

'Messiah' Is Ready For Presentation Next Wednesday

Oratorio to Be Sponsored By Reno Chamber of Commerce

As a Christmas gift to the people of Reno and the surrounding communities, the Reno Chamber of Commerce will this year sponsor the presentation of Handel's "Messiah," by the Reno Choral Union, under the direction of Professor Theodore Post, instructor of music at the university. The program will be held in the Civic auditorium at 8:15 December 14. Admission is free.

The group of singers is composed of the Campus Choral Club, Reno Community Chorus, and the University Singers, who will be accompanied by the University-Community Little Symphony orchestra.

This will be the third presentation of the "Messiah" in Reno, the other two being given last year. Fifty of the cast of this year's program were in the other two presentations.

"The Reno Choral Union hopes to make the 'Messiah' a community tradition for each Christmas season," Post said. "The organization presented the Brahms' 'Requiem' last spring and will offer something new in the spring of 1939."

Faculty to Hear Sandorf Lecture

A lecture entitled "From the Wings of the Dove to the Wings of Ether," by Irving J. Sandorf, was the highlight of the monthly meeting of the Faculty Club held Tuesday evening in the Agricultural building.

The talk dealt with the development of communications with the use of electricity. Assisted by two students of electrical engineering, Professor Sandorf illustrated his speech through lantern slides and simple experiments.

Hosts and hostesses for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. William I. Smyth, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Palmer and Mr. Milan J. Webster.

Lost, Found Bureau Is Established At U. N.

All sorts of happenings come out of the registrar's office, bad and good, different and indifferent. And now, a new department has arisen from its depths—a lost and found bureau.

Mrs. Jeanette Rhodes stated that nearly everyone comes in looking for a lost pen or notebook, but asks that the owners of lady's purse and a wrist watch come and claim them before they are confiscated or sold at auction.

Connected with the "lost" department are the students who can't make up their minds as to whether they want to make up their delinquents (cinches to you) or leave their grades sink to lower levels by taking a grade of 5.

Mrs. Rhodes states that if you have any previous cinches, now is the time to make them up because all cinches must be removed before the end of this semester or a grade of 5 will be the only alternative. According to section 5, page 131, of the University of Nevada bulletin.

"A condition may be removed only during the next semester of residence after the condition was incurred. If a condition is not removed by the end of the first semester of residence thereafter, the registrar shall record a grade of 5. No disqualified student may be issued a permit to remove a condition. A student not in residence may receive a permit only by vote of the faculty. An application for the removal of a condition will not be accepted until a fee of $1.50 has been paid."

Observe Nevada traditions.

Director

Professor Theodore Post, head of the department of music, has again ready for presentation to the citizens of Reno, the Christmas oratorio, the "Messiah." This marks the second straight year that the Messiah has been produced, through the cooperation of civic and university musical groups. It is the plan of the groups to make the presentation of the oratorio an annual institution.

PLEASED TAMEETCHA...

Born in Carson City, Nevada, and a graduate of this university in 1926, Mr. Everett W. Harris, once again returns to the campus as an instructor in mathematics.

Soon after graduating from Nevada he moved back east where he received his B. S. in E. E. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1932.

Later he became connected with the General Electric Company and soon after took a better position with the Stone & Webster electrical company.

In 1933, after having had experience as technical engineer in Massachusetts, New York and Texas, he came back to Nevada to serve in the state department of highways as a draftsman and statistician until 1936, when he was given the post of office engineer.

While he attended school here on the campus, he was very active in social activities and belonged to the Sigma Nu social fraternity.

His main hobby is the securing of photographs through the microscope.

A meeting of the new Nevada Collegiate Chapter of the Future Farmers of America was held in the Agricultural building Wednesday evening. President Ferren Bunker presided.

Discussions were heard regarding activities of the group for the remainder of the year, and a tentative list was adopted as follows: Hold a banquet in conjunction with the Reno and Sparks High School F. A. chapters; have a budget submitted by finance committee; affiliate with state and national organizations, and co-operate in recreational activities with high school F. F. A. chapters.

The F. F. A. constitution was presented for approval, and was accepted by the group. A charter will be obtained as soon as possible, and those who will sign as charter members include Ferren Bunker, Elliot Lima, Jed Oxborrow, George Frey, Charles York, Chet Jacobsen, Anthony Belmont, Henry Wells, Julian Mapes, John Glomi, Deltr Stewart, Jack Wittwer, Leland Whipple and Mr. W. Engineers Present Picture on Steel Steel—Man's Servant," a sound-technicolor moving picture production, sponsored by the University of Nevada civil engineers, was presented at the Mackay Science lecture hall last evening.

The production consisted of a drama of steel-making from the steel mine to the product, and was the first sound-technicolor industrial film ever to be completed.

The steel drama featured the noted Bessemer steel-making process, the construction of bridges, automobiles and other servants of men. A special music score was composed for the picture and was recorded by an orchestra under the direction of Robert Armbruster, noted Hollywood director of music.

Edwin C. Hill, famous radio commentator, was the narrator.

Her (at prom)—Wait right here for me while I go powder my nose.

