STAGG HONORED

Homecoming Parade Will Begin Trek Through City at 11:30 a. m.

By HOWARD UMBER
Member of Homecoming Day Committee

Nevada's fourteenth annual Homecoming day celebration was officially put under way last night when the torch was applied to the bonfire which had been constructed at the north end of Mackay field. Exhibits of the various departments and groups were open for inspection this morning and this afternoon and attendants report that large crowds have been visiting the displays all day.

Tonight at 8:15 the curtain will rise on the annual Wolves' Frolic, comprised of twenty acts of high class vaudeville, and including a cast of 150 students. Rehearsals for the Frolic have been going on for the past several weeks and critics who have previewed the show state that it is the best that has ever been presented.

Cross-Country

Tomorrow, the closing day of this gala occasion, will be well filled with events planned by the Homecoming committee. At 9:30 the cross-country will be started at the Sparks High school. Following the running of this race the parade will form and will start its trek toward at 11:30. Nearly every organization on the campus, both social and service, has entered floats in the parade, and prizes will be awarded the best in each division. Judges for the awards are being held secret by the committee, and their decision will be announced at the dance tomorrow night.

Reception for Stagg

Following the parade, and after lunch, ceremonies will be held on Mackay field in honor of Coach A. A. Stagg of the College of Pacific, welcoming him to Nevada. As a memento of his visit to Reno, Stagg will receive a bar of Nevada silver bullion. The presentation will be made by Fred B. Balzar, governor of the state of Nevada. These ceremonies will take place at approximately 2 o'clock. The opening whistle of the football game between the Nevada and Pacific teams will come at 2:15.

The alumni association of the university will hold its annual meeting at a banquet held for that purpose following the football game. The dinner is scheduled to start at 6:30, and will be given at the Century club. All alumni of the university are encouraged to attend this dinner, as well as register their names at the Student Union building. Registration for alumni will be open all day Saturday in the student body president's office.

The closing event on the program will be the Homecoming dance, which will be held in the Washoe County Library building, beginning at 9 p. m. The committee in charge of the arrangements for this dance announces that the affair will be the most enjoyable of this school term, in that there has been secured the best orchestra possible and that the features of the dance will never be equaled. Both students and alumni will join in bringing to a close the 1933 Homecoming program.

BALZAR TO PRESENT STAGG WITH SILVER BRICK TOMORROW

In a last minute interview with Jack Smith, committee chairman, it was learned that Governor Fred Balzar will present a brick of Nevada silver to A. A. Stagg at a reception in his honor before the game Saturday, and the band will provide entertainment between the halves of the game in the form of a stunt.

At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon the governor will present Stagg with a silver brick engraved in commemoration of the fourteenth annual Homecoming. The brick will be in the form of a bullion bar. The reception will be at Mackay field preceding the Homecoming game.

The game and the reception and other Homecoming activities will be broadcast through the courtesy of the Standard Oil company. Ernie Mack will be the announcer.

Big Bonfire Rally Starts Fourteenth Yearly Homecoming

Approximately Two Thousand Witness Pre-Game Pep Rally

CLARK SPEAKS

Glee Club, Bank and Speakers Perform in Great Campus Spectacle

By ED MONTGOMERY
Nevada's fourteenth annual Homecoming celebration got under way last night as nearly two thousand students, alumni and townspeople gathered in Mackay stadium to participate in the annual bonfire rally.

Songs by the combined glee clubs, music by the University band, varied speeches, yells and a roaring oil-fed fire afforded a basis for the enthusiasm which is expected to prevail throughout the entire Homecoming celebration.

Jack Smith, chairman of the Homecoming committee, opened last night's program by introducing President Walter E. Clark, who praised those students who are responsible for the various exhibits, floats and entertainment features. In thanking the students and alumni for their interest in this year's Homecoming, Dr. Clark pointed out that the present generation of students are in every way living up to the traditions established by Nevadans of former years.

Clark and Souter Speak

Dr. Clark, on behalf of the faculty of the University, extended a most hearty welcome to alumni who have returned to witness the three-day celebration.

Judge Clyde D. Souter, prominent Reno attorney, next spoke on the merits of the Nevada football team. "Whether we win, lose or draw, you alumni who have come to see the Nevada varsity in action will not be disappointed in the showing the team will make. You can rest assured that those boys will be fighting every moment."

Judge Souter pointed with pride to the two-yard line, where Nevada held the powerful Olympic Club team for four downs two weeks ago. "It is not the score that counts—it's the way in which the fellows play the game," continued Souter.

Having praised a fighting team, Souter concluded his fiery talk with an expression of appreciation for the manner in which tradition is being carried out, and called on the Nevada supporters to cheer hard and long at tomorrow's game.

C. L. "Brick" Mitchell, varsity mentor, expressed his faith in the ability of the Nevada team. He pointed out that the men have been well drilled on fundamentals, and that with more than a dozen good plays fairly well perfected the team should give a good account of itself.

"These boys have the spirit to win and have been behaving as though they were out to take Pacific. I believe Nevada will win tomorrow," was Mitchell's closing comment.

Predicting that Nevada would win by one or two touchdowns, Proctor "Bunny" Hug, star of '21 and '22, and president of the Alumni association, reviewed Nevada's season to date. He stated that scarcely a team on the coast or in the east has undertaken the strenuous early season schedule that Nevada has.

"Nevada has taken on four hard games in succession," said Hug. "Of these four games Nevada has won one and has given good account of herself in the other three. Tomorrow's game is the first game of the season in which Nevada will be meeting a team on equal basis, and in speaking for the alumni I want to say that we are convinced that Nevada will show real strength. I expect a victory for the Wolf Pack—a victory of at least one or two touchdowns."

Chairman Smith concluded the program with a request that all visiting alumni register in the Student Union building during today or tomorrow. He also called attention to the alumni banquet to be held in the Twentieth Century Club tomorrow evening, and reminded the assemblage of the Wolves' Frolic to be given tonight and of the Homecoming dance to be given in the County Library building tomorrow night.

No Dull Moments In Wolves' Frolic, Previewers State

Twenty-five Snappy Acts Are Included; Cast of 150 Students Involved

RICH COSTUMES

Scenery Said To Be the Most Beautiful Ever Prepared for Frolic

BULLETIN

At 2 o'clock this afternoon Wayne Van Voorhis, in charge of the ticket sales for the Wolves' Frolic, announced that practically all of the loge seats and center section downstairs, with the exception of a few singles, were sold. With the remaining tickets selling rapidly, Van Voorhis predicts a complete sell-out.

By KAY JOHNSON
"There will be no dull moments in the 1933 edition of the Wolves' Frolic." This statement was made by guests at the preview of the production, which was held last night. Twenty-five snappy acts comprise the program for "Ankles Aweigh," to be shown tonight at 8:15 in the Granada theater.

"Ticket sales for the production are in charge of Blue Key, co-sponsor with the Associated Students, for the show. Price of admission ranges from 50 cents, 75 cents, $1 to $1.50, and are being sold by members of Blue Key, Sagers and all fraternities and sororities on the hill.

Scenery Beautiful

Scenery for the show was designed by W. R. Miller, dramatics coach, and is the most beautiful plan ever attempted for a Frolic production. It was assembled by the technical staff under the direction of Tom Morris.

Some of the highlights of the show will be chorus presentations, comedy skits, a three piano trio, several clever dance acts and a mystery act. The chorus is composed of 16 beautiful co-eds, who go through their routine with the precision of veteran performers.

Costumes for the chorus were secured from the coast. The girls will appear as pirates in the opening chorus; the tap dance chorus will wear modern black and white costumes of shorts and blouses; while in the finale act a military drill will be presented, with the girls wearing the U. of N. colors, silver and blue.

Bythe Bulmer, Nevada's Charlotte Greenwood, will again "bring down the house" in a skit entitled "We Still Wonder." She will be supported by Don Butler, another veteran campus actor.

Engineers Have Skit

The Associated Engineers will be represented by a comedy skit, "Hell Bent for Heaven." This is an original act, written by members of the cast, and promises to be one of the biggest hits of the show.

Pi Beta Phi sorority will also present a skit; and "Hold Your Man," illustrating the latest methods of doing so, will be given by Claire Fitzgerald and Ed Lozano. Nevada co-eds "strut their stuff" in a tap dance rhythm in which Margaret Martin is featured. This act combines genuine ability with style to become a feature of the program.

Alumni Will Stage Big 'Get-Together' Dinner Tomorrow

Nevada alumni, honored guests at the Homecoming celebration today and tomorrow, will hold their annual "get-together" tomorrow night at the Century club, when a combined entertainment and business meeting will be held. Miles Pike is in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

Judge Frank Norcross will be the honored guest at the banquet. Judge Norcross is the only surviving member of the first graduating class of the University of Nevada and will address alumni on University subjects. Judge Norcross is leaving the state soon to take over his new position as one of the judges for the Ninth federal circuit court.

Other features of the meeting will consist of an address by President Walter E. Clark and impromptu speeches from graduates of the various classes. Singing and entertainment will also be given. Proctor Hug, president of the alumni association, will preside at the business meeting, when new officers will be elected.

The banquet will start at 7 p. m., and faculty members are invited to attend, but will be expected to purchase their own tickets from members in charge.

A rejuvenated Wolf Pack will take to the field tomorrow afternoon when the University of Nevada meets the College of Pacific's Bengals on Mackay field in the fourteenth annual Homecoming day game. The tussle is scheduled to start at 2:15.

Well satisfied with the showing that his men have made so far this season, and confident that they will "take" Pacific if they play the football they are capable of and do not become too "cocky," Coach "Brick" Mitchell has been giving the varsity severe practices every afternoon.

Stagg Is Here

The game tomorrow will mark the first appearance of a team coached by Stagg on the University of Nevada campus. Coming to Pacific last year after having been head coach at Chicago, Stagg is one of the best known men in football today.

With the Pack hitting its mid-season stride, Mitchell has been shifting his first and second strings around considerably looking for a sure-fire scoring combination. During the past week he has stressed offensive and defensive work in the art of catching and knocking down passes.

Anticipating that Stagg will attempt an aerial attack, Mitchell has been drilling his men in that phase of the game especially and does not expect to be caught unprepared by the brilliant passing attack of the visitors.

Hit by Injuries

Hard hit by injuries so far this season, the Bengals will not be able to start "Biff" Strohbridge, fullback, who has been out for several weeks with a torn rib cartilage, or Moke Edwards and Bill Ijams, tackles, but the remainder of Pacific's first string is expected to be in suits tomorrow.

With Coach Stagg famed for his development of the pass and the Bengals especially strong in that phase, much of Pacific's strength will lie in "Ham" (Continued on Page Five)

REPORTS HEARD BY FINANCE COMMITTEE

Meeting in full strength, the finance control committee last Tuesday night spent a busy session in the student administration building. Football expense reports were made, plans for a new bookkeeping system heard, activities budgets approved and miscellaneous matters of finance considered.

