Mackay Day Group Holds First Meet To Outline Plans

Martinez Starts Work Early On 'Big Celebration' Of Semester

MARCH 30 IS DATE

Whiskerino, Luncheon, Dance And Tug of War Events Are Planned

The 1935 Mackay day, to be held Saturday, March 30, is still in its cradle, Edwin Martinez, chairman of the committee, said Wednesday. A committee meeting was held Tuesday, at which time a tentative outline of the program was discussed.

It was decided that all fraternities would be requested to check in for work at the annual campus clean-up, and that the faculty, as usual, would be handed the job of putting the tennis courts into shape. The students will work on the baseball field, the bleachers and the track, together with what other jobs are thought up by the committee between now and Mackay day.

Tug of War

During the celebration, Martinez said, there will probably be a mucking contest and a chaining contest for the engineers, and possibly a tug of war over Manzanita lake between the heavyweights of the two underclasses.

A queen to preside over the festivities will have to be chosen, but the committee has not decided as yet how this will be done. As in former years, she will officiate at the Mackay day dance which, Martinez said, will be in the regular old 49-er theme. The beards of the male contingent present at the dance will be measured and properly tabulated at the door. The committee hopes to be able to give prizes for the "loudest," reddest, blackest and heaviest beards present.

"But," Martinez said, "any man who comes to the notice of the committee as having started cultivating facial herbage before the day designated as the official start will be automatically disqualified."

Neither the decorations nor the entertainment for the dance has been decided upon yet, but will probably be outlined at the next meeting of the committee.

Luncheon Planned

Kathryn Nichols will preside as toastmistress at the annual luncheon, and although the committee has in mind a speaker for it, arrangements with him have not been negotiated yet.

Mackay day was inaugurated in 1913 as an annual spring semester holiday for the purpose of honoring the university's greatest benefactor, Clarence H. Mackay. It is considered one of the year's greatest social events, rapping with the fall semester Homecoming day in importance.

Blue Key Group To Sponsor Show

Plans for the annual Campus Night are being made by members of Blue Key, men's honorary society, Ed Martinez, president, said today.

A date has not been definitely set, but the show will be held some Friday evening in the near future at the Majestic theater.

The performance will last about fifteen or twenty minutes and will be given between the first and second show. It will consist of a skit by the Campus Players, music from Darrell Berry's orchestra and songs from some of the talented campus songsters.

Tickets will be sold by members of Blue Key. Profits will be turned over to the A.S.U.N. treasury.

Bill Gelder was appointed chairman of the Campus Night committee, with Frank Sullivan and Darrell Berry to assist him.

Campus Players To Help Produce Varieties Show

Campus Players in a recent meeting discussed plans for cooperating with Blue Key in presenting a Campus Night entertainment. The affair will probably be similar to those given in past years, having a moving picture, skits and stunts put on by university talent as the program. It will be given at one of the local theaters, in the near future.

Plans were made at the last meeting and committees appointed to develop the various suggestions into definite material to start work on. The next meeting, when the reports of the committees will be heard, is dated for Thursday. Announcements may be expected in the near future, but there is nothing definite at the present time, said Darrell Berry, president of Campus Players.

Nevada Tumblers To Exhibit Skill At Cage Contests

Making its first appearance this semester before students, the University of Nevada tumbling team will appear between halves of the St. Mary's game tonight.

Andy and Bill Morby, Chet, Dale and Jack Hart, Prescott Wilson, Ken Powell, Dorence Jameson and Bud Owens will give an exhibition on the long horse at Friday night's game. Saturday night the exhibition will be given on the high bars.

Doc Martie is in charge of the class and is assisted by Andy Morby, student instructor.

Long Illness Fatal To U.N. Student

Walter Bartlett Dies After Blood Transfusions Fail to Help

Walter Bartlett, junior electrical engineering student at the University of Nevada, died at a local hospital Sunday night following an illness which had lasted for two months. He entered the hospital in the middle of December with mastoid trouble, and had several operations and numerous blood transfusions during the latter period of his illness.

Two weeks ago the doctors in their battle to save Bartlett's life sent out a call for students to volunteer their blood. The call was answered immediately by eight Lincoln hall men, who submitted to blood tests to make the transfusions possible.

Bartlett came to the university in 1932 from Fallon, where he had been living on a ranch with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bartlett, since 1917. While at the university he was actively affiliated with Lincoln Hall association, a member of A.I.E.E. and other engineering activities.

He was born in Santa Rosa, Calif., in 1914, and lived there until his parents moved to Fallon three years later. A large group of student friends were present at the funeral services, which were held at the home chapel of the Ross-Burke company Wednesday afternoon, at which the Rev. R. C. Thompson, dean of men, officiated.

Interment was in Mountain View cemetery.

Former Student Goes to Capital

Albert Borghi, former University of Nevada student, left Reno last Tuesday for Washington, D.C., where he has accepted a government position. He was recommended by Congressman J. G. Scroggum.

Borghi, a Sparks resident, attended the university for one year and is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Collegians Enact Variety of Plays As Part of Work

Student Directors Present Three Vehicles Thursday To Audience

Playing to a somewhat boisterous audience, the University of Nevada play production class presented three one-act plays in the auditorium of the Education building Thursday evening.

The plays were not professional performances, but were presented to give the students practical work in play production, taking work from William Miller, dramatics instructor.

"The Eldest," directed by Florence Kirkley, concerned a scene in the life of a woman who had become the family drudge. In the cast were Lois Hutchinson, Virginia Murgett, Linda Green, Embree Ralford, Edna Beaman, Gary Callahan.

