

Wallace, Solares Sworn Into Office

Last Student Body Meeting of Year Held This Morning

Class Managers Take Oath of Their Office at Meeting

Constitution Amendments Are Passed by Unanimous Vote of Students

James Wallace was sworn in as president of the A.S.U.N. to lead the student government for the 1933-34 school year this morning at the last regular A.S.U.N. meeting of the spring semester. Marthine Solares took the oath as president of Associated Women Students, the oath being given for this office for the first time before the combined student group.

Keith Lee, outgoing president, handing over the gavel to his successor, thanked the students for the support given him in the past year and asked that Wallace be given the same confidence and "more aid and assistance" if possible. He pointed out the difficulties to be encountered next year with a new form of government, and the outlook of a trying year.

Two class managers took oath of office as provided in a recent amendment to the constitution. Mike Gould, as outgoing junior president, administered the oath to Gene Salet, senior class manager. Joe Clark took the oath as sophomore manager from the ex-president of the freshman class, Harry Austin. Fransden Loomis, manager-elect of the junior class of next year, will have to take oath in a student body meeting next fall because he was not present.

Lloyd Bowen proposed an amendment to the constitution which proposed the awarding of a circle N and a certificate to debate, dramatic, oratory and extemporaneous speaking aspirants who had completed required semesters of experience in their particular fields. Bowen's proposal to include sophomores as eligible for awards passed with the vote to accept the amendment.

Debate Awards
Bowen inquired as to the possibilities of having awards due debate and dramatic participants given this year. Keith Lee said that the circle N's had been awarded and money appropriated by finance control for the certificates. Robert Griffin, debate coach, stated that he had not received the money in question, and wondered if the student body cared to place the certificate money toward the purchase of silver keys for them this year. Lee stated that the finance control committee would not appropriate to complete the purchase, whereby Bowen was satisfied.

In behalf of Scabbard and Blade a presentation of a miniature silver scabbard was made to Mary McCullough, who served as honorary major for the R.O.T.C. this semester at the military ball and in the presentation of military awards given this morning. Wayne Van Voorheis made the presentation.

Just before A.S.U.N. was called to order, Kathryn Ligon called a short meeting of the Associated Women Students for the purpose of voting on amendments proposed to their constitution. The amendments passed with little discussion while the men were asked to "please stand by." Miss Ligon later administered the oath to the new president of A.W.S. and thanked the women students for the assistance rendered her during the year.

Jack Wright Is Accepted Into Canadian College

Jack Wright, a senior pre-medical student at the University of Nevada, received word Monday of this week that he has been accepted into the college of medicine of McGill university at Montreal, Canada.

Wright is the first student of the University of Nevada to be accepted into the McGill university and also the only one from the state of Nevada. He will enter in the fall semester.

Wright has been very active while on the campus and belongs to a number of organizations, including the Chemistry club, Omega Mu Iota, and is affiliated with the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

PHI SIGS ELECT

Phi Sigma Kappa held election of officers last Monday night, May 1. Joe McLeod was elected president for the ensuing year.

Beverly Douglas was elected vice president and Kirby Stoddard secretary. Cedric Maydwell will again act as treasurer and Ray Frolich and Robert Stoker will act as rushing captains.

Mummified Head Is Spooky Exhibit At Mining School

If you are feeling "jittery" better stay away from a certain part of the Mackay School of Mines museum—or if you have a firm grip on yourself go and take a good look at the creepy thing.

Tucked away in a dark corner of the museum is one of its "skeeriest" and one of its most unique possessions. It is not a skeleton or an old fashioned dinosaur, but the mummified head of an Indian, shrunken to about one-sixth of its normal size, with long coarse black hair flowing from its leathery scalp.

It was brought to the university from South America some four years ago by a mining school graduate who had been living near the Jivora Indians of the eastern Andes mountains.

In itself, the mummified head is not so terrifying to the average person, but Robert Prince, assistant instructor in the school of mines, became interested in it recently. He began quietly to "revamp" it, applying various minerals to the features without making it look as if it had been doctored up.

Today, if the stage is set right, the uninitiated student is due for a big surprise if he pokes his head inside the little observation room outside the room where the "mystery" is kept. Eyes of unearthly purple blaze at him from the swarthy shrunken head, the nostrils are aglow with an inner light, even the skin is suffused by a ghastly flesh-tone—not exactly soothing, to say the least!

These effects were produced by an x-ray lamp placed above the grotesque little head, which caused the treated parts to stand out with distinctness. Students in the building have become acquainted with the queer Indian head, and several have offered suggestions for "beautifying" it further, but still there is nothing suggesting chumminess about it.

The donor of the head said that they were comparatively rare now in South America, since the governments there had put an embargo on them to discourage exportation because natives were paid about $50 apiece for them.

Football Programs To Be Published In Fall Semester

Members of both the old and new publications boards made extensive plans for the publication, next semester, of three football programs, to be issued at home games. Only one such program was published during the last season and that appeared in the Desert Wolf.

The programs are to consist of ten pages each for two games and sixteen pages for the Homecoming contest. National advertising has already been assured the schedule, and plans have already been made for an eastern firm to supply the cover designs, which are expected to be of excellent quality. Most of the printing will be done by one of the local companies.

Homecoming Day
The Homecoming Day game will be played against the College of Pacific. Nevada will also meet Chico State and the Olympic club in home games. The programs will give the lineups for each team, as well as pictures of the players and their coaches. Advertising, both national and local, will defray the cost of printing the schedules.

The board also discussed plans for a banquet to be held at the end of the present school year and considered the prospect of reestablishing a publication bureau, dispensed with two years ago.

STUDENT SCRIBES SCRIBBLE NAMES ON JOURNALISM LABORATORY DESKS

Whether there is any truth in the old adage, "Fool's names and fool's faces always appear in public places," is a matter of little concern to the scribes of the university department of journalism.

