Williams and Marys Hold Sway On Nevada Campus

It appears that Williams and Marys reign supreme on the Nevada campus so far as given names are concerned. A glance at the registration list shows that out of the total number of students about thirty are blessed with the name of William. Following the Williams closely are the names John, James, Charles, Jack, Joe and Robert.

Defense

In their first home game of the season, the Nevada Wolves will play now to the Mustangs of the California agricultural college tomorrow afternoon on Mackay field.

The Wolf Pack will go into the game slight favorites to win, chiefly because of its comparative showing in last week's California game. The Aggies shared a double-header against the Bears with Nevada and were trounced 54 to 0, while the Wolves lost 33 to 0. Nevada supporters optimistically point out the fact that the Aggies were beaten by players from the California third and fourth string Rammers squad, and the Reno gridders gave the Bear's first string a hard battle, threatening several times to score.

Engineers to Hold Mystery Exhibits At Homecoming

Scientific marvels almost as amazing as those at the Century of Progress in Chicago will be witnessed by many university students and alumni on Friday, October 26, when the engineers hold their annual Engineer's day as a part of the Homecoming celebration.

Shows Will Mystify

Mystifying as well as spectacular electrical demonstrations, showing the use of sound equipment, the photo electric cell, how light waves can carry the human voice and other experiments on the uncanny tricks of electricity, are being planned by the electrical students.

Refusing to be outdone, the mechanicals are devising all kinds of freak stunts and are constructing weird contraptions of every description, all of which are intended to baffle completely those who are deficient in knowledge of mechanical engineering. And to create an even more mysterious atmosphere, these engineers will have all of the machinery in their laboratory running full blast, including steam engines, boiler plants and dynamos.

C. E.'s Plan Exhibits

The civil engineers, however, are not going into the realm of the spectacular and impossible but will attempt to impart a little common sense to the public by demonstrating the relative heating values of different fuels. To show that they are interested in the general safety of the public, the civils will go even farther and make tests as to the strength of various materials, such as timbers and concrete.

But just to make this race for honors a four cornered one, the mixers of the Mackay School of Mines have stepped in and are going to present what will be one of the most interesting attractions of the whole show. This attraction will be a simple looking instrument, known as fluorspark lamp, which sends forth invisible ultraviolet rays. When ordinary, colorless mineral specimens are placed under these rays, the specimens take on beautiful colors ranging from golden yellows to bright reds, depending on the elements it contains.

SIGMA PHIS INITIATE

"Silence is golden" became the motto of the aspirants to Sigma Phi fraternity, as Hel week started last Monday with formal initiation scheduled for tomorrow.

Those being initiated are Emil Gezzlin, George Anderson, Noel Kitchen, Bud Showalter, Allen Cromwell, Bill Cashill, Harvey Hill, Dick Haman, Clyde Keegle and Roy Caldwell.

CO-EDS TO SERVE LUNCHEONS

Meals at cost will be provided for university students by the home economics department every Tuesday and Thursday starting the week after next, it was announced today by Miss Jessie Pope, associate professor of the department.

The junior women in the cooking class who will prepare the food will also be required to plan menus and budget the meals, keeping the cost within a specified limit.

'Hill' Republicans Complete Plans

Campus Republicans organized this week under the leadership of William McMenamin and plans were laid for the complete organization of all G. O. P. sympathizers on the "Hill".

During the meeting McMenamin was elected chairman of the group, Cornelia Arentz, secretary, and Kirwil Foley, treasurer. Plans include a meeting Monday night at the Student Union building and a free dance at some later date.

Engineers' Head To Visit Campus

For the chief purpose of incorporating the university student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers into the national organization and making it a regular member of that society, Ernest Hartford, general secretary of the A.S.M.E., will visit the campus next Thursday as one of his stops in a nationwide tour he is making to incorporate every one of the student branches.

Heretofore the university branch has had no direct connection with the national society nor with any of the other student groups in the country, but under the new setup every college or university chapter will become an active and permanent unit in this farflung organization.

A banquet in honor of Hartford will be held Thursday night by the mechanical engineering students, it was announced by Dean Frederick H. Sibley, professor of mechanical engineering. Sometime during the day Hartford will address all of the engineers, Sibley stated.

