Coffin, Keys Men Initiate Group of Twelve Members In Running This Morning

"Bounty Mutiny" Furnishes Theme Of Annual Affair

Neophyte Performance Climaxed
In Pitched Battle on Surface of Manzanita Lake

Heralded by the popping of guns, the swish of hula skirts and climaxed by a pitched battle on Manzanita lake, 12 neophytes entertained the student body today in a take-off version of "Mutiny on the Bounty" in the annual Coffin and Keys running.

Regarded as one of the highlights of the spring semester, the Coffin and Keys running is the method used by that organization to announce the choice of crew members. The society is recognized as the highest honor that a student may attain on this campus, with membership being restricted to the most active of campus leaders.

Men who participated in the "running" were Max Jensen, John Brackett, Duncan Dorsey, Don Kinkel, Willis Dalzell, James Hart, Jess Christensen, Don Leighton, Charles Allen, Joe Lommori, Paul Walker and Ross Morris.

Big Surprise

Taking the student body by surprise at 9:35 with the beating of Tahitian tom-toms and painted maidens in the midst of a hula dance, the honored men made their first appearance on the campus. After a few moments of drum beating and dancing, Captain "Nellie" Bligh and his band of hardy buccanniers appeared on the scene, amid salvos of pistol fire.

Starting in pursuit of the native maidens, the group made a tour of the campus, distributing handbills, announcing the name of their skit, together with the "Kast of Characters." At 11:25, the band of pirates, native chiefs and hula maidens gathered on the shores of Tahiti (Manzanita Lake) for the main action of "Booty on the Bounty" or "Bligh Puts Out."

The action opened with Captain Bligh and his men preparing to leave Tahiti, leaving their hula maidens behind but taking some of the painted native warriors as slaves. After fond farewells, and many embraces, the men prepared to leave. Some of the buccanniers, however, were reluctant to leave and friction ensued, with the men being forcibly put on the boats.

Deserted and lonely, the forsaken maidens attempted to make the men come back by turning on all their charms, to no avail.

Mutiny Breaks Out

During the voyage back to England, (the other side of the lake) mutiny ensued, and part of the hardy crew returned to the island and the native maidens. Picking up the girls in their boat, the mutineers set sail, but were promptly accosted by Captain Bligh and the rest of the crew.

During the pitched battle that ensued, with various types of "commodities", most of the initiates were doused in the lake, and then straggled over the hill in the direction of the gymnasium and warmer climates.

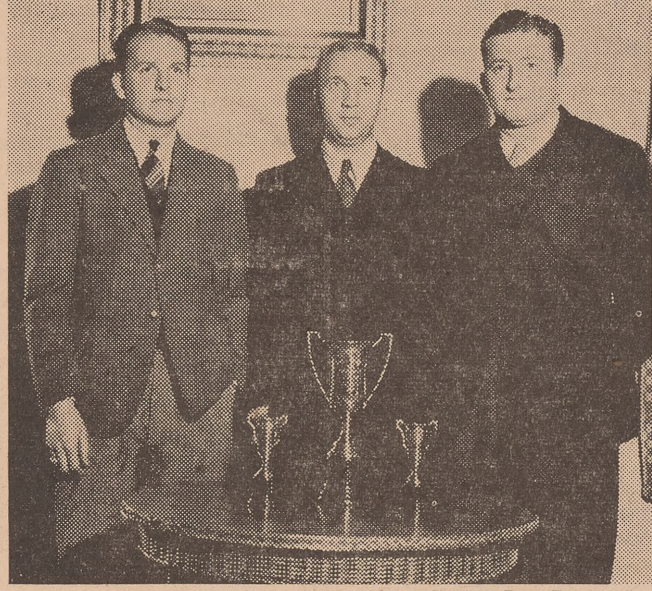

Cast of Characters

The cast of characters for the skit included Jimmy Hart, '38, who played the part of Captain "Nellie" Bligh, the original Barnacle Bill; Paul Walker, '37, as Flushy Cistern, the deaf and dumb mute-in-ear; Ross Morris, '39, as Mr. Simpson, first mate; Max Jensen, '38, as Wally Windsor, second mate, and Don Kinkel, '38, as Buyem, the coxswain, all cast as pirates. Cast in native roles were Duncan Dorsey, '38, as Heat-E Heat-E, a hot-blooded native chieftain; Joe Lommori, '37, as Hula Tula, native beauty; Don Leighton, '38, as Cut-A-Poi, another native babe; John Brackett, '38, as Dancing Grass, dusky hula dancer; Jess Christensen, '37, as Kum-Mo-A, still another Tahitian charmer; Charles Allen, '37, as Balls of Fire, the Medicine Man, and Willis Dalzell, '38, as Wee-Nee, native warrior. Among the spectators, the regular members of Coffin and Keys paraded in a group, wearing their white hats with the superimposed black coffin, skull and keys, as is the custom during runnings.

Member Group

This group included Guy Morris, '37, president of the group; Walter States, '38, Bill Johnstone, '38; Kirk Fairhurst, '38; Lee Ward, '37; Kenneth Powell, '38; Emery Granke, '37; Richard Taw, '38; Cletus Libbey, '37; Silas Ross, Jr., '37; Kenyon Richard, '37; John Robb, '38; Charles Wheeler, '38 and Ty Cobb, '37. Also in this group were Prof. J. E. Martie, Chester Scranton, Prof. F. E. Wilson and Robert Craps, faculty members and alumni member of the group.

Variety of Dolls Will Be Feature Of Tri-Delt Show

"World of Dolls" Brings Entries
From All Parts of World;
Representative of People

To Judge Prep Student Essays
For Prizes Before Show Opens
In Afternoon

Ranging in size from one-half inch to almost enormous proportions, the dolls which are to be entered in the "World of Dolls" are being classified and the finishing touches are being made for the exhibition sponsored by Delta Delta Delta sorority tomorrow afternoon and evening at the Century club.

In addition to the individual dolls that are being sent from foreign countries and the dolls dressed by the 87 Tri Delta chapters in the United States and Canada, many local people have left collections of dolls with the committee. Many dolls from the Orient dressed by the natives to represent their customs and traditions form a collection brought from China in the last two years.

Due to world-wide interest in the recent abdication and the coronation in May, dolls have been dressed to represent members of the royal family as well as "Mister Windsor" and Mrs. Simpson. Several of these dolls have been dressed by a woman whose hobby is centered upon dolls.

Essays written by junior high and high school students have been received during the last two weeks. The judges of these literary entries will meet before the doll show to determine the winner of the contest. Cash prizes will be awarded, according to Lola Yvonne Stoddard, who is in charge of this part of the event.

Displaying the dolls to the best advantage so that all may see the striking features of all entries is the main idea of the committee. The dolls will be set to the best possible advantage in lighting, so that it will not be necessary to handle them.

In order to avoid confusion and to eliminate undue crowding, children and students through high school age will be allowed to view the exhibit from one until three o'clock in the afternoon.

During the afternoon and evening, members of the active chapter will be assisted by the alliance in acting as hostesses to the campus and townspeople. The patronesses of the sorority, Mrs. Charles W. Mapes, Mrs. George S. Brown, Mrs. H. J. Gosse, Mrs. Tasker L. Oddie and Mrs. S. W. Shattuck will assist the members by presiding at the tea tables.

During the showing in the evening from seven until nine, the cups will be awarded for the prize dolls and for the essays. Awards will be made for the smallest doll, the largest doll, the most beautifully dressed doll, the oldest doll and the doll most representative of a period or a people. The committee which will judge the entries is composed of Mrs. Joe MacDonald, Mrs. J. LaRue Robinson, Mrs. Edward Reed, Miss Mildred Bray, Mrs. Sardis Summerfield and Mrs. Earl Wooster.

The entire committee in charge of the affair is headed by Kathryn Luke and Lola Yvonne Stoddard. They will be assisted by Evamae Beemer, Elizabeth Masterson, Gwen Erikson, Elizabeth Juniper, Beverly Jones, Alice Sauer, Virginia Snow and Kay Booth. Evamae Beemer has charge of the ticket sales and she is assisted by Mrs. Hugo Quilici. Tickets are on sale on the campus, in the Arcade and also will be sold at the door. All tickets for children will be sold at the door.

Nevada Debaters Acclaimed "Tops" On Pacific Coast

Rhodes, Cashill Return From Triumphal Tour with Three
Gold Trophies

Western States Champions Lose
in Finals of Pacific Coast
League to U S C

After covering over two thousand miles and participating in 23 intercollegiate debates, the Nevada debate team returned home Sunday with three gold cups and the distinction of being the outstanding debate team on the Pacific coast.

The team of Bryce Rhodes and Bill Cashill, accompanied by Debate Coach Robert Griffin, participated in two forensic tournaments. In the western states forensic tournament at Stockton, they scored a complete victory and were awarded the championship of the meet and at the Pacific forensic league tournament, sponsored by Willamette university in Salem, Ore., they were eliminated in the finals by the University of Southern California team which won the tournament. Nevada had previously defeated the U.S.C. team in the Stockton tournament.

In both tournaments the question debated was: "Resolved, That congress should have the power to fix minimum wages and maximum hours for industry." The Nevada team entered the finals along with U.S.C. and Willamette. In the finals, Nevada lost the only affirmative case of the entire tour when it was defeated by the Trojans of Southern California.

"We believe that had the breaks favored us in the finals we would have the El Cortez hotel Tuesday night, as the Western States championship," Coach Griffin stated this week.