"Playgoers" dealt with a young wife, Sarah Graves, who decides to give her servants a theater party. Players were W. G. Macdonald, Sallie Fagan, Louise Rhodes, Cornelia Arentz, Opal Harvey, Ruth Hawn and Clarence Byrd. Direction was by Doris Shaver.

In "The Lover" was portrayed a man who spends his whole life in blind devotion to a princess, played by Evelyn Semenza. Carl Dodge, veteran performer, played the lead, and Margaret Robinson was lady in waiting. Helene Per Lee was the director.

Coach Committee Discusses Mitchell

The long awaited meeting of the coaches' committee was held yesterday afternoon in the training quarters of the Mackay stadium, but what business was discussed was not revealed by the committee members. The meeting was ostensibly called to determine the question as to whether or not Coach C. L. "Briek" Mitchell should be granted another contract.

The meeting marked the latest development in the athletic situation which has kept the campus in turmoil for more than four months, and was the first to be held this semester as James Cazier, A.S.U.N. president and a committee member, has only recently been released from the hospital where he suffered an attack of scarlet fever. Joe McDonnell, chairman of the group, declined to release any information concerning the meeting for publication, saying that the members had decided, until such a time as they thought wise to reveal it. Committee members, however, said that no definite action was taken either to keep Mitchell or release him. Several stated, however, that there would be something definite for the student body early next week.

Old Man Weather Shakily Predicts Sunny Weekend

Old Man Weather is seemingly unable to make up his mind as to whether he should follow the ground hog's estimate of six more weeks of storm or bow to the will of the majority who apparently want no more to do with fast slipping King Winter.

As a result of this indecision the U. N. barometer has been a reflection this week of all the inconsistencies evidenced by the sudden changes in weather.

A slight drop in barometric pressure, foretelling a future storm, was noticed Wednesday evening. The predicted storm came in the form of a slight flurry of snow that whitened the streets Wednesday night.

Since then the thin black line traced by the needle on the instrument has been steadily ascending. In all probability, unless Old Man Weather gets frisky again, this means a clear weekend with bright and sunny skies.

Military Formal Plans Progressing

Scabbard and Blade Insignia To Be Given Eleven By Queen

With Arlene Boerlin, junior arts and science student and member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, presiding as honorary major, the annual Military Ball sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, military society, will be held on February 23.

The affair will be held in the Civic auditorium with dancing from 9 p. m. to midnight.

Miss Boerlin will lead the grand march and present membership insignias to 11 new initiates of the society.

Members who will receive their insignias are Tom Morris, Ralph Ball, Walter Bowrin, Leland Hazeltine, William Cockrell, Thomas Prunty, Wesley Hurley, Richard Gneulich, Bert Cummings, Charles Nichols Jr. and Irvin Wanke.

Guests of honor, who have been invited for the occasion are Governor Merriam of California, Governor Kirman and Lieutenant Governor Alward of Nevada.

Novel entertainment and decorations are being planned for the affair, according to Wendell Duplantist, captain. Darrell Berry and his orchestra will furnish the music.

Gianella Attends Engineering Meet

As a delegate of the Nevada chapter of American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, Vincent P. Gianella, associate professor of geology in the Mackay school of mines, left last night for New York to attend the annual convention of that organization.

Gianella expects to attend a meeting of teachers of geology, which, he said, will be of great importance and interest in the teaching of geology in universities.

While at the convention Professor Gianella will go to Columbia university to see about the thesis for his Ph.D. degree. The thesis is a hundred page pamphlet, including illustrations, called "Geology of Comstock Region."

The convention will convene February 18 and run for four days. On his return trip he will stop at Washington, D.C., to confer with the geological survey, returning to the Nevada campus about March 1.

Campus Songsters Are Working Hard On Spring Concert

Interest in glee club work has increased markedly recently, according to Prof. Theodore Post, director of the organization. The reason advanced for the increase in interest is that both men's and women's clubs are rehearsing jointly, in preparation for the spring concert April 12.

The feature of the glee number of the concert will be the presentation of several a cappella, or unaccompanied, selections by the two groups. Also to be given, accompanied by the University-Community orchestra, is Wagner's "Tannhauser Suite."

Benson Is Chosen Sagors President For Spring Term

Cummings Is Vice President, Johnstone Is Secretary Of Pep Group

John Benson, junior student, was elected president of Sagors, men's pep organization, at a meeting held last Tuesday afternoon in the A.S.U.N. building. Benson, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, served last semester as vice president of the Sagors. He succeeds Forrest Bibb, who has held the position since last fall.

Bert Cummings was elected to the office of vice president and Bill Johnstone will be the new secretary-treasurer. Silas Ross will be the group's new representative to the rally committee to succeed Ray Frohlich, who was recently initiated into Blue Key.

This year a group picture of the organization will be taken for a panel in the Artemisia. This is the first year that the Sagors have had pictures taken for the book, because in years past the group has not been well enough organized to have this done.

Dues for the recently elected members were collected, and the deficit incurred by the Sagors-Sagors dance will be eliminated by an assessment on the group.

The members of the St. Mary's basketball team will be escorted to and from the gymnasium for the games this week by members of the organization.

Bill McMenamin, representative from Blue Key, attended the meeting and asked the support of the organization in the production of Campus Night, an entertainment soon to be given at the Majestic theater by Blue Key.

A check of absences is going to be made and all members of the group that have missed more than three meetings will be dropped, Benson said. This will eliminate inactive members and new men interested in the group will be elected.