Possible Openings For Nevada Miners In Federal Bureau

J. E. Hoover Says Metal Critics Are Very Useful

To most of us it seems a far cry from hunting gold to chasing a fugitive from justice, but apparently J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigations, has a different idea.

In a letter to Dr. John A. Fulton, head of the Mackay School of Mines, Hoover stated that from time to time there were vacancies in the technical staff of its laboratories in Washington, and that a good number of openings occurred in the department for examining minerals and lists.

Build Up List

It is Hoover's wish to build up a list of applicants for positions in this field. He desires to obtain as high type individual as possible, and requests Dr. Fulton's aid in securing these men.

"It is my hope that you will bring to the attention of any outstanding graduates of your institution who may conceivably be interested in this type of work the fact that this bureau does from time to time employ such personnel."

"I want you to know that I shall have high consideration for any personal recommendations which you may care to submit concerning any such applicants."

No Applicants Yet

So far none of the mining students has succumbed to the "G-man" lure, but it appears that several of the boys are weakening.

So, have no fear if you find yourself "shadowed," or if you see some strange-looking individual seeing tracks under a sorority house window, for it's only some poor mineralogist turned criminologist.

Fine Arts Offer Painting Exhibit

An exhibit featuring a large group of marine paintings has been sponsored in the University of Nevada library by the Fine Arts group during the past week.

The paintings on display in the science room are those of Leon Lundmark, noted portrayer of sea life, whose works are on exhibit in The Louvre in Paris and also in the Metropolitan museum.

The exhibition will be concluded this Sunday and exhibition hours are from 2 to 4 and from 7 to 9 p. m. It is open to the public.

According to Margaret Hissman, president of the Fine Arts group, the organization is planning to exhibit the etchings of Cuts next week. However, she said, if the etchings are not available for next week, the group intends to bring them to the campus during the first part of the spring semester.

Twelve Delegates To Attend Conclave

To make students more receptive to religious problems of the day is the aim of the University of Nevada Y. W. C. A. and the campus religious organizations who are this year planning to send 12 delegates to the Student Christian meeting at Asilomar during the week beginning December 26.

Last year the entire membership at the convention was more than 600 students, entering from colleges large and small on the western coast.

Plans have been made by those in charge of this year's convention to add a student counselor committee, which will include faculty members of the different schools answering student questions and problems.

Mrs. Mae Simas, advisor of the Nevada Y. W. C. A. has been appointed a member.

Coed Archery Meet Finished This Week

Women's archery on the Nevada campus for the fall semester was completed this week, according to Lola Frazier and Felicia Moos, managers.

Inter-squad competition previous to the intercollegiate archery meet, to be held during the first part of February, started approximately three weeks ago in order that Nevada women will be in the best condition to compete against archers of other colleges.

Throughout the season Earlmond Baker has headed the group in points, and has proved her ability as a marksman.

This week's scores are: 24-inch target at 20 yards, Earlmond Baker, 236; Lola Frazier, 235; Dorothy Elkins, 179; Beverly Boles, 119.

Shooting at a 36-inch target at 20 yards: Earlmond Baker, 349; Lola Frazier, 325; Dorothy Elkins, 323; and Beverly Boles, 180.

Blue Peppers Given Membership Cards

Fifty-one Nevada coeds received certificates for charter membership in the Blue Peppers organization at the A. W. S. meeting today.

Pictures of the group were taken at the meeting by Mrs. Vera Sales, WPA supervisor of recreation for Nevada. Mrs. Sales said there was a possibility that the pictures will appear in one of the WPA publications.

The organization will continue its work as a "pep" group next semester by singing college songs at the basketball games.

Chi Delta Phi Election and Initiation Set for Next Semester

New members will be elected and initiated at the first and second meetings next semester of Chi Delta Phi, women's English society. Elizabeth D'Alessandro, president of the organization, reported today.

Present activities of the group includes the sponsoring of the annual high school poetry contest. Marjorie Davin is acting as chairman of the project this year, and awards for the contest will be made at the high school forensic meet in the spring.

Members of the group have been submitting articles for publication to Literature, national Chi Delta Phi magazine. The first issue of the magazine for this semester was released this month. Writings of Elizabeth D'Alessandro and Margaret Turano were published in the publication last year.

More Funds Needed For Y.W.C.A. Meet

In order for the Y. W. C. A. to send delegates to the Asilomar convention this winter, it will be necessary to raise more funds, Gene Wines, head of the organization, reported today.

Through the concessions at the football games this fall, the organization was able to raise but about one-third the cost of the trip.

"We are hoping that contributions will be made to the fund in order that our delegates may be sent to the convention," members of the group stated. Anyone wishing to aid the group is asked to give the money to Gene Wines, Y. W. C. A. president.

Women Students Hold Final Meet

Last meeting of the Associated Women Students was held this morning with Kathleen Starrett explaining the ski carnival to the students.

The complete program was read and the women were asked to cooperate to the fullest extent with the carnival committee so that the affair would be a success.

Sororities will be asked to have house decorations from snow to lend an atmosphere to the occasion. It is hoped that this carnival will become as big as the affair at Dartmouth.

