Capacity Crowd To View Frolic At Evening Show

Orchestra Number to Begin Show,
Followed by a Kicking Chorus
And Takeoff Act

Fraternities and Sororities Enter
Acts for Homecoming Awards;
Glee Club in Opera

In the annual display of student talent, the Wolves Frolic, more than 150 university students will perform before the footlights tonight at the Granada Theatre before a capacity crowd.

Under the title of "Happy Days Are Here Again," or "Oh! Susanna," with lyrics by Lemke, and broodies by Brodie, the traditional production will feature chorus numbers, solo musicals, and comedy acts.

According to William C. Miller, director of the production, the show will be up to its usual standards.

Orchestra Opens Show

As the curtain raises the Wolves Frolic orchestra will play a college medley. The band, under the direction of Morgan Mills, is fifteen pieces featuring the brass section. Merle Snider will be at the piano, with Freddie Dunn, Claire Sutherland, Ray Goodloe, and Jerry Salter in the saxophone section, "Red" Strachan, Bill Bailey, and Les Leggett with the trumpets, Rueben Tuttle and Joe Moore playing trombones, Ray Zanets with the drums, Duane Collins with his own brass section and Bill Busey and Harry Upon playing guitars.

The first dance will feature sixteen girls in a kick chorus under the direction of Edith Mortensen. Members of the chorus are Lola Yvonne Stoddard, Gene Winters, Virginia Morgan, Gail Moore, Esther Romano, Frances Nickols, Esther Leola, Pat Lannon, Margaret Hussman, Charlotte Johnson, Rose Boggio, Bette Naismith, Ellen Hoffman, Louise Mornston, Aldene Branch, Janet Holcomb, and Mary Alice Plath.

Fraternity-Sorority Parody

The Lambda Chi Alpha-Kappa Alpha Theta skit will feature a parody on "Dangerous Dan McGrew," with an act entitled "The Dangerous Sigma Nu," with Louise Emminger, Betty McCullough, Lois Downs, Tony Yriberry, Burke White, Don Purdy, Norrison Beatty, and Jim Perkins.

Following the sorority-fraternity presentation will be the Girls Trio with Jean Smith, Peggy Gill, and Mary Elizabeth Wood, singing, "Bye Bye Baby," "Will I Ever Know," and "Sing Baby Sing."

Louise Mornston will do a tap solo, followed by a blackout with Furman Byars and David Goldwater.

"Sagebrush," will be the Gamma Phi Beta presentation by Eunice Beckley, Bette Naismith and Virginia Kearns.

A tap rope jumping chorus will be the feature of the Tri Delta skit with Mary Millard, Barbara Ferron, Lola Yvonne Stoddard, Charlotte Johnson, Evelyn Bulmer, Mary Margaret McGill, Helen Collins and Betty Parish.

Pantomiming a boxing contest with Harry Akerman and George Friedoff as the contestants, and Bill Johnston as referee will be the A. T. O. bid for the best fraternity skit.

Ruth Palmer, sensation of last year's Frolic will sing two solos.

The closing act of the first part of the show will feature the chorus in a soft-shoe dance.

Grads Will Dance At State Building

A 10 piece student orchestra will provide music for alumni and under grads who will gather at the informal dance tomorrow night at the State building, climaxing the seventeenth annual homecoming of Nevada graduates.

Dancing will begin at 9 p. m. and continue until midnight.

Decorations from the Wolves Frolic will be used to adorn the orchestra platform and entrance to the ballroom, and programs will not be distributed to the crowd.

Cups and trophies given as rewards to the winners in intramural sports, the fraternity and sorority houses with best decorations and organizations with best floats will be awarded to winning groups during the course of the evening.

Patrons and patronesses will include President and Mrs. W. E. Clark, Dean and Mrs. R. C. Thompson, Dean and Mrs. Robert Stewart, Dean and Mrs. Maxwell Adams, Dean and Mrs. Frederick H. Sibley, Dean Margaret E. Mack and Miss Louise Sissa.

Ticket sales are being handled by the Aggie club under the direction of Mark Yori, president, who is also chairman of the dance committee.

NOTICE

Le Cercle Francais will meet Tuesday at four o'clock in Dr. Chappelle's office. It is absolutely imperative that all members be present.

Grad Reminisces Of Good Old Days And Enjoys Task

By THOMAS P. BROWN '90
Guest Columnist by Request

The U. of N. Sagebrush has some very good reporters and they are learning the newspaper game quite early. One of them is Jess Christensen. He knows how to make the other fellow work. He also has one of the indispensable requirements of a reporter—that of diplomacy. And so invites me to be a guest columnist for a day (page "Lady for a Day"), and so I have borrowed a mill and now am writing away at Prexy Clark's glass-top administrative desk.

Well, Nevada Alumni and Nevada students, it is a long time between drinks—drinks of Nevada's ozone. Yesterday I renewed acquaintance with the U. N. campus for the first time in 25 or 27 years—and what's a year or two when one is old enough to count the passing years in quarter-centuries—marathons so to speak.

My first visit to the Campus was in August, 1887, when I came here with my father, LeRoy D. Brown, first president. Morrill Hall was very lonely then—it had no neighbors of degree, except a shed for broncos and buckboards which later became known as the "Ram Pasture"—the first home, I believe, of the T.H.P.O. My second formal introduction to the Campus was in 1895 when I returned from a few years in California to be a freshman. That made me a member of the Class of 1899. And some way or other I survived the avalanche of knowledge and wisdom that was thrown at me and actually walked off with a degree.

So, yesterday morning, when I came up the hill to talk to the seniors-juniors of Professor A. L. Higginbotham's classes in journalism, I felt both at home and also not at home. I was not at all sure of my surroundings. I did not think I was in the right church, but I was not certain as to whether or not I was in the right pew. So many changes in the Campus as compared to my time—the old Gym was the newest building when I left. Such a beautiful grassy rectangle in the center. Such a fine football playing field, and a great block "N" on Peavine's slope. And beautiful trees, though the autumn leaves were falling. In a word, the present day campus reminds me of views and descriptions of universities and colleges in the East and in England which are of course many years older than Nevada.

I appreciate the welcome I received from the "ladies and gentlemen of the press" whom I met in Room 105, Hall of English, yesterday. Very informal but efficient. I have heard of Nevada's courses in journalism. I know Norman Bell, U. N. '27—now night city editor of the Associated Press—and methinks it's a good thing that we old-timers have become columnists or press agents or public relations men because the younger generation is doing the "Excelsior" stunt—see Henry Wadsworth Longfellow for details.

I note that President Walter E. Clark has now been at the helm of this University ship of state for twenty years. I noted that he has his desk in the northeast corner of Morrill Hall and can now look out over the beautiful campus. There is inspiration in that.

"I enjoyed greatly a luncheon with Dr. Clark and Mrs. Clark and Miss Miriam Clark. Parents of Nevada's students may be assured that the home influence certainly permeates this Campus. We talked of many things—I expressed regret that I had never been exposed to Sanskrit—and so if that subject should ever be added to the curriculum you can blame me. Also I sorrow because I never had calculus. I think it is a good thing to carry around with you—and use both brands while you are about it—integral and differential—i. e., one for each hip pocket.

I ventured to Lincoln Hall and went to Room 305—there was where Phillip Y. Gillson and I camped out in 1895—we were among the first guests to patronize this establishment. I met up with Guy Morris, of Tonopah, and his brother Thomas. Also left my best regards for William Gull of Yerington. Guy Morris' room-mate. I still think that is the star room in Lincoln Hall. Its atmosphere is the quintessence of studiousness. Phil Gillson and I studied 27 hours out of every 24 when we occupied Room 305.

Dr. Clark took me for a fine automobile ride through Reno and environs. Reno, as well as the University, has made marvelous strides. The city is very, very metropolitan.

I met Louise B. Lewers, '95; Delle Boyd, '99; Armeta M. Fritz, '33, during the day; also talked to Hoyt Martin, '29. Delle Boyd was president of '99 during the joyful year when the gym was finished. Some class "miscellaneous" carved initials and class numerals in the fresh cement. Richard Brown, superintendent of buildings and grounds, asked me who was president—and I told him that Delle Boyd had that honor. "Just like you juniors," said Dick Brown, "you elect a girl president and I o-c-can't o-c-uss her."

A. W. S. Meeting To Be Thursday

Executive Committee to Meet
Early in Week; Questions To Be Discussed

The Associated Women Students will meet next Thursday morning at 9:35. Betty McCuiston, president, announced this week.

All classes for women will be dismissed that hour, it was said yesterday at the offices of President Walter E. Clark. The executive committee will meet in the early part of next week and will decide upon the questions to be brought up at the meeting Thursday.

"In past years," Miss McCuiston said, "the A. W. S. has always sponsored a style show in order to raise money for the student loan fund. It is not known as yet whether there will be a style show, but there will be something given to raise money for this purpose."

"The buy-a-brick campaign, which is for the purpose of raising funds to erect a new student union building, will also be discussed."

"The idea of having each sorority furnish entertainment for an A. W. S. meeting sometime during the year has been suggested," Miss McCuiston stated, "and the executive committee will decide whether this should be done or not. If it is decided to do this, some sorority will furnish entertainment for the next meeting."

Wood to Attend Army Convention

At a meeting of Scabbard and Blade held last Tuesday evening Fred L. Wood, senior mechanical engineer, was unanimously elected to represent the local chapter at the national convention of Scabbard and Blade to be held in Raleigh, North Carolina, Nov. 19, 20 and 21.

In the past only the parade marshal, who this year is Guy Morris, has ridden a horse and this year under their new ruling his aide, Jack Richardson, adjutant, will accompany him on horseback. Guy P. Morris, captain of Scabbard and Blade, presided over the meeting.

Nevada Debaters To Enter Tourney

Four Men to Make Pasadena Trip
To Discuss Minimum Wages
For Industry

Nevada will send two debate teams to the annual Western Forensic tournament sponsored by Redlands University in Pasadena on November 23 to 25. Debate Coach Robert Griffin announced yesterday.

"Four members of the varsity debate squad will be selected to make the trip," Griffin stated. Selection of these men will be made sometime during the week preceding the tournament and will be based solely upon ability shown."

First U. N. Appearance
This is the first time that Nevada has ever participated in this meet, which will include debaters from as far north as Washington and as far east as Utah. It will include approximately 300 debaters, representing nearly every university, college and junior college in this district.

The essential purpose of these debates is to give Nevada debaters platform poise and experience, Griffin explained.

Debate Question
The proposition to be debated is, "Resolved, That Congress should have the power to establish minimum wages and maximum hours for industry." Both teams will be given the opportunity to participate in a minimum of ten debates each, and possibly fifteen. The winner of the class "A" group, of which Nevada is a member, will be given transportation to the national meet which will be held later in the year at Chicago.

"Aside from participating in the debate, Nevada will probably enter the extemporaneous speaking and oratorical competitions," Griffin stated.

