

Reserve Strength Brings Champions Win Over Wolves

Ohr, Smith, Thrill 4000 With Great Kicking, Running Duel

Nevada Outplays Visitors in First Half; Wilts Near Close

Suffering its second conference defeat, the University of Nevada Wolfpack was smothered before a powerful Red and Blue avalanche from Fresno last Monday on Mackay field, 27-6.

Tricky reverses, and perfectly executed forward passes spelled the downfall of the Nevada aggregation.

While definitely outclassed during the first two frames the Bulldogs from the California college came back in the last half to push over three touchdowns spelling the complete downfall of the exhausted Wolves.

Reserves Strong

Fresno was prepared to put any one of three teams on the field, each equal to the other, while Nevada was forced to rely upon the services of the first team to bear the brunt of the bruising attack for three quarters.

Featured by a punting duel between Ohr of Nevada and Byrd of Fresno the first half developed into a real battle, with neither team gaining the upper hand.

The first Fresno counter came in the initial quarter when a Bulldog punt went over Ohr's head and rolled out of bounds on the two yard line. Nevada returned the punt with a kick to the forty. From that point the previously bogged down running attack of Fresno functioned smoothly. A forward pass put the ball on the Nevada ten. Held for three downs on the two yard line Fresno's Mahoney finally plucked over for the counter on the last down. Smith converted.

Wolves Score

Nevada's lone score came in the second quarter when a long punt put Fresno in the hole. A fumble recovered by McKinnon over the goal line accounted for the points. Cromwell failed in the attempted conversion.

During the second half the Nevada attack completely collapsed leaving Fresno uncontested for supremacy. Three touchdowns were pushed over the Nevada goal in rapid succession making the final tally 27-6.

The second counter resulted from a long run back of a punt. Smith running the ball carried it back to the twenty-two yard line. Two power plays pushed the ball over.

Use Old Trick

Scoring again as the last quarter opened, Fresno's Smith took the Nevadans on a personally conducted touch-down tour. He also converted. Cramer made the final score when he took the ball through the entire Nevada team from the old Statute of Liberty play. He was hit four times, but each time recovered to continue his goalward way.

MAIL GIFTS NOW TO CHINESE, IRISH RELATIONS

Better start tying up the Christmas packages—there are only forty-three days left until Santa makes his annual visit.

If there are any relatives or friends in foreign countries that you wish to send remembrances to, here are a few of the latest mailing dates.

Now, if you would like to send the king of Siam a little gift, say a crocheted robe for his favorite elephant, November 20 would be the final mailing day, whether you'd put in the last stitch or not. Or if you have a nice old aunt living in Hong Kong and you want to send her that dainty Chinese tea set you bought the last time you were in San Francisco, you will have to have them in the mail by November 30.

There is still a little time left to send that box of clay pipes to your father's tribe in Ireland, but don't delay to long as the deadline is set for December 14. This is also the last day you can ship that little red wagon to your little friend in Czechoslovakia.

If you wish to send anything to Ethiopia—like a machine gun or the latest pursuit plane—you don't need a mailing date, just give it to Mussolini and he will deliver it with as much speed as possible.

Omega Mu Iota To Hear Lecture On Transfusion

Pre-medical students will be addressed next week by Dr. Lawrence Parsons, head pathologist of St. Mary's hospital, on "Blood Transfusion and the History of Its Development."

The talk is tentatively scheduled for Tuesday evening and will be given in the Agricultural building, according to Fred Hartman, president of Omega Mu Iota, which is sponsoring the lecture.

Dr. Lawrence was formerly assistant professor of pathology at the University of California and has been very active in the study of blood transfusion as well as the development and disease of tissues.

Although intended primarily for pre-medical students, the lecture will hold considerable interest for the public, according to Hartman.

While the Nevada contingent was fairly successful in bottling up the famed Byrd, they were unable to stop one Mr. Smith who was the biggest factor in the Fresno victory.

Nearly four thousand Armistice day fans witnessed the battle.

Elizabeth Naismith spent the week-end in Tonopah with her parents.

Music Hour Held Weekly by Post

Music Appreciation Object Of New Programs; Public Invited

A program of music, "Listening Hours," sponsored by the University of Nevada music department for the purpose of educating the people of Reno and vicinity in the appreciation of music was held Wednesday night at music room in the education building.

The program, as outlined by Professor Theodore H. Post, head of the music department, consists of one hour concerts of famous operas and symphony selections, furnished by the equipment of the Carnegie last set that was given the university last year.

Available for use in the series are over 1,000 records of the operas and symphonies that are included in the set. Background material to aid the listener at the hour will be chosen from the 250 written scores and books that complete the Carnegie set.

