

Complete Varsity Football Schedule Given by Dashiell

Season's Opener Against College of Idaho Is Slated for Reno

Arizona State, San Francisco State, Colorado State, San Diego Listed

By CLARENCE HECKETHORN
A complete nine game varsity football schedule that will take the Wolf Pack into three different states was announced by Coach Douglas Dashiell today.

This year's schedule will mark the first meeting of the Pack with five schools. Games also have been listed with all members of the Far Western conference. Five home games are on the program.

The toughest obstacle in the path of a clear season sweep is a home game with San Diego State Thanksgiving Day. The San Diego club have been champions of the Southern conference for the past two years. The Staters were the only team to defeat Santa Barbara in 1936—the same year Nevada dropped a 13-0 contest to the Gauchos.

Go to Greeley
Another outstanding feature on the schedule will be a foray to Greeley, Colo., where the Wolves will inaugurate a football rivalry with Colorado State. Colorado is one of the stronger members of the Little Five, and formerly in the Rocky Mountain tourney.

The annual Homecoming classic will bring the Fresno Bulldogs to Mackay field. Fresno is an opponent that has always caused the Pack a great deal of trouble. Last fall the Bulldogs downed the Wolves 42 to 8 and went on to take the Far Western conference championship.

Season's Opener
The season's opener will be with the College of Idaho in Reno. This is another team that the Nevadans will meet for the initial time. Idaho is a team that has been making an outstanding record in football since being tutored by the nationally known Pat Page.

Arizona State from Flagstaff, Ariz., is another new opponent. No definite place has been named for this game, but will probably be played out of Reno. Armistice Day will be celebrated by a contest with San Francisco State in Reno. Other contests for the season will be Chico State, here; College of Pacific, Stockton, and Cal Aggies, Sacramento or Woodland.

The complete schedule is as follows:
September 24—College of Idaho, Reno.
October 1—Arizona State, undecided.
Oct. 8—Chico State, Reno.
Oct. 14—Colorado State, Greeley.
Oct. 22 (Homecoming)—Fresno State, Reno.
Oct. 23—College of Pacific, Stockton.
November 4—San Francisco State, Reno.
Nov. 24 (Thanksgiving)—San Diego, Reno.

Seven Teams Enter Debate Tourney Competition

Seven teams have entered competition for the intramural debate tournament which will begin January 25, according to Professor Robert C. Griffin, debate coach.

Each team will engage in four contests. At the end of the first four rounds of the tourney the judges' ballots will be opened, and the teams which have lost two or more debates will be eliminated.

The contests will be held every Tuesday and Thursday nights until the tournament is finished. The constructive arguments will last for ten minutes, and there will be five minute rebuttals, Griffin said.

The question to be debated this year is, "Resolved, that the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration in all industrial disputes."

The judges for the meet as announced by Griffin will be Robert Joy, Homer Herz, Francis Breen, Leo McCuddin and Griffin.

Beta Sigs Hold Initiation Rites

Initiation ceremonies of Beta Sigma Omicron were conducted Sunday afternoon for five girls by President Georgia Cooper.

The girls initiated were June Drake, Anna May Tomson, Evelyn Barry, Wilma Foote and June Bradbury.

Intramural Trophies Are Presented At Meeting

Announcement of student committees and presentation of athletic cups were features of the first student body meeting of the fall semester, under the direction of Dick Taw, A.S.U.N. president.

Changes in the personnel of the men's and women's upperclass committees, rally committee, sophomore vigilante committee were announced and members of the Mackay Day committee were approved.

Cups Presented
On behalf of the Interfraternity council "Chet" Scranton, assistant coach, presented the athletic cups won last semester. Awards for the horseshoe singles and doubles, the volleyball trophy and basketball cup were presented to Alpha Tau Omega. Lambda Chi Alpha received awards for the tennis singles and doubles and the cross-country run. Leading in the intramural race for the Kinnear trophy is Alpha Tau Omega, with Lambda Chi Alpha in second place and Sigma Nu in third.

Wayne Poulsen presented a cup donated by Fowler & Cusick to the A.S.U.N. on behalf of the Ski club. Poulsen reviewed briefly the accomplishments of the ski team, stating that they have participated in six meets in which 13 colleges on the Pacific coast were entered.

Martie Speaks
"The basketball squad on their Rocky Mountain barnstorming tour upheld the traditions of hard fighting and good playing," "Doc" Martie said, in discussing the basketball season.

Martie said that the only thing that will prevent the team from winning this year will be the lack of support by the students.

"Lack of spiritual support and cooperation in training rules are the only things which will cause defeat," Martie said in conclusion.
Yells led by Louis Weiner, former yell leader, Herb Winer, Leon Etchemendy and Bud Doherty, and the singing of "U. of N. So Gay" concluded the meeting.

Frosh Glee Date Definitely Set For January 22

Annual Ball Will Be Semi-Formal; To Be Held in State Building

With the date for the annual Frosh Glee definitely set for January 22, plans for the dance are well under way, Herb Winer, dance chairman, said today.

Members of the large dance committee at a meeting last Monday decided to follow the custom set by the last several years and hold the affair as a semi-formal. The dance will be held at the State building and music will be furnished by Reuben Tuttle's campus orchestra.

Advertisement of the dance will be conducted by gummed stickers cut in the shape of frosh dinks. The stickers for the glee will be made and distributed about the campus early next week.

Winer was elected from the committee at large to act as chairman of the committee for the dance. Pre-Meds to Hear Prominent Surgeon

Dr. A. L. Stadtherr, Reno surgeon, will be the speaker at the regular meeting of Omega Mu Iota, student pre-medical society, Wednesday night.

The topic of Dr. Stadtherr's talk will be the operation performed on the knee of a university student last May. As the operation was one of a delicate nature it will be an interesting lecture, according to Charles Turner, president of the group.

During the course of the lecture, moving pictures will be shown of the operation. The pictures, Turner said, show the operation completely and in detail.

Following the talk, a business meeting will be held. Plans for initiation of new members into the society will be made.

Mussolini Objectives Given by Colton In Lecture

In the opinion of Dr. Ethan Colton, lecturer and analyst of European affairs, Mussolini is a nationalist with ambition for his people, his country and its power, which believes force is a method to gain ends. It is his purpose to see that Italy will become a great and ever greater nation.

Dr. Ethan Colton expressed this point of view in a lecture last night in the Education auditorium. His subject, which was given before a large group of downtown people and university students, was "Mussolini's Purpose for Italy."

Unifying Youth
In further explanation of his subject, Dr. Colton said that Mussolini is uniting his country through the youth of Italy.

International Affairs, Mussolini is attempting to put Italy on an equal basis with the other powers of Europe, Dr. Colton said.

Mediterranean Prisoner
"Italy is a prisoner of the Mediterranean, and consequently she is attempting to free herself, Mussolini demands equality with France in the Mediterranean, equality with Great Britain, and the right to strengthen her position near the Suez canal."