"Of immediate value to the university was the goodwill which Nevada earned at the tournaments. Everywhere, I heard favorable comment as to the ability and sportsmanship of the Nevada team and I believe we left a lasting impression. Among the outstanding college which Nevada defeated in the tournaments were University of California at Los Angeles, College of the Pacific, University of Southern California, Washington State College, Pasadena College and Oregon State College.

Ben Morehouse, junior Lambda Chi Alpha, was elected manager of the senior class for next year at a meeting of the junior class Wednesday afternoon.

Morehouse Named Senior Manager

Other contestants for the office were Russell McDonald, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Bill Johnstone, Alpha Tau Omega, and William Winters, Sigma Nu. Johnstone and Winters were eliminated at the first vote and McDonald at the second. Morehouse is a member of the Associated Engineers and prominent in other campus activities. He is from Fallon. The duties of the manager consist of appointing all the committees of the senior class, the most important of which is the senior committee.

Game With Mexico Is Definitely Off; Schedule Altered

Mexican University Heads Decide
Nevada too Far Away for Trip
To be Undertaken

Willamette Eleven Will Play On
Mackay Field November 25 to Complete Schedule

(Editor's Note: Complete game schedule will be found on page 5).

Willamette university will meet the Nevada Wolves on Mackay field on November 25 instead of the tentative game with Mexico university. The plans for the Mexico-Nevada game were announced as definitely off by Doug Dashiell, Nevada football coach.

After several encouraging letters and conferences that led Dashiell to believe the tentative schedule would go through, he received word from Salvador Azuela, director of physical education, that because the administration was taking over the University of Mexico sports they considered it impossible for such games to be scheduled because of the distance they would have to travel.

Steps Taken

The steps taken in the negotiation with the University of Mexico were as follows:

1.—Several conferences held during the Christmas holidays in Los Angeles between Coach Charles Marr of the University of Mexico and Coach Doug Dashiell of the University of Nevada resulted in terms of contract, involving guarantee and dates for both 1937 and 1938 being agreed upon, subject, of course, to the approval of the faculty committees of the respective institutions.

Coach Marr expressed his opinion to the effect that such approval in Mexico City would merely be a formality. Dashiell had the assurance from both the faculty committee and the administration that such a trip would be approved. At these conferences, Marr explained that ever since an intercollegiate program was first instituted at the University of Mexico, it had been encouraged and financially supported by an oil company in Mexico, and he naturally assumed that that support would continue.

2.—A letter from Marr, under date of January 27, 1937, included: "Have written again for confirmation. They have been so slow in the past that we have always had trouble in arranging a schedule ahead of time. There is nothing else to do but wait for confirmation."

3.—Correspondence subsequently took place between Dashiell and the president of the University of Mexico, the director of athletics and the vice-president of the Huasteca Petroleum company of Mexico City. At all times, hope was held out for the contract being approved.

On February 14, 1937, this telegram was received from Marr, at that time in Dallas, Texas: "Recently learned that the money appropriated for football in Mexico has been turned over to Mexican university authorities. It was formally handled by oil companies. Under these circumstances, I can say nothing because if it remains thus, I will not go back myself."

5.—On March 9, 1937, this telegram was received from Mexico City, signed by Salvador Azuela, director of physical education: "Due to reorganization of our physical education, we shall discuss your offer next week with the oil officials and will communicate with you by wire our final decision."

6.—On April 9, 1937, this wire came, signed by Azuela: "In accord with oil company officials, the University too far from Mexico to include in football schedule for University of Mexico this year."

The remainder of the schedule will not be changed. Out of the eight teams on the schedule, five of these teams will play in Reno this coming season.

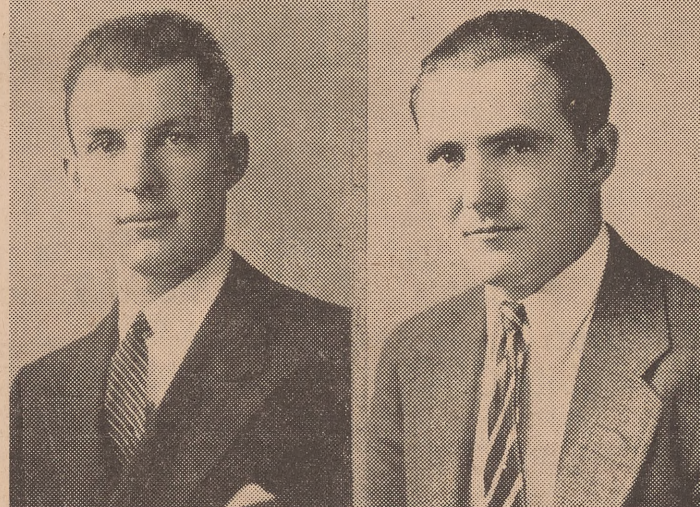

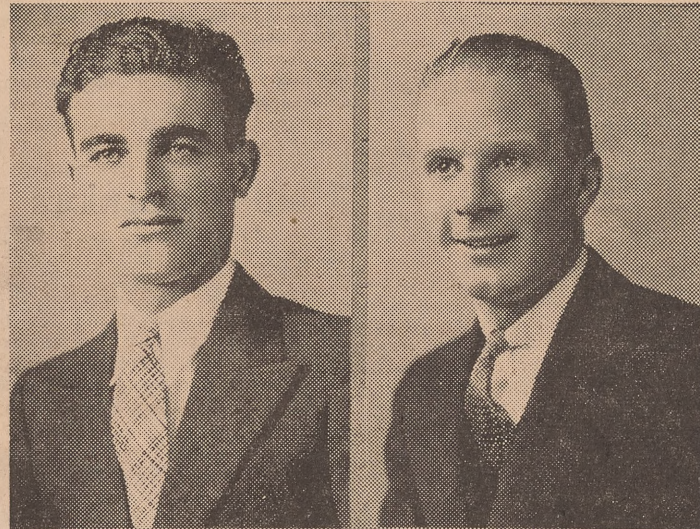

Wyoming First Opponent
The first game of the season will be with Wyoming. This game will be on Mackay field October 2 and one week from this date the Nevada gridders will go against St. Marys university at San Francisco.

The first conference game will be with Chico October 16 and will be played on their field. Three home games will follow the Chico game. First the Homecoming day game with College of Pacific and next is California Aggies which is the third conference game of the year, and Fresno State college, the last of the conference teams.

November 13 the Blue Bombers will journey to Santa Barbara to meet the state college there and then the Wolves will return home, to wind up the schedule by playing Willamette university on Thanksgiving day.

Brackett, Dalzell, Wilson, Olds To Head Publications During 1937-38 Semesters

GUIDE PUBLICATIONS' DESTINIES

John Brackett, Willis Dalzell, Sam Wilson and Ted Olds, who were recently named by publications' board to take charge of both the editorship and the business departments of the Sagebrush and Artemisia for next year. These students will take office during the summer.

Heads Take Office For Next Term During Summer

Plans for Publications Board
Banquet being Made; Leslie
Gray is Chairman

Names of the newly elected heads of the two Nevada publications, The Sagebrush and the Artemisia, were announced today by Leslie Gray, chairman of the board.

The results of the elections, which were held last week, in accordance with the A.S.U.N. constitution, were withheld from publication until today in order to allow time to get affairs in shape.

The new heads are John Brackett, editor, and Willis Dalzell, business manager, for The Sagebrush, and Sam Wilson, editor, and Ted Olds, business manager, for the Artemisia. These students, all juniors, will take their offices during the summer and will have full control of their respective publications, subject only to sanction of the publications board.

John Brackett, who succeeds John Carr as editor of The Sagebrush, recently elected a member of Coffin and Keys, is the son of Mrs. A. Brackett of Manhattan, Nev., and is a junior student majoring in journalism, a member of the Press club and of the Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity.

Under Amendment
Brackett is the first student to be eligible under the conditions of the new constitutional amendment allowing publication heads to take office after only two consecutive semesters of work.

Willis Dalzell, who succeeds Walter States as business manager of the Sagebrush, is the son of Mrs. T. L. Withers of 441 Cheney street, Reno. He is a junior student, registered in the College of Arts and Science. A member of Campus Players, the Press club and Blue Key, he also was recently elected to Coffin and Keys. He is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity.

Sam Wilson, also a junior arts and science student, is the son of Prof. and Mrs. Frederick W. Wilson of 155 University terrace, Reno. A member of the Artemisia staff for three years, Wilson was this week bid to Press club. He is affiliated with the Sigma Nu social fraternity and succeeds Genevieve Hansen as editor of the year book.

Miss Hansen is the only woman ever to edit one of the publications and is the second woman to hold a responsible position on the Artemisia in the past six years. Last year, Winifred Walsh was business manager of the year book.

Mining Engineer
Ted Olds, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Olds, 560 Lake street, Reno, is a junior mining engineer, a member of Sagers, Press club and Blue Key service fraternity. He also is a member of Alpha Tau Omega, social fraternity. Olds will succeed Cletus Libbey as business manager of the Artemisia.

"Without Politics"
"The voting," Chairman Gray said, "was entirely without the influence of politics. Considerable discussion preceded the voting on the position of editor of the Sagebrush and the members voted exactly as they chose."

At the meeting, the publications board banquet was discussed and plans were made for it.

Board Members
Present members of the board are Les Gray, chairman, John Carr and Walter States, representatives from The Sagebrush; Genevieve Hansen and Cletus Libbey, representatives from the Artemisia, and Ty Cobb and Ethel Kent, representatives at large.