Wolves Hold Golden Bears to Standstill During First Quarter

HAMAN OUTSTANDING Runback on Intercepted Pass Gives Mitchell Team Scoring Chance

A fighting University of Nevada Wolf Pack last Saturday was swamped by a powerful University of California eleven by a 33 to 0 score after displaying a world of offensive and defensive strength that for short time completely overwhelmed the Golden Bears and the 20,000 spectators present at the game.

Nevada, inspired by the spectacular runback of an intercepted pass by Dick Haman early in the first quarter, nearly placed themselves in the scoring column.

The run by Haman, coupled with Harvey Hill's repeated gains through the California line, had the Golden Bears backed up on their own four yard line. After attempts to push the ball over by Hill and Cromwell failed, Tom Cashill dropped back for a try at a field goal that was low. This ended Nevada's offensive play for a while.

Bears Make Drive
California then started an offensive drive of their own, and with Arleigh Williams doing most of the ball toting at quarter time placed the ball on Nevada's ten yard line.

Score: California 0, Nevada 0.
A new Nevada team took the field at the beginning of the second period in an effort to stop the Bears. It was composed of: ends, Benson and Dellano; tackles, Hadden and Bill Cashill; guards, Horgan and Lommiro; center, Lansdon; halves, Sauer and Caldwell; fullback, Tharp; tailback, Robb.

For three downs the new team held valiantly, only to be scored upon by a short pass into the end zone from Archer to Jones.

The remaining part of this quarter saw some great defensive work done by the Nevada line, which repeatedly

Injured Player Is Still in Hospital

Paul Walker, veteran varsity tackle, will be unable to leave Franklin hospital in San Francisco until about October 25, according to reports received from the hospital.

Walker is suffering from fractured transverse vertebrae lumbar processes received during the Santa Clara game three weeks ago. After his release from the hospital he will stay with relatives in the bay region.

According to Dr. Chung, coast surgeon, he will remain in a cast until the middle of November when he will be sufficiently recovered to return home.

tossed the Bears for short losses. Dellano and Carroll were particularly outstanding.

Haman Punts Well
Haman's exceptional punting was a deciding factor in keeping California from the Wolves' goal line.

Line slashes by Walker and Archer, California's backfield threats, again placed the Bears in a position to score. Walker carried the ball over from the three yard line on a reverse. Williams failed to convert.

At half time, the Bears were in possession of the ball on their own 34 yard line.

Score: California 13, Nevada 0.
The same Nevada team took the field at the beginning of the third quarter that began the game. Again the Wolf Pack went into scoring territory, uncashing a drive that placed the ball on California's twenty yard line before it was stopped by a heavier and more experienced California team.

California Scores
The Golden Bears then began a march up the field that had its climax when a California back carried the ball over from Nevada's ten yard line.

Score: California 20, Nevada 0.
Nevada's second string again took the field, but could not stop the powerful running attack of the Bears.

The quarter had hardly started before California pushed over another

Treatment Given Injured Students

Six members of the football squad are now being treated at the campus infirmary for injuries received while playing recently, according to Mrs. Shurtleff, matron of the infirmary. Two students are being treated for burns received in chemistry laboratories. Three other students are also being treated.

The football men: Dan Toquero, Joe Lommiro, Ralph Haynes, John Echave, Jim Dopsen and Fayette Hill. The laboratory victims are Joe Mastrolanni and Frank Quilich. Others treated at the hospital are Louise Emminger, Clayton Carpenter and Victor Arobio.

touchdown on a 47 off tackle smash from Nevada's fifteen yard line. The try for the extra point was good.

California's final touchdown came late in the quarter, the result of another of the Bear's powerful reverse plays. The try for point failed.

Score: California 33, Nevada 0.
All of the men taken on the trip were given all opportunity to play, all showing up to advantage. McDow and Samuelson in the backfield did well, while Smith, Toquero, Byington and Guild gave good account of themselves in the line.

The starting lineup for Nevada was: Smalley and Topogna, ends; Showalter and Carroll, tackles; Tom Cashill, center; Turner and Morris, guards; Flournoy and Haman, halves; Hill, fullback, and Cromwell, tailback.