Commenting on the economic structure of Italy, Dr. Colton said that it is run entirely by an Italian national council in which the 21 industries of the nation are represented.

Political Start
Dr. Colton also gave a brief description of the early life of Mussolini which first gave him a start in political life.

This marked Dr. Colton's third appearance at the University of Nevada. Since his last visit here, he has spent many months in Europe studying conditions in politics and economics. He is an observer, lecturer, analyzer of social and political events, organizer of forums, and a traveler.

Coed Intercollegiate Rifle Will Start Next Week

With the intercollegiate rifle matches starting next week, the women have been showing some definite skill with the gun. The first "possible," a score of 100 out of a possible 100, was shot yesterday by Gertrude Polander, varsity star of two seasons.

Plans have been made to have all the women who are participating in the sport shoot in the intercollegiate matches. Every week each woman will shoot and the ten highest scores will be entered. This will give everyone a fair chance to show how well she can shoot.

Shooting Started
Shooting for the varsity started this week, with every score shot from last Tuesday until the end of the season counting toward the award.

Those women who are shooting the highest scores to date include Gertrude Polander, Earmond Baker, Eunice Beckley, Betty Inda, Mary Mathews, Patricia Meaker and Felicia Moos.

Schedule Released
Schedule of the intercollegiate matches was released yesterday by Eunice Beckley, manager. The schedule is still tentative, with several schools yet to be heard from. The list was compiled by Sergeant Kelly, who sent challenges to all coeducational universities which have women's rifle teams.

BRAIN TEASERS PUZZLE MATH CLUBBERS

Math club members suffered with a goodly number of headaches Thursday evening when Ben Morehouse gave his version of "Professor Quiz."

Morehouse made the problems so hard that even he was a little puzzled over them. After everyone had exhausted his powers of thought, Cyril Ham showed up with a perfect score, and received the prize.

Refreshments were served and the meeting was adjourned.

Change of Pace And Speed Offered To Fans Tonight

Don Quintet May Be Met By Speedy Attack of Second Team

Martie Set to 'Mix 'Em Up' By Substitutions of Three Strings

By ROSS ASHLEY
The old baseball dish of speed and a change of pace will be served up to local basketball gourmets by Chef "Doc" Martie on the university court tonight and tomorrow night, with Nevada Wolf, either hot or pickled, as the main course. Games start at 8 o'clock.

The Wolves are renewing an old rivalry with the U. S. F. Dons.

Speed in Attack
The speed in the Wolf attack will be supplied by Walt Powers and John Etchemendy, a pair of speedburners who can ramble in any competition. Powers, conference 100 yard champion, generates lots of speed when he begins to motor, while Etchemendy, whose elusiveness and dead shooting won him a spot on the all-fraternity team, takes plenty of watching.

Get Starting Call
This pair, working with Gordon Thompson, center, and Ray Harris and Ray Waldren, guards, will get the starting call if Martie adheres to the strategy he used on the recent barnstorming tour.

This plan of attack is based on running the opponents ragged with a fast breaking offense by the "shock troops," and then shooting in the regular combination of Dick Kolbus and John Robb, forwards, John Radovich, center, and Joe Radetich and Elmer Bawden, guards, to mop up.

'Change of Pace'
When this combination goes in, the fans will see Martie's change of pace, with the smooth passing of Radetich and Bawden, the tricky floor work of Kolbus and Robb, and the height and sharpshooting of Radovich working to substitute "set" plays for fast breaking in the Nevada offense.

May 'Mix 'Em Up'
Martie may "mix 'em up" still further by using his third string, a small, fast, sharpshooting team composed of Bob Cameron and Dean Croft, forwards, Sam McMullen, center, and Ira Farris and Milton Parsons, guards. Farris and Parsons are big men, but the rest of the team is well below the size usually found on Martie-coached teams. They make up for it, however, with their speed.

The Dons, who have beaten College of Pacific and dropped close decisions to St. Mary's and Santa Clara, will start Jaeger at center, Baylacq and Franusch, forwards, and Guinee and Knifsend, guards.

Spring Semester Budgets Presented To Finance Control

Yell Leaders' Requisition Is Approved; Action on Others Deferred

In order that three yell leaders could make an initial appearance at the opening of the basketball season in new uniforms, finance control at its meeting Wednesday reversed its usual custom and considered a budget at the same meeting at which it was presented.

The budget, presented to the board by Head Yell Leader Charles Doherty, was accepted and authorizes the allotment of $7.47 to purchase sweaters to be used by yell leaders.

This requisition was the only one out of the twelve submitted to the group for consideration that was accepted.

News Bureau Budget
Definite action, however, was taken upon the budget presented by the news bureau. This budget asked for an allotment to be used to pay for a panel in the Artemisia. Since allotting money for any organization panels in Artemisia is against the policy of the committee this budget will not be considered at the executive meeting next week.

Referred Back
The Associated Women Students' budget was referred back to the president of the A.W.S. for further consideration and reorganization, before consideration at the next meeting.

Other budgets presented were Women's Athletic association, U. of N. band, debate, Fine Arts, Play Productions, Mackay Day, A.S.U.N. general, athletic awards, Student union, Aggie club and an Engineers' budget. The Block N society failed to present a budget.

Cast Is Selected For 'Twelfth Night'; Rehearsals Begun

Seventeen Students to Take Part in Shakespearean Production

By BURWELL HOLMES
With the complete cast for the production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" selected Tuesday afternoon, Professor William Miller has announced that regular rehearsals have already started.

There are 15 speaking parts, to be done by 13 persons. Besides these roles are four ladies in waiting, making a total of 19 roles and a cast of 17 people.

While there is no main lead, there are numerous straight and comedy leads. Straight leads will be played by Ralph Stone as Orsino, Duke of Illyria; Jessie McClure as Olivia, young countess, and by Evelyn Bulmer as Viola, Sebastian's sister. Comedy leads will be played by Leo Doyle as Malvolio, steward to Olivia; Robert Van Wagner as Sir Toby Belch, uncle to Olivia; Robert Miller as Sir Andrew Aguecheek, Sir Toby's friend, and by Kathleen Meeks as Maria, Olivia's servant lady.

Supporting Cast
In the supporting cast are: Roger Foley as Sebastian, brother to Viola; Marshall Creel as Antonio, a sea captain and friend to Sebastian; Eugene Funk, a sea captain and friend to Viola; Marshall Creel will also take the part of Valentine, gentleman attending the duke; Kelly Eccles as Curio, gentleman attending the duke; Eccles will also take the part of Fabian, a servant to Olivia; Wilma A. Jones as Feste, a clown and servant to Olivia, and by Eugene Funk as a priest. Ladies in waiting will be played by Emily Tholl, Mary Ellen Bennetts, Betty M. Shidler and Gracia Ferguson.