To prove their lack of interest in the adage, the news hounds have proceeded to carve the large wooden tables which extend the full length of the journalism laboratory, with names and nicknames that cover all of the available space on the tables.

Seniors Conclude College Careers With Celebration

Senior Ball Will Climax the Traditional Week of Festivity

Annual Pilgrimage Takes Interest of Seniors on Thursday

Bidding goodbye to familiar sights and friends, the graduating seniors of the university will spend next week in their traditional annual senior week festivities, while the remainder of the campus is still hard at work studying for final examinations.

Featuring the pilgrimage, traditional tour of the campus, a gala picnic and a baseball game, the week will be climaxed by the annual senior ball, given to the graduating class by the juniors on Friday in the Washoe County Library building ballroom.

Graduates who dashed frantically about the campus last week putting the finishing touches to their university careers can now afford to take life easy in a last brief week of contemplation of their four years of work and play at the institution. Class leaders have planned a busy weekend of pleasure.

Baseball Game

The celebration will open for the graduates with a game against the members of the faculty on the university baseball diamond Monday at 4 p. m. The pick of the players of the graduating class will compete against a hand selected group of faculty stars who have been playing the seniors for several years.

The senior picnic, to be held at Tamarack lodge, at Lake Tahoe, will take the attention of the seniors on Tuesday. They will gather at the student administration building at 10 a. m. and leave for the lake in a body.

Tea for Women

The graduating women will be entertained by Mrs. Walter E. Clark and Margaret E. Mack, dean of women, at a tea to be held Wednesday at the Century club at 1:00 p. m.

One of the two most important events of the week, the traditional pilgrimage, will take place on Thursday afternoon under the direction of class leaders. Keith Lee, outgoing student body president, will give the first address. Other speakers will be Katharine Ligon, Maryanne Peck, Mason Myers, John Fant, Margaret Rawson, Eva Edwards and Al Seeliger.

Senior Ball

The climax of the week's festivities will come on Friday with the annual senior ball. Arrangements for the ball are in the hands of a committee headed by Bruce Gould.

A tea in honor of the graduates will be held by Coffin and Keys and Cap and Scroll at the Alpha Tau Omega house Saturday from 3 to 5 p. m., concluding the last pilgrimage of the graduates.

Mining Students Elect Officers

The Crucible club, an organization of mining students and faculty, elected officers this week at the home of Jay Carpenter. Ben Sheehan of Las Vegas was chosen as president, Max Crowsell of South Bend, Ind., vice president, Elmer Hawkins of Grass Valley secretary and Herman Freudenberg of Vallejo treasurer.

The club meets once a month and is addressed by prominent members of the mining profession. It is a branch of the Society of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

At the meeting last week there were thirty students and faculty members present.

PHI KAPPA PHI BANQUET

Members of Phi Kappa Phi will hold their annual banquet Saturday evening, May 13, at the Century club.

Dr. John Edward Carver will deliver the address of the evening, which will be entitled "The Modern Student." Dr. Carver is pastor of First Presbyterian church at Ogden, Utah.

Those attending the banquet will be active and alumni members and guests.

Campus Night Show Proves Complete Financial Success

The first Campus Night held at the Majestic theater netted the Associated Students $75.32. This meant that the various organizations, under the direction of Gene Salet, including the Sages, Sagors and Blue Key were required to sell some 493 tickets.

According to word received from individuals in these groups, the selling of tickets was not particularly difficult. In fact, the entire sale took place in the three days previous to the show. Mr. Tompkins, manager of the T. & D. enterprises of this city, has expressed a willingness to cooperate on future shows of this nature. He stated that it could be made a regular affair and would result in appreciable returns to the student body.

These shows could not be held more than once every three or four weeks, but besides the remuneration realized would give an expression for the dramatic talent on the hill, according to student leaders.

Nevada Songbook To Be Published By Next Semester

Book Will Be Sold at Cost of Twenty-five Cents to All Frosh

Many Old Songs of Nevada and Other Favorites To Be Included

Along with their "bibles," the freshmen of next fall will probably be required to purchase a University of Nevada songbook, now being prepared by Professor T. H. Post, head of the music department. The book will be available at a greatly reduced cost, and it is thought that it will be required for orientation classes.

The book will be dedicated to the late Dr. Charles Haseman, who helped Paul Ralston, well known musician of Reno, edit the last copy of the song book.

Besides all the old fight songs, the "hymn," the Mackay Song, and others, the new book will contain some new songs. These new numbers include "Fidelity," written by J. A. Aken ex-'29 and M. H. Connor '29; "Back the Pack," by August Bethune, with a harmonized arrangement enabling it to be sung by groups; "Nevada Hail Song," written by Professor A. L. Higginbotham, and music by Professor Post. This song was included in a volume of national college songs published several years ago.

Nevada Songs
Another song written by Professor Higginbotham will also be included. It is the "March Song," with a musical arrangement taken from the popular "Pomp and Circumstance." The song "Fighting Wolf Pack," submitted for a student song contest a few years ago by Richmond Mann and sponsored by the Manzanita Hall association, will be included. It is written to the tune of the famous naval academy song, "Anchors Away."

The words will be printed for the new official state song, "Home Means Nevada," written by Mrs. Bertha Raffetto. Words will be included for several old popular numbers, "Auld Lang Syne," "A Long, Long Trail" and "Memories." Words and music will both be printed for another state song, "My Nevada," written by Mrs. Martha Coleman.

Pictures Included
There probably will be a number of pictures of familiar campus scenes used to illustrate the book, as there were in the old edition. The book will be the same size, but will be copyrighted by the Associated Students of the University of Nevada, and sold at cost.

