ON FINANCE CONTROL

Finance control committee, the group that controls the purse strings of the A.S.U.N., will meet next week to apportion to various campus activities, as fairly as possible, sums of money on which those activities will operate. The money which the committee handles represents, in the main, revenue from the $10 fee charged each student upon registration.

Although criticism is often directed at this committee, it is generally conceded that it made an enviable record last year. Student activities, on the whole, fared well and carried out their respective programs in a highly satisfactory manner, experiencing little financial duress.

Several old debts of the student body were paid off and a reserve emergency fund of $1000 was saved and set aside in a special account in the name of the A.S.U.N., to be drawn upon only in time of crisis.

The Sagebrush hopes that the committee will be able to continue with the good work this school year. It can only do so by receiving whole-hearted cooperation from the activities that bring in their budgets. A policy of progressive conservatism is the only method by which such cooperation may be accomplished. If all parties concerned will lay aside petty jealousies for the common good of the student body, the end of this year will doubtless see the treasury in an excellent condition.

May you have a good year, finance control!

THE OLD CRY, 'BACK THE PACK'

The old cry, "Back the Pack," is familiar to almost every student on the University of Nevada campus. It has been a slogan for years. It has been, and still is, a good slogan.

More than ever, the slogan needs to be carried constantly in mind and action. It is a psychological fact that if you tell a person a thing enough times he will eventually think and act in line with your repeated suggestion. So let's make the campus and townspeople conscious of our slogan, Back the Pack.

In one short week C. L. "Brick" Mitchell takes the field for another season of Wolf football. He has worked patiently and faithfully to build up a grid machine which will bring back to Nevada some of the glory which it formerly knew.

"Brick" has never vaulted his teams to the skies when he knew that an unsuccessful season lay ahead. In his appearances before the student body he has always given the closest picture possible of the team's status. And often the picture was dark. The coach has ever been positive, however, that the Wolf Pack is growing stronger year by year and that it will be only a short time until it will be a first class team.

This year Mitchell says that Nevada has a good team. He is optimistic and confident. He does not claim that his men will win all their games, but he does say that they will not be beaten by a large margin by any team.

Mitchell has worked consistently on the coast, meeting prominent sports columnists of coast daily newspapers, fighting to put Nevada in the spotlight, to let Californians know that the University of Nevada is not athletically dead, to let them know that one of these days the Wolf Pack is going to run rampant over their favorite sons. For this work he deserves much credit.

Nevada has a good team this year. It has had a good coach for three years. With even breaks we should have a successful season. But we all have to work. We all have to know what "Brick" is doing, we have to know what his men are doing and we have to know what we can do and do it.

Everyone knows that a good team is a better team when it has its university backing it 100 per cent. And that is our job. We must stand solidly behind "Brick" and his men and fight constantly for our team.

Think, live and act out our slogan:
"BACK THE PACK."

Griffin Outlines Big Debate Season

Plans for one of the most elaborate forensic years in the history of the university, calling for intercollegiate debating, oratorical and extemporaneous contests, were announced recently by Robert Griffin, debate coach.

An intra-mural debate tournament, which was inaugurated for the first time last year, will be held during the second half of this semester and Griffin expressed the wish that all fraternities, sororities and independent groups might be represented in the contest.

The schedule also calls for an all-school oratorical and extemporaneous contest to be held the latter part of the semester, in order to select the students who will represent Nevada in the Pacific Forensic league contest which is held some time in March.

Marian Jones, Beta Sigma Omicron, will teach in the grammar grades at Pioche.

Federal Agencies Aid Reconstruction Work Done During Summer

During the summer months reconstruction work on the campus has been done by the existing federal relief agencies under the supervision of Joseph B. Lynch, superintendent of grounds.

The dormitories and all campus buildings have been given their annual cleaning and the interiors of the electrical and mechanical engineering buildings have been repainted and repaired where necessary.

The baseball field has been enlarged and improved to more nearly conform with a standard field for the interfraternity ball games, and a new metal skylight has been installed on the roof of the gymnasium replacing the old wooden one.

Under the adequate relief crews furnished the university, the campus grounds have been cleaned and put in the best condition they have been in for several years, Lynch declared.

Two Scholarships Given by FERA To U. N. Students

Beth West, Allen Young Enter U. C. to Study Social Service

Two of the six FERA social service work scholarships to the University of California which were offered to Nevada students were recently awarded to Beth West and Allen Young. Only one more scholarship is open at present.