No definite date has been set for the play. It will be put on either February 15, 16 and 17 or February 22, 23 and 24, according to how well parts are learned and how soon the play reaches perfection in the eyes of Professor Miller.

While the production of such a play is difficult, Professor Miller is sure he has a good cast, and there is every indication of a successful play to be presented in a realistic Shakespearean manner.

Ski Team Preparing For Tourney at Yosemite

Encouraged by the overwhelming victory scored last week on Mount Rose, members of the University of Nevada ski team are making enthusiastic plans for the Pacific Coast intercollegiate championship meet to be held February 4, 5 and 6 at Badger Pass, Yosemite National park.

With a national ranking of third, the Nevada team shows every indication of winning the coast championship, although their efforts will be seriously contested by the University of Washington, who beat them last year. Washington, in second place, nationally, was beaten two weeks ago by Dartmouth at Sun Valley, Idaho.

Chances for Win
The chances of a Nevada win are based on the possibility of repetition of the skiers' performances on Mount Rose last week, especially on the ace newcomers, Carl Becholdt and James Worden, as Washington is strong in their events—the jumps.

The Ski union supervising the meet will provide for a five man team, Don McMeekin, president of the ski club, said, but will allow eight men to enter the meet. The Wolf snowmen will probably be represented by eight men, as that number figured prominently in taking winning places in the recent Mt. Rose tourney.

Top ski men who are working to earn a chance to represent Nevada at the meet are James Worden, Carl Becholdt, Jack Starrett, Don Fanning, Ed Rose, Earl Edmunds, Don McMeekin, Frazier West, Ray Walts and Charles Doherty.

Carnegie Tech, to have Class A football, must depend solely on athletic scholarships contributed by alumni. So said President Robert E. Doherty in addressing the alumni association.

Reno Hi Hoopmen Dump Yearlings 23 to 21

Reno high school cagers defeated Jim Coleman's yearling squad last Friday evening by a 2 point margin, 23-21, in a game that was closely contested the whole route although marred by many penalties.

Two penalties on the Frosh late in the game paved the way for the last two tallies of the schoolboys, who capitalized on the advantages and put the game on the ice in the last few seconds via the free throw method.

Defensive play was so close during the whole game that neither team went on any scoring sprees until late in the last quarter, when Reno sank several baskets to tie the score. A foul shot by Cobeaga of the Frosh was voided and during the same play a foul was called on one of his teammates. Curran of Reno made good the free throw, and the game ended shortly afterwards.

Standouts for the Frosh were Cobeaga, who was also high point man for the game with nine tallies; Lemich, who did splendid work in retrieving the ball from the backboard and who also looked very well defensively, and Donovan, who in the initial opener of the Frosh looked as though he could handle any department of the game with equal ease.

Vaughn played a fine game for Reno, as did Paille, Curran and Solari, who were other Reno standouts. Curran was high point man for the high school quintet with eight points.

Faculty Dinner Set for Tomorrow

The University of Nevada Faculty club will meet at the Manzanita dining hall for dinner at 7:30 tomorrow night. Such a dinner is held every semester as a joint meeting of the Faculty club and the Woman's Afternoon club.

Speaker for the evening will be Professor B. F. Chappelle, who will present a descriptive talk with illustrations upon the "Iberian Peninsula." He is well versed upon this subject, since he has traveled in Spain, and the lantern slides with which he will illustrate his talk were taken and made by himself.

The arrangements for the meeting and dinner are being handled by Mrs. Maxwell Adams, Mrs. Edward C. Reed, Mrs. Leon W. Hartman, Mrs. Stanley O. Palmer and Mrs. Fredrick Wood. To date, reservations for 90 have been made.

Mrs. Katherine Mackay O'Brien, daughter of Clarence H. Mackay, will be a guest at the dinner. Governor Richard E. Kirman was unable to accept an invitation to attend.

Y.W.C.A. Bookshelf Is Placed in Library

A bookshelf in the University of Nevada library for the benefit of Y.W.C.A. members has been secured, Jean Smith, president of the organization, announced this week.

The shelf will be in the main room of the Library building and will carry publications of special interest to campus Y.W. members, Miss Smith said. Several religious books and some periodicals have been already placed on the shelf, and issues of periodicals published especially for university Y. W. groups will be carried on the shelf.

Jayvees Start 1938 Season With Victories

Both University of Nevada junior varsity squads embarked upon their 1938 season Tuesday night by emerging victorious in two city league A division games.

The Blues successfully defended their 1937 title by a last minute rally in which they barely eked out a 23-22 victory over the senior Y.M.C.A. team. The Y men have been sweeping through opposition in the city league, but the last minute plunge of the Blues was too much for them.

For the Blues, Ira Ferris, Orlino Barsanti, Pio Mastroianni, Bill Marks, Jack Pothoff and Ed Olson all played outstanding ball.

In the second game of the evening, the Whites pounded out an easy 25-8 victory over the First National Bank quintet. The university team had a comparatively easy time disposing of the downtown five and were in no danger throughout the entire contest. Eric Root, Frank Roylance and Wilson Rabealetti led the winning team to victory.

Handling the coaching end of the junior varsity teams are "Ham" Robb, head of the Blues, and Joe Radetitch, who is leading the Whites. Both men just recently returned from the Wolf Pack barnstorming trip throughout the Rocky Mountain conference.

Any man now playing basketball with the Jayvees who shows exceptional form during the season may be promoted to the varsity squad later in the season.

Sagens Further Plans for Dance

Elcano Appointed Chairman For Annual Reverse

With Juanita Elcano appointed chairman, plans for the reverse dance of the Sagens, women's pep group, are well under way.

The dance, an annual event, will be held during the first part of March with a novel theme worked into decorations, entertainment and music.

Assisting Miss Elcano in drawing up initial plans are Reveau Hansen, Mary Alice Plath and Marie Belz. Other committees will be appointed later in the semester.

At the meeting of the group held last night the petitions favoring a $2.50 raise in student body fees were handed in to President Eunice Beckley.

The group will sponsor the ice cream sales at the season's basketball games to raise money for group projects and for the annual senior banquet of those members graduating. Jeanette Hutchins was appointed chairman of the ice cream sales group.

Former President Dies in Berkeley

Following an illness of nearly four years, Archer W. Hendrick, former president of the University of Nevada, died two weeks ago in a coast hospital.

Following a stroke of paralysis, which left him an invalid, he was confined in a Berkeley hospital. A year ago, he broke his hip, and complications developed, making his condition worse.

Besides his widow he leaves two sons, John Hendrick of Reno and Joseph Hendrick of San Francisco, and a daughter, Mrs. Wilcox Drake of Beverly Hills, Calif.

15 Women Report For Annual Winter Archery Matches

Nevada Will Enter B and C Classes; Four Girls In Each Team

With 15 women reporting for shooting, the Annual Winter Archery meet began this week and will continue until January 30.

