

ARLENE BOERLIN IS ELECTED NEVADA'S FOURTH HONORARY MAJOR

Ed. Martinez Elected Chairman of Mackay Day At Senate Meet

Victor Carroll, Florence Kirkley Upperclass Heads

All Tentative Appointments Are Finally Approved By Solons

NO DISSENSION

Lindsay Green Is Elected Song Leader; Replaces Berry

By ELWIN JEFFERS

Convening for more than two hours in its second meeting of the semester, the A.S.U.N. senate last night appointed Edwin Martinez, prominent senior student and president of Blue Key, to the coveted position of chairman of the Mackay day committee. Nell Lozano, in the absence of James Cazier, presided at the session.

The chairmanship of the women's upperclass committee went to Florence Kirkley while Victor Carroll will head the men's upperclass committee, which will confer with Dean of Men R. C. Thompson with the hope of clarifying the general uncertainty now surrounding the much debated problem of traditions enforcement, was appointed by Miss Lozano, and consists of Victor Carroll, Robert Stoker, Bryce Rhodes and Elwin Jeffers.

No Senate Blocs
All committee appointments tentatively approved at the last meeting of the senate were finally approved without any dissent in the governing body, with the exception of the publications board. The senate postponed confirmation of the board indefinitely, on a motion made by Elwin Jeffers, who said:

"I will offer an amendment to the constitution at the student body meeting tomorrow which will give the senate nominating committee power to name students from within and without the senate to the publications board. Campus opinion is that the present panel does not contain the names of sufficient upperclass students who have served considerable time on the Artemisia and Sagebrush."

Other Appointments
The other members of the men's upperclass committee are Lynn Gerow, Harvey Hill, Hugh McIntyre, George Hadlen, Mike Gould, Lee Ward, J. D. Stephens and Al Gibson. The women's enforcement tribunal consists of Florence Kirkley, chairman, Frances Burke, Eunice Caton, Catherine Dondero, Alice Mason, Georgia Cole, Charlotte Robinson, Maribea De Armond, Lucile Berg, Genevieve Wakefield.

Among the other tasks accomplished by the legislators last night was the creation of a health board, consisting of Robert Butler, chairman, George Lohse and Fred Hartman, who will confer with Dr. Peter Frandsen and the hospital committee for the purpose of placing liability in case of injuries to athletes and drawing up regulations concerning the use of the hospital in case of such injuries.

The high school presidents' convention committee was selected as follows: Clarence Byrd, chairman; Caryll Cannon, Frank Sullivan, Margorie Cannon, Raymond Armstrong, Walter States and Mary Murphy.

Green Is Leader
Lindsay Green, senior student, was recommended to replace Darrell Berry as song leader. Berry is engaged in other activities which prevent him handling the position. Florence Gullinger won the post of A.S.U.N. historian.

Two new senators, Lucile Berg, Alpha Delta Theta, and Maribea Dondero, Beta Sigma Omicron, took the oath of office at the meeting.

FEMININE SCRIBE COGITATES ON MALE SURPLUS

With a surplus of 176 males registered at the university it would seem that the co-eds have a corner on the date situation at Nevada. Out of the 868 students registered, 518 are men and 342 are women.

If all 518 men decided on a collegiate date for a Saturday night a dilemma would ensue. It might be a happy arrangement if one girl could be allotted to every two men, but allowing one girl friend to every one and one-half and a fraction of a man would be something else again.

However, even with the scarcity of university women the co-eds can't flaunt their independence too openly for there are always downtown dates to be put on a competitive basis with campus dates.

Miller to Present Series of Plays

Play Productions Class Plans To Direct and Take Part In Presentations

The first of a series of one-act plays directed and produced by members of W. C. Miller's play production class will be staged February 14 in the auditorium of the Education building, it was announced this week. Other plays will be given on March 14 and April 30. Students of the class direct the plays, take part in them, collect the stage properties, and handle all technicalities of their production. Twice a week the two-hour class periods are utilized for rehearsals in the auditorium.

Three modern plays of representative authors are being rehearsed under the direction of Florence Kirkley, Doris Shaver and Helene Per Lee, Miller said today.

Those taking part in the one-act play under the direction of Florence Kirkley are Edna Beaman, Lois Hutchinson, Virginia Murgotten, Gary Callahan, Embree Raiford and Lindsay Green.

Doris Shaver is directing a play with the following students participating: Louise Rhodes, Ruth Hawn, Clarence Byrd, Griffith Macdonald, Opal Harvey, Sallie Fagan, Cornelia Arentz and Sarah Graves.

Carl Dodge, Evelyn Semenza and Margaret Robinson are performing in a play being directed by Helene Per Lee.

Walter Bartlett Is Offered Blood By Men From Hall

Eight men from Lincoln hall volunteered yesterday morning to help Walter Bartlett in his fight for life when they submitted to blood tests in order to find a type of blood sufficiently like that of Bartlett to make a blood transfusion possible.

Albert D'Alessandro, a senior electrical engineering student from Lovelock, was selected by the physicians in charge to give the blood for the transfusion.

The indirect method of transfusion was used, in which a pint of blood is taken from the arm of the man who is giving the transfusion and is mixed with two and one-half drams of formal sulphate, which prevents the blood from clotting.

Publications Board Change Proposed In A. S. U. N. Meet

Amendment to Constitution Placed Before Body By Jeffers

An amendment to give the A.S.U.N. senate the power, with the consent of the nominating committee, to make appointments to the publications board both within the senate and the student body at large, was proposed by Elwin Jeffers, president of the Independents, at the first regular meeting of the spring semester of the Associated Students of the University of Nevada this morning.

The amendment in its entirety reads, "It shall be the duty of the senate to elect, upon recommendation of the nominating committee, and either from within the senate or the student body at large, three members to the publications board."

Following Jeffers' proposed amendment, R. C. Thompson, dean of men, presented the men's scholarship trophy to Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

The dean expressed the opinion that the low scholarship of the men last semester was probably due to the turmoil existing on the campus at that time.

He also criticized the fraternity pledges for their extremely low average and indicated that it may possibly have been because of their amatory affiliations.

Plaque Awarded
Margaret E. Mack, dean of women, then explained the conditions under which the women's scholarship plaque is given and presented the plaque to Alpha Delta Theta society.

Miss Mack expressed gratification over the general average made by the women this year.

Concluding the meeting over the Yell Leaders Gezzelin and Wiener, who practiced new yells on the assemblage and gave a yell for the Nevada basketball team.

The meeting was concluded with a school song.

French Students Form Social Club

Students interested in the study of the French language last Wednesday met with Dr. E. F. Chappelle and organized "Le Cercle Francais," the first organization of its kind on this campus in recent years.

Mrs. Ralph Wittenberg was elected president, Florence Gulliver vice president and Ruth Bixby secretary-treasurer. A special committee composed of Andrew Morby, Gianna Delle McCrosby, Sarah Graves and Margaret Querry was selected to work with the officers to draw up a constitution and by-laws for the group.

Conversation and parliamentary proceedings at the meetings will be carried on in French and plans are being made to show a modern "talkie."

Former Student Visiting Campus
Frank Mildren, former University of Nevada student, who has been attending the United States military academy at West Point, visited fraternity brothers and friends here last week en route to his home in Las Vegas.

Wolves and Bulldogs To Tangle Tonight On Home Hardwood

Return of Ineligible Stars Materially Strengthens Fresno Team

NEVADA IMPROVES

Tharp and Gray Are Added To Wolf Squad; Team Hits Stride

Determined to stay in the running for the Far Western conference title, despite their double defeat at the hands of the San Jose Spartans last weekend, the Nevada Wolf Pack will take the floor tonight against the Fresno State college Bulldogs, one of the strongest teams in the league.