U. N. LIBRARY IS GIVEN 'POTS O' GOLD'

A personally autographed copy of "Pots o' Gold," by Matt Penrose, warden of the Nevada state penitentiary, was received last week by the University of Nevada library.

The book is of particular interest to Nevadans, in that it deals with many historical episodes not generally found in the history text to which students are accustomed.

A chapter dealing with the footprints commonly attributed to a giant sloth, states several facts not generally known about these tracks. The section of the book describing the introduction and continuance of the lethal gas method of criminal execution is said by critics to be a very competent discussion of the facts.

FAMOUS RABBITS STRICKEN

Thirteen Phenomenal But Unlucky Bunnies Victims of Cold Hearted Men of Science

For the second time in less than half a year Nevada has caught and held the attention of newspapers on the Pacific coast.

Last October it was the St. Mary's football game today it is Nevada's rabbit prodigy that has astounded science.

On Christmas morning the rabbit was discovered to have given birth to a family of no less than twenty infants.

Their fame, like that of the Dionne quintuplets, has traveled far. A story dealing with their brief history was printed recently in the San Francisco Examiner, and biologists on the Pacific coast have kept in touch with their guardians.

"Dr." Chris Kiltgaard, attending physician in this remarkable phenomenon, states in one of his daily bulletins to the press that the infants are developing normally in every respect and are a credit to Eglantina, the mother of this unusual family.

Prior to her unorthodox behavior, Eglantina had been just one of the placid brood of rabbits housed in the animal department of the Agricultural building. Her life had been unsung; she had no ambitions, merely nibbling contentedly at the bits of hay given her.

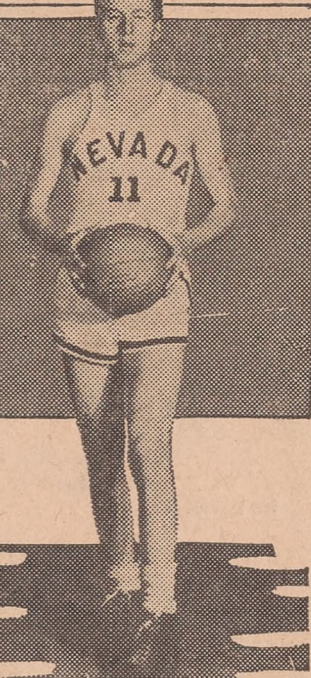

But as Christmas morning came, Eglantina outdid herself.

Unaware of the surprise awaiting him, "Dr." Kiltgaard went to the maternity ward, where he discovered proud Eglantina and her family.

After the shock had worn off, Kiltgaard and V. E. Spencer, assistant professor of soil research, decided that for purposes of identification the children must be named. But the process of naming such an enormous brood naturally took time, and while the mother and her guardians were consulting dictionaries for names, mis-

Moragans to Invade Nevadan's Territory For Double Header

VARISITY GUARD

Clayton Phillips, veteran Nevada hoopster, will have a busy weekend trying to stop St. Mary's speedy forwards. This is his second year on the squad.

Wolf Pack Meets St. Mary's Gaels Here This Week

Nevada Determined to Score Upset Over Strong Moragans

TWO GAME SERIES

Gaels Will Present Formidable Opposition to Nevada Hoop Team

Meeting one of the strongest quintets of the Pacific coast, the University of Nevada Wolf Pack engages the St. Mary's basketball team in a stiff two game series tonight and tomorrow night in the gymnasium. The games are scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

Strenuous practice sessions have been held throughout the week, with Coach J. E. "Doc" Martie running the varsity through stiff scrimmages in an attempt to perfect a suitable offense and defense to be used against the high scoring Gaels.

Varsity Improves

The varsity has shown general improvement in all departments of the game this week, and the prospects of upsetting St. Mary's are bright. The first team, composed of Tregellas and De La Mare, forwards; Gould, center; and Ghosovich and Phillips, guards, has shown up better in practice than any time during the season, and their improved passing attack combined with a stronger defense is liable to spell defeat for the visitors.

Nevada's diminutive forwards, Tregellas and De La Mare, appear to have regained their shooting eye, which has been missing all year, and together with Gould they should form a high scoring combination. Kolley, Gray and Jones, reserve forwards, have also showed decided improvement over early season play.

Guards Strong

With Tapogna's knee injury rapidly returning to normal, the guard situation has been considerably bolstered. Phillips and Ghosovich, the first string guards, although playing a steady, dependable game, lack the finished luster which makes Tapogna stand out. Tharp and Hadlen, reserve guards, are also dependable players who can be called upon at any time.

Gaels Fast

For the first time in several years the Galloping Gaels from Moraga valley have developed a fast playing quintet, which has scored victories over such outstanding teams as California, Santa Clara and the University of San Francisco.

The Gaels rely on a smooth passing attack and an impregnable defense, depending upon sharpshooters like Meade, Olson and Giannoni to pile up the score. This trio, together with Nelson, center, comprise one of the highest scoring combinations on the Pacific coast.

Probable starting lineup for St. Mary's will be Olson and Meade, forwards; Nelson, center; Giannoni and Raffanti, guards.

Thomas R. King Will Address C.E.'s

A University of Nevada engineering graduate who has made an exhaustive study of problems dealing with upstream storage, will speak to the civil engineering group of the campus on Thursday evening, February 21.

Thomas R. King, of the class of 1917, is the man who will discuss "Upstream Storage on the Washoe." He is considered by many well known engineers an authority on this timely question, and the university civil engineers are fortunate in being able to hear and consult with such an authority. Professor H. P. Boardman, head of the civil engineering department, believes.

