

Faculty Members And One Student Attend Conclave

University Representatives To Be Active During Conference

Seven prominent members of the University of Nevada faculty staff, one senior student, and a former student will be among the fourteen Nevada delegates representing Nevada in the joint meeting of the Pacific coast section of the American Geophysical union, section of hydrology, and the Western Interstate Snow Survey conference being held at Davis today and tomorrow.

Faculty members will include John T. Ryan, Dr. J. E. Church, Professor H. P. Boardman, George Hardman, Cruz Venstrom, S. B. Doten and Carl Elges. Robert Leaver, senior engineering student, and Forrest Rhodes, former student, are also among the party attending the conclave.

Will Read Papers

The program is arranged primarily for engineers, foresters and those engaged in the livestock industry. Papers on various phases of snow surveying will be presented at the Western Interstate Snow Survey conference which is being held in conjunction with the meeting.

The university representatives are scheduled to take an active part in the program. Robert Leaver will talk to the delegates on winter precipitation versus snow survey for forecasting on the Skagit river. Rhodes will speak at the meeting on the commercial sports at the state line point on Lake Tahoe.

The improvement of snow surveying apparatus will be discussed by John Ryan, superintendent of shops at the University of Nevada college of engineering.

Other university members attending the conference include: Dr. J. E. Church, head of the department of classics and vice chairman of the section of hydrology of the American Geophysical union, Pacific coast section; Prof. H. P. Boardman, head of the Nevada snow surveys; George Hardman of the agriculture experiment station at the university; Cruz Venstrom, S. B. Doten of the experiment station and Carl Elges of the agriculture experiment station.

Semi-Annual Dance Is Declared Success

The semi-annual get-together dance sponsored by Blue Key on January 4, was declared a success both financially and socially, according to Kirk Fairhurst, president of Blue Key.

Entertainment included dancing, vocal and dancing numbers, accompanied by Reuben Tuttle's university dance band. Mary Fox, Shirley Ferron and Frances Nichols presented trio harmony of popular music. Merle Snyder and Reuben Tuttle played novelty musical selections.

A dancing routine by members of Cuba Wheatley's dancing school was another special feature of the evening. The affair is given at the beginning of each semester by Blue Key, honorary service fraternity, and 80 per cent of the profit is contributed to the central treasury of the associated students.

Members in charge were Ben Morehouse, chairman, Francis Breen, Hudson Lee and Basil Kehoe.

Engineers Resume Dues' Competition

The Associated Engineers are having their "dues payment" contest again this semester. A cup will be given at the end of registration to the group of engineers who have paid the largest percentage of dues. The last contest was won by the civil engineers.

At the first meeting of the semester to be held soon, committees will be appointed to formulate plans for the annual Engineers' Day which is held in conjunction with Mackay Day on March 13.

According to Llewellyn Young, president of the group, work on the various exhibits and contests will begin immediately.

Fayette Hill, Former U. N. Student, Dies

A former University of Nevada student, Fayette Hill Jr., died last week in Tonopah, Nev., from peritonitis, which set in following an emergency appendectomy.

Funeral services for the youth were held in Goldfield.

Hill, who was a member of Sigma Phi Sigma fraternity while on the campus, was 23 years old, and had spent most of his life in Nevada. He is survived by a widow, both parents, three sisters and two brothers, all of Silver Peak, Nev.

Hoopsters Begin Jayvee Practice

Junior varsity basketball practice was begun this week at the university with 23 aspiring hoopsters answering Temporary Coach Chet Scranton's opening call.

Scranton, assistant Nevada football and basketball coach, and for many years a successful guide of freshman teams, is handling the Jayvees until the group is split into two separate squads and individual coaches are assigned to both teams.

The division of the squad will create the Blues and the Whites, both of which are entered in the A division of the Reno City league, and will take place as soon as Coach J. E. Martie and his varsity squad return from their barnstorming tour of the Rocky Mountain conference.

Men Out

Those now trying out for the junior varsity team are Jim McDonald, Bill Marks, Jack Potthoff, Marvin Linson, Cliff Quilici, Ed Olsen, Jack Rhoades, Charles Tibbs, Harry Morinon, Bud Smith, Ross Ashley.

Wilson Rebealletti, Olinto Ehrsanti, Pio Mastroani, Kenneth Day, Ned Dickson, John Gustafson, Henry Clayton, Dick Summerbell and Eugene Peterson.

Four varsity players who did not go on the varsity tour are also working out with the Jayvee squad until the varsity team returns. They are Ira Farris, Bob Cameron, Sam McMullen and Dean Croft.

Nevada Gridders Married Sunday

Hollis McKinnon, football star and a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, was married Sunday to Miss Mary Thompson of Reno.

The ceremony, the first to be performed in Mineral county in 1938, took place in Hawthorne.

McKinnon plans to graduate from the university in May. They will make their home in Reno until then.