The balance of the scholarships will be given out at the beginning of the spring semester. Several applications have been made for these, according to Dean Maxwell Adams.

Dean Adams announced that there are to be no restrictions placed upon those applying for these appointments. The list of applicants is submitted to Miss Eva Hance of San Francisco, who makes all appointments.

The FERA requested the University of Nevada to submit a list of graduate students who desire to enter social service work. In order to qualify the student must have had at least one year in economics and one year in psychology and he must be willing to agree to accept employment from the United States government at the close of his semester at California. The amount of the scholarship is $250.

The students receiving these awards are not expected to be self-supporting and the applicants will not be considered on the basis of financial need, the dean said.

Artemisia Staff Named by Editor

New Plan of Organization Outlined for Book by Morehouse

Plans for the 1935 Artemisia are well under way since the organization of the editorial staff, announced Tuesday by Ned Morehouse, editor.

An entirely new plan is being used this year in the construction of the book. Each editor has charge of a definite section and is responsible for its completion.

Those appointed to serve as editors are: Classes, Lindsay Green; clippings, Walter Palmer; activities, Fred Hartman; senior portraits, Philip Shore; fraternity portraits, Tom Prunty; sorority portraits, Dorothy Roseberry.

Lecture on Dictionary Given to Ed '34 Class

Comparing the modern unabridged dictionary with the original Noah Webster version, Walter Clark of San Francisco addressed Miss Edith Reubens' education '34 class last Friday morning.

Clark stressed the fact that the new dictionary has approximately three times as many words listed as did the first one-man volume, some 120,000 new words having been adopted into the English language in the past twenty-five years.

The class was given a number of pointers on the best methods of using a dictionary, particularly with regard to finding miscellaneous material ordinarily not sought for in the dictionary.

Clark closed his lecture by giving the class ten commonly misspelled words, stressing good pronunciation as essential to good spelling.

Marthine Solares has left for Wadsworth, where she will teach high school English. Miss Solares, a graduate with the class of '34, was prominent in campus activities, being president of the Associated Women Students, a member of Cap and Scroll honorary activity society, Gothic N and the student senate. She is affiliated with Beta Sigma Omicron.

All operatives of the Brush detective staff having reported, it behooves us to give the lowdown on the phillanderings of the flaming youth of the U. of N. Among the dirt sweepings are some choice morsels.

"It must be great to be dough-heavy like 'Punchy' Hawkins," sighed operative 77 as he reported that the fair haired boy of the Alpha Tau house has finally hung his jeweled pin on the big chief's daughter, Florence Kirkley, and then proceeded to buy another dazzling bejeweled piece of brass. The cigars weren't extra.

We offer the services of Brush dirt operatives in order to ferret out the low down on "just where he stands" for blond and handsome John Benson of the Sig Alpha long. He things that he has La Phillips all sewed up, but verified reports show that Bryce Rhodes is weakening and again falling under the spell of the young lady's charms. Result: dates for Rhodes on Benson's night elsewhere.

One of our detectives reports a case of expected desertion with the young co-ed involved already to break down and weep. No longer after October 1 will you see Helene Fulton and Jack Belz gambling over the green or the tennis courts like a couple of young pups. Belz will be off soon to the far countries to take a medical course at Stanford. Alas, and Alaska!

We hear of at least one young rascal's getting his just desserts. J. D. "Pretty Pan" Stephens came into the S.A.E. shack the other morning shooting off firecrackers and woke the other Sig Alphas who had just retired. Next noon while quietly sitting on the front porch, Stephens was bombarded with a "water bomb" thrown by a mysterious unknown assailant.

Anyone passing the Lambda Chi house Thursday afternoon was probably puzzled by the pile of beds on the front lawn. But it is stated that house prexy Steffens did it to teach a few of the boys, Ken Powell, Bob Metten, Bill Sands, Frank Quilled, Joe Mastriani and Lee Ward, to make their beds up before 12 bells.

It appears that Mary Casey has finally consented to wear Frank Kormmeyer's chest jewelry. These Sig Alphas know that persistence will finally win practically any gal.

Ermyn Goodin and Abigail Hackett are employed in Reno. Miss Goodin is working for the FERA, while Miss Hackett is employed by the Gray-Reid-Wright department store.

Domestic Life Has Less Appeal to Campus Women

Are the women of the University of Nevada quitting the domestic life? It seems to be so when it is noted that there is a gain of only two women this year over last year in the home economics department. The total number of new freshman women is ten. The entire department consists of approximately fifty girls.

