To be eligible to compete for the prize, the thesis submitted must be from 1500 to 3000 words in length and must be submitted to the president of the university before May 2 in typewritten form, but without any name or indication of the writer. A sealed envelope will accompany the thesis containing the writer's name and address.

Former Student Is Seriously Ill

Not one injury or case of illness was reported at the university hospital this week.

For the past several weeks there have been a number of injuries and cases of illness.

John Benson, Nevada graduate and member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, is seriously ill with pneumonia at St. Mary's Hospital.

Pre-Meds To Honor Dr. Peter Frandsen

Dr. Peter Frandsen, thirty-eight years a faculty member of the University of Nevada and head of the department of biology, will be honored guest of the Omega Mu Iota, pre-med fraternity, at a banquet to be held at the Golden Hotel April 20, Leo Doyle, head of the fraternity, announced this afternoon.

In recognition of Dr. Frandsen's outstanding services, Dean R. C. Thompson, department of philosophy head, will present a plaque inscribed with the names of alumni and members of Omega Mu Iota, a dedicatory preamble will be given by Dr. S. Allan Lough, associate professor of chemistry.

The plaque, which was recently completed, is constructed five feet in height and one and one-half feet in width. At the top of the panel is engraved the insignia of Omega Mu Iota, and underneath this inscription is a 600-yard dedication to Dr. Frandsen. Small bronze plates upon which are engraved the names of about 125 persons who did undergraduate work under Dr. Frandsen, and who are now practicing animal zoology, completes the plaque.

The end of this school year marks the end of Dr. Frandsen's thirty-eight year on the campus, and a long career devoted to the interests of his chosen profession, animal zoology.

Frandsen, whose efforts gained the University of Nevada's biology and pre-medical departments' high ratings, was one of the founders of Omega Mu Iota, and has attracted national recognition through his scientific research work.

Born in Vilslev, Denmark, Frandsen's parents immigrated to this country in 1879 and settled at Verdi, Nevada, where Dr. Frandsen first attended school. In 1891, Frandsen entered the University of Nevada, where he was prominent in student activities. He graduated from the university in 1895 and in the fall of 1896 entered Harvard. Two years later he received an A. B. degree and a year later was granted a master's degree. He held a teaching fellowship at Harvard for two years.

In 1900, Frandsen returned to Nevada, becoming assistant professor of zoology and bacteriology at the university. In 1902 he was made associate professor, and in 1903 assumed full professorship. Dr. Frandsen became head of the department and professor of biology in 1906.

Author of nearly twenty publications on hygiene, physiology, animal behavior and zoology, Dr. Frandsen has been director of the Nevada Public Health Association for several years. In 1924, in recognition of his scientific and teaching work, Professor Frandsen was given a doctor of laws degree by the University of Nevada. Dr. Frandsen has been a pioneer in the hygiene-laboratory movement, beginning this work in 1900, when he assumed the duties of consulting biologist at the university experimental station staff and lecturer for the farmer institutes.

Leader of the campaign to make Reno a cleaner city, Dr. Frandsen has been active in several city organizations for the promotion of public health and sanitation. He has been chairman of the Knights of Pythias, is a member of the Lions' Club and other civic-minded bodies.

A fellow in the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Frandsen is also a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Pi Gamma Mu, the national social science honor society, the Western Society of Naturalists, the National Genetic Association, the American Social Hygiene Association, and has been a member of the National Geographic Society and a contributor to the National Geographic Magazine. During the World War he was instructor in military hygiene for the students' army training corps. He volunteered for active service and was accepted for duty with the Sanitary Corps about the time of the armistice.

Among the distinguished alumni doctors expected to attend, Reno physicians at the banquet will be Drs. Hood, Caffarata, Samuels, Sullivan, Harper, Cantlon, Lombardi and Corveno.

Chairman in charge of the plaque presentation is Charles Turner. Louis Nash is vice-president, Barbara Ferron, secretary and Doyle, president of Omega Mu Iota.

Columbia U. Prof. Will Speak Here

Dr. Victor K. LaMer, professor of chemistry at Columbia University, will speak on some phase of "Heavy Water" on April 26 at 7:30 p. m. in the Education building auditorium, Dr. George Sears announced last night.

Dr. LaMer is a nationally known authority on the properties of hydrogen and other chemical substances.

He has discussed this subject in many eastern colleges and universities and at present is on a tour of the western states, lecturing under the auspices of the American Chemists' Society.

New Scholarship Will Be Presented Journalism Major

Nevada State Press Ass'n. To Give First Award At Graduation

A new annual scholarship in journalism, established by the Nevada State Press Association, was announced this week by A. L. Higginbotham, professor of journalism.

Purpose of the award, he said, is to "assist and encourage worthy and promising Nevada students preparing for the profession of journalism."

First recipient of the new award, which is in the sum of fifty dollars, will be chosen in the next few weeks and will hold the honor for the next university year. Announcement of the recipient will be made at commencement, along with the other annual awards.

The Press Association scholarship is the second at Nevada for journalism students, the other being the William S. Lunsford scholarship in journalism established several years ago by Harry Frost and Ethel Lunsford, both graduates of the University of Nevada.