Five D.As. at Meet Are U. N. Grads

Five University of Nevada graduates were present when members of the District Attorneys' Association of Nevada met in Reno last Saturday.

Included in the sixteen district attorneys from twelve counties were the following alumni: E. S. Brown, Washoe, '26; J. R. Ross, Lyon, '23; D. A. Castle, Elko, '27, and Howard E. Browne, Lander, '18. Miles N. Pike '24, Reno attorney, also attended the meet.

The association, composed of district attorneys and city attorneys from all parts of the state, decided to hold another meeting February 22 and 23.

Engineering Grads Will Be Examined By State Board

University of Nevada graduates who are acting in the capacity of consulting engineers in the state will be required to submit to examinations by a state board of registered professional engineers within the near future, it was revealed by Prof. J. A. Fulton, director of the Mackay school of mines.

A state board of registered professional engineers has been appointed by Governor Richard Kirman at the suggestion of George W. Malone, state engineer, for the purpose of licensing professional consulting engineers in Nevada.

Prof. Fulton, one of the members of the newly appointed board, stated that the object of the board is to license only those persons competent to undertake responsible engineering jobs and to enable such persons to undertake projects in states with standard engineering requirements without first submitting to examination.

According to Malone in a letter to Prof. Fulton, the engineering profession has developed to the point where it is necessary to conform to certain standards of organization in order to practice in other states. Approximately 30 states and territories have professional engineering laws, and in order to practice in those states, which include California, engineers must have certificates from a state with similar standards or submit to examination.

Fulton further stated that there is also a move being made to make the licensing of engineers uniform throughout the United States and to require students graduating from universities to submit to examinations and be licensed. However, it is not likely that students graduating from the University of Nevada will be affected by the board at present, unless they are employed as professional consulting engineers.

The newly appointed board will meet soon to draft rules and regulations under which they will operate, decide what their duties shall be and the extent of their jurisdiction.

The board consists of George W. Malone, chairman, L. A. Harris, John A. Fulton, Charles G. Walker and Arthur R. Thompson.

Vegas Students Are Given Dinner By Legislators

Twenty-six university students whose homes are in Las Vegas were the guests of the Clark county legislators at a banquet held at the El Cortez hotel last Friday night.

Harley Harmon, public service commissioner, acted as toastmaster, and the hosts, Senator Frank Ryan and Assemblymen Patrick Cline, R. J. Newton, Ambrose Murphy and Dick Arnold, each made brief talks.

Beulah Cline, a student in the normal school at the university and the daughter of Assemblyman Patrick Cline, was hostess to the group. Kenneth Powell, Charles Doherty, Sherwin Garside and Elizabeth Fredrickson, all freshman students at the university, spoke during the evening.

The group from Las Vegas plans to hold a student-legislator dinner every two years.

Soft, Larry Du Four, Walter Christian, Clifford Gillette, Dick Nesbitt and Richard Laub.

Merideth Hawk, former mining student, visited the campus this week. Hawk is employed in the mill at the Arizona Comstock mine in Virginia City.

Ed Usnick, who has been employed by the state highway department for the past year, has accepted a position in the mill at the Stone Cabin Mines in Como.

Tavern' Cast Has Four New Women

Underclass Co-eds Will Take Bow in First Campus Appearance

Four women will appear for the first time on the campus stage in the initial play of this semester, George M. Co-han's "The Tavern," to be presented February 26, 27, 28.

Mary Stringham, freshman student, taking the part of Violet, the women's lead, appeared last semester in the Wolves' Frolic. Since that production she has made several appearances singing with orchestras. During her four high school years at Davis County High school, Kaysville, Utah, Miss Stringham played the lead in operettas and plays.

The part of Virginia, the governor's daughter, was awarded to Ellen Creek, sophomore, who has formerly appeared in Reno High school plays and was a participant in a Shakespearean drama in the Nevada state high school forensic tournament two years ago.

Mary Elizabeth Wood, another freshman student, is appearing as Mrs. Lamson, the governor's wife. She has had experience in several high school plays and shows at Redding High school in Redding, Calif.

Sally, the hired girl, is being played by Frances Mugura, sophomore, who has also earned a good reputation during her high school years in Austin. Miss Mugura won the state forensic cup for the girls' declamation in 1928.

Women Will Take Referee Ex Today

Members of the women's official board of basketball who are interested in refereeing games will be eligible to take examinations for the work today under Mrs. Mae Simas, member of the national board of judges for this district.

Women passing the examinations will be qualified to referee at all inter-scholastic basketball games. Students interested in this work are requested to see Mrs. Simas immediately.

Feminine Artists Are Working Hard On Nevada Campus

Sixteen future Rose O'Neills, Fay Kings and Nell Brinkleys are beginning their respective art careers today in the advanced classes of Professor Katharine Lewers' art department.

For although only one of the sixteen women taking advanced courses in this department is actually majoring in art, all of the members of the class plan to follow some line of work connected with the courses they are now taking.

Extensive Practice
In order that these students may gain some knowledge of every type of commercial art during their year of advanced work, they are given practice in water colors, oils, crayons, pencil and charcoal and pen and ink mediums.

At present the class is sketching from life, with Louise Tidball Rhodes taking the role of model and posing in various gowns and costumes, the class doing work similar to that found in fashion magazines and fiction illustrations.

Definite Talent
In spite of the rather vague plans of most of the women regarding the exact line of work they desire to follow, Mrs. Lewers is sure that there is in the class definite talent in the field of commercial art, and is giving her students every opportunity to test their interest and skill before encouraging them to formulate definite plans and ambitions for future work.