Competing Debaters
The six varsity debaters who will compete for the four berths on the trip are: Norrison Beatty, Charles Doherty, Homer Herz, Emile Gezelin, Louis Weiner, and Robert Miller.

Preparations for the debate will begin immediately after Homecoming and a seminar will be established in the library for the convenience of the debaters. It is expected that various members of the faculty acquainted with the subject will assist the debaters in their preparation for the competition.

Men competing for the trip are all veteran debaters who participated in the intramural debate tournament of last year and in various intercollegiate debates.

Greeks Will Honor Grads at Houses

With luncheons and dinners in order, the various houses on the hill are planning to entertain their respective alumni tomorrow in accordance with homecoming celebration tradition.

Delta Delta Delta house is the only sorority having an open-house which is to be from five to seven, complimenting the luncheon at noon for the alumnae.

Gamma Phi Beta and Kappa Alpha Theta are having luncheons at their houses at noon for the alumnae only, while Pi Beta Phi has planned a luncheon to be held at the Century club.

Among the fraternities, Phi Sigma Kappa and Sigma Phi Sigma are planning dinner for the grads after the football game. Lambda Chi Alpha is planning a smoker for its alumni and Alpha Tau Omega will entertain with an open house for the alumni, and a Saturday luncheon.

The Sigma Nu house will be open to the campus, serving a buffet lunch all Saturday afternoon. Beta Kappa reports a breakfast to be served Friday night, while Sigma Alpha Epsilon will be host to its grads at a Friday night dinner.

Blue Key Group Will Cooperate With Committee

Service Organization to Conduct Frolic, Usher at Game and Drive in Parade

Cooperating with the Homecoming committee in meeting the members of the Idaho football team, maintaining order at the bonfire rally, ushering at the Wolves Frolic, driving cars in the Homecoming parade, selling tickets and programs at the game on Saturday and ushering at the game will be the members of Blue Key, it was decided at a meeting of the society held on Tuesday night.

In addition to the regular duties performed by the group at football games and at Homecoming, several members of the group will be in charge of the illumination of the block N on Thursday night when the large bonfire is ignited on Mackay field. The remaining members of the group will aid the committee in keeping people away from the bonfire and the fireworks which will be across the field from the spectators.

Those members of the honorary service fraternity who will aid Walter States, member of the Homecoming committee and member of the group, in seating the audience at the Frolic will be Silas Ross, Cletus Libby, Emery Graunke, Willis Dalzell, Sherwin Garside and Louis Weiner.

Driving cars for the committee in charge will be Oliver Aymar, Sherwin Garside, Louis Weiner, Emery Graunke, Walter States, Bob Zadov and Adam Paterson. The first car in the parade will be driven by Garside, while States will follow in the second. Graunke in the third, Paterson in the fourth, Aymar fifth, Zadov sixth and Weiner in the last car, in which will be honored guests at the celebration.

Discussion about attendance of members at meetings followed. It was decided that if a member missed three meetings during a semester without an excuse he would be expelled from the group. If caps are not worn when designated, the group decision was that it would be equivalent to an unexcused absence from meeting.

The official Blue Key cap will be worn by all members at the rally and at the game on Saturday when the group participates with the students, and the administration to keep the spectators and students in order.

Woodland Fans Laud Wolf Pack

Stellar Play of "Bomber" Ohrt,
Wolves' Flashy Passes Get
Writer's Praise

Nevada's colorful team received four columns of praise in the Woodland daily newspaper last Saturday. The sports editors were very enthusiastic over Dashiell and his flashy passing attack, and waxed eloquent over the stellar game played by Co-captain Ohrt.

Here are a few quotations from the writup of the game: "No Texas team—no Crimson Tide from Alabama ever topped a drive with a more colorful and flawlessly executed touchdown play than the one pulled from the hat by the Wolves" (referring to the four-way pass play), "class of the state of Nevada and certainly the Far Western conference"; "Doused with the spirit of old Texas—to keep 'the ol' apple moving towards the white stripe—the one that pays off—the Nevadans flashed a typical 'Lone Star' passing attack, featured by Nevada's greatest star in recent years, Johnny Bomber Ohrt."

You can blame Doug Dashiell for the Texas tricks. He's a native from Texas and likes the wide-open spaces just as wide-open plays. The "Lone Star" (Ohrt) was ample to route the best our Aggies had to offer. His blinding speed, his passing, his kicking and field judgment gave Woodland's largest football crowd thrills they'll never forget."

"Twenty passes the Nevadans tossed. They connected with eleven, which is a good average in any league. Ohrt did most of the tossing. His shots were accurate and not of a looping variety."

The Woodland writer thought that "either the Aggies are weaker than fans realize, or the Nevadans have their best ball club in ten years. The Nevadans left the field as fresh as Eskimos, and might easily have collected a much larger score."

The paper also devoted a column to an interview with "the jolly Texan," (Dashiell) and also praised the Nevada yell leaders.

Colonel Reed Ill; Morris Instructs

Colonel William L. Reed, professor of military science and tactics and head of that department, has been confined to his home for the past ten days with a severe case of influenza.

It was expected that Colonel Reed would be able to return to his classes this week, but complications in the form of facial neuralgia developed. He will probably report for duty next week.

Homecoming Fete Officially Opened By Bonfire Rally

Mackay Gives Signal for Start

Students, Alumni and Townfolk
Display Spirit During Fireworks by Cheering, Singing

By JOHN BRACKETT
"Grads, we welcome you!" This was the attitude of the speakers and the student body in general last night at the traditional bonfire rally which signaled the opening of the seventeenth annual Homecoming celebration.

Clarence H. Mackay, Nevada's greatest benefactor, gave the signal for the opening of the celebration, attended by over 5000 people, by Postal telegraph. As soon as Mackay's telegram was received, the huge pile of wooden boxes was set on fire, and the Homecoming celebration that promises to be one of the biggest in the history of the institution officially got under way.

Featuring short talks by Senator P. A. McCarran, William Cashill, A. S. U. N. president; Alan Bible, alumni representative; Dr. Walter E. Clark, president of the university; Douglas Dashiell, head football coach, and Dean Reuben C. Thompson, the celebration was officially begun.

Following the speakers, the rally was taken over by Louis Weiner and Sam Zuckheim, varsity yell leaders, who led the throng in several yells. The university band, led by Professor Theodore Post, played several selections.

Mackay field became lighted by the glare of the huge bonfire, Emile Gezelin, Homecoming committee chairman, acting as master of ceremonies, officially welcomed the alumni and introduced William Cashill, president of the associated students.

After welcoming the alumni on behalf of the student body, Cashill briefly reviewed the football games the Wolf Pack has played this season.

"The performance of the team on Saturday will typify, I am sure," Cashill said, "the spirit of the whole student body—a spirit that will not admit defeat and it will be a performance that, winning or losing, will bring pride to all Nevadans."

Bible Talks for Alumni
Representing the alumni, Alan Bible '31, who is now district attorney of Storey county, praised the excellent showing of the 1936 football team and said that it was carrying on the long established traditions of Nevada.

Reno Merchants Donate 8 Cups

Eight cups, surpassing in beauty and size those presented in previous years, will be awarded by the chairman of the Homecoming day committee at the dance Saturday night.

This year the president of the University, Walter E. Clark, entered a revolving trophy to be presented alternate years to the sorority or fraternity having the best decorated float. The best sorority float will receive the cup this year. However, in order to keep the cup it must be presented to the same house three consecutive alternate years.

Telegraph Signal Opens Activities For Celebration

Frolic, Parade, Games and Dance Feature Program Planned for Grads This Weekend

Fraternity Cross Country Race To Be Run Before Parade and Football Encounter

By EDWARD CONNORS
With the telegraphic greetings of Nevada's greatest benefactor, Clarence H. Mackay, from across the continent opening the seventeenth annual U. of N. Homecoming celebration, the activities marking the three-day festival were officially begun last night with the colorful, enthusiastic rally, bonfire and fireworks display on Mackay field.

Immediately after the last of the fireworks soared into the air and lighted the field below, students left the stadium to dance on the street in front of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity house on Lake street. The large crowd danced to recorded music for two hours until the chill night air ended the annual Homecoming event.

Alum Register in A.S.U.N. Building
This morning returning alumni flocked to the A. S. U. N. building to register and then rested for the Wolves' Frolic curtain, which will rise tonight at 8:15 in the Granada theater. The exhibits of various campus organizations were on display today and will remain open for inspection until Saturday afternoon.

Ticket sales, under the direction of Blue Key organization, indicate that a large crowd will fill the show house tonight to see the twenty-one acts, dancing choruses of both male and female dancers, and orchestral numbers making up this year's Frolic.

Alumni registration will continue Saturday morning until the time for the mammoth street parade at 11:15.

With the colorful, fast-stepping R. O. T. C. military group of the university leading the long assemblage of floats, cars and drum corps, the parade will begin at Ninth and Virginia streets, proceed to Mill, then east to Second, whence the marchers will go west to Sierra. The parade will march to Fourth on Sierra where the more than mile-long assemblage will disband.

In the colorful parade will be the University of Nevada band, floats entered by every sorority and fraternity group on the campus, the American Legion drum corps, the military units, cars bearing honored guests, and several floats commanded by campus organizations.

Cross Country Race Begins at 10
Before the parade gathers, the annual inter-fraternity cross-country race will be decided when the entrants start their trek from Sparks at 10 a. m. and finish at the university gymnasium.

The highlight of Saturday's program will be the football tussle between the Wolf Pack and the Vandals of Idaho, which will begin on Mackay field at 2:15 p. m. Primed for the toughest game of the year with more than a week of intensive practice and an encouraging win over the Aggies last week, the Nevada squad will line up on the field with their odds to win about even in their first game this season with a member of the Pacific Coast Conference.

T. P. Brown Will Speak at Banquet
The largest crowd of alumni ever to return for a U. of N. Homecoming will gather in the Riverside hotel where they will attend a banquet at 7 p. m. and elect officers for their group. The featured speaker at the affair will be Thomas P. Brown, 1899 graduate and son of the U. of N.'s first president, who will be preceded by Hoyt Martin, local alumni president, and other prominent alumni.

Concluding the biggest and most enthusiastic celebration in honor of the returning graduates, held in many years, alumni, students, and faculty members

Frolic Sell Out Now Anticipated

With only 425 Wolves Frolic tickets left unsold when the box office opened yesterday morning, Clay Heilman, in charge of ticket sales, was anticipating a complete sell out this year.

"The most expensive tickets," Heilman said, are the ones which are selling the fastest. So far, we have sold only three fifty cent tickets during our entire campaign. On the other hand, there are only four lounge seats left."

Authorities are expecting a last minute rush at the box office this evening, and they anticipate having to turn away a good many people because of lack of seats.

Post Announces Symphony Group

With over thirty-five members, Professor T. H. Post, head of the music department, predicts a banner year for the University-Community Little Symphony orchestra. Although the group is composed mainly of students, townspeople are represented by splendid musicians, Post announced.