Financial returns of the Olympic Club-Nevada game showed that the university had lost money on this contest, the net income being $722.90, while $841.59 was expended. This is the first loss of any consequence that the football budget has suffered this year.

The Frosh-Fallon game cost $7.50 after all expenses had been caught up. At the time of meeting no final figures on the Loyola game were available.

Parking space sales were reported to have netted the student body $78 to date, and thus far the social hours are $16.40 to the good.

A list of passes to the Wolves' Frolic also received the committee's sanction, and a plan for having a centralized bookkeeping system was discussed. At its next regular meeting the committee will further consider this system.

GREETINGS

PRESIDENT CLARK

The university warmly welcomes back all Homecoming graduates and former students. You will find the various laboratories, museums and special agricultural and engineering exhibits open for your inspection Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. The students have prepared these and will be ready to explain the exhibits.

The students have all plans completed to stage for you a scintillating twenty-act vaudeville Wolves Frolic Friday evening and a great float parade on Saturday morning. They insure you a thrilling football battle with the College of the Pacific team Saturday afternoon which you may enjoy from your comfortable seat in the Mackay stadium. They, in cooperation with officers of the alumni, planned for the closing hours of this Homecoming an attractive dance in the Washoe County Library building Saturday night after your alumni banquet.

Nearly 200 students have taken part in the preparation of the Wolves Frolic numbers. More than three score husky athletes have kept training during the season that the Wolf Pack may, if possible, win victory for you over their strong and splendidly coached opponents. Almost every member of the student body has been hard at work for days, many for weeks, to make your Homecoming stay this year a continuous enjoyment for you and to give you opportunity to come to know the fine developments on the campus and the enthusiastic good spirit of the students during these recent years.

May this visit make you more proud than ever of your alma mater and more loyal than ever to serve her and so to live as to add further to her fame.

WALTER E. CLARK.
October 20, 1933.

PRESIDENT WALLACE

Welcome home, grads and former students.

The present members of the Associated Students of the University of Nevada have made elaborate plans for this fourteenth annual Homecoming day celebration, and we invite you to participate in the festivities and enjoy yourselves to the fullest extent. Of course you are always welcome on the campus, but today we are especially honored in having a great many of you present at the same time—to renew acquaintances, recall happy incidents and to note the progress we have made.

Again let me urge you to take part in the events on the program wherever you can and to make yourself "at home." May this celebration be so successful and enjoyable that your memory of it will not fade for many years to come.

JIM WALLACE,
President A.S.U.N.

Homecoming Day Dance Plans Are Made by Aggies

Student Orchestra of Eight Pieces Engaged to Furnish Music

Assisted by the Aggie club, the Homecoming day committee has completed arrangements for the fourteenth annual Homecoming dance to be held in the Washoe County Library building Saturday evening. Extensive arrangements have been made to make this one of the outstanding dances of the school year.

Ray Hackett's orchestra has been secured from the Tavern for the three hours of dancing at the library building auditorium. Hackett has secured two leading horn players from the Pacific coast to bring his band up to eight pieces.

Forty new arrangements have been written for the dance by the band leader. Other features of the dance will include new novelty skits, trio and choir numbers, and many feature solo numbers arranged especially for the occasion.

Personnel of Hackett's band includes Lee Artz, Jack Keagle, Jack Kelsey, Donald Bearrie, Art Alevoli, Foster Urban, Tom Gillette and Ray Hackett, leader.

Refreshments, to be served by the Aggie club, will include apple cider and cookies.

TRYOUTS SOON FOR NEW PLAY

Tryouts for the first university dramatic production of the year will be held next week, it was announced by W. R. Miller, dramatics coach. "Hell Bent for Heaven" will be under the management of the University Play Production, a branch of Campus Players.

To listen to the Gael opponents this year nearly all of them will put out the best eleven in the history of the school. What's more, there's probably more truth than poetry in their boasts.

Aggie Laboratory Is Now Reno Dairy

Students Move Temporarily To Model Dairy Farm For Studies

The modern apparatus and equipment of the Model dairy farm in the south end of the Truckee meadows is this year serving as the laboratory for the students in the aggie department. Utilization of this plant has been instituted this fall since the university's own farm is temporarily not available for student use.

Proprietor Teaches

The classes, under the direction of one of the proprietors of the ranch, Ernest Brooks, meet twice a week at the dairy. Eight students are taking advantage of this opportunity for practical study under an experienced dairyman.

Two main phases of dairying are being studied, these being general dairy sanitation and the feeding and care of all types of livestock.

The students, all upperclass men, have the entire ranch in which to make their experiments. No rudiment of general dairying will be neglected, it was stated.

Visitors Welcome

"Such a course as is being offered is very essential in the proper training of agricultural students," said Brooks. "All persons connected with the university are at all times cordially invited to inspect the up to date equipment and methods of dairying employed at the farm," stated the owner.

SPECIAL EXHIBIT

The Associated Engineers will have as a part of their Homecoming exhibit a display of oxyacetaline welding equipment, which is being demonstrated by the Air Reduction Sales company of Emeryville, Calif.

The equipment will be on display today and tomorrow with the engineers' exhibits.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock a representative of the company will lecture on the equipment and give a demonstration of it in the Agriculture auditorium.

A valuable copy of the Old Testament of the Bible in Greek and Arabic is to be seen in one of the halls at the University of Washington.

Engineers to Fill Laboratories With Unusual Exhibits

Unusual Devices Are Prepared By Students in All Departments

Exhibits Will Be Shown All Day Saturday, Chism States

By MERLE ATCHESON

Presenting one of the most interesting series of exhibits that has ever been offered at the University of Nevada, the engineers have been keeping the power laboratories buzzing all day in their eighteenth annual celebration of Engineers' day.

The exhibits this year have been materially improved by contributions made by Westinghouse and General Electric, electrical equipment manufacturing concerns.

Among the novel features offered is a device by which a person can talk over a light beam, stopping the voice transmission by merely passing a hand through the sound bearing beam. The apparatus for this exhibit was assembled in the electrical laboratory by Paul Hartman and Angelo Granata, senior students in engineering.

Have Radio Station

The engineers have invited the Homecoming participants to drop into the electrical building and broadcast over station 6YAR. These messages are (Continued on Page Six)

BUSINESS STAFF HOLDS TRYOUTS

From a large number of trees for the business staff, twenty-five students were appointed to work in this important department of the Sagebrush.

Those who received appointments as junior managers were Bill Gelder, first junior manager; La Rue Stak, second junior manager; and Lino Del Grande, third junior manager. George Anderson, Walter States and Craig Moore have been appointed as assistants to Bill Gelder. Stark has Dan Ohiatavich, Dearing Dixon and Jack Richardson under him, while Lino Del Grande has Albert Manhan, John Franklin and Bill Johnstone helping him.

Kathleen Haffey, women's business manager, heads the women's staff, with Lillian Smith, Adelyn Rotholz, Amette Priest, Eleanor Garrison and Mary L. Carmody under her. Mildred Nagy, Alice Boland, Frances Slavin, Cornelia Arentz, Anna Blundell, Catherine Bondero, Catherine Armstrong, O'Riva Wall and Margery Totman have been chosen as secretaries.

Not Permanent

These appointments are final, but not permanent, according to a statement made by William Crowell, business manager. If a staff member fails to do satisfactory work he is subject to dismissal from the staff, but no one else will be appointed to take his place. Crowell further stated that those who received appointments "have proved their mettle and were chosen from a wide field of applicants." The mailing of the paper will be handled by Howard UMBER and the distribution by Walter Pencher.

The combined business and editorial staff are planning a big social gathering which will take place sometime in the early part of November.

PAN-HELLENICS HOLDS MEETING
Pan-Hellenic representatives held a meeting of the sorority presidents last week. The council decided to hold their annual dance early next semester. Recommendations for a Pan-Hellenic lawyer were discussed, but no appointment was made.

Prevents Overloading Its object is to prevent overloading one girl with more offices than she can hold efficiently, thereby injuring the organization of which she is an officer, and keeping other women students from having a chance to hold an office, and working a hardship on the girl herself by placing too heavy a burden of responsibility upon her.

Chairmen Appointed A point system chairman, who is appointed each year, takes care of the points earned by every girl. The number of points which can be carried each year, according to classes, are:

Twenty-Four Women Offenders Appear Upper Class Thursday

Women's upperclass committee has been very busy punishing freshmen offenders of the past week. Twenty-four freshmen were called up before upper-class women and will be entertaining the campus Thursday afternoon and Friday sweeping sidewalks, cleaning the library steps and carrying placards around with them.

There have been too many freshmen queening in the library, failing to participate in traditional events of the campus and shirking their duties as selling hot dogs and confections at the football games, and Charlotte Pope, chairman of the committee, said that the committee is going to be very severe on these and future offenders. Two-thirds of the freshmen women are required to sell hot dogs and ice cream at the Homecoming football game on Saturday afternoon.

Tradition-breakers of this week are Anabel Arentz, Elviza Belaustequi, Mary Connolly, Joyce Cooper, Jeanne Gates, Elsie Hammond, Marie Morgan, Marie Barnes, Hattie Hard, Thyra Hatton, Leola Hawkins, Madeline Joyner, Elizabeth Juniper, Thelma Kane, Mary Knobbs, Betty Blum, Kathryn Luke, Esther Mauzer, Margaret Piercy, Isabel Scossa, Delphine Trulove, O'Rive Wall, June McNamee and Helen Donahue.

W. A. A. Organization Having Active Year

Completing one-third of their sports year, the members of the Women's Athletic association of the university are developing more interest this year than ever before in the history of the organization, it was announced recently by Margaret Kormmayer, president.

The other officers of the organization include: Blanche Keegan, vice-president; Miriam Butler, secretary, and Helene Stark, treasurer. The sports managers for the year are: Hockey, Elizabeth Frey; swimming, Julia Sibley; basketball, Dorothy Nason; volleyball, Madeline Miller; rifle, Ellen Eckman; riding, Margaret Place; hiking, Betty Horton; archery, Mary Swett; baseball, Charlotte Pope.

Co-Ed Dormitory Is Redecorated

Painters, paperhangers and carpenters are busily at work redecorating some of the rooms and halls of Manzanita hall this week. Most of the rooms on the second floor and a few on the first are being calcimined, painted or papered. The third floor of the hall is being occupied by the women that were in the rooms now being redecorated. The work is expected to be finished this week.

The student union at Utah recently was fitted up so that the students could play ping-pong, bridge and pool.

Y.W.C.A. WILL HOLD HALLOWEEN PARTY

Witches and spooks will reign October 31, when members of the Y. W. C. A. entertain with a Halloween supper party in the women students' room in Artemesia hall.