Requirements
The student to receive the press group award must be a graduate of a Nevada high school, registered in the course of journalism or majoring in journalism, have revealed talent in this field, have shown proficiency and earnestness in the courses in journalism, have attained the grade required by the university for graduation, be at least in part self-supporting and normally must be a junior or senior for the year the scholarship is held.

The recipient will be selected by the professor of journalism and the award will be made by the committee on scholarships and prizes.

Aids Student
Professor Higginbotham yesterday said he is pleased by the establishment of the scholarship, not only because it will aid a worthy student preparing for journalism, but because it expresses the confidence of the newspapermen of the state in the training in journalism at Nevada.

The qualifications required of the recipient were laid down by the executive committee of the association, which consists of Warren L. Monroe, the president, of the Elko Independent; Denver S. Dickerson, vice-president, the Carson Chronicle; J. R. McCloskey, secretary-treasurer, the Mineral County Independent; A. R. Hopkins, Goldfield News and Weekly Tribune; Vail M. Pittman, Ely Daily Times, and Chris H. Sheerin, Elko Daily Free Press.

Monroe and Sheerin are Nevada journalism graduates, while Dickerson also studied journalism at this institution.

College Who's Who Lists 13 Students

Ten prominent University of Nevada students are listed in the 1937-38 "Who's Who Among College Students," which made its appearance on the campus this week.

Listed in the publication are Richard Taw, Lew Young, Max Jensen, John Brackett, Bette Naismith, Nina Bozkiewicz, Ross Morris, Kathleen Meeks, Winifred Hiltonen, Kirk Fairhurst, Alice Sauer, Jessie McClure and Norma Anderson.

The book is published in University, Alabama, and prominent students in colleges all over the United States are listed in the directory.

Included in the publication are short biographical sketches of the students and their respective colleges.

Faculty Schedules Final Semester Meet

A general faculty meeting of the University of Nevada faculty will be held next Tuesday, April 19, it was announced today by Dean Maxwell Adams, acting president.

The meeting will primarily be held to round up final reports of investigating committees that have been appointed during the year. A final report on the term examinations is expected to be given.

The last meeting of the general faculty will be held some time before the end of the semester, and the names of graduating seniors will be considered.

Harry Galloway Elected Captain Scabbard & Blade

Honorary Major Will Receive Miniature Saber At Last Student Meet

Harry Galloway, junior Aggie student from Susanville, was elected to head Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society, at a meeting of the organization held last night. Galloway succeeds Basil Kehoe to the position of captain of the group.

Other officers elected to head the organization for the coming year are John Barrett, first lieutenant; Ben Cardinal, second lieutenant, and Harry Morriston to the post of sergeant.

During the business meeting of the group, it was decided to hold the annual Scabbard and Blade banquet on April 21. The dinner will probably be held at the El Cortez Hotel.

It was also decided that the miniature saber annually presented to the honorary major will be presented to Elizabeth Osborn at the last student body meeting of the year, which will be held at 11:25 on April 29.

It was announced that three medals will be presented to the three members of the men's rifle team who gave the best performances during the past school year. The medals will be presented at the annual R. O. T. C. inspection.

Senior Pilgrimage Speakers Selected

Graduating seniors, in caps and gowns, will make the traditional senior pilgrimage Thursday, May 5.

Prominent campus spots have been chosen by the senior committee as places for various seniors to deliver final addresses.

The following program was released this week by Kenneth Tedford, head of senior week.

Campus spots and speakers are: Student Union building, Richard Taw, A. S. U. N. president; bulletin board, Charles Doherty, chairman of senior week program; senior bench, Elizabeth Naismith, A. W. E. president; Haseman-Jones Memorial bench, Jessie McClure; Mackay Field, John Robb, Block N president; engineers' bench, Llewellyn Young, president of Associated Engineers; Morrill Hall, Max Jensen, graduate manager; tram, Winifred Hiltonen, women's co-editor of Sagebrush; library, Alice Sauer; Mackay Statue, Clyde Keegel.

Publication Heads Chosen Next Week

Publication heads for the Sagebrush and Artemisia for the 1938-39 school year will be chosen and announced next week, Max Jensen, chairman of the publications board, said today.

New editors and business managers, in compliance with the A. S. U. N. constitution, are announced the week following student body elections. Newly elected officials will not assume their duties of both publications until books for the current school year are closed.

Members of publications board, which makes the selections, are Sam Wilson and Ted Olds, Artemisia representatives; John Brackett and Willis Dalzell, Sagebrush representatives, and Winifred Hiltonen, Bob Miller and Max Jensen (chairman), chosen from the student body at large.

Pan-Hel Tea Will Be Held After Easter

The Pan-Hellenic tea scheduled for this week was postponed because of a case of mumps in Manzanita.

The tea, which is given by the outgoing members in honor of the new ones, will be held in Manzanita Hall after Easter. Rushing rules for next year will be discussed.

Mary Bozkiewicz is in charge of the tea.

The Associated Students of the University of Nevada today selected David Goldwater, Sigma Nu, to govern them as the president of the A. S. U. N. for the 1938-39 school year.

Goldwater defeated Ross Morris, Lincoln Hall Association, in the final election held from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. today by 332 to 274 vote.

The race for sophomore class manager was decided today with Jim DuPratt winning a clear-cut but close victory over Joe McDonald. DuPratt's 113 votes had a majority over McDonald's 86.

