

Final Plans Laid For Mackay Lunch And Entertainment

Clyde D. Souter to Speak at Luncheon; Norcross and Hug Also Talk

Seven Trophies To Be Offered in Several Contests and for Costumes

Arrangements for speakers and entertainment at the Mackay Day luncheon were made at the Wednesday meeting of the Mackay Day committee, and plans for the complete program of the day were finished. An invitation to attend the festivities was sent to Clarence H. Mackay and an answer is expected from him daily.

Clyde D. Souter, Reno attorney and a man with the real Nevada spirit at heart, has consented to address the students at the luncheon. It is probable that Frank Norcross, federal judge, and one of the first graduates of Nevada, will speak on Mackay. Proctor Hug, president of the alumni association, and President Clark will also address the assembled students at the luncheon.

Trophies Given

Seven trophies in all are to be offered for various contests throughout the day. Patterson Brothers and J. C. Penney company will be the donors of the two main trophies, namely, for the greatest percentage of beards in any one fraternity and the greatest percentage of men at work from any one fraternity. Three cups are to be offered, one apiece for the best costume worn by a woman at the dance, one for the most typical costume among the men and one for the best faculty attire. Two trophies will be offered for the winning teams in the engineering contests, which are to consist of a race against time and accuracy in chaining.

Entertainment at the luncheon will be provided by Fred La Marsina in character songs, numbers by a trio headed by Bill Squires and a program of songs by the trio consisting of Nell Lozano, Abigail Hackett and Alice Couch. A real treat has been provided for the Whiskerino dance, which will cap off the celebration. The diminutive—Continued on Page Four

Play To Be Given First Part of April

Production of the Shakespearean play "As You Like It" will come just before the annual high school forensic contest, William Miller, dramatic coach announces. The final production will come on the first day of the high school contest. Special prices will be offered the high school students. There will be 20 cents admission for them and 40 cents for adults.

Drawings for the sets have been completed by the designer, John Mariani, and actual construction is beginning under the direction of Herbert Peck and his staff.

Student body presidents from high schools in the state and contestants in the forensic meet will be guests at the play, which is a three act Shakespearean drama, presented in modern dress.

Practices for "As You Like It" are being held every day in the Education building auditorium.

Miller's play production class has been aiding him in hearing lines and keeping several scenes going at once. The production of a Shakespearean play is an adventurous attempt of the new dramatic coach to bring good drama to the college audience.

Work Going On

Work on the play itself has been progressing under the direction of William Miller, who is using his play production class as student directors for different scenes. They include Geraldine Harbert, Beatrice Figow, Genevieve Wolf, Blanche Lucas, Violet Rebeleati, Adeline Belmonte and Grace Semenza.

For the first time, a college audience will see Jean McIntyre appear in a campus dramatic production. She takes the leading role as Rosalind.

Although she has not appeared in campus productions she has had wide experience in acting. Appearing in leading roles in Reno high school plays, Miss McIntyre won the highest award for acting when she was adjudged the best actress in the state during the forensic contest. Plays in which she has taken leading roles are "The Valiant," "Skidding," "Knave of Hearts," "Grandma Pulls the String," "Good Medicine" and "Daughter of the Revolution."

Miss McIntyre has been under the care of a doctor, who for a time felt that she could not go with the play. However, he has pronounced her physically able to continue in the cast.

Charles "Tex" Whitehead, a University of Nevada student in 1926-27, is in London. He and his wife intend to make a year's motorcycle tour of Europe the latter part of this year.

Seniors Hold First Meeting of Semester

Members of the senior class held their first meeting of the spring semester Wednesday afternoon, with Wyman Evans, senior president, in charge. The main business transacted during the meeting was the appointing of committees to carry out the work during Senior Week.

John Mariani was appointed chairman of the Senior Week committee and he has working with him Helen Peterson, Kathryn Ligon, Lena Perri, Jack Myles and Roy Bankofier.

Working in conjunction with this committee will be the senior picnic group, which is headed by Gail Parsons. Other members are Mildred Huber, Joe McDonnell and Frances Barnes.

The senior memorial committee is made up of Mason Myers, chairman, Mary Alice Loomis, Robert Harrison, Lois Barber, Mildred Goble.

Pershing Cagers To Battle Panaca For State Title

Experienced Panaca Outfit
Arrives in Reno to Play

Hard Game Expected as Fast
Prep School Players
Take Floor

Having arrived from the southland, Panaca is all set to cop the state basketball crown when they meet Pershing county high school tomorrow night at the university gymnasium.

Panaca has an impressive record for 1933, having ended the conference schedule tied for leading honors, and then swept through the southern tournament in impressive form. Ten years ago, a virtually unknown team from a school which few hoops fans knew existed, came up to the state tournament with only six players and sent team after team into the discard. Since then the Lincoln hoopers have figured heavily in the state basketball honors.

Eight men, with their coach, Pat Diskin, have made the trip. They are: C. Lee, Grover Liston, forwards; Patterson, C. Lee, centers; Stewart, Frazier, Fernley, guards.

Lovelock, winner in the western zone tournament and winner over Winnemucca, eastern zone champion, is confident of defeating their southern rivals and annexing the state trophy.

The members of the Pershing squad, with Coach Godwin, include Quillet, Montrose, forwards; Tau, Davis, centers; Oleata, Anker, Marcucci, guards.

Both teams are light and fast, and made up almost entirely of veterans. Lovelock holds a slight weight edge.

The game will be featured with outstanding competition between Oleata of Pershing and Grover of Lincoln. Oleata was the outstanding player of the western tournament and Grover was adjudged as one of the best players of the southern tournament.

Dying Wolf Makes Last Stand May 1

Complete absence of long serious articles, exchange material, dull jokes and a plentiful supply of original jokes and cartoons, very short stories and a cover by John Mariani, will characterize the last edition of the University of Nevada Desert Wolf, according to Denver Dickerson, who is in charge of the final publication.

