Annual "Running" Is Secret Affair For Group's Neophytes

Men elected to membership are Ralston Hawkins, Bill Casey, Dyer Jensen, Ted Wise, Vincent Shea, Joe McDonald, Allan McGill, John Sala, Frank McCulloch, Richard Edwards, Bob Grenig, and Walter Wilcox.

The annual "running" was open only to old members of the organization this year in contrast with former years when the Manzanita lake "battle" used to be one of the semester's biggest attractions. Men taken into this group must have shown outstanding ability in campus leadership, activities, and general service to the University of Nevada.

Hawkins has been extremely active in many campus organizations during his nearly three years tenure at the university. He is a member of Sagers, Blue Key, Scabbard and Blade, and Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity chairman of class committees, and is a candidate for the ASUN presidency.

Casey is an outstanding debater, junior class manager, Blue Keyer, Scabbard and Blade, Ski Carnival committeeman, member of Sigma Nu social fraternity, and is also a candidate for the president of the Nevada students.

Jensen Outstanding

A man with the distinction of having been business manager of the U. of N. Sagebrush in his junior year, Dyer Jensen has been active in a variety of other services. He is a high ranking scholar, chairman of Junior Cut Day, Blue Key, and a member of the publications board and Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity.

Ted Wise has been president of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity for the past year. Other than this he is head of the Interfraternity Council, member of Sundowners, Aggie club, and active in administering recent high school 4-H club conventions.

A varsity footballer, Vincent Shea is a member of Sundowners, Sigma Phi Sigma fraternity, a candidate for Block N representative to the board of athletic control, and has served on various ASUN committees.

Serving as chairman of the Ski Carnival general committee this winter, McDonald is credited with one of the best shows in the school history. He is a member of Block N society, a stellar member of the football varsity last fall, Press Club, ASUN senate, and a candidate for the presidency today. His fraternity is Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

McGill, junior student registered from Reno, is a member of Sigma Phi Sigma social fraternity, is assistant editor of the Sagebrush Sundowners good fellowship group, and Press club, and has served on class committees.

Upperclass Chairman

As an outstanding member of the student body for the past four years, Sala has served as chairman of the men's upperclass committee this year and is a candidate for the senior class managership tomorrow. He also belongs to Blue Key, Block N, and Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity.

McCulloch, president of Sigma Nu, is assistant editor of the Sagebrush, an honor roll student, a member of Blue Key, Press club, and Sundowners, and was chairman of the Junior Prom committee in November. During his college career he has been prominent in inter-fraternity athletics, being an outstanding member of his fraternity's baseball team.

A member of Alpha Tau Omega, Edwards has been active in campus activities for the past three years. He is at the present time president of the Commerce club, junior business manager of the Artemisia, a member of Blue Key, and was on the varsity basketball team this past season.

Registered from McGill, Grenig is a member of Lincoln Hall Association, a member of Blue Key, Masque and Dagger, ASUN senate last year, and is head of Scabbard and Blade.

Wilcox, junior affiliated with Sigma Phi Sigma, is a junior editor of the Artemisia, Press Club, Scabbard and Blade, Homecoming committee, and the Sundowners. He was president of the Independents last year.

Membership in the organization is limited to fifteen.

Fifteenth Annual Forensic Contests Open Here Today

The fifteenth annual Nevada State High School Forensic League Tournament, in session on the campus today and tomorrow, is being attended by students of fourteen high schools representing all parts of the state.

Sponsored by the division of speech at the university, with professor Robert S. Griffin, state director of forensics, in charge, the tournament got under way yesterday, when the first rounds of debate, oratory, and extemporaneous speaking were run off.

Today ends the finals in all the contests but the one-act plays, which are scheduled for Saturday.

Tonight and Saturday's program of events are as follows: 7:30—Inter-collegiate debate: Nevada vs. College of the Pacific; 8:45—Oratorical contest.

Saturday: 8:30—One-act plays, Class "B"; Ed. Aud.; 9:00—Debates between Class "A" and Class "B" teams; 1:30—One-act plays, Class "B"; 7:30—One-act plays in Class "A."

Dr. Ray K. Immel, dean of the school of speech, University of Southern California, has been acting as adjudicator of all contests except debates, including the one-act plays and Shakespearian scenes for the tournament.