The ... BAND BOX

By BOB PARKER

Larger than last semester's choral group will be the Campus Choral club when it meets next Wednesday. Over 22 men have signed up although women still outnumber the males. The larger enrollment this semester, according to Ted Ashworth, campus choral head, is due largely to the fact that two important choral events have been scheduled for the season—the operetta which will be given in conjunction with Mackay Day and Brahms' "Requiem" which will follow several weeks later.

Student talent is being urged to turn out for the choral group as many of the soloists will be selected from the students to fill in for the operetta leads.

Cooperating with Delta Delta Epsilon, honorary band fraternity, in presenting the annual "Lyre" dance scheduled for February at the State building will be the larger band and other musical groups, it was stated today.

Success of last year's dance, sponsored by the fraternal organization, has encouraged them to make this one larger, better than ever. Proceeds from the dance will go toward aiding the band in its annual trek to the music festival to be held this year in Las Vegas in the spring.

Only a reduced band will play at the coming basketball games scheduled for

STAN SMITH MARRIES

Stanley Jerome Smith, former student, was married to Catherine Elizabeth Dryer of New York City last Saturday. The ceremony took place in Elko.

While on the campus Smith was affiliated with Sigma Nu fraternity and played on the varsity basketball team. His home is in Carlin.

The couple will make their home in Reno.

this season. Professor T. H. Post, head of the music department, announced that the size of the band playing at the basketball games depended largely on the facilities available.

Announcement was also made today by Reuben Tuttle, assistant band director, that the beginners' band started last semester would continue throughout the present term. Ten members have voluntarily signed up and more are expected, according to Tuttle.

Meeting every Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the barracks, the beginners' band is primarily intended to aid those students desiring individual attention as well as correction and instruction on band instruments.

Swing music will also feature part of the semester's work. Swing band orchestration have been ordered and a picked number of musicians from the regular band will comprise the group.

Italian Situation To Be Explained By Noted Speaker

Dr. Ethan Colton Will Make Third Visit Before Student Body

True facts of the Mussolini regime in Italy will be explained to an expected large audience in the Education auditorium next Thursday at 8 p. m., when Dr. Ethan Colton, international annalist of world affairs, gives a talk entitled "Mussolini's Purposes for Italy."

Thursday's lecture will mark the third time Dr. Colton has appeared before a university audience. He has spoken here twice during the past two years and, according to Dr. Harold N. Brown, chairman of the committee of assemblies and lectures, there have been several other requests for Dr. Colton to appear at the university again.

Dr. Colton has made sixteen trips to Europe for the purpose of studying the type of governments and conditions in the major countries.

This year he returns to the United States with fresh, first-hand reports from central, western and southern Europe—lands gripped by economic, political and military tensions. Dr. Colton promises to sort out the main issues dealing with Italy and its dictator and set them forth clearly.

Dr. Colton is a representative of the International Y.M.C.A. He was appointed as head of an educational forum in the east by John D. Studebaker, United States commissioner of education.

Formal Rushing Begun by Coeds

Formal rushing rules for the spring semester went into effect last Tuesday, Georgia Cooper, president of the Pan-Hellenic council, announced today.

Each sorority will be limited to one party next week because of the small number of new coeds to be rushed.

During the period from last Tuesday until Saturday, January 15, there will be no off-campus rushing. Formal parties, either a dinner or a luncheon, will be held next week by the various houses. There will be no rushing in the dormitories by either active members or pledges of a sorority.

Silence will start with the end of the last party, at 2 o'clock Saturday. Bids will be given out by Mrs. A. E. Hill, Pan-Hellenic lawyer, between 10 and 11 o'clock Sunday.

Dates of the rushing parties are as follows: Beta Sigma Omicron, dinner Monday; Kappa Alpha Theta, dinner Friday; Pi Beta Phi, lunch Saturday; Delta Delta Delta, Tuesday; Alpha Delta Theta, Thursday, and Gamma Phi Beta, dinner Wednesday.

Active Semester Seen by Aggie Head

An active semester is anticipated by the Aggie club, according to its president, Archie Allbright.

First meeting of the semester will be held early next week. At that time definite plans will be made to send representatives to the stock judging contest which will be held this spring. Arrangements for social functions will also be discussed at the meeting.

Clothing is now being made of glass in France, and it is stated that "glass yarn" will be on sale to the public by June, 1938.

Chi Delta Phi Cups To Be Awarded In Spring

Prize winners of high school Chi Delta Phi poetry contest will be awarded cups at the forensic tournament this spring, Winifred Hiltunen, president, announced today.

The poetry contest is sponsored annually by the U. of N. chapter of Chi Delta Phi, national English honorary society. A first and second prize will be awarded and the contest is open to all high schools of the state.

Announcements of the contest have already been sent out, and instructions and rules will be mailed to schools within the next two weeks. Last year, Elko carried away first honors, and Tonopah second.

New members and officers of Chi Delta Phi will be elected in March. The group is sending in material to the national magazine, Litterateur. Margaret Turano's work may appear in the forthcoming issue.