The "farewell issue" will be published about May 1. It will mark the end of ten years of effort on the part of the University of Nevada students to support a quarterly publication. The first issue was turned out the fall of 1923 and was edited by Nevada Semenza and Alex Cotter.

University Invited To Submit Poetry

In a letter received recently from Miss Anna Hempstead Branch, member of the executive committee of the Poets' guild, the university was asked to submit five poems which will be included in a verse exhibition at the World's fair in Chicago this summer. The poems are to be written and judged by undergraduate students on the campus and may be on various subjects.

According to A. E. Hill, professor of English, the poems will be received and judged by a picked committee of the members of Chi Delta Phi, the English honorary society.

All manuscripts must be in by March 22 and must be typewritten on standard sized paper, double spaced, with the title, name of author and his college on the top of the sheet. The manuscripts must be submitted in duplicate and will not be returned.

Further information may be received from Professor Hill or Marjorie Myles, president of Chi Delta Phi.

Pack Shows Spirit In Spring Football Training Workouts

Intense Rivalry Is Exhibited as Teams Prepare for
Mackay Day Tilt

Mitchell Pleased With Turnout
Predicts Exciting Contest
Between Squads

Showing a spirit of rivalry that promises a thrilling contest when the two teams clash in a Mackay Day tilt on the field in the Mackay oval, the men out for spring football at the University of Nevada are showing unusual ability in practice sessions so far this season.

"Brick" Mitchell, varsity football mentor, admitted yesterday that he was highly pleased with the turnout and the way that the men are taking their training.

Spirit High

"I think that we will see a close contest when the two teams into which I have divided the men out for football, when they play each other on Mackay Day," Mitchell stated. "I have divided the men so that the two teams are about equal in strength."

The two teams are being coached by members of last year's varsity team who will not be allowed to compete with the new men in the Mackay Day clash. The coaches of team number one are: Harris and Austin, ends; Haynes, guard; Carroll, fullback; Cashill, center; Beasley, halfback, and H. Hill, quarterback.

Players Coach

The varsity men who are coaching team number two are: Salet, end; Beemer, guard; Priest, quarterback; Caldwell and Parsons, fullbacks; Delaney, tackle; Stock, center, and J. Hill, halfback. Cashill and Priest have charge of the two teams.

Most of the new men are green and except for a little high school experience and instruction under Chester Scranton on the freshman team do not know a great deal about the game.

Kick Well

Among the outstanding men who are out for the spring pigskin tossing sport are Harry Austin, last year's freshman end; Paul Walker, fullback; William Cookrell, quarterback; Hadlin, tackle, and Becass, quarterback.

Austin and Becass have been kicking the ball well over fifty yards and show promise of doing some good kicking in the Mackay Day game.

The men out for the ends are: Ken Austin, Harry Austin, John Benson, Walter Bowrin, Bagley, Chiatovich, Harris, Kelly, Eisenman, Phillips, Rice, Rhodes and Salet.

Lineups Given

The men after tackle berths include Brinkerhoff, Dellano, Daskiewicz, St. Claire, Sullivan and Stephens. Those signed up for a trial at halfback are Bud Beasley, Cockrell, Flourmoy, Hawkins, Kepl, Sheehan and Ward.

Those signed up for center are John Stock, Ed Bath, Tom Cashill, Al Lanson and Ernest Mack. Aspirants to quarterback positions are Priest, Rivers, H. Hill, Horgan, Wanke, Kennedy, Park, Becass, Gordeney and Freudenburg.

The men out for the guard positions are Bohkle, Barenego, Beemer, Haynes, Morris, Robertson, Tannehill, Wise and Willard.

The lineups are continually changing and the men are constantly being shifted from one position to another. The drills have consisted of work on fundamentals after a short warmup period, exercises and running through plays. The work is nearly all in the hands of the veteran players.

Heavy Schedule Made for Track

Bank moratoriums notwithstanding, the University of Nevada track schedule this season will be one of the heaviest of recent years, according to Bernard Hartung, graduate manager.

Hartung stated that seven meets have been scheduled, six varsity and one freshman, and said further that available funds are at hand to take care of these contests.

Four of the meets will be held in the home stadium and two will be held in California. Nevada's coach, "Brick" Mitchell, intends to hold time trials this afternoon, in order to get his team in shape. Practice has been going on for the past two weeks and many men have turned out.

The schedule is as follows:
April 1—Interfraternity meet, at home.
April 8—Interclass meet, at home.
April 15—College of Pacific, at home.
April 22—California Agricultural college, at Davis.
April 29—Alumni, at home.
May 6—Conference meet, at Sacramento.

It is also planned to stage a meet between the university freshmen and Susanville high school.

NO, HE'S NOT A TRAMP BUT A BRUSHY REPORTER

The Whiskerino contest is presenting considerable difficulty to the news-hawks in the elementary reporting class. While other students can hide or stay out of public attention, the young reporters must sleuth around and try to gather news.

Forrest Bibb, the boy with the sensational brush, has been refused several interviews because the persons to be interviewed thought he was a professional tramp about to ask for a handout.

Bill McMenamin of the sports department has been refused admission to athletic contests.

James Leonard is being constantly shadowed by federal authorities. He is suspected of being a bolshevist organizer.

Minor Kibby is confined to bed because of acute ingrowing of the beard. Bill Judson has been ordered out of town by the Brotherhood of Professional Beggars because he was suspected of cutting into their business.

Other men in the class are having their troubles, too.

Because of all the trouble following the men, the women of the class are going to put out the Sagebrush for March 24.

Track Team Starts Intensive Training For Spring Meets

Coach Brick Mitchell Gives Aspirants Daily Workouts
on Mackay Field

Intramural and Class Meets
Scheduled as First
Tryout Days

Forty-seven track aspirants have answered the call of Coach "Brick" Mitchell, and are taking daily workouts on Mackay field. Training season has been under way now for two weeks and in this time some men have shown themselves to be of exceptional caliber.

Among those outstanding are men who have carried the colors of Nevada in track meets of previous years and others who showed up well in the interfraternity meets.