Differing this year somewhat from the contests last year, the tournament includes decision debates instead of non-decision arguments of former years.

Cups will be presented for the individual winners of each contest in both the Class "A" and Class "B" competition.

The University of Nevada debate squad makes its final appearance on the campus this year when Charles Mapes and Russel Strom meet an experienced College of Pacific team in the education auditorium tonight.

U. N. Constitution Changes Explained

A thorough-going revision of the constitution of the Associated Students of the University of Nevada has been proposed and will be voted upon by members of the student body on April 19. The text of the constitution, revised as proposed, appears elsewhere in this issue of the Sagebrush.

In order to acquaint the students with the most significant changes, and thus to give them a basis for their voting in the pending election, the most significant changes are appended below:

1. Senators' bonds of $5.00 for each senator must be deposited by his organization from which subductions will be made to pay all fines, etc., incurred by the senator.

2. Initiative: Any member of the student body who has a petition signed by at least 10% of the members of the student body can have his bill brought before the student body and voted upon within 10 days after submission.

3. A 11 y committee membership changes have been made, and the requirement that it must meet at least once a month has been ordered so as to sustain responsibility.

4. Men participating in sports which end before midsemester will be able to receive their athletic awards before they are on probation at the end of the semester. However, if the season of their sport, and are not passing in a minimum of eleven hours, they will not get awards until they are adjudged by the scholarship committee.

5. Recognition of a minor sport will originate in the Board of Athletic Control instead of through a constitutional amendment as heretofore.

6. In addition to the above rules, the graduate manager's office has been given general supervisory powers over monies in various student and organization funds, and has also been vested authority to audit the books of the Artemisia and the Sagebrush every month. This is merely giving constitutional recognition and authority for functions of the graduate manager's office which have been in practice for some time past.

R.O.T.C. Sets May 3 As Governor's Day

State Executive Will Make Presentations Of Awards

Another year of university ROTC activity will be climaxed May 3, when the battalion takes part in the final review ceremony and presentations of awards in observance of Governor's Day.

On that day the highlight of the presentations will be the awarding by Governor E. P. Carville of the governor's medal. Individual and group awards for the entire battalion will also be made on that day.

Annual competitions of the ROTC unit for honor of being color company for the ensuing year will be held Friday, April 26. The best drilled cadet company is awarded color honors on the basis of the following judgment points: general appearance, soldierly bearing, neatness and cleanliness of clothing and equipment, steadiness in ranks, step and cadence, squad bearing, platoon and company movements. This award was won by Company C last year. The winning company will be awarded possession of the battalion honors during Governor's Day ceremonies.

Governor Carville indicated this week that he will be present at one p.m. on Friday, May 3, at which time he will present the awards.

Highest of all presentations given on that day, the Governor's Medal was won in the last three years successively by John Etchemendy, Olinio Barsanti, and John Barrett. The medal is awarded for general excellence in complete ROTC activity, both in drill and in scholastic ability and general interest in battalion affairs. First-year cadets who are required to take the second-year basic course next year, and second-year cadets who have elected to take the first year advanced course are eligible for the award.

The medal, after presentation to the annual winner, does not become the personal property of the cadet until he has worn it at least one full year after its award.

Other awards to be awarded by Governor Carville on May third are:

Silver cup to company having the best average mark in attendance and discipline. This cup is presented by the Civilian Military Education Fund and is known as the "Major General George H. Smonds Trophy."

Gold medal to the winner of individual competition for superiority in drill, attendance, and discipline. This award is presented by the Nevada Department, Reserve Officers Association, only basic course cadets are eligible. Candidates are selected by company commanders and undergo competitive drill, while scholastic and discipline leaders will be selected from military department records.

Basic Cadets

To the basic course cadet having the highest standing in attendance and discipline will be awarded a fourragere of University colors.

A bronze medal to the cadet in all ROTC courses attaining the highest mark for this year's work. Awarded by the California Society, Sons of the American Revolution, this award will be presented at the first official formal review held next fall.

FOUR BASEBALL SQUADS CLIMB TO LEAGUE TOP

Taus, Beta Kappas, S.A.E.'s Sigma Phis Remain Undeclared

With two games played and one defaulted this week in the interfrat baseball league, Sigma Phi Sigma and Beta Kappa overhauled SAE to share league honors.