Due to changes made in the meet, Nevada will enter classes B and C. Women entering class B will shoot 60 arrows 30 yards at a regulation target; women entering class C will shoot 60 arrows 20 yards at a regulation target.

Four Girl Teams
Each team consists of four girls shooting the highest scores during the week of competition. The personnel may change each week under this arrangement. As many teams may be entered as desired, but no girl may shoot in more than one classification.

The meet will take place over a period of three weeks, each team sending in the scores of the four highest archers each week. Dates for competition have been set for January 10, 17 and 24, making the last days for mailing results January 16, 23 and 30, respectively.

Rules governing the meet are as follows:

1. Scores must be officially recorded by instructor or manager.
2. At least two girls must be competing when official score is made.
3. No practice end shall be allowed on the target on which the scoring is done. In case a school has only one target, no practice shall be allowed, but other distances may be used for "warming up."
4. The meet may be shot either indoors or out.
5. All scores must be recorded on official forms or fac-simile.

Women participating in the meet are: Sarah Bawden, Marcelle Bawden, Errimond Baker, Romietta Ward, Glenda Wilson, Warne Pryor, Mary Alice Cleary, Anita Capitani, Betty Rose, Ruth Doan, Mildred Kibble, Lola Frazer, Virginia Snow, Jean Knouse and Reveau Hansen.

Courses Planned For Summer Study

New, advanced courses which may be applied toward bachelors or masters' degrees are being planned for the six weeks' University of Nevada summer session this year, according to Dean F. W. Troner, summer school director and head of the school of education.

The courses will probably be in education and English history. Normal school graduates will be able to take courses for credit which may be applied toward a bachelor's degree.

Education courses which may be applied toward requirements for a high school certificate will also be offered. Courses offered will apply toward a bachelor's degree, and elementary courses on the program may be applied toward a normal school diploma.

Other courses will be offered through which teachers may apply for the renewal of teaching certificates.

Final announcements concerning the summer session will be made later. The school is at present tentatively set for the period of June 20 to July 29.

With The Wolfettes

By LOUISE LEONARD

With women's basketball starting last week three interclass games were played Thursday.

The freshman red team defeated the seniors, 9-4; juniors took the freshman pink team 13-8 and the sophomores were victorious over the freshman lavender team 17-8.

There are several women on the freshman team who show possibilities of being outstanding basketball players. Among those who have shown their ability during the first week of basketball are Mary Urrutia, Marcelle Bawden, Mary Cleary and Ann Wedertz.

A modern dance club under the direction of Miss Katherine Schnell will be organized this semester for any women who have had one semester of dancing and for anyone who has an interest in dance.

Miss Schnell has urged those students wishing to participate in the club to sign in the gym for the time which will be most convenient for meetings.

The annual winter archery meet started this week with a large number of women carefully aiming their arrows at the center of the target.

With the material the University of Nevada has to work with, Mrs. Mae Simas, W.A.A. faculty adviser, is expecting her team of archers to place at the top of the list when the scores are totaled.

This year's class of freshman women really has what it takes in the field of sports in spirit and ability.

Going from volleyball and archery into basketball, these underclass women show they have the right kind of spirit by reporting for every sport that has been offered.

The larger percentage of the class shows that they intend to put women's sports on top in the future.

Grad Is Mentioned In Magazine Article

"Men Without Medals," an article about the Abraham Lincoln battalion of American soldiers fighting for the Spanish loyalist forces, and their commander, Bob Merriman, is featured in the January 15 issue of Collier's.

Merriman is a graduate of the University of Nevada, class of '32. Marian Stone Merriman, his wife, is a Nevada graduate of the same class.

Written by Martha Gellhorn, "Men Without Medals" give a word picture of the unique battalion of soldiers of fortune, who are fighting without any "rewards you could name. There are no congressional medals, no bonuses for soldiers' families, no newspaper glory. And what they get paid, every day, would buy a soft drink and a pack of cigarettes in America, but no more."

The writer made her way to the front and gained an interview with the Nevada alumnus who commands the strange group of fighting men.

"They said we could find Bob Merriman, the chief of staff, down there somewhere. We found him, and he took us to a lean-to, built of reeds, that rattled in the wind. He explained the offensive to us, drawing the plan of it on the dirt of the floor, going over every point carefully as if we were in his freshman class in economics back in California. Forty kilometers march . . . Quinto encircled . . . Belchite surrounded . . . then the fighting in the town itself, from house to house, cutting through the walls and bombing their way forward with hand grenades . . . rushing the cathedral where rebel machine gunners held out to the last, in the tower . . ."

"The dead piled eight feet high in the streets . . . 'The boys did well,' Merriman said.

"There was dust on his glasses and he had very white teeth. He was a big man, but shy and stiff, and his voice made you want to call him 'Professor.' We knew that he had led the assault on Belchite, and he was wounded six times by fragments from hand grenades, and that he would not stop to be bandaged until the fighting was over.

"This is a fine brigade we've got here," he said. "Shock troops now; you can tell a brigade is fine when they move it from front to front, in trucks, fast, to wherever the danger is."

Frank Stout a former University of Nevada student, is also fighting for the Spanish loyalist forces.

Baritone Scores Hit at Concert

With a great number of University of Nevada students in the audience, Igor Gorin scored a sensational success at his concert last Tuesday night in the Granada theater.

Gorin, noted young Russian vocalist, presented a widely diversified program of operatic and ballad numbers. His singing won such favor with townspeople and students that he was recalled by the audience's applause several times.

The young baritone featured an aria from "The Barber of Seville" and the Ukrainian folksong, "The Drunkard," on his program.

Gorin's accompanist, Max Rabinowitch, shared honors in the success of the concert and was also encored by the spectators.

The final concert scheduled for the season by the Nevada Community Concert association will be given at the Granada theater on March 7. Eugene List, pianist, will be the featured performer.

Sororities End Spring Rushing With Bids Sunday

Houses Are Limited to One Party Each; Only Few New Rushees

Results of the coed formal rushing parties which were held by the Greeks this week will be announced by Mrs. A. E. Hill, Pan-Hellenic lawyer, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Silence starts tomorrow at 2 p. m. Rushing rules, which have been in effect for the past two weeks, forbid any off-campus rushing except at the parties held on the specified dates.

The sororities are giving only one party each because of the small number of coeds being rushed. During the fall semester rushing period each house entertains three times.

First Party
Delta Delta Delta gave the first party by featuring a dinner on Tuesday from 6 to 8. A coffee and mint hour was held for the entire chapter after dinner.

Beta Sigma Omicron, whose date was changed from Monday because of conflict with the Community concert, held a tea Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5.

Gamma Phi Beta held a dinner from 6 to 8 Wednesday.

Kappa Alpha Theta is giving a dinner today from 6 to 8.

Pi Beta Phi's luncheon from 12 to 2 tomorrow will be followed immediately by the silence period.

