A.S.U.N. to Join National Student Federation Soon

Final Meeting of Semester
Held This Morning in Auditorium

TREASURY SURPLUS

Eight Co-Eds Offer Apologies
For Breaking Campus
Traditions

Nevada is to be affiliated with the National Student Federation of America, it was announced by President Jim Wallace at the last A.S.U.N. meeting of the semester held this morning in the Education building.

Wallace stated that such was the decree of the student senate last night. The university was a member of the N.S.F.A., which includes some of the largest accredited colleges in America, until 1931, but failed to renew its membership the following year.

Joe McDonnell stated that after outstanding bills have been paid the balance in the A.S.U.N. treasury for the semester will be $1724.61.

"Campus Night" is to be held at the Majestic theater tonight, according to Gene Salet, who urged students to attend, as part of the money received from tickets sold by university service organizations is to revert to the student body for the purpose of buying gold footballs for Nevada's conference champion team. The university's part in the entertainment is in charge of Campus Players. Tickets can be secured from members of Blue Key, Sagers and Sagens.

Game Announced
Announcement was made of the basketball game between the Nevada varsity and an all-star team composed of former players on the university's squad.

Donnie Sullivan was approved by the senate as a member of the women's upperclass committee to fill the vacancy created by Nell Lozano's withdrawal from school, Wallace stated.

Independents were urged by Ned Morehouse to attend a meeting of their organization to be held Monday night for the purpose of electing new senators.

Eight women were presented to the student body by Charlotte Pope to apologize to the A.S.U.N. for breaking campus traditions. They are Dortha Robertson, Elizabeth Young, Mildred Murdock, Eileen O'Hara, Frances Slavin, Betty Blum, Ruth Palmer and Mary Connelly.

The meeting adjourned with the singing of the college hymn, led by Donald Butler.

Campus Thespians Planning to Enter National League

Dramatic Group Preparing
Three More Plays
For Students

Campus Players, dramatic organization, will present three plays on the university campus and will terminate plans for the Campus Players' admission into the National Collegiate Players' league next semester, Ernie Mack, manager, stated today.

At the opening of the second semester, the dramatic students will begin practice for the presentation of a comedy, to be staged possibly during the first week of February. Although no definite plans have been laid, the Campus Players expect to present, during the spring, a Shakespearean play and another drama of a serious character. Still a subject of discussion at the Campus Players' meetings, Ernie Mack stated that he expected definite plans to materialize next semester or during the 1934 school term for the university dramatic organization to be able to join the National Collegiate Players, a national organization of college dramatic students.

At the meeting held last Wednesday plans were discussed for a waffle supper to be held at Margaret Martin's house Saturday evening at 7:30, which will be followed by the initiation of Marjorie Mullins and Tom Morris into Campus Players organization. At this time there will also be a pledging ceremony for Grace Semenza, Reid St. Claire, Walter Christian and Derryl Berry.

Social Calendar

'Skirt' Involved In Mystery Paddle Theft, Says Beemer

The great blue paddle mystery is still a mystery to the campus at large and to the men's upperclass committee in particular. Moreover, it is growing murkier every minute to the disgruntled committee.

Official insignia of the disciplinary group, the paddle, a giant six foot affair of hardwood painted blue, was removed several weeks ago from its place beside the bulletin board, where it was used to post padding notices.

Interviewed this week about the missing paddle, Bill Beemer, head of the committee in question, scratched his head and sadly admitted that he didn't know where the confounded thing was. But the brawny football man said that he had a pretty good idea that there was dirty work afoot when the theft occurred, and that there was a "skirt" in it somewhere.

Why any co-ed should wish to annex the hardwood is a mystery to Beemer, but he says the fact remains that it was a woman who telephoned him the night of the disappearance, and he further imagines that the paddle is occupying a place of honor in one of the women's dormitories.

Amateur Sherlock Holmes have found no clues, but Beemer says the story is not ended yet. So look out, culprits!

Senators Elected By Social Groups

Bibb, Cazier Only Senators to Return for Second Term
Of Office

The general intention expressed this week by the newly elected men from the various fraternities to the senate is to see that the student government will be launched fairly and progressively to benefit the student body and promote their general welfare and interests.

Forrest Bibb of the Delta Sigma Lambda fraternity said that he hoped to keep before the students the investigation of traditions in order to do away with all worthless hazing. He also expressed the belief that the senate has done away with all political campaigns and combines.

James Cazier of Sigma Phi Sigma fraternity said that he would be willing to back the students and promote their interests in the senate, but in turn he hoped they would back the senate.

All the representatives believed the new form of government to be a progressive step taken in the operation and control of the university student body affairs.

Those installed as representatives last night are: Elva Neddnerip, Florine Frank, Clara Willison, Helen Record; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Victor Carroll replacing John Chism; Alpha Tau Omega, Edward Montgomery replacing Elbert Walker; Lambda Chi Alpha, William McMenamin replacing Sam Arantz; Beta Kappa, Paul Turner replacing Dan Harvey; Sigma Nu, Fransden Loomis replacing Bill Beemer; Phi Sigma Kappa, Don Brown replacing Joe McLeod; Sigma Phi Sigma, James Cazier re-elected; Delta Sigma Lambda, Forrest Bibb, re-elected.

The independent organization hasn't yet held election for its representatives.

Miles of Words Written by Frosh On Term Themes

If all the words written by Nevada freshmen this semester on term themes were strung together, end to end, they would reach from the campus to Sparks and back, or a total of 6.05 miles.

Allowing 3000 words per theme, the students wrote a total of 774,000 words and used eight reams or approximately 4000 sheets of paper. There are 75 sheets in a package and though each package costs 10 cents the paper used cost $5.50.

Since it was compulsory to enclose the themes in a folder and since the folders are two for a nickel, $3.45 worth of folders were bought, and since there are three paper clips to each folder there was a total of 774 paper clips used.

The student on an average used four books and six magazine articles, making a total of 1032 books used and 1548 magazine articles used.

Virginia university has recently devised a system whereby the radio can be used to play chess games. The players each have a chess board with the chess men in position and the moves are called in code over the air.

Varsity Vs. Alumni Basketball Clash Will Be Tuesday

First Contest of Year To Be Held Next Week in the Gymnasium

TUSSLE PROMISED

Bledsoe, Guffrey, Gilmartin,
Whitehead, Freitag Will Lead All-Stars

Local basketball enthusiasts will be offered their first entertainment of the year when the varsity-alumni game is staged next Tuesday evening in the university gymnasium.

Former Wolf hoop stars will form the alumni quintet, with Dan Bledsoe acting as their playing manager. Although this outfit has had little opportunity for practice sessions, they are expected to give the "green varsity" a stiff workout.

Many Stars
Bledsoe has invited Lawlor, Gilmartin, Guffrey, Salsbury, Freitag and Whitehead to form his squad. These men are all former letter men, well educated in the ethics of the game by "Doc" J. E. Martie.

Martie intends to use this game as a proving ground for his 1934 varsity, with all men on the bench getting into the contest.

Small Admission
The small admission to be charge will be used for the purpose of purchasing gold footballs for the members of the Nevada Wolf Pack, champions of the Far Western conference for this past season.

Rushing Rules Set by Pan-Hel

Pan-Hellenic meeting was held Tuesday afternoon at Manzanita. Second semester rushing was discussed and rushing party dates were drawn up.