In the final vote for senior class manager, Fran Breen, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, was chosen over Bill Goodin, Sigma Nu. Breen received 63 votes to lead Goodin's 52. Ted Ashworth, Beta Kappa, and Ken Dimock, Lambda Chi, were eliminated in the primaries.

Anyone candidate for an office was clearly elected in Tuesday's primaries. Clifford Quilici, Sigma Nu, was elected junior class manager with 65 votes.

Constitution Accepted
The revised A. S. U. N. constitution was almost unanimously accepted in Monday's election when 531 students voted to accept it intact. Only 84 objecting votes were cast. The constitution has been in process of being revised and reorganized throughout the past school year by a special committee appointed from the student senate.

Previous to the general election, Bob McLeod, Phi Sigma Kappa; Duncan Dorsey, Sigma Phi Sigma, and Hudson Lee, Alpha Tau Omega, were eliminated from the running, with Lee taking 117 votes to run closest to the leaders.

Succeeds Taw
The new president succeeds Richard Taw and will probably take his oath of office at the last student body meeting of the year on April 29.

Goldwater is a junior arts and science student from Reno, and has been especially prominent in debating and dramatic circles. He is a member of Campus Players and Mask and Dagger, campus dramatic societies, and is also a member of the Artemisia editorial staff. He is affiliated with the Sigma Nu fraternity.

The election had an exceptionally heavy vote compared with past years and, although it was a tight race between Morris and Goldwater throughout the primary and general elections, the ugly rumors of "combines" which have haunted past elections were conspicuous by their absence.

"Sagebrush Hymn" Concert Feature
A new hymn, written by two University of Nevada faculty members, will be a featured part of the program when Brahms' "Requiem" is presented the latter part of this month, it was learned today.

Titled the "Sagebrush Hymn," the piece was composed by Professor T. H. Post, head of the music department, and Captain Henry W. Isbell, assistant professor in the military department. Captain Isbell wrote the words, which were later to music by Professor Post.

Musical will be played by the University-Community Little Symphony Orchestra when the song is sung by the university singers, Professor Post, conductor of the program, said. "If the composition meets with favor," Professor Post said, "it will be played during commencement exercises this spring."

Irwin to Speak At A. A. U. U. Meet

The Nevada chapter of the American Association of University Professors will hold a meeting and a banquet tomorrow night at the El Cortez Hotel.

The meeting will probably be the last held this semester, Associate Professor Ralph A. Irwin, secretary of the association, announced.

Speaker at the meeting will be Professor Irwin. His talk will be concerned with the "Mental Tests in Use at the University of Nevada."

The ball will be held May 6 and is under the head of Don McMeekin, member of the SAE fraternity.

Assisting McMeekin are Barbara Ferron, Jean Rice, Jeanette Hutchins, Ted Ashworth, Leo Foster and Hudson Lee.

University Skiers Enter Final Meet

Nevadans Favored in Jumps; Norden Site of Meet

Given better than an even chance of taking first honors, members of the university ski team will enter in their last intercollegiate contest of the year when they compete in the Vanderbilt trophy meet at Norden, California, this week-end.

Sponsored by the University of California, the invitational meet is held in honor of a California boy who was killed while skiing in the Sierras last summer. All leading ski teams of the western district are invited to attend.

Events will be run off Saturday and Sunday, according to word received here today. Slalom and cross-country events will take place Saturday, while the downhill and jumping will be held Sunday.

With Carl Bechdolt, Jr., who recently won the California class B jumping crown, rated as favorite, the Nevada team is ranked as favorite to sweep the jumps. In addition to Bechdolt, the Wolves have Edmunds and Starratt, who are sure point earners in this event.

According to previous season performances, the Wolves have been weak in the cross-country, but familiarity with snow conditions in the Sierras may give them an edge in this department. Worden, Bechdolt, Rose, Fanning and West are possible entries in this event, and are conceded chances to win points.

Paced by Bechdolt, Edmunds and Worden, the Nevada contingent will enter a strong team in the slalom and downhill events. Fanning, Rose, Starratt and West are all possible entries in these events.

Initiation Planned By Women's Group

Initiation for four new members of Cap and Scroll, women's honorary service group, will be held April 20 and a banquet will be held on the same evening at the El Cortez Hotel.

Those recently elected into the organization are Eunice Beckley, Gamma Phi Beta; Charlotte Caton, Pi Beta Phi; Gertrude Polander, Pi Beta Phi, and Betty Kornmayer, Delta Delta Delta.

The ceremonies will be held in the office of Dr. J. E. Church in Morrill Hall, and Winifred Hiltunen, president of the group, aided by Norma Anderson, will conduct the ritual.

Election of officers will take place at the banquet and a president, marshal and secretary-treasurer will be chosen.

Dean Margaret E. Mack, Eva Adams, alumni of the group, and Dr. Church, sponsor, will be guests at the affair at the hotel.

Plans will be made at the meeting for the annual Blue Key-Cap and Scroll tea which will be held at the Alpha Tau Omega house during commencement week.

BETA SIGNS ENTERTAIN

The active chapter of Beta Sigma Omicron entertained in honor of their mothers at the Riverside Hotel on Saturday at a beautifully appointed luncheon.