Beta Sigs Hold Initiation for Two

Beta Sigma Omicron sorority held formal initiation ceremonies Sunday for ELois Campbell and Eleanor Barry. Miss Campbell is a freshman at the university and Miss Barry is a sophomore student.

WOMEN The U. of N. Sagebrush WOMEN

Frosh Co-eds Lead Women's Basketball

The women's basketball tournament has reached the mid-way mark, with the freshmen in the lead. True to prediction, the frosh have surprised the upperclass women with their ability. Throughout all the games they have played smoothly and are, apparently, the logical champions.

The sophomores, juniors and seniors are all tied for second place with a rating of .668.

Goldsworthy, of the sophomores, has stolen high points honors, having made a total of 51 points for the three games played. Dondero, junior, is second with a total of 42 points chalked to her credit.

The teams are composed of:
Senior—Keegan, Nason, Lozano, forwards; Bliss, Stark, guards; Aznarez, Murphy, Cannon, centers.

Junior—Lundberg, Dondero, forwards; Robison, Champagne, centers; Jepson, Roseberry, guards.

Sophomore—Carmody, Goldsworthy, forwards; Oppdyke, Harriman, Hansen, Bowman, centers; Morgan, Finn and Waltenspiel, guards.

Freshman—Sellman, Tholl, Turner, forwards; Best, Traner, Hiltonen, Morgan, centers; Sauer, Parish, Blair, Gill, guards.

Tournament play will be resumed next week.

HERE'S NEW ONE! PROF GETS APPLE-VALENTINE

February 14 was St. Valentine's day. It was also "red apple" day as far as the home economics women were concerned. These two factors combined made it a big day for Professor S. A. Ian Lough of the University of Nevada chemistry department.

An entirely new brand of apple-polishing was brought to light by the fair members of the Home Economics club, when they presented Professor Lough with a very tasty valentine.

Shortly before the lecture hour on Thursday he was besieged by the members of his female class in chemistry. After the proper introductory speeches had been made he was formally presented with a large red heart filled with choice candies.

Professor Lough would like to give all the girls 15's in the course, but even with the help of the candy he admits that this will probably be impossible (since he must grade on curves).

Vassar college is the most expensive school for women, the minimum cost being $1350.

Major students in journalism at the University of Idaho will be offered a course in typography with practical training under master printers and in fully equipped commercial print shops.

Women Nominated For Queen Honor

Eight University of Nevada co-eds are among the fifteen aspirants for the title of Mardi Gras queen for the forthcoming carnival to be staged by St. Thomas Aquinas cathedral in the Civic auditorium March 5.

Those named are Sallie Pagan, Georgia Cooper, Eunice Caton, Rosalys Martinez, Eleanor Gardella, Winifred Walsh, Helen Spina and Kathleen Houx.

The nominees were chosen Sunday by a special committee for the affair, and final selection will be made by popular ballot, the results of which will be announced on the day of the Mardi Gras. The next four highest of the

Women's Rifle Tournament Has Promising Start

Off to a good beginning, the women's rifle team began its tournament last week with several 99 and 98 scores recorded by the Nevada team. Range attendants offered their sympathies to the University of Vermont team.

The matches this week were with Carnegie Institute of Technology, University of Maryland, Penn State college, University of South Dakota and Connecticut State college.

Matches with Carnegie Institute of fifteen nominated will serve as the queen's attendants.

Technology includes competition with freshman women. Billie Morgan, freshman manager, appointed the following girls on the team to shoot this match: Elizabeth Best, Sara Swett, Laurada Jarvis, Ruth Howe, Nancy Bordewick, Frances Smith and Billie Morgan. This freshman team is somewhat hampered by the loss of those members on the varsity, including Elizabeth Osborn, Jessie Sellman, Suzanne Traub and Betty Naismith.

THANK YOU, GOVERNOR

When Governor Richard Kirman sent his budget message to the Nevada state legislature last Monday he included in the list of tax requirements the two-cent tax for the permanent building fund for the University of Nevada. This action, coming voluntarily on the part of the state executive, shows that the University of Nevada is favored by a friend interested in its welfare, and the university is grateful indeed.

This two-cent building tax was included originally in the 9-2-2 ratio university program in 1921. Nine cents was levied for support of the university proper, two cents for public service branches and two cents for the building program. By the school year 1926-27 the building fund had accumulated $200,000 and this money was spent on campus projects, half of it being used for the construction of the new women's dormitory, Artemisia hall, and the remainder for the rebuilding of the heating system and other grounds improvements.

Money from this fund was again allowed to accumulate until the year 1933, when a considerable sum was once more available for building improvements. But in this year the state was plunged head foremost into the depression as a result of the failure of the banks. Of its own accord the university turned over to the legislature for state use, in time of need, nearly $120,000 which had accumulated from the two-cent building tax. Also, upon the university's suggestion, the tax was abandoned for two years.

At the present time economic conditions have improved considerably and the governor has seen fit to include the two-cent fund in the budget once more. In all probability the legislature will not formally act upon his suggestion until the end of the session, but should it think that the state can once more afford this item the university will be happy indeed to see its building fund reinstated.

Thank you, Governor Kirman!

THEY WENT FOR THE RIDE

A mild snicker is occasioned by a recent article in Editor and Publisher, newspapermen's publication, concerning the embarrassing position 17 college editors find themselves in after attending a recent convention of 37 collegiate press editors in Washington, D. C., at the expense of William Randolph Hearst. The article relates how Stanley Beauhaire, editor of the Stanford Daily, arranged the conference, by contacting Hearst, who paid all expenses for the collegiate editors, and further tells how 17 of these editors, after accepting the invitation, recently turned on their benefactor and publicly condemned him for his "red scare" drive on colleges in this country.