Following is the schedule which was drawn up: Monday, January 15, 4-6 Beta Sigma Omicron, 6-8 Kappa Alpha Theta; Tuesday, January 16, 4-6 Gamma Phi Beta, 6-8 Pi Beta Phi; Wednesday, January 17, 4-6 Beta Sigma Omicron, 6-8 Alpha Delta Theta; Thursday, January 18, 4-6 Pi Beta Phi, 6-8 Delta Delta Delta; Friday, January 19, 4-6 Alpha Delta Theta, 6-8 Kappa Alpha Theta; Saturday, January 20, 4-6 Delta Delta Delta, 6-8 Gamma Phi Beta. Silence will begin 8 p. m. Saturday, January 20, and end Monday, January 22, at 2 p. m.

Several new rules concerning rushing were adopted for the ensuing year. There are to be no relations between sorority women and high school girls. It will be the duty of the Pan-Hellenic lawyer to arrange with the presidents of high school sororities to make out a list of all members, pledges and honorary members of high school sororities and the date of affiliation.

Students Cram as Last Minute Rush Of Term Begins

The library is full, the seminars are full, all the reserve books in the "lib" are in use, people are dashing about the campus instead of lingering here and there to gossip a bit, fewer cuts are being taken and, in general, everybody is "cramming" for last minute exams.

More than a few students have intimated that they have practically a semester's work to do in some courses this next week. Others are frantically searching for themes, reports and previous "ex" papers so they will be able to "get through."

This is the usual semi-annual conversation, and has caused many students to resolve that the end of next semester will not find them lagging. And that's how it goes, no time for play and not enough time to study. Even the apple polishers are finding it a bit difficult to relax.

Oh, well, next semester will soon be here. But that's a different story.

Y.W.C.A. BOOK SHOP ATTEMPTS TO GET STUDENT TEXTS

In view of the fact that the Y.W.C.A. book shop plans to open January 10 of next semester, an effort to secure the books which are most in demand is being put forth by the committee in charge. Louise Tidball, chairman of that committee, announced this week.

"If students would bring in the books they wish to sell as soon as possible it will enable us to list the books we have for the students so that they will not have to order new ones," she said.

Also, if the professors would make a list of the books required for next semester's courses and submit it to the committee it will help them in securing the books which will be in demand and at the same time will give the students an idea of the books they can purchase at the book shop, Miss Tidball stated.

BASKETBALL MENTOR

J. E. Martie, director of athletics of the University of Nevada and coach of the varsity basketball team. Martie will try his 1934 basketball aspirants against an all-star team in the university gymnasium next Tuesday night.

CLARK CHOSEN PROM QUEEN BY MEN STUDENTS

Large Crowd Attends Annual
Country Club

Leone Clark, junior student of the University of Nevada, who is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, was elected queen of the annual junior prom attended by a large group of students and faculty members at the Reno Country club last Saturday night.

Elected by a vote of the men students who attended the dance, Miss Clark presided as class hostess for the remainder of the evening. She was presented with a silver compact as a token of esteem by the members of the class.

Elmer Hawkins, prominent junior student and member of the Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity, was elected the most popular male member of his class by the women who attended the function. Other candidates for the honor were Fransden Loomis and Victor Carroll.

Novel decorations, featuring a floral piece over the fireplace in the form of the class numerals, added to the beauty of the ballroom. Feature programs were distributed to the guests. The music for the affair was furnished by Max Kepf's orchestra.

The dance was well attended by university students and was reported to be one of the most successful affairs of the fall social season. The dance arrangements were made by a committee headed by Robert Creps, Artemisia editor. Signs advertising the dance were scattered over the entire campus carrying such slogans as "Why stay ohm, attend the junior prom," as advice to the electrical engineers, and "Mining students, bring your gold-diggers to the junior prom."

Glee Club Plans To Sing in Fallon

That the glee club may present a program in Fallon was made known this week when Professor T. H. Post, director of the organization, received a letter from that city requesting a presentation.

The schools, theater and Methodist church have, as a group, asked the glee club to come to Fallon, and to appear under their combined auspices.

Post stated that arrangements for this trip would probably be made next semester, but that it was too late in the season to go this year. He said that a select list of members for both men's and women's glee clubs has been made out for the coming semester, and that these students would comprise the regular organization.

The little symphony orchestra and the university band will not rehearse any more this semester, the director added. This is due to the final examinations and semester reports that are taking the students' time, Post said.

ACTRESS LAUDED AS SHE MIMES PART WHEN VOICE FAILS

A bouquet to Grace Semenza. Last Thursday was the final performance of Ibsen's "Ghosts" and at this performance Miss Semenza had the misfortune to lose her voice.

On Thursday morning Miss Semenza couldn't say a word. She was taken to a doctor and she tried everything to bring back her voice, but to no avail. In the first act of the play she made a valiant attempt to speak her lines. When she found she could not speak she merely acted as her lines were read from backstage.

Acting without speaking is the hardest thing a person can have to do in a play. Miss Semenza's pantomime made her every line seem real. In tribute to her courage we can only say she lived up to the motto of the theater, "The show must go on."

At the University of Maryland students are subject to a $3 fine for each unexcused absence.

WHITE CHRISTMAS IS PREDICTED

SNOW WON'T PREVENT TRIPS HOME

BY NEVADA METEOROLOGIST

There is no need for students to worry about getting home for Christmas, says George Sager, meteorologist for the United States weather bureau in Reno. "A regular old fashioned white Christmas" is the forecast for Nevada, but storms will not be severe enough to prevent travel to "country homes" and villages for the holidays.

The heavy rainfall experienced by Reno this last week is the first of a series of two or three storms expected before Christmas day. The rainfall was caused by sudden dropping of barometric pressure, and was widespread, covering an area from the Mexican border to Canada. Snow was the original forecast, but because of the extremely high temperature the precipitation came in the form of rain.

Snow is already very evident in the hills around Reno, and the last storm was more than heavy enough to make the city itself assume a covering of white. Mountain roads and out of the way highways will probably be crusted over with snow, but traveling will not be dangerous or drifts deep enough to cause any trouble, Sager said.

Even though storms are forecast before Christmas day, the weather will probably be clear and cold for the celebration itself.

Varsity Grid Schedule Is Outlined at Meeting Of Conference Leaders

LEADS ALL-STARS

Dan Bledsoe, for four years a star forward on the University of Nevada varsity basketball team, who will lead the team of former aces of the hardwood against the varsity quintet in a contest Tuesday evening in the university gymnasium. Bledsoe is now aiding the athletic department as an assistant basketball coach.

Rotary Club Hears U. of N. Glee Club

Nevada Glee Men Entertain
Reno Club at Banquet at Golden Hotel

A forty minute program was presented at the weekly meeting of the Rotary club in the banquet room of the Hotel Golden, by the men's glee club of the university, last Monday.

The entertainment was of the college type, and the glee club sang appropriate songs. A harmony quartet, which featured Ed Shirley as soloist, presented "Landsliding" and "The Vagabond Song."

Professor T. H. Post, director of the musical organization, said that the selections were well received by the Rotarians and their guests.

Junior Student Returns To School After Illness

Denver Dickerson, junior student in journalism, who withdrew from the University of Nevada this semester because of illness, will return to his home in Reno in time to resume his studies next semester. He has been under a specialist's care in Berkeley, Calif., for the last six weeks.