The Pack will meet a fast playing quintet, strengthened considerably by the return of several men who were ineligible earlier in the season, bolstering the victory chances of the Fresno five are Rambo, Thornton and Warmerdam.

High scoring honors on the Fresno team this year are split between two men, "Oolie" Soimila, 6 foot 3 inch center, and Manson Reid, forward.

Demonstrating their versatility, two members of the Fresno State football team, Walter Byrd and Ed Dittenbir, defense man and forward, respectively, will play prominent parts in the Bulldogs' quest for the conference crown.

Coach Stan Borleske's probable starting lineup will include Reid and Dittenbir forwards, Soimila center and Byrd and Hawkins guards. Several changes will likely be forthcoming because of the return of the heretofore ineligible players.

Considering the fact that Fresno did not have a basketball team a year ago, the Bulldogs present a formidable array of potential hoop stars.

Nevada is rounding into mid-season form after ironing out the faults which were apparent last week against San Jose State.

Led by Mike Gould, crack scorer, the Pack also presents a strong machine. Additions to the Nevada team include George Tharp, guard, and Les Gray, diminutive forward.

Orv Tregellas, playing his first year for the Wolves, has shown himself to be a consistent scoring threat.

Wolves Improve
Ole Glusovich, former star high school player from Tonopah, is responding to the training of Martie and is rapidly becoming a dependable man at the guard post.

Vernon Tapogna, who was a mainstay on the squad last year, made the trip to San Jose last week and will probably see action in the contests tonight and tomorrow night.

The remainder of the Nevada team includes such players as Jones and Kelley, forwards; Williams, Phillips and Hadlen, guards; and Roguin, center.

Board of Regents Approve Promotion Of Six Professors

Ruebsam, Sandorf, Webster, Smith, Miller, Plumley Are Advanced

The board of regents, convening in its regular January meeting, yesterday approved the advancement of several members of the faculty. Regular routine business of the board was also transacted.

Assistant Professor Edith Ruebsam of the education department was advanced to associate professor. Miss Ruebsam has been a member of the faculty for 10 years, and was recently granted a master of arts degree by the University of California.

Professor Irving J. Sandorf was advanced from an assistant to an associate professor of electrical engineering. He has served on the faculty for seven years, and was granted a master of science degree in 1931.

Dr. Milan J. Webster of the economics department was also advanced to an associate professorship, after seven years on the faculty. He was granted a doctor of philosophy degree by the University of Colorado last summer.

Professor C. C. Smith of the history department was also raised to an associate professor. He has served six years on the faculty, and has nearly completed requirements for a doctor of philosophy degree.

In the biology department, Loretta R. Miller was made an assistant professor. She has served on the faculty six years and received a master of science degree in 1933.

Alciden J. Plumley of the economics department was granted an assistant professorship in that department. He was graduated from the university in 1929, received a master of arts degree from Brown university, and has served on the faculty four years.

Model of Planets Ordered by Blair

Planetarium Will Be Used By Physics Students In Classes

A working model of the solar system, along with other interesting equipment for the study of the heavenly bodies, has been ordered for use by the physics department, according to Professor G. B. Blair.

The model, which is known as a planetarium, is a miniature of the sun and inner planets in their approximate positions in space. The movements of the solar bodies are furnished by machinery run by electricity.

Blair stated that only the inner planets, which include Mercury, Venus, Earth and Mars, are exhibited because representation of the outer planets in their relative positions would make the model too unwieldy.

It had been originally planned by the physics department heads to place the model on exhibition in the show case in the main floor hallway in the Mackay Science building, but it has been learned that the dimensions of the planetarium will make this impossible. It will probably be set up in one of the laboratories.

A miniature moon, revolving about the earth as it rotates, is also shown in the planetarium. With this as an example, instructors in physics and astronomy courses can illustrate and explain the nature of eclipses much more easily than at present.

The sun, as shown in the model, casts actual light, being represented by a large electric light.

The newly formed astronomical association may also make use of the planetarium, which will probably become one of the university's most interesting exhibits.

Blair expects the new equipment to arrive within a few days.

Honorary Majorship Given Junior Student By Military Society

ARLENE BOERLIN

Nevada's fourth honorary major, selected by Scabbard and Blade, military society, to preside over the forthcoming military ball, Miss Boerlin, a junior student, is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Hall Men Propose Novel 'Easy Plan' To Finance Dance

A new plan for financing Lincoln hall's Spring Formal was proposed Monday night at a meeting of the hall association by Tom Morris. The measure provides that at all subsequent meetings held until April 12, the date of the formal, each member shall pay an assessment of 10 cents, penalty for non-payment being ten swats, and that all those absent from meetings shall pay a fine of 15 cents, or an equal number of swats.

Morris pointed out that in this way the men would be paying a part of the cost of the dance on the easy plan, and the resulting lower price of the bids would be an inducement for greater attendance.

Basil Kehoe, a new resident of the hall, was sworn into the association.

Other business concerned the Snow Carnival to be held February 10, the Lincoln hall dance on February 22 and the purchase of equipment for the approaching intramural baseball season.

Announcement Made of Contest

A short story contest open to women of the state of Nevada is being sponsored by the Reno branch of the National League of Penwomen. It was recently announced by Mrs. Benjamin W. Coleman of Carson City, who is a member of the organization.

Co-ed to Preside At Military Ball On February 23

New Honorary Major to Lead Grand March at Annual Military Ball

SECOND GAMMA PHI Boerlin Will Review Battalion This Spring and Confer All Awards

Arlene Boerlin, junior arts and science student and member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, was elected to the coveted office of honorary major of the University of Nevada R.O.T.C. battalion last Wednesday afternoon. Miss Boerlin is the fourth co-ed in the history of the university to be awarded this honor by the local chapter of Scabbard and Blade, national military society.

The election climaxed more than a week of intense speculation as to who the successful candidate would be. Six women were nominated for the position, representing all of the women's social organizations on the Nevada campus. Allegations of political intrigue were made as usual and betting odds were posted among many of the male members of the campus, but Scabbard and Blade made the selection on the traditional basis of "popularity, personality and charm."

Her chief duty as the new cadet major will be to preside over the forthcoming military ball, considered Nevada's most popular formal of the school year. She will appear in full dress military uniform, with the rank of major, according to Wendell Du Plantis, captain of Scabbard and Blade. The ball will be held in the State building on February 23 and will begin at 9 p. m.

Miss Boerlin will lead the grand march at 9:30 and will preside over the entire function, to which Governor Kirman and Lieutenant Governor Alward have been issued invitations, as well as other state notables. During the evening she will present the official badge of Scabbard and Blade to several members who were recently initiated into the society.

The co-ed major will also be ranking cadet officer at the annual inspection of the battalion to be held later this spring. In company with a high ranking officer of the Ninth Corps area, she will review the battalion on that day and will present all awards and medals to those of the R.O.T.C. who have gained recognition.

At the final A.S.U.N. meeting this semester she will be presented a miniature sword by the organization.

Pictures of Miss Boerlin will be sent to the principal cities of Nevada and northern California by the various associations, and early next week a photograph of the honorary major in full uniform will be taken.

Parents Prominent
Miss Boerlin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boerlin, prominent residents of Hawthorne, Nev., and she graduated from the high school in that city. She has been active in student affairs and is a member of the Sagens, campus pep organization.

The candidates were introduced to the soldiers Tuesday afternoon at a tea given the women by Margaret E. Mack, dean of women, at Manzanita hall. Sorority representation was as follows: Kappa Alpha Theta, Sallie Fagan; Gamma Phi Beta, Arlene Boerlin; Beta Sigma Omicron, Mary Sweet; Pi Beta Phi, Maurine Graf; Manzanita hall Opal Harvey; Independents, Genevieve Hansen; Delta Delta Delta, Helen Malloy, and Alpha Delta Theta, Alice Parmen.