Wolf Hoop Team To Tour Colorado

A barnstorming University of Nevada basketball team may invade Colorado, Utah and other neighboring states during the Christmas holidays if sufficient games are scheduled, according to J. E. "Doc" Martie, the university's hoop mentor.

If arrangements are completed and the team makes the tour, it will be the first time since 1932 that a Nevada team has made such a trip.

Two years ago the Wolves toured the Pacific coast and, though crippled by sickness and injuries, succeeded in turning in a creditable record.

Pack's Record Given

In that year the Pack lost two games to U.C.L.A., one to U.C. and one to the United Athletic club of San Francisco, while it scored wins over the Olympic club and the Moffat Packers for a string of two wins and four defeats out six games played.

Last year the Pack did not venture out of the home court before the opening of the regular season. Pre-season games were played with the All Stars, a local aggregation, the Denver Pigglys and the Ogden Boosters.

Good Year Predicted
A successful year seems to be in store for the present quintet, with several veterans expected to be on hand. The team will be materially strengthened by the return to school this semester of Mike Gould, former star center.

Possible opponents for the barnstorming Wolves include Denver university, Colorado Aggies, Utah university, Brigham Young and others.

Elizabeth Osborn, freshman student from Winnemucca, was pledged to Kappa Alpha Theta Thursday night.

Greeks Preparing For Cross-country

Thirty-six Trotters Training For Cross-country Marathon

With intertong warfare swinging into the third week, Greek letter men are centering attention on the thirty-six aspirants for fall track and the annual cross-country run, which is scheduled for coming, October 27.

Several potential stars are numbered among the autumn cinder enthusiasts. Hand, former Hawthorne star and holder of the state prep half-mile record, will be eligible for the Reno-Sparks jaunt.

Paul Leonard, varsity miler, is limbering up in event letter men are declared eligible for the run. Herbert Lohse, nephew of Hans Lohse, former Wolf distance artist, is listed on the fall track roster.

Other promising candidates include Bob Maher, Ross Hart and Charles Turner.

A.T.O., twice winner of the cross-country run, will doubtless be a strong contender this year, while the Sigma Nus, S.A.E.s, Sigma Phis and the others are canvassing their respective houses for likely material.

Under the present rulings the first three men from a single organization crossing the finish mark win the run. Letter men are not allowed to compete for their houses, but may run in the race for the purpose of gaining added experience.

Edith McLaughlin '30, prominent member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority, was married to Harold "Pat" Sanford '33, of Sigma Phi Sigma fraternity, in Las Vegas last July.

Greek Hoopsters Schedule Tourney

Games Played Oct. 12 and 13; Phi Sigs, Delta Sigs Lead Off Series

Following a ten-day period of intensive practice the interfraternity basketball tournament will begin on Friday and Saturday, October 12 and 13, according to J. E. Martie, head of the physical education department and in charge of the tournament.

Opening of the tournament, which is to be played on a round robin basis, takes place on Friday when the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity meets the Delta Sigs at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. All games of the tourney will be played in the university gymnasium.

Competition this year promises to be one of the closest ever held since the beginning of intramural tourneys, with at least four teams, and possibly more, showing championship caliber. Those teams which will apparently make the strongest bid in annexing a large block of points to aid them in getting the big copper mug are S.A.E., Sigma Nu, A.T.O. and Phi Sigma Kappa.

Regulations Given
Martie stated that all competing teams should arrange for officials ahead of time so that games may be played according to schedule. Any teams not doing so will have to cancel their games, he warned. All arrangements should be made with the basketball manager, he further stated.

Following is a list of the games to be played next weekend and below that the final practice schedule.

Athletic Billboard Erected in Town

U.N. Football Schedule Posted, Lighting of Sign To Be Done Soon

Complete except for the installation of lights, the huge sign being erected by the university to publicize athletics is now in place on top of the oil station on the northeast corner of Fourth and Virginia streets.

The sign, which measures eight by fourteen feet, is of steel construction, and will carry all athletic schedules and important university announcements from time to time.