Dickerson is prominent in journalistic activities, being a member of the Sagebrush staff and former assistant editor of the Desert Wolf. He is affiliated with Sigma Nu fraternity.

NO MASTERS' EXAMS

According to Miss Louise M. Sissa and Miss Mazie Ryan of Dean Maxwell Adams' office, there will be no one taking his examination for a master's degree this semester.

Gridiron Relations With Fresno State Will Be Resumed

Uniform Freshman Ruling Is Discussed at Meeting of Conference

HARD SCHEDULES

Conference Track Meet Set
For May 5 at Annual Meeting

Football relationships between the University of Nevada, San Jose State and Fresno will be resumed next fall after a lapse of a year, representatives of the Far Western conference colleges decided at their annual meeting in San Francisco early this week.

The renewal of competition between these schools will bring together several of the strongest teams in the conference, and will not difficulties which were started a year ago when several players were accused of unsportsmanlike conduct in the dressing rooms.

Although there had been considerable discussion before the meeting concerning the adoption of a uniform freshman ruling for the conference, all action on this question was dropped until 1936. Until then, the present ruling, which allows freshmen to play for College of Pacific and Davis, but which calls for a three year limit on varsity men, will remain in effect. Under the present system these colleges can use freshmen players, but they will not be eligible during their senior year. This ruling does not apply to other colleges in the conference, however.

Dana Speaks
A proposal set forth by Herb Dana, Pacific coast football " czar," that four officials be used during football games was not accepted by the conference teams because of financial reasons. The present system of three officials in use in the conference will be continued, J. E. Martie, University of Nevada representative, stated.

May 5 was set as the date for the annual conference track meet to be held in Sacramento, Calif., this year. The 1934 football schedules were also announced following the meeting.

Officials chosen to head the conference for the coming year are: Jim Corson, College of Pacific, president; Leo Harris, Fresno State, vice president, and Paul Byre, Chico State, secretary.

Aggie-Pacific Compromise
Football relationships between College of Pacific and the California Agricultural college at Davis will not be resumed in 1934, officials of both schools announced at the meeting.

Representatives from both schools stated that there is no ill feeling between the schools, but the heavy schedule arranged by the College of Pacific will not allow the schools to meet.

Extensive Schedule
The University of Nevada's football schedule for the 1934 season, as announced by Martie, calls for a series of nine games, with four games scheduled to be played on Mackay field.

Opening the season, the Wolf Pack will meet the University of California at Berkeley on September 29 in a doubleheader with the Cal Aggies. The remainder of the schedule is as follows:

October 6—Cal. Aggies at Reno.
October 13—U. C. Ramblers at Reno.
October 20—St. Mary's in San Francisco.

October 27—San Jose State at Reno (Homecoming day).
November 3—Open.
November 10—College of Pacific at Stockton.

November 17—Chico State at Chico.
November 24—Loyola at Reno.
November 29—Fresno State at Fresno.

J. E. Martie, director of athletics; C. L. "Brick" Mitchell, football coach, and R. C. Thompson, dean of men, represented the University of Nevada at the meeting.

FINANCE COMMITTEE TO MEET SATURDAY

The University of Nevada finance control board will meet Saturday afternoon at 1:15, at which time Joe McDonnell, secretary, will present the final financial report of the semester.

Printing bids for the Artemisia are to be let at that time. Football sweaters will be ordered for the twenty men who are eligible for them. The discussion of gold footballs will also be brought up and definitely decided upon.

A student at Marshall college is earning his way through college by embalming and selling cats to anatomy students.

NEW STRENGTH IN LINCOLN HALL

One of the most commendable changes that is apparent at this university this semester is the marked improvement in the attitude of the men of Lincoln hall toward student activities and the way in which they have succeeded in taking their proper place in the promotion of student welfare. From a sullen group of men who had the attitude that they couldn't get any important positions on the campus because they were not members of fraternities, they have changed during the last two semesters into a group that dominates in some phases of student life, take a leading position in the student senate and are prominent leaders in scholarship. All this has occurred under the guidance of a new group of energetic students who see that a body of wholesome young men have just as much opportunity for success in student affairs as have the members of fraternal groups.

Lincoln hall has "come out of its hole" and every fraternity on the campus will have to look to its laurels if it intends to dominate university life as it has in the past. The present depression makes it impossible for many men who have been bid to fraternities to join them and this has brought many leaders to the hall. Other men who disapprove of fraternities now see an opportunity through their connections at Lincoln hall to make names for themselves which they could not have made under the conditions of student government in the past which fostered fraternity "cliques." The men of the university dormitory are beginning to realize the importance of student activity to their normal collegiate development.

In the now long dead past, the men of Lincoln hall composed a group of powerful political and social leaders. They were proud of the right to be members of Lincoln Hall association and they were envied the honor by other students on the campus. The "hall" is again climbing back to its position of prominence and men who reside there and take part in its affairs can again be proud of their associations. It is for the best interests of the campus at large for Lincoln hall to become a power on the campus. We hope that the new spirit will continue to grow.

STUDENT SENATE

With the close of the present semester, the first A. S. U. N. senate completed its all too brief career. But in spite of the fact that the time given to these leaders to prove their ability in campus affairs was short, their term was filled with services to the student body, new reforms and sound legislation. The new senate which will be sworn into office in January of next year has a difficult task assigned to it in holding up to the standard set by the first body.

In closing the first term of student senators under the new form of student government that was installed in the spring semester of this year, the A. S. U. N. has proved the new government to be a sound and just one. From present indications, it will meet with equal success in the future and will continue to accurately represent the will of the general student body on questions of government. Up to the present time, the senate has been governed by a desire to reflect the will of the students as a whole rather than the will of any particular faction. The great evil of fraternity politics, if it has not been entirely done away with, has at least been curbed to a marked degree.

The new student senators should remember as they go into office next semester that they should attempt to model their conduct after that of the present senate. They should avoid the evil that has weakened the government of the A. S. U. N. in the past, that of casting aside all of the fine work of the former administration and starting in with new and radical methods.

By building on the work of the past administration, the new senate can set an example for future bodies to take similar action with the result that the A. S. U. N. government will grow stronger as it grows older. There is much work still to be done in improving student administration and the new senators should realize the great responsibilities that rest upon their shoulders and the opportunities that they have for bettering the university. They must carry on the good work of a first senate that handled its task in a splendid manner.

REFERENCES STOLEN

The library is one place where almost everyone assumes that university property is safe from thievery, not because of any strict watch kept on the books but just because everyone respects the other fellow enough not to take reference books and magazines that he may need.

Yet Miss Thompson reports that thirteen volumes of valuable references have been stolen from the university library during the last semester. These were taken from the main reading room or from the seminars, where there is no way of finding the thief.

The most important of these are volumes in encyclopedia sets and bound magazines which cannot be replaced.

There is no petty offense committed on the campus which is more "ornery" or more reprehensible than the taking of these books. The individual can have little use for them once he has obtained his assignment, and they are worthless without the rest of the set. Yet the books are not returned to the library, an expensive set of references is practically ruined, or is restored to its original completeness at an expense to the university.

The most damage is done to the student who needs these books for references. His loss is a vital one, which can never be replaced. His time is wasted in hunting up other references. His lesson is imperfectly prepared, or not prepared at all. His reports are incomplete, all because a few of his fellow students were so downright mean that they took the volumes needed.