Monday's diamond contest found the Independents again failing to show up for play and Beta Kappa gathering its third straight win by default. The Independents have as yet not assembled a team, defaulting all three of their scheduled contests.

Sigma Phis Win
Tuesday Sigma Phi Sigma dumped Phi Sigma Kappa 11 to 5, with John Kinneberg, Sigma Phi hurler, clouting the first homer of the season. Kinneberg gave up 7 hits, fanned 12, and walked none for the Sigma Phi Sigma nine, while Phi Sigma Kappa Moundsman Lefty Mayer gave up 12 hits, struck out 11 and walked three men. The Sigma Phi's committed nine errors, while Phi Sigma Kappa bungled four attempts to handle the ball. Dunn of the Phi Sigs collected a three-bagger, and Linson, Peterson and Hillygus all got doubles.

Sigma Nu Dumps L.H.A.
Sigma Nu won a 12 to 9 game over the erring Lincoln Hall nine Wednesday night in the last game of the week. Knemeyer turned in a good pitching performance for Lincoln Hall, yielding only four singles, but the Hall lads made 12 errors to help beat themselves. Gallagher allowed 10 hits for Sigma Nu, struck out 12 Hallmen and walked four. Knemeyer sent down 12 Sigma Nu batsmen via the strikeout route and walked six.

Thursday's game was cancelled because of the conflicting ROTC review on Mackay Field.

Sigma Phi Lead
Play thus far finds the defending champions and present favorite, ATO, undefeated, and Beta Kappa leading the league at present with a record thus far equalling their undefeated season of last year. Sigma Phi Sigma is the surprise team of the first three weeks of play, coming up to the lead with a team that looked weak in pre-season figuring.

League standing at the end of three weeks of league play:

	W	L	Pct.
Sigma Phi Sigma	3	0	1.000
Beta Kappa	3	0	1.000
A. T. O.	2	0	1.000
S. A. E.	2	0	1.000
Sigma Nu	3	2	.600
Phi Sigma Kappa	1	2	.333
Lincoln Hall	1	3	.250
Lambda Chi Alpha	0	3	.000
Independents	0	4	.000

"Good Old Days" Brought To Life
By U. N. Mackay Day Celebration

Pre-Mackay Day spirit started off with a bang last Friday, as irrepressible students appeared on the campus in costume, formerly forbidden by the Student Affairs Committee.

Notables among clever costumes worn were those of Charles Yetter, junior engineering student, who appeared as a Nevada pioneer, even to fur hat and flintlock; Jack Streeter, frosh, in picturesque Indian blanket with a quiver of arrows and bow; and the Turano twins in old-fashioned dress, who appeared in unlike outfits for the first time since they entered college.

The annual initiation of the Sunday's, campus good-fellowship organization, came off on schedule as neophytes staged their traditional chicken chase on the lawn below the tram at 11:50 Friday morning.

Rousted out of bed at the crack of dawn by conscientious house-presidents, fraternity men and members of campus social organizations appeared at the beard checking stands early Saturday morning, and were promptly set to work cleaning up the campus.

Injecting a note of humor into the fraternity song contest held at the Mackay Day luncheon in the gym Saturday noon, the Sigma Phi Sigma double quartet rendered two numbers composed especially for the occasion.

Bursting with pride throughout the entire celebration was sports commentator Jack Rhoades, only too aware of the fact that last year his sister, Marilyn, was Mackay Day queen, and this year his girl friend Cleora held that honor.

Marked by spirited Virginia Reels and square dances, and Mackay Day costume ball was apparently a huge success. Several couples, unable to find empty chairs between dances, found that sitting in a circle in the middle of the floor was a restful way to spend the evening.

Awards made at the ball Saturday night were to Kappa Alpha Theta for best sorority song team entered in the contest at the Mackay Day luncheon, to Alpha Tau Omega for best fraternity song team, to Ed Beaupere for best beard, to Robert Taylor for best trimmed beard, to Helen Westall for best costume at the dance, to Mitch Cobeaga for best men's costume, to Beta Kappa for best general performance at the fraternity work program Saturday morning, and to Kappa Alpha Theta for best representation at the ball.

"Bill" Miller Back For Short Reno Visit

William C. Miller, formerly assistant professor of English and director of dramatics at the University of Nevada, is in Reno on a short vacation from his classes at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles.