The membership includes Leota Maestretti, Helen Gould, Yvonne Petre, Mrs. Clara Beemer, Robert Paille, Nina Bozkievich, Elmer Ford, Margie Sweet, L. A. Sweatt, Flossy Lou George, Tone Anderson, Robert Parker, Curtis Thomas, Milton Mapes, Ruby Ulrich, Robert Comer, Henry Lang, Louise Brooks, Jerry Salter, James Coppin, Clyde Arrington, Rueben Tuttle, and Mark Sheldon.

Robert Orr, Doris Post, Beverly Boles, W. J. Little, Mrs. Dorothy B. Post, Chas. N. Bonham, Duane Collins, and Billie Eleanor Kruger, Professor Emile Painton, Mrs. C. F. Licky, Ted Ashworth, Leslie Light, Fred Dunn, and M. W. Strauss, complete the list.

will gather in the Civic auditorium where the annual Homecoming dance will begin at 9 p. m. During the dance the cups, trophies and other awards given to the fraternities, sororities and campus organizations for the best floats, house decorations and the cross-country race will be presented to the winners, by Emile Gzelin, chairman of the committee in charge of the activities.

A. S. U. N. Building Heaters Installed

New heating equipment is now installed in the A. S. U. N. building to replace the obsolete hot water and air blast systems formerly used. The action is being taken in accordance with the decision of the finance control committee earlier in the semester.

The system now installed will do away with the hot water radiator entirely, and will divert the air from the basement to the five new registers, one each located in the graduate manager's office, the A. S. U. N. office, the senate room and one located in each end of the building. A blower fan will distribute the air equally to the registers.

This, according to Robert Creps, graduate manager, will provide better heat in the building at a reduced cost.

Preparations are also being made to install a new lighting system in the publications offices, although it is not definitely decided yet just when work will be started.

Alumni Notes

Eleanor Dean '36, who was a member of the publications board, is now a graduate student in English and journalism at Wheaton college.

4 Houses Enter Frosh in Tryouts For Sagen Bids

23 Women Begin Semester Trial Tomorrow When They Sell Pop at Football Game

Approximately twenty-three freshman women will begin work tomorrow for membership in Sagens, women's pep organization, when they sell pop at the annual Homecoming game.

Five women are being entered by four sorority houses, Delta Delta Delta, Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta and Gamma Phi Beta, while the Independent women are entitled to three new members. Beta Sigma Omicron and Alpha Delta Theta, the other two national sororities on the campus, will not be considered for membership in the pep organization.

Of the twenty-three now beginning work, eight will be chosen at the end of the semester to bring the total membership of the group to 21. New members will be chosen on willingness to cooperate in any project undertaken by the Associated Women Students. Those with most points to their credit will be given preference in the final choice.

Assist in Registration
Two members of the group are assisting in alumni registration. Jessie Sellman had charge of the registration desk in the Associated Students' Union building from 11 to 1:30 this morning, while Joyce Cooper will be in charge tomorrow morning from 9:30 to 10:15.

All women in the organization will appear at the game tomorrow dressed in the emblematic white sweat shirts and blue tams, and will sit in a section reserved for them.

Former Student Talks to Teachers

Problems Discussed by Educator Concerning Rural Schools and Lower Grades

Miss Helen Heffernan, former prominent student of the Nevada campus who registered here in 1915 from Goldfield, was one of the principal speakers at the state teachers' institute held here this week.

Miss Heffernan, now commissioner of elementary education and chief of the division of elementary education and rural schools in the California state department of education, has gained national recognition in these positions which she has held since September, 1925.

She was a member of the Nevada student body from 1912 to 1915, and was graduated from the normal school.

Upon leaving the Nevada campus Miss Heffernan attended the University of California, where she received her B.A. and M.A. degrees. She is now a candidate for the doctorate at Stanford university.

She has been a summer session instructor at the University of California, Stanford university, Utah State Agricultural college, Chico State college and San Francisco State college. Miss Heffernan has been a featured lecturer on many state educational programs.

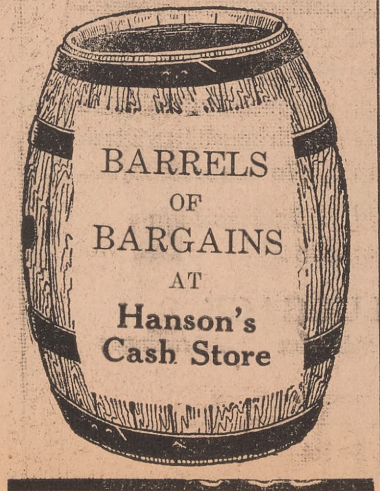

Dr. Church Confined To Home With Illness

Although Dr. J. E. Church was scheduled to resume instruction of his classes this week, the date of his return to the campus is indefinite.

Due to the strain of the trip from Russia, the attending physician has advised a longer period of rest for the world renowned scientist.

Men Lead Women In Psych Tests Given Freshmen

Male students of the freshman class of Nevada are smarter than the women if the freshman intelligence test, given in the orientation class several weeks ago, is to be believed.

According to R. A. Irwin, assistant professor of psychology, the gross scores showed a total of 74 points for the men and 72 for the women.

Scoring according to the colleges placed the college of engineering freshmen as "tops," with an average gross score of 83½ points, followed by the arts and science students with scores of 71 for the men and 74 points for the women. Agricultural freshmen ranked lowest with a score of 61 points for men and women, respectively.

This year's test had no time limitations and out of the possible 150 points the scores ranged from 21 to 130 correct answers, showing the better score to be six times as much as the lower score.

The test was divided into three sections, one section testing difficult vocabulary understanding, another a test of ability to reason and the last section showing the comprehension of new and difficult reading material.

The men and women of the university as a whole ranked equally in the vocabulary and reasoning test, but the men students excelled the women in their ability to read and understand new and difficult reading material.

Names of those students receiving high scores will not be made public this year, but any student interested in his individual rating may call at Professor Irwin's office, where his rating can be learned.

First Year Coeds Advertise Frolic

Upperclass Committee Sentences 11 Frosh to Wear Placards For Punishment

Freshman women wearing placards yesterday advertising the Wolves Frolic were not doing so just to help out the show but as a form of punishment dealt out to them by the women's upperclass committee, Wednesday afternoon.

This manner of punishing them has not been used on the Nevada campus for some time but is being used again this year in addition to the regular method of chastisement, freshman women offenders providing entertainment for A. W. S. meetings.

At the next A. W. S. meeting which will be next Thursday these women will have the second installment of their punishment.

The offenders are Janet Holcomb, Nadine Hirsch, Wilma Jones, Juanita Elcano, Margaret Garaventa, Genevieve Gardella, Flossy Lou George, Pauline Tobener, Ethel Hardy, Mary Longero and Harriet Swackhamer.

"Freshman women going to the game in Woodland were not excused," Mary Millard, chairman of the committee, said, "since they had ample time to return for the painting of the 'N' Saturday morning."

FOOTBALL'S BIGGEST THRILL
BY Ted Husling FAMOUS SPORTS ANNOUNCER

THE GREATEST THRILL IN FOOTBALL IS A PERFECT SCORING PLAY. MINNESOTA PULLED A BEAUTY LAST YEAR IN THE MINNESOTA-NEBRASKA GAME

UNDEFEATED, MINNESOTA FACES TOUGHEST TEST

MINNESOTA HAD ADVANCED DOWN THE FIELD FOR A FIRST DOWN ON NEBRASKA'S 9-YARD LINE. NOW HERE'S WHERE FOOTBALL BRAINS COME IN. HERE'S WHAT TO WATCH FOR AT THE NEXT GAME—

DOWN 1 YDS TO GO 9 BALL MINNESOTA

GOAL TO GO!

DOWN 2 YDS TO GO 5 BALL MINNESOTA

NEBRASKA STIFFENS!

DOWN 3 YDS TO GO 3 BALL MINNESOTA

THE BIG MOMENT—WILL THEY SCORE?

A LINE PLUNGE OFF CENTER IS STOPPED BY NEBRASKA. THIS PLAY IS NOT INTENDED TO SCORE. MINNESOTA IS DOING WHAT EVERY CLEVER TENNIS STAR, FENCER, OR BASEBALL PITCHER DOES—RUNNING PLAYS TO GET THEIR OPPONENTS OUT OF POSITION & OFF TIMING

AGAIN MINNESOTA THRUSTS AT THE LINE. NEBRASKA STOPS THEM DEAD. THEY'RE FIGHTING WITH EVERY OUNCE OF VIGOR TO PREVENT MINNESOTA FROM SCORING

9 TEAMS OUT OF 10 WOULD UNCORK THEIR SCORING PLAYS NOW. BUT NEBRASKA EXPECTS THIS. MINNESOTA HAS TO USE DECEPTION. FOR THE THIRD TIME THEY CASH THE LINE. THE BALL IS ON THE ½ YARD LINE. MINNESOTA GOES INTO A Huddle—

MEANTIME EVERY MAN ON THE NEBRASKA TEAM WHO CAN STOP THE PLAY IS TAKEN OUT. THANKS TO THE THREE PLAYS JUST PRECEDING, THEY ARE OFF-BALANCE AND OUT OF POSITION. THIS MAKES IT EASIER TO STRETCH THEM DOWN FLAT AND OUT OF THE RUNNING. THE ACTION PICTURE SHOWS THE PERFECT MINNESOTA BLOCKING.

HELLO, AGAIN!
"Hello, grads!" This weekend belongs to you. Classes have been dismissed in your honor, and the doors of every department on the hill have been thrown open to provide pleasure for you while you are here.

Some of you are going to be surprised at the changes the years have wrought since you were undergraduates. You older grads are going to wonder at the growth the university has made, and you younger ones are going to note the rebirth of student spirit.

Students are seeing tradition in a new light—time honored traditions have had a new birth—but you will see all that for yourself while you spend this weekend "at home."

"Welcome, grads!"

IT ISN'T A SHOW!
As a new Homecoming Day celebration speeds rapidly towards its end, we wonder if the "old grad" is really enjoying his three day vacation in which the current crop of university students strive mightily to entertain him, and make him leave with happy memories of college days.

This year, as never before, the interest in the university by its widely spread alumni, is necessary. At the dawn of a new era no organization is stronger than the weakest point of its foundation, and so too with the rebirth of Nevada spirit and Nevada athletics.

The task of the undergraduates should not be to amuse the "old grads" when they return but to show them why their loyalty in the university is warranted, and where, by their assistance, it can be bettered.

Past years have proved that the alumnus has left with the idea that the entire show was put on to try and get something out of him. This year, with most everything which will interest the returning men and women starting anew, so should the attitude of the student change, so as to definitely reflect an attitude of giving the "old grad" his money's worth, so that he might leave after being intelligently treated, with happy memories of his college days.