Elizabeth D'Alessandro, Nina Boczkiewicz and Winifred Hiltunen are in charge of the next meeting, which will be held the latter part of this month.

Semester's Plans Revealed by Group

Program of Activities Will Be Started With Contest

The Campus Camera club is off to a flying start this semester, with camera contest deadline set for 5 p. m. on January 15.

Ted Olds and Sam Wilson, Artemisia heads, will judge the pictures. The winner will be awarded a loving cup presented by the Artemisia.

Other plans for the semester will include an exhibit of prize winning photos from other parts of the country, furnished the Camera club by a photo shop in Los Angeles.

In April, a salon exhibit of the best prints submitted by the club members will be held. Each member will choose the picture which he considers to be representative of his best work and submit it in the showing.

A downtown engraver will lecture to the group on the subject of photo engraving, the process used in making blocks as used in newspaper work.

J. A. Brockman and W. F. Goodner, Reno photographers, will lead club discussions when they appear before the camera enthusiasts soon.

Student lectures will be featured at each meeting. Talks on different aspects of photography will be illustrated with slides, furnished the club by a national kodak company.

The next meeting date of the club will be announced soon, Ned Westover, head of the club, said.

Jensen Resigns Press Club Post

Max Jensen, prominent senior student, today announced his resignation as president of the Press club, effective after the next meeting, which will be held next Tuesday at 7:30.

An officer to succeed Jensen will be elected at this meeting, he stated. Lack of sufficient time to adequately handle the duties of the office of president was the reason given by Jensen for his resignation. He served as president of the group through last semester.

Plans for the ensuing semester, which include the possible revival of the "Ruckus," a scandal show which was abandoned two years ago, and the Mardi Gras, costume ball which was discontinued three years ago, will also be discussed at the meeting, Jensen said.

Artemisia Printing Starts in February

Printing of the first eight pages of the Artemisia will be completed and the color work done by the first week in February, Sam Wilson, editor, stated this week.

Although plans for the theme and layout of the annual are being kept secret for the present, Wilson stated that the end sheet and border designs are original, the art work being done by Lew Hymers, commercial artist of Genoa, Nev.

All of the layouts for the snapshot pages will be similar to those used in Life magazine, Wilson announced.

swank. It's smart to keep your hands warm in huge woolly mittens or gloves. The latter are preferred if you carry many books. Have you ever experienced the desperate feeling that comes with grabbing for slipping books, papers and an ink bottle with mittens on?

Those service weight stockings that Aunt Hattie thought so-o-o practical for an intelligent young school girl are really swell for skating and the only thing to wear under your ski socks.

As for the dozens of handkerchiefs given you by the I-can't-think-of-anything-else-to-get-her people. The weather will soon furnish each and every gal who doesn't have the time to build up her resistance with a reason for carrying at least six of her handkerchiefs for Christmas we recommend cold shots!

Have you ever felt that some people are always trying to put a woman back in her place in the home? If you haven't, then you've never opened a beautifully wrapped Christmas gift only to find a Mother Hubbard apron. One of those all enveloping affairs that protect you and your clothes from any possible soiling! Saturday morning try putting it on. It's really amazing. Your room will shine, your bookcase will be orderly, your closet will be neat, and maybe you'll even have the pleats pressed in all your skirts. Call it what you will, but the effect of an apron like that on American womanhood could be colossal.

If you got something that neither you nor your friends think could possibly be used by an intelligent coed, bring it around, and we'll hold a contest. The one who finds the best use for it, gets it—and is welcome to it!

IN MEMORIAM

Few events have socked the community of Reno as did the sudden death of Rita Winer, popular Nevada graduate, who died as a result of an automobile accident December 30.

It seems hard to understand why one who had so much to live for should be taken from this world. For four long years Rita worked and studied in order to secure a college education. Her dream came true during the holidays when she received her diploma and soon afterwards a teaching position in the southern part of the state.

There were a thousand "ifs" that would have evaded the accident, but somehow Fate seemed to dominate the situation and took from the university and city of Reno one of its most loved citizens.

Many will remember Rita for her scholastic standing and ambition, but all who remember her will bear in mind her pleasing personality, cheerful smile and loving manner that won the hearts of all who knew her.

SEE THEM IN ACTION!

Tomorrow and Sunday the university ski team plays host to several other colleges in the first intercollegiate ski meet of the season. Although this sport is only entering its second year as a recognized minor sport on the campus, the team has a better than even chance of taking first place, according to the "dope bucket" of experts.

Last year the university, through the ski team, gained national recognition, and promises to do so again this year, despite the fact that skiing on this campus is in what might be called its embryonic stages.

It was mainly through the efforts of a small group of interested people that skiing was first introduced on the campus, where its popularity has spread to such an extent that it promises to overshadow or at least equal the interest created by some of the major sports. There are many students on the campus who have no interest in the sport, probably for the simple reason that they have never seen the skiers in action, and have never witnessed or tried the thrills of the sport.