Prof. Blair Heads First Astronomy Club in Nevada

Astronomical Association Is Formed on Campus This Week

Astronomy students from the campus, Reno and nearby cities met last night in Mackay Science hall and formed Nevada's first astronomical association, under the direction of Professor G. B. Blair and John E. Humphrey, temporary secretary.

The club is as yet without an official title, but those most favored by the members last night were "Nevada Astronomical association," "Sierra Astronomical association" and "Nevada Sierra association."

Many Interested
Considerable interest in the association has been stirred up among enthusiasts throughout the state, for the past few weeks, and a number of townspeople, as well as students and faculty members, were present at the meeting. Everyone who attended last night was enrolled in the club as a charter member. The only qualification stressed for membership in the society was a general interest in astronomy.

Professor G. B. Blair gave an address on the topic, "Do astronomers think that there are other inhabited worlds?" This question has been the subject of much conjecture by both learned scientists and imaginative dreamers.

Film shown
A film showing the planet Jupiter in rotation was shown to the members of the organization during the meeting. The film has been loaned to the society by Dr. Wright of the Lick observatory. Recent photographs of the planets were also displayed.

Professor Vincent P. Gianella of the geology department of the university addressed those attending on the aims and purposes of the society.

A short business session was also held, with the committee on the club constitution giving a report. Plans were announced for future addresses to the organization, which will be made by members of the club or noted coast scientists.

New System Gives Engineers Larger Elective Choice

In the future only electives in engineering courses will be starred, it has been decided by the University of Nevada faculty.

For the past several years courses starred in the university catalog have been those courses which a student could select with the approval of the head of the department in which he was registered.

The change in the starred courses has been made in order that engineering students may choose their elective courses more carefully.

According to Professor Stanley Palmer, of the electrical engineering department, who originated the new system, students will be given more courses from which to choose electives and department heads will have a better opportunity for checking up on elective requirements.

Several courses which have been starred will be made requisite courses, and new courses will be added to the list of starred electives.

Mary Catherine Blakely has returned from San Francisco and Berkeley, where she spent two weeks visiting friends.

Caryl Garman spent the weekend in Portola, where she attended the ski meet.

Nancy Bordewich and Margaret Snyder spent the weekend at their homes in Carson City and attended the Frosh-Carson City basketball game.

Daudee St. Cyr spent the weekend visiting relatives in Fallon.

Anna Maud Stern spent the weekend in Elko, where she attended the wedding of her brother, a former student of the university.

Miss Lewis, instructor in the home economics department, was unable to teach for a couple of days last week because of illness.

Emery Graunke and Lockley Maule spent the last weekend at their respective homes in Gardnerville.

Miss Reigelhuth, instructor of English, who was confined to her home with flu last week, has now returned.

Mrs. A. L. Grant of Minneapolis, Minn., Has Been a Guest at the Delta Delta House during the Past Week

Mrs. A. L. Grant of Minneapolis, Minn., has been a guest at the Delta Delta house during the past week. Mrs. Grant is the national treasurer of the organization and is making her annual inspection tour to the various chapters of the sorority.

Scholastic Set-up May Be Changed By Faculty Group

Committee Named to Study Question of Examinations, Other Problems

A committee "to study the question of examinations, the number of weeks of school and kindred subjects, and make a recommendation to the general faculty" has been appointed by President Walter E. Clark in accord with a motion originally passed by the engineering faculty on January 16, and approved by the University of Nevada faculty on January 17.

Professor S. G. Palmer, chairman of the committee, stated that because of expressed dissatisfaction among faculty members with the present system of giving final examinations and tests, a move to remedy the situation was started.

According to Palmer, a general opinion of the faculty will be obtained and a study made of the records of the secretary of the university faculty pertaining to the question, before a committee meeting is called.

Early Decision
Although Palmer hopes for an early settlement of the question, it is not likely, in view of the many stages of approval to which such a measure must be subjected, that a satisfactory agreement will be reached soon enough to make any change in the present system effective this semester.

Because the question is a matter of general concern, President Clark appointed to the committee one member from each of the colleges, representatives of both social and natural sciences in the college of arts and sciences, and a representative from the school of education.

The committee consists of: Professors S. G. Palmer, chairman; F. W. Wilson, F. W. Tramer, J. A. Carpenter, M. W. Deming, C. C. Smith and A. J. Plumley.

Two Students File Work Applications

Only two applications for jobs have been received this semester by Joe McDonnell, Nevada graduate manager, who is in charge of the student employment bureau which the senate established last fall. The applicants have not as yet been placed.

In getting students part-time work that will not interfere with classes, McDonnell acts as a medium between student and employer.

Persons who applied for jobs last semester, and still wish employment, should see McDonnell, in the A.S.U.N. building, and change the applications, the graduate manager announced this week. Changing the applications is necessary, McDonnell explained, because the applicants probably have new class schedules this semester and therefore will not have the same free periods for work.

Amelia Zorich spent the weekend in Truckee with her parents.

Sparks and Elko Prep Basketeers Lead Zone Fields

Mild upsets and reversals of form featured the Nevada prep-school basketball play last weekend.

The leadership in the western circuit remained with the Sparks Railroaders by virtue of their two overwhelming victories over Carson and Reno. The boys from the Rail City defeated Carson 44 to 27 Friday night, and continued their winning streak the next evening by soundly thumping an over-anxious Reno quintet 31 to 19.

Reno Fair
Reno's weekend went 500 per cent, however, when the Huskies showed under the Gardnerville five 33 to 10 in a game played on the Reno court. Gardnerville retaliated Saturday night by upsetting Fallon 26 to 19.

The Winnemucca hoopers slipped considerably from their early season rating when they ran into stiff competition and were defeated by Fallon and Lovelock.

Showing a decided reversal in form probably because of the addition of several players who had been previously declared ineligible, the Lovelock Invincibles took Winnemucca into camp 48 to 18. The Lovelock boys are always strong in tournament play, and their rejuvenation may result in their running off with championship honors.

Elko Wins
In eastern zone play Elko continued unbeaten by defeating Carlin 36 to 24 and Metropolis 26 to 16.

Panaca, last year's runner-up in the state tournament, appears to be of championship caliber again this year by stopping Las Vegas 44 to 19.

R.O.T.C. Units Prepare For Annual Inspection

Preparations are already under way among the three R.O.T.C. companies for the annual inspection to be held this spring.

Drill is being held by one company on the top floor of Stewart hall, while the other companies are stationed in the barracks.

Instruction in the school of the soldier and school of the squad is being held and it is hoped by the department that the Nevada unit will retain the high rating which they received last spring.

A new organization, the Club for Blasted Romances, has been started at Central college, Fayette, Mo. A chapter has been instituted on the University of California campus.

Each student at the University of California who makes all "A's" will receive a $5 rebate on his tuition.

Dual Orchestra Holds Rehearsal

The University-Community orchestra held its first practice last Tuesday night in preparation for a spring concert to be presented April 10 at the Century club.

The concert will be made up of selections by the combined glee clubs of the university, orchestral numbers, solo selections and a thirty minute selection from the opera "Tannhauser," by Wagner, in which the entire group will participate. As yet, none of the soloists have been selected, though several are trying for parts.

With about thirty members reporting for practice, the orchestra will present a well balanced instrumentation and should repeat its past successful performances, Professor Theodore Post said this week.

Webb Elected Home Ec Alumnae Head

The Home Economics Alumni club of the University of Nevada elected Miss Teddy Webb president of the organization last week. Mrs. A. C. Parmenter was selected vice president and Mrs. Robert Baker secretary.

The club meets once each month and is attended by graduate students of the University of Nevada home economics club. Miss Jessie Pope was in attendance at the gathering.

