sleepy newspaper ad crew. Any merchant or adman knows a newspaper ad is worth far more than a magazine ad. The Wolf, if the Brush were on its toes, would be crying "Help" and it would be only natural and expected.

As long as the Wolf pays its way the only fair, the only sporting thing, to do is to applaud and praise it, for it is surely far more handicapped than the organizations seeking its scalp. More power to it. Let me join those among you who are shouting, "Keep the Wolf at Your Door."

Sincerely,
 Thomas C. Wilson '30,
 Reno, Nev., February 9, 1933.

There are three ways to look at this new Constitution business... as we see it... the person... the house... and the school... Our nice and pretty words go to those persons... who have been big enough, even though they belong to the combine, to see the fallacy in the old system... like Keith Lee... elected on the strength of a combine... still willing to devote his time in gathering material toward a better government, and giving the results of his work to a committee to evolve a new set of rules... Sam Arentz... the coming president... who is not anticipating any honor in being elected in the old manner... and who is willing to sacrifice his chances to see the new type work... Tryouts for this production are being held this Thursday and Friday and will be concluded the early part of next week. The Campus Players are holding initiation on the evening of February 15, at the Tri Delt house.

Only twenty more days remain in which students may make a decision as regards the dropping of courses, states Miss Louise Sissa, registrar of the university. After February 21 students must withdraw from courses with either a passing or failing grade, according to the decision of the professor. Up until this date, however, students may feel perfectly safe in dropping a course and may be assured that they will not receive a failing grade.

Wooden soldiers in the war against decay

To conquer the forces of decay which attack telephone poles, scientists of Bell Telephone Laboratories carry on a relentless campaign. They study many kinds of wood, test many preservatives. They isolate wood destroying fungi and insects—study them in the laboratory—search for a practical means of combating their attack. They have set out armies of stub poles in Mississippi, Colorado and New Jersey where altitude, climate and soil vary widely. At regular intervals they inspect these poles to learn which woods and preservatives are best. Such scientific thoroughness is one reason why Bell System plant becomes more efficient each year. And why telephone service is so dependable.

Independents Lead Sororities as Rifle Matches Near End

Thetas Hold Second Place, Tri Deltas and Pi Phis Follow Close

The last week of the women's intramural rifle tournament, held Mondays and Thursdays in the barracks, shows the Independents in the lead with a score of 3169 points. The women shooting on this team are Clara Dellevoet, Dorothy Gordon, Ellen Eckman and Elizabeth Frey.

The Kappa Alpha Theta sorority holds second place with a score of 2660 points, and its members are Dorothy Phillips, Catherine Dondero, Katherine Wright and Margaret Place.

Third place is held by the Tri Delta sorority, with a score of 2520 points, shot by Louise Tidball, Myra Sauer, Jean Sauer and Charlotte Robison.

Pi Beta Phi sorority holds fourth place with 2134 points, shot by Lura Gamble, Virginia Hill, June McGuire and Anne Jenkins.

Fifth place is held by the Manzanita Hall team, with 1567 points, scored by Della Renfro, Pauline Thompson and Fernley Rechel.

Beta Sigma Omicron holds last place with 1300 points, shot by Mary Swett, Ailene Daniels, Charlotte Pope and Dorothy Pope.

Each team must have four members and must turn in a score for each match, therefore the absence of a member would add a zero to the score and thus handicap the team.

According to Myra Sauer, manager of the women's rifle teams, as soon as sufficient funds have been raised a cup will be awarded to the winning team.

FORMER CO-ED IS YOUNGEST CITY EDITOR

A former University of Nevada journalism student is one of the youngest women city editors on any American newspaper. She is Miss Alice Doherty, 19, of the Las Vegas Age.

Miss Doherty entered the university with the class of 1933, and after studying here for a year returned to her home in Las Vegas, where she was employed by the Age. Lately she has graduated to the city editor's desk, from which station she controls the makeup of the daily sheet, writes editorials and reports most of the Las Vegas news.

While at Nevada Miss Doherty was a member of one Prof. A. L. Higginbotham's classes in journalism and a reporter for the U. of N. Sagebrush.

Senior Women Win Volleyball Match

The W. A. A. senior volleyball team won from the junior, freshman and sophomore teams in the first week of the interclass volleyball tournament.

The tournament is in the form of a round robin, with each team playing the other twice. The scores are kept by a point system on the basis of 1000 points for a perfect score. All teams will play each other for a second time this week, and the winner will be chosen at the last game held Friday.