The Sagebrush suggests that these students climb into a car Sunday and drive to Grass Lake—a distance of 18 miles—and be on hand to witness their team in action.

DAZZLING LIGHT PERVADES STUDENT UNION

By FLOWERY FERDIE

"What the heck."
"I no can see!"
"Doggone! I think I blind."
Or words to that effect were heard this week from students entering the Student Union building.

Passing from cool outdoor air where the grim, gray lines of the exterior make an involuntary shiver pass down the back of the student, the entrance into a light, modern, fairyland of color made all who viewed the awe inspiring sight gaze with wonder.

The stunned gasps, oh's and ah's uttered by almost every student who entered the portals of the building were wrung spontaneously from their parted lips as they gazed at the sight within.

From every nook and cranny of the interior of the building which heretofore was shrouded in gloom, now quick shafts of light reflected and dazzled the sight of the inadvertent spectator.

And all this, my children, through the artistry of a master craftsman, who, during the Christmas vacation, visited the Student Union building and redecored the ceiling and balustrade until they shone as masterpieces in white.

More rational adherents of the building declared that the new paint job would cut the electric light bill by one-third, if not by one-half—and then some.

Honor Roll Delayed By Short Xmas Holiday

The honor roll for the fall semester will not be announced for several weeks, according to Mrs. Jeanette Rhodes, registrar.

The delayed appearance of the honor roll is due to the shortened Christmas vacation which did not leave time for the averaging of all the grades of the students before their return to the campus.

"We will have these averages ready for publication," said Mrs. Rhodes, "as soon as the first rush of registration will permit."

PICKLED PLATITUDES

By MAX JENSEN

(Editor's note: Life is very bitter. If it isn't Jensen, it's somebody else. For me, this week has been a harrowing nightmare. First I spend the whole week meticulously avoiding Jensen so that I could get away from running those ascetic drippings he calls pickled platitudes.)

That grand elation often produced by the feeling of success was just beginning to creep over me today when a certain ambitious fellow from the business staff cornered me, and at the point of a six-gun, two large hat pins, several clubs and a couple of diamonds, forced me to print the following drivel, which, to me, has an odor remarkably like the whiffs one gets when one gets too near the curb. It's no use. Like one ingenious fellow once said, "You Can't Win!"

Personal note to Jensen: If you read this, please accept my crawling apologies. I shall be waiting for you and your column with a copy pencil next Wednesday.)

By DIRTY DAN THE BATTIN' MAN

Per usual—every time one of the members of the editorial feels like taking a little time off the members of the business staff have to go to bat for them. Mr. Jensen, probably through no reason of his own, does not feel like working so I took over the machine and am about to write a bunch of nothing to help Friend Brackett fill up space.

Taking everything in order, the first thing is to wish each and every one of you a very Happy New Year. With the price of silver taking a slight nose dive, I doubt if it will be so happy for some of us hardrock miners, but, then, disregarding that, the rest of you may enjoy it, and we hope you do.

President Richard Taw started off the semester with a friendly feeling towards his fellow man and WOMAN (you know Taw). With each student body card given out, Taw sent his best wishes for the year of '38 and conveyed the best wishes of Tammany Hall to each ticket "getter."

He's up—he's down—etc. Yes, sir, it applies to no one other than Messrs. Loveall and Goldwater. So far it looks like a mighty clean battle, and Referee Caton has not had to separate the battlers. Although it is the battle of the century, and one is bound to take sides, this column will just say that it hopes the best man wins and all that sort of stuff. You can follow this romantic battle by the news flashes that should come in this column.

Last semester a charming young lady told ye old editor that "Jimmie" Dalzell was the cutest and most intelligent boy going to college. At this time we can only say that Jimmie is the cutest boy going to college.

Mr. Creps crept in—crept around for about two years and then crept out. No crepe paper is on the door because we are not in the mood to mourn one like him. He crept out to Turano's in that fancy A.S.U.N. yellow coupe and there he wooed and won a fair maid. His next move was to pull freight. Bob is a fine young man and he won a fine young lady, but we did not receive any of those fine cigars; not even some fine nickel cigars. So we can just say "Goodby, Bob." When we get the cigars we will wish him good luck.

Our publicity man has taken another step forward. He has another desk now and an office and a bunch of keys and is responsible for our dough. It is none other than Walter L. States. Walt rode the chair around the Sagebrush office last year and last semester he was "Doc" Martie Jr. Now he is director of publicity of athletics of the University of Nevada, and (take a breath) graduate manager of the Associated Students of the University of Nevada. You have to go some to get a bigger title than that.

Football seems to have put Kenny Powell in good condition. All that fancy blocking and tackling he did in the past season came in handy some time during the last few weeks because now he is missing a little jewelry and there are no notices to the effect that it has been lost. I doubt if Lucille Hewes would give it up and lose Kenny along with it.