The scheme will be carried out in decorations of orange and black, with angry black cats and scary skeletons popping out of unexpected places. Apple-bobbing will be a diversion after the meal is served.

Entertainment in the form of dances and piano solos have been planned by Mary Louise Durkee, chairman of the Y. W. music committee.

Members of the hostess group, under the leadership of Betty Howell and Winifred Walsh, will have charge of the party.

GLEE CLUB GIRLS SELL SONG BOOKS

In an effort to encourage singing at the football game on Homecoming day the Woman's Glee club will operate a booth for the sale of song books at the game, Professor Post announced this week.

The booth will be under the direction of Mary Louise Carmody. The new song books can be purchased there for 15 cents.

The Woman's Glee club will not have a separate float this year, but will join with the men's group and enter as one organization.

"Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?" is the title of the act being put on by the club in Wolves' Frolic.

Phi Sigma Kappa Men Entertain Campus

Establishing a new precedent on the campus, Phi Sigma Kappa last night entertained the campus at an open house and street dance. The dance started immediately following the rally and was attended by approximately 300 students and alumni. It lasted until 11 o'clock.

This is the first street dance ever to be attempted by a University of Nevada fraternity, and John Stock, member of the dance committee, said that the dance will probably become an annual affair because of the response of the students.

The dance was held in front of the chapter house on Lake street, and permission for the dance was received from the Reno city council and the university social committee. Music was furnished by the Saviers & Sons address car. John Stock and Irvin Ayres were in charge of the affair.

THETA WOMEN WIN DEBATE

Jean Gates and Paula Bradshaw, who debated for Kappa Alpha Theta, won a heated debate in the intramural debate contest held Wednesday night in the Mackay Science hall. Genevieve Erickson and Elizabeth Juniper debated for Delta Delta Delta.

The winning team upheld the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, that banks and banking shall be owned and operated by the United States government."

The decision was three out of five in favor of the affirmative. Elizabeth Juniper received first place as the most outstanding speaker of the evening. Paula Bradshaw was rated second and Jean Gates and Genevieve Erickson tied for third place.

Intercollegiate debating for women is expected to take place next spring. Women's intercollegiate debating at Nevada has been held consecutively for ten years. Last year women's debate was abandoned because of financial difficulties.

DANCE FEATURED FIRST HOMECOMING

On the first Homecoming day, November 4, 1920, the football game between the Sagebrushers (now known as the Wolves) and the Utah Aggies was not the event of prime interest. Neither were the exhibits, for there were no exhibits.

The function that caused the most interest was the Homecoming dance. Everyone was urged to come by the following statement: "It also behooves those who are figuring on transportation to have their taxis engaged at least three days ahead of time. In view of the rush that will take place toward the gym Saturday night, this will be a wise precaution and is recommended by the dance committee."

Alumni Secretary Sends Invitations To Nevada Grads

Secretary of Alumni for 20 Years, Lewers Tells Plans

Statistics on Graduates Are Given in Special Report

For twenty-three years Mrs. Louise Lewers has been secretary of the University of Nevada Alumni association. She is one of the few people who know personally nearly all of the Nevada graduates up to the class of 1929.

"I have been here so long that people are beginning to consider me a fixture," Lewers stated. "They have no idea of the uncertainties the alumni secretary has to contend with."

This year a total of 1675 circulars were sent out to the alumni in all the nearby towns in Nevada and California. The only answers received came from Sacramento, and a large group is planning to be among the Homecoming guests.

Makes File

The alumni executive committee has just completed a file of all the graduates from the first class up to now. There have been 1955 bachelor degrees given out, 1288 in the college of arts and science, 169 in the college of agriculture and 533 in the college of engineering.

Individuals to the number of 260 holding bachelor degrees of this university have married graduates of this university. Nineteen couples have been separated by death, and five only of these 130 couples have been broken by divorce.

Has Hard Task

Keeping track of the addresses of the members for the past three years has been the most difficult duty of the secretary.

Mrs. Lewers has been active in university work for a number of years. In 1911 she did special clerical service in the president's office, and was clerk in the comptroller's office. For two years she was secretary to the president, and from 1917 to 1919 served as secretary to the board of regents. At present she is state secretary of the Nevada Educational league, and clerk of the state board of stock commissioners.

Mrs. Lewers was an honorary member of T.H.P.O., the first fraternity on the Nevada campus, which later evolved into the present chapter of S.A.E.

Third Exhibit Is Shown By Fine Arts Group

The Fine Arts group of the University of Nevada is presenting its third exhibit this week in seminar room No. 5, which consists of fifteen modern pictures, water colors, landscapes and western scenes, by Elizabeth Willey. The exhibits open from 2 to 5, and 7 to 9.

Miss Willey has exhibited at the Legion of Honor in San Francisco, at the California State Fair, and at the Arizona State Fair, and is quite well known for her western scenes and landscapes.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week Heath Anderson, well known western artist, will present sixteen still life pictures of flowers, loaned to the Fine Arts group by the Courvoisier galleries in San Francisco. Miss Anderson is an illustrator, and designs covers for several eastern and western magazines.

Saturday, October 28, a tea will be given, at which time Miss Anderson will be presented and her pictures will be shown again.

Soph Hop Plans Are Announced

Clever but simple decorations will feature the annual sophomore hop, first formal of the year, to be held on this campus on Saturday, November 4, in the ballroom of the Washoe County Library building, it was announced today by Joe Clark, class manager.

The committee in charge of the dance is composed of Edward Paradis, chairman, Frank Quilic, Claude Hunter, Walter Bartlett, Carl Dodge, Rita Gunter, Orva Selkirk and Mary Corocco.

Isn't it exasperating to have to miss a wonderful party because of "recurring" pains? Embarrassing, too, when you can't tell friends the reason. But now, no need to flunk an exam or miss a party. When you are below par, take KALMS, quick-acting tablets developed by Johnson & Johnson especially to relieve "recurring" pains, such as headache, backache and neuralgia. One tablet is enough for most cases. KALMS are safe, do not affect digestion or heart action, and are not habit-forming. Your druggist has them in purse-size boxes of 12 tablets.

Tennis Finals Will Be Played Soon by Co-Eds

The finals in the women's intramural tennis tournament will be reached this week, according to Sarah Graves, tennis manager. The final match will be played off some time next week.

In the first round Mary Vaughn, Pi Beta Phi, will meet Marjorie Totman, Gamma Phi Beta; Sarah Graves of the Tridelt will play Thyra Hatton from Manzanita. The Independents, represented by Grace Armbruster, will play Juana Barber, Alpha Delta Theta. As there is no representative from Beta Sigma Omicron, Miriam Clark, playing for the Kappa Alpha Thetas, takes this match by default.

Following this tournament there will be a doubles tournament if the weather permits.

Groups Preparing To Greet Alumni

Many alumni are expected by the different fraternities at the dinners and luncheons to be given on Saturday and Sunday of Homecoming week.

On Saturday the A.T.O.s will give a dinner from 12 to 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The house will be decorated appropriately, and while the exact number of guests is not known as yet many are expected.

The Sigma Phi Sigmas will hold open house after the game, at which time they will welcome back several of their alumni.

Invitations have been sent out to ten graduate members of Beta Kappa to attend a banquet to be given on Saturday.

The Sigma Nus will entertain their alumni with a buffet supper. Just how many will return they do not know, but they hope for as large a group as they have had in past years.

The S.A.E.s will give a luncheon on Saturday, at which time around 60 or 70 grads will reunite.

The alumni of Lambda Chi Alpha will be entertained by a big dinner given in their honor on Sunday.

Delta Sigma Lambda will entertain their alumni at their chapter room over the weekend.

On Saturday the Phi Sigs will give a buffet lunch for their alumni and they expect about 35 to attend.

LINCOLN HALL MEN SERENADE MANZANITANS

A street scene that had few curtain calls was a typical Nevada event which occurred Friday evening when several residents of Lincoln hall serenaded women students of Manzanita hall.

Their opening number was "Sweet Adeline," but reports have it that the song was rather out of tune. Nevertheless the youths meant well and continued with several popular selections, featuring the same number between acts.

Non-appreciative, the maidens did wait for the youths to end their carolling but bade them come back when they had practiced.

GRADUATE HONORED

Sagens Will Wear Costumes at Rallies

Planning to attend in costumes and organize the other women students for all rallies, the Sagens, women's pep organization, is out to back student activities wholeheartedly this semester. Genevieve Wolf, president of the Sagens, announced today.

It was definitely decided to enter a float in the Homecoming day parade at a Sagens meeting held Tuesday evening. The theme of the float will be "Sagebrush."

An amendment was introduced at the meeting making it possible for the Sagens to have a panel in the Artemisia yearbook. Miss Wolf stated. Two prospective members for this organization are trying out and an opening was made for a third when Gladys Morris resigned. The tryees are Margaret Walker and Arlene Boerlin.

A project for the year will be decided on at the next meeting of Chi Delta Phi, which will be held Monday evening, October 23.

HOMECOMING

The culmination of weeks of effort, the annual Homecoming day program is presented for the fourteenth time for the approval of the returning alumni whom we hope are receiving pleasure from again seeing old familiar sights and faces and from a cordial welcome from the undergraduates. Practically every organization on the campus has had part in preparing some type of exhibit or entertainment that we hope will be of interest to the graduates who return to the scene of their four years of struggle for a degree and years of pleasant associations. Every student who is really worth meeting is making it a point to make the acquaintance of the alumni whom he has not already met.

If we can catch the true Nevada spirit in this Homecoming celebration, both alumni and undergraduates can carry with them after it is over memories of one of the most pleasurable festivities that they have ever taken part in. The true student of Nevada will get this spirit and attempt to show in every action toward the returning sons and daughters of the Wolf a spirit of friendliness.

Special credit for the success of the celebration should be given to Proctor Hug, president of the alumni association, Jack Smith and the undergraduate committee on Homecoming and William C. Miller, the director of the Wolves' Frolic which will take place tonight at a Reno theater. They have given valuable time and effort to promote the success of the occasion.

Student leaders have urged that the graduates and undergraduates attempt to get together tomorrow in the center of the Mackay bleachers at the football game to form a rooting section that, if the plan is carried out, will be the largest and noisiest in the history of the university. With a staff of capable yell leaders, this plan can be carried out and made ideally successful. It will be a good place for the graduates to renew old acquaintances and make new ones.

We have seen the celebration get off to a flying start and we know that the work of the various committees that have toiled towards its success has not been in vain. We can do nothing more now than hope for the approval of the alumni.

AWAKEN, INDEPENDENTS!

The organized Independents on the University of Nevada campus, started last semester in the heat of pre-election spirit, aroused the interest of the thinking students of this university who hoped that the students who form a majority of the university student body had at last decided to take an active interest in student affairs. The group held meetings each week that were attended by a large number of students. They ran a candidate for president of the student body who received a goodly number of votes and secured two representatives in the new student senate.