TO THE COMMITTEE
"We welcome you" sounded from the throats of the throng at Mackay field in honor of the old grads returning to their former haunts. The success of the demonstration was obviously due to the efforts of the yell leaders, but working silently in the background and without praise was Nevada's Homecoming Day committee, which is the real impetus for the celebration and its success.

The committee deserves the gratitude and thanks of the student body for their untiring efforts on behalf of the students and this, the greatest Homecoming celebration in the history of the university.

EDUCATE THE FROSH
The pathetic lack of support on the part of the freshmen who failed to support the annual N painting expedition to the huge block letter on the face of Peavine marks a doubtful turning point in the attitude of the first-year men which should be put down in no uncertain terms.

Manifestation of deliberate withdrawal of cooperation on the part of the freshmen in particular may be excused when they miss once—they are in no position to understand "value received" from cooperation in worthy activities—but when they miss it is up to the upperclass students to convince them that it is most important not to miss any more.

Upperclass men and sophomores are assumed to realize the importance of maintaining tradition—that is the reason they are not subject to the rigid law enforcement under which freshmen live—but the enforcement of these traditions is the responsibility of the men in the upper classes.

Freshmen never look upon their duties in maintaining tradition as anything other than work—they do not realize that they are deriving something that will be of lasting value to themselves, nor do they realize the present value of contacts and good times.

We who are upperclassmen should take the proposition of "educating the freshmen" more seriously—for their own good.

Knoles Addresses Nevada Teachers
"In spite of the depression and all it has meant to us school teachers, I can still be an optimist," Dr. Tully C. Knoles, president of the College of the Pacific, Tuesday told more than 300 Nevada school teachers in Reno for the state teachers institute.

During his speech which was entitled the "Basis of Optimism," Dr. Knoles discussed present economic, sociological and theological ideas, contrasting these with former beliefs.

"Humanity has adopted the idea God is well disposed toward man," he said, continuing that old beliefs in demonic possession are rapidly falling in disfavor. He then traced beliefs that man is wasting natural resources and pointed out that in every instance man has developed suitable substitutes.

Nevada graduates who took part in the program are Miss Helen Spina who accompanied Miss Charleen Purcell in a trumpet solo, Miss Leota Maestretti played a violin solo accompanied by Miss Violet Rebaleati. Miss Heffernan was a guest speaker at the teachers meeting.

The Utah Chronicle claims that the 1938 Utopian, the university yearbook, will be the first in the country to use direct-color photography.

The Pedagogue

Homecoming week it is, and we are more than happy to welcome Dr. Church back into our midst again. You seemed a long way from home when you were confined in a Russian hospital in Moscow, but now we are glad to have you back with us once more. While the students and members of the faculty couldn't call the hospital to inquire about your condition, or send you any cheery words to make your stay less burdensome, still we all felt greatly disturbed over your illness.

To a man who has had local, national and international honors bestowed upon him, who has brought our university into the spot light internationally, and who is a friend as well as teacher to his many students, may we present a real orchid. Many words could be written and many speeches given about this truly great man, but may it be sufficient to say "Welcome home, Dr. Church."

This week the entire student body has been at the door of the university ready to welcome visitors and graduates to the Nevada campus. This week we have been playing host to a great many adult students who are showing their loyalty to Nevada by returning again this year for Homecoming. This loyalty, found among the alums, did not begin when they received their diplomas from the university. Instead, it began when they were undergraduates and were doing their best to make their years in college the biggest and best years in the history of the school. Without such spirit and enthusiasm within them when they were attending college, how could they find the time in their busy adult lives to return once again to their alma mater? To such spirit and loyalty may we all aspire while making the most of our college education.

Maybe it wasn't such a bold suggestion that we made several weeks ago about having the WPA white-wash the N. By the turnout of freshmen for the annual trek to Peavine, it begins to look as if the entire class was expecting just that. When 125 out of a class of 450 fail to show up for a class meeting that has been scheduled for two weeks, then it begins to look as if the fault rests with the members of the class and not with the class manager or his committees for the annual event. However, a lot of credit should go to those who did appear. They managed to get through the business of giving the N its fall coating of white in a very short time. It makes the rest of us feel that we were slackers when it took us an entire day to complete the semi-yearly bath. To those members of the freshman class that did turn out to do their bit to make Homecoming bigger and better, may we offer our congratulations. You are getting into the "swing of things" and becoming better Nevadans.

With the early fall rains descending upon the campus this week, the desperate need of more concrete or brick walks became apparent again. Mud was tracked from one end of the campus to the other on the walks, not to mention the steps, corridors and classrooms of the various campus buildings. The need for such campus repairs has been long noted by progressive students and members of the faculty. If you think it's fun to walk through mud on the way to an early morning class, then won't you please come around and polish my boots?

We are glad to see so many former students back in our midst again even if it is to attend the teachers' institute. Some graduates can't find the time to return to the campus for Homecoming, but they do manage to wend their way "home" when attending institute. Don't forget, my friends, that

Letters to Editor

Editor's Note—The Sagebrush welcomes letters to the editor on important questions confronting students, and will print them anonymously if desired, so long as the identity of the writer is known to the editor. Letters to the editor do not necessarily reflect the policy of the Sagebrush.

Editor The Sagebrush—Two weekends ago a certain sorority on our campus gave a tea and hired a downtown orchestra.

Why hire a downtown orchestra when there is a good one composed of University of Nevada students? These men, although you have graduated from college the gates are always open.

Our nomination for the Hatlo hat this week: The guy who gave birth to the catchword, "Beat the L out of the Vandals." And, oh, Dashiell men, keep the "L" in Wolves intact.

When the silver helmeted boys prance out on the field there will be only one thing more striking in the day's spectacle and that will be the parade of bonnets, colored skirts and pumps which will trek around the track to the far side of the field. We have heard complaints that this competition among the Miss Asterbilts detracts from the game but we wouldn't miss it for the world.

Every year they holler about the waning interest in the Wolves' Frolic, but the stamped go on and so does the show, thank the Lord. Try to get a good seat and you can then see that the maniac (I don't mean you, Mr. Miller, you only put on the show) who advocates the abandonment of the Frolic is a bit out of whack. She's a sell-out, fellas, she's a sell-out!

Now in October, and I can be the queen of the May, mother. Why? Because I can again skip merrily around and around again in the revolving doors of the library much to the glee of me.

ALWAYS A GOOD SHOW

who also play in the university band, spend many hours to provide a "peppy" band for the school and to provide spirit for the football and basketball games. The only thing that they receive for their trouble is a chenille N. It takes plenty of time and plenty of hard work. Isn't it just, to give these men a chance to make a few dollars when they can hire out for campus affairs?

It would be a different thing if the music was inferior to that of the other, so-called downtown band, but it isn't. It seems to me that this was a very cheap act on the part of this sorority and in the future they should give these college musicians a break.

I am not a member of the band or of this orchestra and am in no way connected with it. I am just another grieved student.

Editor The Sagebrush—The thing that stands out most in your editorial column is the way you have been panning the freshman class ever since school began this semester, and I have stood in silence as long as I have been able to.

If I am wrong in what I am going to say, I will accept correction from another student other than yourself, as I have put you down as a perennial crank who must do something to show his egotistical authority—and so you take it out on the one campus group unable to fight back.

Did it ever occur to you that freshman students have something to do once in a while besides paint Ns, gather fireworks for a silly old bonfire, decorate bleachers and do other tasks that most institutions pay flunkies and janitors to perform? I came to college to get an education, and not to "kowtow" to a group of upperclass men.

I see no reason why, in a state institution, in a land of "equality," a rigid caste system should be set up to discriminate against freshmen. And no one can deny that a caste system does exist, else why should there be a law against wearing cords, a law against where a freshman may sit in A. S. U. N. meeting and on the campus, to say nothing of agitation to reinstitute a frosh dink as a further means of marking the first year men apart from upperclass men.

For obvious reasons, I am requesting that you "stick by" your promise not to print the name of anyone who writes a letter to you, as I am convinced life would hardly be worth living here were my identity to become known.

Publication Begun Without Board Of Regents Approval in 1893 In Church Basement

Appears as Magazine at First; Changes to Weekly Newspaper To Increased Demand

By GWEN ERIKSON

The action of the board of regents in refusing the students the right to publish a paper makes necessary the publishing of the Student Record by the Independent association.

These were the words of the founders of the present University of Nevada Sagebrush in the first editorial entitled "Salutatory," which anonymously greeted the state at large on October 19, 1893.

Prior to this, in March, 1887, a magazine appeared entitled the Student Monthly, but it was definitely not a success.

Undaunted by the denial, these same students met in the basement of the old Congregational church and formed the Independent association. This association guided university publications for nearly twenty years.

The first two issues of the Sagebrush were printed without any mention of its editorial staff, and the Nevada State Journal was sworn to keep secret the names of the student editors.

Because of the immediate popularity of the paper among the students, the university officials relented and recognized the publication.

During the next ten years the little magazine showed a slight but steady increase in strength.

By 1905 the paper had become such a vital force in the university that all shreds of resistance were broken down and it moved its headquarters to the gymnasium.

Apparently in 1908 the Independent association turned its attention to the student body, for at this time it helped to win for them student government.

After the official A. S. U. N. constitution had been formed and approved, August Holmes, as editor, put out the first truly modern Sagebrush, on August 29, 1910.

The title line bore the state seal in the center and was captioned The University of Nevada Sagebrush.

OUR SHORT STORY

Under the blazing hot summer sun two little "rah-rah" college nymphs ran dashing to and fro in search of biological amphibian, biped and diurnal lepidopterous specimens.

After flitting around for a half-hour for diurnal lepidopterous, which are none other than butterflies, the nymphs traversed to the limpid pool of Manzanita and gazed into the water at their moss-covered faces.

Then discouraged, the girls see the bargain in biological specimens in the distance. Away they rush to a better field. The poor biped specimens see them coming, and as the nymphs swoop down upon these males they let out a big yell and start running.

After such illustrious excursions, the nymphs finally deliver themselves in the nets to the professor as the best biological specimens that they could find.

Prize honor of the week goes to the alum who said, "Why bother with the men on the campus when there is such a good looking football coach?"

Welcome back to ye old campus, you grads, you will be met with open arms (in most cases). Especially Graf, Bowen, Caton and Leonard, by Tapogna, Jones and Erickson, respectively.

And here is a special welcome to Jolly Sullivan, LaRue Stark and some of the other "Brush" big shots who wouldn't allow their names to appear in the column.

Marvie Moler, that studious little lad from the Lamba Chi, has had to drop a subject since love has come his way.

During the next ten years the little magazine showed a slight but steady increase in strength. The courage and perseverance of those first editors is evident.

Lockley Maule, who has settled down to the sweet and innocent type, was seen down at Herz's looking at frater-it bears today. Leslie Bruce, editor in 1921, dispensed with the state seal and put in its place on the title line a Wolves head.

In 1930 the present title line appeared. Since that time the Sagebrush has only varied in size, corresponding to the amount of campus news.