Hearst has been very diligent in his crusade against "pink professors" and their proteges for some time, and has editorially decried the evils of supposed "communism" in our colleges and universities. For some time college editors have been aware of his views, but when a chance came for a free trip to Washington for a vague "conference" none of the collegiate editors asked too many questions, if they asked any.

Of course the trip had "no strings attached," in the words of Editor Beauhaire, but still the fact remains that there is a certain obligation for a person not to bite the hand that feeds him. The 17 who have denounced Hearst, however, after partaking of his hospitality, evidently believe in having their pie and eating it too. Or maybe they just went for the ride!

COACHES' COMMITTEE

The Sagebrush has been watching the coaches' committee constantly and is aware that it met yesterday afternoon in a long session. Just what was discussed at the meeting is not known positively, since the members are keeping quiet about the session.

It has been generally conceded that no definite action was taken concerning the retention or dismissal of Coach "Brick" Mitchell, but rather plans for a revolutionary change in the athletic department were discussed.

Whatever the chief business of the meeting was has not been divulged as yet, but it is to be hoped that some concrete steps have been taken which will solve this embarrassing situation. The coaches' committee must act soon or it must be assumed that it is incompetent to handle the present business at hand, nasty though it may be.

At any rate, if definite action has been taken, the news should "break" during the coming week, and until then the Brush must wait to find what it is all about.

Pacific Bengals Take Two Games From Wolf Pack

Final Scores 33-26, 40-34 In Series Played Last Weekend

Kelley and Gould Are Stars For Nevada; Thompson For C. of P.

The University of Nevada basketball team suffered its second double defeat of the season when the College of Pacific Bengals mowed down the Wolves by 33-26 and 40-34 scores last Friday and Saturday evenings on the Bengals' home court in Stockton.

In the Friday game the men of C. of P. held a safe lead throughout most of the contest, and although they were ragged in their passing attack their defense was very effective. At the end of eight minutes of play the score was 14 to 2 in favor of the Bengals.

Just before the end of the first half Nevada rallied and held a slight lead for a few moments. However, Pacific again found the basket and at the half time were once more in the lead, 21-18.

In the second half Pacific pulled away and Nevada did not threaten again. Russell of Pacific and Gould of Nevada were the individual stars of this first encounter.

Second Game Good

The second game of the series proved to be much more of a contest than the first, with Nevada leading throughout the first half until ten seconds before the gun sounded when Russell, Bengal guard, put one through the hoop to give the hometowners a one point lead as the gun sounded.

Accurate passing by Pacific in the second half proved too baffling to the Wolves and Pacific ran their slight lead and maintained it until the final gun, when they led by a 40-34 score. Thompson of Pacific was high point man of the contest with 12 points. Joe Kelley, Nevada forward, was close behind with 10 to his credit.

Track Interest High At College of Pacific

STOCKTON, Feb. 14.—Interest in track has been revived at the College of Pacific to the extent that there will be a freshman track team this spring, along with a few picked varsity men who will represent Pacific at various sectional and invitational meets. The annual Far Western conference track meet will also be participated in by the Bengals after having dropped out last year. Freshmen will compete in a schedule of dual meets which has not yet been drawn up.

Professors at the University of Kansas may not mind their students sleeping in class, but they become very indignant to find a fellow professor sleeping during a lecture at a faculty meeting. One sleeper was rudely awakened at the request of the speaker during a lecture.

Pacific Defeats Place Wolf Pack In League Cellar

Following the twin defeats by the College of the Pacific Bengals last weekend, Nevada's basketball team remains in a cellar position in the Far Western conference with one game won and eight lost.

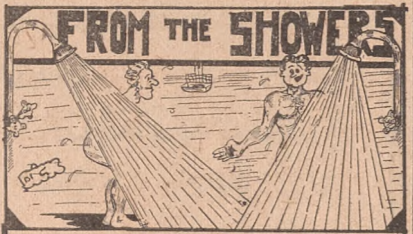

No more conference games will be seen in Reno this year, since the Wolves are scheduled to play their last two against the California Aggies at Davis February 22 and 23. The Aggies have lost the four conference games they have played, two of the contests being lost to Fresno State last weekend. The Davis men were unable to play two scheduled games with San Jose State because of an epidemic of scarlet fever at the Aggie college. Conference officials have not decided yet whether or not the games will be forfeited to San Jose. A post-season playoff may be arranged.

The Fresno Bulldogs are undisputedly in top rank in the conference standing since their victories over the Aggies. Out of six games, the Bulldogs have lost but one.

Chico State college defeated the San Francisco State Teachers' college last week in two non-conference games.

Far Western conference standings follow:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Fresno State	5	1	.834
San Jose State	3	1	.750
Pacific	4	2	.666
Chico State	5	3	.625
Nevada	1	8	.125
Cal Aggies	0	4	.000

The interest in the Far Western conference hoop race has somewhat subsided, with the alert squad from Fresno almost within an eyelash of clinching the flag. Looks as if Fresno is on the way, athletically speaking, at least.

Down Pacific way, things are beginning to hum with the scent of spring football in the air. Maybe the fair youths, coached by Amos Alonzo Slagg, have really become seriously pigskin minded.

Then, again, maybe these Stag men are only wise. Opening against the Trojans very early next fall, some quite a few evenings of practice will be necessary for the Bengals in order to get any kind of nice treatment when they visit Los Angeles.