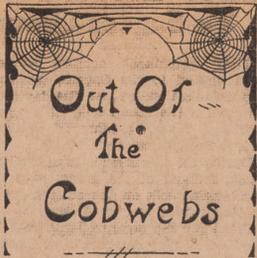

But with the beginning of the fall semester, in spite of the fact that they have competent leaders, the attendance at the meetings has fallen off and the independents on the campus once more dropped back into their old habit of watching the fraternity and sorority men and women turn the wheels of student government.

The present leaders of the organized independent movement on this campus are doing everything in their power to stimulate interest, and campus officials, both faculty and student, are trying to forward the interests of the group. There must be many "barbs" on the campus with ability in the line of student activities who are missing a valuable opportunity for contacts with other students through affiliation with the organized Independents and representing that group in various forms of student activity such as intramural sports, debate and dramatics.

If you are not a member of any social fraternal group and have any desire to improve yourself through valuable and stimulating contacts with other students, find out when the next Independent meeting is to be held and attend it.

A GHOST WALKS AGAIN

With the return of the alumni to Homecoming this year the undergraduate students of this university can be proud to point out one marked characteristic of the student body of this year. For the first time in many years, a flash of real Nevada spirit has awakened on the campus. It may not be much more than a small blaze, but it is a bright and sturdy one, that student leaders are attempting to fan into a fire that will take in the entire student body. More students have taken an interest in student body meetings, activities and athletic contests this year than in the past several years. The attitude of the student body toward the football team has changed with the advent of Coach "Brick" Mitchell from one of indifference to one of cheerful backing, "win, lose or draw."

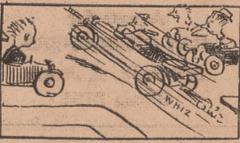

In keeping with the spirit of this edition, we have decided to devote our column to the alum. It must be remembered that we in no way are responsible for the general low tone of the following excerpts, taken at random from dirt columns of Brushes and Student Records dating from '93. For our material we have to thank such columns as Joshes, Bits of Fun, Kampus Kat, Ships 'n' Shoes, Troubadours of the Tram, Quadology, Hill Hisses, Thinks and Thunks, The Dill Pickle, Office Pickings and countless other ancestors of the present Wolf Howls. Curtain!

Professor Church, accompanied by three young ladies, ascended Peavine mountain a short time ago.—Student Record, September, 1894.
Tsch! Tsch!

And how is the following bit of verse for a sample of razz-ma-tazz in the gay nineties?
"Omisi, Omisi," he cried.
"What do you wish?" said she.
"Occissi, Occissi," he sighed.
"Oh! but you cannot kiss me!"
—Student Record, January, 1895.

And if Manzanita Maizies think life is tough these days let them look at this statement from Mrs. Kaye, dean of women in 1910:
All young ladies in Manzanita hall under 18 years of age hereafter will not be allowed to go downtown with a young man without the proper chaperonage.

John Gottardi, Lincoln hall's shyest, has lost his rep. Yes, it's true he has been seen recently in the vicinity of Sparks, so now we can guess why John spends his Saturday nights away from the hall.—U. of N. Sagebrush, May 7, 1918.
Could this person and today's Gottardi be one and the same?

We are told that most of our predecessors were tee-totalers and believers in good clean fun. Give a listen:
I have been asked to announce that the A.O.S.N.S. (Ancient Order of Saturday Night Soaks) has admitted several new members. The membership is now made up of the following men: Prof. Mitchell, Jed Frost, W. Bruce, Serkegian, Bill Cuddy, Ed Caffrey, Ernest Tam, Alec Cotter, E. Gooding, Oren Oden, and pledge, Al Cahlan.
—U. of N. Sagebrush, Nov. 27, 1919.

By "THE EYE"
Eye and ear combine in stating that Dean Thompson is our idea of a top-rung prof—he affects no airs of sophistication, bonhomme or cool disinterest, but meets students squarely, as men and women, insists upon the worth of his teaching and packs a solid hour of meat into his lectures.

The eye widens and the ear burns at the recurrence of an old affair. The social hour has been marred or rather marked by the soul-dancing of Oscar and rosy cheeked Virginia Murgotten. Take me in your arms, ta-de-ta-da!

A modern revision of an old aphorism is that the modern wallflower is the girl who, at a dance, dances. If that is the case, why do all the Trideltists insist upon sitting out every dance, behind the stag line, at the weekly dime digs?

Mumbled mutterings have been heard from prominent campus-love-men who are anxious as to what will happen when such great men as Jimmy Bradshaw, Jim Bailey, Oscar Bryan, Dutch Lehmkuhl, Carol Cross and other old timers descend upon us. Oh, yes, and not to forget Joe Jackson.

They say popularity is usually deserved, but hang it, the Trideltists should not invite just about all of the men on the campus to a radio dance and then forget to come themselves. Popularity like that will not last long, as witness the end of the evening's festivities.

The question comes to the ear: "What is the smallest thing in the world?" and our answer to this one would be, "The infinitesimal love affair of irresistible Freddy Wood and Pat O'Connell." Chuckle! Chuckle!

The eye would like to know the why of all of the ladders parked on the front porch of Manzanita hall. It wonders if each girl has her private ladder to get to the window of her room when she misses the deadline. It thought that they had used only the fire escape for such purposes in the past.

Please write in, if you can, and tell the Brush eye why there were two sets of books left on the lawn in back of Artemisia hall late one night last week that were hastily claimed when the night watchman picked them up to turn over to the lost and found department.

Among other things, the eye sees that the Creps versus Arentz combination is getting along nicely. Oh, these editors!

A strategic point in the battle for sales

Today's intense competition calls for new and more effective merchandising methods. Several plans pioneered by Bell System men are proving helpful.

For example: the "Where to Buy It" section of the telephone book. Here local dealers are listed beneath the trade-marks of advertised products—such as Plymouth, Greyhound Lines, Exide, RCA Victor. This service helps manufacturers to reduce substitution, helps dealers to increase sales, helps you to locate the brand you want.

Parade Formation For Homecoming Is Announced

All Floats and Contestants Must Be in Posts Assigned

Line of March Is Listed By Head of Parade

The biggest Homecoming day parade in recent years is scheduled to begin its trek down Virginia street at 11:30 tomorrow morning. All representatives in the procession are requested by parade officials to be in formation not later than 11:15.

All floats and other prize contestants must be in their assigned positions in order to receive recognition in the judging.

The line of march is as follows: Section one, consisting of the university band and the military units, will lead the procession. This section will form on Ninth street, facing west.

Second Section
Section two, which will include the guests of honor, the officers of the alumni association, officers of the student body and the football players of former years, will line up on Virginia street just below Ninth, facing south.

The sorority floats, together with Manzanita hall's representatives, will follow in the next section. The order in which they will line up is as follows: Alpha Delta Theta, Beta Sigma Omicron, Delta Delta Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Manzanita Hall and Pi Beta Phi.

Lincoln hall and the fraternities of the hill will have their representatives in the following section. The lineup for the men's organizations is headed by Alpha Tau Omega, with Beta Kappa, Delta Sigma Lambda, Lambda Chi Alpha, Lincoln hall, Phi Sigma Kappa, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Nu and Sigma Phi Sigma following. This section will line up on Seventh street, facing east.

Organization Section
The fifth section of the parade will be composed of floats from campus organizations, clubs and societies. The Chemistry club will present its contribution at the front of this section. Following the latter's float will be those from the Home Economics club, Omega Nu Iota, Associated Engineers, Stray Greeks, Fine Arts society, Crucible club, Sundowners, Press club and Y. W. C. A.

After proceeding through the main downtown streets the parade will terminate near the County Library building on South Center street.

Publications Board Publishes Special Homecoming Program

With a large sale expected, carefully edited twenty-page Homecoming day programs which include the entire program of the celebration, the lineups and writeups on the Nevada and College of Pacific football teams and the program of the Wolves' Frolic, will be placed on sale tonight at the frolic and at Mackay field tomorrow before and during the game.

The souvenir program, which was edited and managed by a university publications board committee composed of Don Brown, chairman, Robert Creps, William Crowell and William McMenamin, is one of the most elaborate ever produced for the Homecoming day celebration. It contains pictures of all of the prominent football players on both the Nevada and Pacific teams.

STUDENT'S CAR TAKES DIVE INTO BLEACHERS AT MACKAY STADIUM

If the canary scares the cat, it's news, and when a man bites a dog, it's news. When a car sits in the bleachers, that's news, too. Believe it or not, but that's what a car belonging to Miss Joyce Dodge did last Friday morning.

Apparently the car, which was left in neutral and with the brake off, received a push from some other car and away it went, crashing through the wall surrounding the bleachers and taking one of the big pillars with it.

Miss Dodge was unable to locate the car when she went for it at noon. On making a frantic inquiry at Dean Maxwell Adams' office, she was told to go to the police station as a car had rolled into the bleachers and the police had been called to get it out!

Furthermore (page Mr. Ripley), the car was not even scratched. But the moral remains: If you want to find your car where you leave it, never leave it in neutral and with the brake off.

Grid Game

Hamilton, triple threat man of the visitors, and Tom Wilson.

In a game between Pacific and Modesto J. C. Wilson was the mainstay of the Bengals in dealing out a 26 to 0 defeat.

Truckell, Hench and McCain, ends, will also do their share in the passing attack of the Bengals, and all three have shown themselves to be about equally capable of snatching passes.

Backfield Men
In the backfield Góold, quarterback, and one of California's best field generals, will play, and Bainbridge and Challis will play back positions. Bob Farina, halfback, has been out for several weeks because of injuries, but he is scheduled to play tomorrow.

Pacific was defeated last week by San Jose State 12 to 6, but Stagg has completely covered up all defects in his team and with his first string practically intact for the game tomorrow his team will be ready to give Nevada one of the hardest games ever played on Mackay field.

In his search for a combination that will be effective both on the offense and on defense, Mitchell has been trying two combinations: one consisting of Salet and Harris, ends; Harvey Hill, quarter; Carroll, full; and Flournoy and Tharp, halfbacks; and the other of Freudenberg, Jack Hill, Stephens, Beasley and Priest.

In the weekly scrimmage against the freshmen held last Wednesday Mitchell's first string consisted of Harris, right end; Stock, tackle; Turner, guard; Cashill, center; Kell, left guard; Stowell, tackle, and Salet, ends.

This line, supporting Hill, Carroll, Flournoy and Tharp, with Carroll carrying the ball on line plunges and Hill and Tharp on end runs, was able to go through the frolic easily and marched down the field to a touchdown with little difficulty. Carroll averaged about five yards on each play, while Hill broke away on an end run to put the ball over the goal.