Throughout the universities and colleges of the south, the most prominent campus clubs are International Relations groups.

A degree was granted to a University of Chicago co-ed after she had written a thesis on four ways of washing dishes.

Fitzgerald, Baker Receive Positions

All Nevada students who received a high school teacher's diploma at the close of the fall semester, have already been placed by the education department, it was announced this week.

Isabelle Baker has secured a job teaching the fifth grade in the Ely grammar school. She took over her new duties last Monday.

Claire Fitzgerald has secured a government position in Sacramento, where she is employed as a social secretary.

Gwenevere Erikson Withdraws From U.N.

Gwenevere Erikson, sophomore student, has withdrawn from the university because of illness.

Miss Erikson is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and while on the campus was on the women's debate team and a member of the Sagebrush staff.

She will probably return to the university next semester.

Gamma Phi House Mother Recovers

After an absence of five weeks, Mrs. Mildred Terwilliger returned Thursday morning to the Gamma Phi Beta chapter house, where she will resume her duties as housemother. Mrs. Terwilliger became ill during the Christmas vacation and was confined to St. Luke's hospital in San Francisco.

Mrs. Terwilliger was welcomed with a breakfast by the active members.

Intelligence Tests Will Not Be Given

Intelligence tests given to freshmen during their first semester at the university will not be given to new students this semester, according to Professor Claude Neet, who gives these tests.

There are only a few new students and as there is no orientation class it would be hard to get them together.

"If any new students wish to take this intelligence test they should come to my office and I will give it to them," Neet stated.

Support the cheer leaders. Send the Sagebrush home.

Class Contests Are Slated To Begin February 5 By Women

With the election of class captains this week, the women's basketball season has begun in earnest. The first interclass game will be played February 5, when the freshmen will battle the sophomores, and the juniors will meet their ancient rivals, the seniors. Respective strength of the classes seems to indicate that the seniors should come out on top. With such veterans as Ruby Bliss and Dorothy Nason, members of last year's varsity, as a nucleus, together with Dorothy Gordon, Nell Lozano and Blanche Keegan, the seniors should uphold the dignity of their class by vanquishing the underclass women.

Juniors Strong
The juniors may make a bid for the championship, having Alice Lundberg, Charlotte Robinson and Rita Jepson on their roster.

From all appearances, the sophomores seem to be the logical underdogs. However, led by Georgianna Harriman, they may surprise everyone and carry off the class title.

It is difficult to say just how strong the freshmen will be, as the games next week will mark their first appearance on the university floor. Among those playing, however, will be some former high school stars, who may show the more experienced players something about the fine art of basketball.

Captains Chosen
Captains of the classes are: Margery Cannon, senior; Verla Champagne, junior; Georgianna Harriman, sophomore, and Jessie Sellman, freshman. Members of last year's mythical varsity who will be playing are Alice Lundberg, Ruth Goldsworthy, Georgianna Harriman, Ruby Bliss and Dorothy Nason.

Immediately after the interclass games are played, practice for the intramural tournament will begin.

The game schedule is:
February 5—Frosh vs. soph and junior vs. senior.

February 7—Senior vs. soph and junior vs. frosh.

February 12—Junior vs. soph and senior vs. frosh.

February 14—Junior vs. senior and frosh vs. soph.

February 19—Junior vs. frosh and senior vs. soph.

February 21—Senior vs. frosh and junior vs. soph.

Co-eds' Fashions Are Not Changed By Sunny Days

By LOIS MIDDLEY
Even though it is June in January, co-eds are wearing in-between season clothes, which are usually a combination of dark suits with light accessories.

As you already know, white is the very newest color to wear in accessories for any occasion, whether it be formal or informal. Just now at California and Stanford, girls are wearing white suede or pigskin pull-ons and scarfs with white oxfords, which they wear all the year around. However, it is not too early to wear brown and white or black and white sport shoes on this campus if the weather stays as it has been the last few days.

Although it is early for them, a few light felt off-the-face hats are being seen in styles which are forerunners of the spring season. They say some of the hats being shown by designers in the fashion centers have deep crowns in back, and are cut away in front to reveal "Hepburn bangs." The more extreme even have nosegays of flowers and tiny velvet ribbons to tie under the chin, much like grandmother's bonnets.

One or two of the new knitted suits have been seen. These knitted suits, either of two or three pieces, are about the best things that can be worn for sport, and they make them in lacy weaves for all informal affairs. They are called Sunday-night suits because they were originally designed for Sunday night suppers. They wear well and they can go anywhere from teas to informal dances, and are especially good looking when worn with a fur coat—if you are fortunate enough to have one.

The most popular colors for the season between winter and spring are brown, tan, red and green and they are worn with lighter colors in contrasting shades. Glove favorites are pigskin, kid or knit, with the knitted ones ranking first in smartness when done in vivid colors and matched with a scarf of the same or contrasting material.

The faculty of the music department of the University of Colorado at Boulder have resumed a series of music concerts for the winter season.

Fraternity men at U.C.L.A. recently heard an address on "The Responsibilities and Opportunities of Fraternity Men," by Dr. Paul Perigord, professor of French civilization at the university.

U. N. Rifle Co-eds Begin Tournament Early Next Week

Many Universities Challenge Women Sharpshooters This Year

Nevada women's rifle team will hold its first intercollegiate match during the week of February 3, with the women's team of the University of Vermont. This contest will open a season in which three matches will be fired in the prone and sitting positions and fourteen the prone position only.

Matches of both prone and sitting positions will be held with the University of Oklahoma and the University of Montana during the week of February 25, and with the University of Montana during the week of March third.

Many Matches
The tentative schedule of the women's team for February is: Carnegie Institute of Technology, University of Maryland, Pennsylvania State college and Connecticut State college, during the week of February 10, and with Northwestern university during the week of February 17.

For the month of March Nevada rifle women will meet the University of Nebraska, University of Michigan, University of Washington and the University of Georgia during the last week of February and the first week of March. Beginning March 2 matches will be held with Louisiana State university, University of Kentucky and Cornell university.

The last match of the present schedule is to be held with the University of Missouri during the last week of March.

More Challenges
According to Katherine Dondero, women's rifle team manager, she is expecting more challenges to come within the next few weeks. Those girls who have attended enough shooting practices will continue shooting this spring and the highest ten scores made during the shoot will be sent in for each match each week, the five highest scores being counted.

Intramural Matches
Women's intramural rifle meet will begin next week and continue through February. Each sorority to enter must have had three women actively participating in the rifle practices up to date.

At the end of the month the scores will be averaged and the house having the highest score will be presented with the cup now held by the Kappa Alpha Theta.

Holliday, Kennedy Are Secretly Wed

Two University of Nevada students, Miss Ruth Holliday and G. Wesley Kennedy, were secretly married in Gardnerville on January 7, they announced to friends this week. The Rev. Chapman of the Methodist church performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Kennedy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Holliday of Wabuska, Nev. She is now a junior student at the university and a graduate from the high school in Ogden, Utah. She is a member of Alpha Delta Theta sorority.

The groom, a member of Beta Kappa fraternity, is a senior student in the college of agriculture. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kennedy of Lovelock and a graduate of the Pershing County High school.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy were attended by Miss Hazel Evans and Anthony Belmonte, University of Nevada student.

The suits of Indiana's track intimorals will be enshrined in a room at the University of Indiana library.

Women's Debating May Be Dropped

"Unless there is a very definite and radical change in the attitude of the women of this campus, I am through attempting to organize a women's debate group," Robert Griffin, debate and public speaking coach, declared this week.

Of the half-dozen women who tried out for women's debate last semester, only two, Cornelia Arentz and Kathleen Meeks, have continued their work into this semester.

The result of this situation, according to Griffin, has been to make either intramural or interclass debating impossible and Griffin was frank to state that unless the women displayed more interest and initiative he was in favor of abandoning all attempts to have a women's debate group of any kind.