At approximately the time the affair is to be held the A. W. S. will hold a fashion show featuring ski clothes. Virginia Johnson is in charge of arrangements.

Roll call of the freshmen was taken and bibles were checked. All those not appearing will be sent before the upperclass committee for punishment.

Cap and Scroll Day Postponed Until Next Semester

Due to the fact that no coed on the campus is at present eligible for membership into Cap and Scroll, women's honorary scholastic organization, the Cap and Scroll Day will not be observed this semester, it was reported by members of the group this week.

According to the leaders of the honorary society, the requirements for membership state that the coed must be of high junior or senior standing; have a 2.3 average or above for all college work; must have been an outstanding leader in one campus activity, and have done outstanding work in another activity.

As yet there is no one eligible for membership this semester but several coeds are expected to attain the requirements next semester, members said.

No reply has been made to the organization's request to be admitted to membership in the Mortar Board, the national organization comparable to Cap and Scroll. However, a definite answer is expected by the first part of next semester.

The last meeting of the group for the fall semester was held at Carlin's Lakeside Inn December 1.

The editorials in the University of Nevada Sagebrush express the thoughts of the editor of the publication and make no pretense of being the barometer of the sentiment of the University of Nevada student body or administration. All editorials are written by the editor unless signed otherwise.

THE FINANCIAL SETUP

for the maintenance of the University of Nevada as an educative institution has long been a subject of controversy, and much has been written and said about the large amounts of money which have been spent for the purpose of higher education at the university.

A few words concerning these large sums of money spent in the upkeep of the institution. Perhaps two or three hundred dollars seems like fabulous sums when spent in a state when there are comparatively few individuals who can be considered really wealthy. However, take a glance at many other universities in the nation and notice the large amounts of money with which they are endowed to defray expenses. In many cases, the interest acquired from the principal of the sums belonging to the university is enough to completely dwarf the income of the University of Nevada for an entire year.

In the report of the Board of Regent of the state university for the period extending from July 1, 1936, to June 30, 1938, the comptroller of the university reports that the total expenditures from all state funds for the support of the university for the two-year period was $554,312.53.

The Sagebrush wonders if the reader realizes that from the above report that little over a quarter-million dollars was spent to maintain the institution for a SINGLE year? Does the sum still seem to bulk so large when the reader considers the enormous amount of grounds upkeep and the money necessary to keep an educative staff in any educational institution?

Another point: The University of Nevada has in the past received toward its support $.09 per hundred dollars of assessed valuation. This year the assessed valuation total $190,000,000. The total sum the university received from the state was $171,000.

Figuring on a basis of 110,000 population, $1.555 PER YEAR is given towards the support of the university per person.

Is $1.55 so much that it will bankrupt the person who pays this sum? The Sagebrush wagers that this much, on the average, is squandered by every man, woman and child in the state during one week for some sort of luxury. And yet discussion is rife concerning the terrific sums of money paid in taxes which go toward the support of the University of Nevada.

The Sagebrush appeals to the citizens of the state of Nevada. You have progressed this far in building a fine state university. The trend of human nature is towards progress—not retrogression. Do not by your actions or your thoughts or your words condemn the University of Nevada to dwell in a low level of development.

IN AN EXCHANGE FROM TEXAS A. & M. school publication, "The Battalion," the Sagebrush ran across an idea which, in view of the new system of final examinations, might be well for University of Nevada faculty members to consider.

The editorial commented upon the re-establishment of a "DEAD WEEK." This so-called "DEAD WEEK" is the week immediately preceding the final examinations. During this week, no quizzes or written reviews are to be presented the students by the faculty. No make-up quizzes are to be given. No term papers or projects are to be considered. THE ENTIRE WEEK IS TO BE DEVOTED TO GIVING THE STUDENTS A BREATHING SPELL BEFORE THE FINAL EXAMINATIONS.

It is believed by the advocates of the idea that during the week students will have opportunity to study, review, and fill in gaps in the material they have been studying during the semester without the strain of having to worry about daily assignments.

It seems to the Sagebrush that the plan has its merits. Most of the studying for the final exams will be through the medium of cramming. The midnight oil will be burnt greatly during the few days of the final exams. With such a "DEAD WEEK" the student would be relieved of the tension and strain due to cramming for both the finals and the daily work. The Sagebrush believes that better results would be shown in the final work if such a week was instituted by the university faculty.

EACH INDIVIDUAL STUDENT of the University of Nevada will be offered a chance by the University Ski Club to do his or her bit towards the promotion of the Western Winter Snow Carnival next week.

The ski club has thrown the resources of its treasury behind the project as well as the combined efforts of its membership. However, the club has awakened to the fact that it is lacking in both departments. Therefore, memberships to the club will be on sale on the campus all during next week. The money derived from the sale of these memberships will go towards defraying the expense of the snow carnival.

Since the carnival will benefit the whole university and since the carnival is essentially a University of Nevada activity, the Sagebrush hopes that each and every student proves his willingness to do his part by buying a membership into the University of Nevada Ski Club, be he a skier or not.