Cashill, first string center and holder of the national drop kick championship for the 1932 season, will probably see action throughout most of the game at center, but he will drop back if necessary to kick. Beasley, center, has been shifted to the backfield, and

Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity tennis doubles team will play the Independents for the right to meet the university intra-mural tennis doubles championship this week end. It was announced today by J. E. Martie, director of physical education.

The play-off for the championship between the A. T. O. men, Kerwin Foley and Dudley Nix, and the winner of the Phi-Sig vs. Independents tilt will take place on the university courts at 4 p. m. Monday. The Independent team is composed of Walter Bowrin and Irvin Wanke, while Irvin Ayers and Floyd Holt represent the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. A cup will be awarded to the winning team by the inter-fraternity council.

Hartung Marries Nancy Lee Ramsey In Quiet Ceremony

Bernard C. Hartung, former Nevada graduate manager, and Nancy Lee Ramsey were married at a quiet ceremony Wednesday evening in Carson City.

The bride was attended by Caryl Carman, university student, and the groom had as his best man Robert Allen of Carson City.

The bride was dressed in a red corduroy suit and hat, wearing black accessories. The corsage was of lilies of the valley and gardenias.

Following the ceremony the bridal party and several guests returned to Reno, where they dined at the Deauville club.

Mrs. Hartung is a member of the younger set of Mill Valley, Calif., where she resides. Mr. Hartung is a graduate of the class of 1927 and for several years has held the position of graduate manager at the university. He is now employed by the government and holds a position in the department of public works.

The young couple will live in Reno.

Boost, don't knock, Nevada.

Fraternity Council Plans Cup Purchases

According to Ed Martinez, president of the Inter-fraternity Council, the council is considering two plans for raising money to purchase cups for the inter-fraternity sports.

The first plan under consideration is that of charging a small admission, probably 10 cents, to the semi-finals and finals of the inter-fraternity basketball games.

The second tentative plan is that of holding an inter-fraternity dance. This dance would be held some time before the end of the semester.

Toquero will probably substitute for Cashill.

Husky Line Men

On the line, Mitchell has an unusual number of heavy men out for guard and tackle positions. Bengoa, Stock, Burr, Stowell and Hadlen form the list of those out for tackle, while Kell, Turner and Beemer are guards. Stock and Stowell are slated to start at guard, and Turner and Beemer at tackle. Salet and Harris have been holding down flank positions, and Walker, Benson and Austin are likely substitutes.

In a comparison between Pacific and Nevada as found in their past games, Nevada will probably enter the game slight favorites. Meeting four of the best teams the coast has to offer, Nevada has won one, defeating U. S. F. 13 to 7, but losing to California, the Olympic Club and Loyola. Pacific defeated the U. C. Ramblers several weeks ago, but lost to San Jose State, in their first conference game last Saturday. So far this season Nevada has met the strongest teams, but Pacific has also run into some tough competition.

FRATERNITIES READY TO TRY OUT FOR CUPS

With three silver cups in view, the various organizations, sororities and fraternities on the campus, are carefully keeping their floats from view.

A cup will be given by the El Cortez hotel for the best sorority float. The fraternity float will be awarded a cup by Armanko's stationery store. The cup for the best organization float will be given by Herz Bro. & Co., which will later engrave the cups.

A prize will also be given to the fraternity and sorority house with the cleverest decoration.

The float awards were won last year by Gamma Phi Beta, Lambda Chi Alpha and the pre-medical organization, while the cup for the best house decoration was awarded to Kappa Alpha Theta.

The floats will be appraised at the parade by judges selected by the Homecoming committee, and the awards will be made at the dance Saturday night.

Homecoming Day History Reviewed By Brush Reporter

Celebration Begun in 1920; Instigated by Coach Courtright

Fete Built Through Years to Present Importance by Collegians

By ELEANOR DOAN

When Nevada's fourteenth annual Homecoming was ushered in last night at the bonfire rally with so much enthusiasm, students and alumni were perpetuating the first Homecoming day celebration of 1920, when Coach "Corky" Courtright enthused the student body with the idea of reunion and inspired them to preserve it in honor of the "alums."

Time has brought many changes since Courtright, then coach of the varsity teams, conceived the idea of inviting all grads and former members to come "home" for a day of reunion. The celebration was supervised by the Block N society and 700 letters were sent out to alumni and former students. The Wolves played the Utah Aggies, defeating them 21 to 0.

Activities Added

Almost every year new activities are added to the Homecoming day celebration, and most of these have been preserved, until today there is hardly time for the visitors to see them all.

The Wolves' Frolic was added to the Homecoming celebration in 1922. It was sponsored by finance control to raise funds to employ an assistant football coach. Acts were provided by various campus organizations, while the various sororities and fraternities joined in welcoming "homecomers" by giving teas, banquets and entertainment in their honor.

Change in 1923

The fourth year of the celebration saw a noticeable change. The time was extended to two days and three nights and the Alumni association changed its annual banquet date to Homecoming day. Dr. Charles Haseman, later dean of men, was one of the production managers of the Wolves' Frolic.

The frosh-soph tug of war, the first public radio concert and the first "potato and apple" show were the new features added in 1924. To celebrate these additions the Aggies gave their first barn dance, inaugurating it with 50 gallons of cider.

First Parade

The first genuine parade, which consisted of several cars of former graders and student body presidents, was witnessed during the Homecoming celebration in 1925. Gamma Phi Beta and Phi Sigma Kappa were the winners of the prizes for the best sorority and fraternity floats.

By this time Homecoming was an important part of the university calendar, and in 1927 the engineers changed their annual celebration from St. Patrick's day to Homecoming day. That year the first motion pictures in the history of the university were taken as part of the celebration activities, and the fraternity song contest was won by the Sigma Nus.

Mackay Donates

One of the best and most exciting Homecomings was in 1928, when Clarence Mackay surprised the student body and "homecomers" with his unexpected gift of $325,000 to build a new Science building. Two years later he raised the enthusiasm by coming himself to dedicate the new Mackay Science building. The Wolves were defeated by the Utah Aggies 31 to 0.

The alumni will register in the A. S. U. N. building Friday and Saturday.

All students who have made a change of address since their registration should call the university registrar at once and notify Louise M. Slissa of the change.

Alumni members of the Block N society will be registered this afternoon by members of the society in the student gymnasium and all former members of the group have been asked to register. Registration will be continued at Mackay field before the football game tomorrow.

Students have been requested by the administration to give the returning alumni and townspeople the courtesy of allowing them to use the parking spaces adjoining the Mackay stadium tomorrow during the football game in order to avoid congestion. They have been requested to park their cars outside of the campus.

Students who wish to attend the Nevada-St. Mary's game free of charge must get in touch with J. E. Martie immediately to secure passes. They will not be allowed to enter the game with just their student body cards.

All delinquent notices are due in the office of the registrar Wednesday, October 25, is the statement received from the office of the registrar. They will be sent out to the various students during the following two days. J. A. Fulton Climaxes Varied Career by Taking Directorship

Thirty-five years ago last spring John A. Fulton received his B.S. degree from the University of Nevada. Thirty-five years ago this fall he was one of the first alumni of this college. Twenty-five years later he became director of the Mackay school of mines.

In the twenty-six years between his graduation and his appointment he did a number of worthwhile things, receiving his E.M. degree from Columbia university in 1900 and a position in Rhodesia, South Africa, as engineer of a gold mining company the same year. The next year he was engineer and assistant underground manager in the Transvaal, South Africa.

In 1907 he entered private engineering practice in the United States, at which time he became connected with mining in Nevada and California. In 1924 he received the appointment as director of the Mackay school of mines, which position he still holds.

He has been a member of the American Gold Conference, the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, Delta Epsilon and Phi Kappa Phi and several service clubs.

Lighting Exhibits

Special exhibits in lighting and illumination have been prepared by Howard Hart and Louis Dellamonica. As a novel feature visitors to the Homecoming day celebration may stop a rapidly revolving motor with a light by which they can read their names written on one of the moving parts.

In the Mackay school of mines building visitors may view the exhibits of the Mackay museum, and watch the operation of various mining machines.

Exhibit All Day

John Chism, president of the Associated Engineers, announced that the exhibits will be shown all day tomorrow under the direction of capable operators, and that they will not be closed until after spectators of the football game have had the opportunity of going through the laboratories.

A new type of aeronautical motor with horizontal cylinders is being displayed by the Franklin Aeronautical corporation in the power laboratory. Although the motor has sixteen cylinders and is capable of developing 300 horsepower, it has fewer working parts than an ordinary automobile engine. The working operation of the motor may be viewed through cut away sections and glass plates.

Players Will Have Seats of Honor at Nevada vs. Pacific Tilt

History of Football Teams Is Given by Professor Carpenter

By JAY A. CARPENTER
Chairman Alumni Homecoming Football Committee

Guests of honor of the fourteenth annual Homecoming day celebration, the Nevada football players of the teams of 1915 through 1923, respectively, will be provided with special seats at the game between Nevada and the College of Pacific on Saturday and will have a place of honor in the parade.

The presence of these old players on the porch of the training quarters should be an inspiration to the men now members of the Nevada Wolf Pack.

The Nevada varsity made the change from rugby to American football in the fall of 1915 with a coach better versed in rugby than in the new game. This was a severe ordeal for the Nevada men, and the team met only with reverses that year in their big games.

Malone Was Captain

The year of 1916 was a more successful one and at its conclusion George "Molly" Malone was elected captain of the 1917 team. Before the season rolled around he and most of the squad were in the game of war on the fields of France and no football was played that year at the university.

In 1918 football practice was resumed, only to be discontinued because of an influenza epidemic, and then was abandoned because of Coach Whisman's death.

Sensational Victories

With the total enrollment of the university consisting of 432 students, a new coach, O. R. Courtright, took charge of the team in the fall of 1919. He met an eager but untrained squad under Captain "Tiny" Fairchild.

The 1919 team won a victory of 102 to 0 over the Mare Island Sailors in its first game and followed it with a

Cross Country Runners Ready

Close Race Is Expected as Runners Conclude Workouts

Participants in the cross country race from Sparks to Reno are all set for the starting gun at 9:30 Saturday morning.

A close race is expected, Fransden Loomis, track manager, announced, as several last year's men are signed up for the event this fall. But he said that the general interest is not as good this year and that the turnout is somewhat smaller. This may be due to the varied number of interfraternity sports coming at this time, Loomis said.

Loss Interest

At the beginning of the semester the prospects for a large turnout looked very hopeful, but students have either lost interest or have turned to other sports.

Those who have been examined and found physically fit by Dr. Dwight Hood, university physician, to compete in the race are Perry Priest, Pete Guisti, M. Ruedy, Hugh Rossolo, Sam Arentz, Peter Anker, Clifton Prusi, Leland Ward, James Thompson, Dearing Dixon, Harold Herz, Silas Ross, Floyd Smalley, Robert Hanson, Robert Zadow, Sterling Johnson, Paul Fontana, Lockley Naule and Fair Hunt.