To say another word or two about basketball, let us for a moment think about our own Wolf Pack. They've

New York Yanks Sign 'Bowser' Hill

Jack "Bowser" Hill, former University of Nevada athlete, left Reno last Saturday for Oakland, where he will join the Oakland baseball team when it starts spring training.

Hill signed a contract with the New York Yankees recently and will probably play with the Oakland club, which is affiliated with the Yankees, until he has received sufficient experience to go up to the major league team.

While attending school here Hill was prominent in athletics, earning letters in three major sports, along with his baseball activity with various teams about Reno. He was given honorable mention on "Pop" Warner's all-American football team for 1932 and also gained recognition as a basketball and track man.

Hill has played a great deal of baseball, having served with the Reno Garage team in 1932 and 1934 and the Scott Motors team in 1933.

been badly treated so far this campaign. With but four more games on the regular playing schedule, not much room is left for compensation.

St. Mary's, the Pack's next opponents, will no doubt be in there trying to ease their minds of more than a basketball victory. If there are several football players on the Gael roster the games should be well worth witnessing.

Then, to wind up the conference season, as well as the schedule, the Pack journeys to Davis to tackle the Aggies. These Aggies may not be as easy as might be expected. Last Saturday evening the Fresno team had to keep on the move to get a 37-34 decision over these former youths.

With the Blues and the Whites, the university's entrants in the city league, being badly treated in that loop, and the freshman cagers taking it on the chin more than usual, the general basketball results at the university aren't very heartening.

William Michael Gilmartin, an up and coming basketball official, turned

Wayne Poulsen Is Complimented By Ski Experts

Wayne Poulsen, sophomore student and instructor of the university skiing class, stands a good chance of capturing the California ski jumping championship, class B, which will be run off at Cisco, Calif., February 24, according to Wendell T. Robie, president of Auburn Ski club.

Poulsen, who has been ski jumping for only three years, is declared to be an up and coming jumper, and with a few years more experience may be ready for class A competition, which requires many years of practice in order for one to acquire the form and distance of foreign stars.

California skiing officials who watched him Sunday at Truckee believe Poulsen to be one of the most improved jumpers in the junior ranks this winter.

For a Nevada born youth Poulsen is said to show exceptional skill and will in all probability offer foreign born stars much competition.

Ed Rose, another ski enthusiast from the university, may, in a few years, show marked ability at the sport, sports observers say, this being his first year.

in a sparkling performance in this role last Saturday evening in the Y-Fallon town team game played in the university gymnasium.

Speaking of track, the field is now in excellent condition and the training is going forward in a smooth fashion. The early birds may be seen working out most any afternoon, going through their antics with the utmost sincerity.

Just to show that basketball is not always consistent, the Olympic club wins over Stanford, Stanford beats Santa Clara, Santa Clara defeats O.C. and U.C.L.A., U.C.L.A. beats Stanford twice, and Stanford defeats Santa Clara.

U.N. Cagers Seek City Hoop Title

With only one week of scheduled games remaining in the city basketball league, the University of Nevada's two junior varsity teams which are aspirants for the city title are among the leading contenders.

The Varsity Whites maintained their coveted second position just below the Reno Printers, despite a defeat administered them by their "hilltop" brothers, the Blues. The Blues are in a three-way tie for third place.

Scheduled play will be completed Saturday, February 23, at which time the leading four teams in each of the two divisions will be determined. The championship playoff will take place the following week.

The standings of the teams in A division are as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Reno Printing Co.	5	0	1.000
U. N. Whites	4	2	.667
Y. M. C. A.	3	2	.600
U. N. Blues	3	2	.600

'Broadway Clowns' Will Play Wolves, Bearcat Cagers

The Broadway Clowns, a negro basketball team from New York and one of the most entertaining of the numerous traveling teams now touring the country, will make a two game appearance on the university court next Tuesday and Wednesday, February 19 and 20.

The Clowns will tackle the Nevada varsity in the first game and the Reno Printing company Bearcats in the succeeding contest.

The colored team has been acclaimed by critics and newspaper writers as the cleverest and most comical negro basketball team now operating, and they are termed by many as "America's funniest basketball team."

Using a unique style of play, the Clowns attempt to win all games by a 2-point margin, and whenever possible they play for a tie score and an extra period.

Fast passing and trick ball handling by team members keep the fans in a continual uproar and the opposition in hot water.

During the heat of play, comedy skits are staged by members of the negro squad, which include mock baseball, in which one of the players known as "Shuffle King" holds the ball in one hand and winds up and throws it to a teammate as if it were a baseball.

Another trick is the use of a football play to score points. The ball is placed kicked to the basket and usually into it.

Shadow basketball, something new in the game, is featured by the Clowns and the entire game is marked by impromptu comedy and horseplay.

Make this a real Nevada year.

AFTER A BOUT WITH THE BOOKS... GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

"I LIKE CAMEL'S mild and pleasing flavor. It is one that I never tire of! And I find that Camels never upset my nerves. Smoking a Camel gives me a feeling of renewed energy, too." "I'M STUDYING TO BE AN ARCHITECT," says Kling, '38. "My course includes structural engineering . . . drafting—regular classroom work. And when I'm working on my term project, for example, trying to figure complete plans and specifications, I'm at it for hours at a time, often late into the night. Sure, it tires me. But when I feel fatigued and can't concentrate, I pull out a Camel. And as I enjoy Camel's fine, rich flavor, I can actually feel my energy being restored. Soon I am back at work—feeling fresh and clear. Camels are so mild that I smoke them all the time, and they don't ever bother my nerves." (Signed) VINCENT KLING, '38

"HOW GOOD IT IS to sit down and enjoy the delightfully pleasing flavor of a Camel," says this enthusiastic young sportsman. "The feeling of exhaustion slips away as Camels unlock my store of energy. My spirits improve. And I feel wide awake once more." (Signed) MARDEE HOFF

Good Track Team Is Prospect for Nevada This Year

All signs point to a good track team for Nevada this year.