Women's Advisory System Started

A personal advisory system for home economics students unlike anything previously installed on the campus, was instituted early this semester.

Under the new plan, the three members of the home economics faculty have undertaken to act as personal advisors for the students under them. The women were divided alphabetically into three groups, each group headed by an advisor. Miss Sarah Lewis, head of the department, has twelve girls under her guidance. Miss Jessie Pope and Miss Mary Pattie, her assistants in the department, are each acting as advisor to eleven girls.

Miss Lewis believes that this plan will be a help to women who have trouble adjusting themselves to various college situations.

Sameth Sponsors Contest for U. N. Music Composers

University of Nevada students interested in the composition of music and the development of a suitable theme to fit the music are to be given the opportunity of having their compositions considered for production.

This announcement was made today by Miss Elsa Sameth, head of the women's physical education department.

Plans are being made, she said, to hold a contest in the near future, whereby students may submit arrangements with a theme and music suitable for the annual spring festival, which will be given the first Saturday after Easter. Blueprints of the music will be made so that the author may retain a copy.

Miss Sameth believes that there are students who have exceptional ability along these lines, and she feels that they should be given an opportunity to have their work produced.

Any student wishing to try his skill with music and pageantry was urged this week to confer with Miss Sameth at once so that costumes and scenery may be made as soon as possible.

Y. W. C. A. Will Elect Officers in Near Future

The campus Y.W.C.A. will hold its yearly election in the latter part of February. At this time a committee appointed by the president will choose two or three women, probably juniors, to run for the office. These will be voted on, by ballot, at a general Y.W.C.A. meeting.

Cabinet members will be nominated by the heads of the various committees. These members will be chosen from the membership of the committees on the basis of interest and work they have shown in the committees of which they are a member.

Y. W. to Sponsor Educational Talks

The University of Nevada Y.W.C.A. will sponsor a series of educational lectures starting February 22, cabinet members planned tonight at a cabinet meeting in Artemisia hall.

Colonel Robert M. Brambila of the university will be the speaker at the first lecture with his subject on "The Military Department and War."

Milan J. Webster, sociology professor, will speak March 1 on economic problems today. C. C. Smith of the history department will conclude the lectures March 8 and will speak on some phase of current history.

The lectures will cover a three weeks' period and will be open to campus students as well as members of Y.W.C.A.

Campus Y.W.C.A. To Hold Election On February 26

The Y.W.C.A. organization will elect officers for 1935 February 26, Betty Howell, president, announced today. President, vice president, secretary and treasurer will be elected by members of the organization, while the new cabinet will be selected the week after election by new officers and the present cabinet.

A general meeting will be held February 20 at which time candidates for elective offices will be announced by the nominating committee consisting of Betty Howell, Katherine Nichols, Frances Burke and Eunice Caton. Election will be held in the Y.W.C.A. candy booth all day, February 26, in Morrill hall.

The general meeting preceding election will be a supper party, with entertainment, in charge of several cabinet members.

3 Former Co-eds Are Now Serving State Legislature

Gastanaga, Halley, Ingrahm, All Former Students, Have Jobs

Three of the 28 attaches in the Nevada state legislature are women who have either graduated from or attended the University of Nevada. They are Gwendolyn Ingrahm, Alice Halley and Louise Gastanaga.

Miss Ingrahm was a student here for three years, withdrawing in 1929 to go to California. Her father, Frank Ingrahm, is a well known Reno lawyer and at present her mother, Laura Ingrahm, is taking several courses at the university.

Miss Halley graduated in '29 and until this year had been teaching in the Lyon County High school at Yerington. While in college she was active in publications, and during her junior year was vice president of her class. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Both Miss Ingrahm and Miss Halley are attaches from Washoe county. Miss Gastanaga is from Humboldt county. Graduating with the class of '32, she was a member of Campus Players and appeared in a number of dramatic productions. Aside from dramatics she worked on both the Desert Wolf and Sagebrush staffs. Since graduation she has been teaching in Inlay. She is affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

More than 170 students will be graduated from the Los Angeles junior college this month.

Heavy gray carpets have been installed in the Wheeler auditorium of the University of California for the purpose of improving acoustics in the hall.

'SNOW USE' DECIDE DAUNTLESS CO-EDS; BOOTS ARE FORGOTTEN

Laden with skis, sleds and other winter sport paraphernalia, four sport loving members of the Women's Athletic association assembled at the gymnasium at 2 p. m. Friday. W.A.A. had plans of going on a snow party, but only the four intrepid members appeared. After a short informal discussion they decided that four was plenty and headed for Galena Creek to do their much looked forward to sleighing and skiing.

So the four women, intent on having a snow party in spite of the lack of participants, started off in an automobile about 2:30. Before they had gone very far along the Carson highway the weather man turned against them. Snow fell and drifted along the road. But these outdoor women would not let a little storm stand in their way, so on they drove. They turned off the highway and started up the road to Galena Creek, but the road began to get slippery and thinking that there was plenty of snow for their purpose where they were, they stopped. Still intent upon having a jolly tramp in the snow they got out of the car, but, alas! one of the members of the party had forgotten her boots. What a disappointment. No boots, no fun! So the four dauntless women threw a few snowballs, called it a day, and returned.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT

The expected combine activity in the senate last night was totally missing, as all of the panels tentatively approved in the last meeting were, with the exception of one, finally approved with no dissenting voters. The decision to hold in abeyance final approval of the publications board representatives was a commendable move, as was the proposed amendment presented which will allow members to this all-important committee to be chosen from the student body at large when there are no eligible persons within the senate itself.

Years ago, heads of the publications were chosen by popular student body vote, in the same manner as student body presidents are now chosen. While this system endured, people were elected to edit and manage the campus publications not on their actual knowledge of the business but on the basis of personal and political qualifications. The result of such elections was often disastrous.

Since the publications board system was introduced, more efficient men and women have guided publications. The board, consisting of seven students, has the duty of deciding matters of publication policy and of electing the publications heads for each successive year. That board should be composed of students thoroughly experienced in college publication work. This means that members of the board should be at least upperclassmen and should have served many semesters on some one of the publications.

Since the adoption of the new constitution, there has been ample material for the board within the senate, so the proviso that all committee appointments must be filled by senate representatives has never constituted a problem. This year, however, there is only one upperclassman in the senate who has had extensive experience in journalistic work. The rest have not.

Therefore a bill was introduced to amend the constitution to the effect that if there is not eligible material within the senate, appointments for the board may be made from the campus at large, among those who are experienced. The amendment certainly should be voted into the constitution.

STRENGTH IN NUMBERS

Playing its second home series tonight, the Nevada basketball team will need all the support that it can get. The potential support which exists in the number of students who attend the games is great indeed, but so far this season the response given the yell leaders would hardly do credit to a small high school cheering section.

The chief reason for the poor response is that there is no definite rooting section. Students scatter themselves throughout the gymnasium to such an extent that when a yell is called for only a small fraction of the total present responds. The others, mingled in the crowd, will not yell as they feel embarrassed to shout alone.

In former years the northeast section of seats on the ground floor was recognized as the official cheering section, and was reserved for students only. That section is still reserved, and should by all means be utilized. Why not make it a point to voluntarily sit in that section and through cooperation with the yell leaders give the Pack some real support? After all, there is strength in numbers.

THE VALUABLE DEPRESSION

In making the statement that "Joe College" no longer exists as a member of university student bodies, Dr. Harold Willis Dodds, president of Princeton university, who is visiting the Pacific coast, does not surprise those who are intimately connected with educational circles. As a matter of fact the "Rah! Rah!" boys have been missing for a college generation.