George Hickey, a member of last year's winning team, is unable to compete, due to a leg injury received in an interfraternity basketball game last week.

PRESS CLUB PAPER TO BE DISTRIBUTED

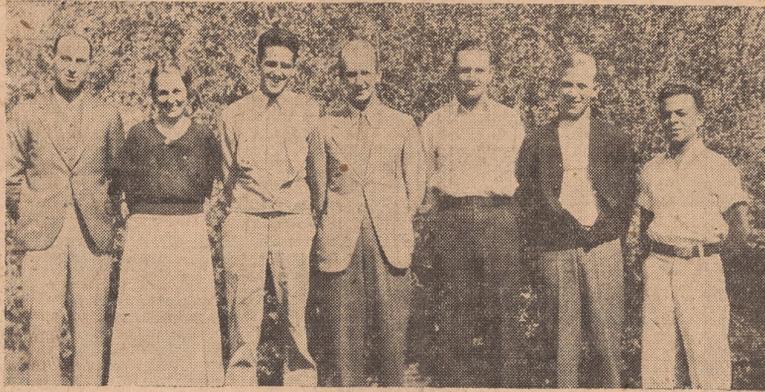

Consisting of four pages of material on the Homecoming day celebration, the first issue of the annual university Press club publication will make its appearance on the Nevada campus tomorrow morning and be distributed from the Press club float in the parade.

This announcement was made today by Ed Montgomery, president of the club. He stated that Merle Atcheson and Ned Morehouse had been appointed to take charge of editing the publication, which is the first of its kind to be published here in several years.

The paper will be distributed from the club float during the course of the parade by members of the club and will be given free of charge to students, alumni and townspeople.

Be proud of your university.

Freshmen Prepare Bleachers for Game

With shovels and brooms in their hands, freshman boys are finding out what it means to clean the bleachers for Homecoming.

Instead of giving the frosh a laking, the upper class committee is requiring them to clean the bleachers for the Homecoming game and fix the track in preparation for cross-country, announced Bill Beemer, head of the men's upperclass committee.

"All those who did not have their names checked off for work this week or for painting the Block N last week will be reckoned with later," Beemer said.

Advance Sales for Frolic More Than 400 Seats

By 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon approximately 400 seats out of 1,217 had been sold for the Wolves' Frolic, which is scheduled to begin at 8:15 tonight, according to Wayne Van Vorhies, who is manager of the ticket sales.

At the time of writing there were still several seats unreserved in the $1 section, some in the 75 cents section, and several seats in the balcony.

The University of Washington is considering a four day final examination period that will count for 50 per cent of the final grade of the student.

Home Ecers Enter Float in Parade For Tomorrow

The Home Economics club is working up a considerable degree of enthusiasm regarding its Homecoming plans, and is anticipating something novel in the way of floats this year.

At the regular meeting of the club last Wednesday night Elizabeth Frey, chairman of the float committee, revealed nothing concerning the plans except that they are to be kept secret.

The club also has as its duty each year the making of posters which direct students and visitors to various Homecoming day exhibits over the campus, Margaret Kormmayer, in charge of work this year, reported that the work is well under way.

A budget committee, with Blanche Keegan as chairman, was appointed to oversee expenditure of the club's finances for the current year.

Following adjournment the club enjoyed a musical program presented by Mary Louise Waltenspoil and Kathryn Luke.

The University of California and U. S. C. will each receive $10,000 for the exclusive rights to broadcast conference games while Stanford and Washington will each obtain $8200. An additional $23,600 will be divided among the six smaller conference teams.

University R. O. T. C. Takes Part in Parade

The university R.O.T.C. unit is shinning up its rifles, belts and shoes, to say nothing of pressing uniforms, in preparation for the annual Homecoming day parade tomorrow, in which it will take part. The university band will also have a part in the parade.

One of the most important functions of the year, the Homecoming day parade, has taken the interest of the students in the military department for some time and they are now completing arrangements to have the entire unit appear except for those students who are actively engaged in the presentation of some float in the parade or some other spectacle or entertainment in connection with the celebration.

GRADUATE STARTS MUSIC STUDIO

John Molini, ex-31, and Tommy Gillette, prominent Reno musician, have opened a musical studio on West First street, opposite the Grand theater, according to announcement made recently.

Molini was a pre-medical student at the university during his attendance here. He is a member of Beta Kappa fraternity.

Nevada Yearlings Play Bengal Frosh Tonight

Returning Grads Will See Changes In Nevada Campus

Nevada's fourteenth Homecoming! The graduates of many a forgotten class return this week to renew college-day associations and to join a young, ambitious gang of undergrads in celebrating the biggest day of the entire college year.

More than a mere celebration, Homecoming means just what the term implies, with visitors reviving for a few hours their own gay student activities back in '04 or '06.

There are external changes, to be sure. A splendid curving bench, erected last year, commemorates the names of two beloved deans of men, the former Charles H. Haseman and J. C. Jones.

The "Wolf-Den," former "hole-in-the-wall," where many a student can recall grabbing an early morning cup of coffee, has given way to an imposing new edifice in silver and blue.

The weather-beaten statue of John W. Mackay, turned from bronze to green, still looks serenely over the Quad. Towering poplars, grown old, have given way to smaller young trees.

Essentially the spirit of both students and grads is in harmony as they stroll together over a campus painted in autumn colors. Side by side they watch the historic Homecoming Day parade. At the luncheon table, at the Wolves' Frolic, wherever the gang goes, there is that same spirit of jovial camaraderie.

Leaving his business cares, dropping his worries, the grad rough-houses his way into the stadium to see the annual football game as much of a College-Joe as in the old days. Asked to what year's class he belongs, he cannot be held responsible if memory fails him. He is, with his fellows, part and parcel of a joyous celebration that recognizes no distinctions in time of graduation or anything else. For these few hours he is collegian in spirit and actuality.

An award is given each week to the student who makes the "dumbest break" on the campus that week at the University of Colorado.

Scranton Declares Wolf Cubs Have Fair Chance to Win

Nevada Cubs Hope For Revenge for Loss of Last Year

Traveling to Stockton to meet the College of Pacific Frosh tonight, Coach "Chet" Scranton and a squad of men, left yesterday to play their first inter-sectional game of the season.

Rather pessimistic about the outcome of the game because of the poor attitude of his men but declaring that he has the best frosh squad he has ever coached, Scranton refused to make any definite forecast as to the outcome of the game. He declared, however, that if his men would play heads-up ball and brace up on their offensive blocking they would be able to make a creditable showing against the Bengal Cubs.

Lost Last Year

This will be the second time that a University of Nevada freshman team has met a frosh team from another university. Last year the C. of P. Frosh nosed out the Wolf Cubs by a 1 point lead, winning the game by a score of 7 to 6.

So far this season the Nevada frosh have played two games, winning both of them and being scored against only once. In their opening game the frosh defeated Reno High school 34 to 7 and when the Frosh-Fallon game was called off because of the death of Howard Bradley, Fallon player, the Frosh were leading 12 to 0.

Second Team Strong

In a scrimmage held between the first and second string men on the frosh squad last Thursday the second string men showed up almost as strong as the first string, giving Scranton an idea of how his reserves will be able to hold up under competition.

The frosh also showed what they

TAUS PROVE TO BE SOFTIES, DROP BALL GAME TO FEMMES

Culminating the season's major league diamond contests, the Y.W.C.A. Wolfettes defeated the A.T.O. "Southpaw" Sluggers in a colorful conflict. The score read 16 to 11.

For the first few innings the Taus were in the lead, but soon the Beige Sox began taking them for a real ride, using such tactics as running from first to third, second to home and various other questionable plays.

While the Wolfettes used few substitutes, the Taus had to make many replacements as the fast playing of the female aggregation easily wore out their best men. Slugger Rouguan suffered a sore scalp when Manager "Frankie" Burke pulled his hair, while "Pepper" Montgomery got his feelings hurt when "Snitz" Fagan made faces at him.

"No Bucks" Beacas just about had the Baby Ruths stopped with his bunts and "Soup" Schilling picked up the gals' grounders pretty well, but with the help of the referee, who's a member of the Y.W., such small matters were overlooked. However, the Taus showed great control, the only time they yelled "Kill the ump" being when she ordered "Softy" Schilling back to third because of interference, the umpire having thrown the ball home—too late.

"Deadeye" almost got yanked out of the fraas for taking too much time out to argue with the Wolfette's manager, "Frankie." "It was strictly business," he asserted indignantly.

"MacGillcuddy" Calahan made the first run of the game with a two-bagger run and a hop, skip and jump home, the rules being that after two bases the Taus had to run on one leg. "Sock'em" Horton was the first to stride over the home plate for the "Y-Wians" when she hit a fast one to soft hearted "Skipper" MacNealy.

The Taus have practically voted to give a gold medal for bravery to "Limber-armed" Morgan for saving Montgomery's life. When the batswoman socked one towards third into "Pepper's" bread basket Morgan's quick work kept Ed from passing out.

Between innings the Taus were the guests of the Wolfettes for liquid refreshments in the form of lemonade, which they guzzled with great gusto.

Struggles of Old Recalled by Past Homecoming Games

Many Stars of Former Years Remembered for Their Deeds

Thirteen years ago, 1921 ushered in Nevada's second annual Homecoming day celebration and established a date for the classic of all Wolf football schedules to come.

On that day University of Utah bowed to the superior Wolf eleven under a 28 to 7 score. That game was the last home act of the famous "Rabbit" Bradshaw, Nevada's candidate for all-American honors amply upheld his enviable record in his final home appearance with a spectacular 93 yard run for a touchdown.

In 1922 the Nevada varsity defeated Whitman university of northern fame by a decisive score of 35 to 7. Scranton and Lowry were consistent ground gainers for this victorious eleven, but the combination of Church and Hug in the backfield passing to Hobbs and Harrison, ends, accounted for much of Nevada's yardage.

With 1923 came Nevada's fourth annual Homecoming day classic and a 7 to 7 tie with Santa Clara university, then one of the most powerful coast teams. The lack of Nevada's usual spectacular type of play probably greatly accounted for the fact that a victory was not chalked up for the Wolves.

The year 1924 gave the Wolves another opportunity to show the many Homecoming day visitors their old brand of football, with a 23 to 14 win over the Arizona university eleven. Gutteron and Clark, two of Nevada's many stars, were the chief sources of irritation to the Arizona team.

The now established annual celebration brought Nevada's first defeat before the visiting alumni in 1925, when a strong Santa Clara team downed the Wolves 20 to 7. The Wolves' score was accounted for by that Nevada star, Jim Bailey, and the Wolves' giant end, Shaughnessy, by completing a 20 yard pass after which Shaughnessy ran 40 yards for the score. Sullivan added the extra point for Nevada.