The honored guests were presented with corsage bouquets. Miss Georgia Cooper, president of the sorority, introduced the new alumni president.

Miss Cooper also announced that a tea would be held in honor of E'Lois Campbell and Eleanor Gardella, graduating seniors, on April 30. Mrs. Alice B. Marsh, faculty advisor, spoke on the democratic activities and ideals of sorority women.

Get the "hello" habit.

Creditable Showing Made By Debaters

Nevada's forensic squad again made a creditable showing for itself at the annual Western States tournament which was held last week-end at Stockton, California.

Robert Joy, orator, advanced to the semi-final round of that event before he was eliminated in the tournament. He spoke on "Monopolies" and was in three rounds.

David Goldwater, entered in the extempore speaking contest, survived the first two rounds, but was eliminated in the semi-finals.

The two debate squads composed of Francis Breen and Homer Herz, Lee McCuddin and David Goldwater each debated eighteen times in the tournament and won twelve of the same matches. They were eliminated before the finals, which were held Saturday night.

Eunice Beckley and Kathryn Devlin, members of women's debate team, met six colleges before they were eliminated. Among the colleges they met were Redlands College, which will go to the national debate tourney at Topeka, Kansas; University of Southern California; College of Pacific and Pasadena Junior College.

Margaret Heitman and Elizabeth Osborn are going to Los Angeles for the holidays.

Woodward Named Manzanita Head

Mildred Woodward, junior home economics student, accepted her duties as new president of Manzanita Association Monday night at the final meeting of the group this semester.

Helen Shovlin, newly-elected senator from the "maize" group, left Monday for Pullman, Washington, where she will attend a three-day convalesce of the A. W. S.

Miss Shovlin will be chairman of the A. W. S. executive board next year. By ruling of the revised A. W. S. constitution, the chairmanship will revolve among the coed Greek groups, Manzanita Hall Association and the "Barbs," according to founding dates on this campus. Manzanita Hall Association has the seniority.

Reveau Hasen assumed her duties as vice-president, Betty Johnson as secretary and Marjorie Davin as treasurer of Manzanita Monday night.

Senior Is Given Teaching Position

Ruth Rowe, senior, was informed this week that she has been accepted as a teacher in the Pi Beta Phi settlement school. She will teach in the elementary grades.

The Settlement School is located in Gatlinberg, Tennessee. The school is also the scene of the coming Pi Beta Phi convention this summer.

Constitution Copy Hung in Library

A six-foot shrine holding photostatic copies of the United States Constitution, the Declaration of Independence and pictures of the signers of the documents, which was presented to the university during the Gift Day ceremonies some time ago, is now in the university library.

The shrine was presented to the university by Mrs. Lillie Clinedinst, national chairman of the Americanization work for the United Spanish War Veterans and Auxiliaries. It holds the copies in glass covered leaves which swing from the pedestal and carries a plaque on which are the names of donor and donee, and the date of presentation, February 22, 1938.

Nominations Opened For Engineer Prexy

Nominations for the presidency of the Associated Engineers opened yesterday. Election will take place Wednesday, April 20.

All members of Associated Engineers who will be upperclassmen next year are eligible, President Llewellyn Young said.

No definite arrangements have been made yet, Young said.

Y. W. Supper Declared Success By New Prexy

The waffle supper sponsored by Y. W. C. A. at the Pi Beta Phi house Sunday was hailed by President Gene Wines as "quite a success."

"The supper was more successful than any breakfast has been. The fraternal groups on the campus were well represented," she said.

There will be no more Y. W. suppers this semester because of the number of picnics and other social functions of the near future. Next semester the suppers will feature other menus.

The members of Y. W. who are remaining in Reno for vacation will attend church in a body Easter morning.

There was no cabinet meeting this week.

Skiers Are Awarded Circle N Sweaters

Circle N sweaters for six members of the University of Nevada ski team were authorized by Finance Control yesterday.

Men who will receive the awards are Ed Rose, Carl Bechdolt, James Worden, Don Fanning, Jack Starratt and Earl Edmunds. Fanning, Rose and Starratt are receiving sweaters with three stripes, while Edmunds' award will carry two stripes. Bechdolt and Worden earned their first award in competition this year.

Harriet Swackhammer will spend the vacation at her home in Battle Mountain.

Coleman to Give Athletic Theory At National Meet

Track Coach and Scranton Leave For Salt Lake City Conclave

How to determine an athlete's speed and ability by a series of tests and mathematical calculations will be discussed by Coach James Coleman early next week, when he attends the national convention of the American Physical Education Union in Atlanta, Georgia.

Coleman, accompanied by Professor Chester Scranton, left today to attend the southwest district conference of this union in Salt Lake City. With meetings scheduled to begin tomorrow, the conference will last until Friday, after which Coleman will journey to Atlanta.

Speed Theory

Coleman is presenting his "theory of speed" at the national convention by request of other coaches. He said yesterday. The theory which he will present this year will follow about the same pattern as the one he advanced at last year's physical education meet held in Fresno. How fast a trackman can run was the subject last year, and computations of his paper this year, which is titled "Some Primary Factors in Track and Field Events," include the athlete's potentialities in the shotput, broad jump and high jump.

"Predictions by this method are right about 80 per cent of the time," Coleman said, "although the study is as yet an unfinished piece of work."