Dr. Dodds remarked, "The depression has done the modern university a lot of good. It has made the average student more self-reliant and has increased the amount of student help." These words sum up concisely the metamorphosis that has taken place on the average campus.

Interest in current social and political problems is keen as a whole among undergraduates today, particularly in contrast with the attitude of the prosperity era. The marked growth in forensic activities is but one example of this awakening. On the local campus, despite a decrease in the enrollment, participation in intercollegiate debating has increased about 300 per cent during the past four years.

Although the depression has hit severely the higher educational system of the nation, it has performed two invaluable services. It has eliminated the parasitic "Joe College." In his place there has appeared a more intellectual type of student who is ready to wrest with the perplexing problems that face the world instead of facing life with a "grasshopper" philosophy.—St. Mary's Collegian.

Ago This Week—

FROM THE FILES OF THE 'BRUSH

FORTY YEARS

The first meeting of the board of regents was held this week with the Hon. W. E. F. Deal of Virginia City, H. S. Starrett of Austin and H. L. Fish, president of the board, present. The new 1895-96 catalog was ready to be released.

THIRTY YEARS

Frank Friessal was placed on the all-Pacific football team this week. Several coast baseball teams had scheduled games with the Nevada team for the spring season.

TWENTY YEARS

Nevada gained prominence again with exhibits from the agriculture department and the mining school shown at the Pan-Pacific exposition.

Professor J. E. Church returned this week from Washington, where he attended the Pan-American Scientific conference representing the U. of N. He presented a paper on snow surveying.

Registration in the college of agriculture has increased faster than any other branch of the university, reports showed.

TEN YEARS

Nine hundred and twenty-five students were registered in the university by the end of January.

Eleven women were pledged to the sororities after two weeks of intensive rushing.

Six seniors were bid to Phi Beta Kappa. They were: Lucille Blake, Virginia City; Dorothy Whitney, Fallon; Eleanor Ahlers, Reno; Freda Feutch, Tonopah; Alice Norcross, Reno, and Lloyd Smith, Reno.

ONE YEAR

The only privileged character on the campus was recognized as the dog Wimpy, in a story appearing on the front page of the Sagebrush.

A tea dance was held for honorary major candidates by the Scabbard and Blade members.

The House of David was scheduled to meet the varsity basketball five here this week.

Chico defeated Nevada in both games played at Chico last weekend.

Mining Students To Hear Loring

W. J. Loring, prominent mining man, will probably address the Crucible club at its next meeting, to be held in the Mackay School of Mines building at 8 o'clock next Thursday evening.

Loring is the general manager of the Arizona Comstock in Virginia City. He is also general manager of the Malone, Carson Hill and Utica mines in the mother lode district in California.

An associate of former President Herbert Hoover for six years in Australia, Loring is expected to give an interesting talk.

The title of Alabama's newest fraternity is "Flunk Dammit Flunk." Only those with scholastic deficiencies are eligible for membership.

Letter to the Editor

Editor Sagebrush—Having read the anonymous letter in last week's Sagebrush favoring the retention of "Brick" Mitchell as football coach for next year, a good many students are wondering about the truth of the four "positive facts which are proven." The fact of the matter is that it is impossible to prove any of the above "facts."

Concerning the statements that Mitchell-coached teams are feared and respected on the coast, Nevada has been tolerated on coast college schedules because they are money-making games for Nevada. In addition to this fact, Nevada teams have been known in the past to be not only good opposition but superior to coast teams.

The statement that 95 per cent of the business men are in favor of Mitchell was certainly inserted in the anonymous letter for the psychological effect it would have on the large number of business men that have not taken sides in the issue or who do not want Mitchell back.

The third statement that "the entire football squad, with the exception of four men, want to play and fight for 'Brick' Mitchell this fall" is merely the opinion of someone unfamiliar with the sentiment of the players. A recent checkup shows that five men who will be back next year will not play if Mitchell coaches and nine more men would rather work under a new coach.

The last statement, praising Mitchell's fine record, may not look so fine to the critics, if the figures for 1932, 1933 and 1934 are presented in black and white, as follows: Won 8, lost 14, tied 3.

Since football season the students have been paying Mitchell $330 a month, in return for which Mitchell has, with the exception of a few days at conference meets, done nothing but further his own interests. He has neglected to submit a budget to the university finance control committee for boxing, which sport was exceedingly popular, successful and profitable while being carried on as a minor sport at the university.

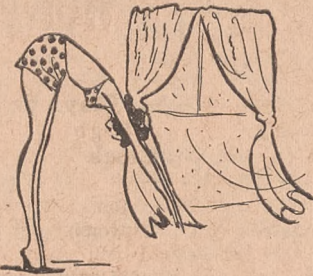

There has been considerable doubt in the minds of a great many people as to the truth of the statements made in the anonymous letter of last week's Sagebrush. For this reason, it was felt that a complete refutation should be made of those statements.

Darn nice view through this keyhole. There's only one thing we fellows like better than looking at nature's beauties and that is being right in the midst of its beauties.

This is why the Taus built their house on a hill, so they could look down sorority row.

Even the seasoned men about town (Vic Carroll, Evans Couch and George Tharp) admit that last Saturday night was the most hectic night since New Year's Eve. In fact, it was even better because everybody who entered the "merrie publie," the Little Waldorf, came out but a few minutes later to lie in the gutter and fondle a champagne bottle.

It is said that a case and a half of the tonsil syrup was downed by the Sagers and Sagens themselves. Pretty high class for those mugs, don'tcha think? Anyone wishing to know more about where the champagne came from should see Dan Toquero—he runs da racket.

Wonder what Evamae Beemer would say if she knew what "Red" was doing on basketball trips. If the manager's duties are that pleasant, no wonder competition is so keen.

San Jose State Takes Two Games From U.N. Wolves

Spartans Outclass Nevada Basketmen; Scores 26-23, 40-25

WOLF PACK WILD

Staters Retain Conference Lead by Virtue of Victory

San Jose State retained its leadership in the Far Western basketball conference race by defeating the University of Nevada in both games of their series last week.

The Wolves dropped the first contest by a narrow margin, losing 26 to 23. The game was very close throughout, with the lead see-sawing back and forth the second half, until the last minute, when field goals by Cancannon put the Spartans ahead.

Wolves Inaccurate

The Nevadans played sloppy ball at the start of the game, repeatedly throwing the ball away. San Jose started out with a rush and ran up 5 points before the Wolves could score on a free throw. The score at half-time stood 13 to 8 in favor of the Spartans.

In the second half the Wolves seemed to have hit their stride and, led by Tregellas' 7 point spurt, soon led 16 to 14. The champions tied the score with free throws, but Glusovich's field goal and Phillips' foul shot put Nevada ahead again. The Spartans rallied near the end of the game and maintained their precarious lead until the final gun.

Spartans Flashy

In Saturday's contest the Spartans displayed the form that has brought them several victories over the coast's strongest teams this season, trouncing the Wolves, 40 to 25. San Jose started things off by quickly running up a 14 to 4 lead.

The two teams battled on almost even terms throughout the contest, but the Wolves, according to the coast papers, had very poor luck with their shots, the ball bouncing out of the hoop, or slowly rolling around the rim and falling out time after time. The Spartans missed very few shots in the game.

Orv Tregellas was high point man, chalking up 11 points, seven of which were scored on free throws.

Mel Eisenberger, star forward of San Jose, who was forced out with a severely cut eye, led his team with 7 points, although he only played 15 minutes.