Assisting Professor Post in the presentation of the series will be Mrs. Walter E. Clark. Each hour will have a leader selected from either the U. of N. student body or townspeople that are interested in the work. The "Listening Hours" are open to the general public and will be held every Wednesday of this semester.

Mining Engineers Locate on Campus

Two employes of the United States bureau of mines are now located on the campus, operating the rare and precious metals experiment station, under the direction of E. S. Leaver, superintendent of the station.

Dr. John Koster, formerly connected with the Washington office, is supervising engineer of the electro-metallurgical division. Dr. Irwin Roman of Michigan is employed as geophysicist. Dr. Roman succeeds Dr. F. W. Lee who has been transferred to Washington.

Archie Holm spent the week-end at his home in Smith Valley.

Dr. Hardy L. Shirley, former assistant professor of mathematics at the University of Nevada, is now traveling in Germany on an Oberlander Trust fellowship.

Dr. Shirley has been in Europe since August 9, and is returning to the United States on the "Europa" November 19, he stated in a letter received this week by Professor A. L. Higginbotham.

While traveling on the fellowship in Germany, Shirley has visited Berlin, Dresden, Prague, Luxemburg, Cologne, Amsterdam, Copenhagen, Munich, Zurich, and many other cities in northern Europe.

An instructor in the mathematics department in 1922-'24, and assistant professor in 1924-'25, Shirley left Nevada in 1925 to take advanced work at several Eastern universities. He is now connected with the United States Forest Service, with headquarters in St. Paul, Minnesota.

Gamma Phi Beta To Honor SAE's

Gamma Phi Beta sorority will entertain members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity tonight with an after-dinner coffee hour, Inez MacGillivray, chapter president, announced today. This will be the second time such an affair has been held, and the custom, which has met with much popularity on Pacific coast camp, will probably be continued throughout the semester.

BAPTISTS TO MEET

The university group of the Baptist's Young People Union will hold their weekly informal discussion in the Baptist church Sunday.

The topic for discussion this week is "Religious Fanaticisms." Dean Thompson and the Rev. Brewster Adams aid in the discussions each week.

'Mutt and Jeff' Still on Faculty

No longer need Nevada students depend on the funny papers to see their favorite comic characters, Mutt and Jeff.

From the dim, dark past comes this startling revelation, dating way back to the early nineteen hundreds to be exact.

Way back thar when Nevada was in its infancy, and Engineer's day was the big event of the year, two of Nevada's most important and prominent faculty members set out to make history and names for themselves and succeeded. Result? "Little Jeff and Big Mutt."

As the story goes—"these two raised beards and pork chop sideburns; donned plug hats, button shoes (which were by the way o. k. in those days), checkered pants, and all the trimmings of Mutt and Jeff even to cigars and ventured forth to the athletic field to mingle with the engineers in their frivolities.

Lo and behold! The resemblance was so pronounced that the students blinked their eyes in wonderment. Mutt and Jeff were serving on the faculty.

To this day, they are trying to live down the "monikers" they acquired, and if one were to call Dean Maxwell Adams "Mutt" and Professor Boardman "Jeff" they would blushing admit they were the one and the same.

Ten to Receive Circle "N's" For Inter-Collegiate Matches

Seventy-three women, 52 of them freshmen, have signed up for rifle competition, Catherine Dondero, manager, announced today.

In preparation for women's intramural rifle competition, initial practice in handling guns and learning proper firing position began Tuesday afternoon in Stewart hall.

Practices will be held twice weekly on Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at three periods, 1:30, 2:45, and 3:45. These practices are open to all women who are interested in the sport.

Hustis Directs Practice
Later in the season, practices will be held in the barracks under the supervision of Sergeant Hustis of the military department.

Sorority teams and an Independent team chosen from those ranking uppermost in scores will compete in an intra-mural trophy tournament. Kappa Alpha Theta, represented by Florence Kirkley, Elizabeth Osborn, and Catherine Dondero, was awarded the cup in the series last year.

Team Will Be Formed
Climaxing the season, ten girls with the highest scores for the entire season will represent Nevada in an inter-collegiate match which is judged by an exchange of scores with 25 leading institutions throughout the country.

Circle "N's" will be awarded on Mackay Day to the ten women who compete in the inter-collegiate match. Assisting Catherine Dondero in supervision of the matches are Elizabeth Osborn and Elizabeth Naismith.

Seniors, Sophs Are Leading In Volleyball Tourney

The senior and sophomore classes defeated the junior and freshman teams in the first games of the women's inter-class volleyball tournament Tuesday afternoon. The final score in the senior-junior game was 46-16, while that of the sophomore-freshman game was 63-25.

