Far Western Grid Conference Title Goes to Wolf Pack

Chico Upsets San Jose Team To Give Nevada Squad Undisputed Crown

FIRST CHAMPIONSHIP

Campaign of Eight Years Ends In First Title for Nevadans

Nevada's Wolf Pack won the undisputed right to the Far Western conference football championship for the 1933 season with a perfect record of three wins and no defeats. It was announced this week following the defeat of the San Jose Spartans by the Chico State Wildcats last weekend.

Chico's victory came as a surprise upset to football fans, for the Spartans from San Jose were considered heavy favorites to win by a large margin. San Jose had won impressive victories over Pacific, Cal Aggies and Fresno, while Chico was at the bottom of the conference with three losses. The Chico Wildcats were swamped by Nevada 21-0 in the Wolf Pack's last home game, and the Cal Aggies were the only team to score against Nevada in conference play.

Freak Score

The lone score of last week's tilt came when Roberts, Chico halfback, got off a 59 yard punt which went out of bounds on the San Jose seven yard line. On the first play Bennett, Spartan halfback, fumbled, and Sherrod, Chico end, fell on the ball over the goal line for a touchdown, and Glenn Smith, fullback, converted.

Stubborn Defense

San Jose had a decisive edge on offensive play, piling up a total of ten first downs to the Wildcats' two, but the stubborn defense offered by Chico halted every drive just short of the goal line.

The San Jose State College Times cites four Nevada players for all-conference honors. Tom Cashill at center, Bill Beemer at guard, Jack Hill at quarterback and Vic Carroll at fullback were named due to their outstanding play in every game this season.

Previous to the game last weekend the San Jose Veterans sent a challenge to Nevada for a title game to be played in the California city in the event of a tie between the two teams, but fell short due to Chico's victory.

This is Nevada's second year under the coaching of "Brick" Mitchell, who has proved his ability by virtue of his team's second consecutive title in the Far Western conference. The conference, which includes San Jose, Pacific, Fresno, Chico, Cal Aggies and Nevada, was founded in 1925 by J. E. Martie, men's athletic director at Nevada. He was also elected president of the conference during the first year.

Conference History

Since the opening of the conference Nevada has been at the top during the last three years. Following are the Wolf Pack's conference standings during the last nine years:

- 1925—Upset over Cal Aggies netted Nevada second place.
- 1926—Last place.
- 1927—Fourth place.
- 1928—Last place.
- 1929—Second place; defeated by Cal Aggies.
- 1930—Lost to Fresno 6-0 for the championship.
- 1931—Tied for first with Chico, Pacific, Cal Aggies.
- 1932—Tied with San Jose for first by virtue of a last minute 7-0 defeat over Fresno.
- 1933—First.

Alonso Stagg's Pacific Tigers clinched third place in conference standing this year with a decisive 12-0 victory over Fresno State on Thanksgiving day.

Final Far Western conference standings are as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Nevada	3	0	1.000
San Jose	3	1	.750
Pacific	3	2	.600
Fresno	1	2	.333
Chico	1	3	.250
Cal Aggies	1	4	.200

Famous Band Plays On Camel Program

Glen Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra, declared to be a sensation among college crowds during the last three seasons, took to the air Thursday, December 7, at 10 p. m., E.S.T., using an 83 station hook-up over the WABC-Columbia network for Camel cigarettes. The new program is known as the Camel Caravan, and will continue every Tuesday and Thursday at the same hour.

SMITH'S FATHER DIES

Thomas B. Smith, father of C. C. Smith, assistant professor of history at the University of Nevada, died November 27 at his home near Knoxville, Tenn. Death of the 62 year old farmer followed a stroke. Because of distance Professor Smith was unable to attend the funeral.

Gold Pavement Distinctive Feature Of U. N. Campus

A campus paved with gold! That is the unusual distinction which the University of Nevada campus now enjoys. Several tons of sample ore from Nevada mining camps, assayed at $4.00 a ton have been used to pave the walks around the University gymnasium. According to Professor Walter S. Palmer, mining instructor, "color" may be obtained by panning the gravel. So here's a chance for those who are broke to earn enough money to go to dances and pay their debts, mining students declare.

Nevada Students Represent Many Counties, Nations

All Nevada Counties Have Showing, with Washoe In Majority

A final check on the University of Nevada enrollment for this semester indicates that every county in Nevada, twenty-three counties in California, even other states, Washington, D. C., and Greece are represented.

Washoe county leads in the registration number with a total of 578, over half of the entire university enrollment. Churchill with 37 comes next, while White Pine with 31 and Elko with 30 follow. Representation from the other counties is as follows: Lyon 27, Clark 26, Nye 21, Douglas 16, Lander 13, Pershing 12, Mineral 11, Ormsby 8, Storey 7, Lincoln and Humboldt 6, Esmeralda 4 and Eureka 3.

Los Angeles county leads the California counties by having 12 students enrolled. Alameda 9, San Francisco 7, Nevada 7 and Lassen 5 are next in order of representation. Fresno, Napa, Solano and Yuba counties each have two, while Colusa, Marin, Merced, Modoc, Mono, Monterey, Orange, Plumas, Sacramento, San Mateo, Sierra, Stanislaus, Tulare and Yolo counties each have one.

New York state leads the other states by having three students enrolled, and Oregon comes next with two. Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Jersey and Virginia each have one, while Washington, D. C., and Greece each have one.

The total number of students from Nevada is 836, from California 62, from outside states, Washington, D. C., and Greece 13.

Nevada Press Club Will Hold Banquet

Members of the University Press club will meet together at a dinner dance to be held next Wednesday, it was decided at this week's meeting of the journalistic society.

Whether or not to penalize members who have missed a great many meetings by dropping them from the club was the subject of a discussion which resulted in the president's taking the responsibility of interviewing the offenders before the club acted on delinquent members.

The club decided to postpone the buying of club pins until a later date, although the design was decided upon. Florine Frank was delegated to take any orders for pins or charms.

WHY PROFESSORS GO BERSERK

Solons Reveal Typical Student Faux Pas Which Contribute to Premature Gray Hair of Teachers

"If the baby does not thrive on fresh milk it should be boiled." Breaks or slips such as the above are samples of sentence structure found on the reports and themes of many students in the university, according to the professors and instructors in English.

The greatest number of mistakes are found in the spelling of words, while other words are misused and the wrong interpretations put upon them. Very humorous combinations are sometimes found which give the sentences any number of possible meanings, and often the students seem to make up their own spelling by using only the letters necessary to make the word sound right.

P. A. Harwood, associate professor of English, attributes these errors to carelessness on the part of students, in the majority of cases.

"In some instances," he said, "it is due to plain, sheer ignorance." Here are some of Harwood's contributions: " * * * soldiers in spiked helmets slaughtering children with bayonets." "Where darkness reins supreme." "India connotes to us very dark men with long, white robes and turbans." "They take it for granite." Katherine Riegelhuth, associate pro-

THREE CANDIDATES FOR JUNIOR PROM QUEEN

Pictured above are Leone Clark, Kappa Alpha Theta; Elva Neddenriep, Delta Delta Delta, and Marjorie Cannon, Pi Beta Phi, who have been chosen as candidates for the honor of queen of the annual junior prom to be held tomorrow night at the Reno Country club. The queen will be chosen by a vote of the men who attend the dance. All three co-eds are members of the junior class.

Ibsen's 'Ghosts' Played on Campus

Production Is Well Received By University Audience

"Ghosts," Henrik Ibsen's morbid domestic drama, was played by the University Campus Players before capacity houses for three nights this week and was received with a flurry of sharp discussion by students and townspeople of the intrinsic merits of the play.

Unanimous approval of the work of the five student actors who took part in the performance and the direction was given by the audiences that viewed the play on all three nights of its run. The spectators were gripped with the intense emotional power of the play, which was brought out with skill by the players.

Members of the cast of the production were: Jean McIntyre, in the role of Regina Engstrand, a maid and secret half-sister of Oswald Alving; Reed St. Clair, in the role of Oswald Alving; Grace Semenza, as his mother, Mrs. Alving; Donald Butler, cast in the part of Pastor Manders; and Walter Christian in the role of Jacob Engstrand, pretended father of Regina.