One of the best good turns these persons could do for others would be to return the books to the library. They can be of little use to them, but many students would be immensely benefited.

Wolf Howls

Campus co-eds are plenty gripped about what they claim was rank partiality in the selection of the queen of the prom. It seems that said queen (Leone Clark) isn't even enrolled in school at the present time but since she was the class manager's gal she rated the post.

John Benson seems to be no less than down on a little southern gal who had interests in the big blond brute. She isn't the first gal who tried to hold him, and met with about the same amount of success as the others.

Elmer "Punchy" Hawkins must feel great this week and we suppose his name from now on should be "pretty boy." Ask him what the present was that he was given as prom king if you think that he will tell you. The Taus are demanding that he add the trophy to the others on the mantel.

"Fuzz" Mack, the great dramatics manager (a big shot to you and you) is still after the publicity and it is about time we gave him some. How he does rate with all the would-be dramatic queens.

And it seems that the university students who attended the De Molay dance recently forgot how to behave. Asked about it, they said that they had a "swell time." That, apparently, is their idea of a "swell time."

If anyone wants to know anything about what to wear or anything pertaining to etiquette, ask Betts Hawkins, you lucky co-eds, lucky we mean to have that great little girl around. Tsk! Tsk!

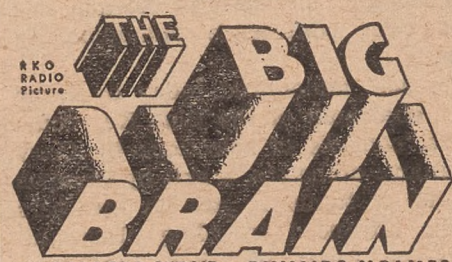

We wonder why the platinum blond frosh, Melville Wilder, doesn't Bulletin — Libby Young is now open for dates, you brawny males. The great "Mud" Clay is a thing of the past in the young lady's life.

Mildred Murdoch and Ed Martinez have taken another tailspin and the great romance is once more reported to be a thing of the past. But maybe this report will be antiquated by the time this comes to your attention. You never can tell when they will start "clicking" again.

We wanted to put in a crack about McNamee this week, but she was looking over our shoulder. Next week, maybe.

And then there was the freshman girl who, when asked whether a man would "rise" or "raise" himself, grammatically, when he fell down, replied, "Well, it all depends on how much he's been drinking."

McDonnell States Fee Allotments Of U. N. Treasury

A statement was released by Joe McDonnell, executive secretary to the university finance control committee, today retracting an interview given last week in which erroneous figures pertaining to the use of the student fees was given.

McDonnell declared that only three items in the university's annual budget are set by the student constitution and the remainder of the funds are distributed as equally as possible among the various student activities by the board.

McDonnell pointed out that the greatest part of the student fees goes to the paying of salaries to athletic coaches and student executives and that, actually, the student pays only $1.90 for his right to attend football games.

The $10 student body fee is allotted as follows: $1.50 for Artemisia, 75 definite reports that they had terminated a seven year romance we saw them together at the junior prom and the A.T.O. house dance. This just goes to prove that the course of true love never runs smooth, we suppose.

Two more pins were hung on members of the Delta Delta Delta mob this week, according to late reports. The Tri Delt gals are now enjoying a candy feast that will probably do much in developing a few "Mae Westish" figures. The lucky gals were Bobbie Browne, who took over Lindsey Green's brass, and Louise Tidball, who is now the proud possessor of "Dusty" Rhodes' chest jewelry.

Experiment Station At Work on Project

According to Doctor J. E. Church the experiment station is at present working on the project of an improved method for studying the water runoff from the Humboldt river. The station is working with federal offices interested in such work, with the state engineer and with the Humboldt river water users.

This project will include the making of a topographical survey of the Humboldt basin and quite a bit of eastern Nevada. Snow surveys will be made at different elevations. The effect of the soft soil in river beds on snows will also be studied.

Carl Elges, graduate student, is assisting in this work. He has also been appointed assistant meteorologist at the experiment station.

Women Senators Give Their Views On Senate Work

Sororities Appoint Their New Representatives to Senate

TERM TWO SEMESTERS

New Government Is Upheld By Women Leaders

By LOIS MIDGLEY

With a new senate year in view, each sorority elected a junior member as senate representative this week.

The women elected to the office are Eiva Neddenriep of Delta Delta Delta, Clara Willison of Kappa Alpha Theta, Helen Records of Alpha Delta Theta, Florine Frank of Beta Sigma Omicron, Dorothy Nason of Gamma Phi Beta and Kathleen Haffey of Pi Beta Phi.

Miss Haffey, who is taking a pre-nursing course and who plans to attend the Stanford nursing school after her graduation here, says, "I will not in any way be prejudiced, but will work for the best interests of A.S.U.N."

Considering the new government, Miss Frank, who is interested in journalism, stated, "We of the newly elected senate are pioneers starting on a path of new government never explored before. I hope that I will be worthy of the student body's faith in me."

The Tri Delt representative, Miss Neddenriep, who is also interested in newspaper work, said, "I only hope we can continue the good work done by the former senators."

Understanding the importance of the position, Miss Record states, "I realize the importance of the office, and hope that I will do as well as my predecessor."

Miss Nason, who is planning to be a physical education instructor, made this statement, "I hope that I can in some way benefit the students."

Although her plans for the future are undecided, Miss Willison declared, "I will do all that I can to start the new government on the right path for the good of the student body."

The senate was created to supervise student government. It has three divisions: the nominative committee is for the paneling of student body officers, the executive committee is for the purpose of carrying out governmental functions, and the finance control has charge of the university finances. All officers elected must be approved by the senate, and all governmental matters concerning the student body are under the control of the senate. The senators' term is two semesters.

PRESS CLUB BANQUET IS HELD AT TOSCANO

Short impromptu speeches featured the Press club dinner dance held Wednesday evening in the dining room of the Toscano hotel. Prof. A. L. Higginbotham was the main speaker, while William McMenamin, Sagebrush editor, Chas. Koerner, former Sagebrush business manager, and Joseph Jackson, former Brush editor, gave short talks. Ed Montgomery presided as master of ceremonies.

Higginbotham told of incidents which happened during his newspaper career and pointed out some of the humorous hazards of the journalism profession.

This banquet is the first of the school year. Plans are under way for others to be held next semester, according to Ed Montgomery, president of the organization.

BOOKS FOR SALE NEXT SEMESTER BY Y BOOK SHOP

List of Books for Next Year Is Being Compiled by Committee

In view of the fact that the Y.W.C.A. book shop plans to be open for business by January 10 of next semester, an effort to secure those books which will be most in demand is being put forth by the Y.W.C.A. committee in charge, Louise Tidball, chairman of that committee, announced this week.

Books for the shop are being collected and also a list of the books required in second semester courses is soon as it is completed, she said.

If students have books they wish to sell they may bring them in any time between now and January 10, Miss Tidball stated.

The committee in charge of the book shop is Genevieve Ashworth, Agnes Pistone and Louise Tidball.

Frosh Rifle Team To Have Manager

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Women's Athletic association, at the gymnasium, Margaret Place, manager of the women's rifle team, announced that she is going to appoint a freshman manager to arrange for rifle matches between the frosh and high school teams. The five freshman women who have the highest scores next semester will compose the team to represent the university freshmen.