Cap and Scroll Meeting Planned

Five members of Cap and Scroll, highest Nevada honorary to which a coed can be bid, will meet Wednesday night at 6 o'clock at a dinner meeting at the Grand cafe.

At this time prospective members will be discussed. To be eligible to become a member of the honorary a woman must be a senior student, take an active part in college projects and activities, and be a leader in at least one of these activities. Scholastic standards play an important part in the selection of members. Last year's group ranged from 1.3 to 1.8.

Dean Margaret E. Mack and Miss Eva Adams will be guests at the dinner.

MALE STUDENT STUDIES CULINARY ART

Whether Jack Smith, senior student, is training to be a brow-beaten husband or really has the culinary art at heart is a question his grade in his home economics in cooking will answer.

It seems Jack has taken so many courses that he had to fill in with something—so he decided to fill out that part of his education which was undeveloped.

Here is a catch for some girl, as he is not only an athlete and a provider but will be cook as well. Jack is sincere in his ambition, and intends to make a showing of superiority in his "elective."

Jack promises to allow anyone interested to sample some of his baking, boiling or brewing when the proper time arrives.

Sixty Report For Women's Hoop Teams

Women's basketball started last week when 60 women reported for practice. Half of the turnout consisted of freshmen.

Captains elected at practice Tuesday night were: Elizabeth Best, senior and junior teams; Dorothy Atcheson, sophomore team; Eleanor Dupratt, frosh red team; Mary Anxo, frosh pink team, and Marjory Guse,elle, lavender team.

Because of the large number of freshmen it was necessary to divide the freshman class into two teams.

Class games started Thursday, and intramural games will start in about two weeks.

PHI SIGS ELECT

Loyal A. Willis, sophomore agriculture student, was elected president of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity last Monday. He is a graduate of the Yerington high school.

FASHION TIPS

Our objective is to carry through the winter season in that magnificent manner, keeping an eye on the new fashions that will come in with spring at the same time.

The shirtwaist or blouse is being emphasized. Most of them have a balloon effect around the shoulders tapering to a tightly fitted waistline. They're worn with wool skirts for sports, they're attached to silk skirts for afternoon, and they're belted above a full skirt for evening.

A dinner blouse of white crepe. A red grosgrain belt links it to a black chiffon skirt, or a Glorified Gibson Girl shirtwaist of white chiffon ballooning above a flaring skirt. Rhinestone stars stud the blouse and the wide girldle belt.

A clip, the modern version of grandmother's brooch, in heavy silver or gold, can be worn on anything. If you want one with stones, make sure there isn't too much sparkle. Dull, heavy smoothness with a little twinkle gives the desired effect.

Wear a large round clip on the left lapel of your suit for that Fifth avenue touch.

Hair is still going up. Your coiffure is very smart if you wear your curls up high, and hats, too, continue up. If they don't tower, there is a cluster of something on the top, such as a bouquet of flowers, a veil, or seven room house complete with bath. They're absolutely mad. It will take a coed with plenty of "yumph" to get by with hats like these.

If you're sick to death of those huge bags for carrying totables, get a little letter case bag in any material and any color.

Spring note: New evening gowns! Very colorful in Italian striped cotton or linen. We found a very special one that had huge green leaves printed on white pique.

For ski clothes add some Swiss jewelry for that feminine touch, dairy clips and fobs and bucolic charms for your bracelet. Above all, be feminine!

DO GOLFERS APPRECIATE CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS?

FAMOUS golfers like Gene Sarazen, Helen Hicks, Lawson Little, and Ralph Guldahl prefer Camels. They have found that costlier tobaccos do place Camels in a class apart. And millions of Americans prefer Camels day after day—making them the LARGEST-SELLING cigarette in America.

ON THE PROFIT SIDE

With the new year just beginning, students of the University of Nevada do well to take stock of themselves and of their institution.

In any such inventory "red ink" items are likely to loom large in the imagination, human nature being what it is, and frequently cause the assets to be overlooked or minimized. The result is a wholly distorted picture.

Because of this tendency, the Sagebrush ventures to point out some of the assets of the University of Nevada, its faculty and staff, its students and student organizations.

And it finds a roster of accomplishments of which any institution, large or small, can well be proud:

A member of the university faculty, Cecil W. Creel, director of the agricultural extension service, was chosen this fall to the presidency of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities. An honor to any man and his university, this post is an especial distinction this year because Director Creel is one of the two or three men not university presidents to have been chosen to this office, and because the association's constitution was amended to make possible his election. In this position, Nevada's director represents 53 of the strongest institutions of higher learning in America, with a combined student body of nearly one-fifth of a million. To Nevada, a Nevada staff man, and a graduate of the University of Nevada has been given one of the greatest places of leadership in American education.

Just before this honor was conferred upon him, Nevada's Director Creel was chosen one of the two persons who in 1937 gave the most distinguished service to agriculture in America.

Creel's is the second such high honor to have been held by a U. of N. man, President Walter E. Clark having been head of the National Association of State Universities in 1932.

When the Rhodes scholarships for the district of which Nevada is a part, including six states, were awarded last month, Russell McDonald of the University of Nevada not only was chosen for this distinguished honor but ranked first among all the candidates. In winning this coveted place, McDonald competed against the best the colleges and universities of California and the southwest had to offer.

Nevada's debate team, meeting platform opponents from the strongest and largest institutions in the entire west, last spring won the western open championship. This is one of the highest honors of its kind in the entire country. Nevada's champion debaters, William Cashill and Bryce Rhodes, are now doing excellent work at Harvard law school, stiffest in the country. And Professor Robert Griffin, debate coach, is this year president of the Pacific Forensic league.

Evidencing its confidence in the standing of the university, the Carnegie foundation has presented to the department of music special equipment for teaching in this field, including a fine phonograph and a library of records, scores and books.

Just last weekend, Nevada students captured for themselves and the institution the ski meet held on the slopes of Mount Rose against the leading university snowmen of California. This year, as last, Nevada's ski team ranks among the two or three strongest in the entire country.

The University of Nevada campus is recognized everywhere as one of the most beautiful in the west, with its graceful trees, spacious lawns and campus lake. Visitors never fail to comment on its charm.

At the University of Nevada is done true teaching such as is impossible at the larger institutions. Here students and faculty are personally acquainted and a close relationship between them is developed. A genuine community of interest in the subjects studied is the result. This is the essence of real education.

The University of Nevada has one of the best student bands in the west. When it appeared recently on the streets of San Francisco, it brought exclamations of surprise coupled with praise from persons whose judgment is respected in the field of music.

The University of Nevada has been given notable recognition by the French government. Each year the best graduating senior in the study of French is awarded a medal by the French ministry of foreign affairs. This year Nevada's university was chosen to receive a gift of 5000 francs in terms of books in the French language. Both honors are a tribute to the instruction in French on this campus. Nevada's Mackay field, the stadium and the training quarters furnish one of the best setups for intercollegiate athletic competition in football and track, for its size, anywhere in the nation. Even a casual survey of such equipment in other institutions gives a Nevadan pride in his own athletic field.