Nationally famous critics regard this three-act drama as one of the first of the modern type of problem plays to deal with the clashing viewpoints of Victorian and modern ideals with any degree of success.

Student criticism of the play did not question the skill of the university actors in their parts but doubted the advisability of student production of this type of play. Students with strong minds and high intellectual standards should appreciate the fact that this type of drama has a powerful appeal to the emotions of the audience.

The university community orchestra under the direction of Prof. Theodore H. Post played four selections during the play.

Election of new members to the Fine Arts group will be held today following their last exhibit of the year. "The members will be elected according to the number of working hours they have to their credit, and only a few can be taken in for the membership must not exceed 35." Oscar Robinson, director of the group, stated.

Blue Key Initiates 17 Upperclass Men

Harwood Speaker at Annual Initiation Dinner of Fraternity

Seventeen upperclass men chosen for their proved ability in campus affairs were initiated into the local chapter of Blue Key, national honorary service fraternity, at a banquet meeting Wednesday night in the El Cortez banquet room.

Paul A. Harwood, alumni member of the organization and member of the university faculty, spoke to the assemblage on the history of Blue Key on the Nevada campus and the "Buck Grabbers," the local organization which preceded Blue Key.

After the banquet and initiation ceremonies a short business meeting was held at which the social hours were reported to be a complete financial success. Plans were made to meet visiting basketball teams at the railroad station, a final social hour to be held near the end of the semester was discussed and the organization discussed plans for the promotion of college night shows at the local theaters. The group also plans to sell tickets to the alumni-varsity basketball game to be played in the university gymnasium on December 19.

Carroll, Jack Hill Are Given Honors

S.F.U., College of Pacific Men Name Nevadans on Selections

Two Nevada football players have been named by opposing teams on all-opponents teams this year. Vic Carroll, hard hitting fullback, was named by the College of Pacific squad to their team, while Jack Hill, quarter, was named by the S. F. U. Dons on their all-opponents team.

On the College of Pacific team three Far Western conference players were listed, while men from three of the five non-conference teams met by the Tigers filled the remaining places.

The College of Pacific's all-opponents team includes Jack Brittingham (Cal Ramblers) and Fred Canrinus (St. Mary's), at end positions; Hayes McClellan (Cal Ramblers) and Carl Jorgenson (St. Mary's), tackles; Carl Frazer (Cal Aggies) and Neb Elduayan (St. Mary's), guards; Wagner Jorgenson (St. Mary's), center; Jack Bourchard (Loyola), quarter; Al Nichelini (St. Mary's) and "Dee" Shehtanian (San Jose), halfbacks, and Vic Carroll (Nevada), fullback.

Jack Hill, quarter, was the only Far Western conference man to be named by the S. F. U. Dons on their all-opponents team, the remaining positions going to Stanford, with three men named; St. Mary's, Oregon State and the Olympic club, two each, and Santa Clara, one.

Straw Balloting Concluded Today

111 Students Cast Votes on Hazing, Traditions in Brush Poll

With the closing of the polls today at noon, on the straw ballot concerning campus traditions conducted by the University of Nevada Sagebrush, it was found that a total of 111 students cast votes. This represents 13 1/2 per cent of the total qualified student voters.

The heaviest voting centered about the question of physical hazing and 59 voters expressed themselves in favor of abolishing this method of tradition enforcement. Thirty-four students voted in favor of abolishing the "dink," 33 voted to abolish "queening" and nine voters declared themselves in favor of abolishing the "cords" tradition.

Of the two extreme provisos of the ballot, those of complete abolition or complete retention of all traditions, a great majority of students voted for retaining at least some of the present customs. Three students only voted for complete abolition, whereas 34 voted for complete retention in all forms.

Nearly twice as many males cast votes as did females, 73 being recorded for men against 38 for women. Representation as to classes was very consistent. Twenty-nine freshmen cast votes, 28 sophomores voted, 29 juniors voted and 25 seniors cast ballots. Computed as to the percentage of individual classes which voted, it was found that 12 per cent of the frosh class voted, 11 per cent of the sophomores voted, 16 per cent of the junior class voted and 22 per cent of the seniors voted.

The heaviest class vote on any particular proviso was recorded by the senior class, which expressed itself as being opposed to physical hazing. The chief interest of women voters was centered on a desire to abolish the "queening" and "cords" traditions.

Social Hour Season Financial Success

The university social hours, sponsored by Blue Key, have been a success, Joe McDonnell, secretary of the finance control committee, stated today, when he announced that out of the five social hours four have more than paid for themselves.

The four social hours of October 11, 18 and November 1 and 21 returned $24.05. On the novelty social hour of November 29 $1.60 was lost, making a total profit of $22.45, or an average of $4.45 on each social hour.

The average attendance as approximated by those in charge of the dances was 130 students at each social hour.

Special Travel Rates for Christmas Holiday Trips Offered to Students

Privilege of Special Rates May Be Secured by Getting Signed Statement of Enrollment from Registrar

As an incentive for students to return to their homes for the Christmas holidays, the Southern Pacific railroad has made special rates to University of Nevada students.

A round trip ticket for the price of a one way fare is offered. In order to take advantage of this offer, the student must leave Reno on December 22 and return not later than January 8. These special rates are open to university students only. Officials at the Southern Pacific station state students must present a signed statement

Handball Tourney Begins Next Year States Doc. Martie

The annual intramural handball tournament is scheduled to begin the early part of next semester.

Current rumors of abolishing the tourney were denied by "Doc" Martie, head of the physical education department.

Every male student on the campus is eligible. Entries should be filed with the P. E. department immediately after the Christmas holidays.

The usual amount of points awarded for a minor sport towards the revolving trophy will be allotted to the organization's representative winning the handball title.

Three Fair Co-Eds Vie for Honor of Junior Prom Queen

Elva Neddenriep, Leone Clark, Marjorie Cannon Chosen Candidates

Three fair University of Nevada co-eds will vie for the honor of queen of the junior prom tomorrow night when a vote will be taken of the men attending the annual formal to be held at the Reno Country club. The candidates for the honor are Leone Clark, Elva Neddenriep and Marjorie Cannon, all members of the junior class.

Soon after the dance begins the votes will be counted and the winner will preside over the dance as official hostess for the remainder of the evening. This is the first year that such a contest has been held and it has been kept secret by the committee to be announced in the Sagebrush today. A favor will be presented to the queen by the members of her class.

Marjorie Cannon is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, Elva Neddenriep of Delta Delta Delta and Leone Clark of Kappa Alpha Theta. The candidates were chosen for their beauty, prominence in student activities and charm of character, it was announced by Robert Creps, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the dance.

A men's trio composed of Edgar Olsen, William Gilmartin and Ole Glusovitch will offer several vocal selections as a feature of the evening's entertainment. Music will be furnished by Gary Callahan's orchestra.

Tickets on Sale

Tickets for the prom are on sale today and tomorrow by members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the dance, at the office of the A. S. U. N. in the Student Administration building and at Wilson's drug store in Reno.

The committee announced that corsages are definitely out of order for the evening because of the university tradition which is against the giving of these favors to women attending class or fraternity functions. It also urged that everyone who attends the dance arrive as early as possible as the first program dance is scheduled to begin promptly at 9:15. There are a limited number of programs and late comers stand the chance of going without a program, Creps stated.

Chaperones and special guests of the class are: President and Mrs. Walter E. Clark, Dean and Mrs. R. C. Thompson, Dean Margaret E. Mack, Miss Louise M. Sissa, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Harold N. Brown, Robert Griffin, Chester Scranton and John Gottardi.

McKaig Gives Speech At Engineers' Dinner

"The Field of a Consulting Engineer" was the subject of a talk given before a special meeting of civil engineers Tuesday evening by T. McKaig, design and architectural engineer.

Relating the value of the engineering profession to other occupational fields, McKaig spoke of its relationship to law, medicine and business.

McKaig is a prominent engineering designer. At present he is drawing up plans for an airport in Los Angeles, and a government building in Buffalo, N. Y.