SPECIAL RAIL FARES TO BE GIVEN STUDENTS

The Southern Pacific Company is going to reduce rates for students during the Christmas vacation. Sales dates will be December 16, and December 21 and 22. The return limit will be January 10, 1939. The rates will be reduced about 30 per cent of the regular fare.

Members of the Kappa Alpha Theta Mothers' Club met at the chapter house last Tuesday afternoon for a luncheon. Immediately following a business meeting was held. Those presiding as hostesses included Mesdames John W. Blum, James Blakely, H. H. Creek and Russell Caferrata.

TSK! TSKI

Grit your teeth, plug your ears, shade your eyes—and hold your breath! Here's the kind of noise that annoys an oyster fresh from our much-needed vacation. Did ya miss us? (Don't say it now—later.)

Deah, deah, what we haven't been a-hearin' around these parts! Wa-ay back in the dark ages word comes to us that the Lambys really like their firesides. They even have a song—but don't you think you fellas kinda overdid that "gath'round the fireside" stuff over the turkey holidays? Just an observation.

Fie on Katie! She finally deserted the ranks when she thought everyone was home. How is Pat Mooney for a date.

This is old stuff, too, but we haven't published our blessings on the latest "happy pair," Evelyn Bulmer and Gene Rowland. Nothing slow about our system—eh, Evelyn?

Those Block N'ers suddenly showed some of that hidden spirit Saturday night and tossed a dilly. There is no doubt in mind now who the hot shaggers on the hill are. If the two porky-porky, Hansen and Demosthenes, hadn't won, the judges whispered on the side that Norma McDowell and Clyde Vinson could have beat it out to the finish with that adorable couple, Furchner and Bennyhoff. What a finish!

And while we're on the subject, those acquainted with all the dark recesses of that famed Student Union building want to know WHAT the head of the News Bureau, Furchner, accomplishes when Bennyhoff walks in?

We notice our jock, Tony Yriberry, has taken up where he left off last year—remember? Clara Hansen is the name for the benefit of the newcomers. Piped in the same party is that "Beginning to Look Like Something" Betty Nelson and Lester Kitch. Our Betty must think a lot of the "Lambys," TEN for dinner at the SAME time—rawly!

Well, well! Look whose here, and HOW he rates! Our old chum!

Bud Doherty honors our fair city with a visit and escorts little Doris Iverson to the jig. How does he do it?

Ah-ha, and some of our profs found that Block N brawl quite the thing. How about Eva Adams and Chet Scranlon. We like to see you out and around—you betcha!

And what goes on behind our backs? We get the Ronzone Kid all fixed up with Romietta Ward, and everywhere we go we find him with her Theta sister, Wilma Jones. Well, that's all right, too!

Bill Foster drops back into the picture but in the same status with that Meeks dame. What's the matter with the "Locals"? Betty Owens has been receiving the honors recently.

Patty Meeker went to a Sigma Phi hop, and the lucky boy was Harry Piath. How long has this been going on?

Don't let anybody tell you Neal Campbell doesn't get around—FOUR girls and the Tavern. The principal character, however, was Virginia Johnson.

Sweet romance still is progressing with Rita Laing and "Scoop" DuPratt. Something like that always does our bare hearts good.

The Colombo still has it "stag trouble." Friday night it was in the form of Jack Plier and Freddie McIntyre.

The eternal triangle—we found one at the dance. Dave (Prexy) Goldwater had quite a struggle in convincing Harris Hansen that Cleone (Star) Stewart was supposed to be with him.

And lastly, but not leastly, may we recall to your mind Joe McDonald and Tom Tucker, drifting around here and there and Virginia City. To them and other characters, an unknown poet-aspirant has donated these few warning lines:

"Once upon a midnight dreary, eerie, feary, sceery, leary,
 All alone and feeling beery, teary, queery,
 Walked our boy down the street,
 'Woe is me, I'm weary
 Quoth he a-staggerin' down that lonely street
 With two heads and stumbling feet.

Monday morning bright and chilly,
 willy, nilly, dilly,
 In a horrid classroom stuffy where preached a prof, puffy, huffy, gruffy, duffy,
 Slumped our hero weak and sickish ick-
 ish, hickl-ish.

All ye _____ take a moral from this story, hory, gory, bory,
 Don't get _____ on Sunday night."
 (With apologies to Poe.)

Then for that awe-ful feeling that comes after the reading of a truly great masterpiece we give you Lois Downs escorting Ray Garamendi to the Theta formal Friday night as Charlie Mapes sits and sulks. Then there's the "Buzzer" Beloso wondering whether or not the path of true love runs always with the current. Meanwhile our maid Merian Ducker goes allergic to red-headed Sala.

Bill Foster is the hesitant bashful boy at the Sinai residence these days. . . Understand that Len Carpenter is the original "fireside" boy.

And so on, far into the night, while the big Jock suffers with the mumps.

French Club Plans Film for Next Semester

The well-known French film "Ayerling," will be shown by the French Club some time next semester, according to Adrienne Tuttle, president.

According to Eugene Jahns, president, the German Club also will show several foreign films. Neither club will hold any further meetings this semester.