I don't know all the big words that Max knows and Max don't know all the meanings; so it doesn't make any difference, and anyhow even if Max don't know the meanings he can spell them and they sound mighty fancy and make the column well worth reading. So just because it was lousy this week you can expect to find something better next week.

STUDENT MARRIED

Billie Morgan, popular university co-ed, was married Monday night to Norman Maxwell in the St. Thomas Aquinas rectory.

The ceremony was attended by relatives and close friends. Following a honeymoon in San Francisco, the couple plan to return to Reno where they will make their home.

LETTERS To The Editor

To the Editor:

In your paper of December 17 I noted a few things of interest—the usual passing the buck. "Our engineering schools are not accredited"—and then you turn around and state why the "state of Nevada does not go into debt for the university" (Pickled Platitudes).

It is like children to pass the buck, and that is what you are doing. It is not the state's fault—very little of it is the fault of the professors you have—it is your fault. Take it like the men you think you are and realize it. This sounds like the men you think you are and realize it. This sounds a bit far-fetched, but let us look and see if it is:

1. There is a certain course on the engineering side that is known for its toughness, and ability to flunk between 25 to 50 per cent of the class, and more power to them—but what do you do—stay out bearing all night and go to the dean the next day and complain how tough it is, and get the course removed from the required list and made an elective. Don't come back with the argument that they do work you hard—because I know different—I belonged to a frat on the hill—I saw how much work was done.

The students are not working and they would find it out if they were to enter graduate school, or probably even an accredited school. Don't pass the buck, but face it squarely and honestly, and see if you are working. You ought to realize that money is not everything; a little work has to be thrown in to help get it end. The chances are that the students would gain little more, unless just by passive exposure, if bigger men were brought to the campus.

When I was a student (I realize that is a bit trite from an alumnus—but, however, it will serve) I worked on the Artemisia. In the junior year I had charge of writing up organizations (other than fraternity), and when I found that there were only about 60 honoraries on the campus of one thousand students—it "kinds" took the wind out of me and made me realize how "hard" these fellows were working—the

Gardella Chosen Women's Manager

Eleanor Gardella, senior student, was this week chosen to serve as women's business manager of the Sagebrush for the remainder of the school year, according to Willis Dalzell, business manager.

This office was not filled last semester because there were no girls eligible to hold it, Dalzell said. Duties of the office last semester were handled by Georgia Cooper, women's manager last year, and Miss Gardella.

As women's business manager, Miss Gardella's biggest job this semester will be to supervise all of the business details and ad-chasing for the Mackay Day edition, which is published entirely by the women.

You can't do it and expect to become accredited—unless you meet them halfway and put yourself into it as much as you expect the state of Nevada—hence your parents—to. No, the answer is not the staff, but on "investigation" (as you call it) you will find it lies in you, and you alone. Big men will help a school—only if the students are willing and ready for the big men.

Another thing—how do you expect letters of criticism—good or bad—if you are going to be "childish" as you were in the December 10 "Letters to the Editor"—to the alumnus. Just because he hurt your feelings a little, you resort to "mud slinging" to slap him in the face. Nearly as bad as hitting him when he's down.

Sagens, women's pep organization, will meet next week to make plans for the spring semester, according to Eunice Beckley, president of the group. Possibility of obtaining the concession for the sale of pop-sicles at the basketball games will be discussed, Miss Beckley said. The group has applied for the concession rights from Coach J. E. RURAL telephone wire—not in cables—can now go underground where bad weather and grass fires can't harm it.

To make this possible, an entirely new kind of wire had to be developed. Special insulating compounds, special splicing methods were devised. Then a simple, economical method of burial had to be found. A special plow solved this problem—one that digs a furrow and tucks away the wire in a single operation.

IN THE SPORTLIGHT

SHORTS ON SPORTS FROM FAR & NEAR

By CLARENCE BECKETHORN

Looking into the future, we see a squad of University of Nevada Wolves acclaimed Far Western basketball champions for 1938.

No one needs a horoscope or any tips from sport critics to predict the Pack as being winners of the conference crown, because they only have to review the results of the barnstorming tour.

In comparing the teams of the Rocky Mountain conference with those of the Far Western conference, it is obvious that the mountaineers play a far superior brand of ball than that played by the local conference teams. This is evident due to the fact that the University of Wyoming Cowboys, a member of the Rocky Mountain tourney, has been runner-up in the national basketball championship for the past two years. Then, too, Brigham Young university is considered one of the weaker members of the mountain conference, but the B.Y.U. five gave Nevada one of its worst defeats last year.

Another conference member is the University of Colorado, which has always produced strong teams and is considered a potential opponent for any opposition.

To date Nevada has met the leading Rocky Mountain teams and has put on a good showing in all contests. Nevada was considered merely a light workout for the Cowboys when they first landed in Laramie. This prediction proved partly true the first meeting between the Cowboys and the Wolves, and when the final gun sounded Nevada had been downed via a score of 39-15. However, it was a different story when the two teams met the following evening; it was Nevada's night and the Wolves left the floor victor 35-32.