Benefit Contest With Alumni Stars Will Open Season

Full Team Now Practicing for First Contest To Be Held On December 19

MARTIE PESSIMISTIC

Tumbling Class Will Perform On Night of Opening Game

Scheduling a benefit game with an alumni team for December 19, several of last year's veterans reported for practice the first time this season, as hopes for another championship basketball team from Nevada received an added impetus this week.

Although still rather pessimistic concerning the 1934 season outlook, J. E. "Doc" Martie, basketball coach, did seem more cheerful over the prospects, but said that it is still too early in the season to do any forecasting.

Alumni Game

Dan Bledsoe, president of the Block N society, completed arrangements with Martie for the alumni game to be held December 19, early this week. The game, Martie said, is for the purpose of buying gold footballs for members of Nevada's first Far Western conference championship team.

An admission of 25 cents will be charged to both students and townspeople. The advanced tumbling class is also expected to perform at the benefit, and the music department has signified its intention of cooperating with the athletic department.

One week after this game, the Wolf Pack will leave Reno on its annual barnstorming tour to San Francisco, where it will tangle with the Y.M.I. team, the Olympic club and the University of California Bears before returning to Nevada.

New Men Out

Vic Carroll, veteran guard, Jack Hill and John Flournoy, forwards, and Cecil Stowell, center, members of the football squad who had been prohibited from reporting for basketball practice until two weeks after the close of football, are members of the 1933 squad who are again in suits, bringing the representation from last year's squad almost up to normal. Mike Gould, varsity center last year, is expected to turn out for practice immediately following his enrollment in school next semester. Members of the 1933 hoops team now out are: Carroll, Curran and Callahan, guards; Stowell and Phillips, center, and Leighton, Hill and Flournoy, forwards.

Transfers Promising

Besides these experienced men, four junior college transfers, Kallely and Jones from Nebraska, Leavitt from Utah, and Tharp from Marysville, Calif., are in suits; while Tannehill, Kelly, Cameron, Bowrin, Tapogna, Prunty, Hadlin, Benson and Lansdon, from last year's freshman team, are now attending varsity practices. Ole Glusovitch, a member of the 1930 freshman team, has also returned to school and reported for practice.

Lawyer Addresses Independent Group

One of the important benefits of college life is the group contacts which students are able to make while they are in the university, according to B. D. McCampbell, Reno lawyer, who addressed the Independent students Monday evening.

McCampbell stressed the value of students meeting in groups and discussing their problems. Only in this way, he said, could they really understand their school work, work out their difficulties and get the greatest benefit out of their social life.

"There are two general types of students in college, the one who studies all the time, gets good grades, but realizes little permanent benefit outside of scholastic recognition. The other type is the man or woman who mixes social recreation and group contacts with his school work. The latter gets the most benefit out of his college," the speaker declared.

In closing his address McCampbell offered several suggestions for the furthering of the Independents' organization. Following the address the regular business meeting of the group was held. Nominations for senators were opened and will remain open until the election on December 18, it was announced by Ned Morehouse, president.

Douglas Is Elected Interfrat Council President at Meeting

Beverly Douglas, Phi Sigma Kappa, was elected by members of the Interfraternity council to succeed Ed Martinez as president of the council for the ensuing term, last week.

Lowell Russell, Delta Sigma Lambda, was chosen as vice president, while Bill Gilmartin, Sigma Nu, was elected secretary.

CORSAGES

It has been the custom on the Nevada campus for several years for men who can afford to buy corsages for the co-eds whom they escort to class, fraternity and sorority dances to refrain from giving these favors to their dates as a courtesy to the men who cannot afford this luxury. During this semester the tradition has been ignored by several men and the indiscretion has been growing in the insidious way such a discourtesy grows. The result is a growing feeling of dissension and lack of good will among the men students of the university that is becoming a serious problem.

The growth of the problem occurs in a natural way. A few men, ignorant or careless of the custom, purchase corsages and the co-eds who are honored with this favor are seen at formal dances wearing the attractive bouquets. Other men who have not favored their dates in this manner feel embarrassed and at the next formal dance they too purchase corsages. This continues until all but the men who cannot afford to buy the favors or have some respect for the principle involved, purchase them. The result is an unnecessary outlay of money on trifles that can be done without and unavoidable embarrassment for the men who cannot afford the added expense. The question has long since been decided and there is no necessity for a revival of the abuse.

The question should be decided now before the formal season gets fully under way and every man in the university should refrain from buying a corsage for the co-ed whom he escorts to the junior prom tomorrow night. Every upstanding man with some respect for the feelings of less fortunate collegians should keep this matter in mind. There are other ways in which he can show his affection for his co-ed friend than by wasting money on a handful of flowers that will be tossed aside when the evening is over. The women of the university should co-operate by showing their distaste for a man who makes such a breach of etiquette. They can do much to solve the problem.

We should remember that the man who buys a corsage for his date is making himself an enemy of other men who are not fortunate enough to have the funds to favor his lady friend in such a way. Social and political leaders of the university should be the first to take up the fight to banish the corsage habit from the campus. The interfraternity council should look to strict enforcement of its rule against corsages and favors at fraternity dances. The interfraternity council constitution states: "Corsages, favors and program favors that can be used for something besides programs shall be barred from all fraternity dances. Penalty for violation of any or all of these rules shall be a fine of $5, payable by his fraternity." Let us have no more trouble with the corsage question.

CHEATING

Cheating by students of this university in examinations and in preparing class reports is becoming one of the great dangers to the character development of the undergraduates enrolled here. Both the indifference of many students to the ethics of student life and the laxity of instructors has tended to increase "cribbing," copying from the papers of other students and hiring others to write reports. Particular departments are reported to be "easy marks" for the student who wishes to get through his courses in the easiest way possible. Wholesale cheating in examinations in difficult courses has caused men and women to get high grades which they do not deserve.

A type of honor system is used at this university which gives all control over a student's conduct into the hands of the faculty. The students are not required to report the misconduct of their classmates, but general opinion and the watchfulness of faculty members is supposed to prevent cheating. This is education of gentlemen in a gentlemanly way. But instead of respecting this freedom from a monitorial system which requires appointed students to "tattle" on others for a breach of honor, undergraduates here are taking advantage of the situation to ruin their own characters.

Every student should realize that by cheating to get high grades he commits a crime against the social group in which he exists that is just as reprehensible as stealing. He is really stealing the place in a class that should justly go to another. He not only does this but he places a blot on his own character that may never be removed.

Students at this university should understand that they should report other students who cheat in examinations or reports. They should realize that they are not "squealing" when they report an offender. "Squealing" is the reporting of a secret man to man affair. Cheating is not this type of affair but an attack on the foundations of student life. Be reporting a cheater we are upholding the right to a fair grading of every member of the class in which the offense occurs and the university as a whole.

The stronger minded students in this institution can, by example, prevent the spreading of the offense and build up a respect for student honor. Weaker students, seeing that they will be ostracized for the offense and reported to their instructors, will discontinue the practice. The result will be an upbuilding of the morale of the university.

Wolf Howls

It is with the deepest sympathy that we announce to the campus the death of Nevada's best and oldest romance—Virg Wheeler and Harold Curran. After seven years of "married" life they have decided to be "just friends," as Virg thinks she's missing something in college. We never thought it was possible, and we're mighty disillusioned to find that true love is like that.

Some of our fair co-eds never seem to grow up. Witness the high school reverse dance, 50 per cent of the attendants being campus "hot shots." Is it because that's the only place they feel superior, or is it just another form of high school rushing?

We knew it wouldn't be long before we heard from the Fred Wilsons Jr. Who was at the party they threw besides Gail Parsons and his woman? It must have been a grand brawl, for now the Wilsons are looking for a new home.

By the way, Evelyn. Emily Post frowns upon calling up a boy at his steady girl friend's house and asking him for a date. Well, the Pi Phi seem to know all the angles and that's one way of getting a man.

When Larry Zobel, one of the "old guard" party men, brought a five pound box of candy to the Beta Sigs, the sisters thought they owed it to Marye Tucker (ex-Bob Anderson) who's been wearing Larry's pin for months and months. But, much to their surprise, they find that the wedding bells will ring instead for Margie Fay on December 22. Well, you never know. But, after all, it's all in the house.