Accompanying Ray K. Immel, dean of the School of Speech at Southern California, who is in Reno to adjudicate the Nevada High School Forensic Tournament, Professor Miller arrived here Wednesday, and plans to return to Los Angeles on Sunday.

Known to many Nevada students as "Bill" Miller, he left here last September on a leave of absence to accept a position as director of dramatics at the University of Southern California, the same institution from which he graduated in 1932. Professor Miller had instructed English, speech, and dramatics classes at Nevada since 1934.

SIGMA PHI OFFERS SUGGESTIONS IN GETTING MAIL

Years ago Casanova gave to the world a free lesson in love. But today Don Struck, Sigma Phi Sigma pledge, for the first time in the history of written correspondence, will give to the world a free lesson on how and what way to receive your daily mail—if you get any.

So here is that free lesson: After the postman has banged on the front door of the frat house twice the procedure as outlined by Struck is:

"Each morning I approach the morgue of diets (mailbox to you) to pick up any corpse that might lay in my coffin and bear my name as its undertaker.

"I approach the box some mornings psychic of what is in store, sometimes I approach with fingers crossed and at other times I maneuver to the coffin to find it bare.

"If there is an awaiting corpse, I immediately take the lily-white body and place it firmly on my two pallbearers, face down. I then remove the casket and perform vehemently the usual autopsy. If the corpse is from home I might find a bit of silver treasure hidden between the bones of the anatomy, and if it is from a girl friend I know that death was probably due from lack of nourishment.

"Of course, sometimes a complete resurrection might take place when you look further into the corpse (letter) and notice the adlection 'love'. And at that point, symbolic of Pygmalion's model, it almost comes to life and kisses you.

"When that happens every coffin-nail, the dearest piece of ironmongery in the morgue, lose their grip on the coffin lid—and there goes your cedar wood casket.

"If the corpse has a return address in big, bold type in one corner and a transparent stomach and goes under the name of 'Bill' it is sure of a sudden burial.

In fact, he tells us what he does with "Billy":

"Without any lost motion," he says, "I twist Billy into a knot and at other times tear him limb from limb. I then lay its head beneath the artificial rose and prattle a prayer in solemn respect for the dead dictum.

"My next step is to the fireplace to cremate its heart, three cent stamp and all.

"Before I finish, I might say in regard to love letters, if the face stamp upon the face of the corpse is upside down, she loves you. If it is just on the ordinary way, have patience, and if it says 'postage due' you better correspond with somebody else.

"So shut, shut the coffin lid, dear postman, for I still think every letter is a dead letter—after it has been read."

With that closing statement Don Struck concluded his lecture in the living room of the Sigma Phi Sigma, but he never did get around to explain just what kind of a letter a cinch notice was.

Kay Dalzell Elected President Of Fine Arts Kay Dalzell, prominent junior student, was elected senior executive of the Fine Arts Club at a meeting held Tuesday at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

Dance Club To Tour State In Vacation

Members of the newly-organized dance club are planning a good-will tour of the state immediately after the university closes in May. They will dance in ten or twelve towns, tentatively starting at Winnemucca, traveling south to Las Vegas, and then back to Reno.

Each of the women making the trip will pay her own traveling expenses. Food and lodging will be provided in the towns where they stop, and no admission will be charged to their dance recitals.

To take care of incidental expenses, the group is giving a silver tea to be held at the 20th Century Club on Monday, April 29.

THOMPSON LAUDS CONDUCT OF STUDENTS

The conduct of Nevada students on last Friday in the first part of the Mackay Day celebration was completely acceptable to the student affairs committee, Dean R. C. Thompson, its chairman, said this week.

"It was one of the best Mackay Day celebrations I have seen on the Nevada campus," Dean Thompson said.

"Al Caton and his committee had a wonderful plan and executed it beautifully." Students had been asked this year by the committee to exercise moderation in costumes to classes and in the related activities on Friday.

Bob Swanson picks his racing cars for speed — his cigarettes for slow burning

HERE THEY COME in a hurricane of flying dirt and squirting oil. You can almost hear the high whine of the motors and the shriek of brakes and burning tires as they streak into the sharp unbanked curves. They may call 'em 'midget racers,' but there's speed to burn underneath those toy-like hoods. Leading the pack in the picture above is Bob Swanson, Pacific Coast champ. In a split second these racers may be climbing each other's hoods, hurdling, somersaulting, flying through fences. Bob Swanson likes a slower pace in his off-time. Fishes a lot. Smokes Camels a lot. He explains: "I don't like overheating in my cigarette any more than I like it in a racing motor. I stick to Camels. I know they're slower-burning...milder and cooler."

