Round Table Discussions on High School Publication Problems To Be Conclave Feature

The Lincoln Hall scholarship committee will circulate the scholarship notebook early next week, Charles Keeler, chairman of the committee, announced yesterday.

"Every semester we visit the various departments on the campus, and find out which men living in the hall need help in their studies," Keeler stated.

"The scholarship notebook contains the names and classes of all the men in the hall, and if any are not doing as well as the professors believe they should be doing, the scholarship committee takes the necessary means to improve their scholastic standing," he continued.

This year a more concentrated drive is being made than heretofore, as the hall barely missed getting the cup last semester and there is a good chance of the hall recapturing it this semester, Keeler reported.

The scholarship committee is composed of Charles Keeler, chairman, and Malcolm Nobis and Kenneth Ward.

Ernie Foster, United Press representative for Nevada, will talk to the group at a dinner held at the Alpha Tau Omega house Friday night. Dean R. C. Thompson will welcome the editors to the campus.

John Carr, editor of the Sagebrush, and Genevieve Hansen, editor of the Artemisia, will talk with the high school representatives at a meeting Saturday morning.

Inez MacGillivray, graduate from the university last year, who is now teaching in Fallon, will lead a discussion on the problems of high school editors Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. F. L. Merrill will give a demonstration and a talk on the place of the mimeograph in high school publications.

Murray Moler will give a talk on news photography Saturday noon. Following this talk, the editors will be guests of the university at the Nevada-Chico State game.

High school girls attending the convention will be housed at Artemisia hall, the men at the various fraternity houses.

Assisting Roberts on the committee in charge of the convention are Mary Millard, Ethel Kent, Winifred Hiltonen, Nina Boczkiwicz, Ty Cobb, Charles Doherty and Max Jensen.

Four U. N. Students Confined to Hospitals

Gertrude Polander, a member of Pi Beta Phi, was taken to the university infirmary Sunday with pneumonia. Miss Polander is a sophomore home economics student.

Leonard Roguin, junior arts and science student, is also ill in the infirmary. He will be released next week.

Joe Lommori, who cracked his thumb in the Idaho game, will perhaps be able to play in the next game. Although his thumb is still in a cast, it is healing rapidly.

Hubert Chessher, who is ill in St. Mary's hospital, is improving rapidly and will probably be able to attend school in a few weeks.

Grad Wins Automobile

Mrs. Robert Geyer, formerly Enid Harris '34, won a new automobile given away at a recent food show held in San Francisco.

Mrs. Geyer is affiliated with the Delta Delta Delta sorority at Nevada. Following her graduation here she married Robert Geyer '31, who was a member of Delta Sigma Lambda fraternity while on the campus. They now reside in San Francisco, where Geyer is employed.

Hall Association Scholarship Check To Be Made Soon

The Lincoln Hall scholarship committee will circulate the scholarship notebook early next week, Charles Keeler, chairman of the committee, announced yesterday.

"Every semester we visit the various departments on the campus, and find out which men living in the hall need help in their studies," Keeler stated.

Debaters Prepare For Tournament

In preparation for the Western Forensic tournament to be held in Pasadena on November 23, the university debate team was the guest of Professor Edward Sutherland of the economics department last Thursday night for a discussion of the issues of the debate.

The question which will be debated this year is, "Resolved, that congress should be given the power to fix the minimum wages and maximum hours of industry."

As this question is based largely upon debatable economic principles, a roundtable discussion was held under Professor Sutherland's supervision in order to clarify many of the important issues of the debate.

Another meeting of the group will be held early next week to continue the discussion, Professor Robert Griffin, debate coach, announced.

Members of the debate squad who took part in the discussion were Louis Welner, Emile Gezelin, Homer Herz and Bob Miller.

PHI SIG PREXY PAYS VISIT

William Woods, regional vice-president of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, visited the local chapter last weekend. Woods, whose home is in San Francisco, arrived in Reno Saturday morning and spent Saturday and Sunday at the Phi Sigma Kappa house with members and pledges.

Students Criticize Orientation Class

A list of brief criticisms picked at random from the term examination papers of last year's orientation class has been sent out by Dean Maxwell Adams to all those assisting with the freshman orientation classes.

The list was sent out so that the various professors would be aware of the student opinion and attitude toward the course and would be able to form their lectures with these opinions as a basis.

"Slight changes in this course have been made every year," Dean Adams said. "This is a class that must be kept up to date and I believe this list will be an aid in obtaining this goal."

All student names and specific references have been edited so that the remarks were wholly impersonal. Many of the criticisms were superficial but they all contained interesting opinions and suggestions.

Sport and 'Nice' Clothes Will Go To Pacific Game

What to take to Stockton tomorrow is the question of the week. Plenty of warm clothes and a "nice" dress is the answer.

Cold weather is in store for you. Going over the mountains there may be snow, so go prepared with your warmest and, incidentally, your most colorful sport clothes. The most appropriate combination is your suit and coat. Skirts and bright sweaters also are in order.