The number of girls enrolling in this department is decreasing to what it was several years ago, according to Miss Jessie Pope, assistant professor of home economics.

Kathryn Nichols, president of the Home Economics club, is calling a meeting of the club Wednesday, September 12. After the meeting the members will be entertained by the faculty, which is an annual custom. Any person who carries at least two units in the home economics department may attend this meeting and may become a member of the club.

As yet no definite plans have been made for the coming year, but committees to take care of the group's various entertainments are soon to be appointed.

Manzanita Will Initiate

Plans for the initiation of freshman girls were made at a meeting of the executive committee of Manzanita hall Wednesday evening. Miss Mary Patty, Miss Claire Beemis and Miss Sarah Lewis, faculty members living at the hall, will be included in the initiation ceremonies which will be held Monday night.

Opal Harvey '36 was appointed by the executive committee to represent Manzanita hall in the senate.

R. O. T. C. Will Have One More Company

That three companies will be formed this year from the university R.O.T.C. cadets instead of the traditional two, because of an enrollment which has topped all records since 1929, was the word released this week from the military department.

A shortage of uniforms has resulted in the ordering of new ones, which are expected to arrive before Homecoming day to allow cadet participation in the annual parade.

Admission to advanced military was granted this week to the following men: Ralph Ball, John Benson, Walter Bowrin, William Cockrell, Bert Cummings, Richard Greulich, Leland Hazeltine, Wesley Hurley, Tom Morris, Thomas Prunty, Charles Nichols, Paul Walker and Irvin Wanke.

U. N. Graduate Obtains Position in Washington

Frances Armbruster, a graduate with the class of '32, is now connected with the agricultural adjustment bureau in Washington, D.C. The announcement was made by Congressman J. G. Scrugham during his visit to Reno this summer.

Prior to going to Washington Miss Armbruster spent several weeks in New York visiting friends, making the trip there via the Panama canal. She flew to Washington, attending Senator Key Pittman's annual party and other summer capitol functions.

She was prominent in journalism and student activities while at the university and was affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Warning Is Handed To Parking Violators

A. E. McFadden, the university's grounds-keeper, who is known to all students as "Old Mac," is distributing mimeographed sheets in all cars parked on the campus between the hours of 7:30 in the morning and 4 in the afternoon.

These sheets are in the nature of a warning from the president's office to all students that parking is prohibited between those hours. McFadden will soon stop handing out these sheets and will tag all cars which are parked in violation to these rules.

Harold Curran and Sessions Wheeler, graduates with last year's class, have returned to the university for post-graduate work. Curran, a member of Alpha Tau Omega, was prominent in athletics. Wheeler is a Sigma Nu.

Mentor Mitchell Dislikes Latest Model 'Pigskin'

Feeling that the new size football will materially lessen the effectiveness of the team on the offensive as well as the defensive, Coach "Brick" Mitchell, head mentor of the University of Nevada's grid machine, declared that "any advantages derived from the new rule of allowing one incomplete pass into the end zone will be more than offset by the 'sloppy' handling of punts and passes."

He further stated that "although the ball is the same in length it is sufficiently smaller in diameter to result in inaccurate kicking and sloppy handling of the kick, because of the 'crazy English' it takes. Passes," he continued, will not be as accurate as they were with the old ball."

When questioned as to whether, under the new rules, the game will be faster, he declared, "Yes, the new rules will tend to open the defense and make possible, under threat of passes, more running plays, ultimately increasing scoring opportunities. That alone will speed up the game and give the public what it demands."

At this point Mitchell was asked whether the professional game was any faster than the college game, and the mentor forthrightly said the professional game was no faster, that it only seemed so because of the goal posts being on the goal line, making it easier to convert and make a field goal, thereby spreading the defensive still wider. Another reason he gave was that professionals are allowed to pass any place behind the line of scrimmage. "That rule," he said, "is one I would like to see in the college game, because it speeds up play to a still greater extent."

Mitchell also pointed out that there were a few minor changes in penalties, the most important being that a man may trip the ball carrier with his hand but not with his foot or leg. The penalty for such an offense is fifteen yards.

Soph Engineers Busy Trying Out Transits

Sophomore engineering students this week began initial training in the use of field instruments and equipment, measuring the quadrangle and buildings surrounding it.

When the work is completed the entire eastern part of the campus will be accurately mapped.

This training is the first field work done in which all prospective engineers participate as freshmen concentrate on sciences only.

