Donald, Miller, Moler Are Chosen As Rhodes Tryees

Candidates To Go Before State Committee In Mid-December

Students Have Opportunity To Win Scholarships To Oxford

Forty University of Nevada students who have joined the Radio Guild are being coached in the various fields of program preparation by Emerson Smith, production manager for KOH. Try-outs are open to all students who are interested, and auditions will be given at any time during the day. Students who show talent will be trained by Smith until they are ready to appear on programs. Instruction will deal with all phases of radio work including program planning, voice culture and script writing.

The first few weeks the guild will present only musical numbers and the news of the campus, as presented by Nel Wiley.

Second in the series of programs was given Thursday night. The program included vocal selections by Sybil Purcher and Margaret Turano, who sang "In Nevada on the Desert," a song recently composed by Mrs. Beatrice Burnell. Shirley Ferron sang "Smarty," accompanied by Helen Collins.

The Grand March from Verdi's "Aida" was a piano solo by Mary Ellen Bennets, followed by the Beta Kappa quartet singing "Diane." Doris Larson played a piano solo, "Moonlight and Shadows." "Watch Your Waistline Willie" gave fashion tips to the coeds. The program was closed with a Beethoven piano concert played by James Galvin.

As talent is developed the programs will include dramas and skits, as well as talks to acquaint the public with the various departments of the university.

The candidates are all prominent in campus organizations.

Viscissell McDonald is president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and a member of Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholarship fraternity. Robert Miller is president of the International Renas Club and a member of Masque Dagger, campus dramatic society.

W. Moler is a member of Lambda Alpha, and Nu Eta Epsilon, honorary engineering fraternity.

Since 1907, eighteen University of Nevada students have been selected, last being Alden Sibley whose apartment came in 1930.

McDonald and Moler are Reno residents graduates of Reno high school to Miller is from Pittsburg, California, and a graduate of the schools that state.

The scholarship, offered by Cecil B. Des, one time diamond king and fish statesman, is aimed at allowing the student showing definite quality of leadership, scholastic ability, and rest in outdoor activities, the opportunity of spending at least two and a half three or more years at the University of Nevada.

Students To Give Wolves Send-Off

Members of the entire assembly of the varsity band, members of the study body will turn out tonight at 8:00 at Southern Pacific depot to give the returning Wolf Pack a vigorous send-off in the eve of their impending game at Santa Barbara State.

According to rally chairman Bud Doherty, "the students will attempt to be behind them and have faith in them regardless of what anyone else says."

Second Show Given By Radio Guild Thursday

Martie Is To Issue Varsity Basketball Call November 28

Returning Lettermen Will Form Basis Of 1938 Hoop Squad

First official call for the varsity squad will be issued directly after the last football game, or approximately November 28, immediately after the Thanksgiving recess, Coach J. E. "Doc" Martie said this week.

Those who will probably answer the first call of the season will be veterans of last year's squad, which will be more or less intact, not having been heavily hit by the graduation route.

Anxiously awaiting the start of what appears to be a very fine season for the charges of Martie are the old veterans John Robb and Joe Radetich, who were outstanding on the court for the Wolves last year. Powers, Spears, Leighton, Cole, and Ralph will also be on hand to brighten the prospects for the '38 season.

Although most of the teams scheduled for this season's encounters have taken the floor in some preliminary practice sessions, Nevada, which is one of the few schools on the coast that still believes in refraining from having more time, will wait until the influx of varsity one major sport in session at one city football men coming out for basketball will bolster the squad.

Miller, Goldwater Initiated By Club

Dave Goldwater and Robert Miller were initiated into Masque and Dagger honorary dramatics fraternity, Wednesday night at the Education auditorium.

In order to be eligible for membership to the club, one must have taken part in five or six plays, and have played at least two leads.

Miller carried the lead in both "Both Your Houses," and "Hell Bent for Heaven," last year, while Goldwater took leads in "Hell Bent for Heaven," "Much Ado About Nothing," and "The Wind and the Rain."

According to President Mel Wilder, a banquet, in honor of the new members, will be held tonight at the Colombo.

Prominent Students Given Membership To Nu Eta Epsilon

Grutt, Patterson, Moler, And Pine Receive Highest Engineers Honors

Nu Eta Epsilon, engineering scholastic fraternity, added two electrical, one mining, and one civil engineer to its ranks this week.

Those chosen for membership by the group were: Eugene Grutt, Ed Pine, Guy Patterson, and Marvin Moler.

Grutt is a member of the Crucible club, is an Independent, and a mining student. Patterson is head of the electrical engineers and is an Independent.

Pine is A.T.O. president, president of the civil engineers, and a member of the men's upperclass committee. Moler is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha, the band, Delta Delta Epsilon, and is an electrical engineering student. He was recently elected to Blue Key, honorary service fraternity.

Membership is based on scholarship, with one-fourth of the senior class and one-eighth of the junior class being considered.

Louis Carpenter is president of the group while Professor F. L. Bixby is secretary.

The certificates of membership will be presented to the new members at the annual banquet to be held next spring.

AWS Fashion Show Postponed To Monday

The A.W.S. fashion show, under the direction of Jean Chism, has been postponed until Monday morning because of the Armistice holiday this week.

The clothes, modeled by sorority members and Manzanita hall girls, will show the latest fashion trends. Most of them, however, will be a sports type.

Proceeds from the fashion show will go toward the A.W.S. scholarship of $25 a year awarded to the girl making the best scholastic record. Last year it was awarded to Rebecca Taitel, senior.

Junior Prom Plans Are Well Underway

Annual Affair To Be Held On December 4

Plans for the Junior Prom which will be held December 4 are well under way, according to Leo Doyle, chairman of the prom committee.

There will be a central theme for the dance, but as yet it has not been decided upon. Vocal acts and other entertainment will be held between dances.

Programs and stickers are being prepared, with the publicity being started in a week or so. Donald Kinkel is in charge of the advertising.

KEYERS CLAIM ROBBERY; TO PAY COSTS

Claiming robbery in their game with the Sagers last Saturday, the Blue Key men, never-the-less, will live up to their part as loser and play hosts to the junior organization at a party.

According to Blue Key, the Sagers have to win two out of three games and the Keyers have been negotiating for a "revenge" game.

The new members recently elected into Blue Key will be initiated into the society in the near future. As yet no definite date has been set.

Petition Circulation For Student Union Starts Next Week

As Many Student Signatures As Possible Is Aim Of Committee

The first steps toward the fulfillment of plan toward the erection of a new student union building will be taken next week when a group of students appointed by Student Body President Richard Taw circulate petitions around the campus.

The petitions will be sent to organizations and greek letter groups and will also be circulated on the campus. As many undersigned names as possible will be the aim of the group in charge of the circulation of the petitions.

As soon as a probable maximum number of signatures have been affixed to the petitions, they will be presented to President Walter E. Clark who will refer the documents to the Board of Regents.

Headline the petition will be the following in clauses:

1. Beginning the spring semester of 1938, $2.50 of the $12.50 A.S.U.N. fee shall be set aside to pay for a Student Union building.
2. Such assessment will be collectable only as long as is necessary to pay for the building.
3. Total sums collectable from the students shall not exceed $125,000.00.
4. It is understood that the building and all funds collected under this plan shall be the property of the A.S.U.N. and shall be administered by them.

These same provisions will be included in the new constitution now under revision by a special committee.

This group in charge of circulating the petitions among the university students are Bill Goodin, chairman; Prescott Wilson, Dick Sumerbell, Gladys Blair, and Francis Nichols.

Sagens To Vote On Funds Plan

Several plans for raising money were discussed at a meeting held this week by Sagens, women's pep organization.

Of the many ideas submitted by the members, a plan for levying dues was considered best. Voting on the suggestion will take place at the next meeting.

According to Eunice Beckley, president of the organization, dues would be paid by each member at the beginning of each semester. The amount of money which would be collected from the 23 members would be sufficient to cover the small expenses of the group.

It was also decided that the rule concerning late attendance and absence at meetings would be enforced, and a fine would be charged for each infraction. At the present time, the only means of income for the group is the annual Sagens Reverse dance which is given in the spring.

Musical Comedy Plans Furthered By Finance Board

Sponsors Of Mackay Show May Be Choral Clubs, Dramatic Group

Plans for a proposed operetta to be held in conjunction with Mackay day were furthered today when the Finance Control voted $15 to W. C. Miller, dramatics coach, for use in purchasing prospective scripts.