It has been tentatively arranged to have a publishing firm of Ann Arbor, Mich., print the song book. Their process of photoprinting makes possible the small price of the book, estimated to be under 25 cents, while the price of the 1927 edition was 75 cents.

Professor Post believes that since songs have been taught for three years in orientation classes there will be an increased interest in group singing. Copies of the songbook will be distributed to all the dormitories and houses as well as to the frosh.

Independents Plan Reorganization

A committee for reorganization, next semester, of the Independent students of the university was appointed Monday night at a meeting, consisting of Adelyn Rotholz, chairman, Mary Murphy, Dolores Hartor, Ned Morehouse.

The new officers for the coming year took the oath of office. The new officers are: Ned Morehouse, president; Dick Bagley, vice president, and Mary Murphy, secretary-treasurer. The retiring officers are John McNamara, president, and Grace Armbruster, secretary-treasurer.

Far Western Meet Climaxes Season For Track Team

Nevada Wolf Pack Given Fair Chance to Take Honors

Seven Men Make Journey to Sacramento for Meet

A small but determined track team of seven men entrained this morning for Sacramento, where they will participate in the Far Western Conference meet tomorrow.

Coach Brock Mitchell is placing Nevada's hopes for points on Paul Leonard, Wolf Miller; Smythe, two miler; Harvey Hill, dashes, and Hromadka in the hurdles. Bledsoe, Arentz and Thies are expected to show up well in their events also.

Nevada is not given a big chance to cop the meet because of the size of the team and the lack of material in the weights and jumps.

Marty Outstanding
Fresno State, led by Captain Herb Denham, veteran hurdler, is given a slight edge to win the meet.

Walter Marty, high jumper from Fresno, holds the conference record at 6 feet 6 1/2 inches and there appears to be no other entrant who can give him stiff competition.

Lee Ayres, veteran Fresno dash man, has run the century in 9.7, which should put him in good stead for honors in this event. White, Bulldog weight man, throws the shot around 44 feet consistently, and tosses the discus near 140 feet.

Ohio State should show up well in the meet, since they defeated the California Aggies, who in turn defeated the College of Pacific. Pacific defeated Nevada at a close meet held here recently. Coppin of the Wildcats will force Leonard of the Wolves in the mile event.

Pacific Strong
For the College of Pacific, Hooyar and Bardin stand out as the main point getters. Hooyar ran the quarter in 50 seconds flat at the meet with Nevada. Bardin is a good weight man and broad jumps past the 20 foot mark.

San Jose looms as the dark horse of the meet, having had a fair season.

Expect to Place
Nevada may be able to gain a fourth place in the meet if the two distance men, Leonard and Smythe, and the hurdler, Hromadka, win their events. Leonard cut his time on the mile down to 4 minutes and 35 seconds at the meet with College of Pacific. In the lower altitude the consensus seems to be that he will make a fair bid for the conference record which stands at 4 minutes and 30 seconds.

Hromadka should give other hurdlers a fast race in both the high and low hurdles. The race between Hromadka and Richardson of Pacific proved to be the most spectacular one of the meet held here.

Smythe has shown himself to be consistent in the two mile run. He has not lost this event this season and in the meet tomorrow he is hoped to come through with a first place.

Fine Arts Bids Sent This Week

Twenty-five lifesize masks by Harlan Cokran were on exhibit the last of this week in the library, sponsored by the Fine Arts group of the University of Nevada.

Bids were sent out also this week to 20 students who have made the Fine Arts group for the present semester. Any student on the Nevada campus is eligible to try out for this organization and does not have to be a student of art.

Those students who received bids to the Fine Arts group are Adelyn Rotholz, Alice Couch, Beth West, Virginia Murgotten, Lois Hutchinson, Adeline Belmont, Margaret Gorman, Dorothy Shogren, Theresa Jauregi, Jean Rowe, Mary Adeline Thompson, Margaret Evans, Helene Per Lee, Jessie Gulling, Dorothy Cooper, Elizabeth Young, Frank Walters, Stephen Comish, Donald O'Connell, Gene Salet and Chris Kocootes.

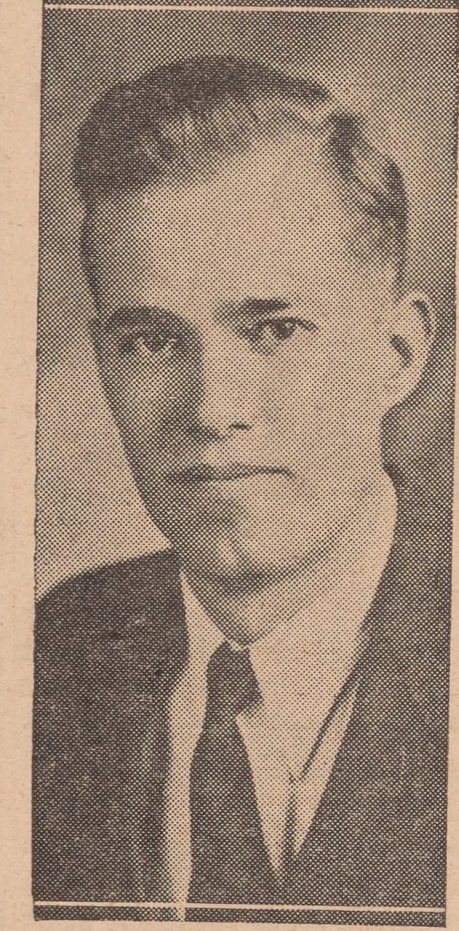

STUDENT PROVES TOO FLEET FOR SHOPLIFTER IN GET-AWAY ATTEMPT

A sidelong glance, a cry of "Stop thief!" and a chase through the business district of Reno, last week led to the apprehension of a shoplifter from a local store at the hands of none other than Ed Montgomery, a junior student at the university.