ROTC Prepares For Formal Review

Major William E. G. Graham of the Predisco of San Francisco will make his annual tactical inspection of the University of Nevada R.O.T.C. unit Thursday and Friday, it was announced yesterday by Captain H. W. Isbell, assistant professor of military science and tactics.

This will conclude the reviews of the ninth corps area officials for this year. Plans call for an inspection of military classes on Thursday, in which Major Graham will give oral tests to the military students.

On Friday, there will be an inspection of troops while in drill. Major Graham will rate the local unit as being either "satisfactory" or "excellent" following his visits. Captain Isbell has high hopes of retaining the excellent rating of last year.

Topics Announced On Baccalaureate, Graduation Talks

'Stamp of University,' 'Greatest Maxims to be Subjects of Trueblood, Williams

Dr. D. Elton Trueblood, professor of philosophy and religion, and chaplain of Stanford university, who has agreed to give the commencement address this year, will speak to graduating seniors and guests on the subject, "The Stamp of a University," Monday, May 10.

Dr. Trueblood earned his S.T.B. degree in 1926 from Harvard university and his Ph. D. in philosophy from Johns Hopkins university in 1934. He was dean of men and professor of philosophy at Guilford college, North Carolina, and assistant professor of philosophy at Haverford college, Pennsylvania, for three years prior to his present appointment at Stanford.

Dr. Trueblood has been editor of "The Friend" since 1935 and has published documents on Quakerism. These include "Problems of Quakerism," "Studies in Quaker Worship," and "Studies in Quaker Passivism." He is also the author of "Essence of Spiritual Religion," published by Harper's.

To Give Sermon

Dr. James H. N. Williams, pastor of the Methodist church of Pacific Grove, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon on the subject, "Man's Greatest Maxims." This address will be Sunday, May 9.

Sagebrush to Give Award to Players

Designed to signify supremacy in their respective fields, the University of Nevada Sagebrush this week decided to award cups to the individual batter and pitcher for this year's baseball contests. Hoping to stir greater interest in the individual play, the cups will be awarded during the final game of the year to the two men who have registered the most hits and wins during the year.

John Carr, Sagebrush editor, said: "We hope that this award will be given every year by the Sagebrush to make evident the student paper's interest in promoting student activity."

Enthusiastic over the idea, Walter L. States, business manager, said: "We hope that this practice will become a traditional award." Names of the winners will be engraved on the cups with the average performance turned in by the player.

Las Vegas Girl Wins Extempore Speaking Trophy

Debating Team From Southern
City Is Favored to Defeat
Winnemucca Squad

Las Vegas added another award to its collection this morning when Kathryn Deslin won first place in the extemporaneous speaking competition. Second place went to William Casey of Sparks.

Enter Finals
Five debate teams entered the finals of the Nevada state high school forensic tournament this afternoon to battle for the two division championships.

On the class "A" group, Las Vegas will meet Winnemucca for the possession of the coveted championship cup, while Bunkerville, Overton and Lovelock will battle for top honors in the class "B" division.

All five teams reached the finals as a result of two or more wins in yesterday's preliminary competition. Thirteen other teams were eliminated in this first round. The proposal being debated is: "Resolved, That all electric utilities should be owned and operated by the states."

Vegas Favored
In the class "A" group, Las Vegas is favored over Winnemucca as a result of its sensational record of four wins, no losses yesterday, as compared with Winnemucca's two wins, a loss and a bye. The loss was inflicted by the Las Vegas team in unanimous decision. The Vegas debaters are Kathryn Deslin and Raymond Balz, while Horace Smith and Ralston Hawkins uphold the honors for Winnemucca.

Bunkerville heads the "B" division with a clean slate of four wins and no losses, closely followed by Lovelock with three wins and one loss. Overton also has two wins, a loss and a bye. Lenore Perkins is teamed up with Virginia Lytle to form the Bunkerville team; Lovelock is represented by Betty Johnson and Norma Hanson, and F. Leavitt and Laurel Abbott comprise the Overton team.

Dramatics Tomorrow
The tournament will continue until tomorrow. Dramatics will be the featured attraction tomorrow when the one-act plays are presented. The class "B" plays will commence in the morning and run all day.

The class "A" plays will be given in the evening. All will be held in the educational auditorium. Fifteen cents admission will be charged for the class "A" productions.

Racket Swingers Trounce Aggies

Nevadans Lose Only One Out of Four Singles Matches; Sweep Doubles Easily

The University of Nevada tennis team proved itself a strong contender for the Far Western conference tennis championship last Saturday, winning a decisive victory over the Cal Aggies at Davis by taking five of six matches in the initial racket meet of the season.

The local team easily swept the meet by taking three out of four single matches and winning two double events. In the singles, Jim Herz, Frank Goodner and Anthony Leone beat England, Lockin and Griffith of the Aggies, while William Neville dropped a close contest to Waterman to one of the Aggies' leading racket men.

With two teams, one composed of Herz and Goodner and the other of Leone and Neville, the Wolves edged out the Californians in both double matches.

Coach "Chet" Scranton is well satisfied with the outcome of the contest, and stated this week that all the players showed remarkable form for the first match of the season.

Goodner, sophomore net man, showed remarkable improvement in his contest Saturday, and revealed prospects of developing into one of the university's top players by the time he is a senior.

Y.W.C.A. Pageant Plans Completed

Final plans for the annual spring pageant of the University of Nevada Y.W.C.A. are being made this week.

The pageant will be presented Sunday, April 25 on the campus below the tram. This is considerably later than the presentation in former years, change in date being largely due to weather conditions.

The name of the pageant is "Coming of Spring." The part of spring is to be portrayed by Charlotte Michaels, a sophomore, and that of King Winter by Janet Parish, a junior. Minor characters of the pageant will be played by university women, many of which are members of Miss Elsa Sameth's dancing classes.

The first practice was held Wednesday evening in the university gymnasium.

New Books Added To U. N. Library

Twenty-two new books were received and catalogued at the University library this week.

"Live Alone and Like It," is one of the most recent, and is a story of a young stylist's observations of the business women of New York who live alone. It is a short book of 150 pages, but contains much that might be of interest to the woman in public life today. Marjorie Hillis, the author, is managing editor of "The Vogue" fashion magazine.

Another well-known book is "Eyeless in Gaza" by the English author Aldous Huxley. The title of the book was chosen from a line by the poet Milton, "Eyeless in Gaza at the mill with slaves." The story has a sober theme, but the plot is intensely interesting, since it reflects parts of the author's life when he nearly lost his eyesight.

Other volumes added to the library shelves are:

- "We Or They," Armstrong.
- "Soil Erosion and Its Control," Ayres.
- "Enchanted Football," Da Gresa.
- "Big Money," Dos Passos.
- "Tennis for Teachers," Driver.
- "Medieval Heritage of Elizabethan Tragedy," Farnham.
- "Boris Godunov," Graham.
- "So You're Writing a Play," Hamilton.
- "Mind of China," Harvey.
- "Pre-Raphaelite and Other Poets," Hearn.
- "Book of Shrubs," Hottes.
- "Music and Romance for Youth," Kinsella.
- "Ghengis Khan," Lamb.
- "Allegory of Love," Lewis.
- "Return to Religion," Link.
- "Group Golf Instruction," Schleman.
- "Plays About the Theater in England," Smith.
- "Instruments of the Orchestra," Smith.
- "Music in Institutions," Van de Wall.

Scribe Reports On 'You and I,' University Play

With Emily Tholl as Ronny Duane, or the "You," and Leo Bigham as Ricky White, or the "I," and Leo Doyle and Evelyn Bulmer, Rickey's dotting but undecided parents who had gone through the same grammatical dilemma a generation before, campus thespians presented Philip Barry's "You and I" this week.

The play, which was the final one of the season, and second in popularity only to "The Wind and the Rain" was directed by William Miller, dramatics coach, assisted by Virginia Posvar.

The story, centered around Maitland White, played by Leo Doyle, who wants to continue his art career where it was so abruptly nipped by marriage, was well cast and well played. Leo Doyle again played the fatherly role and used his voice and his stage experience to good advantage giving his part reality. He was particularly good when giving his advice to son Ricky, who was up against a similar problem—that of chucking a promising architectural career for the sudden love of a neighbor, Ronny.

Underneath and along with the main story is the love of Ronny for Ricky. Their scenes together, which were very difficult, were played easily and naturally. The only thing wanting was a little more voice for Ronny and a little more animation for Ricky.

Mattie's desires for painting were further inflamed by the appearance of his old literary friend, Geoffrey Nichols, who had become a free and successful writer of best sellers. Allen Rives did his best job of the year in this semi-sophisticated part.

The animated and altruistic Mrs. White who was willing to sacrifice her accustomed luxuries and social position to allow her husband to either continue his art or get it out of his system was well done by Evelyn Bulmer, establishing her as a competent and capable in dramatic circles.

Kathleen Meeks and Robert Miller easily stole the show in their humorous parts. The model-maid, with her comic aspirations to become a polished lady kept the play from dragging.

Miller, returning to the campus stage, added another humorous wheezing part to his list of successes. As the old business associate of Mr. White, he marched in and out, providing a tactless solution by buying his former's employee's canvas for an advertising campaign.

Education Project Exhibits Offered

A.B.C. books, clay models, nature study books, peep shows, sand box scenes—these are a few of the exhibits offered to the campus this week by the Education 34 class in the teaching of English in the primary grades.