Miller will purchase scripts from several publishing houses and a suitable manuscript will be selected. A budget covering the complete cost of the operetta will be turned into the Finance Control next semester.

Agitation for a musical show to be held the night before Mackay day was started several weeks ago and so far has met with approval of most of the student groups.

The student senate has already signified its approval of the plan, and the Masque and Dagger, campus dramatic group, and the Campus Choral clubs have signified their intention to sponsor such a production.

Pre-meds Will Take Aptitude Tests December 3

Along with thousands of other medical students in the United States, 35 pre-meds of the University of Nevada will be taking the Standard Medical Aptitude Test, on December 3, under the direction of Dr. Peter Frandsen, professor of Biology.

According to an announcement made today by Dr. Frandsen, the Education Committee of the American Medical Association is offering for the eighth consecutive year this general aptitude test to all universities of accredited standing in the United States. This test is given for the purpose of giving the students and the medical schools of the country a fair idea as to their abilities in the field of medicine.

The test will be open to all junior and senior students who wish to take it. The charge of $1 is made to each student taking the test merely to cover the cost of materials and mailing.

If the students of medicine do not take advantage of this opportunity, and wish to take the test at a later date the charge will be raised to $5 and there will be fewer centers in which the test will be given, Dr. Frandsen said.

The purpose of the test is both to give the student an idea as to his aptitude for the study of medicine and to give the different medical colleges an insight into the possibilities of the students taking the test. In previous tests given by the committee, it has consistently been proven that a high grade in this test is a good indicator of the abilities of the student.

The material of the test will be the same for all students taking the examination, but the class year of the student and subjects taken, will be considered in the grading.

The exact time of day and the place of the examination will be announced at a later date.

Organized Social Is Being Planned Will Take Place Of Annual Coed Folk Festival

Plans are being made by Miss Elsie Sameth, head of the women's physical education department, and Kirk Fairhurst, president of Blue Key, to combine their efforts and have a two-hour organized social in place of the annual Folk Festival.

If the tentative plans are carried out, the social will be held on November 23, the date assigned for the festival.

The organized social is a new idea on this campus. Plans are being made to have a nucleus group of about four couples learn certain old and new dances and teach them to other couples before the social. Then these "organized" dances will be presented for the entire campus to enjoy and to join in.

Debaters Take Part In Tournament Today

Four University of Nevada debaters today are upholding the platform laurels of Nevada at the Western Forensic Tournament at Bakersfield, California.

The four controversialists, Homer Herz, Robert Joy, Francis Breen, and Leo McCuddin, accompanied by their coach, Professor Robert S. Griffin, left Tuesday for the tournament.

The subject of debate is "Resolved that the National Labor Relations board should be empowered to enforce arbitration in all industrial disputes."

Besides debate, the team is also entered in the oratorical and extemporaneous speaking contests. Subjects for the extemporaneous speaking will be taken from articles on national and international affairs, which were published in the October and the first two weeks of the November issues of Time News Week magazines. Today and tomorrow are the days scheduled for actual debate competition, so the winners probably will not be announced until Sunday.

Sylvatic Plague Is Speech Topic Of Dr. K. Meyers

Problems confronting scientists in the control of sylvatic plague are the decrease, declared Dr. K. M. Meyers, speaking before a large group of students and townspeople in the Mackay Science building last Wednesday night.

"While the menace of the plague is still evident, measures taken for control of the disease are more effective than ever before," he said.

Dr. Meyers has headed the field expedition of scientists which for the past few years have been taking active steps to control the spread of the disease in California. Moving pictures in technicolor as well as black and white were shown of the field expedition in operation.

"Rodents, including rats, squirrels, and chipmunks are the most common carriers of the disease. Their propagating grounds and nesting places should be destroyed, and notification of public health authorities should be done immediately," he stated.

The dangers of abandoned cabins are infinitely greater than sleeping out under the stars if there is a chance at all that the plague may be found in the cabins. The region around Lake Tahoe has recently been assailed as a possible infected place due to several cases of the plague being discovered there last summer.

"The disease will never be entirely eradicated despite the arguments of idealists," Meyers stated. "We can suppress the plague very effectively if the public will cooperate with the health authorities."

Dr. Meyers' talk was sponsored by Omega Mu Iota, honorary medical fraternity. Dr. Meyers is also head of the Hoopers Foundation in San Francisco and works in connection with the Public Health Department of that city.

Tentoni To Sing At First Concert

Two hundred student members of the Nevada Community Concert Association will be present when Rosa Tentoni, Metropolitan opera soprano, is presented next Monday as the first artist of the 1937 season.

Student memberships, limited this year to 200, were completely sold out several weeks ago. In all, over 1000 memberships have been sold to Nevada music lovers.

Miss Tentoni, now singing the title role of Madame Butterfly in San Francisco, has appeared in most of the large cities of the United States, and has received lavish praise from music critics on the quality and range of her voice, and her interpretation of roles.

On two occasions, when she was the guest artist of Arturo Toscanini, he praised her stage personality and the unusual quality of her voice.

29 Wolves Leave Tonight To Meet Santa Barbara

Basta Returns To Bolster Line For First Time Since COP Tilt

McKinnon To Lead Wolves For 2nd Time, Sullivan Will Start

By CLARENCE HECKETHORN
Five wins and two ties! That is the record of the Santa Barbara Gauchos, whom a Pack of 29 Nevada gridiron warriors will meet tomorrow night at Santa Barbara in a non-conference tilt.

The 29 Wolves will leave on the 8:15 train tonight in company with Coaches Douglas Dashiell and Chet Seranton, Trainer Leaf McManus, Manager George Ardans, and Walt States, publicity director.

The Wolves will be led against the Californians tomorrow by Hollis McKinnon, all-conference end last year, who was named captain of the game by Dashiell.

Led by Howard Yeager, Gaucho Little All-American halfback, the big Green Gaucho machine remains undefeated this season and is the leading contender for the Southern California conference title this year.

The return of Basta, stellar end and Loveall, tackle, from the injury list boosted the Nevada ranks. Basta has been on the side lines since the College of Pacific game in which he received a bad side injury and Loveall was a victim of a strained ankle in practice.

Both Peccole and Radovich are making the trip and will probably get their first chance of proving their ability against opponent competition in tomorrow's game.

Peccole has just recovered from a hip injury early in the season. The diminutive back looked exceptionally good on defense in practice this week and proved himself to be one of the fastest backs on the squad.

Shifted from tackle to end, Radovich will be given a chance to use his bulk and speed at one of the wing posts.

Dashiell has been in quest for a center that breaks through the line on defense and at last has found the man in Hank Clayton. Clayton formerly a tackle will start against the Staters in the pivot position.

Jim Sullivan, 180-pound left guard, has been moved into the starting lineup and will take the position previously held by Brooks at guard. Sullivan proved strong an drive and aggressiveness this week which earned him the starting place.

Last year Santa Barbara gave Nevada the most decisive beating of the season when they downed the Bombers 13-0. Practically the same team that met the Wolves last year will again greet them tomorrow night.

Two Gaucho players—Yeager and Pollock—were named on the Little All-American gridiron team last year and are considered the backbone of the squad Nevada will meet. It was Yeager that scored the two touchdowns against Nevada last season, and local sports followers acclaimed the Californian one of the best field generals and line slicers ever to appear on Mackey field.

Santa Barbara: Mullock, L. E.; Busby, L. T.; Oldershaw, Captain, L. G.; Hart, C.; Hayman, R. G.; Woody, R. T.; Young, R. E.; Pollock, Q.; Wilson, L. H.; Yeager, R. H.; Monson, F.

Nevada players making the trip are as follows: Bennett, Brooks, Bryant, Campbell, Carpenter, Clayton, Lemons-thenes, Eaton, Calloway, Grubbs, Gustafson, Hardie, Lommori, McIntyre, McKinnon, McMichael, Metten, Podesta, Powell, Robb, Sala, Sullivan, Taylor, Twombly, Whitham, Peccole, Radovich, Loveall, and Basta.

Martie To Attend Legion Conclave

Professor J. E. Martie, director of the athletic department of the University of Nevada left yesterday to attend an American Legion regional convention to be held in Indianapolis, Indiana, during this month.

Martie was chosen regional representative for the Reno Post of the American Legion.

At the conclusion of the Legion conclave, Martie will journey to Washington D. C. where he will attend the National Olympics Conference in that city.