Harvey Hill, who was an understudy of Neil Scott last season, is leading the field in the sprint division, but he has no easy time in holding his lead over some of the new turnouts.

In the hurdles, the Wolves seem to be exceptionally strong this spring, since they have two letter men in the persons of Jack Hill and Walter Huntington, who has resumed his studies here after being out for a time.

A newcomer in the hurdle department by the name of Ralph Hromadka, although he has not been witnessed in competition, looks as if he will be Nevada's "dark horse" when meet time rolls around.

The interfraternity marathon on Homecoming Day proved the worth of a number of distance men, and they have been losing no time in limbering up their leg muscles since training season began. Among those who have special promise are Sam Arentz and Earl Seaborn, who are being hard pressed by Paul and Frank Leonard.

In this field, also, the Wolves have a new man who has shown plenty of speed, and before the season is over he will probably be in the starts. His name is John Smith.

Any conference team will have a hard time to outdistance such men as Turner, Theis, Haynes, J. Hill and Lynn Gerow in the weights.

Coach Mitchell expects that muscles will be loosened up enough by April 1 to warrant a meet between either the fraternities or the classes. At this time he will be able to witness his men in action, and can determine what to expect from them April 15, when Nevada meets College of Pacific.

A mid-season meet with former Wolf stars has been arranged for April 29. Two of the men who have signified their intentions of participating are H. Arthur, former hurdler, and F. Obrien, hurdler and high jump man. There is a probability that some well known coast athletes will accompany these men here and compete with the varsity team.

Legislature Favors Clark Salary Cut

A bill to limit the salary of the president of the University of Nevada to $6000 annually was passed Saturday by the lower house of the Nevada legislature. Previously the senate had adopted the measure. Final action awaits the signature of Governor Fred B. Balzar.

Several weeks ago the assembly defeated a similar bill, but their last vote approved the salary reduction, 27 to 5. The senate rejected an amendment to the bill which would allow the board of regents to designate the salary. The president of the university's salary was until the first of the year affixed at $12,000, when Persedna Clark took a voluntary reduction of $8500.

New Constitution Adoption Results In Fewer Officers

Wolf Is Abolished by Narrow
Margin of 211 to 194
Student Votes

New Government To Be Free
From Steamroller
Politics

As a result of the adoption of the new constitution by the student body last Friday, only two people will be up for election this spring. The Desert Wolf was abolished, also. Nominations will be open at the Mackay Day luncheon for the two offices, which are student body president and A. W. S. president.

The new constitution eliminates class officers and includes at the head of each class a manager who is elected by his classmates. There are no minor offices in the new constitution.

Elections to the senate are to be held every January, but next fall members will be chosen for the short term from August to January.

Senate to Rule

The governing body of the university will be the senate. The senate is a group composed of members chosen from the various fraternities, sororities and from the independent students. A two-thirds vote is needed to pass any measure in this body and for this reason petty grafts will be eliminated.

Each fraternity, sorority and designated association chooses two representatives to represent them in the senate.

Senate Powerful

The senate will be a very powerful group, having power to elect the following committee members upon the recommendation of the nominating committee: One man and one woman representative to finance control committee, two men and one woman as representatives to the executive committee, three members to the publications board, the chairman of the men's and women's upperclass committees, one member of the rally committee, one woman member to act as secretary to both the association and the senate, and to enforce such rules which are traditional on the campus.

More Democratic

The major changes as put forth by the revision committee are that the A. S. U. N. government is made more democratic through representation of all classes of students; the election of better qualified A. S. U. N. officers, due to the creation of the nominating committee which eliminates "steamroller" politics; reductions of Artemial costs; and the substitution of the class manager system for the old system of class officers.

The new constitution came as the result of many years of shady politics on the campus. For the past five years the control of the student government has been in the hands of the larger combine, which is one thing which the constitution is intended to abolish.

The Desert Wolf, which was rejected by a vote of 211 to 194, will make one more appearance before it joins the ranks of temporary recluses. The Wolf was founded in 1923 as an independent publication and it was later subsidized by the university. For the past ten years it has been the outlet for student's literary attempts both in the serious and the humorous lines. The rejection for the Wolf does not go into effect until next fall.

Press Club Revival Started on Campus

Official organization of a new University of Nevada Press club started last night when thirteen charter members met at the Sagebrush office and adopted a constitution for the club.

Designed for the purpose of fostering interests in journalism through social and educational contacts, the Press club was reestablished this year by interested members of the journalism classes.

There was an active Press club on the campus several years ago which was disbanded because of dissension in 1928. Revival of interest in such an organization this year caused leading members of the journalism classes to form the new press club.

Bids To Be Sent

Bids to the organization will be sent out early next week to eligible students. Membership in the club will be limited to students primarily interested in journalistic work.

Those students receiving bids to the organization will be required to serve a "cubship" of one year before becoming regular members of the organization.

The thirteen charter members forming the nucleus of the organization are: Edward Montgomery, Kenneth Johnson, Ned Morehouse, Neva Shaw, Kathryn Wardleigh, William McMenamin, Myra Sauer, A. L. Bigginbotham, John Mariani, William Gilmartin, John McNamara, Virginia Garside and Jack Myles.

Charcoal Drawings Shown by Art Group

Twenty character portraits in charcoal by a local artist, Robert Cole Caples, were exhibited by the Fine Arts group, which gave an art display at the University of Nevada on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

The majority of the artist's subjects were taken from Reno people, including Walter Clark Jr., Max Baer, Indian heads, old men and one colored sketch of a negro. A few women's portraits were in this collection.

Robert Cole Caples has been very active in the world of fine arts and especially now in character portrait studies. He has attended numerous art institutions, which included the Art Student league in New York, the National academy in New York and the Santa Barbara School of Fine Arts in Santa Barbara.

Chi Delta Phi Scandal Show Set for Friday

Play Written by Kay Hansen,
Graduating Senior,
Featured

New Pledges to Participate;
Ticket Sale Starts
Next Week

Final plans and arrangements have been made for the Chi Delta Phi annual scandal show to be given next Friday, March 24, in the university auditorium. In every way this show promises to be a big success, the story having been written by one of their members, Kay Hansen.