A picture of two football players is painted on one of the end pylons with two basketball players on the other end, and the complete football schedule for the season is listed. The colors of the university and the oil company are used in the decorations.

By an arrangement with the local power company, the monthly charges for upkeep will be donated, and a part of the installation charges will be borne by the oil station on which the sign is erected.

Blue Key Group Plans Activities

With an extensive program planned for the ensuing semester, Blue Key service fraternity at a meeting last Wednesday completed arrangements for an investigation of the Sagers' constitution, production of the Wolves Frolic, gates and parking at home football games and continuation of social hours.

The Sagers' constitution will be thoroughly investigated, and it is probable that some important changes may be made, according to Ed Martinez, president.

The organization, which sponsors the annual Wolves Frolic to be presented on October 26 at the Granada theatre as a part of the Homecoming day celebration, will take care of the publicity and ticket sales for the event. A manager will be appointed to take charge of this, said Martinez.

Sagers Elect New Members

Pep Group Will Cooperate in Parking Cars at Games

Six new members were officially welcomed into Sagers at a dinner meeting held in their honor at the A. T. O. house last Tuesday by an assemblage of twenty old members.

Those honored are: Bert Cummings, William Johnstone, Harry Austin, Dan Toquero, Donald Leighton and George Southworth.

At the business meeting which followed the dinner, various plans were formulated for the semester.

The job of parking cars at home football games will be partially undertaken by the group this year. Formerly, the work was in charge of Blue Key, but due to insufficient help in the past, the two organizations will cooperate.

A committee of four volunteers reported to Jack Hughes, varsity yell leader, for the purpose of providing a novel stunt for the rally tonight. The entire organization, under the direction of Bryce Rhodes, will assist in guiding the rally parade.

Navy blue sweaters, with a large white monogram on the back have been ordered, and in the future will be worn by members at all games and rallies. Full attendance will be insisted upon at all functions.

Members of visiting football teams will be escorted to and from their hotels by the organization. They will also be on hand each time the Wolf Pack leaves or arrives.

In anticipation of the Blue Key election for membership, the next meeting will be regarded as a farewell banquet to those given bids to the honorary, the president said.

Far Western conference teams didn't fare so well in their contests with their big brothers in the Pacific Coast conference last weekend, but the games should furnish some sort of yardstick in trying to unravel the winners of this season's Far Western conference loop. From last week's scores, Nevada should have things its own way with the Aggies in tomorrow's clash. San Jose State promises to be troublesome to all conference opponents inasmuch as the Staters did away with the powerful club team from Santa Barbara in their opener.

Were the Trojans of the University of Southern California surprised in their game with little Pacific last Saturday? The mighty men of Troy had one busy afternoon in sending Stagg's men back to Stockton on the short end of a 6 to 0 count. Not until the closing minutes of the ball game did the Jones men send Lzy Watkyns, Troy half, around Pacific's left end for the game's only tally. Howard Jones, U.S.C. coach, held nothing but praise for his opponents after the ball game was over. The Wolf Pack is due for a very warm reception the night they tangle with the Bengals on November 10.

Not much information has been leaking out from down around Fresno concerning the late edition of the Fresno State college eleven. Word coming from the Staters' camp during early practice sessions told of the heaviest team in the history of Fresno football. This squad, about which little is known, promises to be the dark horse of the Far Western circuit. The Wolves journey down into the raisin center to entertain the Fresno boys on Thanksgiving day, this being the last game of the season for both outfits.

Kappa Kappa Psi Outlines Program

Starting their social season with a banquet at the Toscano hotel last evening, the Kappa Kappa Psi, national honorary band fraternity, has a very eventful year planned, according to Kistler Rivers.

Kappa Kappa Psi is sponsoring a number of public appearances by the band this semester. These will include playing at all of the home football games this fall, participation in the parades Armistice day, Admission day, fall opening and Homecoming, playing for the football rallies and a trip to Stockton for the College of Pacific game.

The University of Nevada chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi was started in 1927 and has grown steadily since. At present there are nine active members, with pledging of new members planned this month. To be eligible for pledging a man must be a member of the university band for at least one semester. The officers of the fraternity this fall are: Kistler Rivers, president; Tom Morris, vice president; Morgan Mills, secretary, and T. H. Post, treasurer. The other active members are Rev. F. D. Graves, Murray English, William Dubrow, Darrell Cain and Herb Peck.