The senior women, though playing under the disadvantage of sufficient members for a full team, seems to have the tournament well in hand. Closest competition will come from the strong sophomore team.

Up to date a revolving team is representing the freshmen, due to the large number entered in the sport.

Round Robin Tourney
The tournament is the round robin type, played with each class meeting every other class twice in the series. Games are thirty minutes in length, and are divided into two, fifteen-minute periods with a five-minute rest between halves.

Points in the game are not set, but are based on time. The team having the largest score at the final whistle wins the game.

Men to Go Free At Sagen Reverse

Sagens, women's pep organization, will hold a reverse dance tomorrow night at the I. O. O. F. hall.

Decorations will be carried out in a football theme. Nevada's colors will be mingled with those of San Jose State as a tribute to the teams that will meet tomorrow afternoon in San Jose.

A prize will be awarded to the fraternity with the greatest number of members present.

Tickets have been on sale for several days, and judging from the large number sold, a record crowd will be in attendance, according to Charlotte Robison, who is in charge of the event.

Assisting Miss Robison are Margaret Walker, in charge of finance; Winifred Hiltonen, chairman of publicity; and Jessie Sellman, in charge of decorations.

Thetas, S. A. E.'s Exchange Dinners

Reviving a custom of several years past, Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity exchanged dinners last week. Six members of the sorority went to the fraternity house for dinner and five fraternity men dined at the Theta house.

Those who attended the Theta house dinner are Vic Carroll, Frank Sullivan, Harry Sawyer, John Benson and Melvin Ruedy. Frances Slavin, Mary Eleanor Underwood, Cornelia Arentz, Emily Tholl, Louise Emminger and Catherine Dondero were guests of the SAE's.

Frosh Offenders Will Be Punished

Freshmen women tradition-breakers were advised to mend their ways by Dean of Women Margaret E. Mack before a meeting of the Women's Upper-class Committee, Wednesday.

At the invitation of the chairman, Florence Kirkley, Dean Mack attended the meeting and spoke to the offenders, signifying her intentions to cooperate to the fullest extent with the committee in enforcing campus traditions.

For her fourth failure to heed the summons of the committee, Mildred Hayden, freshman woman, was "campused" for two weeks.

Clarethel Masterson, Verla Mae Nelson, Naomi Starr, Pat Steele, Elaine Cline, Katherine Booth, and Virginia Wallace, were ordered to entertain the next A. S. U. N. meeting, according to Miss Kirkley.

"We feel we have shown a lenient attitude with freshmen offenders thus far. Next semester we expect them to know all traditions and to set a good example by their behavior for incoming freshmen," added Miss Kirkley. It was also pointed out by Dean Mack that cooperation in preserving traditions figures highly in future achievements in honor and social groups.

Margery Griswold and Yvonne Slard spent the week-end in Winnemucca.

Marlea Dodge spent the week-end in Fallon.

Tri-Delts Invite Women to Jinx, But No Escorts!

First public steps were taken for the annual Tri-Delt She-Jinx last week when novel invitations were issued to all campus women to be present at the affair on Thursday, evening, November 21.

The invitations were sent in blue and silver packets with the words "Come Comic Strip" written on the back with letters taken from the funny papers. Inside the packet was the printed invitation which informed the women that they were cordially invited to attend provided they were unescorted.

As in the past, all those attending have been requested to come in costume as prescribed by the chairman in charge of the event. This year the members of Delta Delta Delta sorority are planning on awarding some sort of prize to the sorority depicting a comic character or characters in the most realistic manner.

Posters will be displayed on the campus preceding the event in order to further stimulate competition among the campus women to present the most original stunt. Helen Heaster, chairman of the affair announced that last minute attractions are being prepared so that the renowned "feminine curiosity" will be aroused.

WHERE'S THE UPPERCLASS COMMITTEE?

In recent years, there has been considerable agitation on the University of Nevada campus for the almost complete abolition of traditions. Many were dropped; some were changed, and only a few which were deemed worthy of retention by the student senate are now listed in the student handbook.

As another phase of this change, all power for the enforcing of these traditions and campus rules was vested in the women's and men's upperclass committees.

But what has happened to them this semester? The women's upperclass committee has done its best to regulate freshmen students. They have held regular meetings and have punished those found guilty of violating the rules.

But the men's upperclass committee is an entirely different story.

So far there has been no attempt either to enforce campus rulings or to punish the violators, and the committee, despite promises made earlier in the semester, has not attempted to take an active part in campus life.

There is plenty of work for this committee to do. This fact cannot be denied. No freshmen were punished for failing to help in the whitewashing of the block "N" on Mount Peavine. But everyone knows that there were a great many freshmen who did not help and who failed to be excused. No freshman was punished for failing to bring his share of boxes to the Homecoming bonfire. Yet it is a fact that many failed to do their part in building the pyre.