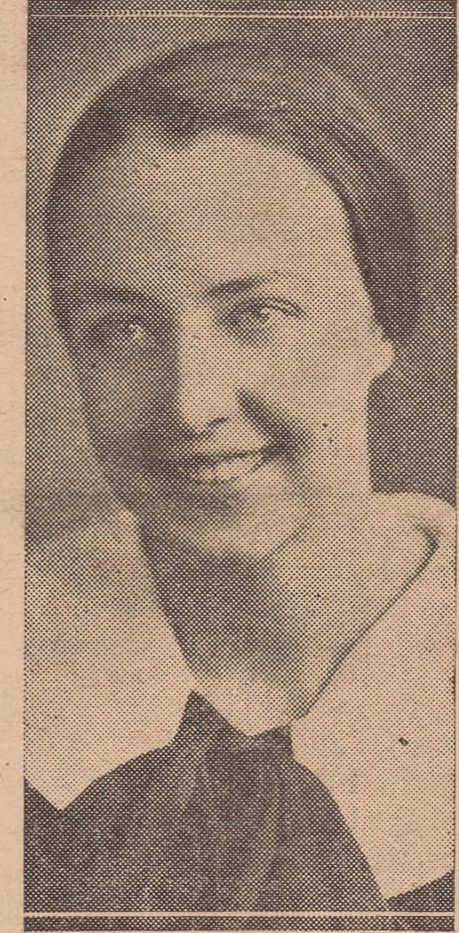

Montgomery is employed in a local department store and he noticed a man whose strange actions immediately aroused Montgomery's detective instincts. It wasn't so bad when the man took about six pair of gloves, but when he grabbed eight neckties Montgomery

Eighteen Senators Sworn Into Office At First Meeting

Activities Budgets Are Facing Deficit, Statement Made by Harwood

Wilson Chosen as New Chairman of Finance Control Board

Eighteen men and women student senators met in the Student Administration building last Wednesday night at 7:20 and took the senatorial oath of office from student body president Keith Lee. The ceremony ushered in the "new deal" for campus government promised by the new-form constitution recently adopted by University of Nevada students.

Delivering a brief introductory speech, Lee stressed the importance of the first meeting of representatives of the new government and straightway proceeded to swear the new officers in. Calling first all the women members before him, and then the men, Lee asked them to say "I," speak their names, and repeat after him:

Oath Taken
"Having received the appointment as senator of the student body of the University of Nevada from my organization, therefore I solemnly promise that I shall faithfully perform all the duties which shall accrue to me during my term as an A.S.U.N. official. That I shall act without bias or prejudice on all student problems that may confront me. That I shall strive to the utmost of my ability to further what I deem to be the best interests of the student body. And that I shall attempt in every possible way to serve the students of the University of Nevada to the highest degree which I may achieve. So help me, God."

Getting down to cases at once, the new senators listened to an exhaustive report on the financial set-up for the coming year, presented by Prof. P. A. Harwood, retiring chairman of the finance control committee, elected Prof. F. Wilson to succeed Harwood, and named members to those committees which demanded instant attention.

Chosen to act on finance control for the coming year were Esther Ronzone and Sam Arentz. Gladys Morris, Elbert Walker and Dan Harvey were elected to the executive committee. Elected secretary of the student body, Clara Galvin will also act as secretary to the senate. Marthine Solares was elected temporary chairman. Miss Solares is also Associated Women Students president and automatically becomes a member of the executive committee. Both Miss Galvin and Miss Solares were chosen by unanimous vote.

Beemer Appointed

Lee appointed Bill Beemer to act as sergeant at arms for the senate and named the following nominating committee, whose function is to recommend nominations to the senate at large: John Chism, chairman, Wilma Chanslor, Esther Ronzone, Bill Beemer and Elwin Jeffers.

Prof. F. Wilson was unanimously elected to the chairmanship of finance control, it being felt that in view of his enthusiastic interest in student affairs he was the logical man for the position. He will hold office for one year. Senators and committee members.

Frosh Trackmen Win Over Reno

Freshmen track, for the 1933 season, closed with the defeat of the Reno high school Huskies by the Baby Wolves last Saturday. Coach "Brick" Mitchell has announced that all men scoring one point or more in any meet will be awarded their numerals.

Potential varsity material was brought out during the past season, and according to Mitchell some of the men should turn into point getters for the Wolf Pack when the 1934 season rolls around.

Cummings and Becas in the high jump, Hartman in the middle distances, Gerow in the weights, Hunting and Brown in the hurdles and Noyes in the sprints have all shown up well during the past season.

CHEM CLUB ELECTS

Kirby Stoddard was elected to lead the university Chemistry club for the coming semester, with Murray English vice president, Dino Barengo treasurer and Kathryn Slavin secretary.

Two theses were presented at the meeting at which the election was held by Robert Harrison and Fred Spitz.

Fransden Speaks At Annual Banquet

Omega Mu Iota, University of Nevada pre-medical fraternity, held its annual banquet at the Cafe Flor d'Italia last weekend. The dinner was featured by a short and interesting talk on the part of Dr. Peter Fransden, professor of zoology at the university.

Dr. Fransden discussed the benefits of medical aid in this community. Dr. Dwight Hood, who was a scheduled speaker at the dinner, was called away in the midst of the program to perform an operation.

The medical students during the evening were entertained by Darrel Berry and Max Kepl, on the trumpet and piano. Those attending the annual function were as follows: Jack Belz, Wilbert Petersen, Jack Hughes, Ernie Mack, Kenneth Elges, Gordon Carman, Darrell Berry, Maxwell Kepl, Bab Hansen, Nelson Webster, Henry Rampold, Jack Wright, Fredric Foster, Thomas Trychall, Angela De Nevi, Anna Belle Langberg, Alvin Jacobs, Kenneth Maclean, Dwight L. Hood, Peter Fransden, Leo Nannini, Harold West, Dave Clark, Bruce Moore, Elizabeth Carpenter, Haynes Roberts, Richard Bagley, Dan Bledsoe and Kathleen Haffey.