Under the leadership of Miss Edith Ruebsam, associate professor of education, the women demonstrated to the university the activities which they will teach younger pupils.

The largest exhibit is one which included the puppet shows. The stages, scenery, costumes and puppets were constructed by the women. Plays which are of interest to the primary students have been adapted to suit the needs of the women. These plays have been given to the class during the year and the stages and puppets preserved for future use.

Delmore Chosen Manzanita Prexy

Edith Delmore was named president of Manzanita association, Elizabeth D'Allesandro treasurer, and Reveau Hansen secretary, at a meeting of the group held in Artemisia hall Monday afternoon. These officers will be installed by the outgoing president, Marion Uhart, Monday evening.

For the past two semesters, Miss Delmore has been treasurer of the association. She is a junior student, a graduate of White Pine high school in Ely. Miss D'Allesandro is a sophomore student from Lovelock, and former secretary of the Manzanita association. Miss Hansen is a freshman home economics student and is a graduate of the Pershing county high school.

Home Ec Students To Display Work

Samples of the work they have done this year will be shown to the campus Friday, April 23, by the home economics students, who on that date will again hold the exhibit staged annually until a few years ago.

In the fashion show put on by the clothing students, the sophomores will model the garments they have made this semester.

A talk on the removal of stains from various textiles and on the care of table linen will be given by members of the textile class, while the class in home management will display its term project, consisting of budgeting the money of the average family so as to show what a family can and cannot afford to do if it were buying, renting or building a home.

The freshman cooking class will demonstrate its ability by preparing a tea, which will be served by Mary Louise Waltenspiel from 3 to 5:30 o'clock.

Exhibits also will be given by the classes in child care and institutional management.

Mary Stott, sophomore student, is in charge of all arrangements.

Home Ec Seniors To Present Skit

"The Last Will and Testament," a humorous skit depicting the characteristics of the senior home economics girls, will be presented by them at a tea to be prepared and served by the sophomores on Friday afternoon, April 30.

The skit, in which all the senior girls take part, consists of the following numbers:

- "Marguerite, Sweet Marguerite," Marguerite Fuetsch;
- "Genevieve, My Genevieve," Genevieve Hansen;
- "Three O'clock in the Morning," Orpah Rose Morgan;
- "Waiting at the Gate for Katie," Kathryn Luke;
- "Christie and Forrest were Lovers," Christie Finn;
- "Mary Lou, Mary Lou," Mary Louise Waltenspiel;
- "Agnes is Coming," Agnes DeArmand;
- "Tah Rah Rah Boob De A," Marie Dwyer;
- "Sally in our Alley," Miriam Sally Perry.

Chem Club Plans Picnic At Tahoe

Plans for the Chemistry club picnic were made at a meeting held last week.

The picnic will be held at the Dean Adams home at Lake Tahoe at Carnelian bay on May 2. Baseball, volleyball and other games will be the entertainment for the day.

The picnic will be counted as a meeting of the Chemistry club but its first next regular meeting will be held next fall. Ernest Larkin assisted by Al Gibault will have charge of the transportation to the lake.

Birds are known to have lived anywhere from 9 to 118 years.

Senior Honorary Will Elect Coeds Within 2 Weeks

Cap and Scroll, women's honorary group, will announce new members in the next two weeks, it was stated last night by Evamae Beemer, president.

Senior women are elected for their outstanding leadership in scholarship and activities. Approximately seven women will be chosen for this honor. Officers will be chosen from the newly elected women at a dinner to be held in their honor.

Since the date of the last A.W.S. meeting has been set for so late in the year, the names of the new members will probably be announced in some other manner, Miss Beemer said.

Scribes Sponsor Last Social Event

Sponsored by the Press club, with the music furnished by Morgan Mills and a couple of "rhythm rascals," one more hour social will be held for university students at the gymnasium from 7 to 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

Press club, journalists' organization, is offering socialites of the campus a chance to get together for the last time this semester.

Because of basketball and other activities held in the gymnasium, the weekly Blue Key socials were discontinued last semester.

This will be the last social hour of the school year. The committee on student affairs and the social calendar committee realizes that at this time of the year school work cuts out such activities. In view of the fact that it is the last of this type of get-together to be held this year, the committees have given their consent.

BETA SIGS PLEDGE

Orlanda Benetti, freshman arts and science student from Sparks, was pledged to Beta Sigma Omicron sorority Monday, it was announced this week.

This is the fourth girl pledged by the sorority since January, giving the Beta Sigs a lead in the pledging race for the semester.

Swett Is Chosen Home Ec Prexy

During the dinner, which also was the last meeting of the club, girls who had distinguished themselves in the number of points they had earned in the club received their awards.

Kathryn Luke signed the scroll, an honor given to the senior girl who has earned the most points in four years.

Gertrude Polander, Mildred Woodward, Sarah Swett and Betty Kormmeyer were awarded home economics pins for the points they had earned.

The senior skit, which was to have been presented at the dinner, was postponed until the sophomore tea on April 30, when it will be given.

POETESS TO GIVE TEA FOR CHI DELTA PHI WED.

Chi Delta Phi members will be entertained at a tea given by Mrs. D. C. McKay, honorary member, on April 21 from 4 to 6. The tea will take place at 419 Ralston street, Mrs. McKay's home.

Late in June, Mrs. McKay plans to sail for the Philippines, where she will join her husband, a mining engineer. They will make their home at Baguio on the island of Luzon.

Mrs. McKay is well known as a poet, having written for local papers, the Chi Delta Phi magazine and other publications.

Women Archers Refuse Meet Bid

An invitation to Nevada coed archers to compete in a national meet to be held the latter part of April was refused this week by Mrs. Mae Simas, assistant professor of physical education for women.

According to rules of this meet, the shoots must be held on out-of-door ranges. Because of this rule and the realization of the hardship that it would work on the archers due to the prevailing spring winds, the invitation could not be accepted.

"We had a similar invitation last spring and held the one shoot but had to discontinue because of the poor results due to the wind," Mrs. Simas said.

Interest in archery has increased a great deal and it is hoped that more adequate training can be given earlier in the season next year so that should future chances of competition arise, Nevada would be able to enter with a feeling of confidence.

Guards in the Regina, Sask., city jail were ordered to wear rubber-heeled shoes when prisoners complained that they made too much noise while they were trying to sleep.

Final Art Exhibit To Open Monday

The last exhibit of the year to be presented by Fine Arts, women's organization, will open next Monday in the seminar of the library.

Work to be displayed will consist of student art and outstanding photography produced by local university students.

The exhibit, which is in charge of Ellen Creek, will be open Monday through Thursday from 2 to 5:30 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. On Friday, the hours are 2 to 5:30.

Triple Offenders To Appear Before Upperclass Group

Emma Daley, Gloria McDonald to be Sentenced Monday for Three Offenses

The fate of two freshmen women who are listed as triple offenders against Nevada traditions will be decided Monday when the women's upperclass committee meet.

Emma Daley failed to appear at the last meeting of the Associated Women Students, did not show up to paint the "N" and, then having been sentenced to punishment, failed to carry out the orders given her.

The other offender, Gloria McDonald, failed to paint the "N", did not report to the committee when she was summoned and failed to carry out the punishment ordered by the committee when she did report.

A final punishment for the wrongdoers has not been decided upon but it has been the custom for the women to appear before Dean Margaret E. Mack in the past after three offenses.

If they do not have to do this, it is probable that the penalty imposed upon them will be quite embarrassing. Kathleen Meeks, chairman of the women's upperclass committee, issued that statement.

Besides these women, two others will be summoned to appear before the upperclass committee at a second meeting Tuesday.

Even if it is a little late in the semester, there will be no danger of the women's upperclass committee falling down on its duty, Miss Meeks said.

SOCIETY

Manzanita to Give Annual Dinner Dance

Manzanita Hall association will hold its annual formal in the university dining hall tonight. The affair will be chaperoned by President and Mrs. Walter E. Clark, Miss Louise M. Sissa, Dean Margaret E. Mack, Miss Echo Loder and Miss Virginia Harger. Leota Maestretti and her orchestra will furnish the music, according to Margaret Piercy, who is in charge of arrangements for the dance.

Sigma Phi to Have Formal

Sigma Phi Sigma fraternity is holding a formal dance Saturday evening at the Riverside hotel. The music for the affair will be furnished by Bill Busey's orchestra. Dean and Mrs. F. H. Sibley and John Gottardi will act as chaperones during the evening.

Phi Sigs to Have Picnic

The alumni of Phi Sigma Kappa is giving a picnic Sunday at Carson Hot Springs. The day's festivities will start early Sunday morning with a breakfast dance.

Lambda Chis to Entertain Mothers

Mothers of several members of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity will be entertained at dinner Sunday at the chapter house.

Sigma Nus Entertain Mothers Club

The Mother's club of the Sigma Nu fraternity were entertained by the senior men Monday afternoon. Tea and cookies were served. Whit DeLamare was in charge of the arrangements for the afternoon.

Pi Beta Phi Have Formal

The annual dinner dance of the Pi Beta Phi sorority will be held tonight at the Riverside hotel. This annual formal will begin at 8 o'clock. The house mother, Amy L. Mathews, will be assisted in chaperoning the dance by Mr.

"Get Acquainted" Tea Is Scheduled By Pan-Hel Group

Old and new members of Pan-Hellenic council, an organization to govern the six sororities on the campus, will have a get-acquainted tea at the Gamma Phi Beta house Monday afternoon.