Nevada is a member of the round table group of only six western universities which are regarded as doing first-class professional work in journalism.

The Mackay Hall of Science has been rated by capable critics as equal in facilities and equipment to any similar structure in an American university, and far above buildings serving the same function in most institutions. For the teaching of mining engineering, the Mackay School of Mines building is among the few best, as is its professional course.

Nevada's agricultural experiment station staff has made discoveries which have enabled livestock men in Nevada and throughout the world to combat diseases which have threatened to wipe out their herds. In agronomy, it has developed an understanding of the use of plant nutrition which is revolutionizing the growing of crops with fertilizer. In these respects, the University of Nevada is internationally known for its great contributions.

L. E. Cline of the agricultural extension service is America's best in turkey production, and this week he is at the University of Illinois giving a special course in this important phase of agriculture.

Nevada students have long been known for their skill in dramatics. Plays produced on the campus have drawn favorable comment from outsiders of special judgment in this field. Several former Nevada thespians have been successful on the commercial stage.

The University of Nevada has been chosen by the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace as one of the representative institutions in the United States to which it is sending this year Sir Herbert Ames for a full week's lectures on international relations. Sir Herbert will be on the campus this spring.

One of Nevada's greatest advantages is its democratic student life. On this campus, a man or woman stands for what he or she is, not for his family connections or his money. Real worth is thus recognized to a degree that is not found in many American universities.

Dr. J. E. Church, Nevada's beloved professor of the classics, is recognized the world over as "tops" among the hydrologists. Now, for the second year, he is president of the great International Commission of Snow, as well as being the inventor of the system of snow surveying used in most of the world.

Recognized as one of the very strongest in the country, Nevada's pre-medical course has turned out men and women who have won the highest possible honors in their graduate work and who have distinguished themselves in the field of medical science. From no institution in America, large or small, have come better men and women in this field.

For six consecutive years, Nevada's Reserve Officers' Training Corps has been rated by the inspecting officials of the U. S. army as "excellent," the highest possible standing.

The best test of all of any institution of higher learning is the record of its graduates. In this respect, Nevada holds an enviable place. Not only within the state, but practically throughout the world, are University of Nevada graduates who are outstanding in their professions and who are contributing their leadership to community affairs.

These are a few of the entries on the profit side of Nevada's ledger as the new year begins. The complete list is much longer and even more impressive.

As he looks it over, no Nevada student or faculty member need apologize for his university. Instead, he may feel a just pride, based upon the facts, that he is connected with an institution which has a distinguished record and stands well among the universities of the nation.

PICKLED PLATTITUDES

By MAX JENSEN

Despite Editor Brackett's irrelevant remarks anent the authorship of the column which appeared under this heading last week; despite the descriptive title under the editor's note; despite the wide divergence from my own dry style noticeable in last week's column; despite the fact that the tone of the column is not quite in keeping with my own humorless, scientific way of thought; despite all this and despite a definite reference to a "prominent member of the business staff," I have been accused of being responsible.

I count having the column accredited to me an accusation because of some remarks like the following which are comments from prominent collegians on last week's plattitudes.

Fairhurst: "Last week's column was evidently not Jensen's work. It was a repulsive insult not only to Jensen but also to the student body at large. It has been the expressed policy of the Brush that such inane, juvenile rot as a 'dirt column' would not be tolerated. This brazen deviation from the said policy is a direct revelation of the editor's intelligence."

Goldwater (known since last week as the "Battler"): "Who wrote that silly tripe? It's childish. It's o. k. as long as you're not mentioned, but how about the people who are the butt of the so-called humorous remarks?"

Caton: "Did you write that?" (My answer was of course an emphatic "No.")

"Gee it sure put me in a spot. I didn't know just how to handle the situation that developed."

(For your information, reader, Loveall made no comment.)

Morris: "It was just what the Brush needs to liven it up. Brackett needs a man there with a sense of humor and the art of tossing shafts of brilliant satire where they'll do the most good. I demand that last week's author be ferreted out and subsidized."

Dalzell: "It's no use. I'll never live down the slip I made last semester in failing to let the soon department know that I was majoring in the course, and that I had to pass those hours to retain my eligibility for competition as both the cutest and most intelligent boy on the campus. What's Nevada going to do for a representative in this field of intercollegiate competition now?"

All in all, the reaction to the column proves that Brackett was acting on a true inspiration in hitherto refraining from the publication of a dirt column. I made nothing like a complete campus canvass to get reaction. Such adverse remarks as I heard came to me just by the way. Favorable reactions will be accepted wherever they exist, and from whatever source they come.

Last week the Sagebrush published a letter which seemed to imply, despite the essential truth of several details, that the present sad condition of the engineering schools may be laid entirely at the door of the students themselves. The writer asserted that we were trying to pass the buck, particularly this column, in suggesting that the state government advance funds for remedying the situation, even if such action resulted in indebtedness for the state.

Perhaps I'm wrong, but it hardly seems to me a valid argument from cause to effect to insist that because Nevada students neglect studies for "beering bouts," allow too many honoraries to exist on the campus, and petition the engineering schools to make a tough course elective, the engineering schools lose their accredited standing. The writer specifies some evils whose existence we admit, but that the present condition of the civil and mechanical schools is the result of these student practices we deny.

Incidentally, the head of the sectional committee which accredits engineering schools is scheduled to speak at the University of Nevada next week. We predict the Crucible club meeting at which he talks will be stormed.

FRESHMAN WEDS

Miss Frances Storer, University of Nevada freshman student from Sparks, was married Saturday to Ben Wilson of Reno. The couple left on a two weeks' trip to the coast and on their return they will make their home here. Wilson is employed by the Silver State Bakery here.

YW Bookshop Has Over 100 Books To Sell

"The Y.W.C.A. bookstore has in its possession approximately 100 books to sell," Elona Van Sickle, head of the bookshop, which is located in the basement of Morrill hall, stated this week.

A profit of about $5 has been made in the few days it has been opened and the demand for books is becoming greater. The store is open from 10:30 to 11:30 every day in the week.

Books which are particularly wanted are "Physical Geology Part I," "Historical Geology Part II," "Psychology and the New Education" by Pressey, "College Algebra," "Economic History of the American People" and "Homer to Theocritus" by Capps. Anyone who has copies of these books is requested to bring them to the bookstore.

There are a number of copies of Boltons "Syllabus, History of America," "Modern Higher Algebra" by Wells and Hart and a number of modern foreign language books.

The Y.W.C.A. makes a profit of 10 per cent on every book sold. Last semester the group income amounted to $25, which meant that it had to sell $250 worth of books.

The bookstore was instituted a number of years ago by the Y.W.C.A. to be an aid to the students on the campus. Instead of having to buy new books for courses, the students could buy secondhand copies of the texts.