BLUSHES in the BUSHES

I wish I were a moron,

 Oh gosh, I think
 Perhaps I am.

"Sixty seconds every minute, and sixty minutes every hour," croons a gay caballero on the radio. . . Oh, if only something could be done to lengthen the number of minutes and seconds remaining before the big showdown that is almost upon us. I once read a little jingle to the effect, "Work while you work, play while you play—that is the way to be happy and gay." Well, by golly, I have really been working and I can't say truthfully that I feel very gay.

Something tells me that Nevada is going to turn red. Or at least so all the moaning about the number of courses that different students are flunking seems to indicate—and, boy, will our faces be red when proud (?) parents gaze upon the bright-colored marks on our grade sheets.

It's "round and 'round we go—with most of the campus organizations holding their final semester meetings this week. The Home Ecceers are very, very busy these days preparing for the bazaar, while the heads of the Y. W. C. A. got together and arranged next semester's schedule and the members of the band and the boys of the army are watching their class attendance a bit more closely since the bee was put in their bonnet about a possible trip to the exposition on Treasure Island.

Members of Campus Players enjoyed a rollicking fourth-act party at the conclusion of the play last night. Said fourth-act party is a traditional affair held the final night of every campus production and a great time is had by all rehearsing all the boners pulled during the production.

Well, at least the rebellious Nevadans will not go cold this year. Final approval of the sweater awards to the football men on the basis of percentage of games played was given by the finance control board at its meeting this week.

when I started to cut my throat I missed and cut the rope instead. So down into the water I splashed, thus putting out the flames that were gayly lapping up my clothing and when I fell into the water I swallowed a considerable amount of the liquid, thus causing myself to cough. The coughing attracted the attention of a passerby who fished me ashore. So here I am again. I guess you just can't get rid of me.

Of course, all the above is more or less in fun, but when I think of the exams that are coming up I sometimes wonder if such plans might not be reverted to. When this two-hour exam plan was launched I thought the purpose was to give the students a fairer chance to concentrate and study for their various subjects—and, lo, I find myself being faced with three exams on Friday—with a full class schedule running up to 4:15 Thursday afternoon. Oh yes, indeed, I'm sure I am going to do myself up brown Friday. And there is also the possibility that I may have another exam on Friday, since I have a one-hour 7:45 class for which no definite time was scheduled.

I slid the canoe into the water, got in and paddled toward an overhanging branch of a tree that was just above one of the deepest spots in the river. When I arrived directly under this branch I tossed the rope up over the branch, tied a firm knot, then made a slip-knot with a loop which I placed around my neck. You see, I intended to kick the canoe out from under me and thus leave myself hanging there awaiting death. But to be sure that I didn't hang too long first, I soaked my clothing with the gasoline and set fire to them with the matches I had brought and then I took the knife and prepared to cut my throat (Yes, I was going to do a very thorough job, indeed!). SPORTSLITE

With the basketball season well on its way and the team rapidly shaping into a more polished outfit, as evidenced by this week's practice, the Wolf hoopers are enthusiastically looking forward to some real competition.

It plans revealed by "Doc" Martie materialize, the Pack will get all the REAL competition they want and perhaps more, as Doc has stated he definitely is seeking games with some of the strongest schools on the Pacific coast.

He failed to state exactly what schools on the coast he had in mind but he intimated the possibility of bringing St. Mary's, Santa Clara and other former foes of the Nevada basketball team back on the schedule. Of course, the whole idea hangs on the possibility of these schools having open dates and willingness to play the Nevada team.

The move, Martie said, was taken in lieu of the proposed barnstorming tour through the northwest that Martie had depended on to get his men in shape for another successful attack on the conference crown.

Last year the team toured four mid-western states, won four of the nine games played, and gathered enough experience to go through their scheduled conference games and end up with with the Far Western basketball crown.

Martie, remembering the priceless value of that barnstorming trip, feels these added games will serve the same purpose.

The Cal Aggies, one of the toughest foes to pace the hardwood with the Wolf Pack last year, already are well into their schedule. They took a double-header, on the same night, from two teams from Sacramento, which illustrates the potential strength of the Farmers. Aggie Coach Stromgren used 22 men in the two games, and five of them were freshmen. The previous week, they lost a close 29-40 game to the Santa Clara Broncos.

An All-Far Western Conference football team, as picked by the sportswriters of the respective school papers, will be printed in a forthcoming issue of the Sagebrush. The team is being assimilated by the Fresno State Collegian.

As a matter of comparison, with the all-conference team picked from the Sagebrush: Ends, Swagerty, C. of P., and Pontico, Chico; tackles, Alexander, Fresno and Brooks Nevada; center, McWilliams, C. of P.; quarterback, Heeb, Fresno; halves, Kientz and Ademine, C. of P., and fullback, Peterson, Fresno.

The team was picked with the help of the Nevada coaches, and was completed by suggestions from several men on the varsity football team.

Bob Kientz, College of Pacific's fiery little ball-packer, was picked on a second-string berth on the Associated Press Little All-American.

Though he didn't rate first team, he was given special mention in the write-up. A representative from this section was chosen on the Little All-American, however, with Lloyd Thomas of San Jose State landing an end position.