Fulton Describes Geology of Mine

Dr. John A. Fulton, director of the Mackay school of mines, was the principal speaker at the A. I. M. E. meeting held Tuesday night in the Mackay Science hall.

The subject of Dr. Fulton's talk was the Jumbo mine near Jungo, Nevada. He outlined the development of the mine and described its general geology.

Walter Palmer of the metallurgy department described the old mill at Jumbo which treated two tons of ore per day and was used until recently.

Battalion Colors Will Be Displayed In Annual Parade

Blue Silk Banner Presented by Reno Elks Will Be First Seen Tomorrow

Cadets Will Police Grounds for Homecoming Day Game Saturday Afternoon

The new battalion colors of the University of Nevada R. O. T. C. corps, presented to the school last spring by the Reno Lodge of Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will be seen for the first time on display tomorrow when the corps marches in the annual Homecoming Day Parade.

The colors of heavy blue silk with gold fringe and tassels bear the Seal of the State of Nevada above which is a scroll with the white letters "University of Nevada" and below "R. O. T. C."

Company "A" is the color company of the Nevada cadet corps, with Cadet Captains Robert C. Davey, Craig C. Moore and Frederick L. Wood in charge, and will act as custodians of the colors.

The military unit is always one of the most colorful in the parade and should be no exception this year. New leather garison belts will be worn Saturday in place of the customary web ones, and new dress shirts have been secured for the officers, according to Captain H. W. Isbell, Cadet Commandant.

The Commandant announced that the first call for parade would be at 10:15, and assembly would be called at 10:30, all men to be in service uniform with rifles and belts, as for drill.

Battalion Commander will be Cadet Captain Charles L. Allen and Battalion Adjutant Cadet Captain Jack A. Richardson.

On Saturday, Isbell said Company "A" will furnish ushers, guards and grounds police for Mackay field and vicinity. The company will form on the walkway east of the armory at 12:45 and will be marched to the stadium where they will be posted.

tion the band will play Kamin Owstra, a quasi-opera number.

After the band opening the chorus will do a tap number, which is followed by the Sigma Phi Sigma bid for the best fraternity presentation, which is called "One Bright Sunday Morning," with Richard Sawyer, Richard Solt, Robert Vaugin, Clyde Keegle, Otto Plat, Lester Agee, Prescott Wilson, Norman Nichols, Claude Hunter, Cecil Caples, Frank Hickey, Thomas Kane, Ben Moore, David Langberry, Emile Gezelin, and Robert Record.

A member of the band Merle Snider will play a piano solo, "Lazy Rapsody." Following Snider will be the Glee Club presentation in concert form, the opera "Carmen" under the direction of Theodore H. Post.

WEATHER MAN PROMISES PERFECT DAY

"Fair weather ahead."

This is the prediction made by George V. Sager, chief of the Reno division of the United States Weather bureau, for the Homecoming celebration.

Granting that the weather man doesn't pull some last minute tricks from his bag, Reno is due for a spell of regular good Nevada fall weather, just crisp enough to make everyone peppy, and not cool enough to prevent a record turnout of students and alumni at the big game.

Various killjoys who have been predicting snow, at least, for Homecoming, "because it always snows on Homecoming day" are doomed to be disappointed this year, for there are no indications of any storms in sight.

Band Practicing In New Quarters

Room in Old Barracks Building Remodeled for Use by Hill's Musicians

The University of Nevada band began practice this week in its new room in the barracks building which has been fixed especially for the musicians by Acting Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds Carl Horn.

Lights were put in and a storage room was built for the safe keeping of the instruments and the music. The room is large enough to accommodate 60 musicians and their instruments.

This new room was met with approval by Professor T. H. Post and the members of the band.

"The old room," said Prof. Post, "was too small to accommodate the larger band this year, and the noise was so deafening in the old room that it was hard to concentrate on any one instrument, and this made playing very difficult."

The band has been working on a group of novelty numbers and stunt formations for the Homecoming celebration.

The band has a large program this week, with a rally last night, and tomorrow a parade and the football game.

Although a platform was supposed to be built, the band has not been definitely assigned any place at the football game.

affair, as well as an intercollegiate and intersectional game. State, county and city officials participated in the welcome and I believe the whole occasion was something near the ideal for an intercollegiate contest. We have looked upon this game not simply as a football game but also as an opportunity to truly welcome the group and to build an understanding between the states. Particularly would I speak of the excellent impression which Doug Dashiell made upon our community. The game was hard and clean and the teams were evenly matched. I know that you and your entire university would have been proud of this group.

Cordially yours,

Bruce R. Baxter, President, Willamette University.

Dr. Walter E. Clark, President, University of Nevada, Reno, Nev.

Dear Sir—It was our pleasure to have the football team of your university as our guests during their stay in Salem last week. We found them a very high type, well behaved and serious group of boys and we cannot let the opportunity pass of advising you of their excellent conduct while here. We were particularly well impressed with your coach, Mr. Dashiell, who had excellent control of the team.

We heard many complimentary remarks by Salem citizens of your coach and team.

We appreciated having these gentlemen as our guests.

Yours very truly,

'99 Grad to Speak At Alum Banquet

T. P. Brown, Former Washington Newspaper Man, Returns for Homecoming

Principle speaker at the alumni banquet set for tomorrow night at the Riverside will be Thomas Pollock Brown, '99.

Brown is now editor of the Western Pacific Railroad company's news service with offices in San Francisco.

His father, Leroy D. Brown, was president of the university from 1887 to 1889 and his son spent the earlier part of his life here.

Brown was on the staff of the New York American in Washington after the World War, was later director of publicity for the Ohio Republican State committee, returning again to Washington to do publicity and magazine work.

He is now writing a series of articles to stimulate interest in the far west. The stories are published by the Western Pacific under the general title "Little Stories Along the Line of the Western Pacific." He is assisted in these stories by Louise B. Levers, '95, and Professor Vincent P. Gianella, '20.

"Along the Skyline of Memory," the main feature of the 1936 issue of the Alumni magazine was written by Brown.

Brown addressed the journalism classes Thursday morning on the subject, "The Washington, D. C., Corps of Correspondents," the news coverage they have to make, and how they work.

Although the text of Mr. Brown's speech to be given at the "old grads" banquet is not known, a large number of alumni are expected to attend for the annual get-together, Hoyt Martin, alumni president, said yesterday.

phrase, "This is Nevada's year," Dr. Walter E. Clark, president of the university, praised the enrollment, standards, scholarship and spirit prevalent on the Nevada campus.

Senator P. A. McCarran, who flew from Washington, D. C., in order to speak at the rally, was introduced by Dr. Clark and was presented with a blue banner, with the word "Nevada" spelled upon it in silver letters. The banner was anonymously sent to Dr. Clark with instructions to present it to the senator.

Building the theme of his talk on the colors of the university, Senator McCarran praised the alumni who have penetrated to the far corners of the earth, carrying with them Nevada's spirit of loyalty, strength and cleanliness.

'Have Fighting Chance'

Doug Dashiell, Nevada's head football coach, welcomed the alumni, and said that he welcomed the opportunity of meeting all of the grads. Speaking of the game tomorrow, Dashiell said that the team had a fighting chance to win.

"However the game comes out tomorrow," Dashiell said, "everybody may rest assured that the Wolf Pack will be in there fighting—Nevada will fight!"

Before introducing Dean Thompson, Gezelin gave a word of thanks to the merchants of Reno for their cooperation in helping make the celebration a success.

"This is the greatest Homecoming rally Nevada has ever had." Thus did Dean Thompson climax a brief history of the celebration from its beginning to the present day.

Following Dean Thompson's talk, the rally was turned over to the yell leaders, Louis Weiner and Sam Zackheim. In novel form, Weiner led the stu-

Interest Is Held By Slow Speech, Is Student Belief

Last year's orientation class believes that the way to hold interest during lectures is to speak slowly and refrain from mumbling words in a "wearisome monotone," according to reports received by Dean Maxwell Adams when he asked the class to criticize speakers who had appeared before them.

According to the reports, people who speak too rapidly cause nervous tension on the part of listeners, with the result that they become restless, while people who mumble have a hypnotic effect.

Among other suggestions given by the group for improvement in the course were two in direct opposition to each other. One group of students thought the course should contain more music to liven up "dry lectures," while another faction expressed the opinion that too much time was being spent in musical programs, and the period could be used more profitably by devoting more attention to thorough coverage of the vocational guidance talks.

Students to Name Nevada Day Queen

Nevada Day queen elections, in which all members of the student body will participate, will be held Tuesday from 9 until 4 in the A. S. U. N. building to decide, by popular vote, the name of the girl who will reign over the industrial show and other festivities on October 31, it was announced this week.

Since it is believed by the committee that university coeds are representative of the state of Nevada, it has asked sororities, Manzanita Hall association and the Independent students to present candidates, making only the stipulation that the woman chosen be a native of Nevada.

So far Ethel Kent has been named to represent Gamma Phi Beta, Florence Koocher Alpha Delta Theta, Eleanor Gardella Beta Sigma Omicron, Evamae Beemer Delta Delta Delta, Ellen Creek Kappa Alpha Theta, Virginia Posvar Pi Beta Phi, Marian Uhart Manzanita Hall association and Chrissie Finn Independents. Miss Gardella was chosen in place of Eleanor Barry for Alpha Delta Theta because Miss Barry is not a native Nevada.

The woman chosen will reign over the Nevada Day Ball and will present awards won by the various units in the parade.

Members of Blue Key, honorary service fraternity, will supervise the voting. The queen will have two attendants, who will be the two women next in line with the highest number of votes.

Students, alumni and townspeople, yelling by the sections in the bleachers in the "spell it" yell.

Stunts Pulled

Another novel stunt was pulled by Zackheim, who had all the blonds cheer, then the redheads and finally bringing in the whole assemblage.

Herb Peck, former song leader at the university, was called from the stands by Zackheim and led the group in "U. of N. So Gay."

As the fire died down, casting its flickering light upon the field, the fireworks display furnished by the Shell Oil company was set off. Inspired by the band, the assemblage sang a variety of songs with spirit and enthusiasm.

Campus Partisans To Debate Issues At Open Forum

The first campus debate and open forum of the present political campaign will be held Wednesday evening, October 28, in the Education auditorium under the direction of the university debate department.

Sponsored by the campus Democrats and the Landon-Knox Republican club, the question to be discussed will be, "Resolved, that the Republican party should be returned to power in the coming election." The affirmative will be upheld by the Landon-Knox club represented by Carol Williams and Norrison Beatty, while Lewis Pulsipher and Bob Miller will handle the Democratic case.

The debate will be chairmaned by Professor Robert Griffin, debate coach.

The proceedings will start at 8 p. m. and admission will be free. The constructive speeches of both sides will be made from the platform, while the rebuttal will be carried on from the floor with any member of the audience being allowed to question either side on any of its statements.