Eighteen Senators Sworn Into Office At First Meeting

Activities Budgets Are Facing Deficit, Statement Made by Harwood

Wilson Chosen as New Chairman of Finance Control Board

Eighteen men and women student senators met in the Student Administration building last Wednesday night at 7:20 and took the senatorial oath of office from student body president Keith Lee. The ceremony ushered in the "new deal" for campus government promised by the new-form constitution recently adopted by University of Nevada students.

Delivering a brief introductory speech, Lee stressed the importance of the first meeting of representatives of the new government and straightway proceeded to swear the new officers in. Calling first all the women members before him, and then the men, Lee asked them to say "I," speak their names, and repeat after him:

Oath Taken "Having received the appointment as senator of the student body of the University of Nevada from my organization, therefore I solemnly promise that I shall faithfully perform all the duties which shall accrue to me during my term as an A.S.U.N. official. That I shall act without bias or prejudice on all student problems that may confront me. That I shall strive to the utmost of my ability to further what I deem to be the best interests of the student body. And that I shall attempt in every possible way to serve the students of the University of Nevada to the highest degree which I may achieve. So help me, God."

Getting down to cases at once, the new senators listened to an exhaustive report on the financial set-up for the coming year, presented by Prof. P. A. Harwood, retiring chairman of the finance control committee, elected Prof. F. Wilson to succeed Harwood, and named members to those committees which demanded instant attention.

Chosen to act on finance control for the coming year were Esther Ronzone and Gladys Morris, Elbert Walker and Dan Harvey were elected to the executive committee. Elected secretary of the student body, Clara Galvin will also act as secretary to the senate. Marthine Solares was elected temporary chairman. Miss Solares is also Associated Women Students president and automatically becomes a member of the executive committee. Both Miss Galvin and Miss Solares were chosen by unanimous vote.

Beemer Appointed Lee appointed Bill Beemer to act as sergeant at arms for the senate and named the following nominating committee, whose function is to recommend nominations to the senate at large: John Chism, chairman, Wilma Chanslor, Esther Ronzone, Bill Beemer and Elwin Jeffers. Prof. F. Wilson was unanimously elected to the chairmanship of finance control, it being felt that in view of his enthusiastic interest in student affairs he was the logical man for the position. He will hold office for one year. Senators and committee members. (Continued on Page Four)

Frosh Trackmen Win Over Reno

Freshmen track, for the 1933 season, closed with the defeat of the Reno High school Huskies by the "Brick" Wolves last Saturday. Coach "Brick" Mitchell has announced that all men scoring one point or more in any meet will be awarded their numerals.

Potential varsity material was brought out during the past season, and according to Mitchell some of the men should turn into point getters for the Wolf Pack when the 1934 season rolls around.

Cummings and Becas in the high jump, Hartman in the middle distances, Gerow in the weights, Hunting and Brown in the hurdles and Noyes in the sprints have all shown up well during the past season.

CHEM CLUB ELECTS

Kirby Stoddard was elected to lead the university Chemistry club for the coming semester, with Murray English vice president, Dino Barengo treasurer and Kathryn Slavin secretary. Two threes were presented at the meeting at which the election was held by Robert Harrison and Fred Spitz.

Football Programs To Be Published In Fall Semester

Members of both the old and new publications boards made extensive plans for the publication, next semester, of three football programs, to be issued at home games.

The programs are to consist of ten pages each for two games and sixteen pages for the Homecoming contest. National advertising has already been assured the schedule, and plans have already been made for an eastern firm to supply the cover designs, which are expected to be of excellent quality. Most of the printing will be done by one of the local companies.

The Homecoming Day game will be played against the College of Pacific. Nevada will also meet Ohio State and the Olympic club in home games. The programs will give the lineups for each team, as well as pictures of the players and their coaches. Advertising, both national and local, will defray the cost of printing the schedules.

The board also discussed plans for a banquet to be held at the end of the present school year and considered the prospect of reestablishing a publication bureau, dispensed with two years ago.

STUDENT SCRIBES SCRIBBLE NAMES ON JOURNALISM LABORATORY DESKS

Whether there is any truth in the old adage, "Fool's names and fool's faces always appear in public places," is a matter of little concern to the scribes of the university department of journalism.

To prove their lack of interest in the adage, the news hounds have proceeded to carve the large wooden tables which extend the full length of the journalism laboratory, with names and nicknames that cover all of the available space on the tables.

Appearing on the two old tables are the carved names of members of the journalism classes since 1924 that read like a complete roster of members of the publications staffs. Names ranging from "Scoop" to "Simple Duane Mack" and "Lovable, Desirable Carol Cross," are spread over the aging tables.

Even the drawers in the table did not escape the scribbling of the ambitious scribes. As time goes on and the names become famous, the tables may become a welcome addition to a historical museum.

Independents Plan Reorganization

A committee for reorganization, next semester, of the Independent students of the university was appointed Monday night at a meeting, consisting of Adelyn Rothholtz, chairman, Mary Murphy, Dolores Hartor, Ned Morehouse. The new officers for the coming year took the oath of office. The new officers are: Ned Morehouse, president; Dick Bagley, vice president, and Mary Murphy, secretary-treasurer. The retiring officers are John McNamara, president, and Grace Armbruster, secretary-treasurer.

WAKE UP, STUDENTS!