J. E. Martie Denies Elko Job Rumors

Prior to 1923 Martie Was Teacher on Elko High School Staff

Questioned as to an assertion appearing in a Las Vegas paper recently that he would seek the superintendent's job of the Elko high school, J. E. "Doc" Martie, head of the P. E. department at the University of Nevada, yesterday stated that he knew nothing of the matter and is not interested.

"You may say," said Martie, "that I have not sought the Elko position and have no intention of doing so. I do not know how the rumor originated."

The story predicting that Martie would be coach in Elko stated that he would replace Miss Bertha Kneemeyer, as superintendent in order to organize a football team there, since the present superintendent has never consented that the school have a team. Two new members to the school board are said to favor football and it was stated that they will replace Miss Kneemeyer in order to install a superintendent who will sanction the game.

Commenting upon the whole affair, Martie further said that he, himself, was opposed to football in high school, believing that soccer should replace the more strenuous game.

Prior to coming to the university in 1923, Martie served on the staff of the Elko high school in the athletic department.

Student Officers Elected by Band

The recently formed band organization held an election of officers yesterday afternoon at a regular meeting. The organization recently adopted its constitution and was passed by the executive committee of the student senate last night. The purpose of the organization is to create a closer relationship of band members and greater interest in campus functions.

Those elected to offices are: president, Herbert Peck; vice-president and band manager, Ellis Ceander; secretary-treasurer, Bill Dubrow; librarian, Darrell Cain.

News Bureau Man Has Salary Fixed

Finance Control committee last Wednesday afternoon set the salary for the News Bureau director at $20 a month. Robert Creps, director, waived the salary at the time he took over the job last semester, and requested that the matter be settled for the present school year.

The former salary paid to the News Bureau chief was $15 but as the committee believed that the bureau has been far more efficient this semester than heretofore, the salary was raised.

Engineering Grads Hold Varied Jobs

Graduates from the Nevada college of engineering are now holding jobs ranging from that of assistant steamship engineer to geophysical explorers for the federal government.

Despite the fact that the engineering profession generally has been hard hit by the depression, many Nevada men have been fortunate in finding employment the deans said.

Robert Anderson, '34, mechanical engineering graduate, is located with the army flying corps at Randolph Field, while John Reed is working as an assistant engineer on a steamship plying between Honolulu and San Francisco.

Two civil engineering graduates in '34, Cleto Bengoa and Robert Leighton, are working for the Oregon and Nevada state highway departments respectively.

Two other civils, Winston Summerhill, '34, and George Schilling, '34, are engaged in geo-physical work for the federal government, Schilling doing exploration for water-bearing strata for well development.

Cecil Stowell, '34, mechanical, has obtained employment at Boulder Dam. Edwin Michal, mechanical graduate in '31, is an engineer with a mining company at Round Mountain, Nevada.

Bernard Keating, mechanical engineer, '25, and former student body president, is assistant engineer for the Shell Oil company at Martinez, Calif. Freda Feutsch, former student and secretary to Dean Sibley of the electrical college is now Keating's wife.

Schedule Printed by Publications

A game schedule, given to University of Nevada football fans free of charge, will be distributed at the first home game to be played tomorrow afternoon.

Published under the direction of the Publications board, the program will consist only of starting line-ups of both teams. Wm. McMennamin, board member, is in charge of the project. Although the Homecoming day program is specified a part of the publications board's annual duties, other programs for home games have never been recognized as coming under any particular group's province.

In line with the A. S. U. N. constitution which provides that solicitations for all downtown advertising other than the Sagebrush, Artemisia and Homecoming day program be first approved by Finance Control committee, the board first obtained the approval of the finance group.

DISCUSSION GROUP PLANNED

Plans are being made to reestablish the old Y.W.C.A. discussion group for freshman women, once sponsored by Mrs. Mae Simas. This group is being organized to help freshman women solve any problems which may confront them. Some of the questions that will be discussed include problems of etiquette, campus rules and traditions.