The tea is in charge of Virginia Johnson, junior student, with Eleanor Barry, senior student, and Betty Kornmeyer, sophomore, making up a committee.

Dean Margaret E. Mack, dean of women, will be a guest at the affair. The women who will be invited are Georgianna Harriman, Lillian Guisti, Norma Anderson, Katherine McClure, Agnes DeArmond, Eleanor Barry, Georgia Cooper, E'Lois Campbell, Mary Millard, Elizabeth Juniper, Alice Sauer, Betty Kornmeyer, Norma Jean Mills, Elizabeth Osborn, Emily Tholl, Elizabeth Best, Joyce Dodge, Charlotte Canton, Jessie McClure, Avanel Manzoni and Isabel Scossa.

The tea will give the new representatives and the old ones an opportunity to discuss the problems of the group and to get better acquainted.

Nevada Coeds Will "Follow the Ponies"

The riding ability for which Nevada women have been famous for generations will be tested Sunday, when eight coeds, members of Saddle and Spurs, ride over rough mountain trails with the riding club of Sacramento Junior college.

Handicapped by not being able to use their favorite western saddles and the single rein, Nevada women also will experience difficulty in the course over which they will accompany the California horsewomen. The route will be down a steep, rough ravine and all the riders will be obliged to use English saddles and double reins.

The local members of Saddle and Spurs will leave Reno in cars early Sunday. Following the ride, a luncheon will be served in their honor in the "Manger," clubhouse of the Sacramento J. C. women's riding club. The Nevadans will drive back in the afternoon.

The eight feminine "buckaroos" who plan the trip are Covey Wills, Margaret Heitman, Doris Chestnutt, Lois Miller, Charlotte Johnson, Juanita Elcano and Barbara Bryant.

and Mrs. Jack Walthers, Professor and Mrs. Harold N. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. William Shipaugh. Morgan Mills and a six-piece orchestra will furnish music. Social chairman, Barbara Bryant, heads a committee in charge of the formal.

Coed 'Robin Hoods' Place In Meet

Gill, Morgan, Chism, Butler and Nichols Compete on Nevada Archery Team

The women's archery team, which competed in the telegraphic meet for western colleges and universities a month ago, placed sixth and seventh, according to the results recently sent out from the headquarters at Oregon State college.

Seven leading western colleges and universities were entered in this competition.

Four shoots were held by the competing colleges on their individual ranges and the results telegraphed to the headquarters where they were compiled.

The meet was divided into three classes, according to the distance at which the shots were made. Nevada entered all of these divisions.

"This was our biggest mistake," Mrs. Simas, assistant professor of physical education for women. "We should have concentrated our efforts in one division."

Nevada was the only competitor in all three of the divisions.

This was the first time that Nevada coeds had ever entered any such competition and, although the results were not very spectacular, they brought out the many problems to be contended with in such competitions and will give better bases for comparison and facts to work with in the future.

Miriam Butler had the highest individual score among the Nevada coeds and also ranked among the contestants of other colleges.

Nevada shooters were inadequately trained, Mrs. Simas believes. Next season, they will have the advantage of the training received in this competition and training will be started early in the year for next season's competition so that teams can be picked soon enough to permit concentration on weaknesses, in preparation for competition.

Beatrice Lansdon was manager of the sport. Peggy Gill, Orpah Morgan, Alice Jane Chism, Miriam Butler and Frances Nichols were the Nevada shooters in this meet.

Inter-class archery shoots are now being held in the gym, and, if time permits, intramural shoots will also be held.

SPANISH STYLE FOR MISSES IS MODERN MODE

By MARGARET TURANO

Spanish influence has a Mexican tang in a smart new frock in one of the local shops. A white washable cotton, the dress is made with a short jacket, hand-painted with Mexican figures, sombreros and cactus.

Another clever dress for a slightly more formal occasion is the one in black crepe with white braid trimming on the sleeves and neck. A companion to this dress is the smart black straw hat with four colored tassels suspended from the rolled brim.

A smart new style has made its appearance in swank sport circles. It is a cruise mode in tailored cotton, with duster coat and skirt of matching plain material and a print blouse to complete the ensemble.

Cottons are beginning to come in, with pique, seersucker and linen back again. Coogo cloth is a new material. Lines for sport and afternoon still are varied, princess or fitted and straight, with capes coming to the fore. Trimmings are pique and grosgrain on dark materials and necks are high, as a rule.

Afternoon and cocktail dresses are being made in a new fabric—satin jersey. Printed sheers are good with either dark or light backgrounds, and dark sheers are still good over printed and plain satin or taffeta. Dots, too, are still popular. Dark nets are brightened up by accents of yarn and embroidery.

An entirely new touch is the dyeing of lace trimmings to match dress materials. Ultra, too, is the cording of chiffon and touches of tucking.

Formal notes are the unusual stripes in chiffons which made their way from Egypt and India where designers recently visited. These gowns often combined multi-colored bands of material for sashes.

Latest jewelry notes for the sport costume include clips made like small bouquets and bracelets of painted glass. Old-fashioned pendants and bracelets are the vogue for evening, as well as clips and chokers of colored pearls.

U. N. Coeds Enter Dance Symposium

Joining with six other colleges from northern California, the University of Nevada dance team participated in the dance symposium held on the California campus last Saturday.

With women students from San Francisco State college, San Jose State, Mills College, Fresno State College of the Pacific, the University of Nevada and Stanford, the Nevada coeds demonstrated aesthetic dancing.

Nevada's presentation, although short compared with most others, was one of the most novel given, Miss Elsa Sameth, who accompanied the Nevada girls, said on their return from the coast.

The peak of the symposium was reached when a master lesson was given by Miss Loid Ellfeldt and a demonstration of the technique by the members of Martha Graham's professional group.

The Nevada women who attended the symposium left Reno Friday morning and spent that night in Palo Alto. They spent Saturday night in San Francisco and returned home Sunday.

Nevada women who made the trip were Gail Moore, Betty Glazer, Dorothy Jones, Mary Boczkiewicz, Nelda Oppdey, Mildred Smart, Reveau Hansen, Betty Parish and Lenore Kohlepp. Cars were driven by Anita Hayden Miriam Butler and Miss Sameth.

Tri-Delts Attend District Conclave

Problems of sororities were the subject of discussion at the first district convention of the Delta Delta Delta fraternity in San Francisco last week-end. Mary Millard presided over the meetings as general chairman. Barbara Fernon and Evamae Beemer spoke on the Pan-Hellenic organization and the Nevada chapter.

Nevada was the best represented chapter, with twenty-five delegates. The other chapters attending were the University of California at Los Angeles, University of Southern California, Stanford and the hostess chapter of California.

After a business meeting Saturday afternoon, the delegates visited the site of the new Delta Delta Delta house at the Berkeley campus. Sunday morning, a trip was made to the Bay bridge, Fisherman's Wharf, the Presidio and the Golden Gate bridge. A formal banquet was given Saturday night at the Claremont hotel.

The World's Record Holder... Glenn Hardin... Going Over the Hurdles

WAITING for the gun—when nervous tension reaches the crest. Because he prizes healthy nerves, Glenn Hardin smokes Camels. "They don't get on my nerves," he says.

SAILING over a low hurdle—Glenn's strained face shows how the race drains tremendous physical and nervous energy.

TOPPING a high hurdle—superb form helped Glenn win 2 Olympics—set the world's record. His time for the 400-meter hurdles was sensational—50.6 seconds!

SPRINTING to the finish—Glenn calls on all his reserve energy. And after the finish, he lights a Camel. "Camels give me a lift and ease the tension," he says.

THE YOUNGEST MAN on the Olympic track squad. Glenn Hardin was only 20 years old when he won his first Olympic victory for the U. S. He eats sensibly—takes good digestion for granted. The picture below shows Glenn enjoying his favorite meal—rare, thick, juicy steak, green vegetables, fruit, milk, and Camels. As Glenn phrases it: "It wouldn't do me much good to eat and not digest properly. So I smoke Camels for digestion's sake. It's grand to light up Camels and enjoy the sense of well-being that comes when digestion's o-kay."

WORKS HARD on all five college courses. "Rege" Kennedy, '40, says: "I smoke Camels pretty steadily—they ease the tension of long, hard concentrating. Camels don't jangle my nerves."

AS SPOKESMAN for the hostesses of a leading air-line, Betty Steffen observes: "Camels help me keep feeling pepped-up. I smoke all I please. Camels never get on my nerves."

THE NEW REGIME

This week, a new chapter is being written in the history of the Sagebrush, for this week the new editor and business manager are named. Next year, a new policy may be instituted, for new hands guide the destiny of the Sagebrush and, perhaps, even the destiny of the thoughts on the University of Nevada campus.

The present editor and business manager wish it were possible to leave behind a guide book—a few rules of conduct to guide the new heads in some of the crises which they will be called upon to face and, if possible, to solve.

Now they are brimming with enthusiasm for the job which confronts them. They have yet to find that their's will be a thankless job.

Hours of pleasures must be foregone, classes must be slighted and lessons deliberately forgotten in order that the Sagebrush will appear on the campus "on time." They will look upon each paper as an achievement—until they find that the campus glances over it, picks out the mistakes, and discards all the rest.

Stories they have labored over to "break" in the Sagebrush, features they build from the ground up to a climax in the paper, will be broken over their heads by students and faculty members alike who fail to see the necessity for "holding" their stuff for the 'Brush.

Editorials crusading for much needed campus improvements will die ignominiously for lack of support, or else they raise a curtain of animosity without accomplishing the desired end.