Measuring and mapping the quad and engineering buildings has been a custom of the department for many years.

Greeks Will Arrange Sports Setup Soon

The opening date of the interfraternity sport loop will be decided by representatives of the various organizations at 4 p. m. Tuesday when they will meet in J. E. Marties office to arrange the fall schedule, it was announced this week.

With the Greek houses happily counting names on lengthy pledge lists, a season of keen competition is anticipated. A.T.O., present champions, are apparently confident of repeating last year's victory, but will doubtless be hard pressed by ambitious rivals, according to present reports.

Austin Is Accepted By Army Air Corps

Kenneth L. D. Austin '34 has been accepted by the army air corps and is now awaiting orders from the recruiting officer to report to Randolph training field in Texas. He will report to the field on or before October 12. Austin is affiliated with the Delta Sigma Lambda fraternity.

Paul Fontana '34 and Bob Anderson '34 are now stationed at Randolph field undergoing flying instruction. Fontana and Anderson are at present the only University of Nevada graduates enrolled at the field. Both are members of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Transit Company Schedules Special Buses for Students

For the benefit of Sparks university students, the Nevada Transit company has arranged for two of the Reno-Sparks buses to bring students to the university gates twice daily, five days each week.

One bus leaves Sparks at 7:20 a. m. and arrives at the university in time for the 7:45 classes, and another bus leaves Sparks at 8:15 a. m., arriving in time for 8:40 classes. This schedule will continue for the semester.

Nevada Co-Eds Attend National Sorority Meets

"Convention and a trip to the fair" was the favorite expression of a number of university women last June—the month for national sorority conventions. Delegates and alumni members from each of the six sororities on the campus attended their respective conventions held in various parts of the United States stretching from Yellowstone to Chicago.

Evelyn and Grace Semenza, the only women to attempt driving, made a tour of the west coast. Starting from Reno and going through Grand Teton park and on to Yellowstone, where they represented Pi Beta Phi at convention, they continued on to Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and down the coast over the Redwood highway to San Francisco. During the large convention banquet Grace Semenza gave a recitation entitled "Sacagawea" upon which the theme followed. Sacagawea was the Indian girl who accompanied Lewis and Clark on their expedition. During the convention Mrs. Ethel Frost was elected Mu province vice president. Rena Semenza represented the Reno alumni group.

Dorothy Nason was delegate to the Gamma Phi Beta national convention, which was held at the Broadmoor hotel in Colorado Springs. Golf, tennis, boating and riding were the main sources of amusement as the Broadmoor is conveniently located in one of the picturesque portions of the United States, at the foot of Pike's peak.

Hot Springs, Ark., was the seat of the Beta Sigma Omicron national convention. Elma May and Florine Frank represented the Nevada chapter and were very proud to bring home a scholarship cup which, according to custom, is presented by the grand council to the chapter making the highest number of scholarship points. Both women attended the fair and then spent time visiting their Denver, New Orleans and Los Angeles chapters.

Elva Nedenriep attended the Delta Delta Delta gathering at the Virginia Beach hotel, Virginia. Mary O'Neill '30 accompanied her to a post-convention held at Washington, D.C. While there they visited a number of historical points, and while in Virginia made a trip to Jamestown. Miss Nedenriep returned by way of Chicago.

The Alpha Delta Theta convention at the Edgewater Beach hotel, Chicago, was attended by May Parman. During the meeting the Nevada chapter was transferred to a new province, and plans for establishing a sorority house were discussed. All delegates made a visit to the world's fair in Chicago.

Cornelia Arentz, Florence Diskin, Elizabeth Carpenter and Mrs. Ed Reed took the southern route by way of Los Angeles and New Orleans to Asheville, N. C., where the Kappa Alpha Theta convention was held. They visited and were entertained by chapters all along the way.

All of the conventions were completed by July 3.

Noted Explorer Visits Campus During Week

One of the world's prominent arctic explorers was a visitor on the Nevada campus during registration. He is Dr. Lawrence Gould, who was second in command to Commander Byrd at Little America on his first expedition, at present a professor of geology at the Carlton college in Minnesota.

Dr. Gould was a guest of Dr. J. E. Church of this university. They became acquainted while in Greenland with the Hobbs expedition.

Women Athletes Begin Practice

With an eye to the numerous trophies offered for interclass meets and intersorority tournaments, women athletes have begun practice in swimming, hockey, tennis and riding.