Speaking of the "army" at Monterey, Bela Harcos and Sammy Arantz, our almost-prexy, didn't do so badly. Maybe it's those uniforms.

At last Gene Salet's past has caught up with him. By the way, Gene, who

Newspaper Files Reveal Progress

Research into some of the files of the old Sagebrush for the years which have gone, reveals stories which did much to solidify university traditions.

During the last forty years that the different staffs of the publications of the university have been active, both the Student Record and later the Sagebrush have recorded the history of the university.

About ten years ago the Sagebrush became active on questions of national politics. Inspiring editorials were written on gambling and on drinking. The Volstead act had just come into general enforcement and the editors deemed it necessary to offer their services to the administration by writing scorching editorials.

On August 25, 1924, there appeared a story in the 'Brush to this effect: "Efforts are being made to organize the students of all American universities into unions such as exist in other countries of Europe, and Nevada has been approached in the matter of forming a unit for the proposed university union. The question will be brought up for discussion before student body officers and members of the A.S.U.N. in the near future, according to reports made by Nevada's appointed representative to the English University

Another story appearing in one of the older issues of the Sagebrush states that: "In order that the University of Nevada school of mines may rank first in this country and foremost in the world, Clarence H. In the same issue there appears another story of an endowment made to this university: "In memory of her daughter, Margaret Elizabeth Rousseau, who died just five days after graduation from the University of Nevada in

Free Chicago Trip Awarded Student As Sewing Prize

Genevieve Hanson in Chicago To Compete in National 4-H Contest

ELKO GIRL

Enrolled Here as Freshman in Home Economics Course

Genevieve Hanson, freshman student at the University of Nevada, who was awarded a trip to the fifteenth national convention of the 4-H club representatives at Chicago, left last week to attend the convention, December 1 to 8. Miss Hanson received the trip as a prize for winning first place in the tailored division of the style dress review contest held in Nevada this fall.

This sewing contest is a national show window of the 4-H club movement. It is made possible by the cooperation of the agriculture colleges the United States department of agriculture, the International Live Stock exposition and a large number of farm and business organizations.

Miss Hanson has been active during the last eight years in the 4-H club work in Elko, which is her home. Originally she represented Elko county in the state contest, and there won first place among the representatives of other towns in Nevada, when the elimination contest was held in Reno recently. Now she represents the state of Nevada in the national contest.

Miss Hanson will compete in Chicago with representatives from other states. The first and second highest ranking girls in the contest will be awarded an education trip in June and July, 1934, to the historic shrines in the United States. The national winner will also be awarded a gold medal. Wrist watches will be given to the girls ranking third and fourth in their respective divisions.

The trip to Chicago is of educational value for the contestants. Visits to such places as the Livestock Exposition, the Shedd aquarium, Adler planetarium, Art institute, et cetera, will be taken.

Mrs. Buol, who is chaperoning Miss Hanson, is assistant director of the University of Nevada extension division. She also is chairman of the state committee in regard to studying 4-H club activities.

Students 'Boning' To Complete Work As Holidays Near

With the Christmas holidays only two weeks away, University of Nevada students are entering wholeheartedly into the final drive to finish term papers, take examinations and round up last minute reports before grades are issued.

School officially closes for the fall semester on Saturday, December 23, and the spring term begins January 8, 1934. This schedule makes it necessary for all work to be finished before the holidays, whereas several years ago the semester was extended over the Christmas vacation into January.

Grades will be sent to the registrar the first week of vacation, and students will receive notice of their standing—whether honor roll, passing or failure—sometime around New Year's day.

Until the holidays, however, last minute rushes continue, and the library is filled to overflowing with students who have decided to "turn over a new leaf and really do some studying this semester."

Juniors Victors In Women's Class Volleyball Games

Intramural Games Begun Yesterday Afternoon in Gym

Girls' interclass volleyball, which was being carried on in a round robin tournament for the last two weeks, culminated Tuesday night with victory for the Juniors.

Each class, scheduled to play every other class twice, was allotted 1000 points at the beginning of the tournament, with a deduction for each loss. The Juniors came through with a clean record, having kept the entire 1000 points; the Sophomores followed with 460, the Seniors came third with 293 and the Frosh brought up the rear with 166 2-3.

Thursday, December 7, marked the beginning date for the intramural volleyball tournament. The schedule, which is likewise planned by Manager Madelyn Miller to carry off the games in the round robin manner, is as follows:

December 7—Beta Sigma Omicron versus Tri Delta; Gamma Phi Beta vs. Independents; Kappa Alpha Theta vs. Pi Beta Phi.

December 8—Beta Sigma Omicron vs. Independents; Tri Delta vs. Pi Beta Phi; Gamma Phi Beta vs. Kappa Alpha Theta.

December 12—Beta Sigma Omicron vs. Gamma Phi Beta; Independents vs. Pi Beta Phi; Tri Delta vs. Kappa Alpha Theta.

December 14—Beta Sigma Omicron vs. Kappa Alpha Theta; Pi Beta Phi vs. Gamma Phi Beta; Tri Delta vs. Independents.

December 15—Beta Sigma Omicron vs. Pi Beta Phi; Tri Delta vs. Gamma Phi Beta; Independents vs. Kappa Alpha Theta.

SOCIAL SUICIDE

Comments from various women on the campus show that a set of "don't" rules should be adopted for the average college man. Among the comments was this question, "Why do the men around here invariably hold a girl so tightly when dancing that her dress is pulled up about two inches?" Remember, fellows, this is one of the most important rules.

After sorority informal dances it is proper for the gentleman to escort his girl out for an "after the dance" bite. He is the one who does the entertaining after the dance. The only exception to this rule is at the time of the annual "reverse" dances.

"My, the men on the Nevada campus are high hatted," said one freshman co-ed last week. Maybe she doesn't know that no man, if he is a gentleman, will speak to a girl first. Recognition is the duty of the girl. Current etiquette writers say that this is the privilege of a woman.

When a man is invited to a sorority dance it is only proper that the compliment is to be repaid immediately. And immediately is the only word to use.

"Do you remember me?" "How's the kid?" and various other phrases greet many unsuspecting females when a friend(?) comes up to her and slaps her on the back. Some men on this campus certainly have this habit, and more than one woman would rest easier if they used more civilized tactics.

Unless a girl drinks and her escort knows it, it is very embarrassing and insulting to the girl to be offered a drink.

'Grow Mae West-ish' Y.W. Co-Eds Advise

"Grow Mae West-ish by eating Y.W. C. A. candy."

This is the slogan the co-eds of the Y.W.C.A. candy booth in the university post office station.

A sale of homemade candy, including all kinds of fudge, and pinoche, will take place next Tuesday and will be held every Tuesday after that till the end of the school semester, according to Nevada Solari and Stella Vucovich, directors of the candy booth.

The women who are working with the candy booth committee are Florence Diskin, Frances Burke, Mildred Murdoch, Agnes De Armand, Marian Brody, Lucille Hook, Dorothy Gordon, Louise Riel, Eleanor Garrison, Elizabeth Barnes, Lottie Boulden, Mary Louise Durkee and Opal Harvey.

Stanley Smith, who was operated on for appendicitis a few weeks ago, was discharged from the university hospital after Thanksgiving.

CO-EDS HERE AND IN ORIENT CONTRASTED BY ROUGE USED

The biggest difference between American co-eds and Chinese co-eds is in the amount of makeup used. So Bernice Lam, University of Nevada student from China, characterized the women students of both countries in an address to the Women's Faculty club Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. A. Carpenter.

In contrast to the heavily made up and elaborately dressed co-eds of the United States, Miss Lam stated that co-eds in China use little if any cosmetics, and wear simple clothes, usually uniforms.

She thinks that this is due to the attitude Chinese women have towards education. They regard college as a place in which to learn only intellectual fundamentals, while Miss Lam, who is always tastefully dressed herself, believes that personal appearance should be considered. She clinched her point by saying that she wears cosmetics herself now.