Nevada basketball fans will remember him as the classy colored guard on the Spartan hoop team that played Nevada on the local floor last year.

"Toby" Heeb, Fresno's sensational little blackfield performer, was picked as quarterback on the University of San Francisco Dons' all-opponent team. It is quite a distinction for such a team that plays St. Mary's, Santa Clara and other coast "mighties" to distinguish a man from a lesser opponent as one of its toughest foes.

Awaiting returns from Las Vegas and Reno High School, the Block N Society has its yearly official all-state high school football team almost ready to be released, Fred Galloway said this week.

The Block N team is picked through the selection of the various high school coaches in the state and on the votes of the members themselves. Certificates are awarded the men chosen for all-state positions.

With basketball slowly grabbing the sporting interest from football, university men, either ineligible or lacking the experience and ability to play for the varsity, have flooded the rosters of the Reno City League teams.

One outfit composed entirely of university men has organized a team of its own for City League play and is christened the "Feather Merchants." According to Dick Taylor, who is the manager and star on the team, they're going to brew up plenty of trouble for opponents.

The shadowy football schedule for next season that everyone is fearfully whispering about is still something to look forward to. Perhaps its real fate will be decided at the Far Western Conference meeting this week-end. It was indicated by Coach Dashiell that nothing definite had been done in the way of lining up any games pending action at this conference meeting.

Twenty-five Frosh Report to Coleman For Cage Tryouts

Outstanding All-State Men Report at Daily Drill Sessions

With more than 25 frosh basketball candidates turning out for daily practice sessions, which began Tuesday night, Freshman Coach Jim Coleman said yesterday that he expects many more to report within the next week. At the present time the first-year cagers are merely limbering up, and getting acquainted with the shooting and passing of the ball.

Practice in real earnest will not begin until after the Christmas vacation, and no attempt will be made to reduce the squad until each available player has been given a chance to prove his worth.

First Game

The first game on tap for the young hoopers will be on January 14, when they will encounter the smooth-working Lassen Junior College quintet, at Susanville.

The Lassen game, along with a few others, are the only ones so far to have been scheduled for the yearlings, but Coach Coleman, who is at the present time attending a Far Western Conference meeting at San Francisco, hopes to succeed in securing at least three or four other freshman basketball games, with the schools that represented in Nevada's Far Western Conference schedule.

Outstanding Cager

Among the many cage hopefuls who have so far reported for practice, one can find such outstanding high school stars as Winfield Babcock, all-stater, from New Jersey and last month unanimously chosen first string on the all-fraternity quintet.

Other outstanding prospects are Hugh Gallagher, another all-stater hailing from Virginia City, and Robert Hawley, who was a mainstay and an all-state player for the Sparks High cagers last year.

Promising Tryees

Other promising men include William Roseberry, from Battle Mountain; Paul Seaborn, who almost made the all-state team from Reno in his last year of play; Jim McNabney, another Renoite who plays a smooth game; Walter Naismith, former star from Tonopah high school, and Herbert Smithwick, from San Pedro, Cal., who is reported to be an ace among aces.

Still others who are expected to make a good showing are: Bud Anderson, David Melarkey, Donald Francis, Lewis Kathenhorn, Bob Meacham, Sam Francovich, Myron Waldman, Marvin Luhrs, Peter Rosaschi, Bill Harrigan Marian Vall, Joe Woodward, Fred Porteous, Bill Lathin and Dick Lathin.

Ted Demosthenes Wins Jitterbug Title

Ted "Astaire" Demosthenes, varsity gragger, waltzed away with the male shagging honors in the shagging contest that was the highlight of the Block N sports dance held last Saturday night. The honor leaves the burly football player with the undisputed title of Nevada's No. 1 "jitterbug", as Demosthenes won a similar contest in the southern part of the state when the football team play in Las Vegas.

Demosthenes' partner, who shared the $2 prize and also received one of the tin cups awarded, was Clara Hansen, who handled a pretty mean shag herself.

The dance, however, was a roaring success, according to Pio Mastroianni, who was in charge of the affair. Financially things were even-up, but the good time afforded everyone who attended more than made up for this, he said.

It's strange, but men who horse around have nothing stable about them.

Blue Keyers Even Score With Sagers By Winning Return Football Game 6-0

Southern California 13, Notre Dame 0; Tennessee 14, Alabama 0; Santa Clara 6, Detroit 7 . . . upsets?

All are negligible when compared with the result of that titanic struggle staged on Mackay field last Saturday morning.

The mighty Sagers, victors in two previous engagements with the Blue Key, went down to defeat to the tune of 6-0 in the third resumption of hostilities between the two factions.

From the opening kick-off to the final whistle, the opposing teams of this bitter rivalry staged a ding-dong, saw-saw, nip-and-tuck, stalemate up and down the gridiron, except for one electrifying play.

The Sagers, odds-on favorites from former displays of grid prowess, were driving deep into Blue Key territory in the second period.

Laterals, forward laterals, reverse laterals, fake kicks; in fact, all the tricks of the grab-bag were being utilized.