And as for "cutting campus," this offense occurs every day. The great majority of students, however, care too much for the appearance of their campus to walk wantonly over the lawns, but there are some who do not care. Yet they have not been punished or even warned to stop this practice.

The Sagebrush asks again, "Where is the men's upperclass committee?"

Unless the group becomes active immediately, the student senate should take action—either to appoint a new group that will do its best to enforce campus rulings or to reorganize the present committee so that it will become a living organization, not merely an honorary position.

Last year, the committee gave as an excuse that it had no authority, that its hands were tied. But this year the committee has the authority. It may either paddle violators or, if necessary, suspend student body privileges. The committee has the authority; it is composed of leading upperclassmen, and it has work to do. Why doesn't it do it?

PEACE OR WAR?

This year, more than ever, American college students are taking an active interest in national and international affairs. Student strikes and mobilizations for peace have been held, and many moves have been made to determine the attitude of students toward war.

The Sagebrush this week is publishing a "war-peace ballot," similar to one now being conducted by a national organization. In order to determine the attitude of Nevada students on this subject, the Sagebrush asks students to answer the following questions, either yes or no, and mail them to the editor, Box 9205, university station.

1. Should the United States keep out of all foreign wars?
2. Do you favor giving the people a vote on the question before going to war?
3. Do you favor world disarmament?
4. Do you favor the manufacture of munitions at government plants instead of at private plants?
5. Do you favor taking the profit out of war, by drafting industry and wealth, as well as men, in case of war?
6. Do you favor compulsory military training in colleges?

Alumni Continue Advanced Studies After Graduation

Out of a total of 1955 holders of bachelor degrees from the University of Nevada, approximately 651, or one-third, have taken additional courses on the hill or elsewhere since leaving the "hill."

A check reveals a scattering of Nevada graduates to almost all of the professions. Twelve of them have won commissions in the United States army and navy. Two have become certified public accountants. Three have taken advanced piano courses with masters of the instrument in the United States and in Europe. Three have been graduated from advanced courses in business college. Three have held research fellowships in Europe. Nine have diplomas in their respective fields—dietetics, 3; Spanish, 1; French, 1; penmanship, 1; music supervision, 1; recreation, 1; social work, 1. Three hold additional degrees and additional credits; 149 have additional degrees, 23 have two or more additional degrees; 47 have an additional degree and additional credits and 337 have additional credits without any additional degree.

CAMPUS

ITEN

It's just about time for the fellows to begin little arguments with their Juliets. Just minor disagreements that will lead up to temporary "breaks" with the steadies. From campus "pick-ups," we have decided that old St. Nick won't have a very full sack this year.

It seems as though that well-known love light is shining in the eyes of Margaret Crosby, one of the older heads of the dear ole Pi Phi house. She and Dickie Meade are getting pretty close, and is he buying jewelry!

Al Lansdon, otherwise known as Gas House Kelly, scored a decisive victory at the Second Street arena Saturday night, when one of the dancing masters from the Bank chose him. Take it easy, Al.

The Gamma Phi house is going to be a pretty lively place from now on, from the looks of things, especially since Jane Bell is sporting that new La Salle. As if she needed it.

And the grounds crew is having an awful sweet time this cold weather. Mac is too busy dragging in the brass monkeys to put out parking tags.

What men haven't heard of the Theta Girls
The one's with curves and yellow curls,
We didn't know they let their gals
Double-cross their men folk pals.

And that brings us to the conclusion that: The date ditching doings of the Theta pledges would make a monumental volume like Anthony Adverse look like the "frosch bible."

Lois Aldrich leads the bulky list of the gals who have ducked the inevitable. She made three dates for one dance, the Soph Hop, what a girl, but we know she is not triplets.

We like to commend Hiskey especially for her subtleness. Said she over the phone, after accepting a blind date, "I saw you on the campus, and I don't like your looks."

In the hay stack came the needle. Here's a Pi Phi jilt! Gertrude Polander ducked a date because of her sister and brother-in-law. Wait may look like a brother-in-law, but only a blind man would take him for sister.

Kay Booth, no relation to Y.W.C.A. Candy Booth, thought there was a fire, and hence the shortest distance between two points being a straight line she fire-escaped. Now the closest distance between freedom and being campused is fire-escaping. Ask her.

Ken Powell, erstwhile footballer and heartcrusher, was looking so hard at Ellen Creek as he left the main room of the libe that he ran into the closed door. Does he adore her?