Miss Lam explained Chinese characters as words in themselves, since they have no alphabet and each word has only one sound. While the Chinese have only one written language, they have two main spoken tongues, and thousands of dialects, Miss Lam said. Instead of writing with a pencil or pen the Chinese write with a brush which is very difficult to balance.

Y.W.C.A. Book Store Will Open January 10

Because university students have found that the Y.W.C.A. second hand book shop has been a satisfactory means of helping to balance their budget, the shop will be open again for business January 10 of next semester, Louise Tidball, chairman of the finance committee for Y.W.C.A., announced this week.

In order for the book shop to be able to have sufficient books on hand by that time it will be necessary for students to bring in the books they wish to sell as soon as possible, Miss Tidball urged.

There are a number of books left from last semester which were uncalled for, and these will be placed on sale along with those which will come in. The commission charged for selling a book is 10 cents, and if the book isn't sold there is no charge for handling it, she said.

If any student desires to have a certain book reserved until next semester he may do so by seeing Louise Tidball, Genevieve Ashworth or Agnes Pistone, members of the committee.

'Buy a Brick' Tag Sale Is Reported Success for A.W.S.

Selling "brick" tags to more than half of the students on the campus, members of the annual "Buy a Brick" committee set up a new sales record for the event. A total of $41 was turned over to the Associated Women Students' general fund, to be given towards a future student union building.

Freshman women cooperated with the committee in selling the tags, and because of interest taken in the campaign by some of the co-eds ten women were recommended by Marthine Solares, president of A.W.S., and Kay Johnson, committee chairman, to be considered for membership in Sagens, women's pep organization.

Recommended for Sagens

Women recommended for this honor are Marie Barnes, Elizabeth Juniper, Ina Sharp, Evamae Beemer, Gwen Erickson, Ruth Hansen, Mary Casey, Mary L. Carmody, Virginia Crosby, M. C. Blakely, Eileen O'Hara.

Price of the tags was reduced this year from 25 cents to 10 cents, with a resultant increase of more than 75 per cent in sales. The tags were sold at tables on the campus and by individual freshman women who were each given a day to "hit" the campus and sell their wares.

Members of the committee in charge are Kay Johnson, chairman, Florine Frank, Helen Records, June McGuire, Inez MacGillivray and Helen Malloy.

Teacher Presents 'Red Apples'

Art Instructor Distributes Fruit To Industrious Pupils

The tables have been reversed! Pupils used to red apple teachers, but now teachers red apple pupils—at least Miss Lewers, art instructor at the University of Nevada, does.

Miss Lewers has an apple orchard on her ranch, which is located at the foot of Mount Rose. Each year when the apples become ripe she brings several baskets full to school, and as an incentive to art rewards each woman in her classes with as many as she is able to eat.

It brings results too. The splendid work Miss Lewers' students have been doing this week is indicative instructors might adopt the new method to advantage.

Sorority Women Assist Red Cross

University of Nevada sororities assisted the Reno Red Cross in the drive for membership carried on during last week.

Two representatives were sent from each sorority to the Red Cross headquarters, where they were placed at stations in the downtown district to sell membership cards.

The campaign was started by Manzanita and Artemisia halls at the suggestion of Dean M. E. Mack, and was continued last week by the girls' organizations.

3—about Cigarettes
Not so long ago practically all cigarettes were made by hand
Now, Chesterfields are made by high-speed machines that turn out 750 cigarettes a minute, and the cigarettes are practically not touched by hand.
BY the use of long steel ovens—drying machines of the most modern type—and by aging the leaf tobacco for 30 months—like wine is aged—Chesterfield tobacco is milder and tastes better.
Only pure cigarette paper—the best made—is used for Chesterfield.
And to make sure that everything that goes into Chesterfield is just right, expert chemists test all materials that are used in any way in the manufacture.
Chesterfields are made and packed in clean, up-to-date factories, where the air is changed every 4½ minutes. The moisture-proof package, wrapped in Du Pont's No. 300 Cellophane—the best made—reaches you just as if you went by the factory door.
In a letter to us, an eminent scientist says:
"Chesterfield Cigarettes are just as pure as the water you drink."

Orientation Class Reported Success By Maxwell Adams

Freshman Class Shows Interest In Varied Programs Presented

This year's orientation course has been the most successful one conducted since the subject was introduced as a freshman requirement, Dean Maxwell Adams, instructor, stated yesterday.

"The class is very much interested, and each student has entered surprisingly well into the spirit of the course," Adams said.

The course is being conducted under three main divisions this semester, and it is to this fact that Dean Adams attributes its success. During the first half semester lectures were delivered to the students under the two general titles, "Freshman Problems" and "Learning How to Study Effectively."

"Orientation to a Vocational Future" is the subject the class is concerned with at present.

A marked improvement has been shown by the class of 1937 over those of former years in response to, and appreciation of, music, according to Adams.

The time spent in singing has been increased seven minutes, with the result that more songs have been learned.

The program for the remainder of the course is as follows:

December 12—Music: Its Form and Appreciation. Prof. T. H. Post.

December 14—Summary of Course. Dean Adams. Vocational Guidance. Prof. A. L. Higginbotham.

December 19—Summary of the Vocational Field. Prof. A. L. Higginbotham.

December 21—Examination.

WRITER'S CRAMP HITS CAMPUS, PRESCOTT SAYS

It begins to look as though writer's cramp has joined forces with the "depression" to defeat poor old Santa Claus.

According to R. Prescott, the university postmaster, there has been no increase in the volume of mail because of the approaching holidays.

In fact, the volume of mail this year so far shows a decrease from that of last year.

Prescott mentioned several important points to students using the mails:

1. Postcards need 1-cent stamps; Christmas cards in unsealed envelopes, 1 1/2 cents postage for one card to the envelope, and 1 1/2 cents per two ounces or fraction of an ounce for more than one card to the envelope, and Christmas cards in sealed envelopes 3 cents postage.

2. Cards in unsealed envelopes must not contain any correspondence, otherwise they will be rated as first class mail and, as such, are liable for 3 cents postage charges.

3. Cards mailed in unsealed envelopes are rated as third class mail and are not to be distributed until after all first and second class mail has been serviced. Hence, if speedy delivery is desired a 3-cent stamp on the sealed envelope should be used.

4. Mail should be sent early. Only special delivery and perishable mail will be delivered on Sunday, December 24, and on Christmas day.

5. Parcel post packages should be addressed on one side only. Return address on the package is essential. No seals, such as Red Cross seals, et cetera, should be used on packages sent to foreign countries.

No Funds on Hand For Snow Survey

According to Dr. J. E. Church no money has been appropriated by the legislature this year for the annual snow survey, which would ordinarily be made next spring. The experiment station, which carries on this work, hopes that power companies and reclamation districts can be persuaded to donate money towards the continuation of this work, since the loss of one year's records would seriously affect the value of all such data which has been collected in previous years.

Church Bells

Methodist — Epworth league meets this Sunday at 6:30 at the church. Jean Cameron will lead the discussion on prayer. Those attending have a part in making the plans for the Christmas play.

Baptist — B.Y.P.U. will meet at 6:30 in the social room of the church. Dean Thompson has charge of the group and an interesting discussion is in the offing.

Catholic — Newman club meets this Sunday at 6:15 under the direction of Father Harrigan, in the social hall of the church. Jack Horgan will preside and all Catholic students are urged to be present at this first meeting in December.

Federated — Campus club will enjoy its monthly dinner meeting at 6:15. This meeting is to be in the form of a pre-Christmas party and informal discussion will take place over the coffee cups.

THE JUNIOR PROM

It seems that as long as there has been a University of Nevada there has also been a junior prom dance. We find mention of the prom in many instances in the earliest copies of the old Student Record. The designations of class dances have remained the same since the dances were established as yearly class functions.

Thus we have the sophomore "hop," the junior "prom" and the senior ball, as terms which have been handed down to us from our predecessors.

It appears that freshmen didn't rate an annual dance until the early part of the present century.