Suddenly from out of nowhere, Don Kinkel, Blue Key sattuelt, leaped into the air, snagged a McIntyre, Sager back, pass on his own 20-yard marker. Dodging, twisting, reversing his field, and straight-arming his would-be tacklers, the diminutive Blue Keyer raced the entire 80 yards to touchdown territory.

Conversion was blocked, and the score stood 6 to 0. Where the most valiant efforts of the battling Sagers were successful in midfield, the tenacious Blue Key tightened its defense and held in scoring territory.

Although in their final contest the Sagers were defeated, they still insist they are intra-university champions and are patiently awaiting the pay-off of a wager they made with the Blue Key on the outcome of the previous games.

Coleman Honored By P. E. Circles

Jim Coleman, coach of the varsity track team and of the frosh football and basketball squads, has again gained national prominence in physical education circles.

Last week Coleman received notice that he had been appointed on a national committee of the National Health and P. E. Association to study teacher training in physical education and to investigate possibility of an affiliated student organization.

Dr. William LaPorte of the University of Southern California is chairman of the committee to which Coleman has been appointed.

Coleman last gained national recognition when he devised a mathematical process by which the speed of a sprinter could be determined by the distance he could put the shot.

U. of N. Tumblers to Stage Exhibition Next Semester

Exhibitions staged by the University of Nevada tumbling team will be shown before students on the campus next semester, Chester Scranton, coach of the team, announced this week.

Weekly every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons fifteen men have been working out in the gymnasium under the tutelage of Coach Scranton. Most of the tryees for the team are freshmen and therefore no public exhibitions have been staged during the fall semester.

Several veteran members of the tumbling team are assisting in the development of the green tryees and a well-rounded-out team is expected to stage the exhibitions during the spring semester.

MINERVA CLUB HOLDS MEETING

A large group of mothers were guests at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity house last Saturday afternoon when the Minerva club entertained with a salad luncheon and bridge party.

Presiding as hostesses were Mesdames Al Randolph, Howard Brandis, Vernon Cantlon, Raymond Davis and John Flournoy.

The devil has been taking things mighty easy since he popularized the idea that it's smart to be naughty.

Conference Survival Main Topic of Meeting

The fate of the Far Western Conference will be decided this week in a meeting that begins today and ends tomorrow.

J. E. Martie, head of the physical education department and head basketball coach; Doug Dashiell, head football coach; James Coleman, head track coach, and Professor Paul A. Harwood, member of the athletic committee, will attend as representatives of Nevada's athletic department.

The main topic of discussion will be centered around whether the league of the Far Western Conference will survive or disband. Due to the conference loss of Fresno State, which takes effect next fall, the league consists now of only four colleges.

It is possible that another college may join the conference, according to Paul Harwood. In the event that this addition is made, chances of the survival of the conference will be greatly increased.

Next fall's football schedule also will be a part of the meeting.

Doug Dashiell, who is chairman of the coaching and graduate managers' committee, probably will preside in the meetings held by this group.

Twenty-one Wolves Named for Awards

Recommended on Basis of Six Games Completed This Season

Twenty-one members of the 1938 football squad of the university were recommended for rawards by Block N society and passed by the executive committee of the student senate yesterday.

Men accepted as eligible for awards are: Henry Clayton, Fred Galloway, John Sala, Harry Bradley, Joe Klievit, Delbert Stewart, Earl Brooks, Louis Spitz, Bob Robinette, Ted Demosthenes, Frank Beloso, Leonard Carpenter, Mitchell Cobega, John Polish, Dick Taylor, Clyde Vinson, Charles Whitham, James Sullivan, Neal Campbell, Henry Bryant and Manager Richard Ronzone.

Measurements for the sweater awards will be made before the end of the semester, following acceptance of the list submitted by the finance control committee last night.

Presentation of the awards will be delayed until next semester, it was announced, as the student constitution stipulates that a man otherwise eligible may not receive his award until he has passed eleven semester hours.

The scholastic ruling was adopted last spring at the recommendation of Bolck N society along with an increase in the percentage of total game time any player needed to become eligible for a sweater award.

Inter-Mural Skiing To Be Allowed Trial

Intra-mural skiing will be put on trial next spring, when the athletic department will authorize an intra-mural ski meet.

The University Ski Club will run off the meet. Although no points will be awarded, the contest will, in effect, prove or disprove skiing as an intra-fraternity sport.

If the recreation proves popular at that time, skiing may be adopted as an intra-fraternity sport for the following year.

To date seven organizations have been in favor of adopting skiing as part of the intra-mural program. Two organizations have opposed the adoption as it has been brought up at the intra-fraternity council meetings.

Old-timers who say the present generation is on the way to hell no doubt know what they're talking about—they probably recognize the road.

State Candidates Chosen Next Week By Selection Group

Committee Will Name Two Rhodes Tryees for Scholarship

Nevada's two candidates for Rhodes scholarship will be chosen next week when the state committee of selection meets at the Riverside hotel December 13.

Francis Green, Clayton Carpenter, David Goldwater, senior students at the University of Nevada, and Walter Bowrin, teacher in the Sparks High School and graduate of this school with the class of '32, are the candidates that will be interviewed by the committee.