The following year Nevada again bowed down in defeat, but this time to St. Mary's Galloping Gaels to the tune of 13 to 0. Max Allen, Frost, Lawlor and Murphy were Nevada's outstanding stars for the seventh Homecoming day game, in which every man gave his all in a gallant attempt to hold the powerful eleven.

Repeating her feat of five years before, Nevada again held Santa Clara university to a 7 to 7 tie on the Mackay field before the crowd of visitors at Nevada's eighth Homecoming day fest. Every player mounted to great heights of football performance that day. Barely excelling their teammates were Captain Hanson, Larson and Anderson in the backfield, with Lawlor doing memorable work on the line. Captain-elect Jim Bailey, dodged 65 yards in a great display of broken field running to score Nevada's touchdown. His conversion saved the Wolves from defeat.

Once more Nevada was defeated in a Homecoming day classic by St. Mary's always powerful grid crew. They were defeated by a 22 to 0 score at the hands of one of the Gaels' most powerful aggregations.

The 1929 Homecoming day celebration saw Nevada drop the Far Western Conference title to the formidable Cal Aggies by a 19 to 0 score. The game was marked by the performance of one lone star and that was the entire Wolf eleven.

The favored Cal Aggies were justly chastised the following season, again a Homecoming day game, by the Wolves, who badly defeated them 31 to 0. Although favored to win, the 1929 champions were no match for Nevada's once more, powerful varsity.

With 1931 and the twelfth annual Homecoming day fest came Fresno State to Reno only to be turned back, smarting under a 31 to 13 defeat at the hands of a great Wolf aggregation. Jack and Harvey Hill did brilliant running for Nevada in that game, while Neil Scott and George Blodell made themselves enviable reputations with great bits of playing. Stars were to be found in all quarters after that tussle with John Griffin, Ed Young, Hugh Towle, Bill Backer and Gail Parsons playing almost perfect football.

Last fall, again the Homecoming day classic, Nevada once more defeated Cal Aggies, coming out on top of a 16 to 0 score. Cashill opened Nevada's scoring with a memorable place kick from his own 45 yard line, after which Ambrose drove over the Wolves' touchdowns.

With Cashill's great kick and Nevada's last season victory still fresh in the memories of the university's thirteenth annual Homecoming day visitors, the Wolf backers will undoubtedly come prepared to see and will witness another great classic in tomorrow's fourteenth annual Homecoming day celebration game when Nevada meets the College of Pacific in a contest which promises to make Saturday another red letter day in the gridiron history of Nevada.

The results of Homecoming day contests are as follows:

- 1920—Nevada 21, Utah Aggies 0.
- 1921—Nevada 28, Utah University 7.
- 1922—Nevada 35, Whitman 7.
- 1923—Nevada 7, Santa Clara 7.
- 1924—Nevada 23, Arizona 14.
- 1925—Nevada 7, Santa Clara 20.
- 1926—Nevada 0, St. Mary's 13.
- 1927—Nevada 7, Santa Clara 7.
- 1928—Nevada 0, St. Mary's 22.
- 1929—Nevada 0, Cal Aggies 19.
- 1930—Nevada 31, Cal Aggies 0.
- 1931—Nevada 31, Fresno State 13.
- 1932—Nevada 16, Cal Aggies 0.

Be proud of your university.

Mackay's Letter

October 9, 1933.
Mr. Clarence H. Mackay,
67 Broad St.,
New York City, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Mackay—October 20 and 21 mark the date of the University of Nevada's fourteenth annual Homecoming celebration.

Remembering your great interest in our university and in our activities, we feel that no celebration could be complete without your presence as an honored guest.

We sincerely hope that you will be with us at this the best of all Homecomings.

Respectfully yours,
Homecoming Day Committee,
Jack Smith, chairman.

Mr. John S. Smith, Chairman,
Homecoming Day Committee,
University of Nevada,
Reno, Nev.

Dear Mr. Smith:

I have your courteous invitation to be present at the University of Nevada's Fourteenth Annual Homecoming Celebration, October 20 and 21st.

I well remember what a splendid time my daughter, Mrs. O'Brien, her husband and I had on our trip to Reno in 1930, on the occasion of the dedication of the Mackay Science Hall, and I particularly regret that I cannot be with you this year, as I had hoped to bring Mrs. Mackay with me. Unfortunately, however, Mr. Hernand Behn, who had been my associate in communication enterprises, and a splendid gentleman, died a few days ago, and under the circumstances it is utterly impossible for me to absent myself.

With my hearty greetings and best wishes to you and the student body, I am, yours faithfully,
CLARENCE H. MACKAY.

Special Plans Made by Martie To Handle Crowd

"If the weather doesn't turn bad on us, we will have the biggest crowd at the game Saturday in the history of Homecoming," declared J. E. ("Doc") Martie, athletic director, who has charge of the stadium gate during this year's football season.

Ticket sales are being pushed as hard as possible, with merchants downtown, in Carson City and in Sparks selling the admittance cards. Business men have bought tickets in larger blocks than in previous years, according to the director.

Seats for Children

Every effort is being made to handle the crowd that is expected. Bleachers will be taken from the gym and placed in front of the training quarters for the accommodation of the large number of "kids" who attend the games.

Several men will be on each gate, with an experienced student in charge. Blue Key, Block N, and Sager members will all help in gate work. The borders of the field will all be policed during the course of the game in order to prevent the entrance of non-paying spectators. Organization men will also help in this work, Martie stated.

Parking spaces will have supervisors to aid in rapid parking and a speedy exit of cars after the game. The men who worked last week will be on stadium work for the game.

The Standard Oil company's public address system has been offered for the field broadcasting of the game, Martie announced. This system has been loaned by the company for the entire celebration. Ernie Mack, who handled the microphone last Saturday, will give the accounts as the game progresses.

Play Good Defense

On defensive work the frosh have developed several shifty players that are able to hold their own against any squad Scranton has seen. Haman, full-back, Sauer, quarter, and Robb, half-back, are showing up well in the backfield, while on the line Scranton has Lansdon, center; Smalley and Cashill, ends, and Canson and Byington, guards.

ANNUAL TUG OF WAR WILL NOT BE HELD

The annual sophomore-freshman tug of war across Manzanita lake will not be held this year, Bill Beemer, chairman of the upperclass committee, stated today.

This will be the first time in a number of years that the tug of war will not be a part of the Homecoming celebration. The failure of the underclass men to formulate plans in time is the reason the event will not be held, Beemer declared.

There has been a good reason for the campus patronage we have received for all these years. The collegians' thoughts—when the printing of anything from the yearbook to a dance program is conceived—naturally turn to 131 N. They get the same service and the same amount of interest and help as any other customer who brings a printing problem to us. Loyola Lion Wins Game Over Nevada With Tricky Plays

Packsters Threaten on Several Occasions But Fail in Attempts

Jack Hill Staves Off Lion Attack in First Period With Punts

By ROBERT NELLIGAN

A pair of long passes, a twenty yard jaunt from scrimmage and a safety. That's the story of Loyola scoring a victory over the Wolf Pack last Friday at Wrigley field in Los Angeles. The final score read 21 to 0 in favor of the Loyolans.

The Nevadans threatened on several occasions but each time a costly penalty or an untimely fumble balked the scoring opportunity. A sixty yard run to Loyola's end zone by Harvey Hill, Nevada offensive half, was nullified by an offside ruling against a Wolf linesman. Upon another occasion, an over-anxious Wolf back dropped the ball inside the Lions' twenty yard stripe.

Punting Duel

The first quarter was all even. A thrilling punting duel between Jack Hill, Wolf backfield ace, and Ferrari, Lion fullback, kept the half a dozen thousand spectators wide awake during this period. The opposing lines were unusually stingy in their appointment of first downs in the initial stanza. Each team made only one.

The first score of the game came on the opening play of the second quarter. Squeezing through a hole in the right side of Nevada's line, Jack Bouchard, fleet footed Loyola right half, scampered through the entire Nevada defense and then streaked along the side line eighteen yards to scoring turf. The attempted conversion, went wide of the goal posts.

Score 6-0 at Half

This being the only score of the first half, the scoreboard at half time read: Nevada, 0; Loyola, 6.

Unleashing an unstoppable, relentless power and aerial attack in the second half of the battle, the southerners chalked up 15 points in the last two quarters of the contest.

Punt Falls

Early in the third period Freudenberg, Nevada substitute quarter, failed in his effort to get a punt away while standing in his own end zone. The blocked kick was recovered by Stowell, Wolf tackle, behind the Nevada goal line. Automatically 2 points were registered in the Loyola scoring column by means of a safety.

Score on Pass

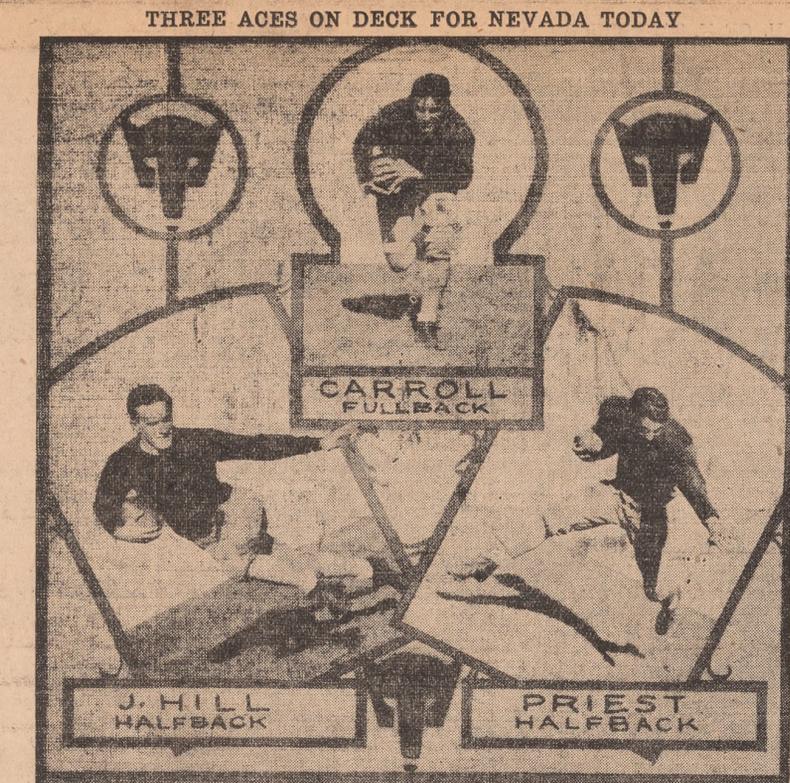

In the closing minutes of the third period a long pass was converted into the second Loyola touchdown of the evening. With the score then standing 14 to 0 against his squad, Head Coach "Brock" Mitchell began to send into the game a string of substitutes, as did the Loyola coach.