Under conditions of this sort, the new heads will often feel doubtful about having followed the best policy. They will wonder whether they have acted too stiffly, or whether they have granted public sentiment too much weight in establishing the route they choose to follow.

On the business side of the publication, there is an entirely different angle. Hours of hard work soliciting advertising, contact work and bill collecting face the new business manager, whose job it is to see that the paper pays for itself.

The business manager must see that the end of the year approaches with the paper well away from the "red" . . . that by good management a surplus is turned in.

No "by-lines" distinguish the work of the solicitors, although the paper is basically dependent upon them. Their work is only recognized when the paper "hits the street."

There are few rules which can be laid down as absolute—no suggestions will apply in all cases. We therefore pass on to the new publications leaders the advice which we received:

"Try as nearly as possible to maintain the standard of policy and fairness which has been laboriously built up during the last several years.

"And remember, in all questions, that the Sagebrush is serving the student body as a whole, and that no group should be allowed to profit at the expense of the many. If these suggestions are followed, the 'Brush will finish a successful year."

HISTORY IS MADE

History was made, and another milestone of progress was checked to the credit of the university last week, as the debate squad fought its way to national recognition in intercollegiate debating.

Participating in two tournaments in as many weeks, in which leading universities and colleges of the Pacific coast in debating were represented, the Nevada team of Bryce Rhodes and William Cashill, coached by Prof. Robert Griffin, lost only three debates out of sixteen.

The only defeats suffered were administered by U.S.C.—a team that is regarded as the best in the United States—and Pasadena College and another college in the Salem tournament, the name of which is not known.

After being out-decided by the Pasadena College team, the Nevada squad turned right around and evened the score by defeating them, thereby winning the Pi Kappa Delta tournament and the western championship.

Nevada defeated U.S.C. in the tournament, but lost a close decision to the same team in the finals of the Pacific Forensic league tourney a week later.

The impressive string of victories has given Nevada a place as one of the best debating teams in the United States and has given her a top ranking spot in the "big time" debating circles.

This fact was recognized by other colleges in the Pacific Forensic league last week-end, when they elected Professor Griffin president of the league and selected Nevada campus as the site for next year's contest.

Congratulations to Professor Griffin and a debate team of which any university can be proud!

The Pedagogue

By the time the "consumer" gets around to this column, what we have to say probably will be rather old stuff, but we have to put in the our about the recently cancelled grid tourney between good old U. N. and Mexico. It would have gone far toward putting Nevada on the map, but that is all over for a while longer before anything happens, it seems.

Perhaps Nevada had better look toward a more profitable means of attracting players to the campus. We suggest a two-way game with Hawaii.

Looks like we have to hand our "Jenne-boo" another bouquet for Nevada's Outdoor Girl seems to have done it again. As we look back over her record, it appears that Genevieve Hansen seems to be taking home all the bacon her last year in college. Let's see—editor of the Arctemisia, Mackay Day Queen, a few Western United States—we hope we have our titles right. At any rate, she's to be Reno's Rodeo Queen and, probably, Nevada's "representative" to the California exposition.

Good going, Gen. Your's is a record we are all becoming more and more proud of.

The more than satisfactory piece of work done the last two weeks by the debate team composed of Bryce Rhodes and Bill Cashill and coached by Robert Griffin, goes far to fulfill the Cobb prophecy: "This is Nevada's year!"

We doubt if any campusites—including the writer—had any idea that debate material of this caliber existed on the local campus. And we put in a little bit of a question: Now that the tournament has been secured for Nevada next year, just how big will be Nevada's debate future?

There is a laugh in it—or have you noticed? We refer to the appraising attitude of the tongs when they look over prospective material up with the Future Farmers and the Forensic participants. The preppers, too, are conscious that for the day they are the center of all eyes.

Well, look them over carefully, you Greeks, and put on all the pressure you can. The chances are that there is only one more open rushing season before the lambs come up for the slaughter.

Instead of attempting to substitute a dance in the gym for the well known "party" celebration following student presidential elections, we suggest that the following steps be taken:

- 1. By consent of the sororities and fraternities, ban the consumption of alcoholic beverages on the premises of the Greek letter houses.
- 2. Limit, by statute, the amount of beer which the house giving the celebration could buy.

We recognize the defects in these suggestions, but we see defects in the proposal now up before the interfraternity council. We don't believe that a dance in the gymnasium will curtail mass drinking in celebration of elections.

We can't help shedding a tear of sympathy when we think of the hard-working date committee and the sad way its work has been received. Only last night we became aware that as many as five conflicting meetings were in progress at the same time. No wonder the organizations can't get turnouts for their meetings and spend time calling members on the telephone to ask them why they don't come around.

Help support Nevada traditions.

MAN O' THE WEEK

EMERY GRAUNKE

This week's couple of the week might be titled Mr. and Mrs. Woman of the Week, or at least so present indications lead us to believe.

Graunke—a gentleman and a scholar—has done a lot at and for Nevada. More than one person in this world has been running around in circles. Graunke has had his share of this state of being, but he solved his problem by giving vent to much activity on the track course and has been an admirable contender in many of Nevada's intercollegiate track contests.

Emery has been one of the most talked about fellers on the campus among the women because of his ability to wear clothes, appear and act attractively, to dance, to laugh and make pleasant conversation, and above all, to behave as a gentleman should. Because of these stars on his side he has been a favorite among the gals. Also, he has more than an average share of good points to make himself liked by the fellers on the campus and especially at the house where he led them for one semester as house president and has since been acting as house manager.

Economics has been his major study and with the knowledge gained in his college career plus his amiable personality, we are expecting big things from him. In fact, we are hoping that he will be so successful that he will donate the much needed and talked about new gym within a short period of time.

Block "N", Coffin and Keys, Sagers and Blue Key are among the honorary organizations of which he is a member.

Graunke has been like a father to many of the lads. He has seen that they have a comfortable berth to sleep in on trips, clean towels, something to eat and many other necessities of life—in other words, he has been an able basketball and track manager.

Like his lady of the time and our lady of the week, he also is rounding off his career by serving on the senior week committee. In fact, he is chairman of the darn thing and has put in many a sleepless night lately worrying about creeks and whether another wolf should be left at Nevada's door (the proposed stuffed wolf as a senior gift).

Goat meat is being used experimentally as fish food at one government fishery.

Hit the Books—Shifless Skonks—Times A'wastin'

Along with the sunnier, brighter weather and the greener hue of the rolling turf, a new and rather dampening element has crept into the atmosphere around the University of Nevada campus.

This plague, technically known as the "elongation of the facial muscles," is a semi-annual epidemic and usually hits the student body in mid-December and mid-April.

The reason for this phenomenon may be explained in a simple but alarming statement; beginning today, there are actually only sixteen working days of the spring semester left. This means about 45 class periods for the average student and, worse yet, at least twenty of these will be taken up with that haunting terror of the college student—the final exam!

Already prevalent in campus conversations are those timeworn but still meaningful expressions of the harried student such as "Ye gods, a final in '62 tomorrow and I aint cracked a book since August," or "I'll give four bucks cold cash for a psych notebook with the answers filled in."

From a conservative estimate, approximately three out of four students are already afflicted with the "longpuss" tantrum as it is popularly called, and more-unfortunates are succumbing by the hour. However, there are two cures for this disease; for underclassmen, the sure cure is good hard work, including midnight oil and the relaxation of fraternity spring formal, and for the exalted seniors, the cure is also hard work coupled with the dreamy prospect of that long-sought-after post-commencement freedom—or is it freedom?

A glance at the senior questionnaire filled out by this lady of the limelight might lead one to believe that he had picked up a guide to plays or some such literature, judging from the numerous plays listed.

The five-foot-two, blue-eyed gal has been one of the most active dramatic students ever to hit the sod at dear old Nevada. Her acting career began 'way down in junior high school, continued in high school, was a contestant in several forensic contests and then to college, where she has turned in many finished productions—the latest being in "Black Flamingo."

Shortly after her registration with the class of '37, she pledged Kappa Alpha Theta and immediately became an enthusiastic member and has been their color bearer in many contests.

Majoring in English, she has studied diligently and therefore is among the lucky seniors that has been given a school. So now she's off on the quest of larin', readin', writin' and 'rithmetic to the younger generation and perhaps we'll be seein' her with her drove of kiddies at future forensic tournaments.

Besides preparing herself for this life work, Miss Creek has found time for extra - curricular activities. They are Fine Arts, Wolves Frolic and Saddle and Spurs. Recognition for her dramatic work was given in a bid to Campus Players during her sophomore year—an activity which she has kept up through the senior year.

Although at times our lady has been dubbed an unsporting girl, her questionnaire proves this false, because volleyball and tennis have been listed in the sport column.

The senior week committee rounds out Ellen's activities. Her next spotlight will come on graduation day when she sallies out for the pigskin. We'll miss your perfect coiffure—but now maybe some of the brunettes will have a better chance.

YOUNG REPORTER STARTS JOURNALISTIC REVOLUTION!

It happened in Salem, Mass., on February 12, 1877. The young reporter attended a demonstration of inventor Bell's new telephone—then "talked" his story to his paper in Boston by telephone!

Though he didn't realize it, he was inaugurating a new era in journalism. For today's newspapers could hardly exist without the telephone.

Gathering and spreading news with lightning speed is just one of the telephone's countless contributions to modern life. And 300,000 Bell System people strive constantly to make the service still better, still more useful.