State Committee

The state committee of selection and the candidates will meet at the Riverside at 12:30 on Tuesday for luncheon, which is, according to Dr. J. E. Church, a Nevada custom, and after the luncheon a half-hour conference will be held with each candidate. The two men chosen that afternoon by this committee will then have to come up before the southwest district committee of selection for final consideration.

The state committee is headed by Dr. J. E. Church, head of the department of classics at the University of Nevada, and it will be under his supervision that the applicants will be interviewed. Paul A. Harwood, former Rhodes scholar from Nevada, is secretary of the committee. Other members include Mr. G. A. Whiteley, Reno attorney; Dr. S. Allan Lough, professor of chemistry; Mr. J. L. Merrill of San Francisco, and Dr. F. M. Anderson of Carson City.

District Committee

The district committee of selection, judges in the final analysis, will meet on December 17 either at San Francisco or Los Angeles. A definite location for the meeting has not been decided upon as yet, Paul A. Harwood, who is one of the five members of this district committee, said. The committee is headed by Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California.

The southwestern district, of which Nevada is a part, also comprises California, Utah, Colorado, Oregon and New Mexico. Each state in this district selects two men as candidates to this district committee of selection and from the twelve men nominated the committee, by a personal interview with each candidate, will select the four men who are eligible for Rhodes scholarships. They are thus entitled to a two-year course at the University of Oxford in England.

INDEPENDENTS PLAN BUSY SPRING SEMESTER

Plans for the spring semester were discussed at a meeting of the organized Independents Monday night in their last meeting of the year.

It was decided by the group to hold the first meeting of the organization on the evening of the first Monday after school starts.

At the meeting this week, Dave Barber, former Barb student, presented the group with a scrapbook, on the front of which was carved the Barb insignia—a red shield crossed with battle-axes.

Dorothy Elkins was placed in charge of a committee to arrange a get-together party for the Barbs the first week in January before school begins.

At the next meeting on January 16 all members are requested to attend and any interested unaffiliated students are welcome at the meeting, Barb head Dick Roche announced.

STUDENTS RATE PROFESSORS AT U. C.

BERKELEY, Cal.—Instead of professors rating students, a special committee of the faculty of the University of California, headed by Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president, is considering the adoption of the Schneider-Cleland plan whereby the students are allowed to rate the professors.

The system is in operation at Purdue university.

Each student is given a card on which he rates each professor on the following five points: attitude toward the students; tolerance; presentation of subject matter; power to stir intellectual curiosity; and general comment.

The idea is to eliminate apathetic teachers.

DeMolays to Give Christmas Dance

Once again, this year, the Nevada chapter No. 1, Order of De Molay, which rosters many University of Nevada students, will present a gigantic Christmas ball on December 19 at the State building.

One of the outstanding features of this year's ball will be Rueben Tuttle's eight-piece orchestra, which will introduce a new novelty number, along with presenting several original Christmas numbers.

Christmas Decorations

The State building will be decorated in Christmas fashion, with the many-colored lights that will be glowing softly upon the silver-tinted Christmas trees. The program will also be in keeping with the theme of the dance.

The gala affair will last from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. and will be a semi-formal date affair.

Nevada Students

James Shepley, master counselor of the Nevada chapter No. 1, Order of De Molay, appointed the following University of Nevada students on the dance committee: Ralph Stone, tickets; Jack Pieri, publicity director; John Cooper, decorations, and Richard Jameson in charge of the dance programs.

U. N. COMMISSIONED R.O.T.C. CANDIDATES TAKE POSTS IN MAY

Arrangements have been completed by the United States army to send newly-commissioned reserve officers from the University of Nevada to a summer training camp immediately after their graduation.

It has been the custom to wait from one to three years before the new officers were assigned active duty.

The reserve officers, who will attend the training period as second lieutenants in full standing, must leave for camp some time in May.

A large portion of graduating Nevada cadets are under age and will receive certificates in lieu of a commission. It has not been learned if they will be eligible for further training.

WPA Funds Used for Three U. C. Buildings

Plans have been completed for the new $325,000 building that will house the university press and printing shop at the University of California. The building is one of three planned for the California campus under the allotment of WPA funds.

Construction of the new building will start January 1, 1939, and the building is expected to be completed for the opening of the fall semester.

Cantlon to Speak At Pre-Med Meet

Dr. Vernon Cantlon, university physician, has been invited to address the members of Alpha Delta Epsilon, national pre-medical fraternity, at the first meeting of the group next semester, Bill Goodin, head of the fraternity, announced this week.

According to Goodin, the charter establishing the local pre-medical chapter as a member of the national fraternity has been recently framed, and will soon be placed in the left of Dr. Frandsen's door in the Agricultural building.

Inscribed on this charter are the list of honorary members including the names of Maxwell Adams, Dr. Peter Frandsen, Dr. Samuel Allan Lough, Dr. Lewis Mickelson and John J. Sullivan. A list of the active members followed by a list of the alumni are also inscribed on the charter.

A careless pedestrian usually gets it in the end.