Martie will meet with far-Western Conference representatives at the Olympics meeting. He is expected to return the latter part of the month.

Impressionistics To Reign During Annual 'She Jinks'

Germs, Wastepaper Baskets To Show Surrealistic Viewpoints

Males Warned By Amazons To Lay Off Party This Year

Surrealism will be the theme of the annual Tri-Delt "She Jinks," which is to be held next Wednesday night at seven o'clock in the gymnasium.

According to Nancy Hall, chairman of the committee, all the girls must be in costumes which resemble some sort of impressionistic art, or surrealism. Miss Hall suggested that the girls come as bananas, waste paper baskets, window sills, germs, or anything else which might be termed surrealism.

Prizes will be given for the best sorority representation, best active act from a sorority, and the best costumes.

The "She Jinks" is given every year by the Tri-Delts. All the women on the campus are invited to attend, but no males are allowed.

Many attempts have been made to crash the party by the men on the campus, but most of the males suffered for their efforts. The Tri-Delts are issuing a warning again this year to any fellow who tries to crash the gate, that he must suffer the consequences.

SO SOCIETY

The Tri Delt entertained the fraternity presidents of the various houses Wednesday night. Those attending were Edward Pine, Melvin Redhead, Norrison Beatty, Hollis McKinnon, Russell McDonald, Whitney De La Mare, and Louis Nash.

Friday afternoon the Mother's club of the Tri Delt sorority had a book tea at which books were brought to increase the house library.

Next Wednesday night the Tri Delt will be hostesses to the women of the campus at the annual She Jinx to be held in the gymnasium from 7 to 9.

Alpha Tau Omega fraternity entertained Gamma Phi Beta sorority Wednesday night from 7 to 8 at a social hour. Dancing was the diversion, with refreshments being served afterwards.

The Gamma Phi Beta sorority initiated four pledges Saturday night. The new members are Phyllis Horton, Agnes Pacheco, Maude Patterson, and Rose Boggio.

Gomer Reese, graduate of the University of Nevada and Marion McTaggart were married Monday night. They are spending their honeymoon at Catalina Island and several California cities. Reese is employed at Armanako's.

The Pi Beta Phi sorority will present their pledges and their house mother, Mrs. Dorothy T. Gill tomorrow afternoon from 4 to 6 in their annual presentation tea.

The pledges are Phyllis Anker, Marie Belz, Jeanne Brannin, Mardel Brown, Ann Gamble, Ruth Harris, Margaret Harrison, Shirley Heany, Margaret Hermansen, Wilma Jones, Anne Johnson.

Lithographs Displayed By Fine Arts Group

A display of lithographs from the Federal Art project was shown by the Fine Arts club this week.

The pictures are largely by outstanding Southern California artists.

Particularly interesting are the following pictures: "Solitude" by Paul Tyler, which is a character study. The picture entitled "Negro" by Nicholas Panesis is done in color and is a study of an enslaved negro. "Winging South" by Glen Stirling shows the annual flight of ducks to the south. "Night Before November the Third" by Kathryn Uhl is a study of a mob of people and their reaction to a political speech.

The majority of the exhibit is done in black and white; however, a few of the lithographs are in subdued colors.

War On Syphilis

By DR. PETER FRANSEN
(Editor's Note—The drive against venereal disease is now in the open. Omega Mu Iota, in a recent exhibit, introduced the subject on the campus, and will continue its drive throughout the year by having prominent physicians lecture on the topic. The Sagebrush, believing that student understanding of the problem will help in ultimately stamping it out, presents the first of a series of articles written by well-known biologists and physicians. Today's article was written by Dr. Peter Fransen, head of the university biology department. The Brush wishes to thank Charles Turner, president of Omega Mu Iota, for cooperation in this drive.)

Early last year Surgeon General Parsons of the United States Public Health Service announced that the federal government was prepared to take the lead in a determined effort to stamp out syphilis provided it could secure the cooperation of the public and assistance of all state and municipal health agencies to that end. His announcement brought forth a surprising unanimity of response from all sections of the country, from all ranks of society and particularly from the young people. An exchange dinner was held with the SAEs Wednesday night with several members from each house visiting the other.

Ray Rodriguez, former student, was married to Helen Apanzeller in San Francisco last Saturday night. The couple will reside in San Francisco.

Mary Fox left yesterday to attend the Santa Barbara-Nevada game, and from there she will continue to her home in Glendale, California for a short stay.

SPRAINED ANKLES ABOUND; MANY CRUTCHES

"There are four pair of crutches walking around the campus now," said Mrs. Shurtleff, nurse at the university hospital, early this week.

Allen Rives, member of A. T. O., sprained his ankle playing football; Vernon Wines, Sigma Nu, has an infection in his toe; Blaine Oakey, senior student, sprained his ankle while playing basketball, and Eugene Peterson, sophomore student, had his leg lacerated while playing football.

American Institute of Public Opinion, 87 out of every hundred voted in favor of such united action. Health Commissioner Bundeson sent a questionnaire to over a half-million of Chicago's taxpayers. Over ninety per cent not only favored the necessary expenditures of money in anti-syphilis campaign but were willing to have their blood tested in order to first determine how much syphilis there is and where in Chicago's population.

Small pox, Typhoid, Diphtheria, Tuberculosis and other great plagues of the past have been or are being more or less completely brought under control by applying the latest methods of medical science, sociology and education. How much can be done in the eradication of any disease depends upon our knowledge of its causes, our facilities for early diagnosis, the effectiveness of our cures and of course our general willingness to spend the money and effort in applying our knowledge. The cause of syphilis is known. Its diagnosis is now more easily and more certainly made than that of most other diseases. A microscopic examination in the earliest stages will show the living spirochaetes. The Wasserman blood test as recently modified and improved will unfailingly detect from 80 to 90 per cent of untreated cases at any stage of the disease. Before the discovery of this test the diagnosis of syphilis was not easy because its clinical symptoms may be similar to those of almost any other disease. It has been called the great imitator. Osler once said: "Know syphilis in all its forms and you will know the whole of medicine."

Few other disease have as many or as effective remedies as has syphilis. For 500 years mercury was the only available drug and it is still valuable for certain forms and in certain cases. Bismuth has to a large extent replaced mercury arsenamine, the 606 discovery of Ehrlich's, has been of special value in abolishing the infectiousness of syphilis with a rapidity not equalled by any other method or in any other disease. The only difficulty is that the administration of these drugs requires technical skill, produces some undesirable reactions, is expensive and takes from two to five years to effect a complete cure. Further search for better methods is still going on.

Prejudice and ignorance handicap the fighters against syphilis. The long association of this disease with immoral conduct has forced a policy of silence and secrecy on the part of all concerned. While it is true that infection most frequently occurs through sexual contacts and that it is most prevalent among those who are sexually promiscuous, it is not limited to any class, any age or any standard of morals. It may be acquired more or less directly by mouth or hand to mouth contacts. While the germ soon dies outside the body it is possible for it to be transferred from syphilitic mouth sores to food handled by a patient and thus to other mouths. The saddest feature about syphilis is that a child may be infected before or after birth, if either parent has latent or unrecognized syphilis, and show no signs of it until a break down in health, perhaps years later, calls for a medical diagnosis, too late, oftentimes, to prepare the damage. Another obstacle to the control of syphilis is its tendency to manifest long latent periods after short treatment or to apparently clear up without any treatment at all so that the patient believes he is cured. Months or years later serious trouble develops in the heart, liver, lungs, brain or other vital organs without either patient or friends realizing that it is the cumulative result or a hidden uncurd syphilis.

How much syphilis is there in this country? Nobody knows. About a million new cases come to medical attention each year. It has been estimated that from 5 to 10 per cent of the whole population is infected but this is only a guess. The blood test applied one year at West Point gave positive results in one out of twenty. In six counties in six southern states, among 33,000 negroes, twenty per cent were found to be syphilitic. In Macon county, Alabama, one child in three, and one of every two young adults were found to be diseased.

The first step in an efficient campaign to stamp out syphilis should be to apply the Wasserman blood test to every one with any ailment however trivial it may seem. There should be a willingness on the part of all of us to submit to this test which will probably be offered in the near future without cost to the individual and without undesirable publicity as to the names of those who give a positive reaction. The positive reactors can be made non-infectious by a few treatments and the treatments continued until the cure is certain. Measures have already been taken in several states to secure the funds to pay the costs for those who cannot afford the treatments. To make this war against one of the greatest maiming and killing diseases of today a success, there must be a united front and team work between all the forces of medicine, education, industry and society.