The captains of the interclass teams are: Ida Rogers, seniors; Nell Lozano, juniors; Elizabeth Frey, sophomores, and Miriam Butler, freshmen.

At the end of the interclass volleyball tournament intramural play will start. To date, seven sororities have signed up for competition in the tournament. The playoff will probably be in the same round robin form as that used in the interclass tournament, and the winning team will receive a silver loving cup.

Badminton Team Announced by W.A.A.

The W. A. A. badminton varsity was announced last Tuesday afternoon by Mary Trudelle, president of W. A. A. The four women who made first team are Peggy Williams, Katherine Martin, Clara Dellevoet and Margaret Kormmayer.

The proficiency team is made up of Lena Perri, Myra Sauer, Louise Tidball and Adeline Belmonte.

These teams were selected from over 30 women who participated in badminton. All the members have played on both the interclass and intramural teams in the two tournaments held last semester.

ILLUSION:

The stage is all set for target practice. The magician lifts his bow and aims an arrow at the bull's-eye. His lovely assistant then steps in front of the target and he shoots the arrow—apparently through her—and it fixes itself in the very center of the bull's-eye! And she smiles through it all while the audience gasps.

EXPLANATION:

The arrow which the marksman "shoots through" his assistant simply folds up into the crossbow! The arrow which is actually embedded in the target is shot by the girl herself from a belt concealed under her dress. She releases a little spring, the arrow unfolds, and shoots straight into the bull's-eye! It is all done in a flash! So quickly the eye cannot detect the girl's movements! To heighten the impression that the arrow has gone right through, the girl releases a ribbon from the front of her dress—the continuation, apparently, of the ribbon attached to the arrow in the target.

It's fun to be fooled — ...it's more fun to KNOW

Like to see through tricks? Then let's look at another... the illusion in cigarette advertising called "Cigarettes and Your Throat."

The audience is told that by certain magic processes tobacco can be made as soothing as cough medicine.

EXPLANATION: The easiest cigarette on your throat is the cigarette that is made from the choicest ripe tobaccos. Cheap, raw tobaccos are, as you would naturally expect, harsh in their effects upon the throat.

If you have to consider your throat, the quality of the tobacco in your cigarette is important.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Camels are as non-irritating as a cigarette can be because Camels use choice, ripe, tobaccos.

And because of the matchless blending of these costlier tobaccos Camels have a rich bouquet and aroma... a cool, delicious flavor.

Keep the air-tight, welded Humidor Pack on your Camels... to assure yourself and your companions a fresh, cool smoke.

Meiji Hoop Team Says College in Japan Different

Schools Not Coed Type But Women Have Separate Department

University Education Now for Rich and Poor Alike, Says Student

College life in Japan differs in many respects from the colleges of the United States. The members of the Meiji university basketball team who played the Wolves here this week talked freely about their college life and compared it to the educational system of our own country.

Meiji university is located in Tokyo and is ranked as one of the largest universities in Japan, boasting of 10,000 enrollment. The school is not co-educational, but there is a woman's department which bears the school's name but which is apart from the college proper. Higher education is for rich and poor alike now.

Baseball is by far the major sport, not only in colleges but in the Japanese athletic world also. Football is not played in Japan, but English rugby is used.

Akira Oshida, manager and player for the team, said that James Naismith, founder of the game of basketball, considers Japan as one of the first countries to adopt it. The game of basketball is not new in Japan, having been there for twenty years. It has grown so fast that new facilities are needed to support it.

Women's Athletics
The women in Japanese colleges have athletics as well as the men. However, unlike the American women, the Japanese women play the game exactly as do the men.

The Japanese school begins in April and ends in March, with an eight weeks' summer vacation. The courses are regulated on the same order as they are in American universities, with the usual two year prerequisites for certain courses. It takes a man five years to graduate from a Japanese college, Ashida stated.

Study Only
There are no fraternities or any social life connected with the Japanese schools. As Oshida said, "All we do is study."

Although there is a tendency to break away from the older customs which were set down by the ancient Japanese dynasties, marriage is still regulated by the parents of the bride and bridegroom.

The Meiji basketball teams is now homeward bound, after traveling as far east as Lansing, Mich. The team intends to spend a month in California.

Announcements

Next week is the last week for photographs to be used in the 1933 Artemisia. All fraternities, sororities and other campus organizations should see that their members arrange for their sittings at this time.