Helene Stark, manager of hockey, announced that there will be interclass games after a few weeks' practice. If enough women from the various sorority houses sign up for the teams intersorority games will be played. Hockey is new to many freshman women, but Miss Stark urged them to sign up, practice being scheduled for Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 3:45.

Mary Louise Waltensplel, head of the tennis meets, announced that as soon as the participants are in form intersorority and interclass matches will be played. Practice days are Mondays and Wednesdays at 2:30 and 3 o'clock.

Swimming is under the management of Mrs. Mae Simas, assistant in the physical education department. There will be classes for beginners, intermediate and advanced swimmers. Points will be awarded in those divisions and interclass and intersorority meets will be held. Training is also given in preparation for the examiner's license in lifesaving. The classes are scheduled for Mondays and Wednesdays at 4.

To the four winds of the Pacific this year Robert Creps, news bureau editor, will spread the usual line of "ballyhoo" about our university's football team, better known as the Wolf Pack. Creps has been selected to take care of all advance publicity dope for all the contests to be played away from Mackay field. He will leave two or three days before each game and during his journeys he will attempt to have all the stadiums "sold out" by kickoff time.

Speaking of football, it is interesting to note that not one of the potential candidates for this year's varsity squad is camera shy. For the past week the gridgers have been subjected nightly to a rigid workout before the lens of the Artemisia and news bureau's battery of camera men. The Mitchellites, from the sophomores up, stood before the "telling eye" with a gleam of defiance in each optic.

Once again present university men, or ex-Wolf tennis stars, shared the

Scranton Coaches Fall Track Squad

Chester Scranton, for the past six years head coach of the freshman football squad, who announced his resignation from that position last week, will handle fall track for the coming semester, according to J. E. Martie, head of the physical education department.

Scranton has been assigned the handling of the fall cinder artists because "Brick" Mitchell, varsity track and football coach, will this year have too much of his time taken up in developing Nevada's grid team. Mitchell will take over the spring track season, however.

Scranton will assume his duties on Monday of next week, and by Tuesday expects the full quota of track and field men to be on the field since all strength tests will have been taken by that time. He is expecting a heavy turnout of former high school stars and some varsity material, if the good weather prevails.

Fall track culminates in the Sparks-Reno cross country race, a distance of about four miles. Last year the individual winner of the race was Frank Leonard of Sigma Nu. Alpha Tau Omega won the cup by having the first three men of any fraternity to cross the finish line.

limelight in the recently played state tennis tourney. Douglas Busey and Hoyt Martin, former campusites, met in the final singles match, with Busey coming out on top after a long uphill fight. Winning this championship is becoming quite a common occurrence for Doug as he has been ranked first in the state among netsters for the past five seasons.

Not satisfying himself with a mere singles crown, Busey teamed up with Herb Foster, another ex-Nevadan, to cop the men's doubles title and then to make things more or less unanimous Doug paired with Elizabeth

Walker Will Handle Ice Cream Sales For Grid Games

In preparation for the rapidly approaching football season, Nell Lozano, president of the A.W.S., announced that Margaret Walker will be chairman of the ice cream sales committee.

With Miss Walker as the head of the committee, she will pick a number of other college women to work under her. Each committee member will be responsible for so many freshman women at each home football game, in order to divide the work equally.

Plans are not yet definite about the sale of hot dogs by the W.A.A. As yet no chairman has been selected. When these details are completed the list of freshman women will be arranged alphabetically and groups selected for both A.W.S. and W.A.A. sales.

From the tentatively starting lineup drawn up by the varsity's "brain trust," Mitchell and Coltrin, it takes but simple arithmetic to predict that this year's Pack is going to be a "one ton team." With seven linemen touching the scales at approximately 185 pounds and the "kickoff" backs but five pounds lighter per man, these eleven stalwarts should "cover" most of the turf on the regulation sized gridiron. ### Nevada Teachers Receive Positions

School Boards Favor Grads; 29 Are Placed From Class of '34

Nevada school boards are giving preference to graduates of the University of Nevada, as shown by the large number of positions filled by this year's class, according to F. W. Traner, professor of education.

"Although no official regulation or pressure is made, as in some states, Nevada seems to be supporting its graduates as never before," he said, adding that the university authorities and appointment committees are very well pleased with the report this year.

Of the 48 four year graduates in the education department in last year's class, 29 have received positions, two of them receiving positions as principals of schools, he stated. Ten of the graduates of the previous classes have been promoted to other schools.

Alonzo Priest, graduate of this year's class, received the position of principal in the Inlay school, while Howard Smith has received the principal's place in Kimberly.