Coronation exercises were held in Lam Chi for Phil Shore. We held the throne for an hour. (Some of his playful pals locked him in the lower bath for an hour.)

"Pick of the Crop" Goldwater (Bert to you) seems to think that the gals at Nevada are awfully childish and ordinary looking but all we have to say is, "Why don't you go back to California—if you don't get across here"—and what's more why don't you go back to California anyway.

Nevada Redskins Dislike to Pose For Reno Artist

Getting subjects to pose for the series of charcoal of native Nevada Indians that were hung in the library last spring was one of the most difficult tasks Robert Cole Caples, local artist, has ever attempted.

Indians are easy to find, Caples said, but the main difficulty was finding types that represented them as they were before the settlement of the West by the whites.

Because flint arrowheads are generally associated with Indian life Caples believed that a portrait of the process of arrowhead chipping should be included in the series. A subject was found but before the drawing could be made the artist himself had to show the Indian the process used by the latter's ancestors.

In selecting a representative Southwestern Plute squaw, Caples visited the Pyramid lake reservation. A model was found but she was unwilling to remain long enough for even a rapid sketch. This difficulty was soon overcome.

"I took two candy bars," Caples said, "and held them out in front of me. As she came to take them out of my hands I arranged my stand and then did the charcoal as she stood in front of me eating them."

"The only objection that I had to the work," Caples continued, "was in the lack of understanding by the Indians of my purpose. Especially was I disconcerted when several of the braves drained all of the anti-freeze out of my car for beverage purposes and then left me to find my own way of replacing it."

During the year the artist was employed on public works projects, trips were made to all of the Indian reservations in the state. The sketches completed by Caples include the 22 portraits in the university library and a mural in the Washoe County court house.

MATH PROBLEM

Arnold, Bill, Charles, Dick and Evan sit for an examination. They are placed by the examiners in the above order. The candidates each take five tests: English, History, Latin, French and philosophy. The student placing first in a subject scores five marks, the candidate who is second, four marks, the third student, three marks, and so on. Final placing depended on the aggregate marks scored.

Arnold—a good examinee—scores 24 marks in all. Charles scores the same mark in each of four subjects. Evan is top in French and third in philosophy. What does Bill score in French?

Answer to last week's query: Nine times, and the boys are kept busy going back and forth across the river.

ESCAPES INJURY

Don Kinkel, freshman student, narrowly escaped injury Sunday when the car in which he was riding overturned on the Reno-Carson highway. Other occupants of the car were Mrs. Fred W. Steiner and four children.

Fresno Bulldogs Still Holding Lead For League Title

Cal. Aggies Are Only Obstacle Facing Tourney Leaders This Week

Nevada Wolves Rank Fourth In Race for Circuit Crown

As a result of the decisive victory over the Nevada Wolves, Fresno this week was still way out in front of the scramble for the Far Western 1935 football championship.

Running roughshod over a tiring Wolf Pack during the last ten minutes to play, the Fresno Bulldogs piled up 27 points against six for Nevada. This victory practically clinched the Conference title for the Bulldogs as they have but one more game to play. A loss sustained in this game would throw the Conference into a tie unless Pacific and the Cal. Aggies meet defeat in the remainder of their Conference games.

The fate of the Far Western championship race is in the hands of the Cal. Aggies when they meet the Fresno Bulldogs Saturday. The Aggies rested over Saturday and are out to beat the Conference leader. A win would pave the way for a tie with the Fresno Staters.

College of Pacific furthered its conference standings last Saturday by trouncing Chico.

Besides the Aggie-Fresno game which is the only conference game this Saturday, Nevada will meet a former Conference member in San Jose State and C. O. P. will endeavor to get a "big one" by defeating California at Berkeley. Chico State will rest.

Unofficial conference standings follow: Fresno 3 0 1000, Pacific 2 1 .667, Cal. Aggies 1 1 .500, Nevada 1 2 .333, Chico 0 3 .000

"Fresno was the best team we've faced this season," was the unanimous opinion of the battered Wolves after Monday's drubbing. Season scores bear out this statement, and it is a mystery how the Cal Ramblers and Santa Clara were able to take the Bulldogs. Fresno pushed the Broncos all over the field, but were unable to push over scores at the right moments.

The Bulldogs displayed better tackling than has been seen by this scribe this year, and their flashy reverses showed excellent coaching by Leo Harris. However, their superior reserve strength was the biggest factor in their win. The Nevadans gave them a real battle until they wilted under the onslaught of the steady stream of reserves. Fresno was able to field three teams, each of equal ability, and Harris utilized them to the limit.

That punting duel between Ohrt of Nevada, and Smith and Byrd of Fresno was a real thriller. Excellent kicking resulted in scores in the first half for both squads.