A senate composed of serious minded student leaders met this week to consider grave problems of student welfare for the first time. Two new student officers were sworn in at the student body meeting today and the new A.S.U.N. government embarked on its first voyage. Whether the passage will be a stormy one or clear sailing depends entirely on the student body. A leader's helpless without a body of serious minded thinkers to lead and the coming year must see the student body give complete support or this constitution, like the others, will be junked, a complete failure. The fault in the old constitutions was not their form or construction. In these ways, they were fairly complete. What the Nevada student body is suffering from is a complete lack of spirit exhibited by more than one-third of the students enrolled in the student body.

A statement that all student bodies suffer from this malady is not a true one. The students at the University of California at Los Angeles turned out 100 per cent to vote for their new officers at an election held recently. At the last A.S.U.N. election, approximately two-thirds of the student body voted. This was the largest number to vote at a Nevada election in recent years. The Independent students on the campus are the group that has shown the most indifference toward student affairs. Next year they will be represented by two students in the senate. There are other capable Independents on the campus and there is no reason why they should not take an interest in student affairs and gain the position of power that is rightfully theirs.

That there are important questions facing the student body for the coming year is a matter beyond all doubt. The position of graduate manager has been abolished and student leaders must take over the duties that he formerly performed. A new head for the finance control committee has been appointed. The student body is facing the possibility of a large deficit in its activity budget for the coming year in spite of the abolishment of the Desert Wolf. A "new deal" is a good idea, but it brings with it endless new problems. The only way the student body can get through such a difficult year is to develop some real spirit and interest.—W. M.

WHAT, NO SOMBREROS!

Can it be that the senior man's sombrero has disappeared entirely from the campus, and that the once familiar nutria-colored headgear is gone forever?

It surely can't be true that seniors are ashamed of their station on the campus, or that they are so modest as to shun the attention they would get were they to don the badge of the fourth-year man. Engineers especially seem beyond this alibi, yet not one has been seen with a stetson.

Perhaps today's seniors can remember when, as an underclass man, they envied the senior his right to wear the sombrero, and vowed that some day they would be in his place, and wouldn't pass up the opportunity. Today they are in a position to realize this ambition.

The sentimental value of a sombrero will outweigh its monetary cost many times in after years, when memories will be more precious than gold.—N. M.

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENTS MEET

Called by Harry Caldwell, president of the associated students of the California College of Agriculture, a meeting of the student body presidents of the colleges in the Far Western conference was held in Davis.

For the first time an attempt was made to bring the entire student bodies of the various institutions together in order to improve relations among the schools and to discuss problems which the student bodies are facing.

Heretofore the only contact which the various colleges have had with each other has been through athletic or other contests, which represent but a phase of student thought and activity. The presidents, however, are in a position to represent their entire student bodies.

The two Nevada delegates feel that they were well repaid for the trip. It is hoped that these conferences will become a permanent event, and that Nevada will have the honor of sponsoring a meet in Reno in the future.—N. M.

Wolf Howls

By WALT HERZ
Graduation approaches, but what do the underclass men care? Or the seniors for that matter? Everyone is going around in such a vacant state of mind, or else supercharged with fidgets, that the hue and cry is "There ain't no justice!" And almost daily during the semester the maestros warned us to avoid these headaches of exam and term report week. But the spirit of independence always prevails. But, sir, I'll be sleeping next month. I can't go to work so soon.

Guffrey has turned gentleman in his latest selection of a girl friend, and his pin hanging instituted a general check-up at the Tau house to collect back cigars. Moore hasn't as yet shown up with the "El Ropos."

It looks like Doc Martie won out in his feud with Harting, and now has finance control for his own plaything. Bernie is angling for a position now and when Roosevelt loosens up on the patronage we'll be able to announce the glad news.

How the tabloids would feast on this corruption, the revelation that Denver Dickerson gave the position of assistant editor of the last Wolf to Florine Frank in exchange for a half-case of beer. And Elva joined in the froth blowing.

The profs get kitchin in the spring time. Here are some recent maneuvers: "Suds" wanted to know if he was supposed to be queen of the May, on the first of the month; "Higgy" in trying to aid someone in pronouncing marital added, "I know many weddings we hear about are martial, but this word is marital." Doctor Wood is up to his old trick of attending the auctions again. He has been holding a front seat at a gift shop auction, keenly watching for bargains in pewterware.

Menante asked Frolich who owned the glass studded pink comb which he had just borrowed. On receiving nothing for reply but the characteristic Frolich growl, he sniffed it gently and guessed "Patsy." And he was dead right.

Griff McDonald, "the smiling corporal," is another to succumb to the wiles of the unconquerable Sadie, who says the only reason she doesn't have everyone up to her apartment is that she doesn't know everybody.

Malloy, our Irish Helen, had to play a dual role last week. She stalled a collector by professing not to know Miss Malloy, but next day had to face the man, and with the aid of dark glasses and face reconstruction became herself, and paid her bill, we hope.

Did anyone ever see Toby Plehn with his hair in place, or Bill Judson for that matter? Toby, whose pappy is head of the economics department at California, is the kind of a student most of us would like to be. He can hit the books hard, but still knows how to ah, relax, shall we say?

And Maryalice insists she and Bill are married, and without a blush, too. There was a time—well, we won't go into that.

Magazine Given Copy by Group

University of Nevada chapter of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, honorary mining engineers' fraternity, will furnish the material for the May edition of the Compass, fraternity magazine.

Six articles, written by students and faculty members of the society, will appear in the magazine. Three of the articles will deal with the university mining department, and three with the history of mining in Nevada.

"History of the Mackay School of Mines," written by John Stock and Thomas Cahill; "The Mining Museum," by Professor Carl Stoddard, and "State Analytical Laboratory Activities," by Jack Woodward, comprise the first group.

"Faulting on the East Slopes of the Sierras" will be discussed by Theodore Overton, "The Recent Cedar Mountain Earthquake" will be written by Professor V. P. Gianella, and an article on Suro tunnel, the old tunnel that drained the mines at Virginia City in the late '70s, will appear, written by Earl Seaborn.