Just to prove that the "ancients" did things up as well as we of today, we quote you the first recorded story of the junior prom, taken from the Record, issue of January 15, 1897:

"The first social event of the holidays was the junior prom given by the class of '99 in the gym on the evening of December 17, 1897. The gym was very prettily decorated. Cozy little alcoves were curtained off in the corners, in which were easy chairs, sofas, rugs, etc. Lemonade was served in one of these alcoves. At one side of the hall the banners of the classes from '97 to '1 were tastefully arranged.

The decoration committee deserved much credit for the way in which they beautified the hall. About one hundred and sixty guests took part in the grand march, which began at 8:30, led by Nelson Bruette, president of the class of '99, and Miss Amy Sherman. At 11 o'clock all present were invited to the dining hall and were served with refreshments. Dancing then continued till one o'clock. The college yell was not neglected, for frequently during the evening the hall resounded with 'Wah hoo wah,' and now and then from some corner of the gym a class yell was heard. It did the hearts of the students good to hear once more the yells of '96 and '97 by the graduates who were fortunate enough to be present from those classes.

Another pleasant feature of the evening was the number of alumni present: From '91, Mr. Frank Norcross; from '93, Mr. C. P. Brown; Miss Anna Martin from '94 and James Egan (special) and Sam Durkee from '95; '96 was well represented by the Misses Addie Boyd, Laura Smith and Maude Wheeler and Messrs. F. M. Linseott, Fred Waits and Jay Clemons; and '97 by Miss Kate Reigulhuth and Messrs. Jerome Higgins, John Evans and Ed Lachman. Among other guests present were Dr. Stubbs, Prof. Wilson and wife, Prof. Unsworth and wife, Dr. Phillips, Mrs. C. P. Brown, Mrs. Fred Waits, Mrs. Jay Clemons, Miss French, Miss McClure and Miss Laws. At one o'clock the gay party broke up. Good-byes for the holidays were said and pleasant wishes for Christmas and New Year's were exchanged. All who were present vote '99 royal entertainers and will always look back with pleasure on the junior prom given by the class of '99."

Aptitude Tests Taken By Would-Be Doctors

Students who plan entering medical schools in the fall of 1934 were given aptitude tests Wednesday by Dr. Peter Franzen, head of the biology and medical departments at the University of Nevada.

Such a test is a requirement of all graduating pre-medical students and is given only once during a school year. A fee of $1 per student was charged for the test.

University Radio Feature Stopped

Student and Faculty Programs May Be Continued Next Semester

With the termination of the 1933 football season, the regular weekly radio feature sponsored by the news service bureau has been taken off the air, but will be resumed again after the lull in the university sports program.

In adopting this policy Howard Umber, director of the news bureau, stated that there already are two other programs being put on by KOH, the local station, which are for the purpose of putting university people and activities before the public. Due to this turn of events, the Friday night broadcast had to take the form of a sports program, and were so successful during the football season that it seemed advisable to continue during the basketball season.

During the course of the present semester over a dozen programs were put on the air, and brought before the microphone the president of the university, Dr. Clark; Dean Maxwell Adams, vice president of the administration; the presidents of the student body and the women's association; professors, coaches and townspeople. The music department, under the direction of Theodore Post, cooperated to the fullest extent in making the programs as successful as they were.

In announcing the close of the present series of programs, Umber pointed out that due to the pressure of studies, the proximity of the close of the present semester and the demands of other activities, it has become practically impossible to get students and faculty members to devote time to preparation for, and participation in, these broadcasts. However, with the start of the new semester, it is hoped that it will be possible to recruit talent for continued broadcasts.

Former U. of N. Student Leaves Rome for Reno

Reno Vogliotti, former University of Nevada student, sailed from Rome, Italy, last Wednesday to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Vogliotti of Reno.

For the past four years Vogliotti has been attending the Royal University of Rome, where he recently obtained a bachelor's degree in international law.

Vogliotti attended the University of Nevada during the years of 1926, 1927 and 1928. While on the campus he was interested in debate work and affiliated with the local fraternity of Kappa Lambda, which is now Lambda Chi Alpha.

Mrs. Vogliotti today stated she had no definite information as to the future plans of her son.

When the Oklahoma Agricultural college was founded it was necessary to adopt a ruling forcing the students to leave their firearms out of buildings during classes.

President Returns From Conventions Of Education Heads

Walter E. Clark Takes Leading Part in National Gatherings

A wedding of considerable interest to the campus was that of Miss Dorothy Cooper and Adelbert States. The ceremony was performed at the Federated church last Saturday evening in the presence of a large number of friends of the couple.

Mrs. States was a member of Pi Beta Phi and is popularly identified with campus dramatics. Mr. States was affiliated with Lambda Chi Alpha and is now holding a position in Sparks. Both were graduated with the class of '33.

Anne Gibbs '37 spent the weekend in Fallon with her family.

Betty McCuiston, Pi Phi pledge, went to Carlin for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Six of the Tri Deltis who stay at the house spent the Thanksgiving holidays outside of Reno. Helen Malloy and Isobel Priest visited in Westwood, Orva Selkirk and Elva Nedderniep were with their families in Gardnerville and Myra and Jean Sauer went to their home in Franktown.

Those in the Gamma Phi house who went home for their Thanksgiving dinners are: Caryl Carman and Arlene Boerlin to Hawthorne, Fay and Fern Wittwer to Smith Valley, Loretta Miller to Fernley and Elinor Bateman to Tonopah.

Miss Margaret E. Mack, dean of women, was a guest at the Gamma Phi Beta house Wednesday evening for dinner.

Mrs. M. A. Diskin entertained the members of Kappa Alpha Theta at Thanksgiving dinner Thursday evening at her home on California avenue.

Frances Barnes '33, who is teaching in Tonopah, was in Reno last week. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Gladys Compston and Emma Azarev spent Thanksgiving vacation with their families in Smith Valley.

Thanksgiving dinner was enjoyed at the Tri Delta house by the following: Anne O'Neill, Ruth Brown, Geraldine Bingham, Ione Harpending, Melville Hancock, William McMenamin, Jack Stephens and Walter States.

Sunday evening Dariel Doyle entertained a number of friends at her home on South Virginia road at a card party. Those who attended are:

Roberta Browne, Lindsay Green, Ruth Bails, Irvin Wanke, Gwen Ramsey, Bob Scott, Lois Brooks, Fred Hartman, Dariel Doyle and Wayne Kennedy.

Among the Thetas who were out of town over the holidays are: Claire Willison, who went to Carlin; Claire Fitzgerald, who went to Sacramento; Paula Bradshaw and Frances and Katherine Slavin, who went to Tonopah, and Cornelia and Annabelle Arntz, who went to Smith Valley.

The Pi Phi house was empty over the weekend as all of the women living there spent their vacation at home. Amelia Zorich went to Truckee, Ann Jenkins was in Susanville, Dorothy Roseberry stayed in Battle Mountain and Pat O'Connell went to Minden.

President Returns From Conventions Of Education Heads

Walter E. Clark Takes Leading Part in National Gatherings

Returning last Wednesday from Chicago where he represented the University of Nevada at two important educational conventions, President Walter E. Clark reported favorably on the outcome of the annual gatherings, the chief discussions of which concerned the effect of the federal recovery program on the universities as a whole and the part which the universities can play in assisting in the recovery movement.

Elected to Office

As a member of the Executive committee of the National Association of State Universities, Dr. Clark first attended the thirty-eighth annual convention of that organization, a three-day meeting which preceded the forty-seventh annual gathering of the Association of Land - Grant Colleges and universities. He was elected vice-president of the latter organization for the ensuing year.

Various persons of national importance were heard at the two conventions. Such men as Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, United States Commissioner of Education George F. Boker, and educational leaders of the nation expressed opinions on the inter-relationship of the government administration and the land grant colleges and the state universities.

Federal Aid Threatened

Foremost of a score of important topics discussed was the threatened reduction of federal appropriations to land grant colleges.

"In that our Nevada institution is a land grant university receiving federal support, such a discussion had direct bearing on the immediate future of the university," said Dr. Clark. "However, it was apparent that the present administration, represented at the convention by William E. Sweet, ex-governor of Colorado, will take no immediate steps to curtail present land grant appropriations. The success of the current national recovery campaign will determine the amount of future federal support," concluded the Nevada president.