Factors which determine ability in the running broad jump, Coleman stated, are speed, 60 per cent; ability to start fast, 25 per cent; and strength is 15 per cent. In the high jump, strength counts 47 per cent, speed 37 per cent, ability to start fast 17 per cent. Excessive weight will detract as much as 20 per cent, according to his figures. Although computations for the shotput are not complete, Coleman estimates that strength counts 58 per cent, speed 37 per cent, and an intangible factor about 5 per cent.

Senior Life Saving Corps will honor men and women receiving their life saving certificates at a meeting of the group Wednesday, April 20, at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

Dan Renear, downtown business man, has been asked to show moving pictures, but is not certain that he will be able to do so.

Discussion will be held concerning a picnic for members of the corps some time this semester, Gene Wines, president, said.

Veronika Pataky, Hungarian concert dancer, was brought to the University of Nevada from San Francisco last Saturday afternoon by the women's physical education department to attend the Dance Play Day.

Miss Pataky instructed P. E. instructors and several university women in the technique of dance.

Miss Pataky received her education from Mary Wigman in Dresden, Germany. She was a member of the Mary Wigman concert dance group before coming to the United States.

Mrs. Mae Simas and Katherine Schnell of the women's P. E. department; Frances Humphrey, Reno high school P. E. instructor, and James Coleman and Chester Scranton of the men's P. E. department left this morning for Salt Lake City, Utah, to attend the Southwest district conference of the physical education association.

3 Mining Students Accept Positions

Three senior mining engineering students have positions awaiting them, and several others will take the twelve-week Hunt field trip one week after graduation, Professor J. A. Carpenter announced this week.

John Burgess has accepted a position of geologist with a copper company in Ely.

Ted Olds will survey for a Comstock company.

Hal Lang will enter a factory training school of Ingersoll Rand, which will lead to a sales engineering position.

Those who will take the Hunt trip will be chosen early this week.

Faculty Aids Placing

"The faculty of the Mackay School of Mines spends much time placing their graduates, finding new positions for alumni and finding summer jobs for students," Carpenter said.

"Success of this work is one reason for the greatly increased enrollment in the Mackay School of Mines and in the number of graduates. Twenty years ago there were no graduates; ten years ago there were six. This year sixteen, the largest class in the history of the university, are expected to graduate. Last year the class numbered fifteen.

Recession in Mining

"With greatly increased activity in mining last year, fifteen graduates were placed with operating companies on graduation. This year, with marked recession in mining activity, it will take considerable effort to place the men, and the alumni will be called upon for aid," Carpenter explained.

Frosh Basketball Sweaters Ordered

Numeral sweaters for nine members of the freshman basketball team were ordered this week by Max Jensen, executive secretary. Numerals were also ordered for ten other members of the yearling squad.

Three freshmen—Mitchell Cobeaga, William Andres and John Lemich—will be awarded numerals, although they were eligible for sweaters. These students were awarded sweaters for competition in football, and according to award rules, may receive only one sweater.

Receiving sweaters are Lee Barrett, Emery Conoway, Lee Conoway, Victor Donovan, Richard Edwards, Nick Evascovic, James Gibbs, Ralston Hawkins and Robert Taylor. Numerals will be given to G. Basta, D. Birch, D. Downs, G. Oshima, L. Pettingill, G. Questa, M. Stewart, M. Cobeaga, W. Andrews and J. Lemich.

OLD ELM TREE BOASTS UNIQUE HISTORY

New arrival on the University of Nevada campus is a fourteen-year-old elm tree with a unique history.

The tree, for many years a familiar sight in front of the Elks' Home on First street, has been moved with a sister tree, a hard maple, to the west side of Lincoln Hall.

The elm has grown from a cutting from the original Washington elm at Cambridge, Massachusetts. It was planted in front of the Elks' Home fifteen years ago by J. C. Kumble, now secretary of the home. There is only one other such tree in the United States, he said.

Building changes on the lot in front of the home necessitated the removal of the tree, and Kumble, not wishing to see the tree destroyed, had it given to the university.

The maple tree that accompanied it to the campus is one of the few true hard maples in the city and is often especially noticed for its beautiful fall foliage.

Future Farmers End Meet Tonight

A banquet this evening will climax the three-day meeting of the Nevada members of the Future Farmers of America at the University of Nevada.

Over 300 high school students from different sections of the state have been attending the meeting.

Monday, Dr. Maxwell Adams, acting president, and Dr. Robert Stewart, dean of agriculture, officially welcomed the delegates following their registration.

Judging contests were held yesterday and today and last evening the public speaking contest held in the auditorium of the State building was won by Ray Sorenson of Fallon.

The election of officers for the coming year and the awarding of prizes to winners of the contests concluded the session.

FASHION TIPS

By JANE FRISBIE

What kind of a hat to buy for Easter, and what to pack to take home for the vacation seems to be our major problem at the moment.

You can truck down the main street Sunday in a dignified fashion in anything, just so it's young and frothy and full of feminine ideas about spring and love and young men's fancies.

And the young men definitely fancy hats with any of the veils, just so they aren't draped from your crown to your knees. Get one that ties under your chin and you can bewitch the toughest "lady killer" in town, and even the demure old ladies who sit in the back pew will approve!