It is a one act play featuring seniors as they really are and as they are a century hence. "Hotcha—2050" is something new and different in scandal shows, as you will learn from the characters: Mercury, Pluto and Parsepone, who include Blythe Bulmer, Kay Hansen and Margaret Martin, respectively. Others who will take part are Dorothy Pope, Charlotte Pope, Blanche Lucas, Ina Johnson, Elsie Seaborn, Mary Williams, Florence Diskin, Ruth Bixby, Dortha Robertson, Fifi Lippman, Mary Sourwine, Marjorie Myles, Peggy Johnson, Mary Trudelle, Helen Olmstead, Isabel Matley and Helen Petersen.

This show is usually given after the election of new members, who help put the show over by selling tickets. Members who were elected to Chi Delta Phi this semester are Grace Semenza, Ruby Hoskins, Glenna McQuerry, Miriam Clark, Maryann Peck, Sarah Graves and Florine Frank. Tickets will be on sale all week by members and pledges for 10 cents.

Managers Elected By Various Tongs As Baseball Starts

All captains and managers of the Interfraternity Baseball league having been elected and with practice being held daily, the annual race for the school championship play will begin immediately following Mackay Day.

This year Pat Sanford is managing the present titleholders, while Tom Cashill, Sigma Phi shortstop, has been selected captain.

Gall Parsons is captaining the S. A. Es, and Ed Martinez will hold down the manager's berth on that team.

Jack Hill, Sigma Nu backstop and last year's captain, continues heading this team this year. Jack Blakely will manage for them.

Walt Christian will pitch and manage the Lambda Chis, with Russell Elliott running the affairs in the field.

"Hank" Rampoldi, Phi Sig "king of swat" will captain his aggregation, and Joe McLeod will manage.

The Taus have as their manager Harold Curran. George Schilling is to captain the A. T. Os. in their race for the cup.

Lowell Russell and Lee Gunloch will act as captain and manager both for the Delta Sigs and Lincoln Hall, respectively.

Beta Kappa will have Hugh McIntyre as its manager, and will be captained by Dan Harvey.

Practice has been going on for some days now and by the time play starts most of the wrinkles will be ironed out and some real baseball should be in the offing.

Library Dismissals Still Increasing

In spite of the action taken by the upperclass committees, the list of library dismissals is increasing.

At the head of the list are the Thetas with ten of their members subject for dismissal. Running a close second are the Phi Phis and Tri Deltas.

The closest that any fraternity comes to the number of dismissals of the sororities are the A. T. Os, with four, and the Lambda Chis in second place.

Phi Kappa Phi Elects Eight To Membership

Bishop Gorman Speaks to Assembly on Origin of Name

Formal Initiation Ceremony to Be Held Tonight at 7:30 o'Clock

By INEZ M'GILLIVRAY
Seven senior students and one faculty member were honored this morning at the second annual Phi Kappa Phi Day when selections were announced and Bishop Thomas Gorman of the Catholic diocese gave the address of the day on "The Greek Rendering of the Words, Phi Kappa Phi."

Dr. G. W. Sears, professor of chemistry and member of Phi Kappa Phi, announced the names of the newly elected members, which included Prof. Harold Brown of the education department, who was elected as an honorary member.

Earle Seaborn and Telfer Kitchen were elected from the college of engineering, and the following from the college of arts and sciences: Rose Sala, Ruth Bixby, Helen Olmstead, Ruth Sauer, Velva Truelove and Harold Brown of the faculty.

Stating that "the condition of our nation today is largely due to lack of instruction in philosophy," Bishop Gorman said that a great deal of the troubled condition of the times has come about because people have not applied the practices of philosophy.

Defines Greek Terms

Taken in its Greek meaning, Bishop Gorman defined the term Phi Kappa Phi, not in its narrow sense as "a love of learning" but as "a love of wisdom." Of learning for its own sake he said, "Seeking for information smacks too much of that other misleading phrase, 'Knowledge is power,' but it may be as much for evil as for good. The most dangerous scoundrel is the one who knows the most."

At foreign universities, Bishop Gorman said that philosophy is the dominating course, but in America it is relegated to a minor position and often is handled by a staff too small to give it the attention it requires.

"There is too little philosophy in America and it is usually elective, instead of occupying a major position as it should. Every scholar reaches a point where he must be a philosopher, and every beginning student should be exposed at least to a general course in philosophy."

In this connection he remarked, "It has been well said that philosophy of the schools of today will be the active policy of the schools of tomorrow."

Formal initiation of the new candidates will be held this evening and will be attended by members, initiates and their parents. Following the initiation Dr. B. D. Billingshurst, superintendent of Reno public schools, will address Phi Kappa Phi on "Popular Fallacies." A reception will be held in the home economics room afterwards through the courtesy of President and Mrs. Walter E. Clark.

Independents Vote On Rules of Group

Organization of Independent students on the Nevada campus was furthered last Monday night when a tentative constitution, drawn up for the purpose of protecting the Independents' political rights, was presented by members of the constitution committee.

Approximately forty Independent students met in the Student Union building to discuss permanent organization. These students voted on the tentative constitution, article by article; leaving the final vote for adoption to be taken next Monday night.

Questions Discussed

Several important questions were discussed. These were:

1. That members of the Stray Greek organization will not be eligible to become Independent members of the organization at the University of Nevada and will be excluded from voting at all Independent elections, including elections of representatives for the senate.

2. Lincoln hall men given right to vote at all elections, except those for senate representatives.

3. Election of Independent officers will be held at the next to last meeting of the spring semester.

4. To hold an office, it will be necessary for students to have attended university for at least three semesters, one of which must be at the University of Nevada.

It was also decided that Independent meetings will be held every other Monday at 7:15 at the Student Administration building. All Independent students on the campus are urged to attend.