Those working in the bookshop are Elona Van Sickle, Elaine Adams, Margaret Records and Margaret Turano.

NEVADA COEDS DISPLAY THEIR VANITY

Though the male students on the campus outnumber the female students also three to two, the girls manage to more than hold their own in one field—that of vanity.

Outside of their usual powder puffing and lipstick activities, Nevada girls have recently given themselves to another form of vanity. The office of Miss Maizie Ryan, secretary to Dean Adams, has been veritably besieged by comely coeds, who after a coquettish advance to Miss Ryan, ask if they may not see their identification pictures. The girls, after delving into the files, usually burst into half-stifled giggles.

As practical aide to great numbers who have been disappointed by not finding their pictures on file, Miss Ryan forwards the following information. The pictures are taken on a roll which takes approximately a month to develop and for filing.

IN THE SPORTLIGHT

SPORTS ON SPORTS FROM FAR & NEAR

By CLARENCE HECKETHORN
My hat is off to the University of Nevada ski team.

If there was ever an organization that deserves a great deal of credit it's the University of Nevada Ski club.

Skiing is one sport that the university seems to neglect. The administration has never provided the organization with an official coach and necessary equipment. Skiing is considered merely as a minor sport. Yet the local skiers overcame this handicap and are now given third place honors in national skiing ratings.

The only two teams having better records than the Nevada club are those of Dartmouth and the University of Washington. And there may be a change in these ratings after Nevada meets Washington at Yosemite February 4, 5 and 6. The winner of the meet will also be crowned skiing champion of the Pacific coast.

Rating the Nevadans on the record they made last weekend against Stanford and the University of California, I see a victory for the local team over Washington.

It's true Washington defeated Nevada last year, but that was before the appearance of Carl Becholdt and James Worden. These two men are noted for their ability in the jumps, and prior to this year Nevada never entered in varsity jumping competition. Other men on the varsity squad that are making a name for themselves are Ed Rose, Earl Edmunds, Jack Starrett and Donald Fanning.

However, the local club lost one of its outstanding all-around men last spring when Wayne Poulsen graduated. Another good man that the team will miss is Martin Arrouge, who failed to return to school.

Thus, the big question is whether or not Becholdt and Worden will be able to fill the gap made by the loss of Poulsen and Arrouge.

Sport critics are still commenting on the performance of the Nevadans last week when they walked away from Stanford and California, by making a score of 399 out of a possible team score of 400. (In fact the spectators were so impressed by the performance of the Nevada team that they named one of the mountains after Ed Rose.)

The entire city of Reno has gone basketball minded during the last few weeks. Several business organizations have entered teams in the city basketball loop as well as the two Nevada junior varsity basketball teams.

The two squads—Blues and Whites—are being tutored by John Robb and Joe Radetich, respectively. Both teams have concluded their debut this week with wins. The Blues over the Y.M.C.A. Reds by 23-21 and the Whites over the strong First National Bank five with the score of 25-8.

Present statistics and workout performances show the Whites to have a stronger team than that of the Blues. The Blues have speed to burn but seem to be lacking in height, while the Whites possess both speed and height along with a number of crackshot players.

These statements are referred to the games this week, particularly the game in which the Whites gave the First National Bank five its lacing.

It wasn't an off night for the Bankers nor was it the lack of material that caused the final score to be as it was. It was the defensive playing combined with the fast offense of the Whites that spelled defeat for the Bank five.

On the Bank squad were such stars as Malcolm Jones, letterman of the Wolf Pack basketball team in 1935; Stan Smith, former Nevada varsity letterman, and several former high school stars of high ability.

The real significance of the one-sided score does not insinuate that the Bankers are a setup, but it does show that the university team is to be a leading candidate for the city loop championship.

Both teams have players that should be a great asset to "Doc" Martie's varsity team next year. The Whites are composed of Ashley, Peterson, Morrison, Rabeletti, Root, Dickson, Summerbell, Clayton, Roylance, Smith, Calhoun and Tibbe. Outstanding players on the Blues are Mastroianni, Barsanti, Farris, Marks, Potthoff, Parsons, Lison, Gustafson, Olson, McDonald and Rhoades.

Sagers Advertise Basketball Games

The basketball game scheduled to-night between the University of Nevada and San Francisco university has been advertised by handbills circulated by the Sagers, men's undergraduate service group. The group will continue the practice throughout the remainder of the season.

Plans were also discussed for a dinner dance to be held January 25, and Don Kinkel was appointed chairman of the affair.

The committee appointed by Kenneth Dimock, president, to take charge of circulating the dodgers was Dick Roche, Louis Peraldo, William A'bonies, Loyal Willis, Leon Etchemendy, Francis Menante, Peter Kelley and Carlyle Pribbernow.

Frosh Will Meet Sacramento J. C. Hoopmen Tonight

Game Will Be Preliminary To Varsity Contest; Visitors Strong

Coleman Pessimistic; Grades Disqualify Many Good Candidates

After losing to Reno high school last week by a score of 23-21, the frosh basketball team will face its first real test this season in a game with Sacramento Junior college tonight.

Reports on the Sacramento team indicate it to be an exceptionally strong outfit this year, and Coach Jim Coleman, cub mentor, says he expects difficulty when his charges meet the capital city boys in the preliminary to the varsity-S. F. U. tilt tonight. The game will start at 7 o'clock.

Last week, in a two game series with the Chico State varsity, the Sacramento team won a game and lost one. This record makes the junior college outfit stand out, for Chico State will be remembered as the school which last year won the Far Western conference basketball crown.

Coleman, in giving his view of the prospects of the first game, said, "The prospects are that we will take a good, sound licking."

He added that if his outfit is beaten it will be due to the fact that it is meeting a superior team. Coleman stated that the frosh are still "green," but they will give a good account of themselves.

The starting lineup will consist of former Nevada high school basketball aces and California prep school boys who made enviable records on the coast. Coleman will probably start Cobeaga, Lemich or Donovan at guards. The forwards will be Lee Conway and Edwards. Emory Conway is the most likely starter at center.

Coleman said that his squad was weakened considerably when grades came out. Some of his most likely looking candidates were declared ineligible at the end of the semester.

Ten of the games on the frosh schedule this year will be played on the home court. There are thirteen games left on the schedule.

Coach Coleman said that the schedule is subject to change, and that there is a possibility of games with Carson and Yerington, to be played on the university court.

FORWARD

CROFT

A member of last year's Wolf Pack, Dean Croft may get to see some action tonight against the U. S. F. Dons. Although he did not accompany the Peck on the Rocky Mountain tour, Dean has an eye for the basket and can give a good account of himself.

Aggie Club Plans Meeting Wednesday

Arrangements for stock judging trips and plans for the semester will be made at a meeting of the Aggie club next Wednesday, Archie Albright, president of the group, stated today.