Margaret Kornmayer, president of W.A.A., announced that the annual news letter from the University of Nevada women's athletic group will be sent to A.C.A.C.W., the national women's federation, of which Nevada W. A. A. is a member. If the news letter is accepted by the national secretary it will be printed in the national organization's magazine.

Sarah Graves and Betty Horton were appointed on a special committee to help the girls' athletic associations in the various high schools of Nevada to introduce more new sports into their organization programs.

W.A.A.'s song book will be revised by a committee consisting of Dorothy Nason and Catherine Dondero.

A meeting of the Women's Athletic association will be held this afternoon at 3:45 in the Education building, Margaret Kornmayer announced today.

Nevada Delegates To Asilomar To Be Chosen Next Week

Y. W., Y. M. Hold Gathering For Two Weeks at Asilomar

Colleges in Four States To Send Delegates to Conclave

Two delegates from the University of Nevada Y.W.C.A. will attend the first joint conference of the Y.W.C.A. and the Y.M.C.A., to be held at Asilomar conference grounds, California, December 6 to January 1, and will be chosen by Y.W.C.A. cabinet officers within the next week.

The conference will contain representatives from the western states and delegates will attend from colleges and universities of Utah, California, Arizona and Nevada.

Nevada university sends delegates to Asilomar every summer, but this is the first winter session at which Nevada will be represented. At the summer sessions Nevada is allowed two "stuck-ups," who work at the camp during conference periods. The position of "stuckup" is highly coveted and Nevada is fortunate in being allowed one for that place. Frances Burke, Wilma Chancellor and Florence Diskin represented Nevada at last summer's session at Asilomar.

Asilomar is located six miles from Carmel, Calif., and is an ideal vacation spot. There are many applicants signed up to be considered as delegates for the winter conference.

LAST ART EXHIBIT

In conjunction with the Nevada Federation of Women's Clubs Talent Festival, the Fine Arts group of the University of Nevada is presenting its last exhibit of the year at the Washoe County Library building.

The exhibit consists of a collection of etchings and engravings of California artists, including an original of Whistler's "The Little Putney."

Several eighteenth century prints taken from the original collection of the Duke of Devonshire are among the foreign historical and landscape works, while a good many etchings of typical American scenes are also on display.

Women Senators Allowed to Hold Only One Office

Point System Will Be Enforced Next Year by A. W. S.

Purpose of Ruling Is Fairness In Giving Offices to Women

That any Associated Women's student who is elected to the senate cannot hold any other position while she is a senator is something A.W.S. members should keep in mind, Marthine Solares, A.W.S. president, reminded women students this week.

She also stated that the A.W.S. point system would be enforced vigorously next semester, no offenders to go unpunished. Camille Cerritta, Sarah Graves and Cornelia Arentz are the committee in charge of the point system who will supervise enforcement.

The purpose of so strenuously enforcing the A.W.S. point system is to forward its purpose, which is to distribute executive offices more evenly among the women students, Miss Solares said.

The A.W.S. office in the Student Administration building is used for meetings of the various A.W.S. committees, and will be thrown open to other women students who wish to use the office for meetings. The files are to be kept in the A.W.S. office and anybody may refer to them if they obtain the keys from Miss Solares.

Y. W. to Sponsor Homemade Candy Sales Next Year

Homemade candy will be sold every Tuesday of next semester, according to Nevada Solari and Stella Vuovich, heads of the Y.W.C.A. candy booth.

It was also stated by the candy booth committee heads that a contest for selling the most candy will be sponsored next semester, in the same form as that of the preceding spring semester. This contest will start about the second week of school in January, and will continue throughout the semester, until about the last two weeks in the spring. At this time, prizes will be awarded to the three girls who have sold the most candy during the period of the contest.

Last spring semester about twenty-five girls participated in the contest, with eight girls winning prizes.

The eight girls who won powder jars as prizes during the last contest are Agnes Gardiner, Esther Ronzone, Cora Henriksen, Clara Beemer Witney, Della Renfro, Nevada Solari, Helen Lewis and Opal Harvey.

Supreme Court Hands Down Decision on Maryland Student

RULING FINAL

University Regents Privileged To Enforce Military In Colleges

University authorities at institutions where military training is required by the board of regents may expell from college any student who refuses to register in the military course offered if he is physically able to undertake such training, according to a decision handed down by the supreme court of the United States recently. Copies of the decision have been received by the University of Nevada military department.

The court ruled that no provision of the constitution of the United States is violated by the requirement of civil institutions that physically fit male underclassmen take two years of military before they are allowed to graduate, according to a report in the Army and Navy Register, a magazine of general circulation.

This is the first time in the history of the United States that the supreme court has passed upon the issue of compulsory military training in civil educational institutions. There can be no appeal from this ruling, since decisions for suits from the date of this ruling will be guided by the supreme court decision.

The case before the supreme court grew out of a suit by Ennis H. Coale of Maryland, who entered the University of Maryland but was expelled when he refused to take military.

He brought suit in the superior court of Maryland, won his case, and the university authorities appealed to the Maryland court of appeals, which reversed the decision of the lower court.

Coale then appealed to the supreme court of the United States, which handed down the decision that there is no provision in the constitution exempting him or any other individual from compulsory training, and that university authorities are within their constitutional rights in requiring such training.

It was pointed out in the decision that the power of exemption lies in congress, which may make or withhold exemption, as it may decide.

Rulings have been made previous to the present time that the matter of requiring military training in any institution lies with the board of regents. The United States government has never required training in any civil college or university.

Three Groups Given Panels in Artemisia

The portrait sittings of the members of the various fraternity and sorority houses for the Artemisia have all been completed, Robert Creps, editor, announced today.

Free Panels
Of the fourteen houses, only three are in line for the free panel which the Artemisia is offering to each house having a 100 per cent turnout. Beta Sigma Omicron, of which Dorothy Pope is president, is the only sorority, and Phi Sigma Kappa, headed by Joe McLeod, and Alpha Tau Omega, headed by George Schilling, are the only fraternities to date.

Those houses which have not succeeded in getting a 100 per cent turnout as yet will be given a chance next semester in which to catch up when three weeks will be set aside for new students. Any students wishing resittings may get them at that time also.

It is the aim of the Artemisia editor to get a picture of everybody who is attending school if possible either in the fraternity, sorority, organization, junior or senior panels, and it is expected that practically every house will win one of the free panels with a 100 per cent turnout.

Pi Phi Alums Bring Jurgens Orchestra

Dick Jurgens and his prominent coast orchestra will make a personal appearance in Reno at a Christmas dance, sponsored by the Pi Phi Alumnae club, December 23. The affair is open to campus students.

Jurgens and his band are familiar to Nevada students who "take in" Lake Tahoe affairs, for in the summer of 1932 they furnished the music at Bijou, and last summer at Al Tahoe. The orchestra is composed of eleven musicians, with two popular entertainers, Art Wilson and "Kewpie" Martin.

The maestro began his career at the Hotel Senator in Sacramento. While Ted Rio-Rita was touring the United States Jurgens played at the St. Francis hotel and his programs were heard nightly over the Columbia-Don Lee broadcasting system.

Tickets for the dance, which will be held at the State building, may be purchased from members of Pi Beta Phi sorority or from the alumnae club.

A new course in loafing is being offered at Butler university.