New Conduct Rules For Student Union Bldg. Announced

'Too Much Noise' Complaints Necessitate Changes In Old Rulings

Following complaints concerning disorderly conduct and unnecessary boisterousness in the student union building, a special committee was last week appointed by the Student Affairs committee to administer rules governing the building.

The committee revised the rules formerly drawn up when the building was first donated to the associated students. Members of the committee include Robert Creps, Richard Taw, John Brackett, Willis Dalzell, Sam Wilson, and Ted Olds.

The following rules were unanimously agreed upon:

1. The student union building is property of the University of Nevada and therefore is under university control and supervision at all times.
 2. Supervisory agent for the university shall be the Student Affairs committee as appointed by the president of the university.
 3. Direct supervision of the student union building shall be vested in the hands of a Student Union committee composed of the following members: Graduate Manager, Student Body President, and the Editor and Business Manager of both the U. of N. Sagebrush and the Artemisia.
 4. The student union building shall be open daily for the use of all students attending the University of Nevada.
 5. All committees and group meetings shall be closed at 9:30 p. m.
 6. None but those having official business within the building will be allowed to remain after 9:30.
 7. Disorderly conduct or unnecessary boisterousness shall be tolerated at no time.
 8. Keys to the building shall be held by members of the Student Union committee only.
 9. Penalty for violation of the foregoing rules shall be determined by the Student Union committee.
- These rules have been posted in the student union building and are now in effect, members of the committee said.

Vocation Aptitude Tests Are Now Offered

Seventeen tests, covering a wide and varied field of interests, to determine aptitude and interests with the aim of aiding students in selecting their life work are being offered by the department of psychology in order to facilitate the work of the university vocational guidance committee.

Professor Ralph Irwin, of the psychology department, in a pamphlet to the members of the faculty, recently stated that the tests are now available to any students who wish to take them. No student is required to take any particular test but may do so of his own volition or on the advice of any member of the faculty.

The tests now available measure ability and aptitude in science, physics and chemistry, foreign languages; English, nursing, salesmanship, clerical work, art judgment, music, reading, reading comprehension and speed, vocational interest, introversion-extroversion, personality inventory, and a study questionnaire.

There are a great many factors involved in vocational or educational choices, and "frequently, insufficient information makes for an inadequate evaluation of these and advice goes astray," said Professor Irwin.

"We believe," he continued, "that such testing is a step in the direction of a more definite student personnel service than now exists."

These tests are not as highly developed or accurate as mental tests, but the department believes that they are more reliable than most individual's guesses concerning their own ability, and that they furnish a much better basis for advice than most counselor's judgments based on limited acquaintance with students.

U. N. Professors Speak To Students

Two University of Nevada professors, Dr. Fred W. Franer and Dr. Harold N. Brown, addressed high school students this week in commemoration of American Education Week, which has been observed annually for the past seven or eight years.

Dr. Franer spoke Wednesday morning at the Reno High School on "The Relation of Education to the Constitution." The assembly was called not only in observance of the American Education Week, but also in honor of the Sesquicentennial of the signing of the Constitution.

Dr. Brown spoke at Orvis Ring on Wednesday and at Sparks High School this morning on "Educational Opportunities Today." His subject dealt with the life of Horace Mann, America's greatest educator, and many times called "father of the public elementary school system."

and eligible for life saving. The first meeting was held today when those wishing to take part in the course met at the gym to go to Moana.

Plans were discussed for the women's intramural swimming meet which will be held at Moana November 19.

The group also discussed the possibilities of buying a canoe. If the canoe is obtained the corps will give instructions as to how to handle it.

Jerry Delonnoy, who formerly worked at Mountain City, Nevada, is now sampling at Silver City for the Dayton Consolidated Mines.

Rifle Squads Will Work Out Soon

The Installation Of Lights Is Planned For Barracks

Rifle, women's only intercollegiate sport on the University of Nevada campus, will soon be in full swing under the instruction of Sergeant John T. Kelly, of the Nevada R.O.T.C. unit.

Captain Henry W. Isbell, speaking of the prospects of this year's rifle squad said he feels confident that Nevada will have a splendid team.

Plans for installing a new lighting system in the barracks are being discussed, and, if the project goes through, the target range will be vastly improved.

After the first few meetings in Stewart hall, classes will be held in the barracks for practice shooting, which will continue until Christmas. Immediately after Christmas, coeds will shoot in intramural and class matches.

Last year one-fourth of the women enrolled at Nevada signed up for rifle, according to Eunice Beckley, manager. Sign-up sheets will be posted on the bulletin boards early next week.

In intercollegiate matches last semester, Nevada, with a perfect score of 500, defeated Connecticut State University and Cornell, who turned in scores of 495 and 490. The intramural cup was captured by the Phi Beta Phi house. Of the 20 matches Nevada shot with colleges throughout the country 16 were won.

Moonlight Steak Fry Planned By Horsewomen

Fifteen women of the Monday afternoon riding class will participate in a moonlight ride and steak fry next Wednesday night.

The group will ride several miles into the nearby foothills, and cook steaks over a camp fire. Plans are being completed by Josephine Seddon and Covey Willis.

After three weeks of schooling in jumping form the coeds are now clearing three-foot hurdles. This is the first semester that instruction in English riding or in jumping has been offered at the University of Nevada.

Engineering Students To Visit Boca Dam A group of engineering students is leaving the electrical engineering building at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon, for an inspection trip to Boca Dam.

Professors H. P. Boardman and Professor F. L. Bixby will accompany the group.

They will inspect the diversion tunnels which are now being concreted, to observe the work that is being done.

Ed Pine, president of the civil engineers, is in charge of the trip.

Prep School Editors Conclave Judged Successful

"The Press club convention held last week was a big success," Charles Doherty, chairman stated this week.

Plans were made for future conventions in which something definite will be carried over for the next year.

Four cups will be awarded next year at the end of the two-day convention. A cup will be awarded to the school having the best represented printed newspaper, for the best represented mimeographed newspaper, for the best working plan for printed annuals, and the best plan for mimeographed annuals.

The state was divided into two classes, class A for printed newspapers and annuals, and class B for mimeographed newspapers and annuals.

Arrangements were made so that the high schools throughout the state will exchange papers between themselves as well as with the Press club.

All papers submitted next year will be classified according to their makeup as excellent, good, fair, and poor. They will be under consideration of experienced judges.

Doherty is preparing a complete report of the convention which is to be sent out to all the high schools.

Cups awarded Saturday evening at the dinner given for delegates at the El Cortez hotel were as follows: The best year book "Wadsworth Pelican" Wadsworth high school; the best newspaper, Las Vegas Desert Breeze, Las Vegas high school.

Newman Club Social Planned For Sunday The Newman club, organization for Catholic students on the campus, will hold a social Sunday evening at the St. Thomas Aquinas social hall. The affair will begin at seven o'clock, and all Catholic students are invited to attend.

Patricia Davis, president of the group, said that there will be entertainment, and refreshments will be served throughout the evening. Music will be furnished by Morgan Mills and his orchestra. There will be no admission charge.

A short business meeting will be held before the social, and reports on various activities will be given by committee chairmen. Ed Barrett is general chairman for the dance.

Verna Bullis spent last weekend visiting in Yerington.

HOME EC GIRLS TO FETE BOY FRIENDS

The "boy friends" of the members of the meal planning class of the home economics department will be guests at the annual dinner to be given Thursday evening, November 18.

The meal, managed by Hildegard Spieker, will be planned, cooked, and served in family style by members of the class.

Decorations, under the management of Clarethel Masterson, will follow an autumn theme. Entertainment is under the direction of Gertrude Polander.

The dinner is a class project and will be held in the home economics rooms. Thirty persons will attend. Jessie Pope, associate professor of home economics, will be the only faculty member present.

FASHION TIPS

By JANE FRISBIE We're going through the usual fall epidemic of formal and informal teas and what to wear is a problem.

No longer can we say, "A silk dress." It's not as simple as that, and not as dull. Then there's always the continual search for something different.

Get a dress for the teas than can be worn on special dates after six o'clock. Either lame or velvet is a magnificent indulgence for the gal who loves luxury, and it is possible to get them without sacrificing cohes and cigarettes for two months.