This boy Smith of Fresno was a real player. While the Wolves were concentrating on All-American Byrd, Smith stole the show with long runbacks of kicks, superb punting and passing, and powerful line smashing. He carried himself like a lightweight, despite his huge bulk.

The Cal Aggies seem to be of the same opinion as College of Pacific concerning their gentle treatment at the hands of the Wolves. Says their sports editor: "It was evident from the amount of penalties that the Wolves were doing a little more Wolfing than was necessary. Some of the Aggie men will not soon forget some of the unseen fistic marks left on them by the Wolves."

The loss of Harry Bradley during the early part of the game was a severe blow. The big tackle wrecked havoc

Twenty-Two Men Plan Trip North For Idaho Game

A Nevada football squad of 22 players will entrain next week for one of the longest trips any Wolf Pack has ever taken.

The team will leave Thursday for Boise, Idaho, by the way of Ogden, to engage the Idaho Vandals on Saturday, November 23.

After the Boise game, the Pack will head for Chico, stopping over in Portland for two days, where light workouts will be held. They will probably arrive in Chico a day and a half before their Thanksgiving Day clash with the Chico State Teachers on Thursday.

Nevada has been allowed a financial guarantee of $1800 for the Idaho game and $600 for the Chico engagement. Financial settlements will be handled through the graduate manager's office and an allowance of $200 will be given Coach C. L. Mitchell for incidental expenses.

Yearling Gridders Earn Class Awards

More than 30 members of the freshman football team will probably be awarded class numerals late this semester for active participation on the frosh grid team. The team closed its season last week.

Only one game was played by the frosh this semester, with a scheduled game with Susanville being postponed, while lack of funds prevented the frosh team from taking any long trips to meet other freshman squads.

The frosh forward wall consisted of a set of hard playing guards in Ferrick and Nickovich, while Ted Demosthenes, a heavy aggressive player, held down the center post. Brooks and Sullivan were mated as tackles, while Beko and Jeffers held down end positions.

In the backfield, Powers and Dale alternated at quarter, with Taylor and Evans holding down halfback posts. Bernardo played fullback. This backfield presented a heavy, fast-moving combination that offered Susanville plenty of competition.

Several men who seemed potential varsity material worked out on the Yearling squad, and the majority of the men are expected to turn out for varsity ball next year.

Those who finished the season included Sullivan, Brooks, Taylor, Powers, Dale, Bernardo, McMeekin, Beko, Agee, Ferrick, Nickovich, Speers, Cunningham, Mornston, Evans, Handley, Franklin, Demosthenes, Kane, Roach, Jeffers, Ward, Inman, Jackson, Walters, Grubich, Reeves.

with the Fresno line while he was in there. Little Russ Byington, with his knee swollen three times normal size, and out of place, gamely tried to continue against his burly opponent.

John Benson, veteran end, has established an enviable record. Commencing with the middle of his first season, Benson has started in eighteen consecutive games. Last week Benson played a crashing game on defense.

In the San Francisco Chronicle this week a columnist states that the longest kick on record belongs to Jack Hill, Nevadan, who gained All-American mentions several times. It seems that a terrific gale was blowing when Hill, an excellent kicker, made his punt. The ball sailed through the air aided by the wind for 90 yards and then rolled 40 more over the bushes on the end of the field, a total of 130 yards.

Nevada Gridders' Home Towns Are Widely Divergent

"East is east, but the West is the land of the best," or something.

At any rate the University of Nevada football roster looks like an extended Cook's tour.

Ranging from Lubbock, Texas, "way down South, where Hollis McKinnon is from," to the towering Alleghenies, to New York, which Sidney Fox calls home, to bullet-ridden Chicago where Sauer was lulled to sleep to the dulcet tunes of "I'll be glad when You're Dead," and a long jump over the middle west into the land of the forbidden sun, and erstwhile dew where seventeen California youth have trod the mighty Sierras into the cover of a Nevada winter to woo King Football, came the sweating stalwarts of the Nevada Wolfpack.

Twenty-two of the silver and blue wearers carry the torch of the silver state. Eight hail from Reno, four each from Las Vegas and Yerington, two from Fallon, and one from Ruth, Manhattan, Wellington and Carson City.

The bay district has contributed three from Oakland, and one from San Francisco, while the rest of the citrus state is represented by Los Angeles, Santa Cruz, Marysville, San Bernardino, Colusa, Culver City, Wilmington and Sacramento.

St. Louis, Missouri, sent "Small" John Stock; while Kenneth Watson is registered from Portland, Oregon. Farmerville, La., has Tom Fields as its representative.