Out Of The Cobwebs

Looking over some early Artemisias, your scribe was interested to find an account of the founding of the University of Nevada Y.W.C.A. This organization, for many years a very active group, was originally founded as a combined religious and service society. Of recent years it has chiefly functioned as a service bureau, with the aim of promoting friendliness among university women.

Each year the Y.W.C.A. presents an Easter pageant for university students and twice a year sends delegates to the Y.W.C.A. convention at Asilomar, Calif. Consisting of seventy-five members at the present time and headed by Florence Diskin, the Y.W.C.A. has grown considerably since its inauguration. The following story of its formation is taken from the 1899 issue of the Artemisia:

The U. N. Y. W. C. A. was organized March 25, 1898, with nineteen charter members. Its aim is best expressed as "young women working for young women." It has been said that "one touch of nature makes the whole world kin." Something of this spirit has crystallized into action in the Y.W.C.A., which has endeavored to infuse into the college life of the young women the sympathy and sense of comradeship so much needed by those away from home.

In order to reach personally all female students, notes of welcome have been sent out and from time to time socials and receptions given. The life of the association is, however, centered in the weekly meetings, which are made as interesting and helpful as may be, and union meetings with the Y.M.C.A. have also been a prominent feature.

The association has an efficient corps of committee workers, and a system of committees which embraces religious meetings, membership, social life, bible study, press and correspondence, missions, intercollegiate relations and finances. The blending of the religious, social and business relations makes the work one of great interest to all members.

The association has brought about the formation of many warm personal friendships among its members, who are thus enabled to mutually assist one another, and in this way make up in great part for the home advantages which might be missed otherwise.

Band Instrument Investment Small

When an inventory of the university musical equipment has been made, a close comparison can be found to the apparatus of the old German band, Professor T. H. Post, head of the department, stated. He declared that this university has less equipment than either the Sparks or Reno high schools because of lack of money.

The total value that the equipment originally cost amounts to $1422, which is comprised of 36 uniforms at $17 apiece, one second hand Sousaphone at $350, two Ludwig drums at $35 apiece, one bass drum at $40, two kettle drums amounting to $350. There is also a miscellaneous group of horns that are in very poor condition, according to Professor Post.

ENGINEER BANQUET WELL ATTENDED

Associated Engineering students held a banquet at the Overland hotel Friday night. T. McKaig, prominent architectural engineer of Los Angeles, principal speaker of the evening, talked on various problems of interest to the engineering student. Those in attendance are the students in the various colleges of engineering and the following professors: Dean Sibley, H. B. Boardman, S. G. Palmer, V. P. Vianella, Jay A. Carpenter, John Fulton, William Smith, Irving Sandorf and F. L. Bixby.

Sensational Books Reviewed by Scribe

By RITA GUNTER

Two new books of interest to the students on the Nevada campus have been received at the library.

"One Hundred Million Guinea Pigs," by Arthur Kallet and F. J. Schlink, shows that the food and drug act does not protect the consumer. According to these authors, many widely advertised foods and drugs and cosmetics contain poisons. Others are absolutely worthless for the purposes advertised. The wholesale promotion of "cures" that actually are poisonous is only one of the abuses brought into light by electrifying and sensational volume. Dangerous bacteria in antiseptics; germicides that do not kill germs; poisons in a dozen common cosmetics, and poisonous preservatives still in common food, just as in the days of 1906, when the "pure" food law was passed; sub-standard ether daily endangering lives of patients in major operations in dozens of hospitals; federal, state and municipal laws that fall almost completely to protect the consumers of food and drugs. These are a few of the revelations made in "100,000,000 Guinea Pigs."

Both authors of this book are fitted by previous scientific study and research for the task they have set for themselves in this book. Persons who are willing to read the truth, uncompromisingly and brilliantly written, will find this book of intense interest.

Another book which has been received in the library which is of interest to fiction readers is "Dark Hazard," by W. R. Burnett. This is a story of an easy going gambler and a woman of principle who tried to follow the same path to different goals.

This book adds two striking portraits to Burnett's gallery of American characters, and establishes once again his mastery of our vigorous native idiom.

Another book of interest to many readers of fiction is "Anthony Adverse," by Allen. Much attention has been drawn to "Anthony Adverse" because it is a book of unusual length for fiction.

NO 'DIRT' SHOW BY Y. W. C. A.

Campus personalities who rated a spot in the Y.W.C.A. "Dirt Review" were granted a year's reprieve this week. There will be no scandal show this year.

Those in charge of the affair state they failed to get a suitable date for the review this semester. At present dirt sleuths are puzzled as to how to dispose of the material gathered for the show. They state it is much too priceless to discard.

Next semester the Chi Delta Phi, women's English honorary society, will present an entertainment similar to the Scandal Show.

'Fish Pond' Success Last Night in Festival

George F. Lemon, who attended the University of Nevada from 1930 to 1932, is now a laboratory assistant in the chemistry department of the University of Hawaii, according to word received from Honolulu. He was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha and was majoring in chemistry while attending the university.

Lemon is majoring in general science in Honolulu.

There are about 200 faculty members and 2000 students in the University of Hawaii. The summer school of Pacific and Oriental Affairs draws students from Alaska, Canada, United States, Samoa and the Philippines and Japan.

Frosh Basketball Turnout Is Large

Outstanding Men Lacking On Yearling Squad, Coach States

With the first two weeks of practice behind them, the outlook for a successful freshman basketball season isn't any too bright, according to Coach "Chet" Scranton, frosh mentor.

"Although many men are going through the general early season routine during the workout periods, I have yet to select any outstanding men around which to build my squad," Scranton declared.

"Some of the men are only hurting their own chances of making the squad by not turning out regularly," he continued. "There is such a large turnout of men that no time will be spent with men who don't settle down to business immediately."

Among the present candidates for the center position, Haman, cub football star, is making a serious bid for the job. His giant size will no doubt give him the tip-off on any opposing pivot men which the frosh will meet, Scranton commented.

Several men have been working ambitiously for the starting forward posts. Among these are Rougin, McDow, Callahan, Graunke and Gray. Jack Rougin, formerly a star center in high school hoop circles, has been switched over to the forward station.

Lockridge, De La Mare and Williams look to be the class of the early practice sessions for the guard positions.

A home and home game arrangement has been definitely scheduled with Susanville. The Lassen boys will come to Reno January 27, and then act as hosts to the freshmen on their court the evening of February 10.

Furore Aroused Over Proposed A.S.U.N. Changes

Leading campus journalists are heatedly voicing their opinions on the suggested amendment to the student constitution, which would have the candidates for editor or business manager on one of the university's publications work on the staff for five consecutive semesters before he was eligible for either of these offices.

James Cozier, chairman of the publications board, said that the proposed amendment was a holdover from the decision of last year's board. A majority of the members gave their approval to an amendment which would increase the period of time by one semester necessary in order to become eligible for editor or business manager.

That the proposed amendment is very unpopular on the campus is shown by comment of some of the members of the university publications.

Ed Montgomery, president of the Press Club, says that it "smacks" of political connivance and has neither need nor purpose.

Myra Sauer, women's editor of The Sagebrush, is strictly against any change in the present constitution.

William McMennamin, editor of The Sagebrush, expressed his sentiments in an editorial in last week's issue stating that the requirements for publications leadership are already strict enough to insure that the students selected for the positions will be capable.