Other results of the barnstorming tour that proved the ability of the Nevadans were their victories over the University of Denver and Greeley State. Teams that defeated the Wolves were: Colorado university, twice; Wyoming, and Utah Aggies last night.

Statistics are no sure bet in any sport. However, the result of the Wolves' foray does go to show that Nevada has a team that should be able to give any opponent a good argument, and a Far Western conference championship is by no means impossible this year.

Rumors from California are to the effect that Jimmy "Rabbit" Bradshaw, the boy who made Nevada football history, may be head coach of the University of Oregon following the resignation of Prince Callison.

The former Nevada athlete is making great strides in the football coaching game. Bradshaw began his coaching career as freshman coach at Stanford. Following several successful seasons at the Palo Alto institution, Bradshaw went to Fresno. In 1935 his Bulldogs were second for the conference title. Last season he tutored the Bulldogs to conference championship.

Skating, Nevada's most unique sport, is now in progress and Nevada's skiers should make a good record this season if material has anything to do with it.

Stock in the Nevada skiers took a jump when Carl Bechdolt, California state jumping champion for the last four years, enrolled at the university and said he was ready for action.

Competing as newcomers are two skiers with a good reputation—Frazier West and James Worden.

"Old Man Scholarship" is again taking his toll on Doug Dashiell's 1938 football squad.

Particularly are grades raising havoc with freshman gridgers who made names for themselves this year and were expected to be the backbone of Doug's team next year.

There are still chances for these men to redeem themselves this semester and be eligible for football next fall. But in all probability when the pigskin season rolls around Doug will be holding the bag after anticipating some material to work with.

The same situation prevails with the freshman basketball squad. Men with high school reputations of high ability expected to make first-string berths on the team are now on the blacklist, and the reason is ineligibility due to scholarship.

"I don't want to work with any 'slackers'," Jim Coleman, freshman coach, said.

Skating is now in full swing. For the past few days Manzanita lake has been crowded with skaters. "Snowbird" Doherty is no longer interested in feminine figures; he is doing his figuring on ice.

IN HOSPITAL

Bill Casey, freshman student and Sigma Nu pledge, is convalescing at St. Mary's hospital from a nose and throat ailment. He is reported to be getting along very well.

35 Yearling Hoop Aspirants Report To Coach Coleman

Prospective Team Is Big and Fast; Good Ball Handlers, Says Mentor

Use Double Post Screening Attack; First Game Is Tomorrow Night

Under the tutelage of Coach Jim Coleman, 35 frosh basketball players are undergoing strenuous workouts this week in preparation for their first game of the season with Reno High tomorrow night on the Reno High school court.

Still lacking a definite "first string five," Coleman said he intends to use all the men who have shown exceptional ability in practice, hoping in this manner to bring to light a good scoring combination that he can rely on in the remainder of the frosh schedule.

"Fine Bunch" "I've got a fine bunch of boys to work with," Coleman stated. "They are all big and fast and exceptionally good ball handlers for freshmen. If we have any luck at all we should have a good season, although we do have a tough schedule."

The frosh will use a double post screening attack offense, keeping the ball moving fast at all times and then, when the opportunity permits, the players will use a fast break, playing their own style of ball.

Men who have been standouts in practice and are sure to see plenty of action during the season are Lee Barrett, Mitch Coheaga, Emery and Lee Conaway, Darrel Birch, Vic Donovan, Nick Evasovic, Jim Gibbs, John Lemich, John Polish and Geno Questa.

15 Contests Listed On Frosh Schedule

Playing 15 games, two every weekend, the frosh basketball team this year has one of the best basketball schedules ever arranged for a freshman team.

The schedule, released this week, shows most of the games will be played here in Reno with the exception of the Fallon and Susanville contests, which will be played on their respective courts.

- Following is the schedule:
- Jan. 8—Reno High school, here.
 - Jan. 14—Sacramento J. C., here.
 - Jan. 15—Sparks High school, there.
 - Jan. 21—Lassen J. C., there.

Stanford Skiers Visit Nevada Club

Moving Pictures Feature Year's First Meeting

With several members of the visiting Stanford ski team as honored guests, the University of Nevada Ski club held its first meeting of the semester last night in the Student Union building.

The four members of the Stanford team who were present at the meeting were Ed Heer, Will Meyers, Lloyd Davies and Billy Jans. Heer and Meyers are transfer students to Stanford from Switzerland and are two of the outstanding skiers among the visiting teams.

Other members of the Stanford team and other teams competing in the meet this weekend were expected to arrive last night and today.

During the meeting the club members and visiting skiers brought up problems that may arise in the forthcoming meet this weekend and discussed them.

The meeting was featured by moving pictures of the Nevada ski team in action on the slopes of Mount Rose during last season and the early part of this year.

The pictures were taken by Martin Arrouge, star skier and member of the Wolf Pack last year.