Mexico Game Plans Fall Through

With prospects of the best schedule of its history in football, the game scheduled by Nevada with the University of Mexico fell through, finally, when, after the two committees and an oil company got together and decided that Nevada was too far away.

Coach Marr of the Mexico team gave Doug Dashiell every indication that the game, a home and home agreement, would go through, but the powers that be, the Huasteca Petroleum company, n'ged the idea.

The oil company, incidentally, is the source of financial assistance.

Richard is the Original Hard Luck Guy

Kenny Richard is the original hard luck guy. After breaking his foot following a track season in which he suffered from a pulled muscle in his leg, Kenny was all set to gain laurels as the best broadjumper in the Far Western conference when he suffered recurrence of his old leg injury.

The meet of the season, he jumped twenty-three feet, three inches. That's good for the first meet and he probably would have improved a lot during the season, but that's lady luck for you—always smiling out of the wrong side of her face.

Judges Couldn't See Kenny in Dash

According to reports, the Nevadans finished one-two-three in the hundred yard dash, but the judges couldn't see Kenny because of the other two Wolf Pack members.

Spring Weather is Bad For Baseball

The late spring is playing havoc with the ball players. Last night, the ball game was over with, around six-thirty and the by-play that went on around the field was like the St. Vitus dance, with gestures, the men were flapping themselves so hard on account of the cold.

Sagebrush Hopes Managers Will Keep Close Records

With the announcements of cups to be awarded to the league-leading moundsmen and stickmen, the Sagebrush sincerely hopes that the team managers will make a great effort to keep the score books carefully to avoid any possible errors.

If the Sagebrush account is incorrect, it will be only too willing to make amends and correct the error, so if one is committed, please notify us and we will do everything in our power to correct it.

Powers is Nevada's Ace Out of Whole

Walter Powers is now Nevada's "ace out of the whole." He should be counted on for at least 13 points in most every dual meet Nevada enters and a fair showing in the Far Western conference meet.

Willamette Replaces U. of Mexico

Willamette replaces the Mexicans on the Nevada football schedule. This will be the time for Nevada to get even for the 21-9 defeat of last year.

Nevada's Racketmen Make excellent showing.

Nevada's racketmen made an excellent showing against the Cal Aggie netmen. They should be even more impressive against the Chico team next week. Last year the Wildcats barely eked out a 5-4 victory over the Pack.

Looted Wolf Den Machines Found

Breaking the glass door, thieves entered the Wolf Den, popular campus hang-out, Monday night, for the second time this semester.

Two slot machines, valued at $40, were the only things taken.

The robbery is believed to have taken place between 11:30 and 1:25 o'clock.

The machines were recovered Tuesday afternoon on the West Seventh street road, after a farmer had notified the police. The machines, which were found along the road, had been broken open and the contents removed.

Wolf Tracksters Meet Chico Team In Cinder Clash

Pack Squad is Crippled by Loss of Kenny Richard, Broadjump and Sprint Star

Pokers Counted on for Win in One Hundred and Two-Twenty Yard Dashes

Handicapped by the loss of Kenyon Richard, holder of the Far Western conference broadjump record, the University of Nevada cinder men will clash with the Chico State tracksters tomorrow at 1 p. m.

Richard Injured The loss of Nevada's diminutive broad jumper made the Wolves certain of only two first places in tomorrow's events. Richard tore a muscle in his left leg last week in the tri-cornered meet between Chico and Cal Aggies.

Walt Powers, Sparks versatile athlete, is the only cinch bet for first place out of all the track and field events. Entered in the 100 yard dash, the 220 yard dash, high hurdles and anchor man for the relay team, Powers is sure to lead in the 100 and 220 yard dashes.

Double Victory Powers' double victory in the sprints and Richard's first place jump of 23 2/3 feet, 2 inches were the highlights of the local boys' performance last week at Davis.

Coach "Jim" Coleman is relying on the ability of the Wolves to capture the second and third places in tomorrow's events in order to take the meet. The high altitude and Nevada's loose track also provide possibilities that Nevada may upset the highly favored Wildcat.

Sprinters Powers and his running mate, Emery Graunke, are being counted on to nose out Bailey and Davis, Wildcat sprinters, in the 100 and 220 yard dashes.

In the hurdles, Chico edged out the Nevada boys, but the loose track may favor Powers, Zadow and Maule and give them a first place in both the high and low hurdles.

Should the altitude slow down the visitors, Nevada will have a good chance to place both Marvin Moler, veteran distance man, and Marshall Creel, prospective newcomer, in the two mile run.

Distance Men Other distance men who should turn in a good performance are Ernie Rodriguez in the 880, Chet Howard in the 440 and Francis Breen and John Barrett in the mile.

Paul Aznarez, Nevada vaulter, may surprise Welch and Weiden of Chico in the pole vault, as the local boy has been drilling on getting his step, and if he succeeds he will probably show his competitors some high going.

Other participants who have good chances of taking points are Day, Galway, Stewart, Wilson, Cummings and Roman.

McMeekin Named Ski Group Prexy

Don McMeekin, sophomore student, was elected president of the University of Nevada Ski club in the regular meeting Wednesday evening.

Frazier West was elected vice-president, Janette Hutchins, secretary, and Willis Dalzell was reelected treasurer.

Martin Arrouge was named corresponding secretary and Charles Doherty was elected student representative to the Pacific Intercollegiate Ski union.

It was decided that the final outing of the year will be held at Donner Summit Sunday.

A. T. O. Leads Fraternity Baseball Race As Lambda Chi, S.A.E. Tie for Second

Lambda Chi Alpha yesterday afternoon defeated the Sigma Phi Sigmas nine by a score of 16 to 6. By virtue of this win, the Lambda Chis succeeded in pushing their opponents out of a two-way tie for second place into third place.

Yesterday's game leaves the Alpha Tau Omega team in undisputed possession of first place with four wins and no losses.

Taus Beat Phi Sigs

Alpha Tau Omega kept its undefeated record intact by defeating the strong Phi Sigma Kappa team 3 to 2 in a tight, well played game Wednesday night.

Both teams were scoreless until the fourth inning when the Taus got their first run across. In the fifth inning, Cummings, Tau third baseman, hit a double to right field scoring two men on second and third. However, the Phi Sigs started a rally that netted them two runs before Basta succeeded in striking the men out. Although the Sigs tried hard to knock the Taus out of first place they could not match the hitting and pitching power of the leaders, who had two and three men on base every inning.

Sigma Phi Sigma went on a batting spree Tuesday to trample the Beta Kappa nine by a score of 27 to 9. Beta Kappa ran up an early lead but when the big guns of the Sigma Phi's got into action, the game was turned into a rout.

Lincoln Hall Defaults

The first default of the season took place on Monday when Lincoln Hall failed to show up for their scheduled game with Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Two games were played Sunday when Phi Sigma Kappa defeated the hitherto undefeated Lambda Chi Alpha outfit and the Independents beat the Sigma Nus.

The game between Beta Kappa and Alpha Tau Omega was postponed and will be played later in the week.

On Saturday, Sigma Alpha Epsilon defeated the Independents 11 to 6 and Lincoln Hall defeated Sigma Nu 5 to 4.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Beta Kappa tangle today in what is expected to be another close game. Sunday at 10 a. m., Lambda Chi Alpha and Lincoln Hall tangle, followed by Alpha Tau Omega and the Independents at 1:30 and a third game between Sigma Nu and Phi Sigma will be played.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Sigma Phi Sigma play Monday; Independents and Beta Kappa Tuesday; Lambda Chi Alpha and Sigma Nu Wednesday; Sigma Phi Sigma and Independents Thursday, and Lincoln Hall and Phi Sigma Kappa on Friday.

A school is conducted in Oklahoma City, Okla., open only to men and failed to show up for their scheduled game with Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Broadjump Champ Injures Leg as U.N. Loses Davis Meet

Powers Scores Double Win in Dashes; Day Also Hurts Leg While Jumping

Although Chico had previously defeated the Aggies in a dual meet, Nevada, whose strength 's in the same events as the Wildcats' and a little stronger, knocked Chico out of first place.

Nevada's chances of defeating Chico in the dual meet next week were given another setback when Richard, ace broadjumper and holder of the Far Western conference record, suffered the recurrence of an old leg injury on his third jump at the Davis meet last week. The injury will probably keep him out of competition until the conference meet at Fresno.

Kenneth Day, second best in this event, also suffered a leg injury, but it is not as serious as Richard's and he probably will be able to compete in Saturday's meet.

Showing exceptional strength in the dashes and broadjump but a weakness in the distance runs and field events, the University of Nevada track team took third place in the tri-cornered meet held at Davis last Saturday.

California Aggies, with 69 1/2 points, took first place, Chico captured 56 points for her credit, while Nevada won 37 1/2 points.

Nevada was completely shut out of the 440, the two mile, shot put and high jump. Powers, with 12 points, took the honors for Nevada, winning the 100 and 220 yard dashes, taking third in the high hurdles and running a lap on the relay team.

Nevada took three out of four places in the broadjump, two places in each of the dashes and second in the relay.

"Nevada will take points in most of these events at the conference meet, if nothing unforeseen happens," Coach Coleman said, upon returning.

"The boys all did better than they ever did before, showing up fairly well in their first track meet of the season."

Nevada to Meet Don Tennis Men On Home Campus

Wolves Return from Victorious Foray Against Cal Aggies at Davis Campus

Invaders are Led by John Lang; Scranton May Use Entire Team in Meet Tomorrow

As the second meet of the year, the University of Nevada tennis squad will face the University of San Francisco net men tomorrow morning at the university tennis court.