"Playmakers" at the University of North Carolina write and produce their own plays, traveling over the state to play in theaters and other schools.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION

Last Friday members of the A. S. U. N. voted practically unanimously to adopt the proposed changes in the student body constitution as proposed by the constitution revision committee. By a very small margin, these same students voted down the proposal to keep the Desert Wolf, Nevada's comic quarterly magazine.

The results of the voting show that the students were absolutely in accord with the proposition to make Nevada a more democratic institution in student government and were of the opinion that the people who proposed to maintain a student magazine without subsidized subscriptions were taking too much of a load upon their shoulders.

The voting Friday is the dawn of a new setting for student government on this campus. During the past week very authoritative information has come to the Sagebrush that the "old combine" has split up entirely, and that the only combine that will be formed in the future is one that will be all inclusive; in reality the "new combine" should be a unified A.S.U.N.

The old system of trading offices and appointments has lost its power with the advent of only one elective office for both the men and co-eds. This feature, combined with the student senate system, is the final death knell to the old spoils system which was the backbone of the "Big Four" combination.

With assurance that the student body is desirous of having a new deal in student politics and that combines are past history, then every A. S. U. N. card holder should back all Nevada activities 100 per cent and show again that old time Nevada spirit of which we hear so much but demonstrate to a much lesser degree.

CHAMPIONS

Tomorrow the winners of the high school zone basketball tournaments play for the Nevada state championship on the university court. These two hard playing Nevada high school teams are made up of future university students and it is the duty of every student on the campus to help make these visitors get the right idea about Nevada and what it has to offer incoming freshmen.

These two prep teams have been noted for their clean playing tactics and the spirit of good sportsmanship has in the past been ever present. Both teams are coached by able men and the game tomorrow night should bring forth a new state high school basketball champion worthy of the honor.

The type of students that we need here at Nevada are these hard playing boys who exhibit championship caliber. Physical prowess combined with the right mental training makes for a better group under all circumstances.

WOMEN'S EDITION

Next week the co-ed members of the Sagebrush staff will take charge of the Sagebrush and have already started preparations for making their edition one of the best ever.

Every year one week has been taken off by the men and the paper is left in charge of the women's editor. This year the co-eds are particularly fortunate in having someone in charge who knows the publishing side as well as the desk work, and with good leadership this year the women's edition should keep up the standards that have already been set by the Sagebrush in the world of collegiate journalism.

WHISKERINO

With ten days passed in the present Whiskerino contest, there has been considerable spirit shown by the entire male population of the campus. Whether the men have let their beards take nature's course because of school spirit or lack of finances to buy shaving facilities, has not yet been determined.

This traditional starter of the Mackay Day celebration indicates that the Mackay Day committee will have the cooperation of practically every group in helping with this annual celebration.

The Whiskerino stands for more than just a shaggy beard; it typifies the spirit on the campus. No celebration can be a success unless it has the wholehearted support of the student body.

The Mackay Day committee should be congratulated on the spirit that they have created thus far and with one week remaining before Mackay Day, Nevada is assured that this celebration has had the right sendoff and will result in one long to be remembered by every undergraduate or faculty member who participates in the day's activities.

In The Know

Letters to the Editor

Editor Sagebrush—There is a rumor in the wind that the Independents, provided that they can get sufficiently organized, will have a strong candidate for the office of A. S. U. N. president. The leaders of the Independents propose to submit a constitution to the group, so that said group will have a check on their representatives in the new senate. If the Independents can get organized on a sound basis, they will be able to control campus politics in the future. At least they will be able to give the fraternities and sororities a strong run for their money.

Now that the women are going to battle over the vice president's job, who is going to get the nomination on Mackay Day, and who is going to league with whom to sweep the "lucky" girl into office? Our guess is that the Tri Deltas will hang with the Pi Phi and Gamma Phi, and let the Beta Sigs, Alpha Deltas and Thetas join in a common purpose if they choose. It might be well to keep an eye on this phase of the election for "dirty politics" because of the precedent that has been set. The Tri Deltas can, and probably will, pull a few out of the bag as only they know how. It is too early to predict possible candidates, but if McIntyre runs on her looks, and a person from the Gamma Phi house is nominated because it is their turn to have the office, both persons should be tarred and feathered.

Only a lack of good common sense can be attributed to the Lambda Chis in their choice of Wallace over Arentz for the presidency. Not only has Wallace no brains for the job but he has done absolutely nothing, zero and naught toward fitting himself for the position. His personality might get him over with a few of the femmes on the campus, but if man's judgment of his fellow man still holds, Wallace will lose the election due to his inexperience and inability to handle something important. Arentz is prepared to handle everything through three years of association with student affairs and administration, and he is also thoroughly familiar with the set of rules that is to govern the student body next year. That alone should make him the man for the job. The real dope on why he was deposed as a possibility is that he opposed his whole house on the new constitution, and because he was man enough to do this the rest of the house was small enough to substitute an inferior man for the post that rightfully belongs to him. Yours for better government. "The Mad Hatter."

Wolf-Howls

By WALT HERZ

If the day ever comes when we will be permitted to witness a campus dramatic production, even if it has to be a Shakespearean drama, will it be something to shout about. And to think of all the talent just going to seek waiting for a chance to get a break.

The sociologists might do well to dig up some campus traditions. Vigilance committees have overlooked the fact that we still have some; and considering that they are important enough to be printed in the fresh bible, it may be well for a little enforcement to be effected. What a rarity the freshman dink has become. What about it, John Sullivan?

This boy(?) Forrest Bibb was certainly named right. That is the conclusion we've come to since he has become a veritable Abe Lincoln with his fearful growth.

What would be the reaction, we wonder, to the publication of an authentic medical report by the campus official physician? Maybe a lot of folk would realize that their "Little Nell" was a complex personality and not just a mechanical being.

Student life will be affected very, very slightly with the legalizing of beer. Too many entrepreneurs cater to the college trade now.

If it's love that preys upon Jerry Bingaman like that, then me for a bachelor's life. Or semi-seclusion on a South Sea isle. Yes, I said semi.