With only two men, Ralph Hromadka and Sam Arentz, to replace the Wolf Pack has a nucleus of last years stars who, reinforced by a large group of promising sophomores, may result in a high scoring track team.

The Nevada track artists will have as their leaders such men as Paul Leonard, Harvey Hill, Ross Hart, Lynn Gerow, Lee Ward and Dale Hart.

Leonard may be expected to threaten the conference record in one or both of the distance events; Hill showed remarkable improvement in his sprinting form last year and will rank high among the sprinters in the Far Western conference this year; Ross Hart turned in some good performances in the broad jump and high jump last year and should do better this spring.

In addition to these outstanding performances, Nevada has Lynn Gerow to carry the responsibility of the shot-put and discs, and Lee Ward and Dale Hart who will perform in the 440 and 880. Behind these men are Frank Leonard, Fred Hartman and Charles Leavitt, who perform in any of the middle distance and distance events.

Reinforcing this group of more experienced men and ready to fight for their places on the team is a group of sophomores led by Douglas McDow, who twice defeated Harvey Hill in the sprints last spring. Other outstanding men among these youngsters are Kenyon Richards, a broad jumper and hurdler; Jerry Havens, another broad jumper, and Emery Graunke, who may develop into a good 440 man.

In addition to these more promising men will be Bob Zadow and Lockley Maule, who will be after a place among the hurdlers; Dick Carville, who aspires to greater heights in the pole vault, and Cliff Segerbloom and Kevin Callahan, who showed promise in the sprints last year.

Drawings Shown By Campus Group

Featuring water color sketches, portraits, oil paintings and sketches by local artists, the Pine Arts group of the University of Nevada presented its second exhibit of the semester during this week.

Main features of the exhibit are drawings of the proposed art museum which will be located on Maple street in Reno, if present plans are carried out.

Former Student Taking Courses Under Reinhardt

In preparation for future possibilities, Helen Lewis, former University of Nevada student who is now a protegee of Max Reinhardt, is in Los Angeles receiving special instruction under the supervision of the famous director.

Miss Lewis is studying the French and Chinese languages, taking vocal lessons, and learning dance routines. Training will continue for another month, at which time the cast will be selected for the New York engagement.

Olivia de Haveland, the original lead of the stage play, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," made good in the screen version produced by Warner Brothers and has signed a five year contract with them. Miss Lewis was understudy for her, so it is likely that she will have a chance to try out for the New York production. Announcements of the selection of the new cast will be made some time in March.

Miss Lewis became a protegee of Reinhardt when he discovered her during her performance in the Wolves Frolic. At that time he signed her up to understudy the part of Hermia in Shakespeare's play. After Miss de Haveland departed for Hollywood Miss Lewis took the lead during 30 engagements in a tour of the middle west.

Four Students Are Stricken Ill

Influenza confined four Lincoln hall men to the campus infirmary this week, according to hospital authorities. William Brett, William Guild, Clarence Baker and Antoine Primeaux are the sufferers. Guild was released Tuesday.

Throat infection accompanied influenza in the four cases, Mrs. Shurtleff, nurse, said. The epidemic of sore throats which troubled the campus last semester has reappeared this week and several students have visited the hospital for treatment, she added.

Since Walter Bartlett, junior student who suffered from mastoid, died at St. Mary's hospital Sunday, no university students have been attended in local hospitals.

Local Mechanicals Enroll in National Engineering Group

Three Men to Attend Meet In Bay City Competing With Engineers

Four months of effort on the part of Frederick H. Sibley, dean of the college of engineering; Jim Crawford, Cecil Cheal and Lawrence Kearney have resulted in the local branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers becoming a regular member of the national group.

Restrictions have been placed on the membership to the group and members will have the same privileges as regular members though paying smaller dues and initiation fee.

Officers are: Cecil Cheal, president, and James Crawford, secretary-treasurer.

Three men have been chosen by the society to attend a convention to be held in San Francisco April 8 and 9. They are James Crawford, Cecil Cheal and Charles Allen. Each will read engineering papers in competition with delegates from the University of California, Stanford, St. Mary's and California Polytechnic.

A section of the department where Chesterfield tobaccos are blended and cross-blended.

Just what is meant by cross-blending tobaccos... and how does it make a cigarette milder and taste better...

Well, in blending you take two or more tobaccos and mix them together—a rather simple process. But cross-blending goes a step further...

IN making Chesterfields we take Bright tobacco from Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida. We take Burley tobacco from Kentucky and Tennessee, and tobacco from Southern Maryland.

Then in addition to these home-grown tobaccos we take tobacco grown in Turkey and Greece.

We balance these mild, ripe home-grown tobaccos with the right amounts and the right kinds of aromatic Turkish.

Then, instead of just mixing the tobaccos, together, we blend and cross-blend them so that all the different flavors go together into one full flavor—the Chesterfield taste that so many smokers like.

Cross-blending tobaccos as it is done in Chesterfields gives the cigarette a pleasing taste and aroma—they're mild and yet They Satisfy.