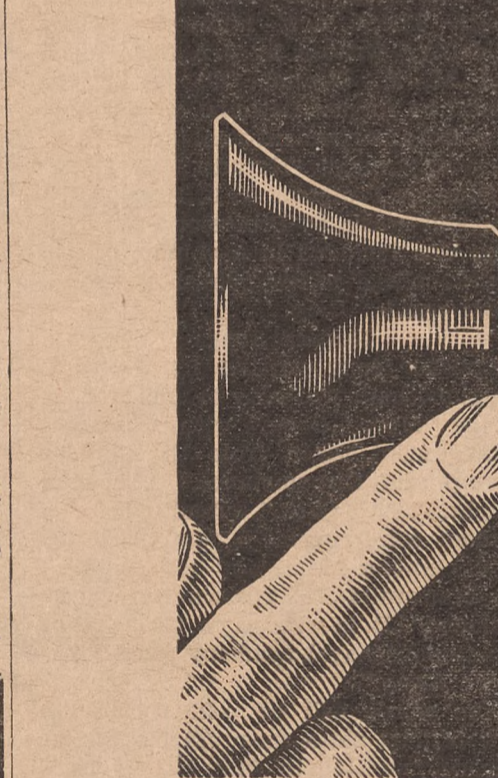

This is the first time for several years that the Nevada chapter has contributed to the national magazine.

Vocal cords made of coal!

Typical of Western Electric care and precision in manufacturing Bell Telephone apparatus, is the making of the transmitter button which transforms spoken words into electrical impulses.

This transmitter button—the telephone's vocal cords—contains coal. Only a fine grade of selected anthracite, specially treated, is suited for this delicate work. First the coal is ground into fine granular form—next it is carefully sifted and washed. Then, after being roasted in special ovens, it is put into the transmitter button. Approximately 50,000 tiny grains must go into each button—too few or too many would impair transmission.

Such infinite care with "little things" is one reason why Bell System apparatus serves so faithfully.

'As You Like It' Said Successful

Campus Players' production, "As You Like It," was financially as well as artistically successful. With a small profit, this play is one of the few in late years which has broken even. Its success may be truly measured when it is considered that all students were admitted by their student body cards only, whereas in past years the students have had to pay the usual admittance.

Besides the non-paying students approximately 85 complimentary tickets were given to forensic contestants and high school student body presidents for the Thursday night performance.

High School Girls To Take Part in Annual Play Day

Women of University Sports Festival for Girls

At least eighty high school girls will take part in the sixth annual W. A. A. Play Day, which will be held this Saturday on the campus. The high schools that have accepted the invitations so far are Reno, sending 40 delegates; Sparks, 25; Lovelock, 9, and Gardnerville, 6.

The program scheduled for the delegates has been made up by a committee with Helen Olmstead as chairman. The morning will be taken up with various sports that will include baseball, track, volleyball, bowling, horseshoes, tennis, hop scotch and clock golf, which is a form of golf played with hockey sticks. The delegates will then be the guests of W. A. A. for lunch in the gym.

The afternoon will be taken up with forming a constitution to govern the athletics of all the state high schools and with awarding prizes to the winners in the morning competitions.

The Play Day will take place regardless of the weather conditions, according to Mae Simas, physical education instructor, and if it is bad it will be held in the gym.

MATINEE DANCES ARE SUCCESSFUL

The matinee dances held at the various sorority houses and Manzanita hall last Saturday were so successful both socially and financially that the event is liable to become an annual affair, A.W.S. leaders announced.

The purpose of the dances was to raise funds for the annual A.W.S. scholarship which is awarded to the most worthy woman student on the campus. It is thought by some that this fund is made up of the dimes that the freshmen women donate, but it is definitely stated in the constitution of the Associated Women Students that the money for this scholarship must be earned by that group.

A total of $33.65 was realized by all the groups participating. Gamma Phi Beta turned in $8.80 and Pi Beta Phi $6.40. The remainder of this fund, along with $4.60 realized from the sale of ice cream at basketball games, will be turned over to the Women's Athletic Association.

proceeds of the dance will be used to help deserving members through college next semester.

Beta Sigs Have Party

Beta Sigma Omicron held its second of a series of bridge parties recently at the chapter house on West street. Misses Marian Jones and Mildred Goble were in charge of the affair, and were assisted by members of the active chapter, alumnae association, mothers' club and by the patronesses, Mesdames Wayne Wilson, Vincent Gianella and Frances Headley.

About one hundred persons attended the affair.

Athletic Co-Eds Display Skill in Play Day Games

Feminine athletes of the university displayed their gymnastic skill this week when they held a miniature Play Day in the university gymnasium. The sports indulged in ranged from wrestling matches and bowling to stiff legged relay races.

The two teams of eight husky co-eds each were captained by Miriam Butler and Sally Fagan. The red team, led by Fagan, came out the victors with a total of 185 points, while the greens finished with a score of 140.

Bowling honors were divided between Grace Semenza of the greens and Kathryn Wardleigh of the reds; while Mary Murphy, husky member of the green team, captured the wrestling honors.

Sally Fagan scored 15 points with three bullseye baseball throws to head that division of the contests. Two four-man relay races, one stiff-legged and one mock turtle relay were all won by the green team, composed of Sally Fagan, Julia Sibley, Kathryn Wardleigh, Ruth Lyons, Kathryn Martin, Louise Tibball, Stella Vucovich.

This Play Day was a miniature of the high school Play Day sponsored every year by the Women's Athletic Association of the university.

Baseball, which was to be the last sport offered by W. A. A. this semester, has been canceled, according to Mae Simas, physical education instructor.