M.E. Department Gets Equipment

New equipment for the mechanical engineering department is now being installed in the blacksmith and machine shops.

Equipment to be installed includes two new lathes for the machine shop. A new cement floor is being laid in the blacksmith shop along with three new anvils and a cowdraft air system for removing smoke from the forges.

One of the lathes bought has already been installed and the other will be set up as soon as it arrives here.

Work on the blacksmith shop will be completed by the eighteenth of this month, and, according to Professor F. H. Sibley, will about use up the allotment provided for equipment and renovations.

BAND WILL GO TO PACIFIC

Definite arrangements have been made for the University of Nevada band to accompany the Wolf Pack when the Nevada gridmen play Alonzo Slagg's College of Pacific Bengals at Stockton November 10. Professor T. H. Post, band director, stated this week.

Students Prepare To Honor Alumni With Celebration

Homecoming Committee Lays Plans for Traditional Grad Return

Group Schedules Elaborate Program for Three Day Fete

Alumni of the University of Nevada will be welcomed back to their alma mater in "grand" style when the annual Homecoming celebration in their honor takes place October 25, 26 and 27, according to Carl Dodge, chairman of the Homecoming committee, which met Wednesday afternoon in the A.S.U.N. building.

Three-Day Celebration

The three day celebration will include a gigantic bonfire rally, a huge parade, a cross country race, the soph-frosch field event, a big dance and the Nevada-San Jose football game, as well as many other events. When truckloads of bonfire material, such as old tires, drygoods boxes, logs, gasoline and transmission oil, to be used in the big bonfire, are seen going through the campus next week university students will know that the celebration is not far distant. The drive for these combustible materials will be supervised by Walter States, member of the Homecoming committee, assisted by the Sagers, subsidiary organization of Blue Key.

Fireworks at Rally

One of the outstanding features of the whole celebration will be a spectacular fireworks display on Mackay field the night of the rally. This attraction, scheduled to last for at least an hour, is being presented through courtesy of the Shell Oil company and has been displayed on the Pacific coast at various university celebrations.

Leading citizens of the community have been invited to speak at the rally and will include Clyde D. Souter, Brewster Adams, Miles N. Pike, Dr. Walter E. Clark and Coach "Buck" Mitchell.

Parade Is Feature

The Homecoming parade, however, will no doubt create the most excitement as far as university organizations, fraternities and sororities are concerned, inasmuch as they will be competing for honors in the float contest. Local merchants will award cups to the winners.

Although plans for the parade have not been completed, Carl Dodge, chairman of the Homecoming committee, has announced that the university band and R.O.T.C. unit, alumni guests, and probably the municipal band, the American Legion drum corps and the local division of the Nevada national guard will take part in the parade.

Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society, will marshal the parade, a tradition which it has followed for many years.

Merchants Give Cups

Another feature of this three day celebration will be the awarding of silver cups to the fraternity and sorority having the greatest number of alumni members present at the Homecoming dance, which will take place in the Washoe County Library building Saturday night. A cup will also be awarded to the sorority and fraternity with the best decorated house.

Friday morning at 10 o'clock exhibits will be presented by the Fine Arts group, Associated Engineers, Chemistry club and the home economics department in various campus buildings.

Cross Country Saturday

The main attractions Saturday morning will be the cross country race, which will be under the direction of "Doc" Martie, and the drilling contest put on by the Associated Engineers. The winner of this event will also receive a cup.

The donors of cups for the various contests are as follows: Dr. Walter E. Clark, Wilson Drug company, Tiny's Waffle shop, Big Waldorf, Russell Sport shop, Ginsberg's, Herz Bros. and J. C. Fenney company.

Aggies Must Have Real Experience To Obtain Degree

Beginning with the present sophomore class, those seeking degrees in the college of agriculture of the University of Nevada will be required to give satisfactory evidence of farm experience, according to an announcement made recently by Dean Robert Stewart, head of the college of agriculture. Faculty approval was granted during the meeting Wednesday.

This step has been made necessary by the increasing number of agriculture students drawn to this campus from the cities, Stewart said.