We found a tailored emerald-green lame in two pieces that was delicately threaded with gold. It had long sleeves and jeweled buttons down the front. Even Primo Carnera would willingly balance a cup of tea on his knee to sit beside a coed in that dress. Something unusual and smart is a lame blouse or jacket with a soft black wool skirt, or slip into a black velvet trimmed with white lace for demure sophistication.

Choose a slim crepe if you'd rather. We found a black celanese crepe with short sleeves, round neck, and a dashing wide red suede polo belt. Another practical dress was in the new ribbed crepe—a dark blue with wide shoulders, long sleeves, and a high neck that would be ideal for that bright clip you've been admiring but couldn't get because of nothing to wear it on. Either of these dresses would make the wearer look like the perfect lady who is nevertheless capable of swinging into the Susie Q.

Individualism for the formal evening—a gold spangled veil worn on your night time coiffure.

Teatime accessories for your lame and velvet are in suede, antelope, and velvet. Wear a fur trimmed antelope hat with your lame jacket—we'll be seeing a great deal of fur-trimmed hats everywhere before the winter's over.

Get your gloves in suede with fur cuffs for your coat without fur. Two practical suggestions that will save a few pennies on cosmetics. Don't lather on such quantities of cleansing cream. Your face will be cleaner if you smooth on only a little and leave it for

A QUESTION PEOPLE OFTEN ASK:

Is Camel justified in Spending Extra Millions for Costlier Tobaccos?

THE ANSWER IS THIS:

CAMELS ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA

It is homespun fact that nothing man does to tobacco can take the place of what Nature does. Camels are made of finer tobaccos into which Nature put extra goodness.

"ON OUR CAMPUS, it's Camels," says John Gale (right), college junior. "I've never found a milder cigarette. Even smoking as much as I do, Camels never get on my nerves or tire my taste. 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel.'"

GIRL RODEO CHAMPION, Rose Davis (left), says: "Camels always appeal to me, but I think the Camels at mealtimes are the most enjoyable of all."

DOROTHY MALONE, food editor (right), says: "Comments show my women readers find smoking Camels a pleasant way to encourage good digestion. I myself smoke Camels."

B. C. SIMPSON (left), Texas oil-well shooter: "Handling explosives makes me careful not to have frizzled nerves. I'm all for Camels. They couldn't be better if they were made to order."

ACTIVE IN SOCIETY. Mrs. Ogden Hammond, Jr. (right) says: "No matter where I am—you'll always find me with Camels. They don't tire my taste."

BLACKSMITH, Ed Deal, likes man-size meals and Camels with them. "For digestion's sake, smoke Camels' is my rule," says Ed. "Camels add a lot to my meals."

FLIGHT DISPATCHER, H. G. Andrews, often contacts 8 planes at once. He says: "One of the advantages I find in Camels is I smoke plenty, and Camels don't frazzle my nerves."

Costlier Tobaccos in a Matchless Blend Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic. The skillful blending brings out the full, delicate flavor and mildness of these choice tobaccos.

WITH THE WOLFETTES

By LOUISE LEONARD The senior volleyball team defeated the Wolfettes, 27-26, and the juniors defeated the sophs, 37-33 at games played in the gym last Tuesday.

Kathleen Starrat refereed the senior-Wolfette game and Mrs. Mae Simas, W. A. A. faculty advisor, was official for the junior sophomore game.

Basketball and badminton will not start until next semester, according to Mrs. Mae Simas.

All classes in the women's P. E. department are being held in the gym except tennis and golf.

Golf classes will be held outdoors until December 2, after which they will go in the gym where they will receive lectures until the end of the semester.

Tennis classes will probably disband next week to start badminton in the gym.

The tap class under the direction of Katherine Schnell, is working on new routines.

THERE IS A CURE

Ignited presumably by an editorial which appeared in the Sagebrush last week, the question of "what's wrong with Nevada's football team" flared out into the open this week as a result of a sports-cast over KOH by Bill Nash, local sports commentator.

In his talk Monday night, Commentator Nash openly attacked members of the varsity football squad for not training, contending that failure of the team to make a better showing was due directly to the poor physical condition of the players. Nash went on to say that the Sagebrush, in the mentioned editorial, was "giving notice of a bad situation and leaving the implication that Coach Dashiell can't control it." He also bitterly attacked a fraternity for a "pact among themselves that if anyone of them gets asked to turn in his suit, all will quit."

All in all, the context of Nash's speech, however good some of the points he brought out might have been, shows a decided unfamiliarity with football conditions at Nevada, and a type of reasoning that might be expected of one who has been in the city of Reno for only a short time.

Taking the point of the fraternity pact: This report was based entirely on rumor, and proved to be without foundation when run down. The Sagebrush will not trouble to answer Commentator Nash on this point, as the fraternity in question has adequately done that.

In his criticism of the Sagebrush editorial, Nash was no doubt sincere in his motives. The Sagebrush, however, fails to see how the article in question "is forcing the hand of the one he pretends to be protecting."

The editorial DID call attention to a bad situation over which Dashiell has no control, as Nash states—but what does he mean when he says that the editor is forcing Dashiell's hand? Is it forcing a coach's hand when someone talks of limited reserves, crippled players, and tongue wagers?

To Nash's challenge to make a "real purge"—by gathering and printing names of all Pack members who do not train, it is supposed—the Sagebrush can say only this: It does not believe that breaking training is the fundamental trouble with the team. The Sagebrush has considered, weeks ago, of doing the very thing Nash suggests—but it has been tried before, in other years, always futilely.

The Sagebrush does not doubt or deny, that some members of the team consistently break training, but it does contend that the majority of the boys are shooting square with Doug the best they know how.

But—the boys are out of condition. Certainly they are. But why? Lack of training on part of a few members would not account for the poor physical condition of those who do keep the rules.

Here's the reason as the 'Brush sees it: First of all, the blame can be laid on that St. Mary's game. Many of the team were unable to report for weeks after that tilt—some are still nursing injuries received in the game or early season scrimmages. Days of standing on the sidelines or under the lamps isn't going to help anyone's physical condition, and if the injury list is reviewed, it will be noted that almost all of the first string has suffered some sort of an injury. Those that haven't are still capable of playing a good tough sixty minutes.

That the team WAS in perfect condition at the beginning of the season was evidenced at the Wyoming game. All of the coaching staff was in accordance when they expressed the idea that the Wolves were IN BETTER PHYSICAL SHAPE THAN THEY HAD BEEN THE YEAR BEFORE.

The purge, as the Sagebrush sees it, can begin in two places, as a start towards building a bigger and better Nevada team.

In first place is the undoubted need of a training table, secondly, there must be a change in the attitudes of townspeople as well as students towards the football team.

The possibility of a training table is not a new idea: It was tried once at Nevada, and because of poor management and poor supervision, turned out to be a miserable failure. The administration, however, is willing to give it another try, provided, of course, enough money is available to finance it. It is a definite possibility that a training table, under careful management and supervision, will be instituted here next year.

It is estimated by authorities in the athletic department that a good training table could be operated for $1000 per month. Just where this amount of money is coming from is the main problem.

The Sagebrush would here like to suggest that here is a worthy project for the "Buck of the Month Club." Instead of paying out their money on scholarships, as they now intend to do, this group would be helping the athletic situation out a great deal more by turning in their receipts for this worthy project. With help from this source, there is hardly a reason why a training table can't be started next year.

The attitude of certain townspeople towards the football team can be summed up in a statement of a well-known figure of the squad, who said:

"We're licked before we start. Everyplace we go, people keep telling us how rotten we are, until we begin to believe it."

Another case in point, while not applying directly to the football team, but which reflects the narrowmindedness characteristic of the worst tongue wagers has to do with an ad chaser of the 'Brush staff, who in soliciting was met with this reply:

"We're not going to advertise in your paper any more until that football team wins a game."

Needless to say, when attitudes like this prevail, what is there to inspire a team to do its very best? Glory? In being told how rotten you are?