Bulldogs Outplay Nevada Wolves

Although the Nevada Wolves held a slight advantage in the passing department, statistics for the Nevada-Fresno State game played Monday show that the Bulldogs held a decisive advantage over the Wolves in practically every department.

Wolves To Face Hard Opposition On Coming Trip

In their next to last game of the 1935 season on November 23, the Nevada Wolves meet the Vandals of the University of Idaho who lost a hard fought game last Saturday to the Cougars of Washington State.

The Idaho eleven has been playing all its football in midfield this year. The last five games this season lacking enough punch to put over a touchdown, after decisively out-gaining their opponents in yardage.

The Cougar's 6 to 0 victory was a result of the "breaks." A Washington State man dived on the ball as it rolled behind the goal line after a bad pass from the Idaho center.

The Vandals are a well-balanced co-starring eleven and threaten the Wolves with one of the toughest games of the season.

Vandals Outgain Five Opponents But Can't Win

The University of Idaho Vandals, whom Nevada plays at Boise, November 23, have outgained their opponents in each of the five games played this season, but have been able to break into the winning column only once.

Idaho's most disheartening defeat was on October 12, when they lost to Whitman, 7-0. The Vandals pushed the Poets all over the field, outgaining them 216 yards to 170, but those 170 yards gained by Whitman were made when needed, while Idaho made all of its gains in midfield.

The results of the games played by Idaho this fall are as follows: Washington 14, Idaho 0; Gonzaga 7, Idaho 6; Whitman 7, Idaho 0; Oregon 14, Idaho 0, and Montana 7, Idaho 14.

In the five games played this year, two "iron men" have been developed on the Vandal squad, Bob McCue, tackle, and Norman Iverson, end. McCue, both offensively and defensively, represents one of the outstanding tackles in Idaho gridiron history. His passing ability also makes him a big threat when he slips into the backfield. As a pass receiver and blocker, Iverson stands out among the Idaho wingmen.

Though they have not played 60 minutes in every game, Stonko Pavkov and John Cooper, a pair of 200-pound guards,

Good Season Looms For Hoop Varsity

Coach J. E. Martie Arranges Basketball Schedule For 1936

With the first call for basketball practice less than two weeks away, prospects for a successful season look very bright. Nevada will not be lacking in veterans as all but one of last year's men are expected back.

Mike Gould, center of last year's squad, will be sorely missed, although the wealth of transfers from junior college and last year's frosh team may provide a good man for that position.

According to J. E. "Doc" Martie, varsity coach, 18 games have been scheduled, 12 of them being home games. Negotiations are under way to have the Stage Liners of Kansas City, national champions, who will pass through here on a barnstorming tour, to play a series of games with the Wolf Pack.

The games to be played with the University of Nebraska are still doubtful, leaving Nevada with 16 games to be played.

Ending in the cellar position in the conference last year, Nevada has many veterans who intend to give the champions, Fresno State college, a race for the title.

The veterans who have returned are, Orval Tregellas, Whit De La Mare, Joe Kelley, Les Gray, Malcolm Jones and possibly John Robb, forwards. The centers are Leonard Roguin and Vernon Tapogna, who also plays guard, while the remaining guards are Oly Gusovich, and George Hadlen.

California, with only one touchdown scored on them this year, took a long stride towards the Rose Bowl Saturday by beating the Huskies from Washington by a 14 to 0 score.

The Indians from Stanford looked none too impressive as they beat Southern California Saturday by a field goal, the score reading 3 to 0. "Monk" Moscrip again won the ball game for Stanford as his educated toe split the uprights for the score.

Martie Endorses Nevada Student Ski Team Proposal

Physical Education Director Favors Minor Sport Move

Experienced Men Expected To Form Nucleus Of Team

With J. E. "Doc" Martie, head of the physical education department, announcing himself as wholeheartedly backing the plan to put out a winter sports team at the University of Nevada this semester and next, the movement for a ski and skate team was given new impetus this week.

Martie not only favors the university entering a winter sports team in big coast tournaments this season, but advocates giving minor sport letters to successful participants.

"I have always done all in my power to encourage the development of young ski stars at Nevada," Martie said, "and have given physical education credits to entrants in university-conducted ski classes in the past."

Two of the leaders in the movement to have Nevada send a team to the Yosemite Inter-Collegiate, a winter sports carnival in which the famous Hoover trophy is given the winning school, are Wayne Poulsen and Ed Rose.

These two youths, junior students at Nevada, are rated high up in skiing ability by Sierra Nevada experts, who watched them perform at tournaments last winter. With these two classy jumpers as a nucleus, Nevada seems slated to develop a winter sports team which would be favored to capture the Trophy despite strong competition from California, Stanford, and other leading coast colleges.