After half a decade Clara decides it unwise to "go steady." Or at least in the face of things that is the best way to phrase it. Maybe Hackett could help us out here. But, surely, we never expect to hear a squawk out of Toby. No, not Toby.

The Desert Wolf will make its final bow to the campus in May. The last issue with Denver Dickerson as pilot will have a radical change in makeup. You readers will not be put to sleep by long, nonsensical stories, but on the contrary real live jokes with double meanings (one for you and one for the censors) will be in order. Good luck.

Wolf, may your last appearance help to bring about your revival, which will come eventually.

Another affair has gone the way of all slush and failed to revive. Midge and Bill are now just Miss Nagy and Mr. Mack to each other. The demure Midge trumped her partner's ace — and apparently without a heart.

Roy Bankoffler actually did fall for Chunkie Emerson. How gracefully he fell at her feet during a basketball game. Maybe he slipped, but probably he didn't.

Well, well, can it be that the play-boy of the gown house (pardon, please, dining room to you) and the snobby Theta had contemplated big things and then chickened out? What else could have led Marean and Underwood to the door of the Reverend Moll Case at 10:30 at night? Perhaps the deacon gave the little children a bit of fatherly advice and sent them on their way.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT — The business staff regards Adeline Rotholtz as "one of the best" . . . Clark Amens and oretta Miller are still that way about each other . . . There is a notable absence of that vibrant vim, vigor and vitality in the old maestro, Malcolm Sam Blakely . . . Brick Mitchell is back in action and in his characteristic green socks . . . Just an idea, Bill Beemer would cause a landslide if promoted for A. S. U. N. president . . . The postman just brought my cinches, dern him . . .

Oxford Movement Reaches Nevada

Graduate Students Form Group on Nevada Campus

The most talked of religious movement in the English speaking world today, the Oxford Group movement, has reached the University of Nevada campus and will in the near future become established definitely.

Formerly referred to as "Buchmanism," a term derived from the name of the founder, Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman, the movement has attracted wide comment and has attained a strong following, particularly among college students and graduates in England, Canada, South Africa and the United States.

Several students have already banded with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Trevitt, graduates of last semester, in forming the nucleus of the local group. More are being invited to take an interest and attend the meetings which are soon to be held.

Mr. and Mrs. Trevitt became absorbed in the ideals of the movement late last fall after reading an English best seller by the editor of the London Sunday Express, A. J. Russell, called "For Sinners Only." This book explains the principles and aims of the group.

The basis of the group is personal evangelism exercised in the friendly atmosphere of the home of one of the members during their meetings. At the meeting, or "quiet time" as it is called, the feature known as "sharing" or the group confessional is carried on. Forgiveness is given the individual by the group, and then the principle of restitution is encouraged. This means the confession and recompensation of the person or persons injured by the individual's sin.

Other religions hold secret confessionals, but it is the group sharing which followers say does the trick of bringing a new warmth into their lives. It is this feature which is fast giving Buchmanism the title of "the religion that works."

Frank Buchman, a Lutheran minister, started his evangelistic doctrine at Pennsylvania State college. A few years later the movement gained momentum at Cambridge and Oxford universities in England and there took a definite name.

Several books have been written about the group movement, the most widely read of which, "For Sinners Only," will be presented to the university library in the near future by William Moll Case of the Federated church. The Reverend Mr. Case, along with the Reverend Dr. Carl M. Warner of the Reno Methodist church, is interested in the formation of the local Oxford group.

Horseback Riding For Women to Start

Riding classes for women will start April 1, according to Mary Trudelle, president of W. A. A. The classes will be under the direction of Sergeant Grant H. Hustis and the rides will be on Monday and Wednesday afternoons.

All women taking P. E. may sign up next week in the gym. Those who are not taking P. E. must have a doctor's written permission in order to join the class.

Membership in this class makes a woman eligible for Saddle and Spurs, women's riding club, and also counts towards membership in W. A. A.

Eight Students May Receive B.S. Degrees

Eight students on the University of Nevada campus are entitled to a bachelor of science degree instead of bachelor of arts, according to a statement issued the first part of this week by Dean Maxwell Adams.

Usually all graduates from the college of arts and science receive the B.A. degree, but those who specialize in mathematics or some science can, on petition to the faculty, be granted the bachelor of science degree, after conferring with their dean.

Those eight students who have satisfied the necessary requirements are Calvin Banigan, Angelina De Nevi, Armina Fritz, Cora Hendriksen, Mildred Madsen, Henry Rampoldi, Ruth Sauer and Vera Zadow.

To receive this degree the students must notify the dean some time the first of next week.

New W.A.A. Officers Are Chosen Tuesday

New W. A. A. officers, elected last Tuesday, are: Margaret Kornmayer, president; Blanche Keegan, vice president; Helene "Peaches" Stark, treasurer; and Miriam Butler, secretary.

Other nominees were: Marthine Solares, president; Ruby Bliss, vice president; Elizabeth Frey, treasurer, and Clara Dellevet, secretary. Katherine Martin was nominated for president from the floor, but withdrew before the election.

These officers will be installed the first Tuesday in April and will replace the present officeholders, who are: Mary Trudelle, president; Genevieve Wolfe, vice president; Blanche Keegan, secretary, and Marthine Solares, treasurer.

Many Frosh Women Not at N Painting

Approximately 97 freshman women failed to appear at the painting of the "N," thus breaking a campus tradition, and will in all probability serve at the Mackay Day luncheon.

The offenders met with the women's upperclass committee last Tuesday at 3:45 in the Agriculture building to be warned against further offenses and to receive sentence.

The following women were also called up before the committee for other offenses: Claire Fitzgerald, Evelyn Matson, Madjel Schlosses, Nell Kilpatrick, Mary Louise Durkee, Paula Bradshaw, Mildred Nagy, Mary Pappas and Dorothy Shoup.