For going places after the game or the next day you will want a dress of satin, taffeta or velvet. You may be able to make one pair of shoes do for both occasions if they are of the right type and color. Wide strap or monk type, with medium heels, are equally appropriate for game and dance. But if you haven't any in-betweeners, you will want one pair of low-heeled sport shoes and one of higher afternoon type.

You should need only one pair of gloves, one hat and one bag, but select those that will match both outfits.

And don't forget your toothbrush.

One of the deepest holes in the world was drilled in 1926 in Orange county, California. It was sunk 8201 feet.

Student Prayer Answered In Booklet Ad

The answer to the hopeful, often repeated prayers and wishes of countless students, whose constant efforts to simplify the getting of a college education and a degree or two have been frustrated by their professors, books and themselves, has been found, not by a student but by a college professor.

And he is willing to impart the precious knowledge to any student who wants it!

It was discovered by Professor A. L. Higginbotham of the journalism department in an advertisement which he found while browsing through a second-hand catalogue this summer. The ad was clipped and placed on the journalism bulletin board recently, but the address of the would-be benefactor of hard-earned college students was discreetly left off.

The booklet, so the ad says, solves the answer to questions that have worried students for generations, such as "How to avoid being 'howled' on for what you don't know," "How to get yourself called on for what you do know," "How to impress the profs," "How to get an unfair grade corrected" and other precious information.

All it takes, the ad relates, is a little "subtle salesmanship" to accomplish what every student wants in the way of better grades with no increase in work.

Although the ad frankly states that it is something every professor will read in self-defense, neither Higginbotham nor any other professor on the campus, so far as is known, has purchased the ninety pages of "practical help" in order to build up their defense. However, if any student wishes to get a jump or two ahead of the faculty the journalism professor will gladly supply him with the address of the publisher and the price and start him on the road toward a simplified, undreamed-of college education.

Nevada Day Queen Is Honored Guest At Annual Dance

A three day celebration in honor of Nevada's seventy-second birthday was brought to a close last Saturday night at the annual Nevada Day ball, at which Ellen Creek, senior University of Nevada student, who was chosen by campus vote as the Nevada Day queen, was the honored guest.

Miss Ellen, gowned in white satin and red velvet ermine trimmed cape, with her attendants, Evamae Beemer and Ethel Kent, also wearing white satin, presided over the industrial show Friday night and were featured on a royal party float in Saturday's parade.

Miss Creek and her attendants were presented with gardenias and candy by the Nevada Day Queen as a token of appreciation to the part they played in making the affair more colorful.

Band Is Largest In U. N. History

Group Plans New Specialty Act To Be Presented at Nevada-C. of P. Game Tonight

With sixty-two members, the band has grown the largest of any single organization in the history of the university to work under the music department, according to Professor Post, music department head. Band membership has necessitated the ordering of new uniforms and a change of practice quarters.

The swollen membership has made necessary a new assistant major—Helen Collins, who was formerly drum major of the Reno high school band. The membership has exceeded the government R. O. T. C. unit quota of twenty-eight men and in accordance with a United States army regulation the military band is eligible to receive twenty-eight wood and brass band instruments.

Accompanying the team Friday morning to the College of the Pacific at Stockton, Calif., the band will present a new novel specialty act to entertain their hosts between halves. According to Post, fifty-five of the sixty-two members will take the Stockton trek.

R.O.T.C. BATTALION MARCHES ON WITH NEW SHOES

Time marches on and the views of military leaders, like everything else, are bound to change. Napoleon claimed that "an army marches on its stomach." Last week, however, Captain H. W. Isbell and Sergeant Grant Hustis of the University of Nevada military department are certain that an "army marches on its feet," as they attempted to distribute 160 pairs of new marching shoes. Shoes, shoes, shoes. Big shoes, small shoes, wide shoes, narrow shoes. Sizes range from the 6E belonging to Harold Biegler Jr. to the amorphous 12 1/2 Cs sported by Herbert L. Stiles, with the majority of the corps wearing sizes 9 or larger.

Pataky Concert Group to Dance In Gym Monday

Artiste Will Be Accompanied on Program by Students From San Francisco School

Veronika Pataky, exponent of the modern dance, will present her second concert to a U. of N. audience Monday night.

Sponsored by the women's physical education department and the W. A. A., the program will start at 8:15 and will include eight selections.

Six talented dancers from her school in San Francisco will accompany her to Reno and will assist in the program.

Miss Pataky opened her school of modern dance in San Francisco in 1934, after touring the United States and Germany as the leader in a concert group in 1932 and 1933. She was born in Hungary, where she studied elementary gymnastics and dancing, receiving her first diploma at the age of 16.

The program to be presented will include the following numbers:
Demonstration of modern dance technique.

"Vibrating Patterns," featuring Miss Pataky, accompanied by her students.

"March," dance by students.

"Hymns," also a dance by students.

"Scherzo,"

"Nightmare," featuring Miss Pataky.

"Gay," dance by students.

"Visions," featuring the themes of war and flood, which will be a solo by Miss Pataky.