If necessary, tuck the Easter lily your father sent your mother over your right eyebrow (particularly if you have a yen for the sensational)! We could write pages on how to pack and what to pack for a few days of fun and nonsense, but even if we did you'd be sure to leave something you need here, and you'll

The point of the whole thing seems to be that you have an extra special good time with as little fatigue as possible. At any rate, when we see you on Monday we hope you'll be as fresh and sweet and demure as you were when you left—if you know what we mean!

has something to say about how different cigarettes can be!

"How about it, Joe, do you find that Camels are different from other cigarettes?"

"Any all-cigarettes-are-alike talk doesn't jibe with my experience. There's a big difference. I've smoked Camels steadily for 5 years, and found that Camel is the cigarette that agrees with me, in a lot of ways. Good taste. Mildness. Easy on the throat. And Camels don't give me jumpy nerves. Like a lot of people I know, I'd walk a mile for a Camel!"

"TOBACCO GROWERS FAVOR CAMELS FOR THEIR SMOKING!"

— is the majority opinion in a survey of successful, well-known tobacco planters

"When Camel says 'costlier tobaccos' I know it's right," says Mr. Edward Estes, capable young planter, who knows tobacco from the ground up because he grows it. "Take my last crop, for instance. Camel bought all the best parts—paid me the most I've ever gotten. The men who grow tobacco know what to smoke—Camels!"

"Last year I had the dandiest crop ever," says Mr. Roy Jones, another experienced planter who prefers Camels. "I smoke Camels because I know they bid higher and pay more at the auctions for the choice lots of leaf tobacco. They paid the highest price I ever got from anybody. Considering that Camel uses finer, costlier tobaccos, it's not surprising that Camel is the leading cigarette with us planters."

NEVADA STUDENTS CAN

be proud of the way the politics were handled on the campus during the elections this semester.

Taking the election as a whole, one would be safe in saying that, for the first time in a good many years, the old "combine" black mark was entirely eradicated.

Had a graduate of five or six years ago wandered on the campus and checked the situation, he probably would have been a little mystified at what might have appeared to him to be a decided lack of interest, or else a very smooth-working machine.

Our supposed grad would probably have decided that the machine was working to perfection. But he would have been wrong, because the conditions that he went to school under are gone, it is hoped, forever.

Nevada's transition from a politically corrupt institution to the well-behaved group of today did not take place in one year, but over a time of about four years.

The well-oiled campus political machines first faltered in 1934, when S. A. E. withdrew from the combine in power, throwing the campus into a turmoil. The remainder of the machine, however, stayed intact, despite campus announcements to the contrary. Included in this clique were A. T. O., Sigma Phi Sigma, Beta Kappa, Delta Delta Delta and Gamma Phi Beta, and at various times several other fraternities and sororities. The common practice was for a member that wasn't included in the spoils to withdraw in anger.

The following year, the combine lost still more of its prestige, but still managed to cling together enough to elect its candidate. Along with the big general combine, the coeds formed their own cliques to dominate women's affairs.

In last year's election, the word "combine" was said in a hushed breath, and although their existence was vehemently denied by Greek houses, they still functioned to a certain extent, whether from force of habit or by well-concealed "agreements."

Changes in student government and a general attempt to clean up the campus politics has resulted in the commendable condition this semester. The abolishment of the A. W. S. president's office has no doubt been a great force in eliminating the dirty politics, and in the minor politics, the vote by ballot in the manager's elections has been a decided improvement.

The school year so far has shown many improvements, but greatest of all, we can look with pride at a clean backyard.

THE NEW STUDENT BODY

president, along with ushering in a new administration today, will also usher in an attempt to destroy a disastrous tradition that grew up with each Greek letter men's organization desire to outdo one another when one of its members was elected to head the A. S. U. N.

In the past, it has been a strong-rooted tradition that after each student body election, it was the obligation of the house of which the winning candidate was a member to hold a free beer bust for the entire campus. It is easily seen by campus veterans that with each succeeding year these "busts" grew in intensity and in quantity until the amounts spent on the last few affairs averaged close to one hundred dollars.

Besides the expense of the "busts," the disturbances caused by drunken students did little to raise the prestige of the university with downtown people.

Thus, to rectify a festering situation, Blue Key and the men's upperclass committee this week, acting with the newly-elected president, have agreed to help sponsor a free dance to be held in the university gymnasium.

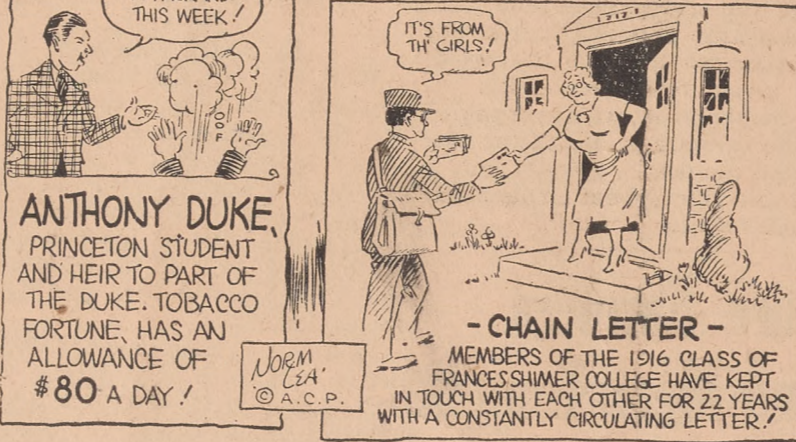

It was decided at a meeting of the fraternity presidents that the house whose man won the election would sponsor a three-hour social in the gym. The affair will be conducted under the supervision of the Blue Key organization, with the men's upperclass committee being held directly responsible for the whole affair.