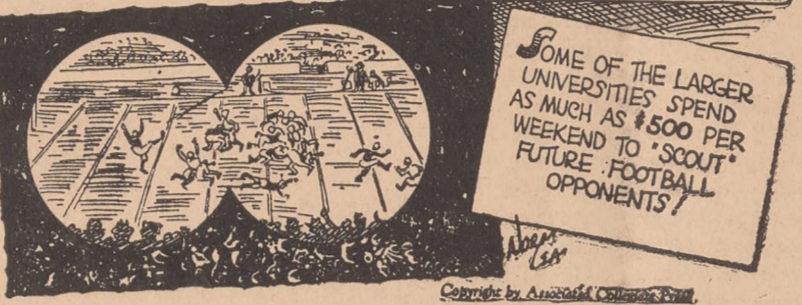

There is a sure cure for a sick Pack. But it will take more than one or two seasons. It will require a change in the training setup; it will require a change in downtown attitude; and it will take more MONEY!

NOW LET'S HEAR FROM YOU PATRIOTS DOWNTOWN.

PICKLED PLATITUDES

By MAX JENSEN

There's a war in China, if I may dispute a prominent speaker, who spoke here a short time ago. Russia protests that U. S., Britain, and France should punish Japan, Hitler, and Mussolini for lining up against Russia. States went to Santa Barbara. Armistice Day breaks in with a peaceful note to alleviate the strained relations between Bill Nash and Sigma Phi Sigma, and et. al., events move on at a trot, but there's nothing platitudinous to write about.

We should be receiving greetings from Bakersfield junior college and the Nevada debate team any minute now. May they be in the form of the announcement of victory. If the debate team runs into the same kind of season as has our much lampooned football outfit, somebody will howl for the scalp of Coach Griffin. Mutterings of Monday morning, extemporaneous orators and rebutters will send ugly rumors flowing through the volatile populace. Hard-working debaters are certainly to be accused of slurring their speeches over hot spot bars of the city. All this, and this, remember, if we don't win the debate tournament.

There's absolutely too many emotions mixed up in this matter of football. This outfit, and I'm speaking for myself, is abut to transfer allegiance to the debate squad. Here's luck to 'em.

Morris passed up what is reported to have been a good party in San Francisco some time ago, saving his energies, nay, even denying himself food and certainly drink, in anticipation of a trip to Santa Barbara this weekend. Morris gets a pass on the real road and is al set, until he finds that he should have left Reno, October 21 at 1:20 p. m. to reach Santa Barbara in time for the game, and could expect to arrive back in time for today on Christmas evening.

Morris, at certain time on this production, was rushing about looking for a big car and companionship for the drive to the game Saturday night. Don't fret, Ross, if you didn't make it. There'll be trips next year and next and so on, and you'll be here, you'll be here . . .

In looking through a 1928 Artemisia we discover plans of the PROPOSED STUDENT BUILDING. A spot is marked in a photograph of the campus, designating the area just north of the old Chemistry building as the proposed site of the proposed student union building. Details of the plan were given in sketchy form, saying that the student union had been formed to ask the board of regents to levy an assessment for the building with the funds to be used for a few other purposes.

That was ten years ago, come publishing time of Sam's and Ted's 1938 Artemisia. What will the picture be in 1947-48? Will we still have that potential and at times well-established mudhole in front of the gymnasium? Will some one in the future, look back as I did, and see an indication that the "old boys also had IDEAS?"

The trouble back then probably was that the Board of Regents refused to act without unanimous request from the student body. Let's not have it happen again. A petition circulated right now, or as soon as possible, would go like Fresno State did last Saturday.

I thought, upon looking through that old Artemisia of what we would have now if that first plan had gone through. In ten years from now, we don't want the student body to imagine what might have been there in front of the gymnasium. Let's have them see what is there.

Side thought: Nash is gnashing over Nash's gnashing of Monday night. The Nashes are Louis and Bill, respectively.

Shortly three senior students, STUDENTS, boys who come to college to study, will enter competition for a high scholastic honor, the Rhodes scholarship.

Reflection produces a couple of thoughts on the great majority of people who neglect serious study in school for various activities. About this time, when selection of the Rhodes candidates comes up, the activity boys are prone to pan themselves for what they know to be needless neglect of studies. Rare is the bird of the type of "Whizzer" White, Colorado U. footballer, who makes Phi Beta Kappa by studying on the training table. Most of us have to choose between either extra-curricular or curricular careers. They probably both have their rewards, one in the form of scholarships, and the other? You guess.

LETTERS To The Editor

Editor, the Sagebrush:
Yesterday the City of Reno held its annual Armistice Day parade. I was very happy to see the University of Nevada represented by its band and military unit, but one could easily see that the university did not have anything to be proud of.

I would estimate that the parade was in session for more than a half hour. During this time the biggest band that has ever represented the school played but one number. For a long time I always thought that the university should have a drum corps and by the way our 82-piece band sounded off yesterday morning I thought we had one.

Maybe our drum major figures that only drums should play. Even members of the band were disgusted to turn out and only play one piece. A reason for this reasoning might be that his title includes the word DRUM. It's the major I blame, not the members of the band.

Our R.O.T.C. unit was nothing to be proud of either. The cadets walked as if they were always going to turn a corner. In years past, the officers at least tried to keep the men in formation and did not allow them to roam all over the street while parading. Also in years past the privates had more pride than to act like a bunch of grammar grade kids while representing our school.

If this is an example of the nine weeks of military training that these men have had under the instruction of their student officers, it is just too pitiful for words. Someone ought to throw in the sponge for them!

An Activity Man.

Editor, the Sagebrush:
I want to take this means of expressing my appreciation for the fine things you had to say about the Fresno football team and your comments concerning my career.

I would like to put in a boost for Dashiell which will run in line with your editorial in last week's Sagebrush. There are many elements which enter into the building of a fine football team of which the coach is only one of the factors.

By CLARENCE HECKETHORN
Contenders for the intramural basketball championship dwindled down to two teams this week as Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Nu completed their schedules undefeated.

Figures on games played this season show the two teams to be fairly equal. The Tau quintet ran up a total of 261 points in their seven contests which gives them an average of 42 counters per game. Opposing teams of each of the two leaders have scored 124 points which gives the opposition an average of 18 points against both Sigma Nu and Alpha Tau Omega.

In any instance the game tonight will probably be one of the fastest games yet played on the local court as far as intramural competition goes. Both teams will employ a man to man defense. Judging from past games, the majority of Tau scores should be made by long field shot featuring John Etchemendy while Sigma Nu will rely on the speed of Walt Powers and his ability to reverse the A.T.O. basket and cash in on close-in shots. Both teams are well organized and have effective passing attacks featured by strong reserves. Height is in favor of the Taus which may counteract the Sigma Nu's speed.

There seems to be plenty of money going around on both teams with even odds. A good bet would be to pick either team by not more than a three-point margin with the scoring to be close to the thirty mark.

For the past week both teams have been trying to secure competent professional referees and by game time both squads will probably have agreed upon the arbitrators. Thus, whatever the outcome be neither team should have no alibis.

Twenty-nine Wolves will leave tonight for Santa Barbara where they will meet the undefeated Gauchos.

Dashiell seemed somewhat pessimistic last week as the game neared. "A fighting chance is Nevada's only chance," the square-jawed mentor said. "If the team should make that fight and return victorious over Santa Barbara, I am confident they will defeat Willamette Thanksgiving, thus ending the season with four wins and four defeats—the same as 1936."

Nevada has played two good games this season. Those being with Chico and College of Pacific, and the Pack should have another good game in its season.

Admittedly Santa Barbara is a better team as far as records go, but there never was a set of figures on paper that couldn't be overcome by fight. Therefore, I see a win for the local boys, and three points via a field goal is enough to win any game.

For the past few days a word feud has been going on between sports writers throughout the state, townspeople and a local radio commentator regarding what is the matter with the Nevada football squad.

Some blame fraternities, some breaking training and still others say it is because of the poor school spirit. These may be contributing factors for Nevada not winning all their ball games, but it would also improve the team if the coaching staff was enlarged. By this, I mean to employ a few assistant coaches such as line mentors, blocking instructors and backfield teachers.

The need of such assistants has become evident due to the fact that every now and then a new star evolves that was previously unknown.

Last week it was hard-hitting half-back named Dick Taylor that came forth as a player that would give Pat Eaton plenty of competition for the starting right halfback spot. Yet until the Fresno game Taylor sat on the bench as several others are doing now. But when the Sparks gridded did get his chance he proved to Dashiell that he was one of the best blockers in the backfield and very good in backing up the line. If you recall very few of the Bulldogs made gains through Taylor's territory last Saturday.

This week it is Jim Sullivan that is getting his chance. Sullivan played three years on the Reno high school varsity squad and according to reports did quite well as a guard. But again it took Dashiell nearly all season to find that Sullivan had what it took to make varsity material.