While the purpose of the college is to give the student a complete understanding of the scientific background of agriculture, Dean Stewart feels that practical experience is necessary before the student is qualified to follow that line of work.

Students will be required to spend twelve weeks on some farm in the state. While stationed there, reports will be sent to the professor under which the student is working.

In addition the college of agriculture is creating a new department to be known as the department of agricultural economics, under the direction of Dean Stewart. S. W. Wilson, professor of animal husbandry, and B. F. Headley, chief of the department of farm development of the agricultural experiment station, will assist in the work.

The courses will include general agricultural economics, farm cooperation and the farmers' movement, land economy, rural finance and cooperative marketing.

ROBINSON GOES TO YALE

Former Student Registers for Dramatic Work This Fall

Oscar Robinson, a graduate with last spring's class, has been accepted to do work in the department of drama, school of fine arts, Yale university. He left Reno September 1 and enrolled for the fall semester.

While a student at the University of Nevada he organized the Fine Arts group, was active in artistic work and took part in several variety shows.

In preparation for his work at Yale, Robinson took summer courses at Mills college and at the California School of Arts and Crafts.

NORMAL CLUB MEETS

The Normal club of the University of Nevada held its third business meeting of the semester Tuesday at 4 p. m. in the Education building, with President Margaret Bagley presiding.

Meetings of the club are to be held on the first and third Tuesdays of each month alternating with a business and a social meeting. Attendance is encouraged by the promise of giving membership pins at the end of the semester to students with regular attendance records. Two consecutive absences will automatically cancel a membership, it was decided. President Bagley appointed Anne Banovich and Ida Testolin to serve on the membership pin committee.

Suggestions were offered which would further the interests of students in the club and the reading of one-act plays to be donated by Mrs. John W. Hall received the approval of the club as a project.

DRIVE EXTENDED

To obtain as many new members as possible for their organization, the Y. W.C.A.'s membership drive, which has been in progress since the first day of school, has been extended for another two weeks, according to Betty Howell, president.

Upon the completion of the drive recognition services and presentation of pins to those newly elected will be held in the university chapel, and a supper in the Y.W.C.A. chapter rooms in Artemisia hall will follow.

Wolf Pack Meets

two games, although only a sophomore, Carroll, all-conference fullback of last season, has been revamped to the tackle post and is improving rapidly.

Mitchell may start Benson and Tauberna at ends, although big Frank Smalley and Bill Guild will see considerable service against the Aggies. Guild has been shifted from center to the wing post, and has showed up well in practice.

Toomey's choice for tackles will probably be Jim Dietrick and Paul Baranek, while Hank Wineman and Ed Smith will oppose the Wolves at the end positions.

Frank Gallagher at fullback was the outstanding Aggie's man against the California Bears, although his passing was inaccurate. His outstanding kicking ability will be a thorn in the side of the Wolves throughout tomorrow's game.

Walter "Slur" Hunting has surprised Nevada boosters by his remarkable play during the week at fullback. Although one of the smallest men on the squad, "Slur" is tough and fast, and ripped off many long gains during practice. The other Nevada fullbacks, Harvey Hill, Tharp and Sam- uelsson, are benched by injuries and illness. Mitchell may be forced to call upon Tharp if the Aggies offer too much resistance, as the veteran Tharp is a powerful line smasher and can be relied on for short but necessary gains when the going gets tough.

Haman at Half

Big Dick Haman, the star of the California game will handle the halfback position tomorrow. His punting impressed coast sports writers favorably last week, and a kicking duel against Gallagher will give local fans a thrill. Flournoy will occupy the other half-back position and can be counted on as a dependable blocking back to run good interference for the Wolves' running attack. Roy Caldwell at halfback showed up well on defense against California.

"Rube" Sauer will probably get the call to start at quarterback tomorrow, although he will be pressed by Robb, Cromwell and McDow. The Aggies will present a very light back field, with only Gallagher weighing more than 160 pounds. Captain Bud Wolfe, Les Brumbaugh, Jim Huberty, Gordon Mc-Kenzie and Leonard Coombs are among the small but fast backs from whom Coach Toomey will choose his starting lineup.

Marian Jones and Mildred De Witt, former students, spent the summer traveling in Alaska.