Three Coeds Hurt During Past Week

Accidents suffered in winter sports have accounted for the injury of three coeds during the past week, of whom, Frances Armbruster, postgraduate student, is still confined to bed with a wrenched knee.

Miss Armbruster was injured while skiing at Galena Creek.

Violet Rebalati, English major, received a knee injury when a speeding toboggan overturned with her, and Betty Howell '35 suffered an ankle injury, but both were able to attend school.

Tri Deltis Hold First Formal Dance

The first of the sorority and fraternity formal dances of the year was held at the Country club on March 4. The Country club rooms were decorated with a large crescent and three stars, and floodlights shed many color lights about the floor. Light purple balloons hung from the ceiling.

Refreshments were served late in the evening and the music was furnished by Dud Nix's orchestra.

Miss Jeanne Cardinell sang several sorority songs.

The partons and patronesses were: Mrs. John G. Kirchen, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gosse, Senator and Mrs. Tasker L. Oddie, Judge and Mrs. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. George Mapes.

Those who attended the dance were: Misses Louise Tidball, Florence Ford, Charlotte Robinson, Dortha Robertson, Anne O'Neill, Clara Galvin, Katherine McCormack, Nance Ramsey, Jeanne Cardinell, Odessa Bick, Dolly Hawkins, Virginia Sauer, Catherine Ligon, Enid Harris, Beth Beemer, Ruth Smith, Helen Smith, Geraldine Harbert, Ruth Brown, Margaret Kornmayer.

ILLUSION:

In India, the fakirs present a spectacle to tourists. Two lovely performers break bottles and lamp chimneys before the eyes of the audience, and throw the jagged pieces into a box already filled with broken glass. They step barefooted into the box and do an Oriental dance in the glass without injury.

EXPLANATION:

The performers toughen their feet in a strong solution of alum water and thoroughly rub them with pulverized resin before they appear. They throw the freshly broken glass around the edges of the platform. The glass on which they actually do dance is very thick, heavy, and filed or ground so that the sharp edges are rounded off. The girls just pretend to dance on the sharp glass.

IT'S FUN TO BE FOOLED

... IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

One of the tricks of cigarette advertising is to pretend that "Heat Treatment" is an exclusive process, making one cigarette better than any other.

EXPLANATION: All cigarette manufacturers use heat treatment. It is a routine process of manufacture. The first Camel cigarette ever made was manufactured under the heat-treating process. Every one of the billions of Camels produced since has received the necessary heat treatment.

Harsh, raw tobaccos require intensive processing under high temperatures. The more expensive tobaccos, which are naturally mild, call for only a moderate application of heat. Heat treatment never can make cheap, inferior tobacco good.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

This is the most important statement ever made in a cigarette advertisement. Weigh its words. Consider what it means. Then try Camels.

Camels are fresh . . . in the air-tight, welded Humidor Pack.

Engineers Plan Trip to Vegas During Vacation

Twenty-five Students to Visit Boulder Dam, Boulder City

Twenty-five civil engineering students signified their intention of making the proposed inspection trip to Boulder City and the Hoover dam at a meeting of the "Civils" Tuesday. The trip will be made during the Easter vacation, starting Thursday, April 13. President Walter E. Clark will excuse from Thursday classes and from Monday classes if necessary all those making the trip.

Professor F. L. Bixby will accompany the students and arrangements have been made by state highway department to furnish a guide who will take them out to the dam.

The group will stay in Las Vegas, according to the present plans. It is estimated that the trip will cost approximately $16.50 per person. One of the group from Las Vegas stated that by automobile it would take eleven hours each way for the trip.

A four reel film, furnished by the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture, was shown at the meeting. It illustrated road surfacing with bituminous and macadam surfacing.

No Skiing Credits For Men This Year

There will be no skiing for P. E. credit for men this semester, J. E. "Doc" Martie announced recently.

The skiing class, which was held regularly in the last spring semester, is being discontinued this year primarily because of the lack of interest expressed by students, Martie said.

"Very few students have asked for the formation of the campus ski club, and those who have done so have not returned to express their desire since the snowstorm," he pointed out.

It is extremely doubtful that such a class will be formed because of the difficulty of checking up on the participants.

Mackay Day Lunch Tickets Being Sold

Sale of Mackay Day luncheon tickets began this week under the direction of Esther Ronzone, head of the food committee.

Past experiences with the usual last minute rush for tickets have made the practice of advance sale necessary, in order to meet food requirements and summon a proper number of freshman women to serve lunch.

Tickets are priced at 30 cents through Wednesday of next week, but, according to the committee, late comers will be charged more because of the inconvenience caused.

Students Receive Delinquent Slips

Delinquent notices were received yesterday and today by all students who are below passing in their work for the first eight weeks of the spring semester.

These "cinches" are a week late because of the bank holiday and moratorium declared recently by Governor Balzar. Instructors turned in their lists Wednesday and it is reported that there are fewer delinquent notices this semester than in previous years.

Announcements

The Faculty Science club will meet Thursday, March 23, in the Aggie building. The speaker of the day is Dr. Frederio Wood, head of the mathematics department of the university. Dr. Wood's subject will be, "How Man-kind Learned to Count."

Staff Selections Made by 'Brush'

Final staff selections were made last night by Kenneth Johnson, editor, for the editorial staff of the Sagebrush for the remainder of the semester. All of the new staff members are students who have tried out or staff positions during the last six weeks. The new members will appear on the masthead next week.

The new names to be added to the list are: Merle Acheson, assistant night editor; Frank Walters, feature writer; Paul Leonard, sports writer; Evelyn Semenza, exchanges; Elva Neddenriep, Mary Williams, Esther Ronzone, Eleanor Doan.

Charles Koerner, business manager, has made but two appointments to his staff. Ned Morehouse and Juney Dixon have been added to the circulation staff.

Mackay Field Gets Many Improvements

During the past few weeks the labor donated through the R. F. C. has been busy repairing and fixing up the athletic field on the campus.

The track at Mackay field has been completely gone over, with the result that it is in the best shape it has been in many years. New boards have been set in around the playing field and repair work has also been done on the football charging machines and tackling apparatus.