Carson Quintet Beats Freshmen

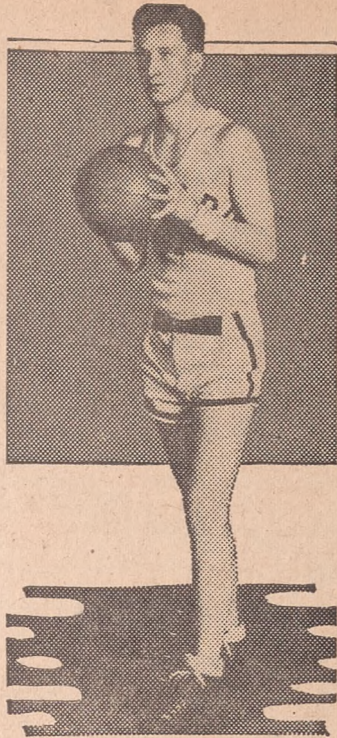

Meeting its second defeat of the season, the freshman basketball five went down before a fast breaking Carson High school quintet 21-15 Friday night in a game played at the capital town.

The Wolf Cubs were unable to stop the speedy high school team, and missed frequent set-ups under the basket. Chet Stanton's cagers worked the ball into scoring position with comparative ease, but poor tosses at the hoop nullified their attack.

The entire squad of 24 made the trip, while Leighton, Stark, Cavanaugh, Engbolom and Barnes comprised the starting lineup for the yearlings.

FORWARD

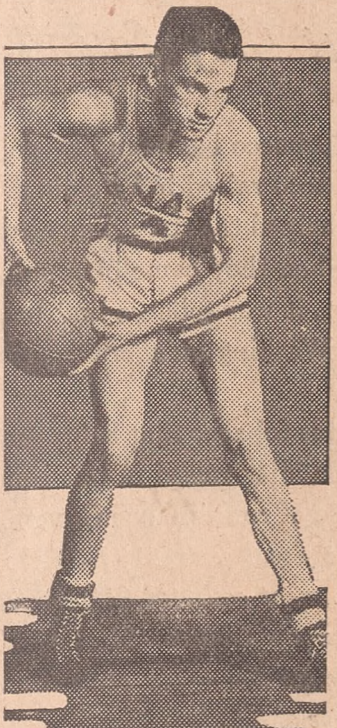

Joe Kelley, six-foot forward, has earned a first string berth in his first year on the varsity. He hails from Eureka, where he played four years of high school basketball. Kelley, who is 20 years old and weighs 155 pounds, performed on the Junior Varsity Whites squad last season.

GUARD

Oly Glusovich, former all-state player on the Tonopah school championship team, has earned a regular guard position in his first year of varsity competition. He has had freshman and junior varsity experience. He is 22 years old, weighs 175 pounds, and is 5 feet 11.

FORWARD

Orv Tregellas, forward, a transfer from Sacramento Junior college, is playing his first season with the Wolf Pack. He led Nevada in scoring against San Jose last week and has started every game so far this season. Tregellas is 5 feet 11 and tips the scales at 145 pounds. He is 21 years old.

freshman quintet in the preliminary game tonight, and tomorrow the Wolf Cubs will face Lovelock in the preliminary for the second varsity-Fresno contest.

Crawford Stars In Ski Club Win

James Crawford, senior student at the University of Nevada, played an important part in the number of places taken by the Reno Ski club in the meet held by the Portola Ski club in the California city last Sunday.

Crawford placed first in the slalom competition, covering the difficult course in 44.2 seconds. Cecil Crawford and B. M. Zimmerman, both of Reno, placed second and third in this contest to give the Reno aggregation a clean sweep in the event.

The representatives of the Reno club garnered two first places, two second places and one third place. In addition to the places won in the slalom race, the Nevada team took second in the downhill race, and first in the jumping contest.

House of David's Bearded Quintet Will Play Wolves

Strong Davidians Play Here Next Tuesday Night at Eight o'Clock

After a weekend of fast basketball play, "Doc" Martie's University of Nevada basketball squad will meet the barnstorming House of David quintet Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the university gymnasium.

In meeting the House of David team Nevada is pitted against one of the most spectacular, high scoring outfits of the country. Up to the present time the bearded team has a record of 36 victories and 3 losses against prominent hoop squads throughout the country, and they are determined to take the Wolves without breaking their stride.

Davidians Strong

According to advance reports Nevada is up against a stronger team than last year, when the Wolf hoopers managed to eke out a win the first game but were defeated in the second.

Several players have been added to their roster this season, considerably strengthening the already formidable outfit: Two of the quintet, Fenley and Curtis, played last year for the United Athletic club in San Francisco, winning national recognition for the high caliber of their play.

The House of David squad averages over six feet to the man, with two centers, one of them 6 feet 5 inches and the other 6 feet 4 inches in height.

On the other hand, Nevada should meet the House of David cagers at mid-season form, and the result of the Fresno series this weekend should help fans predict Tuesday's winner.

Martie's quintet in defeating Chico in one game and running the strong San Jose team a close race in another, has proven itself to be a dangerous team to contend with.

Professor C. T. Pihblad, criminology professor at the University of Missouri, was convinced of the effectiveness of his teaching when some of the students made off with his examination papers.

SPARTAN WOMEN GREET WOLVES WITH OPEN ARMS

Generous hospitality was extended to members of Nevada's basketball team by the student body of San Jose State Teachers' college when the Wolves met the Spartans last weekend, according to varsity players who took the California trip.

Before Nevada's team left for San Jose, Charles Jensen, varsity basketball manager, received what he termed a "nice" letter from Evelyn Cavalla, secretary of the teachers' college student body, in which she asked if he and members of the team would like to have dates after the Saturday night game. It has been reported that most of the Wolf cagers took advantage of the dating arrangement made by San Jose students.

The Nevada basket tossers were well pleased with their dates, Jensen revealed. They all attended a campus dance held in the women's gymnasium last Saturday night. Such a dance is held after every Saturday game, and corresponds to the University of Nevada's "social hours."

There is, however, a more than slight difference in the attendance angle of the two affairs. Stags are refused admittance to San Jose's functions, while Nevada employs the "no date" arrangement.

Another hospitable gesture was made by the Teachers when they took the Nevada team on a tour to Sunnyside, Calif., to see the dirigible Macon in its hangar there, and also to Palo Alto to visit the Stanford campus.

Norman Annett '32 Writes to Carpenter

Word has been received by Professor Carpenter from Norman Annett '32, who is in the interior of Venezuela working in the El Peru mine in the employ of Paul Schrap '12.

The mine is 100 miles from the nearest railroad. "It is impossible to compare the roads here with any in Nevada," Annett writes, adding that "at its best it takes three days, and in bad weather it may take two weeks to cover the hundred miles."

Annett is working in the capacity of mill shift boss.

Block N Awards Presented to 32

More than 30 Block N sweaters were given out this week by Graduate Manager Joe T. McDonnell to football and tennis players who earned the awards in 1934 games.

Blue football sweaters went to the following men, who played at least 25 per cent of the total playing time of the nine scheduled games last fall: Victor Carroll, John Flournoy, Harvey Hill, Marvin Turner, Paul Walker, Dick Sauer, Einar Samuelson, George Hadlen, Richard Haman, John Benson, Tom Morris, Dan Toquero, Tom Cashill, Frank Smalley, William Cashill, George Tharp, Herman Freudenberg, Russell Byington, Frank Showalter, Vrenon Tapogna, Allen Cromwell, Joe Lommori, Ralph Haynes, Gerald Dellano, John Robb and J. D. Stephens, football manager.

The recipients of the white tennis sweaters, which are awarded on the basis of participation in the Far West conference or in a dual meet, were Walter Bowrin, Irvin Wanke, Russell Elliott, Vernon Tapogna, Frank Sam and Dave Clark.

When the Spartans of San Jose pinned a double defeat on the Wolf Pack hoop squad last weekend, Nevada's hopes for the hoop championship were smothered. About all the Nevadans can do from now on is to play havoc with the hopes of Pacific, Fresno and the Aggies. The former two series will be settled on the home court.