Senior questionnaires for the Artemisia will be available on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the library, the Artemisia office or the graduate manager's office. All four year students must fill these out on these days.

Roxie Theater Will Sponsor Skits By Nevada Co-Eds

The plans for a weekly sorority skit at the Roxie theater have been furthered recently. Beginning March 7, every Tuesday evening a performance will be given at approximately 8:30 and will last for twenty minutes.

The acts may consist of skits, one act plays and individual group numbers. They may be presented either in units or complete. The only requirement is, that in order to fit the platform not over seven people may participate.

A $20 cash prize will be awarded to the sorority presenting the best act. Three judges chosen from Reno business men will make the decision according to merit.

On March 1 a drawing will be held to determine the order in which the acts will be put on.

to play the leading colleges of the Pacific coast. After leaving California the men will go to the Hawaiian Islands, where they will spend two weeks in meeting prominent Hawaiian teams. The Meiji boys have been away from home for four months.

No Tests in New Prospector's Class

The perfect school for the perfect student has been founded.

No members of the prospector's school at the University of Nevada have flunked any part of the course because there are no grades listed.

No examinations are given and each student obtains what knowledge he can from his courses from books and lectures.

According to Professor Fulton, director of the Mackay school of mines, cards will be issued to the students when the course is finished. This is merely to show that the student has completed his work.

This same method of graduation was used in the prospector's course which was given at this institution several years ago. The method also allows the students to attend classes when, and if, they feel the urge.

A questionnaire to identify fifty famous Americans was sent out by the government class at Oklahoma U. The only name correctly known to all was Al Capone.

And finally there must be provision made for a general fund to meet unusual or unexpected costs, such as the hospitalization and medical care of injured athletes, an item which only last semester amounted to about $1000. I hope that at this point you are beginning to see the financial picture as a whole. Decreasing revenue; expenses cut to a minimum, yet not in proportion; and with it all, an ever constant pressure on the committee to spend for this, and spend for that: "Never mind the other fellow. Cut his allowance all you please, but I'm here to see that I get mine." And to cap it, $6500 of last semester's fees nicely frozen in the closed banks.

Maximum Fee

We can't solve the problem by raising the present $10 fee; the board of regents quashed that notion several years ago when it was first suggested. We can't cut expenses any more than they already have been cut, without abolishing more activities than already have been abolished—for example: boxing and tennis, completely; dramatics, from seven or eight productions a year to one (possibly two) this year; the news bureau, completely; trips to conventions, completely; track, uncertain.

Yet the fact remains that we must have more money.

We therefore recommend, because the constitution does not give us power to act ourselves, that the Desert Wolf be abolished and that the present Artemisia fee of $4 be reduced to $3. Figured on the basis of 800 fee paying students, though there aren't that many just now, these reductions would release $1760 which under the present constitution we are obligated to give to those publications, and to those publications alone.

Any Plan Considered

We can't see another way out, but it's barely possible that we've overlooked something. Very well, here's a proposition—show us where else we can be assured of an equal saving which will directly concern no more students than would be effected by the abolishment of the Desert Wolf. Oh, I know there are a lot of names in the mast head, but I know also that probably not more than ten people on the staff do nine-tenths of the work. Of the ten those most affected naturally would be the men now "in line" for the jobs of editor and business manager next year.

But as the prospective editor is a sophomore, as is one of the two candidates for business manager, the feeling need not arise that all their work has been in vain. It would be only fair to count their time on the Desert Wolf toward their eligibility for the same offices next year—when they will be juniors—on the staffs of the Artemisia or Sagebrush. As for the rest of the staff, they could easily enough transfer most of their talents to the same publications, where I have been assured they would be more than welcome.

It isn't possible to propose the abolition of any activity without arousing opposition on the side of those directly interested in that activity. I don't blame the Desert Wolf people for howling. As the poet said, "It's their right to howl!"

But where else are we to get the money?

Chesterfields are Milder

WHEN you ask a Chesterfield smoker why that's his brand—he generally comes right out flat-footed and says... "It's because They're Milder!"

So we're going to keep on doing everything we know how to keep them that way.

That's why we look for and buy the mildest and ripest tobaccos we can get. That's why we age them in our warehouses till they're mellow and sweet.

We believe that even the shredding of the tobacco... and the quality of the paper it's rolled in, have a lot to do with the even-drawing, mild smoke that people enjoy in Chesterfields.

You can bank on this... every method known to science is used to make Chesterfield a milder, better-tasting cigarette that satisfies.