The same situation prevailed when Big John Radovich came out for the sport. For over half the season he was used as a tackle and didn't get clicking, and it wasn't until Chet Soranton got time to drill Radovich at the end position that he began making any progress.

Drilling a squad of men is a big job—Too big for a coach and his assistant. This is just a suggestion. I may be wrong but as long as every one else is getting his lick in, I may as well get mine.

Rumors are about campus that a group of prospective fresh football players are planning to withdraw and reenter a neighboring institution.

It seems that the Cub players have received better opportunities at the other school. These players are all varsity material and should be retained at Nevada if the local coaching staff is to be able to produce worthwhile teams.

TAUS, SIGMA NUS CLASH TONIGHT FOR INTERFRATERNITY HOOP TITLE

By JAY BARKER

Having completed their schedules with records intact, the Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Nu hoop quintets will play in the final game of the season tonight for the University of Nevada interfraternity basketball championship.

Both teams have played superior ball throughout the season, each winning eight games and losing none, to win the undisputed right to be in the final lay-off.

To Be A Battle

From all angles—shooting, passing and guarding—the Taus and the Center Street boys figure to display a brand new way of going about the business of beating each other's ears off. Here are some reasons to back up this statement:

First, both teams employ the same style of play, a fast-breaking defense; second, both teams are blessed with a generous number of individual stars; and third, the Sigma Nu outfit is anxious to cop the title and regain its status as tops in the annual hoop race, while the Taus will be fighting to annex the trophy after a lapse of several years.

It is easy to conceive that this will be one of the most hotly-contested battles of the season, with plenty of thrills for the fans.

Two preliminary games between Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Lambda Chi Alpha, and Phi Sigma Kappa and Lincoln Hall will provide feature entertainment.

Week's Play

Several close and thrilling games featured this week's play. The powerful Taus were almost upset by the hard-fighting Phi Sigs, dark horses of the league, who again provided the most thrilling game of the week.

The Phi Sigs led almost continually throughout the game, but their lack of reserves proved too great a handicap, and the Taus pulled the game out of the fire in the last few minutes of play to win, 29-24.

The Barbs outlasted the Sigma Phi Sigma five to win a hotly-contested battle, 43-40. Both teams alternated at taking the lead throughout the game.

The Independents provided the Lambda Chi outfit with plenty of competition but weren't able to stave off a last quarter rally and lost, 40-35.

Kappas Win

A much improved Beta Kappa quintet almost proved too much for the S.A.E. five, but again a lack of reserves cost the Betas a victory. The Sigma Alpha Epsilon quintet won, 36-31.

Outstanding players of the week were: Roylance, Phi Sigma Kappa guard, who held Etchemendy, the highscoring A.T.O. forward, to only 7 points and garnered 4 tallies for himself at the same time; Birch, hard fighting Independent guard, whose stellar play throughout the week earned him honorable mention; Mornston, A.T.O. forward, who is credited with having won the Phi Sig game by his last-minute sharp-shooting.

Fresno, Pacific Tied In Tourney

An unbeaten Fresno eleven shares first place with College of Pacific in the race for the far-Western conference title. Pacific is unbeaten in conference play.

In games played last week within the league, Fresno State swamped a crippled Wolf Pack while the Cal Aggie Mustangs ran rough shod over Chico, netting them a 26-0 win.

The Fresno game wound up Nevada's play in the conference, placing the Wolves in fourth place with one win and three losses.

In tilts scheduled for tomorrow, C.O.P. will meet the Aggies at Davis in a conference match and the Nevada Wolves journey to Santa Barbara for a non-conference battle.

Also playing outside the conference circle are Chico State and Fresno. Chico will meet Southern Oregon on its own field, while Fresno plays Hardin-Simmons at Fresno.

The standings:

	W	L	Pct.
Fresno	3	0	1.000
Pacific	2	0	1.000
Cal Aggies	2	0	.663
Nevada	1	3	.250
Chico	0	4	.000

All-Frat Tossers Picked By Scribes

Root Selected Unanimously Other Positions Even

By THE STAFF

After much pencil gnawing and erasing, the sports staff of the Sagebrush finally agreed upon the selection of the annual interfraternity basketball team.

Separate teams were picked by individual sport writers and then the men were selected according to the votes they received.

Outside of two positions, namely center and right forward, the selection was very difficult. The interfraternity race this year brought out many players of equal ability, making it hard to pick an unbiased team.

At the guard positions the voting was so close, that a tie occurred between Summerbell, Waldren and Ferris. It became necessary to take another vote and Waldren, A.T.O. and Ferris Sigma Nu, were finally selected.

At center it was quite easy, according to the news hawks. Root, Phi Sig, was selected unanimously, with Englbloom and Speers fighting for the second team.

Besides Powers at forward, Etchemendy was finally selected. Another heated battle was begun here, when the merits of various players were mentioned. Croft and Cameron pressed Etchemendy so closely for the other forward position, we feel that the second team forwards compared equally with those chosen for the first team.

Bulldogs Topple Wolf Pack 46-8

Hampered by the loss of most of its first string forward wall and demoralized by its previous defeats, the Wolf Pack fought gamely Saturday to stave off the 46 to 8 beating they received at the hands of the lighter, faster Fresno Bulldogs.

The Fresnoans took the heart out of the Nevada charges in the first five minutes of play by scoring two touchdowns. The Nevada team was on the defensive the rest of the afternoon trying to stop the speedy Fresno backs.

A faint glimmer of the old Nevada team showed itself when, late in the third quarter, a coffin corner boot by Bennett put the ball on Fresno's one-yard line, paving the way for two points when "Red" Sala, Nevada end, trapped the Fresno back behind his own goal line. Then Nevada took the kick off and on the second play, Bennett dropped a perfect pass into the arms of "Red" Sala who ran it over the goal to score, giving Nevada its eight points.

Fresno scored once in the third period and three times in the final stanza.

Lambda Chi Win Net Doubles Cup

Lambda Chi Alpha won the intramural tennis doubles trophy this week when its team of Bob Leaver and Charles Harris defeated John Etchemendy and Clinton Hinman, A.T.O. in a play-off match.

Leaver and Harris will meet Gene Peterson and Clinton McKinley, Independents, Tuesday in the final match of the play-off to determine the 1937 U. of N. men's doubles champions. The match will not affect the Lambda Chis' claim to the cup, since the Barbs are not eligible for the award.

Points toward the Kinnear Trophy, interfraternity sports award, were awarded at the end of the regular tournament, with A.T.O., Lambda Chi, and the Independents each getting 23.33 points.

Lincoln Hall received five points toward the cup when its team of Chester Jacobsen and Jack Gardner defeated the Sigma Nu team of Olinto Barsanti and Walter Powers to take fourth place. Sigma Nu finished fifth and received two and one-half points.

Math Club Meeting To Be Held Nov. 18

Mrs. Frederick Wood, wife of Dr. Wood will address the Math club on the "Origin and Evolution of Certain Mathematical Symbols" at the next meeting on November 18.

E'Lois Campbell is in charge of the meeting, which will be held in room 222 of the Mackay Science hall at 7:30. Helen Collins and Marlea Dodge also are on the committee for refreshments.

Student Battler Trains For Bout

In training for his next bout with a fiery Italian lad from the San Francisco bay area is Jimmy McDonald, popular collegiate climber of the University of Nevada.

McDonald, according to his manager Duncan Dorsey, is in about as good physical shape as possible and should give his Frisco sparring partner a busy evening. The bout will go four rounds in the semi-windup spot.

This will be the local boy's first real battle, and friends expect that, as in the past two fights he has had in Reno, he will come out with flying colors.

Gauchos Unbeaten In Grid Games This Year

Traveling along at almost as fast a pace as they set last year, the rambling Gauchos of Santa Barbara State College have so far kept their 1937 record free of defeats.

In six games played to date, the Green Wave has won four by decided margins and has been tied twice. So far the team has scored the impressive total of 111 points while holding the opposition to a mere 26.

Last year, the Gauchos, under the able leadership of Coach "Spud" Harder, enjoyed the most successful season in the history of the school. The Green Wave was one of the five teams in the nation listed among the undefeated and untied squads until they played their last conference game against the San Diego Aztecs who pulled an upset to win 9 to 8. Playing through a stiff ten-game schedule, the Hardermen scored a total of 221 points to 42 for the combined opposition.