Forrest Bibb, assistant editor of The Sagebrush, declared that it would be unfair to new students, as freshmen are not usually sufficiently orientated with campus activities to turn out for publications the first term. Then their chances, if they were placed on the staff the second year, would not be as good as the students who signed up earlier, even though their ability may be as good or better. Bibb also stated that transfer students wishing to try for the offices would be greatly handicapped.

Indications point to a minority favoring the passing of the amendment. William Crowell, business manager of The Sagebrush, believes that it will make for more capable students in these offices, as the candidates will have received more experience and actual work on the publications in five semesters.

Freshman Gridders Given Numerals

Thirty-One Members of Frosh Undeafeted Team Given Class Awards

Class numerals were awarded to 31 freshmen following the close of the football season, Chet Scranton, freshman coach, announced today. This is the greatest number of numerals ever to be awarded for football, according to Scranton.

Playing an undefeated season and with only 13 points scored against it, the freshman team finished one of the most successful seasons in the history of the university, and the spirit shown by members of the squad made it possible for so many awards to be made. Scranton was well pleased by the showing made by his men and he believes that there is a great deal of potential varsity material in his squad.

All-Conference Squad Is Picked By San Jose Times, Student Paper

Four University of Nevada Wolf Pack players were named on the all-Conference team chosen by the San Jose State College Times last weekend. Vic Carroll was named to the fullback position, Jack Hill quarter, Tom Cashill center and Bill Beemer at guard.

Hill was unanimously chosen by the Times staff, while Cashill and Carroll received all but one vote for their respective positions. Besides the four Nevada men named to the team, the list includes three men from San Jose State, two from the College of Pacific and two from Fresno State. On the second team one San Jose man was named, four from the College of Pacific, three from Cal Aggies, two from Fresno and one from Chico State. No Nevada men were named on this team.

Aggie Club Plans Many Activities

According to Tony Belmonte, president of the Aggie club, the club plans for this semester include a picnic, which will be held when the weather clears, and a speaker, Robert A. Allen, Nevada public works administrator, who spoke recently on "Restoration Projects in Nevada."

In the spring semester the Aggie club plans to send a judging team to the Ogden livestock show.

Las Vegas Claims Grid Championship

Wildcats Trample Over Fallon By 39-0 Score in Final Football Battle

By virtue of its victory of 39 to 0 over the Fallon high school team last week, Las Vegas lays claim to a third successive state high school football championship.

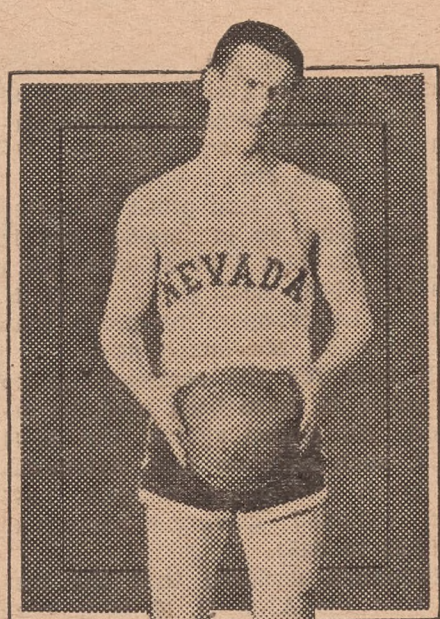

The Las Vegas Wildcats believe, as do southern Nevadans, that this victory is proof of their superiority over the other high school elevens. But Fallon does not have a clear claim to the northern title, as Sparks claims a tie in this division, and there has been some dispute over this.

Although the Fallon Melonpickers showed occasional power, the Las Vegas outfit outplayed them in every department of the game. The ball was never taken past the Wildcat fifty yard line by the Fallonites.

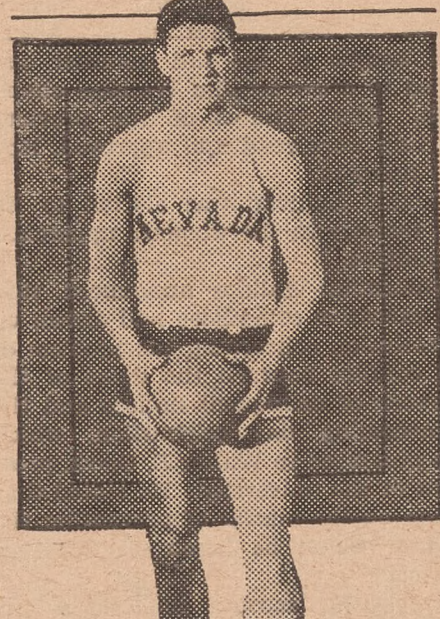

Stewart, all-state guard from the southern city, was the outstanding player on the field, while Powell, their fullback, went over a touchdown after a seventy yard march straight down the field. McMichael and Melbach and Nash also made scores for the Las Vegas team. Stewart also scored a place kick.

is now being settled among the conference officials. If he didn't play he will return next fall and aid the Tigers by his remarkable passing abilities.

It would take 81 years for one student to take every course offered for undergraduates at the University of Indiana.

Pacific Will Lose Eleven Grid Stars

Loss of Five Regulars May Seriously Weaken Bengals

STOCKTON, Dec. 14.—Coach A. A. Stagg loses eleven men off his squad this year through graduation. Five of them were regulars. His ace backfield, consisting of Bud Gould, quarter; Tom Wilson and Elton Hamilton, halves, and Biff Strobbridge, full, will leave after having played four years together. Pete McCain, regular end, is the other letterman to leave. Three more ends, Hench, Easternbrook and Paul Wilson, will also be missing when the rollcall comes for 1934. Other men out are: Delong, tackle; Edwards, tackle, and Leonhart, quarter.

It is quite possible that Tom Wilson, Pacific's great all around half, will be back for another year. A dispute as to whether or not he played against a four-year school in his freshman year complete the interschool relationship the U. C. Ramblers will offer the resistance. The latter two games will be played on Mackay field.

When Fallon and Las Vegas met in the southern city last week for the state prep school crown, Nevada university men were much in demand as officials. To make a long story short, the Wildcats ran up six touchdowns while blanking their opponents, and the local men returned to Reno "unscathed."

Can "Dapper Dan" Bledsoe stage a comeback? Rumors about the campus to the effect that Dan has trodden the road of "Old Father Time" will be verified or disproved in the varsity-alumni basketball contest to be staged next Tuesday evening. When Bledsoe put his last varsity basketball uniform in moth balls last spring, who thought that he would return to the local hardwood for the first game this season?

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES FOR JAFFEE TO BE THE WORLD'S CHAMPION SKATER

IRVING JAFFEE

(At Right)—Again Jaffee makes a thrilling finish as he speeds to victory! Winner of 1,000 medals and trophies, including three Olympic Skating Championships, Jaffee has brought the highest skating honors to the U. S. A. Asked recently if he was a steady smoker, Jaffee said, "Yes—but that goes for Camels only. I have to keep my wind, you know, and healthy nerves."

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

You've often seen his name and picture in the papers—Jaffee, the city-bred boy from the U. S. A. who beat the best that Europe had to offer, and became the skating champion of the world! Speaking of speed skating and cigarettes, Jaffee says: "It takes healthy nerves and plenty of wind to be an Olympic skating champion. I find that Camels, because of their costlier tobaccos, are mild and likable in taste. And, what is even more important to a champion athlete, they never upset the nerves."

Change to Camels and note the difference in your nerves... in the pleasure you get from smoking! Camels are milder... have a better taste. They never upset your nerves. Begin today!