The sport was to have been held this week, but because of the bad weather and the lack of time for play off of the interclass games, baseball will have to be held over until next semester. The schedule for next year has been so arranged that the sport will be offered three weeks before the end of school, instead of the last two weeks, as it was scheduled this year.

Sigma Nu Baseball Team Beats S.A.E. To Capture Trophy

The Sigma Nu baseball nine gained a clear title to the interfraternity baseball championship after downing the Sigma Alpha Epsilon aggregation in the first two contests of a scheduled three game series this week.

Led by Jack Hill, veteran twirler, the Sigma Nus won a 7 to 5 victory in the first tilt last Tuesday. Hill allowed but six hits to the losing team. A bad throw on the part of the Sig Alpha catcher turned a bunt by Leonard, Sigma Nu left fielder, into a home run.

Both teams were hitting consistently, with Leighton of the Sigma Nus and Kormmayer of the Sig Alphas turning in the best batting performances of the day.

The game yesterday was frequented by a great number of hits by both teams. The final score stood at 22-12.

The losing team was unable to put up a pitcher who could hold down the steady hitting of the Sigma Nu team. Parsons was forced out of the box at the end of the third inning and was replaced by Miller.

Leighton and Hill were outstanding for the Sigma Nu team although every man played his position well. Kormmayer and Flournoy played the most consistent ball for the losers.

The winning of this cup gives the Sigma Nus the third major sports trophy of this year, having won basketball and track.

Interfraternity Picnic Canceled

Because of the lack of interest of the various fraternities in signing up in advance for a picnic, the interfraternity picnic was canceled. It was to be sponsored by the interfraternity council.

The plan for a group fraternity picnic may be resumed next spring, but in the opinion of council members it is difficult in any year to create interest in such an affair, and hard enough to get action in the houses for their own private picnics.

Any graduating student not planning to be present at the graduation exercises please notify Miss Sissa right away.

Clewett Chosen Perfect Cadet of R.O.T.C. Battalion

At the annual R.O.T.C. inspection, held Wednesday on Mackay field, Cadet Sergeant Richard M. Clewett, company B, won the gold medal for drill and discipline which is presented by company C, 7th regiment of Scabbard and Blade, for the school year 1932-33.

After the completion of the elimination drill, the six cadets remaining were: Cadet Sergeant Richard M. Clewett, Cadet Sergeant William F. Kottke, Cadet Corporal James C. Thompson, Cadet Private Raymond C. Frolich, Cadet Private William J. Cockrell, Cadet Corporal Perry B. Priest. Of these six, Cadet Clewett had a perfect record in attendance and discipline for the school year 1932-33. In addition he also had a perfect record in discipline for the school year 1931-1932.

Company B, Cadet Captain George W. Davis commanding, was selected as the best drilled company in the cadet battalion and is designated as the color company for the school year 1933-34. Last year Sergeant Major and his company C won the respective prizes.

The inspection this year was made by Major Charles E. McCarthy of the United States infantry. He had a particularly sharp eye out for dust on the shoes and rifles and quickly but thoroughly inspected each soldier.

Professor Theodore H. Post, head of the music department of the university, became the father of a third daughter on April 30, it is learned here recently. Both mother and daughter are in good health.

Yearlings Win in Three-Cornered Meet

On the cold, wind swept Mackay field last Saturday the Nevada Wolf Cubs won a track meet from Reno and Susanville high schools in decisive fashion, with a score of 58 to 47.

Galloway, lone representative of Susanville high, garnered 11 points to make his presence felt.

Booth, Reno high, was high scorer with 14 points, while Hunting, frosh, was second with 13 digits.

Baseball Players Must See Martie

According to a statement made recently by J. E. Martie all students planning to play any kind of organized baseball during the summer must get a permit from the faculty athletic committee chairman. This is a Far Western Conference regulation and must be adhered to. Any student who fails to comply with this ruling will not be eligible to compete in the Far Western Conference next year.

Gene Salet, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and prominent in campus affairs, was elected last week to the position of senior class manager for the coming year.

Salet is vice president of Scabbard and Blade, member of finance control committee and plays both basketball and football. He is from Fernley.

Senate Meets

In a lengthy report on next year's budget, Prof. P. A. Harwood began by stating that he had "rather a dark picture to paint" and that it would be of no avail to "mince matters." He stated that the A.S.U.N. faced an estimated deficit of $2000 for the next academic year. His estimate was based on returns of required budgets for athletics and other activities for next year as compared with registration income and other sources of student body revenue.

Saying that expenses must be cut to the minimum, Harwood pointed to the abolishment of the position of graduate manager as the first step toward retrenchment. Suggesting other methods by which expenses could be curted, he finished by expressing his opinion that the University of Nevada has met similar crises successfully in the past and can continue to do so in the future.

Harwood gave as reasons for his resignation from the board, increasing scholastic duties plus the amount of time necessary to administer affairs as master of Lincoln hall.

Present also at the meeting was James Wallace, president-elect, who will take charge of the next senate meeting, to be held Monday, May 8, in the Student Union building. Members of the present executive committee were also present.

At the next meeting the senate will elect members to the publications board and will discuss other committee appointments. Student Body President Keith Lee recommended members of the senate to familiarize themselves with the new constitution and to participate freely in all discussion. Stating that the new government is unique in that it has been formulated on principles of many college governments, Lee went on to express the hope that it would prove satisfactory.

Something to Say not just saying something

A friend of CHESTERFIELD writes us of a salesman who had "something to say": "I dropped into a little tobacco shop, and when I asked for a pack of Chesterfields the man smiled and told me I was the seventh customer without a break to ask for Chesterfields. 'Smoker after smoker,' he said, 'tells me that Chesterfields click... I sell five times as many Chesterfields as I did a while back.'" Yes, there's something to say about Chesterfields and it takes just six words to say it—"They're mild and yet they satisfy."