Thwarted in gaining their first championship last year, Coach Harder is determined to bring his team through into the number one spot this year. So far this year, the Gauchos' conference record is marred only by the scoreless tie played against the Occidental Tigers.

When the Gauchos tangle with the Nevada Wolves, it will be their third inter-sectional tilt and will be the Homecoming game for the southerners.

Coach Harder has 14 lettermen back from his high-gear squad of last year. Among them are two men listed on the

Yearling Gridmen Meet Menlo J. C. On Mackay Field

Frosh Team Is Now At Fall Strength With Injuries All Healed

Win Is Expected By Coach Coleman; Using Own Plays Again

Coach Jim Coleman will field his full-strength frosh football squad against the Menlo Junior college on Mackay field tomorrow at 2:15.

The epidemic of injuries which has weakened the Wolf Cubs in most of their games this year is apparently over, and theme n who have been seeing little or no action because of injuries are now back in the lineup.

Polish and Cobega, key men in the frosh backfield, are both ready to go good shape, Robinette, another first-stringer, who holds down the regular right guard position, has also been on the sprained-ankle list, but will be on the field when the starting whistle blows.

Expects Win
The yearlings prospects for a win tomorrow are good, according to Coleman.

"If the boys play the football they are capable of playing, we should win," said Coleman.

However, if they don't we will probably have a lot of difficulty.

The squad has been showing up well in practice during the week, Monday night's drill revealed plenty of rough spots in the team's play, but this caused Coleman little worry, because drill on Fresno plays for the varsity last week was expected to cause the players to forget their own plays temporarily.

Getting used to their own formations again during the week, the yearlings began to show their old smoothness, and indicated that they will click under fire tomorrow.

Veteran Thespians Cast In New Play

Although the "Royal Family," to be presented December 7, 8, and 9, is to be the first George S. Kaufmann—Edna Ferber show to be staged at the University of Nevada, it is the latest of a long series produced by the play productions department and under the direction of William C. Miller.

In the cast too are many veterans. Those having played in university productions previously are Evelyn Bulmer, who played the lead in the Phillip Barry success "You and I," and who also appeared in the "Wind and the Rain," and the "Black Flamingo;" Beth Fredrickson, who took part in "Both Your Houses," and in the "Black Flamingo;" Kathleen Meeks, veteran of "You and I," "Hell Bent for Heaven," and of "Much Ado About Nothing;" David Goldwater who played male lead in such productions as "Hell Bent for Heaven," "Much Ado About Nothing," and the "Wind and the Rain;" and Mel Wilder, who has appeared in "Much Ado About Nothing," the "Wind and the Rain," and in the 1937 "Wolves Frolic."

Many others are old in experience, having taken part in high school or junior college dramas and one or two have been in Reno Little Theater productions.

Settings for the "Royal Family" will be made by the play productions class under the supervision of Prof. Miller. Properties are in charge of Charlotte Johnson, Helen Brown, Frances Cafferata, and Nonie Goldwater. Production manager will be Kenneth Tedford, with Ben Morehouse as assistant and the stage manager's job will go to Basil Kehoe.

PRESCOTT GIVES CHRISTMAS MAILING SCHEDULE

With Christmas only six weeks away and the latest dates for posting of foreign and domestic Christmas mails drawing near Postmaster R. R. Prescott of University Station yesterday warned all students to do their holiday mailing early.

The Postal Bulletin, official new organ of the post office department lists final dates which mails may be sent. These range from November 17, which is the final date for dispatches to such points as Mozambique, Siam, Kenya, and Uganda, to December 20, when mails for Central American countries close.

Domestic mails will run on schedule as far as possible and in all cases there will be an attempt made to deliver all Christmas mail, both letters and packages, before December 25, Prescott said.

As is the custom, extra help will be added to the post office staffs, and it is thought that it will be sufficient to handle the rush.

LETTERS OF GRAD REVEAL LIFE AS ASSAYER IN VENEZUELA, S. A.

"I am working with a regular League of Nations, and we all get along about as well as the League," is the report received from Jack Woodward, graduate of the University of Nevada with the class of '33.

After his graduation, Woodward was sent to Venezuela, where he is working as assayer of New Goldfields of the Venezuela Ltd. The mine in which he is working is situated three miles from El Callao, the scene of the fabulously rich mines of the old French company in the 1880's.

"Ciudad Bolivar, about 180 miles west from El Peru, is the port of entry for all this section of Venezuela," he said in a recent letter to Professor Walter Palmer.

"The three worn-out Mississippi River boats carry cargo from Trinidad to Bolivar which takes ten days.

"One encounters some of the strictest customs in the world at Bolivar, as well as some of the highest charges.

"One couple was charged $22 custom for a box of dishes, and when they unpacked the box, everything was broken except glasses.

"It is very difficult to get any good meat here at the mine as it is all cut in strips. The custom of cutting meat in strips was started by the natives before refrigeration so it could be salted and kept for any length of time. Since it is very difficult to break the natives of their habits, the meat is still cut in strips.

"Amusements consist of a movie twice a week in an abandoned warehouse, showing old pictures from the U.S. and England. We have two tennis courts owned by the company and a natural swimming pool three miles from camp. A dance is given once a month by the staff. A short wave radio is the main diversion.

"Shoes are very dear and are not much good in this part of the world, so if any of you intend to come down here be sure to bring a good supply of shoes. Other clothes of good quality can be bought cheaply in Trinidad."

VERSATILE DOG! ANSWERS CLASS QUESTIONS!

When a dog answers questions in an English 44 class, that's news.

Professor Paul Harwood was asking questions of the class in literature recently. Some could be answered and others couldn't. Finally a question was asked which stumped the whole class.

"What's internal rhyme?" asked Professor Harwood.

Silence from the class.

"Doesn't anyone know the answer to this?"

At this point, several loud barks came from the back of the room.

"That's right, pooch; go to the head of the class," remarked Harwood.

With pomp, ceremony, and justified dignity, a small, brown "Heinz" dog marched to the front of the room; stopping at Professor Harwood's desk, he gave vent to a voluminous sigh and curled up and went to sleep.

On the Campus it's "Hello!"

Flower Arrangement Subject Of Talk

A talk on Japanese flower arrangement by Mrs. Anne Aiston featured a meeting of the Home Economics club this week.

The talk consisted of the romance of flower arrangement, and a few of the fundamentals of the Japanese are of arrangement.

A program by which members of the group would attend concerts, and moving pictures was discussed. After the group attends an event, a social will be held.

The program committee will be in charge of the choosing of the pictures and concerts to be attended by the group. The club also intends to attend all Fine Arts exhibits.

Wrestlers To Hold Elimination Tourney

Starting Monday during the regular practice period, the wrestling squad will hold elimination matches among its members to determine the two best men in each weight division.

The tournament is being held to bring out the best men to form next semester's regular squads. The matches will be held in the gym starting at four o'clock on Monday afternoon.

The ... BAND BOX

By BOB PARKER

Men who were formally pledged to Delta Delta Epsilon at the last meeting include William Pasutti, Clinton Hinman, Charles Tibbs, and Peter Kelly. William MaGee and Joe Moore are standing pledges.

These men will be initiated later in the semester according to Henry Lang, president of the honorary band group. A banquet has been planned for the men at the conclusion of the final ceremonies.

Only a selected number of bandsmen will be taken on the Las Vegas trip for the Spring Festival, according to Professor T. H. Post, music department head.

Of the 82 musicians now in the organization only 60 may make the trip, he said.

"While I do not wish to exclude too many from making the trip," Post said, "I am forced to make the band as compact as possible. Naturally, the men who have shown the greatest interest in their work plus ability will be taken in preference to those who show but little promise."

The necessity of reducing the number of bandsmen taking the trip was pointed out by Post as being an effort to raise the quality of the group and the shortage of funds adequate to care for the organization's needs.

For the past several years the university band has been making the trip to the music festival as guests of the schools sponsoring the event. This year the festival is to be sponsored by the Las Vegas High School during the spring of the coming year, Post stated.

The exact date has not yet been announced.

Leading off in the first of a series of informal talks sponsored by Tau Beta Rho will be Professor Post. "What Music Means to Me," will be the topic discussed by Post at the coming meeting this Tuesday.

The talks will be given by faculty members as well as down-town musicians and music-lovers, according to James Galvin, head of the organization. A contest is also planned to be held at the next meeting which will deal with music and its composers.

Beginning the first in a series of lessons.