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Artemisia Planned

Creps, Brown Hope to Make Yearbook One of Best Published

Based on a unique theme that has not as yet been disclosed but which is expected to make it one of the outstanding yearbooks of the University of Nevada's history, the Artemisia is rapidly shaping into form under the direction of Robert Creps, editor, and Donald Brown, business manager.

A large staff is working on the preparation of editorial material for the yearbook and the procuring of advertisements for its support.

Creps announced that he desires the earnest co-operation of all of the students on the campus in making this year's book a complete success. He stated that while he plans to be economical in the management of the book he plans to give the students a high type of publication.

Tryouts Are Open For Stage Staff

Tryouts for the stage staff of campus play production have been slow this year, Tom Morris, stage manager, announced today.

At present only five students have signed. They are: Guy Morris, Morgan Mills, Max Kepl, Gerald Tucker, and Jens Sanford.

Lindsay Green and Tom Morris, the only members left from last year's staff, have urged more students to try out for this department. Ten or twelve more students will be needed to take care of the coming productions.

Freshmen and sophomores are eligible, and those wishing to sign-up will have this week and the next in which to do so. The jobs are still open in the different department divisions, which are composed of sophomore managers, lights, properties, art, and stage carpentering.

A vigorous work schedule has been outlined for the coming play, Green said. Properties must be found, the set has to be constructed, and the show proper must be managed.

The stage staff crew is eligible for membership in Campus Players, provided they spend a satisfactory number of hours on set construction and stage work.

Library Books Are Ruined by Vandals

Making an appeal to keep the library books in better condition, Miss Thea Thompson, librarian, stated yesterday that if students persist in defacing books, disciplinary measures will be taken against them.

Reserved books are put on the reserve shelf in the library because of the great demand for them, she stated, citing instances where professors have put their own books on reserve for the use of the students and students have marred them. She stated that three-fourths of the books in the library have been defaced by book vandals and that it positively must be stopped.

Professors on the campus have expressed the same views as Miss Thompson, stating that if their books were misused in the future they would be removed from the library shelves and the students forced to buy their own books.

Student leaders have expressed the same opinion, that the book vandals should be dealt with, and promise to take measures to improve the conduct of these offenders, the librarian declared.

Ross Gives Views On U.N. Traditions

What are the traditions? What are their purposes? When and why was any particular tradition instituted?

Have any been amended and why? These were questions asked by Silas E. Ross, member of the Board of Regents of the University of Nevada and graduate of the class of 1909 when interviewed on his opinion of the Sagebrush straw vote on traditions.

"It is understood," Ross said, "that a tradition is for the purpose of binding the graduate with the present student on common ground in university activities. If that is the purpose of traditions, it seems inadvisable to destroy any one of them unless it can be shown that the tradition is a handicap to progress or inapplicable to present conditions."

"It would seem wise before abolishing any custom that a comprehensive study and review of all university traditions be made, beginning with the earliest and carrying it down to the present time, noting the time of establishment, the reason for it, and any changes in it noted."

To support his statement, Ross cited the "dink" tradition, showing that it developed to distinguish new men at the university from older students to avoid confusion and embarrassment of the student body because of a freshman's actions.

Ross is definitely opposed to physical hazing, because of the dangers that might result from it.

Senate Minutes

The minutes of the meeting are as follows:

December 14, 1933.
The last regular meeting of the A.S.U.N. senate of the fall semester was called to order by Jim Wallace, chairman. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Roll call followed.

Donnie Sullivan was elected to fill the vacancy in the women's upperclass committee.

Chairman Wallace announced that the executive committee had drawn up a resolution concerning the problem of the conflict between the dates of the issuance of delinquent notices and the Homecoming day celebration, which was presented to Walter E. Clark, president of the university. He stated that action on the matter of preventing the conflict would be taken up next semester.

A detailed account of A.S.U.N. finances was given by Joe McDonnell executive secretary to the finance control committee, and an approximate cash balance on hand at the end of this semester was declared.

Under announcements, Chairman Wallace asked the senators to boost the "Campus Night" show at a local theater and the basketball game to be held next week between the Nevada varsity team and a group of former Nevada basketball stars. He also announced that the last student body meeting of the fall semester would be held on Friday, December 15, in the auditorium of the Education building.

Under new business, a discussion of hazing took place and it was decided that definite action would be taken on the matter next semester.

Chairman Wallace informed the senate of an offer of membership in the National Student Federation of America and stated the purposes of the organization. A motion to join the federation was made by Herbert Peck and passed by the body.

Herbert Peck suggested that the senate favor the A.S.U.N. taking over the support of the University Glee club. The senate decided to submit the problem to Walter E. Clark, president of the university, and Dean Maxwell Adams for consideration.

The oath of office was administered to the new senators who will take over their positions at the beginning of the spring semester, by Chairman Wallace. Remarks on the success of the new form of government were made by a few outgoing senators.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Buildings Receive More Improvement

An extensive program of campus improvements is being carried out on the Nevada campus under Joseph B. Lynch, superintendent of buildings and grounds. Workers are the unemployed men from the state R.F.C.

The remodeling of Manzanita hall has been in progress for the past month. The interior has been painted, repapered and calcimined, and the radiators and fireplaces have been repaired and refinished.

The outside of the building has been finished with new drain pipes and most of the old crevices have been filled.

Improvements on the grounds of the campus are in cleaning up the lawns, flower beds, tennis courts and women's athletic field.

Hopes of remodeling the Education building are held by Lynch, but the work will probably be held off until Christmas vacation, he stated.

Russian Chemist Speaks to Campus Journalism Class

"There are more communists in New York and Chicago than there are in the whole of Russia," A. A. Boehlingk, a Russian chemist and an authority on Russian government, told the journalism class last Tuesday.

He analyzed the Russian situation as it is today and gave a history of Russia since 1917, when the Czar was overthrown and the Kerensky government was installed.

Mr. Boehlingk is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Johnson at their home. He is the publisher of "Foreign Petroleum Technology," a magazine of oil statistics.

A.S.U.N. Finances In Good Shape

The A. S. U. N. is in much stronger financial condition this year than at last year at the same time, Jose McDonnell, executive secretary to Finance Control, stated yesterday.

The total operation profit estimated for this semester is smaller, but in view of the fact that $2600 of back bills have been paid, the A. S. U. N. shows a larger operating profit than last semester, McDonnell said.

All bills for the semester up to November 25, have been paid, he asserted. All claims against the A. S. U. N. such as class fees, Artemesia, Sagebrush and other budgets have been reduced leaving a balance of $2,853.52 to date.

McDonnell declared that the reason that the A. S. U. N. is in such good financial condition, this semester is because the organizations have co-operated to a great extent by holding their budgets down to the necessities.

'WIMPY' INVADES CLASS AGAIN TO SEEK LAURELS

"Wimpy," featured in last week's story on campus canines, positively refuses to rest on his laurels and made a bid for more publicity by starting a commotion in the classroom of W. C. Miller, instructor in English.

Wimpy sauntered into the classroom tinkling the little bell around his neck, and when he tired of playing with students' ankles and shoe laces he was elevated to a royal position on the instructor's desk. Then the adventurous terrier was handed from one student to another until he was completely bewildered.

From this and similar accounts from other professors, the campus' favorite hound seems to be getting himself a thorough college education.