"This is the first time that any such forum has been attempted on the campus and it is being sponsored by the debate department for the sole purpose of holding an unbiased discussion upon the vital issues of the present campaign," Griffin stated.

The forum will be open to both students and townspeople, with no restrictions as to party affiliation or registration.

Students Attend G.A.A. Conference

The class in modern dancing, under the direction of Miss Margaret Tolton, instructor in the women's physical education department, and Emily Tholl and Gertrude Polander, delegates from the Women's Athletic association, were guests at the Girls' Athletic association conference held at Reno high school on October 17.

Miss Tolton's dancing class contributed to the program by giving an exhibition dance.

Various plans for sponsoring G. A. A. activities were discussed by high school members and representatives from the University of Nevada.

Those attending from the university athletic department were guests at the entertainment program, luncheon and Reno high school-Auburn football game.

Military Society Honors Founders

Company C, seventh regiment, of Scabbard and Blade will celebrate the birth of Theodore Roosevelt as National Scabbard and Blade Day by giving a banquet at El Cortez hotel October 27.

Guy P. Morris, head of the honorary military organization, will preside as master of ceremonies at the banquet. President Clark, Colonel Reed, Captain Isbell, Sergeant Hustis, "Doc" Martie, Dr. Wood, Professor Ayers, Bert Cummings, Wesley Hurley and Tom Morris will be guests of honor.

At the banquet "Doc" Martie, a former member of the group, will speak on the history of the local society.

Ten senior members of the local chapter will also be present. Captain Guy P. Morris, First Lieutenant McNeely, Second Lieutenant Lomori, First Sergeant Richardson, John Carr, Fred Wood, Wayne Kennedy, Craig Moore, Charles Allen and Robert Davy.

The national society of Scabbard and Blade was founded over 30 years ago at the University of Wisconsin by five cadet officers, and four years ago a memorial flagpole was erected at that institution by the national society in honor of the founders. It now has 78 active chapters in 48 states and a total membership of approximately 24,000.

The purpose of the society is to defend American traditions and ideals, promote the interests of R. O. T. C. training, preserve and develop the essential qualities of good and efficient officers and to spread intelligent information concerning the military requirements of our country.

Active membership in Scabbard and Blade is limited to outstanding cadet officers in the R. O. T. C. units. They are elected by members of the chapter based upon their proficiency in military science, academic subjects, character and other attributes. Officers of the regular army, national guard and organized reserves may be elected to associate memberships. Honorary membership is conferred on civilians.

The best of men and the best of women may sometime live together all their lives and . . . hold each other just spirits to the end.—Indiana Daily Student.

W. A. A. Will Enter Float in Parade

For the first time in several years the Women's Athletic association will enter a float in the Homecoming Day parade tomorrow.

Eunice Beckley, sophomore student, is chairman of the committee on preparations. Although W. A. A. has been represented in the parade in previous years, the members have not carried out any definite theme with a float characteristic of the athletic activities of women on the campus.

This year, prospective members of W. A. A. will ride in the float as part of their entrance requirements into the association. All of the various sports supported by W. A. A. will be represented.

French Club Election Set for Next Week

A secretary-treasurer will be elected and a drive for new members started Tuesday when Le Cercle Francais meets for the first time this semester.

The meeting was originally scheduled for last night but was called off because of poor attendance, according to President Ernie Gezelin.

To become a member of the French honorary, one must be majoring in French or have some definite feeling for French culture. It is not necessary to be a student at the University, Gezelin stated.

Post Gives Lecture To State Teachers

The music division of the State Teachers Institute, which has been in session during the past week, was given a special lecture last Wednesday afternoon by Professor Theodore H. Post, head of the university music department. Post, who spoke on "Music Methods in the Public School," stressed the point that singing is the most efficient method of giving every pupil a general knowledge of music.

"Whereas the learning of a musical instrument is desirable, still a thorough knowledge of music can be gained for every pupil by teaching him the rudiments of singing," Post stated.

The lecture terminated in a demonstration of group voice training in which the audience participated.

Coeds Set Pace In Swing Skirts And Peaked Hats

Hats high, shoulders broad, waists fitted and skirts in swing time. These important style features give this season's campus clothes a dash they have not had in many long months.

Set the pace for Homecoming with a silly little peaked hat, you can add inches to your self esteem as well as your height. Of course a vital part of this millinery masterpiece will be the feather which streaks out past the crown or curls daintily over one ear, or the shadowy wisp of veil which dips over your eyes.

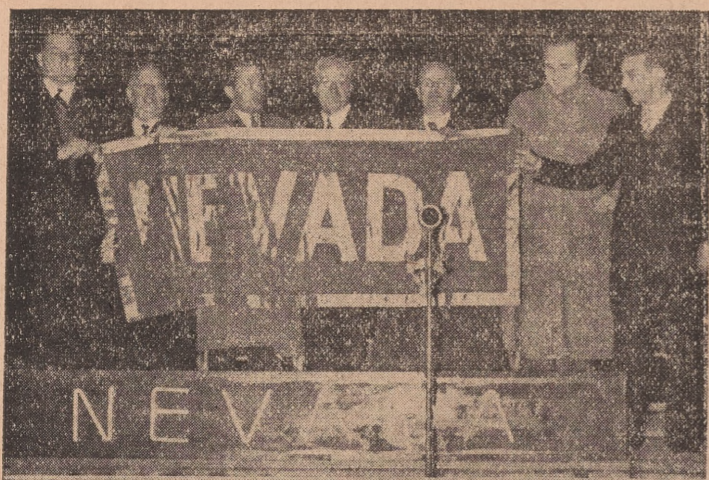

Offset this heightening influence with a short full skirt and shoulder-puffed sleeves, which have the opposite effect and at the same time emphasize a slender waist. Skirts vary in length but they are all short, usually between 12 and 14 inches from the floor. Nothing dates last year's dress quite so much as its length, so if you haven't something new to wear to the game and dance you may still look smart if you take up the hem of your cutest last season model.

A good third of the attention you give to this weekend's outfit should be devoted to shoes. Last year they were just part of a matched scheme of accessories, but now they have become something special and can be matched in color to your dress as well as hat, bag and gloves. You will probably select a moderate or flat heeled style for the game and a slightly higher one for the dance, buckle or monk type.

There is no rhyme or reason to accessories, but plenty of personality. Match them as you please, with whatever colors you like, but make them bright and exciting.

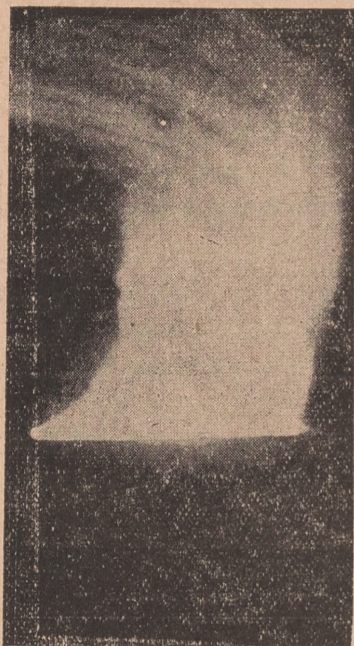

Besides the importance of color this season, there is an accent on materials, velvet and hairy wools getting the run for sport dresses, with leather trimmings. Combinations of suede and calf, alligator or patent are popular for shoes, with gaberdine and bucko also in good taste. Gloves are limited, suede, pigskin or kid, with clever stitching. Suede is also good for bags, especially for afternoon, most of the new ones having handles—to be used, not overlooked.

KOH Broadcasts Homecoming Game

As the fourth in the features of Nevada football game broadcasts, station KOH will give a play by play description of Saturday's Homecoming classic, George Ross, manager of the station, revealed today.

"The reception of the out of town and local games has been so good that it warrants our continuing the series," Ross said.

The word description over the local station will be made by Ross, assisted by Charles Barnes and an Idaho rooper as identifiers.

"The first out of town game broadcast was an experiment and worked out fine. The second game, at Woodland with Cal Aggies, proved to be a real success and we are more than glad to continue the series," he said.

Mackay Telegram Starts Bonfire

Amid the confusion and uproar of the students at the 1936 Homecoming football rally last night there came a telegram which was opened and read aloud to the fans by Emilie Gezelin, chairman of the Homecoming Day committee.

For the past five years a similar telegram has been received and read aloud, as Clarence Mackay has not been able to join in the Homecoming celebration at Nevada since 1930.

Following is the telegram:
Homecoming Day Committee
University of Nevada, Reno, Nev.

Hearty and friendly greetings from across the continent to the alumni and all my friends at the university. Earnestly hope that the bonfire opening this year's Homecoming celebration will symbolize a still brighter future for the university in its service to state and nation. You have a fine record. Keep it up. Now on with the celebration and let the fire blaze.

Astronomy Group To Hold Meeting

The Astronomical club of the University of Nevada will hold their first regular meeting on October 28, at which time John L. Carlson, professor at the Reno high school, will address the group.

The subject for his talk will be, "Can the present calendar be improved?"

The organization is open to any students who are interested in astronomy, and it is under the direction of Dr. Blair.

No Human Bones Found in Fossils At Wells, Nevada

"No human bones were found in the fossil deposit south of Wells," Professor Harry E. Wheeler declared today. "The bones were those of horse, elephant and camel. These animals were trapped in quicksand deposit at a waterhole."

"This deposit may prove to be one of the rare occurrences of this kind in North America," Wheeler said, "as there are only two similar deposits in this country—the 'Big Bone Lick' in Kentucky and the asphalt deposits at the 'Rancho La Brea' near Los Angeles."

"Through the finding of this deposit," Wheeler stated, "we may be able to trace the origin, evolution, migration and dispersion in general of these animals."

Homecoming Grid History Is Traced By Brush Scribe

By JESS CHRISTENSEN

Homecoming games played, 16; games won, 8; games lost, 6; games tied, 2—such is the history of this annual football classic at the University of Nevada, as shown by a survey of results since the conception of the Homecoming celebration sixteen years ago.

In 1920, when the Homecoming celebration was inaugurated, a strong Nevada team defeated the gridderes representing Utah Agricultural college by a score of 21 to 0. The Wolves clearly outplayed the Utah boys and were superior in every department of the game. The highlight of the contest was the 56 yard run for a touchdown by Church, Nevada halfback.

Wolves Defeat Utah

James "Rabbit" Bradshaw, the most versatile athlete in the annals of Nevada's athletic history and candidate for all-American football honors, climaxed his spectacular college career in 1921 by leading the Pack to victory with a score of 28 to 7 over the Utah university aggregation. Bradshaw's 93 yard dash for a score was the feature of the game.

"Chet" Scranton, Al Lowery and "Bunny" Hug, prominent athletes, who are today associated with physical education in Nevada schools, were vital factors in the 1922 game when the Wolves routed Whitman college of Walla Walla, Wash., 35 to 7.