Other subjects up for discussion pertained chiefly to problems of national scope confronting all universities and colleges. Tuition, enrollment, curriculum problems, new features in education, and the like occupied the major part of the general discussion.

Before returning west, President Clark topped off his two weeks trip by visiting his mother in Columbus Ohio.

Be proud of your university.

Block N Society Picks All-State Grid Aggregation

Star Players on High School
Football Teams Are Honored

Future University Gridiron
Material Shines Out
In Selections

An official all-state high school football eleven was selected by members of the Block N society of the University of Nevada last Monday. This organization also chose a mythical second team, and gave honorable mention to a number of prep school athletes who have played outstanding football during the 1933 season.

The 1933 all-state group is made up of the following players:

First Team
Shaw, Stewart, center.
Nickovich, Yerington, right guard.
Anker, Lovelock, right tackle.
Metter, Las Vegas, right end.
Questa, Sparks, right half.
Inman, Fallon, quarterback.
Haight, Sparks, fullback.

Second Team
Demosthenes, Reno, center.
Keller, Fallon, right guard.
Beecher, Reno, right tackle.
Sullivan, Reno, right end.
Ecano, Reno, right half.
Collis, Ely, quarterback.
Powell, Las Vegas, fullback.

Honorable Mention
Ends—Colpas, Ely; Emmett, Las Vegas; Montrose, Lovelock; Marcucci, Lovelock; Wright, Stewart; Gridley, Stewart; Santa Cruz, Las Vegas.

Tackles—Mack, Stewart; Lias, Las Vegas; Pirtle, Fallon; Richardson, Yerington; Macco, Lovelock; Bankofer, Winnemucca; Varnum, Reno; Nash, Las Vegas.

Guards—Sullivan, Reno; Moss, Sparks; Barton, Yerington; Mack, Stewart; Hughes, Las Vegas; Condon, Sparks.

Centers—Perry, Yerington; Spears, Sparks; Harms, Lovelock.

Halfbacks—Marinovich, Las Vegas; Ruggeroli, Ely; Morrison, Winnemucca; Whitney, Lovelock; Parrish, Fallon; Edwards, Fallon; Papez, Ely.

Fullbacks—Dubravac, Ely; Pincolini, Reno.

Special certificates from the Block N society will be given to the members of the first named eleven. These certificates will designate the player, position, school represented and the season during which the award was given.

The coaches of the Nevada high schools that meet in interscholastic football picked all-opponent teams, and sent their selections to the Block N society.

The prep school mentors were not allowed to pick members from their own team. From this arrangement the society, headed by Dan Bledsoe, president, had a more representative basis to choose the all-state eleven from the all-opponent teams.

Coaches sending in selections were: Don Robertson, Fallon; Herb Foster, Reno; Proctor Hug, Sparks; Doug Dashiell, Las Vegas; Harold Bailey, Yerington; A. Norman, Lovelock; Dave Moose, Stewart; Al Lowry, Winnemucca, and Chet Scranton, coach of the university freshman team.

High School Hoop Schedule Outlined

Freshman Team Schedule Also Prepared by Yearling
Mentor

Yerington and Fallon high schools will usher in the beginning of the high school western zone basketball competition, on December 23, in a game to be played at Fallon.

Practice in most of the high schools started immediately after the Thanksgiving vacation and the various teams are rapidly rounding into shape.

The following is the western zone schedule for the coming season:

December 23—Yerington at Fallon.
January 5—Fallon at Hawthorne, Gardnerville at Yerington, Carson City at Stewart, Virginia City at Dayton.

January 6—Carson City at Fallon, Yerington at Dayton, Sparks at Lovelock.

January 12—Reno at Carson City, Dayton at Gardnerville, Hawthorne at Virginia City.

January 13—Lovelock at Reno, Fallon at Sparks, Carson City at Gardnerville, Hawthorne at Dayton, Stewart at Virginia City.

January 19—Reno at Fallon, Yerington at Hawthorne, Dayton at Sparks (B team), U. N. Frosh at Virginia City, Gardnerville at Sparks.

January 20—Fallon at Lovelock, Virginia City at Yerington, Sparks at Stewart.

January 26—Virginia City at Reno, Sparks at Carson City, Dayton at Reno (B team), Gardnerville and U. N. Frosh at Reno.

January 27—Stewart at Reno, Fallon at Yerington, Sparks at Virginia City, Sparks (B team) at Dayton.

February 2—Reno at Sparks, Carson City at Yerington, Lovelock versus U. N. Frosh at Reno, Virginia City at Gardnerville.

February 3—Reno at Stewart, Gardnerville at Fallon, Sparks at Yerington, Virginia City at Carson City.

February 9—Reno versus U. N. Frosh at Reno, Lovelock at Fallon, Hawthorne at Yerington, Gardnerville at Carson City, Dayton at Virginia City, Stewart at Sparks.

February 16—Yerington at Reno, Hawthorne at Fallon, U. N. Frosh at Lovelock, Reno (B team) at Dayton, Virginia City at Sparks.

February 17—Sparks at Reno, Fallon at Carson City, Yerington versus U. N. Frosh at Reno; Virginia City at Stewart.

February 23—Reno at Gardnerville, Sparks at Fallon, Yerington at Virginia City, Stewart at Carson City.

February 24—Fallon at Gardnerville, Lovelock at Yerington, Carson City at Sparks, Virginia City versus U. N. Frosh in Reno.

MUCH TAPE USED TO PATCH GRID TEAM PLAYERS

It took 90 feet less than one-quarter of a mile of adhesive plaster to make the 1933 Nevada football varsity "stick" together throughout the entire season.

By rapid calculation this is 1230 feet of tape, as there were 41 rolls of 12 inch width plaster used, each roll being 10 yards in length. The cross-section of each roll is divided into six perforated strips, each strip being two inches wide.

These figures of linear measure, which were given out by J. E. "Doc" Martie, director of men's athletics, and Ralph Menante, football manager, represent the "binding" strength needed by a squad of football men. This binding strength could probably be figured more closely by computing the number of surface square inches of each man, and dividing by the number of bruises, scars, broken bones or what have you. Anyway, this amount of tape and gauze would be sufficient to make a mummy of any one player.

Besides this, 360 pairs of socks were purchased, and there are only about 75 pairs left, Menante said. For a team to use 285 pairs of socks in one season shows that they must have been up on their toes.

Thus it is discovered that a football team must be "plastered," "bound up," well shod' and "mercured" in order to keep on its feet.

Costs Break Even As Football Ends

Expenses for the 1933 football season at the University of Nevada practically broke even with the receipts, Joe McDonnell, graduate manager, announced. The expenses included the salaries of Coach C. L. Mitchell and his assistant, Fritz Coltrin, and the cost of trips for out of town games, guarantees to teams coming to Reno and various kinds of equipment for the players.

SAN JOSE PROPOSES ROUND ROBIN GRID TOURNEY FOR 1934

When the annual meeting of the Far Western conference officials is held next Tuesday and Wednesday at the Cliff hotel in San Francisco, the University of Nevada will be officially represented by R. C. Thompson, dean of Men, J. E. Martie, director of athletics, and C. L. Mitchell, head football coach.

Principal topic of the conclave will be the drawing up of next season's schedule, according to Martie. When the games among the conference teams are arranged for next fall, San Jose State will make an effort to put through a new idea as to the schedule, Martie also indicated. This plan of the Staters is that a round robin bracket be set up wherein all the title contenders would meet each other.

"Such a proposition isn't logical in a type of organization such as the Far Western conference," stated Thompson. "The financial reason, if no other, is sufficient to condemn such a proposition," he declared.

Eligibility and transfer rulings will be discussed at length, and whatever current problems have arisen this season will be settled.

The formal ceremony of officially declaring the University of Nevada Wolf Pack winners of the 1933 conference crown will be one of the highlights of the affair for the Nevada representatives.

Northwestern is having an intramural punting contest for non-varsity men.

A physiology teacher in Indiana received a reward for capture of a bank robber.