A.W.S. Meeting To Be Held Soon

An A.W.S. meeting will be held some time after the first A.S.U.N. meeting of the semester, according to Bette Naimsmith, president of the A.W.S.

A new constitution committee will be appointed at the meeting to revise the original copy. Work was started on the project last semester, but it was not finished.

HOOP HISTORY TRACED BY REPORTER

If and when the Nevada Wolf Pack wins the 1938 basketball championship of the Far Western conference, it will be their first crown in the cage sport since the year of 1932. In that year, a powerful quintet swept aside all conference opposition to place in the first spot. Coach "Doc" Martie was in charge of the squad at that time as he is today.

Proof that Nevada has produced teams of championship caliber in the past can be seen by the sensational record set up by the team representing the school in 1920. Under the direction of Coach R. "Corky" Courtright, the squad played a six game schedule and came through without a defeat. Teams met included St. Mary's, Stanford, Santa Clara and St. Ignatius. For this season's record, Nevada was listed as the champions of the Pacific coast.

The following season also was a highly successful one. The Wolves won a total of ten contests and lost three. They journeyed to the National Amateur tournament and were defeated by the team which won the championship.

Far Western Champs

It was in 1927 that the Pack claimed its first Far Western championship. At the end of the regular playing season, they were tied with St. Mary's and claimed the championship when the Saints refused a playoff.

Nevada is given an excellent chance to garner another championship in the casaba tossing sport this year, but can expect a lot of competition from the other members of the conference.

Among the teams likely to give the Wolves a tough game are the Bengals from the College of Pacific. The Stockton squad gave proof of this fact when they handed the powerful Hastings College of Nebraska a 47 to 36 trimming.

The defending champions of the conference, the Chico State Wildcats, are also expected to put up serious competition. Although they had an unsuccessful invasion of southern California, they gained much needed experience and should offer a tough brand of opposition.

Fresno and the Cal Aggies are both reported to have strong teams representing their respective schools and should test the touted Wolves when they meet on the court.

Notwithstanding these facts, the Pack is still rated as the favorite in the coming race. The current swing through the Rocky Mountain states is not only giving the Wolves a reputation but is giving them some much needed experience and should go a long way towards placing the Nevada squad on the top of the loop at the finish of the season.

Fletcher Valentine knows tobacco values...like so many other independent experts he smokes Luckies!

"I'VE bought 4,000,000 pounds of tobacco at auctions in the past ten years," says Mr. Valentine, independent buyer of Westfield, N. C., "and my bread and butter depends on making the right bids. That's why I have to know tobacco values."

"Now I've smoked Luckies ever since 1918, and the reason is, they suit my taste to a 'T'. Nobody knows better than we tobacco men that Luckies are made of the finest center-leaf tobacco."

Yes—and that isn't all... Luckies' exclusive process, "It's Toasted" takes out certain irritants naturally present in all tobacco—even the finest! The result is that you will find Luckies not only taste good but are easy on your throat.

Surely, independent experts like Mr. Valentine make good judges of cigarettes... Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes combined!

States Appointed Graduate Manager By Finance Control

Robert Creps Leaves Post After Over Two Years Of Service

Appointment of Walter States as graduate manager of the A.S.U.N. was made yesterday by the finance control committee. He succeeds Robert Creps, who resigned during the Christmas vacation to accept a position in San Francisco.

States, a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, graduated from the university at the end of the fall semester. During the last term, he has served as publicity manager of athletics for the university, and acted as business manager of the Sagebrush during the 1936-1937 term. He is a member of Blue Key, Press club and Coffin and Keys.

Creps, who will accept a position with the McLaren-Goode accounting firm, graduated from the university in 1935 and majored in business administration. For the past two years, he has been taking advanced courses in public accounting.

During his undergraduate years at the university he was a member of Blue Key, Coffin and Keys, Press club and Phi Sigma Kappa social fraternity. In 1935 he served as editor of the Artemisia, student annual, and directed the news bureau for three semesters.

Third Secretary

Creps was the third man to act as graduate manager. He succeeded Joe McDonnell, who is now connected with the National Youth Administration in Reno. He was executive secretary for the university during his first half year but resigned that duty when the administration took over the active control of athletics in 1936.

Bernard Hartung, graduate of the class of 1930, was the first man to hold the position, having served in that capacity in 1931, 1932 and 1933.

LONG DELAYED BULLETIN IS DISTRIBUTED

After being delayed at the printers for several weeks, advance copies of the 1937 alumni issue of the University of Nevada Bulletin were distributed in Reno last week.

Nevada graduates living outside Reno will receive copies shortly, as a copy is being sent to every alumni of the university.

The 1938 issue will be in the form of a complete catalog, which is published every five years, and will come out some time next fall. Professor Paul Harwood, who has edited the publication for the past three years, said today.

Featured in the 1937 issue is an article, "Distant Horizons and Troubled Seas," by James V. Comerford of the class of 1904, who is now a teacher in the San Francisco continuation high school.