Thus, tonight at the gym is being held the first of these socials, which the Sagebrush sincerely hopes will become an annual affair, doing away with an unfortunate situation.—D. K.

"BACK-STAGE NEVADA"

Prologue

Where the cry of a baby
On a sleeping night
Echoes and re-echoes far, far out
And dogs on sinewed haunches
Stare at dim, cold light
And whine and howl
Into deep vast silence
Before bedding down
With moist black noses
On hard padded paws
And where a man leaves his house
Before sky faces day
Tightening his thick, brown belt
While women turn and watch
And glow with understanding
As they recall their own man.
Where the large "jeaned-rump"
Of a healthy rolling bulk
Squats on nurtured soil
With drill and saltpeper
To ease the creeping pain
Of a crying tree.
While close by
Low grey ground warms and hugs
The cold steel hobs
On worn, tired passing boots.
And where the beards
On men long used
Appear musty as mold on bread
Long unbroken.

I

And far across
The day-tired lands
The slow rolling majestic Sierras
Rise and lie beneath bridal white
And in solemn peace they
Comfort the hill-children
As those little ones
Snuggle close for full, rich breasts.
And then their warm, contented sighs
Cool while tussling down snowy slopes
Then frolic gleefully out out out
Over the feverish desert
And moisten with soft, kind drops
The huge parched throat
And strengthen it for coming dawn.

II

And after the dawn
Slow forging clouds
Low over stretching desert
Forcing stifling gusts
Of perspiring air
Until the desert lies heavy
And drowns in deeping slumber
Awaiting the night.

III

Here perhaps someone's God
May sit quietly alone
And allow fine warm sands
To sift gently through His eager fingers.
And perhaps while here
That God may break long silence
And say beautiful, tender things
And tell secrets long sought by man:
But no one is there
For God is alone—
Only the desert knows
As it drifts, piling plenty around Him
Eager—eager—

IV

And yet so close,
But still so far
Beneath hand-soiled clouds
From black, long, repulsive stacks
Lies a city—block on block—
Heighth, width and length
Still unaware of the languid Truckee.

Except when in flood—
And then to fear—
And with a casual glance
That misses nothing, the city speaks:
"No clouds—that means no rain."

Epilogue

Turning, twisting,
Writhing in agony,
"Back-Stage Nevada,"
Running wildly, frantically
In all directions without direction,
Stumbles, falls, then screams:
"Oh, God, if You are there—
Somewhere—anywhere—
Tell them! Tell them!"
—JACK MORSE.

GOLD IN HILLS STILL LURES YOUNG AND OLD

The mention of "Thar's gold in them thar hills" still has the old magnetic appeal that "yars 'n yars" ago sent thousands of fortune seekers westward.

This is evidenced by the fact that each night along about 7:30, while the merry-makers are beginning the rounds of night life, another group, a crowd of over seventy-five persons, attends the prospectors' short course held in the Mackay School of Mines building.

Stirred by the old cry of there being "gold in them thar hills," over seventy-five business men, housewives, school children and even seasoned prospectors attend this annual educational feature to learn the "how" and "why" and so on about finding the yellow metal.

Presented by the state department of vocational education, the prospectors' short course is given in nearly every town throughout the state. Classes are held six nights each week for a period of three weeks.

The present class, the largest in the history of the course, will end tomorrow night.

Mary Alice Plath will accompany Mary Fox to her home in Glendale for the Easter holidays.

ED PINE

This week the penetrating rays of this powerful limelight have brought into view the lights of the life of one Edward Leonard Pine. (No, this is not a light matter.)

Edward, or "Ed," as the fellas all call him, has been one of the most outstanding members of the clan that hangs out on the east side of the campus.

From his home in Hawthorne, Nevada, he came to Nevada for two years, then wandered away for a while, but soon re-enrolled and picked up the "do or die for Nevada" spirit.

He played football during his freshman, sophomore and junior years and bounced about a bit on the junior varsity basketball squad.

He has been at the head of the table at civil engineers' meetings for the past year, is a member of the Associated Engineers and has served on the committees that have put over the Engineers' Day shows these last two years.

Because of his interest and diligent study in his chosen field he was issued a bid to Nu Eta Epsilon, honorary engineering society.

He has mixed in the affairs of the other side of the campus, too, having served two terms in the Inter-Frat Council, supervised this year's Bean Feed and is serving on the present Men's Upperclass Committee.

Since the days of assuming the angle for dear old Alpha Tau, he has come to the top at the house. He is the only man known to be re-elected to the office of president in the local ATO chapter.

He winds up his college career by serving on the senior gift committee and was just recently initiated into Coffin and Keys, men's secrete honorary society, which is considered one of the highest honors available.