Chico upset the Far Western conference dope bucket in a big way on Thanksgiving day by defeating San Jose State. That defeat gave the Nevada Wolf Pack its first conference championship, breaking the tie that had previously existed between Nevada and San Jose.

University of Nevada athletic officials are non-committal about the rumored break in the Far Western conference. From all reports, the bone of contention among conference members is the three year limit on players. Although Nevada has a freshman ruling, it is not compulsory in the conference, although the three year limit still remains. Thus, one of the other colleges could play a freshman, but he would be ineligible in his senior year. That's where the trouble lies.

hoop stars and members of the 1934 varsity, the game between the alumni and the varsity should prove exciting. The prospect of seeing the Wolf Pack in action for the first time this season should be enough to justify the 25 cents admission, charge alone, but a complete evening's entertainment has also been arranged so that everybody will get their money's worth. Let's make it a 100 per cent affair and give the Pack a good sendoff.

Two of Nevada's basketball opponents this year will meet in San Francisco this weekend when the Y. M. I. team meets the Reno Creamery group from Hutchinson, Kan. The Kansas team is reputed to be exceptionally strong, while coast fans say that the Y. M. I. boys are no weaklings themselves.

Taxes to the amount of $41,439 were paid by the fraternities and sororities on their homes at the University of Washington.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO BE THE CHAMPION TRAP SHOOTER

SHOOTING FROM SCRATCH, 25 yards behind the traps, Walter Beaver pulled out of an exciting tie to win the 34th Grand American—the first time it has been won by a limit contestant! He has been a steady smoker of Camels for years, and says: "During all these years I've been smoking Camels because I like their taste and mildness...they never jangle my nerves."

HOW ARE YOUR NERVES? If you smoke a lot...inside...outdoors...wherever you are...join the swing to Camels. You'll find them milder, better tasting, and they never get on your nerves.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels
WALTER BEAVER, holder of the coveted Grand American Handicap, says:
"Winning a trap-shooting championship is partly a matter of luck, partly the result of practice and partly healthy nerves. I'm a steady smoker. People kid me about it at the tournaments. They say I never have a cigarette out of my mouth. During all these years I've been smoking Camels, not only because I like their taste and their mildness, but also because they never jangle my nerves."
It's no fun to feel that your nerves are ragged—and to wonder why. Check up on your eating...your sleep...your cigarettes. Switch to Camels. Your nerves and your taste will tell you that Camels are a more likable cigarette—and that they don't upset your nerves.

Nevadans Select Outstanding Men Of Grid Opponents

Mythical All-Opponents Team Selected by Wolf Pack Gridders

Upon the completion of Nevada's 1933 football season, thirteen members of the Wolf Pack squad were asked to select an all-opponents team. Outstanding among the men selected for the mythical eleven were: Larry Siemmering, U. S. F.; Elduyan, Fred Canrinus and Al Nicholini of St. Mary's, each of whom received a position on the all-coast team picked by coast sport writers.

One Far Western conference griddier was selected unanimously by the Wolf Pack. Tom Wilson of the College of Pacific received the approval of the Nevada men for a position on the team. He will be remembered by the football fans who saw him play in Reno Homecoming day. His unusual passing ability made him one of the game's outstanding players.

The all-opponents selection is as follows:

- Center—Larry Siemmering, U.S.F.
- Guards—Art Carlson, California; Elduyan, St. Mary's.
- Tackles—Fred Duval, Loyola; Jorgensen, St. Mary's, and Lutz, California, tied.
- Ends—Fred Canrinus, St. Mary's; Todd, Olympic club, and Jones, California, tied.
- Quarterback—Whalen, Loyola.
- Half—Tom Wilson, C. of P.; Nicholini, St. Mary's.
- Full—Keefer, California.
- Ahern, St. Mary's, and Baird, Olympic club, were close seconds for the position of quarterback, while Blower, California, gave a good showing for a halfback position. For the fullback berth Smith, Chico, and Condray, U. S. F., were runners-up.
- The thirteen Nevada varsity men who selected the team were: Ken Austin, Tom Cashill, Bud Beasley, Bill Beemer, Lee Priest, Jack Hill, George Tharp, Marvin Turner, Paul Walker, Gene Salet, Vic Carroll, John Flournoy and Ed Kell.

University Tumbling Team Is Practicing

With the best group of men out that has appeared in several years, the university tumbling team, under the capable coaching of Dave Clark, has made rapid progress in its work this season. Several exhibitions have been planned, though no definite dates have been set as yet. Dates for these exhibitions will be set by J. E. Martie. No coach is assigned for the teaching of tumbling, but each year some senior student who is interested in the sport and wishes to see it perpetuated spends his time in coaching the underclass men. Those men taking tumbling this year are Olet Hart, K. Bannigan, F. Moore, Wainscott, B. Best, Odell, B. Morris, Bartlett, Spencer and Morby.

The 'Worm Turns' As Sig Phi Pledges Take House Reins

Victory in Basketball Game Makes Underdogs Kings For a Week

As a result of a victory in their annual basketball game with the members, the Sigma Phi Sigma pledges will be exempt from all house work and "dirty work" in general week.

The pledges took the game in their hands and carried the score up to 38 points to the member's 32 points.

Dick Haman, frosh football man, is to be house manager for this week. He stated that all members must turn up for two days of hard labor and that he and several assistants will enforce the duties of the men.

Members of the house have stated that the pledges won't dare be too hard on them because they can get it back on them at the end of the week, but the pledges still maintain that they are going to "get all they can out of all of the members," according to reports.

If all of the pages of one edition of the University of California yearbook, Blue and Gold, were put end to end, they would reach 312 miles.

Twenty-seven Men Sign for Freshman Basketball Team

Former High School Stars Make Up Promising Yearling Turnout

Twenty-seven men answered Coach Scranton's call for the initial freshman basketball practice of the season at a practice session last Wednesday evening.

Among the representatives were men from nearly every high school in the state as well as several out of state candidates. Scranton declined to show any extraordinary enthusiasm over the first night's showing.

The following men were on the floor for the opening practice: Aymar, Bedford, Becker, Brackett, Carpenter, Cashill, Dickson, Devore, Delamare, Di Julio, Elcano, Gray, Graunke, H. Herz, C. Johnston, Kitchen, Lyons, Libby, Lockridge, Mating, Moore, Morris, Prussia, Rose, Rougin, Wilder and Wallace.

Scranton expressed his belief that several new men would be out before the Christmas holidays.

Men's Glee Club Journey to South Proves Success

Nineteen members of the men's glee club toured southern Nevada and presented concerts the early part of last week. The men left Reno on November 27 and returned on November 30.

Concerts were given at Tonopah and Boulder City, Nev. The Tonopah Rotary club sponsored the Tonopah program and the Boulder City program was sponsored by the American Legion.

Herbert Peck, student manager, stated the concerts were well received and Tonopah has asked for another engagement in the spring.

A small profit was realized from the concert above actual expenses.

While in Boulder City the club members were dinner guests of Harold Anderson, superintendent of the Six companies mess hall, in the company's dining hall.

Men making the trip were Albert Manhan, Kistler Rivers, Francis Wald, Clifton Prussia, Darrel Cain, Al Gibson, Russell Elliott, Jack Elliott, Ed Shirley, Herb Peck, George Steffins, Morgan Mills, Guy Morris, Herb Taylor, Ed Parmenter, Jack Belz, Donald Butler, Professor Post and Professor Lough.

Those in charge of the glee club state they hope to tour northern Nevada next semester.

All "drunks" at the University of Michigan football games are to be put out by stadium officials by a recent ruling.

A Minnesota all-state and two letter basketball man recently announced he was not going out this year so that he can devote more time to his studies.

McDonnell Explains Uses of Student Fee

"Where does your $10 blanket fee go?" This question has been asked by practically every student on the Nevada campus and a statement was issued yesterday by Joe McDonnell, executive secretary to finance control:

For football $4.25 is allowed; $2 for classes at 50 cents; $1.50 for Artemisia; 75 cents for the Sagebrush. This total of $8.50 is allotted by the constitution, and the $1.50 remaining goes for budgets and operating expenses.