Spectators at the 1923 Homecoming game saw a crippled Wolf Pack play over its head to hold the strong Santa Clara Bronchos to a 7 to 7 tie.

Nevada 23, Arizona 14. "Little Bill" Gutteron and "Pottsy" Clark ran and place-kicked the Pack to victory in 1924 in a hard fought, spectacular game.

In 1925 the University of Nevada lost its first Homecoming game to a powerful Santa Clara varsity by a score of 20 to 7. The teams were more evenly matched than the score indicates, but ragged play and numerous fumbles led to the defeat of the Silver and Blue.

The Wolves were clearly outclassed by St. Mary's college in the 1926 contest. Only stellar work by Captain Max Allen and a stubborn Nevada defense kept the score down to 13 to 0.

Duplicating the score of their Homecoming game in 1923, the Pack and Santa Clara college battled to a 7-7 tie in the 1927 classic. Captain Jim Bailey of Nevada saved his team from defeat with a 65 yard run for a touchdown and then made the conversion.

An outweighed Nevada varsity played its heart out against an overwhelming St. Mary's squad for three quarters of the 1928 game only to have the Gael reserves turn the contest into a rout in the last quarter. Final score: St. Mary's 22, Nevada 0.

A record crowd of 8000 persons turned out in 1929 to see the Far Western conference champs from California Agricultural college defeat the Pack 19 to 0.

Mackay Sees Pack Win

Clarence H. Mackay, Nevada's benefactor, returned to the campus in 1930 and saw an inspired Wolf Pack rout Cal Aggies 31 to 0 to avenge the defeat of the previous year.

In 1931 Jack Hill led the Nevada gridderes on a touchdown spree to snow Fresno State under 31 to 13.

Tom Cashill achieved national football prominence by making the longest drop kick in the United States in 1932 to help the Wolves shut out Cal Aggies 16 to 0.

In 1933—Nevada 7, College of Pacific 0. This game was really a classic and was one of the hardest fought and most colorful contests ever witnessed on Mackay field. The only score of the game came when Harvey Hill got away for a 70 yard touchdown jaunt.

San Jose State's Spartans were just a little too strong for the Pack in the Wolves were defeated 10 to 0 despite Homecoming game of 1934 and the nice work by Haman, Sauer and McDow.

Last year the Nevadans lost their sixth Homecoming game. They led Stagg's boys 6-0 for three quarters, outkicked, outgained and outpassed them, but could not score again in the closing minutes of the game and College of Pacific won 7 to 6.

Win, lose or draw, the Pack always plays inspired ball at Homecoming time and this game is one that always attracts the fans.

Chance to Win Prizes Outlined

Eight thousand dollars is being offered in prizes by two literary competitions open to students of the University of Nevada.

The New History society is offering $5000 in prizes for the best paper on the subject, "How Can the People of the World Achieve Universal Disarmament." And $3000 is being awarded by the Julia Ellsworth Ford foundation for the two best manuscripts written for child reading.

A total of 98 prizes will be offered by the New History society ranging from $50 to the grand prize of $1000. This contest is an unlimited competition open to anyone, with no restrictions as to age, nationality, race or religion. It closes May 1, 1937.

The Julia Ellsworth Ford foundation contest closes December 31, 1936, and offers $2000 as first prize and $1000 for second prize. Its main idea is to develop new reading matter for children and only those manuscripts which have never before been printed will be eligible.

Eleanor Gardella, Georgia Cooper and Agnes Howell, who are affiliated with the Beta Sigma Omicron sorority, spent the week-end in Wadsworth.

U. N. Fraternities Held Responsible For Men on Trips

Nevada fraternities will be directly responsible for the conduct of their members on the special train to the C. of P. game November 7, it was announced following a meeting of the interfraternity council this week.

Each house will be asked to look after its own members and be responsible for their actions both on the train and at the game in Stockton, Kenyon Richard, president of the council, said.

A committee composed of Kenyon Richard, Murray Moler and Jack McCrea was appointed to purchase cups for the fall sports schedule.

The council now has a cash balance of $49, with an additional $15 still due from the bean feed, Jack McCrea, treasurer of the organization, reported.

Funds for Trip Granted to Band

Funds were granted by finance control Tuesday night which will enable the band to accompany the team to Stockton on November 6 on the special train.

The band, with 55 members, will leave for the College of the Pacific on Friday morning, stay overnight in Stockton, and return with the team Saturday afternoon. Arrangements are being made for overnight lodging and meals at the pacific college, according to Professor Theodore Post, director of the band.

Augmented by a new band instrument, a bell-lyre, an upright frame of metal bells, the band will participate in the bonfire rally Thursday night. The band in full dress uniform will lead the parade Saturday morning and will be featured in the ballgame in the afternoon. Bill Busey will play the new instrument.

The military instruments for the R. O. T. C. unit military band will be sent as soon as freight negotiations can be arranged, according to Post. The instruments are granted to each military unit as soon as a quota of 25 men for a military band is reached.

Southern California mails a football weekly to Trojan graduates all over the world.

Beta Kappa Wins Horseshoe Series

Alpha Tau Omega, Lambda Chi and Sigma Nu Fraternities Tie For Volleyball First

With Beta Kappa winning both the horseshoe singles and doubles the intramural sport schedule finds only the tennis matches and the playoff of the volleyball series as yet uncompleted.

Final results give the Beta Kappas a clean slate in both of the pitching events, having won eight games and lost none. The volleyball race ended in a three-way tie which, at the end of the series, had the A. T. O., Lambda Chi and Sigma Nu in a three-way tie with seven wins and one loss each.

Final standings in volleyball are:

ATHLETES FREE WOODPECKER CAUGHT IN GYM

Proving that there are still good Samaritans in the world, the men's P. E. 3 class last Monday freed a woodpecker that had flown into the dressing rooms and couldn't get out.

The bird was flying around wildly when the men came up to the dressing rooms after a gym period and amused them for a while with its antics to escape. After the bird had dashed several times headlong into one of the large wooden supports of the ceiling the students became alarmed for its life and several doughty souls decided to rescue it.

One P. Eer. climbed up on top of the middle row of lockers while the rest of the class ran around waving towels, shouting and generally driving the woodpecker into a frenzy. All attempts to capture the bird proved fruitless until flying blindly in its fright the bird flew headlong into the student on top of the lockers.

The woodpecker was thoroughly examined for injuries by the class, then released out of one of the gymnasium windows.

Band to Feature New Instrument

When the university band parades tomorrow they will be led by Bill Busey and his new instrument, the bell-lyre, which has been purchased for the band by the A. S. U. N.

The bell-lyre has 25 notes and full two octaves with chromatics. It is painted white and the bell bars are chromium with a chrome staff. There are two large white tassels on it that will eventually be dyed silver and blue. The music is made by striking the bars with a small wooden hammer, the same as that used to play the xylophone.

Aggies, Miners Play Ball Sunday

Match Scheduled When Miners Defeat Aggies in Challenge Game Tuesday

Smarting from the 7-5 softball defeat handed to them Tuesday afternoon, the Aggies challenged the Miners to a rematch, which will feature a doubleheader to be played Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The ballgame Tuesday, which was the outcome of a challenge issued by the Miners two weeks ago, went for five innings before visibility became so poor that the game had to be called off.

Batteries were Hilberg and Sharpe for the Crucible club and Turner, Herz and Lund for the Aggies. Turner, Ronzoni, McKenzie, Yori, Cain, Matson, York, Loomis, Herz, Nichols and Lund composed the challenging team. The mining team included Carpenter, Smalley, Cleary, Cummings, Hilberg, Tong, Sharpe, Moore, Tagoni, Spencer, Burgess and Lawton.

High point men were Hilberg for the engineers and Matson for the Aggies, each having tallied two points.

The game Tuesday night marked the first contest between the engineering and agricultural departments since 1925, when the annual celebration of Engineers' Day was canceled. Prior to that Sigma Nu: Clarence Heckethorne, Stanley Wines, Chesley Freemonth and Louis Carpenter.

Sigma Phi Sigma: Craig Moore, Ben Moore and Lloyd Strachan.

No teams will be entered by Phi Sigma Kappa, Beta Kappa, Lincoln hall or the Independents.

L. C. A. Last Year's Winner

Led by the veteran Marvin Moler, who is entering his third year of competition in this race, the Lambda Chi squad is being favored by many to repeat last year's performance by winning the event. Moler clocked the distance in 25:10 two years ago and placed third last year. Murray Moler, brother of Marvin, will be missed by Lambda Chi, as he placed second in the contest the last two years.

With a strong team of seven men, Alpha Tau Omega is also being given top spot preference by many, although the hilltoppers are certain to miss the services of Floyd "Rosy" Hand, who crossed the finish line first last year and the year before, almost breaking the run record which is held at present by Fred Lohse, Lambda Chi, with a time of 21:34.2. Lohse set this record in 1928.

First added to the Homecoming celebration in 1927, the cross country race was won that year for Kappa Lambda (Lambda Chi) by Lohse, Webb and Morrison, although Clover, Sigma Nu, crossed the finish line first with a time of 25:56.

The Taus came to the front in 1923, with Vargis, Lamb and Lumbel winning the event, although Fred Lohse came in first that year with a record time of 21:34.2, which has never been equaled.

Sigma Phi Sigma won in 1929, with Lohse again crossing the line first. Con-

Sagers, Blue Key To Usher at Game

Assisted by the Sagers, Blue Key, service fraternity, will usher at the Nevada-Idaho Homecoming game Saturday afternoon, it was announced this week by Cletus Libby, president of the organization.

During the game members of Blue Key will sell programs and the Sagers, in addition to helping usher, will also assist the military department in maintaining order about the field. A special cordon of guards will be thrown around the entire area, both inside and outside of the stadium, and a special effort will be made to keep the railing in front of the parking spaces clear in order that people sitting in cars will have an unobstructed view of the game.

nely, Hannibal and Wilson were the Sigma Phi entrants.

No race was held in 1930, but in 1931 the Sigma Phi Sigma team again repeated its 1929 performance by putting Sheehan, Smalley and Chavez over the line. A Lambda Chi representative, Arentz, was the first to cross the finish line this year also, making it three years in a row that one of their men came in first.

Harcos, Hickey and Hansen broke the Taus into the win column again in 1932, but Scatena, a Yerington high school student, finished first, and Floyd Hand placed fourth that year running for Hawthorne high school.

Taus Win for Third Time

Continuing their winning streak, the Tau teams again won in 1933 and in 1934. Represented in 1933 by Pontana, Maule and Hansen, they came through on top in a race run in a blinding rain. Frank Leonard, Sigma Nu, was first to cross the finish line that year. Hand, Hickey and Maule won in 1934, with Hand crossing the line first with a time of 21:50.

Coleman Seeking Track Material

Hoping to discover track talent, Jim Coleman, assistant professor in the physical education department, has been carrying out track trials among his P.E. classes for men during the past few weeks.

According to Coleman, prospective track material in the classes has not been totally lacking, and several members will be encouraged to come out for varsity track next spring.