LIBRARY TAKES "BEATING" FROM STUDENTS

Investigation into the situation in the university library has disclosed a number of abuses which are irksome in the extreme to Miss Thea C. Thompson, university librarian.

Damage to chairs in the library by students sitting on their arms has accounted for twenty-four chairs. Repairs have cost two dollars per chair.

"Ed" has the jump on the majority of the members of the senior class, for not only will he waddle down the aisle to get his sheepskin when he dons his cap and gown with the rest of his classmates, but he has a job—and a good one, too—waiting for him after the graduation exercises are over. He was awarded one of the positions offered annually by leading engineering concerns to outstanding graduates in that particular field.

It also has become evident that many students come to the library not to study, but to conduct the "affaires des coeur," Miss Thompson said.

Inasmuch as the library was a gift to the university, it should receive more consideration from the student body, in the opinion of Miss Thompson.

You've probably heard the terse messages between pilots and dispatchers that you can pick up on the short waves. Did you know their radio equipment is made by Western Electric—maker of Bell telephones? This "flying telephone" is standard equipment on all the major airlines.

Regular telephone facilities and the Teletype, which speeds printed weather reports to all airports, play an important part in airline operations. By continually meeting new communication needs, Bell System services contribute greatly to the success of many industries.

Merriman Is Still Missing in Spain

Missing since March '20, when Spanish insurgent forces swept through Tortosa, south of Barcelona, in a recent drive, Robert H. Merriman, chief of staff of the Abraham Lincoln brigade and Nevada graduate of 1932, is still unaccounted for, according to his wife, Marion Stone Merriman, '32, now in San Francisco.

Merriman, who was made head of the headquarters division of the Abraham Lincoln brigade of the international division two years ago, was in control of a key position for the Loyalist forces which were swept by heavy fire and taken by the insurgents in their recent drive.

Belief was held, however, that Merriman may have been captured by insurgents or had left the sector previous to its taking by General Francisco Franco's men.

An instructor of economics at the University of California, Merriman and his wife spent several years in Russia and recently he and his wife enlisted in the Spanish government army.

Director Carpenter Attends Conclave

Acting Director Jay Carpenter attended the annual meeting of the Mountain City Copper Company in Salt Lake City, Utah, last week-end to represent the University of Nevada, a stockholder in the company.

Twenty thousand shares of stock in the Mountain City Copper Company was given the University of Nevada by S. Frank Hunt to endow the Hunt foundation of the Mackay School of Mines.

Director Carpenter stated that he had lunch with three former school of mines students who were greatly interested in this year's Mackay Day celebration. The former students are Bert Cummings, '37; Ben Sheahan, '35, and Sam Arentz, '34.

Eleanor and Genevieve Gardella will spend the vacation at their home in Wadsworth.

Fine Arts Exhibits Oakland Club Sketches

The Fine Arts group showed the annual exhibit of the Oakland Sketch Club this week. Oils, water colors, charcoals and crayons were exhibited.

One of the striking pictures of the group is a lithograph crayon sketch by Richard Le May, showing the yacht club strikingly done in black and white.

A wooded scene by Harry Gittleston combines the rocks in this oil painting to give a natural mosaic effect. The steep, grass-covered bank blends with the inclining trees.

A lone fisherman at the wharf is the subject for a small water color by Norval L. Gill. The fact that it is shown on a large white background makes it different and effective.

An impressionistic interpretation of a quarry works done in Le Conte crayon by Albert Attwell shows what the modern artist can do with blurred lines.

The industrial district is literally depicted by Hazel Terry in three charcoals. The "poorer section" is completed in one picture and follows the public conception, even to the railroad tracks. The tree in the background looks neglected and starved.

A water color by Vincent Green of an old-fashioned sailing ship, keel view looking upward, is shown.

The Sketch Club is a student group from the California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland, California, interested in outdoor sketching.

Twenty-four pictures were shown.

Anita Jauregui is going to Elko for Easter.
Mary Read will visit at her home in Las Vegas over the vacation.

Ames Concludes Campus Lectures

"The United States weakened the League of Nations by failing to join," Sir Herbert Ames, Canadian diplomat, said Friday night in a speech that concluded a series presented last week in the auditorium.

He discussed the fact that Great Britain had hoped for the support of the United States when she agreed to give France protection in case of invasion. When the United States failed to sign, Great Britain felt unable to undertake the task alone.

Great Britain disapproves of Germany and Japan, but feels that she alone cannot resist, he said. Great Britain is saving her strength for the feared struggle with Germany, and for this reason is remaining apart from the wars in Spain and China.

Friday afternoon a "free for all" in the form of a round table discussion was held. A large group of students asked questions about the present situation in Europe.

Hir Herbert left Saturday for the University of Montana, where he will deliver a series of lectures.

Covey Wills is going to Sutter Creek over the vacation.

Barbs' Election To Be April 18

Felicia Moos, Dick Roche and Bob Defosset were nominated this week for the presidency of the Independents. Election will take place April 18.

More nominations will be accepted before that date, Max Jensen, ex-president, said.

For vice-president, Marie Varnon and Teletia Kim have been named. Marjorie Gregory, Ruby Nay and Margaret Records are running for secretary.

Nominees for treasurer are Fred Stone, Eleanor Goldsworthy and Conrad Martin.
Nominated for senator are Kathleen Meeks and Dick Roche.