Main Feature

In the article, Comerford traces development of the university during the years from 1900 to 1904 when he was an undergraduate, giving highlights of campus activities with humorous anecdotes and illustrated with pictures of the time.

President Walter E. Clark suggests in "What Will Advance the University?" that the alumni association work for "desirable permanent improvements, including: first, a group of new buildings; second, certain campus improvements apart from buildings, and, third, desirable advances in salary standards."

Other Features

Other feature articles include "Veteran Registrar Retires," by Max Jensen, on Miss Louise M. Sissa; "New Spirit Evident of Campus," by Richard Taw, student body president; "Alumni President Notes Progress," by Marshall Guisti, retired alumni president; "Association Unusually Active," by Louise Lewers; "Dean Hall—A Modern Educator," by Norma Anderson.

"Bay Region Grads Reorganize," by Kathryn McCormack; "Dean Adams Addresses Southern Group," by Catherine Somers-Huntley; "Washington Alumni Hosts at Ball," by Frances Armbruster; "N. Y. Chapter Attracts Many Grads," by George F. Duborg, and "Highlights of the 1936-1937 Year," consisting of excerpts taken from the official A.S.U.N. history, by Jean Cameron, historian last year.

A supplement to the alumni directory, containing names and addresses of the 1937 graduates, completes the issue.

Assisting Professor Harwood in the publication were Louise B. Lewers, '95, and Thomas P. Brown, '99, as associate editors.

Editorial advisory board is composed of Marshall Guisti '30, Alan Bible '30, Hoyt G. Martin '29, Harry J. Frost '27 and Blythe Bulmer '33.

SAGERS TO MEET

A meeting of the Sagers, men's work organization, will be held next Tuesday night to map plans for an extensive work campaign for this semester. Ken Dimock, president of the group, announced this week.

Two students at New York university claim an eastern altitude record for their weather observing balloon, which stayed aloft four hours and reached a peak of 67,500 feet.

STUDENTS TAKE OUTSTANDING NEWS PICTURES

Murray Moler, senior journalism student, and Ivy Freeman, former student, have achieved the distinction of having taken one of the ten outstanding news photographs of 1937, according to a survey published by the Los Angeles Times.

Moler and Freeman, who are employed by the Nevada State Journal, took the prize winning picture last winter in Carson City. Subjects of the photograph were Mrs. Maude La Near and 2 year old daughter Donna, who had been snowbound for eight days with very little food in a raging blizzard which took the life of their husband and father.

The Nevada State Journal was the first paper to print the picture, which was later released over a national syndicate.

Faculty Clubs Plan For Joint Meeting

A joint meeting of the Women's Faculty club and the regular Faculty club will be held in the form of a dinner meeting January 15 at 7 o'clock in Manzanita hall.

Dr. B. F. Chappelle will speak on the subject "Iberian Peninsula." Pictures which Dr. Chappelle took of Spain during one of his trips to that country will be shown illustrating different points in the lecture.

Assisting Mrs. Robert Stewart, president of the Women's Faculty club, in making arrangements for the dinner are Mrs. Stanley Palmer, Mrs. L. W. Hartman and Mrs. Fred Wood.

Former Student Chosen as Candidate

Wanda Shain, former University of Nevada student and member of Delta Delta Delta, was selected this week as the Reno Ski club's candidate for queen of the Winter Sports Carnival.

The carnival will be held in Sacramento on Saturday. Miss Shain will compete for the honor against other feminine winter sports fans from California and Nevada clubs.

Delegates Return From Coast Meet

Nine Nevada delegates returned from the annual Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. Asilomar convention in California last week.

Discussion groups and panel discussions were held during the gathering on the problems of labor, war, economics and other national and international problems.

Some of the speakers were: John Thompson, professor at the University of Oklahoma, who spoke on religious topics; Kirby Page, who spoke on economic problems, and Paul Cadmen, who discussed "Labor Issues in Theory and Fact." Labor problems were the main topic of discussion at the meeting.

Approximately 500 students from Nevada, Utah, Arizona, California and Hawaii attended the Asilomar convention. Those from Nevada were Jean Smith, Mary Pray, Lila Stoddard, Clayton Carpenter, E'Lois Campbell, Ruth Rowe, Margaret Record, Miss Eva Adams and Mrs. Mae Simas.

A new program is being prepared for the Y.W.C.A. members and also the campus in general on the topics of war, economics, labor and other problems, Jean Smith, president of the Y.W.C.A. group, said.

Consumption of paper for newsprint in America during 1935 was 3,311,227 tons. The peak was met in 1929 when 3,775,810 tons were utilized.

Military Society To Plan for Ball

Plans for the annual military ball will be made at a meeting of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society, to be held within the next two weeks.

Although no definite date has been set for the dance, which is regarded as the social highlight of the spring semester, it is possible it may be held on February 12, Basil Kehoe, captain of the group, stated today.

A committee to arrange for the affair will be appointed at the meeting, Kehoe said, and plans for the selection of an honorary major will be made.