The local boys have just returned from a victorious foray against the California Aggies and are determined to upset the highly favored Bay City lads.

Out of the team of six, four of the San Francisco Dons who were members of last year's squad that edged out the Wolves by a score of 5-4 in San Francisco, are members of this year's team.

Led by John Lang, former high school student, the Dons are bringing a six-man team, and "Chet" Scranton, Nevada coach, expects to use his entire squad in defending Nevada's colors.

Lang is a brother of George Lang, Nevada graduate, who is now teaching in the high school at Las Vegas, and Joe Lang, who represented the United States in the 1932 Olympics as a lightweight boxer.

It was feared that James Herz, Nevada number one racket man, would be out of tomorrow's meet as a result of a bad cold. However, latest reports are that he will be able to participate.

Continue Ladder Tournament During the past week, the Nevadans have continued the ladder tournament, by which each member may challenge the two players above him. Present standings on the ladder follows: James Herz, Anthony Leone, Elmer Bawden, Stuart Neville, Wilton Margrave, Craig Moore, Frank Goodner, Jack Elliott, Robert Leaver and William Ogle.

Campus Players Elect Four Coeds

Martinez, Bulmer, Cafferata and Johnson Given Bids; Tedford Named President

Campus Players presented bids to four new members after the presentation of "You and I" last night. The new members are Rosalys Martinez, Evelyn Bulmer, Frances Cafferata and Charlotte Johnson.

Evelyn Bulmer, who is playing the mother in "You and I," played in "The Wind and the Rain." The other three women who received bids to the dramatic organization are members of the properties staff for the play production department.

Tedford Proxy

Kenneth Tedford was elected president of the Campus Players at a meeting of the group yesterday afternoon. Tedford will preside at the initiation of the new members.

Other officers elected are Leo Doyle, vice president; Melvin Wilder, secretary, and Norrison Beatty, treasurer. Jessie McClure was chosen wardrobe mistress.

Senior Ball Plans Progress Rapidly

Featuring a ten-piece band, two singers, red carnations for the graduating senior men and novel programs, plans for the final social event of the season, the Senior ball, are nearing completion, Ross Morris, chairman of the Senior ball committee, said yesterday.

"We are going to hold the dance in the State building," he added, "the evening of May 7, which is the last Friday of the school year."

Ray Sancts, drummer in the band, will conduct the ten-piece orchestra that will furnish modern dance music.

To add to the distinction of the graduating senior men, the committee plans to pin a red carnation on the coat lapel of each one of them as they enter the dance.

Nevada's colors, along with the university crest, will be the feature of the dance programs. The cover of the program will be white, with the university crest set in a background of blue in the upper half.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter E. Clark, Dean and Mrs. R. C. Thompson, Dean Margaret Mack and Miss Louise M. Sissa will be the patrons and patronesses of the affair.

The ball committee consists of Russ McDonald, Harold Foremaster, Bill Winters, Jack McCrea, Jeanette Greene, Virginia Posvar, Lois Miller, Emily Tholl, Katherine McCleary and Morris.

Juniors To Take Annual 'Cut-day' Friday, April 23

Friday, April 23, was selected as the date for junior cut-day in preference to Thursday, April 22, at the meeting of the class in the auditorium of the education building Wednesday afternoon.

Bower's Mansion was selected as the scene for the annual "ditch" day picnic, and it was decided that juniors would meet at the ASUN building at 10:30 next Friday morning to insure that all desiring to attend the affair would have rides.

Willis Dalzell, who was named in charge of the committee several days ago, is being assisted by Sam Basta, Llewellyn Young, Duncan Dorsey, John Murphy, Hal Lang, Sam Wilson, Stan McNair and Max Jensen.

Katherine McCleary who is in charge of the "food division," is being assisted by Virginia Posvar, Elizabeth Best, Janet Parish, Elizabeth Osborn, Jane Bell, Jessie McClure, Gladys Blair and Kathleen Meeks.

A meeting of the committee has been called by Dalzell for 3:30 Monday afternoon to make final arrangements for the cut-day.

A new note in kitchen equipment is the patented baking pan with a hole in the middle "for the insertion of hamburgers."

Hansen Chosen As 'Miss Nevada' In Bridge Fiesta

Contestants to Travel by Air to Exposition; Compete for 'Miss Western America' Title

Winning over twelve contestants, Genevieve Hansen has been chosen "Miss Nevada" to represent Nevada in the Golden Gate bridge fiesta, where girls from the eleven western states will compete for the title of "Miss Western America."

The winner will be awarded a six weeks' trip to the French International Exposition in Paris this summer by the sponsors of the contest, the Golden Gate International Exposition. Miss Hansen will head the Nevada parade in the Golden Gate fiesta as Queen of the Reno Rodeo May 27.

Speaking for the Reno Rodeo association, Dud R. Day, chairman of the committee, said: "We are very proud to have a University of Nevada girl as representative and the rodeo association feels that the judges have selected a girl who will truly be representative of the state of Nevada."

Travel by Air

All contestants for the title of Miss Western America will travel to San Francisco by United Air Lines April 23. They will be guests of the exposition directors in San Francisco for several days. Final judging for the Miss America title will be on the basis of beauty, personality and personal accomplishments.

Miss Hansen was elected Mackay Day queen this year and is the editor of the 1937 Artemisia. She was queen of the Winnemucca rodeo two years ago.

Second and third prizes in the Miss Western America competition will be a week's steamer trip to British Columbia.

Judges Named

The contest was judged by Dr. C. E. Piersall, Mrs. Helen Thorpe Whitebeck and Edward Semenza. Runners-up in the contest were Eileen Colohan, Billie Morgan and Mary Beth Wood.

Young Officially Assumes A.E. Post

Llewellyn Young, newly elected president of the Associated Engineers, officially took over his office at a short business meeting held Wednesday night in the electrical engineering building.

Young made a short talk to those present, thanking them, and asking the sincere cooperation of all engineers in the Associated Engineers' four big activities of the coming year—the Engineers' Brawl, engineering trips, such as have been made to Boulder dam and the Bay bridge in the past, Homecoming day float competition, and Engineers' Day.

Allen Given Gavel

Charles Allen, retiring president, was presented with a small golden gavel by the association in recognition of his effective and conscientious work during the past year.

Following an announcement by Eugene Rollins, newly elected president of the student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, of a dinner and meeting to be held April 23 for A.S.M.E. Secretary Davies, the meeting adjourned.

In Hoquiam, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Meow named their baby boy Katz.

Sigma Phi Place Fifth on Hitting List

Cashill Leads Sluggers with Nine Hits in 12 Times at Bat For an Average of .775

Seize guns of the Sigma Phi Sigma went into action this week to take five of the first ten places on the honor list of fraternity batsmen, while four pitchers remained on the unbeaten side.

Bill Cashill leads two of his teammates, Dorsey and Smiley, in the first three positions on the roll. Cashill hit nine safeties out of 12 trips to the plate. Azneraz of Lambda Chi holds down fourth place, followed by Rebaleati of A.T.O. in fifth and Harry Gravelle of Lambda Chi in sixth place.

McKinnor of Phi Sigs is in seventh place followed by Brandon and Showalter of the Sigma Phi Sigma team in eighth and ninth positions, with Callahan of the Taus holding tenth place.

Joe Lomori, leader of last week's hitters, failed to place among the ten best each with averages of five hundred per cent or better.

In the pitching department, Pine of the Taus, Peole of the SAE's and Cain of the Lambda Chis have each registered three wins and suffered no losses for a thousand per cent, while Peole holds his pitching at a thousand with one win and no losses.

Spring Concert To Be Presented At Century Club

The annual Spring Concert will be presented by the campus choral clubs next Thursday, April 22, at the Twentieth Century club, it was announced by Prof. Theodore H. Post, head of the music department.

The concert will feature numbers by the combined men's and women's choral groups as well as a special number with the orchestra.

Post expects a good attendance at the show because the public has supported previous productions well.

Next Tuesday night a dress rehearsal of the program will be held at the Century club with the entire cast required to be present.

A small group of singers will entertain at Loyalton high school on Saturday, April 24. On Sunday, April 25, the choral clubs will sing in the Y.W.C.A. spring pageant. Monday, the 26th, they will sing at the Reno Rotary club, Professor Post said.

Travel Pictures Will Be Presented By French Group

Seven reels of travel pictures regarding the French people, their buildings and customs, will be presented to university students and townspeople by the Cercle Francais Thursday evening, April 22, at 8 p. m., it was decided in a meeting of the group Tuesday evening.

The pictures will include four reels of sound and three of silent pictures, to run continuously, and are being obtained by the group from a French railway company with offices in the United States.

Presentation will include one reel of Brittany, one depicting the outstanding French cathedrals, one on the historic buildings throughout France. One deals with the landscapes and countryside of Normandy and another treats with the southwest part of the nation, with special attention to the rural life.

Invitations are being sent to the various schools in the city to attend the picture, and special effort is being made by the group to contact Renoites who may be interested.

Math Club Plans Picnic At Tahoe

A picnic at the Silas Ross home on Zephyr Cove at Lake Tahoe will wind up the activities of the university Math club Sunday, April 25, according to Llewellyn Young, president of the group. During the day, the group will play games on the beach and either swim, weather permitting, or row on the lake. Later in the day, the group will be served a picnic lunch.