WE MUST KEEP OUT

Seven months ago, when Hitler's legions invaded and took Poland to blow the top off things over in Europe for the first time, a peculiar attitude became prevalent among the people of the United States as a whole and among the students of the University of Nevada in particular.

Summed up in a few words, the whole thing was "Why plan or look to the future? We'll all be carrying rifles in two or three months anyway."

Well, as it turned out, of course, such was definitely not the case. As far as this very unlearned observer can see it, we're as far, if not farther, from participation in European war than we were back in the tense days of last summer. We've lost a good deal of the near-hysteria and war fever which gripped us then and have come to a full realization that all of us want to live a few years longer if we can possibly do it.

However, despite the fact that on the whole we're taking a much calmer view of the whole thing, that same apathy, that same "what's-the-use-of-trying-to-put-it-off" attitude has become prevalent again with the reaching of a new crisis in world affairs.

It must be admitted that such a frame of mind is not as explosively dangerous as the more typical war-hysterical one, but in the long run it is one which might very well prove to be by far the most dire in its consequences. The difference between a quick-tempered, quick-to-forgive man and a slow, sullen one that harbors a grudge for years is a poor analogy of the situation.

There's only one way to keep out of war—actively fight against it. The waiting, apathetic frame of mind that a great percentage of Nevada students have today might not be a quick method of getting us there, but it's most assuredly a certain one. —F. M.

ON HOW TO VOTE

In the spring of each year comes the presidential election of the associated students of the university. Thus far the campaigning for the chief student executive of the A.S.U.N. has been exceptionally "clean" and with the absence of "high pressuring," which is good.

But when the election gets down into the final stages which will probably come next week, we will probably hear more talk of the famous "social combines" and "campus politics," if this elections is to be anything like those of the past.

You will undoubtedly be confronted with generous propositions if you will cast your vote "for the right man"; you will be promised one of the most cherished of the appointed offices if you will use your influence to have your group of friends "vote the right way."

To new students and those unfamiliar with such practices these promises will appear as being "good bargains," but to those who are acquainted with student administration they will appear to be just what they are—"high pressure campaigning tactics."

And so we remind the new students that the powers of the student body president are very limited. He has the power to appoint the nominating committee and the heads of the student handbook, both of which must be approved by the senate.

Voting is one of the most sacred privileges of the people of a democratic government, and it should be an honor and not an obligation to vote for the president of the A.S.U.N.—to vote free from any promises and for the best man.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Hecky,
I have admired your editorial policy, permitting in print letters attacking professors and university policies. I was considering moving into a dormitory next term for driving to school fifteen minutes every morning seems very tiring. But after hearing about the matron's energetic and serious attitude toward her duty, I have decided I will stick to the home hearth and get out of bed and drive fifteen cold minutes to my eight o'clock classes.
And, another thing, if you do not mind barbs directed against your own paper, I just cannot stand so many badly misspelled words. The Mackay Day edition made me blush in shame of my own sex. Probably the girls were absorbed in what to wear for the weekend or overcome by the excitement and importance of editing a college paper all by themselves so that errors, hundreds of them, passed O.K. under the female editorial eye.

This is the third letter I am sending to the 'Brush and I hope it will be the third one to be printed.
I used to be a noted writer at another college; all my feature stories were bylined and placed on the front page. But I see you do not have a feature page, just all straight news. After all, since you do not have a campus humorous magazine, you may as well start a feature page for humorous stories and interesting articles instead of that corny column that Growlge runs. Or, if there is a possibility that the humorous mag can be re-born, I will be glad to put in my aid and all my abilities (if I have any!) to put over excellent ones, thanks to my experience as assistant editor on a mag staff at another institution.
Yours for a feature page or a campus magazine,

The President Says...

By DR. LEON W. HARTMAN
As Others View It

Apropos of the concluding remarks of Mr. Samuel G. Platt at the luncheon held in the gymnasium on Mackay Day last week, the following observation by Mr. William E. Gladstone, the great English statesman of the Victorian era and opponent of Disraeli, is certainly relevant and timely. Said Gladstone, "The American Constitution is the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purposes of man."