In the first major ski meet ever held in Nevada, University of Nevada's powerful ski club overwhelmed the representatives of four colleges to place first with 399 points out of a possible 400.

The meet, which was held last Saturday and Sunday, took place on the snowy slopes of Mt. Rose, just above Galena Creek.

Nevada's snow men won the jumping event running away, with Carl Becholdt, Jack Starrett, James Worden and Don McMeekin of Nevada placing first, second, third and fifth.

In the downhill event Earl Edmunds of Nevada won by coming down the course in 26.3 seconds, while Carl Becholdt tied Pease of Stanford for fifth, each completing the course in 30.2 seconds.

Nevada won the crosscountry grind, with James Worden placing first in 16 minutes and 29 seconds, while Ed Rose and Earl Edmunds tied for second, each completing the distance in 16 minutes and 39 seconds.

In the slalom, Nevada slipped down to second honors, with Fanning and Edmunds trying for the position.

STILL "TOPS"... after 31 Years As a Tobacco Auctioneer

Veteran Jim Edwards tells why tobacco experts prefer Luckies 2 to 1...

"I recently sold 489,000 pounds of tobacco in one 6 1/2 hour day," says Mr. J. N. Edwards of Farmville, North Carolina.

"There was a buyer, naturally, for every one of those 489,000 pounds... But there was as much difference between the best grades and the inferior, as between a pretty girl and a homely one.

"At auction after auction, I've seen Lucky Strike go after the prettiest lots of tobacco. It's no wonder Luckies taste so good. I've smoked them since 1917.

"And another thing... even after yelling out tobacco bids all during a seven hour day, Luckies are still just as easy as ever on my throat."

Only Lucky Strike offers you the finest tobacco plus the throat-protection of the exclusive process "It's Toasted". This process takes out certain irritants found in all tobacco—even the finest.

Men who know tobacco from A to Z—experts like Mr. Edwards—are surely good judges of cigarettes... Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.

Lectures Planned For Women's Course

Plans have been made by Mrs. Mae Simas, physical education professor, to have three representative leaders of the main social groups of girls to talk to her education 56 class in Scoutcraft.

During the week of January 17, Mrs. Fechter, an itinerant director of Girl Scouts, will stop in Reno on her way to the northwest from New York. She will conduct a series of lectures to the class in Scoutcraft. She plans to return to the Rocky Mountain district in April to assist Mrs. Mary Jane Littlefield, who was here last fall.

Plans are being made to have a campfire leader or director lecture to the class about February 1. She will give the aims and principles of that group.

Mrs. Elsie Sult of the Reno Y.W.C.A. will lecture on the work of the Girl Reserves on February 21 and 28.

The purpose of these lectures is to acquaint the women with the various fields which they may enter as professionals should they desire to work with girls of adolescent age.

Graduate Accepts Position in School

Gladys Blair, who graduated from the University of Nevada at the end of the fall semester, will leave shortly to teach in the Baker high school.

Miss Blair will replace Miss Dorothy Roseberry, who resigned to accept a position in the Lovelock schools after having taught at Baker for the past two years. Miss Blair was the honored guest at a dinner at the Delta Delta house last evening.

Forty High Schools Are Sent Rules Of Contest

Letters of instruction concerning the annual high school poetry contest sponsored by Chi Delta Phi were sent to some 40 high schools this week by Margaret Turano, chairman of the contest.

Every high school in the state has been invited to participate. Poems are to be no longer than 30 lines in length and may be written about any subject. Any person entering may submit as many pieces of poetry as desired.

Cups for first and second place award will be presented in conjunction with the forensic tournament to be held late in the spring.

All entries will be sent directly to Miss Turano, who will turn them over to a committee of Chi Delta Phi members and members of the English department staff for judgment.

Dr. G. Montague Butler, director of the Arizona School of Mines, will be the featured speaker at a Crucible club meeting next Wednesday, Richard Thornmeyer, president of the club, announced today.

Dr. Butler, who is also chairman of the E.C.P.D. accrediting committee, will speak under the auspices of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, which arranges for prominent speakers to appear at state universities.

Thornmeyer stated today that although Dr. Butler has not revealed the topic of his lecture, it would likely be of interest to many students. Anyone interested can attend the talk, which will be given in the Mining building at 7:30 p. m.

Contest Deadline Extended to Jan. 22

The deadline for the Camera club photo competition has been extended one week so the contest will close Saturday, January 22, instead of tomorrow.

The closing date was changed in order to give everyone a chance to enter pictures, especially those who have recently become interested in the contest.

All pictures should be taken to the Artemisia office.

J. A. Brockman, Reno photographer, will be the first of a series of authorities to lead a discussion with the camera fans next Thursday night. Brockman has a group of 50 colored slides to show the group. He will offer explanations of the slides and offer points on photography.

The Camera club meets in room 203 of the Education building every other Thursday night.

2 Nevada Grads Die During Week

Two persons well known on the University of Nevada campus died during the last week.

Mrs. M. E. Porter, well known on the campus for many years, died this week near Oakland, Calif. She served as matron at the campus hospital for 25 years.

Mrs. Porter's son is a former student of the University of Nevada's college of engineering and is employed in southern California.

Funeral services and cremation took place at Oakland Tuesday afternoon.

Susie K. Inings, Sparks librarian and stenographer for the past two years, died this week at her home at 622 Eighth street in Sparks. Miss Inings attended the University of Nevada for two years. A native of Texas, she came to Nevada 32 years ago, making her residence in Ely, where she graduated from high school. Later, she moved to Sparks and attended the university.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at Ross-Burke funeral home.

Gianella Is Elected As Fellow in Society

Doctor Vincent P. Gianella, professor of geology, recently was honored by being elected a fellow in the Geology Society of America, at its annual meeting in Washington, D.C.

Membership to the society is limited to those working in geology, doing research work, and making contributions to this science. Membership in the organization is highly regarded.

He was recently given a grant of funds by the society to complete geology work on piedmontite, on which he had previously started investigations in the Peavine and Antelope mountain regions, north of Reno.

Dr. Gianella has also been recently appointed collaborator in seismology by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey. His work will be to gather information regarding earthquakes, which will be sent to the San Francisco coast survey office for study and distribution.

Because he saw his niece smoking a cigarette, J. C. Baring of Leeds, England, canceled a $50,000 bequest to her in his will.

GRACE AND FORM IS SHOWN BY YOUNG SKATER

Although smaller than the numerous skaters who have been enjoying Manzanita's frozen surface for the last two weeks, a little girl has attracted the attention of the university people more than once with her grace and skill on the ice.

In an interview with a member of the Sagebrush she bashfully proclaimed that she was Irene Anderson and that she had been skating since she was three years old, which, including the present day, would make about five seasons all told. She learned to skate on Manzanita lake, saying that she liked it there better than any place else in Reno "cause all I have to do is walk across the lawns at the university and—here I am!" She aspires to be a second Sonja