Others receiving appointments this year are:

Patricia McCulloch at Fernley, Margery Mullen at Winnemucca, Virginia Wheeler, Yerington; Nevada Solari, Gardnerville; Marjorie Stout, Inlay; Marcelle Barkley, near Fallon.

Elinor Robinson will teach at Fallon, while Marjorie Record will also be on the same staff. Others who will take over positions are Cora Bryant, Catherine Slavin, Marthine Solares, Bud Beasley, Jean McIntyre, Virginia Cross, Kenneth E. Austin, Mrs. Laila Conard, Mary McCulloch, Charlotte Pope, Blanch Lucas, Camille Cerrita, Doris Shaver, Gladys Morris, Mildred Huber, Eugene Salet and Jean Sauer.

Taking over their duties, these graduates will be teaching from the first grade to high school students. Vocational and academic studies are being taught by these students.

Among those who were promoted are Frances Westerveld, who is to continue her teaching at Boulder City, and Neil Scott, who has been given a position on the Boulder City school board.

Margaret Fuller is to return to Reno to teach in the Reno High school, while Rose Sala will teach in Fallon. Marvel Ransom is to teach at the Junior High school in Reno.

According to reports others have received positions, but word is not yet authoritative.

Keegan Announces W.A.A. Executives

Women who are to serve on the W.A.A. executive committee for this year were announced by President Blanche Keegan at the first meeting of the organization held this semester. The members of this committee manage W.A.A. sports.

Two new offices have been added this year, Miss Keegan stated, those of art and publicity manager and outing manager, who will take charge of all hikes and general outings made by the group.

Managers for the various women's sports appointed by Miss Keegan are: Helene Stark, hockey; Sarah Graves, volleyball; Mary Louise Waltenspiel, tennis; Mary Sweet, archery; Katherine Dondero, rifle; Ruby Bliss, basketball; Norma Jean Mills, badminton; Charlotte Robinson, outing; Orpah Morgan, art and publicity.

Frosh 'Chapeaux' To Appear Monday

"Next Thursday the frosh start hitting the lake," says Allan Cromwell, vigilance committee chairman.

Dinks will arrive Friday and will be given out immediately so that when school starts Monday every frosh may be decked out in his traditional chapeau.

"Last year's sophomores emphasized wearing dinks but paid little attention to the frosh bibles, but this year a close check is going to be kept on the bibles, too," asserted Cromwell.

Co-Ed Teaches Mathematics

A Nevada co-ed, Inez MacGillivray, has established something of a new record at the university by being the first junior student to be selected by any department to teach courses.

Miss MacGillivray has a teaching position in the department of mathematics, headed by Professor Frederick Wood. She teaches mathematics 5 and 6, algebra and geometry.

Another addition to Professor Wood's department is that of Emily Ross, a Reno girl, who has graduated from Stanford with a bachelor's degree in mathematics. Miss Ross is working for a master's degree, and is teaching two sections of mathematics 11, algebra.

Ellen Ernst, a former University of Nevada student, visited in Reno over the weekend. She is a member of Phi Beta Phi.

SAGENS CONVENE TO PLAN RALLIES

The first tentative plans for the 1934 Homecoming day celebration were made by the Sagens at their first meeting, held Wednesday night. Besides their regular work at rallies, the Sagens plan to enter a float in the Homecoming parade.

They will also assist in the sale of season football tickets. In addition to this, plans for a dance to be held some time in November are under way.

Two new members were elected to replace former Sagens who have not returned to school. Evamae Beemer was chosen from the Tri Deltis to replace Louise Tiddball Rhodes and Anne Priest was elected in place of Catherine Armstrong from the Phi Phi house.

Keith Lee, Former A. S. U. N. Prexy, Injured in Blast

Keith Lee, popular University of Nevada graduate with the class of '33 and former student body president, was seriously injured recently when struck in the leg by a piece of rock hurled from a blast explosion. The accident occurred at Charleston Park, near Las Vegas, where Lee is employed by the forest service.

A highway crew was blasting a road bed and Lee, standing about 300 yards to one side, was looking on when a stray piece of rock hurled horizontally from the explosion and struck his leg. Although no bones were broken the flesh was torn and ligaments were strained.

Lee spent nine days in the Las Vegas hospital and only recently has been able to walk, with the aid of a cane.

Miss Georgianna Harriman spent the weekend with her parents in Fallon.

Jean Sauer '34 has been elected to a teaching position in the Franktown school. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta.