Nevada Miners Visit Workings

Ten members of the Crucible club visited the tungsten mill at Toulon, several miles from Lovelock, and the tungsten and dumortierite deposits at Oreana Sunday.

George Cerar, superintendent of the mill at Toulon, showed the party through the tungsten concentrating plant. From Toulon the group went to Oreana, where it visited the tungsten mine and the deposits of dumortierite.

The club members brought back with them several specimens of dumortierite, beryl and sheelite.

International Club Holds First Meet

Meeting for the first time this year, the newly organized Nevada branch of the International Relations club held a round table discussion in room 200 of the Education building on Thursday, November 5.

"To date 12 students have signified their intention of joining the organization," Frederick C. Collins, instructor for the group, stated.

This year the club membership will be both unlimited and unqualified. In previous years only senior students majoring in either economics or political science were eligible.

The international club has a total of 783 chapters distributed throughout the world, and is dedicated to the job of promoting world peace. They are financed by the $10,000,000 Carnegie foundation.

"The organization is not to be interpreted as a propaganda agency, since it is merely a group by which various political questions are discussed and international events are reviewed," Collins stated.

"In order to give the clubs the best authorities on these subjects, a monthly selection of books is sent free to each club for its own use. Also, from time to time we expect to be able to present outstanding speakers on current international events."

The Nevada club was organized under the direction of Miss Amy Hemmingway Jones, traveling representative of the club, who just returned from a worldwide tour of inspection of the 783 chapters.

Miss Jones stopped over in Reno on Wednesday to organize the university branch.

the group were Prof. William Smyth, Prof. Walter S. Palmer, Prof. J. A. Carpenter and Dr. Harry Wheeler.

Male Enrollment Exceeds Women In English Zero

Men at the University of Nevada make more comma splices and split more infinitives than do the women, according to enrollment in English zero.

The majority of students reporting at 7 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday evenings for basic English instruction, are men. The class is now made up chiefly of freshman students, but any university student is eligible to join the class upon recommendation of any instructor.

The only requirements for joining the class are a sufficient number of errors in oral and written English in any university course to bring the student to the attention of his instructor. Students are "invited" to remain in the class until their work in English is brought up to the required standards.

Various members of the English department teach the English zero class. At present Professor A. E. Hill is in charge.

A similar class to give special attention to difficulties in English was held at the university several years ago. The new English zero class was arranged last year along with other changes made in the English department.

It was decided to call this special course English zero because no university credit is given for attendance.

This morning Mayor Richard Laub of Lincoln Hall announced that the association was going to run a mystery man in the cross country race.

Due to shyness, the mystery man will not train on Mackay field but does special road work under strict regulation formed by Laub and Guild.

Nevada R. O. T. C. Wins Parade Cup

Seated upon a throne carried by an elaborately decorated float, Miss Ellen Creek, university coed, reigned as queen and led the parade of the seventy-second celebration of Nevada's admission to the Union held last Saturday.

Because it was the best military unit in the parade, the University of Nevada R. O. T. C. unit was awarded a silver cup, presented at the Nevada Day ball last Saturday night.

Led by a Santa Barbara coed, the Santa Barbara State college band, togged in green and white uniforms, gave a number of musical selections, as did the university and Reno high school bands. All three musical groups received a big applause from the crowds as they went through their drills in front of the judges' stand on the local courthouse steps.

Saturday night at the Civic auditorium the queen gave the awards to the best pioneer, fraternal, military, dude ranch, county, commercial, civic or service club, patriotic, school, boy or girl entry.

A campaign to reduce the toll of automobile accidents is currently being promoted in college publications in various parts of the country.

Department Heads Talk to Freshmen On 'Vocations'

The university's freshman orientation class under Dean Maxwell Adams swung into its third series of lectures early this week.

The present topic, "Orientation to a Vocational Future," was opened last Thursday with an introductory lecture, "Choosing a Vocation," by Dr. J. R. Young.

Various addresses will be given throughout the semester by heads of different departments so that the freshmen may be able get a cross section of courses offered by the University of Nevada.

The whole series of speeches will be closed with an address by A. L. Higginbotham, professor of journalism, in which he will give a summary of the entire vocational field, near the end of the semester.

Recently offered as solution of the age-old problem, is this bit of wisdom, "A hen is an egg's way of making another egg."

PURE . . . and of finer texture than most anything that touches your lips . . .

We all agree on this . . . cigarette paper is important. For Chesterfield we use the best paper that we can buy. It is called Champagne Cigarette Paper. It is made from the soft, silky fibre of the flax plant. It is washed over and over in clear, sparkling water.

A lot of the pleasure you get in smoking Chesterfields is due to our using the right kind of cigarette paper. Chesterfield paper is pure, and it burns without taste or odor.

Chesterfield

They're Milder and They Satisfy

Remember this . . . two things make the smoking quality of a cigarette—the tobaccos and the paper. The Champagne cigarette paper on Chesterfields is tested over and over for purity, for the right burning quality. Another reason why Chesterfield wins.