One contest, high jumping, has yet to be completed before the final results of the trials can be finished, probably some time next week.

Ushers Are Named For Wolves' Frolic

Walter States, member of Blue Key, honor service fraternity, acted as general manager of the Wolves Frolic tonight at the Granada theater. States, assisted by Silas Ross Jr., will be door man, and Robert Creps will be house manager. The programs will be given out by Cletus Libbey and Kirk Fairhurst.

Those ushering downstairs are Willis Dalzell, Melvin Wilder, John Carr and Don Fanning, and those upstairs are Sherwin Garside and Louis Welner in the loges and Charles Doherty in the balcony.

money to keep the first call spot. St. Clair is a quiet but determined fellow, who does, not says. He has plenty of fight in games and in practice, and will be a good boy for next year's tackle starters.

The razzle-dazzle has caught on. Nevada to date has scored in every game, and has run up a total of 54 points as against 39 points for the opposition. In conference standings they tie with College of Pacific for top honors with one win apiece.

Scoring in every game proves at least that the Nevadans have an offensive, and although they do lack some final touchdown power, that will be developed.

Pat Eaton is still slicing the uprights with an educated toe that makes one wonder if he will ever miss. In the Cal Aggies game he split the goal posts for three points after touchdowns and three for a field goal. His toe and Twombly's handling of the ball may some day mean the difference between a well won ballgame and a well lost game.

When the Santa Barbara State Gauchos invade the Nevada stamping grounds a large contingent of rooters will accompany the team. A determined effort is being made to fill a special train of the State rooters and it looks as if it might be a whale of a success.

Fresno goes to Abilene, Texas, to meet Hardin Simmons university for a gridiron engagement this year.

A few years ago an intersection game, such as that between U. S. C. and Notre Dame, was a big event and only the larger and richer schools could indulge in that sort of thing, but today a team that does not travel at least five or ten thousand miles is smalltime.

Zackheim and Weiner score another scoop. Those stickers, "Beat the 'L' out of the Vandals," are the real McCoy.

The fellows at KOH are really giving the university a big handful of support this year. Besides getting sponsors to turn over whole programs, they are also getting a sponsor to donate a sweater to the player who is chosen as the most valuable Nevadan during the Homecoming game, the Fresno game and the College of Pacific game.

Eighty-six men have seen service in the three games played so far. Twenty-nine got into the Idaho Southern Branch game, 27 in the Willamette game and 30 in the Cal Aggies game.

Five starters will be on the sidelines when the whistle blows for the starting of the Homecoming classic tomorrow.

Foremaster and Nash, two of the best guards on the squad, will be on the bench. Foremaster is suffering from an injured knee and Nash has a deep set charlie horse.

Walker will be lost as a tackle starter because of a torn cartilage, while McKinnon, lanky wingman, will be on the bench with an infected hand.

Bill Grubbs, hard driving halfback, will be out of the starting lineup and may be unable to play at all because of a pulled muscle.

Two reels of motion pictures will be taken of the game Saturday to show the Packsters how they look in play, and to help them improve their game by knowing where their faults are and correcting them.

"Slip" Madigan, bossman of the super super St. Mary's juggernaut of 1936 vintage, pulled another of his famed boners.

While the "Slip" may be a wise guy and all of that he really pulls some lulus when he schedules games just prior to the takeoff for the trip to New York.

Under those conditions the players will not go their hardest because they fear they might be injured and will not be able to make the trip.

The first boner was in the Nevada game of 1934, where the boys were looking so hard at the Ram they forgot the Wolf at their door. The second came last week when a lighter, more inexperienced University of San Francisco team tripped them up in a scoreless tie.

1937 Hoop Squad To Begin Training Late Next Month

Five Letter Men Lost Through Graduation; Regulars to Form Basis of New Squad

Prospects for Team Good With Dearth of New Material From '36 Frosh and Transfers

By MAX JENSEN
Around last year's basketball squad depleted by the loss of five lettermen through graduation, ineligibility, and failure to register, this season's Wolf Pack hoop team will begin to form when Coach J. E. "Doc" Martie opens the official varsity practice sessions about the middle of November.

Clayton Phillips, three stripe star who held down the center position last year, will play again for the Pack, being eligible for four years of competition because of having entered the university before the three year limit was agreed upon.

Al. Lansdon, varsity guard last year and a performer for the season before will be back on the hardwood along with John Robb, forward and Oly Glusovich, guard, who earned their first basketball awards last season.

Additional Turnouts

In addition to these lettermen, regular performers of the 1935-36 Wolf quintet who are expected to report to Martie at the first call are Jack Rougin, center, Malcolm Jones, forward, and Don Leighton who saw service at several positions.

Orv Tregallas, sparky forward who was rated highly by the Wolf Packs' opponents last season, Vernon Tapogna, big fast guard, Stan Smith, a center who was still developing with a great promise last season, and starting forward Joe Kelly have been lost through graduation.

Whit De LaMare, who earned his second award last season with some of the best floor work on the squad combined with a good eye for the hoop, has not returned to school for the fall semester. De LaMare may register for the spring semester and qualify for conference competition, in which case he is being considered a cornerstone of the coming winter's Nevada team.

Les Gray, small forward who built a reputation for himself in local circles with his performance at Sparks high school, as a freshman, a Nevada and a varsity forward for the 1934-35 season is expected to play this winter. Gray did not play any ball at all last year, but will probably make his senior year at Nevada, count.

Three Impress Martie

Three men have particularly impressed Coach Martie with their performance on last season's junior varsity squads. Sam Baeta, John Bowden, and Craig Moore played outstanding hoop games all winter, being in a good measure responsible for the success in the city league title of the junior varsity Blues.

The two junior varsity teams had many other possibilities for development into varsity material which will have to be tested in practice sessions.

Several men up from last year's freshman squad are expected to provide competition for berth seekers on the Jack court quintet this year among them the most promising being Robert Waldren and Dick Summerbell.

Doc Martie with his penchant for rangy centers has his eye on the campus tall man, Galen Lelongchamps, who has not reported for practice any season before, but will probably turn out next month. Delongchamps has grown up into the air about six and a half feet, and his height, coupled with experience on the Reno high school squads, makes him important potential material.

Transfer Material

This fall's flock of transfers from other schools promises to provide the Pack with additional material in abundance. From a preliminary survey of men from other schools who have expressed an interest in the coming hoop season, it

Gridiron Season Now in Full Swing For High Schools

Stewart Favored as Champions, With Las Vegas as Second; Fallon Also in Competition

In full swing, the prep grid race continues this weekend with three games on tap for fans in this section of the state.

Stewart, Yerington and Las Vegas are the only undefeated teams in the state. Yerington has a tough game with Reno, but playing on their own field, they should take the Huskies in their stride. Reno is just getting under way and after their strong showing last week should put up some strong opposition.

Stewart meets Carson at Stewart and should have little trouble in keeping their record clean. The Bucks are heading for the championship and Carson does not seem to be strong enough to stop them.

Fallon and Sparks tangle at Sparks with the kickoff set for 11 a.m. Fallon is the heavy favorite to knock over the Raiders who do not seem to be as strong as in former years. Both teams are apparently out of the championship running, and a good game is usually the result when these two teams meet.

Women's Practice Begins for Rifle

Practice for the University of Nevada's co-ed rifle team will begin November 3, it was stated by Bette Naismith, rifle manager. Practice will be held every Tuesday and Thursday at the same time. The ammunition, which has been sent for, has not arrived yet.

Challenges have been sent to the universities of Wichita, Washington, Illinois, Oklahoma, Vermont, Maryland, Syracuse Missouri, Hawaii, Montana, Georgia, Michigan, Kentucky, Drexel Institute, Carnegie, Louisiana State, Kansas State college, Northwestern, Massachusetts State college, Cornell University, Pennsylvania State college, and Connecticut State college.

The Nevada coed rifle team last year was victorious in a match with the University's men rifle team. Varsity members of the team who are back this year are Bette Naismith, Eunice Beckley, Jessie Sellman, Gertrude Polander, Elizabeth Osborn, Frances Smith, Marilyn Rhodes, Genevieve Hansen, Betty Inda and Mary Mathews.

appears that at least four intend to work out for floor sections in November.

Dick Kolbus, from Sacramento junior college, Parley Dan Croft, from Idaho, Sam Zackheim of Compton junior college, and others have registered an interest in the basketball season. Probably six or seven of these men with experience behind them will report for the first practice call.

In addition to the more or less obvious possibilities on the campus for a Wolf Pack basketball revival this fall, many potential stars may show up in practice and preliminary games, who have not come to the attention of the coaching staff.

Martie will not lack working capital when he begins his conditioning immediately after the completion of the intramural competition, and there are definite possibilities that Nevada will turn

Harry Bradley was shifted to that position from the guard spot. Bradley's and Showalters play tomorrow should make it a busy afternoon for the hard hitting Vandal backs.

Confident that his tackles will be able to cope with the opposing tackles, Dashiell said, "Bradley and Showalter turned in good games. And the switch which moved Bradley to defensive tackle from guard has been a factor in the strengthening of the line.

The weakest spot in the line is the guard position which has been hit by the injuries of two first string men, but the young mentor was satisfied that the return of "Mighty Midget" Miles to form will aid in that position. Miles is speedy and will hold materially in the interference.

Bill Cashill, holding down the first call pivot position has turned in three good games, and according to Dashiell, "will be hard to keep off anybody's all conference team."

Starting Backfield

The backfield, although hit by the loss of Grubbs, will probably start with a combination of Hart, Eaton, McDow, and Twombly. All of these men turned in fine performances in the Aggie tilt, and can be expected to show plenty of stuff in the Idaho encounter.

Dashiell will also depend on Barnes, Caldwell and Robb to carry a share of the ball packing and blocking burden.

The biggest problem which faces the Pack now is that of the lack of reserve strength. "Our reserves are light and inexperienced, but they are willing to fight it up, and we can only hope for the best," Dashiell said.

Help recapture Nevada spirit.

Glee Clubs To Do 'Carmen' Scenes

The university's music department will be well represented at the annual Wolves' Frolic, according to Professor Theodore Post, departmental head. The choral club, a mixed chorus of men and women student singers, will be at the Granada theater in full strength, to render an abridged version of the opera "Carmen." They will be accompanied by a selected group of 5 musicians from the University-Community Little Symphony orchestra.

Soloists will include Miss Ruth Palmer, soprano, and Ed Hughes or Milton Parker will take the tenor lead.

Slayings in the United States have increased 100 per cent since 1900. The annual death toll by homicides is now around 12,000.

WELCOME, OLD GRADS

The Oldest Shoe Store in Reno

We're definitely not the ones to tell people what to do, and it's always been a habit of ours to mind our own business, which is selling shoes . . . but then, isn't this the time to jump right into the social whirl? So we take this opportunity to welcome the Old Grads and wish them a merry visit at the old Alma Mater.