Opening the interfraternity handball doubles for 1935, Beta Kappa turned in an upset by defeating last year's champions, Sigma Phi Sigma, 21-11, 10-21, 21-11, late last week.

In other opening games played Saturday Phi Sigma Kappa defeated Lincoln Hall, Lambda Chi Alpha turned back Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Tau Omega defeated Sigma Nu, Beta Kappa trounced Lincoln Hall, and Lambda Chi garnered a close victory over Sigma Phi Sigma, who were defeated in their second consecutive game of the season.

Sigma Phi Sigma, last year's champions, have so far failed to show any of the ability with which they won their 1934 title.

Down at San Jose Orv Tregellas piled up 20 points in the two games to lead his teammates in scoring activities. He accounted for half of his total via the free-throw route.

The Wolves may have had a lot of tough luck in their attempts to make field goals in the San Jose disaster, but "old lady luck" was kind to them from the free-throw line. Martie's men sunk 20 out of 25 shots from the "gift line."

The Fresno Bulldogs tonight and tomorrow night will furnish the opposition on the home lot. This outfit from away down there in the rain country split a series with Chico three weeks ago. Should be an interesting series in as much as Nevada got no better than an even break with the Chicotes.

Remember what the Bulldogs did to the Nevada grid machine last Thanksgiving day? Wasn't it 33-0? Some sort of revenge may be garnered in this hoop series.

The Reno Printers, the same team that gave the varsity a good scare in a pre-season practice game, continued along the win route last Saturday evening when the junior varsity Blues, coached by Vic Carroll, fell before the downtowners in a city league game. The commercial team scalped the Whites, the other varsity entrant in the city league, two weeks ago.

This town team is seeking a return game with the varsity. The 2 point setback handed the Printers by the varsity team has been its only reverse of the season.

The stage for the annual vaudeville show featuring the traveling House of David quintet is scheduled to be set next Tuesday evening. Nevada defeated this outfit by 1 point last year.

This bearded team is on the blacklist of the Amateur Athletic Union—thus obliging any college team not to play them, but Coach Martie says that "the game will be played."

Chico State was defeated by this mid-west team on the evening of January 21 by a score of 43 to 46.

A slant at the early season basketball parade among the state's prep schools indicates that Sparks and Panaca may again fight it out in the finals of the state tourney. Last weekend Sparks handed Reno a neat 41-19 shellacking. Panaca romped over Vegas by a 25 point margin.

Property investments by college fraternity houses in the United States are estimated in excess of $100,000,000.

Rhodes, Cashill Defeat Stanford In First Debate

Nevadans Win 2-1 Decision Over Experienced Team From Palo Alto

The University of Nevada debate team, Bryce Rhodes and William Cashill, Wednesday night won a two to one decision over the Stanford university debaters, with Nevada upholding the negative side of the question, "Resolved, That the Nations Should Agree to Prevent the International Shipment of Arms and Munitions."

The debate was the first intercollegiate match for the Nevada representatives, and was held in the Education auditorium.

Charles Bold and Andrew Bright represented Stanford upholding the affirmative side of the question.

Nevada's winning argument was based on the premises that an international agreement would be impracticable; that munition makers are not the primary cause of war, and that more satisfactory methods of settling the munitions situation could be reached.

Stanford's arguments were based on the syllogism that wars are caused by munition makers in their greed for profit, and international agreement to prevent shipment of munitions would prevent war.

Stanford on Tour

The Stanford team was composed of experienced speakers, with both men being outstanding in the Pacific for-ensic tournament. They are now on a tour of the United States.

Bryce Rhodes opened his third year as a varsity debater, while this year is the first for Cashill.

Judges were Ernest S. Brown, John Santini and Dr. Effie M. Mack. Emilie Gezelin was chairman, and Albert Agee and Louis Wiener timekeepers.

Rehearsals Start For 'Tavern' Play

Rehearsals of the first act of George M. Cohan's "Tavern" have been held during the past week and the cast will spend next week rehearsing the second act before the play is taken over as a whole, W. C. Miller, director of dramatics, said today.

The cast, which is composed of ten men and four women, will continue to hold rehearsals daily and no understudies to the feminine and masculine lead roles will be named, Miller said. Grace Semenza is assisting in the production of the play in the capacity of student director, and the technical staff is under the direction of Lindsay Green.

The play, which is a mystery comedy in two acts and one of Cohan's most famous, will be presented February 26, 27 and 28 in the Education auditorium.

Bowery Pep Dance Declared Success But for Finances

The Sagens-Sagers pep dance given last Saturday at the Cocanut grove ballroom was a success in every respect except one—that of finances—according to John Benson, in charge of the affair, who reported a loss of $14.45.

However, a crowd of about 120 students came dressed in all manner of costumes dating from the time that grandpa walked down Broadway as the best dressed man.

Opal Harvey, junior student, was awarded a small derby hat for being the best dressed woman. She wore a gray and white swirl touched off by a flashy red sweater. Ken Powell came dressed as the typical bowery man with a white vest and a flying swallow-tail coat, and was presented a large bottle of perfume.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon won the best yell contest among the fraternities and was awarded a large engraved brass trophy.

A dance of the bowery days, given by Ellen McFarland and Sam Ackerman, was well received by the crowd. The deficit on the dance will be paid by members of the two service organizations.

PROF STARTS NEW 'DEAL' FOR RECITATIONS

The phrase, "it's in the cards" may be applied literally to students in the Spanish classes of Lawton Kline, instructor in modern languages.

A new method of calling on his students for recitation has been initiated by Kline. Each student has a card on which his name and subsequent grades are written. At the beginning of the class period, the cards are thoroughly shuffled and one is taken from the pack. The unlucky, or lucky person, as the case may be, whose name is drawn first must recite then draw another card from the deck, thus naming his successor. This process continues until everyone has had his turn.

Whether this system will be successful remains to be seen, but its popularity is not doubted if the word of one Ray Rodriguez can be taken as a consensus of opinion. His name was drawn as the bell rang!

Dr. Allyn C. Loosley, a member of the faculty of St. Mary's college, recently advocated the establishment of a "devil's island" for hardened criminals. He proposed that one of the Hawaiian islands be utilized for this purpose.

Stock Judgers May Be Chosen By Point System

Representatives to the annual Ogden livestock show from the University of Nevada Aggie club will probably be chosen by a point system beginning next semester.

Although no definite action has yet been taken, the club is considering the adoption of some sort of a point system, according to Paul Walker, president. In previous years, delegates were elected.

Five representatives are sent yearly to the Ogden Livestock show to enter in the livestock judging contests, but only three were sent last semester. The delegates could not take part in the contests because they were not a complete team.

Because the two major activities of the group, the annual Homecoming day dance, and the Ogden livestock judging trip, take place during the fall semester, the present semester will be devoted to meetings and lectures, Walker stated.

Six other University of Nevada students took preliminary examinations last week in application for appointments to West Point and Annapolis.

It was announced that standings in these examinations will be an important determining factor in the appointments. Word of the appointments will not be received until May, when two appointees for Annapolis and one for West Point will be named by Nevada's representatives in congress.

Badminton Offered

An announcement has been made by Mrs. Simas that badminton will be offered this semester on Friday afternoons. There will be three practice periods of forty-five minutes each, between the hours of 2:15 and 4:30.

Unless there are at least ten women out during each practice period the sport will be discontinued.

The tobacco raised in Virginia and exchanged for goods helped the struggling colonists to get a foothold when they came to America.

Later on, it was tobacco that helped to clothe and feed Washington's brave army at Valley Forge.

Today it is tobacco that helps—more than any other commodity raised in this country—to pay the expense of running our Government.

In the fiscal year 1933-34 the Federal Government collected $425,000,000 from the tax on tobacco. Most of this came from cigarettes—six cents tax on every package of twenty.