The fourth quarter of the fracas was thus a clash between the second and third teams of the respective schools. The reserves of the southern institution succeeded in pushing over one more touchdown which was gained by means of a pass formation. This, the final scoring play of the game, was good for a total of eighty-two yards.

The Pack, in playing its fourth successive tough game on as many weekends, sustained but few injuries in this contest. The most serious of which was a leg injury received by Jack Hill. However, it is improbable that this mishap will cause his idleness in tomorrow's big home game.

Players Are Heroes

These victories electrified the fans and "Corky" Courtright and his men became heroes. They stood the test of hero worship, for in the following games they defeated the University of California Freshmen and the California Aggies, tied St. Mary's College, defeated Santa Clara and wound up the season with a second victory over the Aggies by a score of 56 to 0.

Entering the next year with such veterans as Tom Buckman, "Tiny" Fairchild, Willis Church, Ed Reed, Jimmy Bradshaw, "Wild Bill" Martin, George Hobbs, and many others, the team under Captain Ed Reed ran over its early season opponents, defeating the Aggies, lost by a close margin to Santa Clara and were worthy opponents to California and to Southern California. As a climax to the season they journeyed to Honolulu to defeat the University of Hawaii. Among the new men to make the team in this year was Herb Foster, whom the Artemisia chronicles made a halfback position his first year in college and when he

Bradshaw All-American

The Artemisia for that year quotes the Chicago Evening Post's football statistician as giving Bradshaw the individual yard gaining record for the United States in the years 1920 and 1921, with 1586 yards in 1920 and 1534 yards in 1921, or nearly a mile a year. He was chosen by Pacific coast papers as the quarterback for the all-western team because of his generalship as a team leader.

By the fall of 1922 Coach Courtright had made a name for himself in western football, but he had lost most of the men who had made up his great teams. However, as the 1922 season advanced new names came into football fame, such as Chet Scranton, Proctor Hug, Ernest Carlson, "Spud" Harrison, Albert Donnell, George Duborg and others.

In this season, under Captain George Hobbs, Occidental and Whitman colleges were trampled over, St. Mary's and the California Aggies beaten, Santa Clara tied and games lost to Southern California by one touchdown and to Stanford by two touchdowns. As usual, Andy Smith's wonder teams of the University of California trounced the Wolf Pack.

Hug, Bradshaw, Scranton Star Proctor Hug filled "Rabbit" Bradshaw's shoes so well that he was given the sobriquet of "Bunny" Hug; Chet Scranton was termed one of the best backs that ever wore the Silver and Blue and a power on both defense and offense.

The fall of 1923 was Coach Courtright's last year and under Captain Chet Scranton the team handed in another brilliant season. It is true that after early victories they were beaten by both Stanford and U. S. C., but they tied both Santa Clara and St. Mary's, and as a crowning achievement they tied Andy Smith's wonder team of that year.

California University still boasts of its great teams during this period and of Andy Smith's ability and devotion. In no less degree Nevada can glory in its fighting teams during this same period that came from a student body of a few hundred and played in the class of the big teams of the coast, and the Artemisia's tribute to Coach "Corky" Courtright was that in his five years at Nevada his teams made 993 points to 464 for their opponents, and in their 37 games lost 12, tied 7 and won 23. These are the teams that the student body and the alumni are honoring at this Homecoming.

St. Mary's Team To Meet Nevadans In Next Contest

Wolf Pack to Take on Gaels of Moraga in Game on October 28

Galloping Irish Are Declared Smarting Under Early Season Losses

Defeated by both the California Bear and the University of Southern California, the St. Mary's Galloping Gaels are smarting under their losses and preparing to do their best to pile up a big score in their game against the Wolf Pack next Saturday.

Showing plenty of power, the St. Mary's team has not been defeated by any wide margin by any of their opponents and have really one of the outstanding teams on the Pacific coast. Bad breaks have been the causes of most of their losses.

Gaels Use Power

The Gaels will bring their full strength against the Nevadans. They defeated the San Francisco University team by a one touchdown margin, as did the Wolves, but since that time have developed considerably more power.

Among the powerful men who will be used against Nevada will be Ed Gilbert, 233 pound guard, and John Yezerski, mammoth tackle, who are expected to be back in the lineup after a temporary layoff.

Veteran Lineup

Veterans of the early season encounters of the Gaels who will probably see action against the Wolf Pack include: Yates, center; Shaefer and Gilbert, guards; Jorgensen, tackle; Fred and George Canrinus, ends; Ahern, quarter, and Pardee and Dobson, fullbacks.

This lineup gives Madigan virtually the same assortment of players that beat the Trojans in 1931, but he has also added backfield material this year of Fiese, Wilson and Nichelini, halves, and a string of other backfield men who have moved in from last year's frosh squad. These include: Mattos, halfback, Kellogg, fullback, and Elduayan and Erdelatz, linemen.

Madigan has an unusual form of attack called the "four geared" attack, that may cause the Wolf Pack trouble, together with the orthodox Notre Dame slashing off-tackle plays, end runs and varied passes.

Senate Will Choose A.S.U.N. Song Leader

A new song leader will be selected for the school year from the three aspirants for the position at the next meeting of the student Senate, which will be held November 2.

The three tryees will prove their ability next Saturday at the Homecoming Day football game. Two seniors, Dudley Nix and Don Butler, and one junior, Jack Belz, compose the trio who will vie for the honor.

According to Jim Wallace, the student senators will consider each tryee for voice, pep and ability to rally the students and then choose the one who best fits these qualifications at the senate meeting. Philip Mann was song leader last year.

Local Drug Firms Will Sell Tickets

Tickets for the annual Homecoming dance to be held at the State building Saturday night are on sale at the Riverside Pharmacy and the Wilson Drug company.

The tickets will cost 75 cents per couple. Stags will have to pay $1.50 per ticket, and those that prefer just to look on will have to pay 75 cents for admission.

The dance will begin promptly at 9 o'clock.

NEVADA MENTOR

C. L. "Brick" Mitchell, varsity football coach of the Nevada Wolf Pack, who is seeing his second year of service under the Nevada colors. Mitchell has worked hard to get the Pack in shape for their crucial battle tomorrow against Coach Alonzo Stagg's College of Pacific gridders.

The highlight of the Nevada-Loyola game was Harvey Hill's spectacular 79 yard run through the entire Loyola scrimmage line and past the safety man who was 20 yards behind the line of scrimmage, to a touchdown. When the crowd found out that the play did not count they gave Hill a big hand and the umpire a big razz. Which all goes to show that Nevada can still get off some spectacular plays, and that such plays are appreciated.

The game proved to be a meeting place for the entire clan of former Nevada students and residents, who practically all turned out for the game. But the best we've heard is of the former Reno high school student who acted as water boy for the Wolf Pack in order to see the game.

"Doc" Martie and the athletic department should be proud of the records that have been made by former Nevada athletes. An incomplete list made up rather hurriedly lists 31 names, while there are probably twice that many working whose names have slipped "Doc's" mind for the present.

The annual sagebrush derby, better known as the jackrabbit marathon or the cross-country race, is all set to start tomorrow morning at 9:30. Four miles long and over the hardest asphalt in "these here parts," the race promises there will be pretty sore "puppies" around here next week.

In fact, the more we think of it, the more we think that Sam Arentz should be made to run eight miles since his legs are about twice as long as those of some of the frosh that will be in it. We recommend at least a two mile or fifteen minute handicap for the pride of the Lambda Chi house.

Stagg Interviewed; Has Fighting Team

Famed Mentor Has Confidence in Spirit and Ability of Pacific Squad

Cornered this morning in the sample room of the Hotel Golden while giving his team a little blackboard instructions, Amos Alonzo Stagg, famed grid mentor who is putting in his first year as head coach at College of Pacific, was emphatic in stating that his charges will play a real game of football tomorrow. He called on his men to back him up and the room resounded with a shout of approval.

Though hesitating to predict the score of tomorrow's encounter, the "character builder," who acts as spry as a man of 30, felt that tomorrow's game would be close and hard fought.

"We concede Nevada a one touchdown edge because of the altitude," was the only outright assertion that the former Chicagoan would make. "My men are in good shape, though we were forced to leave two regulars behind because of injuries."

In response to his inquiry concerning the weather prospects for tomorrow the Stockton aggregation was told that it "might be a little windy." "That's just fine," snapped the Pacific mentor. "I'm from Chicago, you know."

It was apparent that regardless what the prospects were or what the outcome would be Stagg was with him twenty-seven men who are all for Stagg. It was not at all difficult to ascertain that the Pacific squad thought the world of their coach and that Stagg was more than just generally attached to his men.

around to challenging the Artemisia staff to their annual basketball game, his staff is going to take the game like nobody's business. With McMenamin, Bibb, Kibby and Montgomery playing for the Journalists, the yearbook boys had better go out and subsidize a few stars for themselves so that the game will be somewhat even.

the conference seem to have forgotten about the Wolf Pack, but after comparing the performances of the other teams with Nevada we are in favor of Nevada taking the championship this year.

An innovation that seems worthwhile in intramural sports is to charge an admission price for the more important games. The purpose of this, according to Ed Martinez, president of the interfraternity council, is to help pay for the cups, and will take part of the burden off the council.

It would also be a good idea to make a list of students on the campus capable of keeping score during the intramural basketball games, so that the scores will be kept correctly and there will be no disputes between teams over the scores. An incident to prove this

Block N Is Painted Amid Much Fuss By Frosh Class

Block N Men Watch Tired Lower Classmen Paint Ancient Letter

Nevada's huge block N, official symbol on Peavine mountain, received its annual whitewashing last Saturday morning at the hands of some 200 cavoring, energetic freshmen.

Under the stern surveillance of members of the Block N society, led by Ole Theis and Bill Beemer, the sweating freshmen gave the N what is claimed by them to be the whitest wash in recent years.

The day was replete with gaiety, all yearlings joining to make the day memorable for the class. Many of the tales surrounding the day's activities will probably go untold, but according to those surviving enough happened to make Wells' "History of the World" look like a two page pamphlet.

Playful stalwarts gave the girls on the lime-wash line up the hill a not inconsiderable workout by nonchalantly dropping rocks into the buckets as they occurred during the S.A.E.-Independent game when one of the scorekeepers accidentally awarded a basket made by the S.A.E.s. to the Independent team.

progressed upward. Revolt appeared in the ranks when the Pi Phi's, ever mindful of their tea to take place that afternoon, washed the line from their hands, broke from the ranks some thirty minutes early and dashed toward.

As was expected, part of the eats was stolen, but not before a goodly supply of sandwiches, punch and apples were consumed by the ravished workers.

Noon found the N glistening with whitewash, and one tired but satisfied freshman class—content in the thought that they had upheld the tradition of giving the Homecoming grads a freshened Block N at which to look during their celebration this weekend.