Another outstanding performer in winter sports who will be ready for competition is Dick "Rube" Sauer, varsity halfback on the football squad. Sauer is an accomplished skater.

VIUGH INJURED

Mitchel Viuch, who received severe floor burns in a basketball game recently, is being treated at the campus infirmary.

INMAN TREATED

Frank Inman is still receiving treatment at the infirmary for an injury received October 29. Inman tore a muscle in his right leg, but has shown slight improvement lately.

Elna and Rita Jepson, members of Pi Beta Phi sorority spent the week-end in Sacramento.

Two Cal School Games Scheduled By Independents

Two basketball games have been scheduled by Kenneth Johnson, coach of the Independent basketball team, composed of University of Nevada students, with California high school quints.

Loyalton and Portola, the two high schools with which the games have been scheduled, are said to be two of the strongest high school basketball teams in this section of the country. The Independents, to date have won six games and lost one in their fight for leadership of the Intra-Mural matches.

Johnson stated that the dates for the games have not yet been decided upon, but it is probable that they will be held within the next two weeks.

The Independent teams roster includes Frank Goodner, Ray Waldren, Sam Stark, Lincoln Liston, Florindo Nannini, Lauritz Lund, Jed Oxborrow, Leo Demetrakopoulos, Chester Evans, and Sherwin Garside, manager.

E. E.'s Entertain Home Ec. Club

Junior and senior home economics students and faculty have been invited to a meeting of the University of Nevada branch of the American Institution of Electrical Engineers next Tuesday.

Domestic electrical appliances will be shown and discussed for the benefit of the guests.

Talks on "Meter and Power Bills," "Vacuum Cleaners and Fan Motors," "Home Radios," "Home Lighting," and "Heating Appliances" are scheduled.

Speakers will illustrate their subjects with demonstrations and diagrams.

"Engineer-style refreshments" will be served at the close of the meeting.

Breakfast Is Planned By Newman Students

A Communion breakfast for members of the Newman Club on December 14, was planned at a meeting of that organization held Sunday night.

Maurine Graf is in charge of the entertainment, for the next meeting to take place November 24.

Adult Education Plan Is Success

The adult education program, consisting of a series of lectures, radio talks, and afternoon and evening classes given for the benefit of the public, has just completed its second month of existence.

Since the beginning of the course, when President Clark gave the introductory lecture on October 12, the talks have been highly successful as a means of making the university useful to not only the regular students, but to the community at large. The lectures have been well attended by the public, and the speakers have proved interesting as well as competent.

Under the direction of Vice-president Maxwell Adams, chairman of the lecture group, the talks have been given every Thursday at 7:30 p. m., and will continue until the last lecture, which will be sometime near the end of March, 1936.

The series of radio talks, given over station KOH, have been well received, and have dealt with interesting and timely subjects. During the remainder of the semester speakers will be chosen with a view to obtaining a highly diversified program. The talks will be heard over the station every Tuesday night, under the direction of Prof. Stanley Palmer.

Probably one of the greatest benefits to the public are the courses offered in the late afternoon and evening, which makes it possible for teachers to work out graduate majors and minors in their particular fields, and to secure a Master's degree within three or four years, while in service.

Registration has shown that this plan has been well received. Courses are offered in the school of education, language department and in chemistry.

of the line to protect the backfield from the fast Spartans breaking through. The line is one of the heaviest that Nevada has ever put on the field, averaging almost 190 pounds per man.

Continuing his shift toward the center of the line from end, where he started the season, Hollis McKinnon is sure to be one of the starting guards. In covering this assignment last Saturday the lanky Texan turned in one of the most outstanding performances on the field, stopping or being mixed with innumerable plays. Probably paired with McKinnon will be Jerry Delaney, who has also turned in a stellar performance all of the time that he has been in uniform this year.

Nevada will have no trouble when it comes to center, with Bob Smith, burly sophomore, who has played all of every game this year, and has yet to be guilty of a bad pass. He is also very valuable to the Wolves on defense in his backing up of the line.

Tackles will probably be Showalter and Hadlen. Showalter has started in each game and has turned in a good showing. He is also acting captain. Hadlen played a considerable portion of the Fresno game, taking Bradley's place when the latter was injured, and as a result seems slated for the starting call this week.

Good on Defense

Starting ends for the third game in a row are John Benson and Joe Cleary. Both are good pass receivers, Benson is particularly good on defense and Cleary has shown ability at fast breaking down the field under punts to trap the opposing safety man.

In the backfield the starting line-up will probably include Ohrt, Tharp, Rodriguez, and Grubbs. This combination has proven itself the "tops" of the several groups that "Brick" Mitchell has available, combining speed and dependability.