At present a group of fifteen men are busy fixing up the pole vaulting runway and broad jumping pit. It is the intention of Joe Lynch, who is in charge of this work, to put a crew of men at work raking off the rocks on the rises surrounding the field.

The baseball field in the extreme eastern part of the campus has also been gone over and all rocks there have been removed.

Return of Swans Is Sign of Spring

The swans, one sign of spring that students can rely upon, were returned to Manzanita lake this week to admire their reflections in its glassy surface.

Taken off the lake in December, when the first glaze of ice began to form, they have been killing time at the experiment farm on Surprise Valley road, where Supervisor Lynch has fed them. There were no bathing facilities and although the birds spent a very dry winter they appear none the worse for their winter vacation.

A small white duck which accompanied the two large swans about the lake last semester was quartered for the winter in the basement of the Aggie building. Lost temporarily by his caretaker in the veterinary department it was later returned.

Club Hears Talk On France, U. S. A.

Gaston Barre, a native of France, addressed the Cosmopolitan Club recently, at its first meeting of the semester, on the topic, "International Relations between the United States and France."

His speech included phases of his various travels and the difficulties involved in being a citizen of two countries, which was caused by the French government not recognizing his American citizenship. This forced Barre to travel under very strange conditions, in fact, almost like a fugitive from justice.

Through his travels of the United States Barre happened to come to Reno and liked it so that he remained here. He belongs to the French Society in Reno, "L'Union Francaise du Nevada."

No Complimentary Tickets for Mackay Luncheon This Year

The Mackay Day luncheon which will be held Saturday, March 25, in the University of Nevada gymnasium will begin promptly at 12 noon. There will be no complimentary tickets issued according to Mildred Huber, chairman of the committee.

All speakers, band members, alumni, faculty members and committees, as well as students, will have to purchase tickets some time before Wednesday, March 22. No tickets will be sold at the door, because it is necessary to know how many will attend ahead of time in order to plan the luncheon accordingly.

Ticket sales are in charge of Esther Ronzone, and sales will be made at the east entrance to the library during each period of the day. Tickets will sell for 30 cents apiece this year.

Candidates Initiated Into Chemistry Club

A short business meeting followed by an initiation of two candidates, Mabel Armstrong and Ben Sheehan, and concluded by two pictures, took place last week when the Chemistry club of the University of Nevada met.

Mabel Armstrong proved to the group present that she could make solid alcohol, while Ben Sheehan showed how testing metals could be done by means of a blowpipe.

Of the pictures, there was one which showed how the X-ray machines are used in medical practice, explained by Cecil Harris, and another on the manufacture of portland cement, explained by Ed Dyer, president of the Chemistry club.

S. A. E. VISITOR

Dr. Carl J. Rice, province arkon of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, was a visitor at the Nevada Alpha chapter of S. A. E. during the last week. While in Reno he was entertained by the chapter and was a guest of Silas E. Ross, university regent.

tive dance team of Frank Hagerly and Roy Fizzorino will strut their stuff in some tap numbers, and again this year a Floradora chorus under the direction of Abigail Hackett and Jean McIntyre will bring back the dances of yesterday.

Song and Dance

If it can possibly be arranged, Ray Hackett, chairman of the committee, will present the Williams sisters in song and dance numbers from the musical comedy "Show Boat." These sisters, who are visiting in Reno at the present time, were in the original cinema production and offer genuine talent in the presentation of negro dances and melodies. In keeping with the hard times the price of the dance has been set at 75 cents, and for the price it will offer more real fun and entertainment than any other campus dance given during the season.

The three Mackay Day queens have been chosen from 21 girls representing all of the sororities and the independents. The names of these queens will be announced Friday preceding Mackay Day. Their pictures will appear in the Sacramento Bee, Reno Evening Gazette, Nevada State Journal and the Sagebrush, and they will be photographed for a special panel in the Armetopia. Three Reno florists will present the queens with bouquets for Mackay Day. They will also receive boxes of candy and Scott Motors, Ltd. will provide them with a car for their use during the day.

U. N. Band

Prof. Post and the university band will be in attendance at the dedication ceremonies of the Haseman-Jones memorial, where Silas Ross and President

Clark are to be the chief speakers. This ceremony has been arranged for exactly 12 noon, and work will cease at 11:45 o'clock to enable everyone to be there.

The luncheon will immediately follow the dedication at approximately 12:30 o'clock, and if the arrangements can be made radio station KOH will broadcast the talks and entertainment from the gymnasium.

Fraternities will begin checking in for work at 8 in the morning and the check will continue until 8:30. No stragglers coming after 8:30 will be counted on percentage list. Each man is urged to bring tools and old brooms when he reports for work. The committee will make the check and the winners will not be known until time for presentation of trophies at the dance.

In order to arouse spirit for the Mackay Day festivities a radio program will be presented over KOH Friday night at 8 o'clock, and this will be followed by Blue Key's college night at the Majestic theater. The Mackay queens will be presented from the stage at the Majestic.

The men's upperclass committee will handle the crowd at the luncheon and there is to be absolutely no admittance without a ticket. These tickets are now on sale at side entrance to the library, and they will continue to be sold until the Wednesday preceding Mackay Day, but after that time there will be no possible way to purchase a ticket. So every person who intends to attend the banquet is urged to make his purchase before March 23 in order that he will be assured of getting in.

Cigarettes, like Foods need Seasoning

That's the part Turkish Tobaccos play in making Chesterfields Taste Better

SMOKERS notice a certain "touch" in Chesterfields that comes from having just enough Turkish tobacco in them . . . a spicy, aromatic flavor that's much the same to a cigarette as seasoning is to food.

For only by blending and cross-blending the right amounts of mild Domestic tobaccos with the right amount of Turkish can we get the flavor and aroma that Chesterfield smokers enjoy.

Next time, ask for "The Cigarette that Satisfies" . . . you'll get Chesterfields, with Milder, Better Taste.