Of the Constitution, President Calvin Coolidge wrote: "The Constitution represents a government of law. There is only one other form of authority, and that is a government of force. Americans must make their choice between these two. One signifies justice and liberty; the other tyranny and oppression. To live under the American Constitution is the greatest political privilege that was ever accorded to the human race."

During the course of the French Revolution, Edmund Burke, the great friend of the American Colonies in their struggle with the British Crown, wrote: "Liberty, to be enjoyed, must be limited by law, for law ends where tyranny begins, and the tyranny is the same, be it the tyranny of a monarch, or of a multitude,—may, the tyranny of the multitude may be the greater, since it is multiplied tyranny."

Of government, William Penn wrote: "Governments, like clocks, go from the motion men give them; and as governments are made and moved by men, so by them they are ruined, too. Therefore, governments rather depend upon men, than men upon governments."

The great German poet Goethe, who was also a philosopher and scientist as well as a poet, once asked the question, "Which is the best government?" and answered his own question by saying, "That which teaches self-government."

One of the virtues of a truly democratic or representative form of government is that the voice of the minority can always be expressed and heard. Wendell Phillips spoke truly when he said, "Governments exist to protect the rights of minorities."

Said Thaddeus Stephens of Georgia, "The freedom of a government does not depend upon the quality of its laws, but upon the power that has the right to create them," and George Washington wrote, "The aggregate happiness of society, which is best promoted by the practice of a virtuous policy, is, or ought to be, the end of all government." And James Russell Lowell once wrote, "All free governments, whatever their name, are in reality governments by public opinion; and it is on the quality of this public opinion that their prosperity depends."

Duclos said, "The best government is not that which renders men the happiest, but that which renders the greatest number happy." Of government Gladstone wrote, "The proper function of government is to make it easy for people to do good, and difficult to do evil." Even the astute Machiavelli believed that "the principal foundation of all states are good laws and good arms."
Said Edward Everett, "Beneath a free government there is nothing but the intelligence of the people to keep the

HANGOVERS

—By—
THE MILLER
(This Column Will Deal With the Suds of the Campus)

"You remind me of General Grant," said the inspecting officer of the cadet. "How's that," the lad answered in a military manner. "He had a beard too," said the general.

A bartender in one of the local grog emporiums related a very interesting detail in regard to the recent Valentine Party held by the Sundowners. (Sun, in this case does not refer to drink—etc.). The boys invited themselves into this liquid barber shop and insisted on nothing but a tall beer, which did not agree at all with the glossy-eyed bartender's idea of free refreshments, because he was arguing the merits of a short beer to them. But the bartender lost, but not entirely, because he fixed them, he said, by putting a collar on the large, invigorating glass of suds the size of a collar on a size 19 shirt.

Bud Budlong, a former member of the village bartending fraternity, known to many a student of yore who had classes at the Leetle Waldorf, Eddie's and Leon's during the years when Mackay Day celebration had more "oomph," has now his own haven for the thirsty on Chesnut Street in San Francisco. He caters to Reno peoples, and if you can prove that you have established residence in this part of the old west, Budlong's will not only buy people's peace. Orders must be preserved by a military police or regiments of horse guards, but by the spontaneous concert of a well-informed population, resolved that the rights which have been rescued from despotism shall not be subverted by anarchy." And John Bigelow wrote, "The people of the United States very deliberately framed their government with the views of remaining the masters of it, and not of being mastered by it; and they are not yet willing to abdicate in favor of any, even the most audacious conspirator against their sovereignty." And, finally, John Bright, the great British statesman and orator exclaimed, "Will anybody deny now that the government at Washington, as regards its own people, is the strongest government in the world at this hour? And for this simple reason, that it is based on the will, and the good will, of an instructed people."

In these troublous times when insidious propaganda is rife and subversive forces are acting to uproot and overthrow out public institutions, institutions based upon liberty and the expression of the popular will, it behooves all citizens—men and women alike—to be alert and thoughtful that our priceless birthright shall not be sold for a mess of pottage. Liberty is a priceless possession and may easily be lost. "Liberty," said Cervantes, "is one of the choicest gifts that heaven hath bestowed upon man, and exceeds in value all the treasures which the earth contains within its bosom, or the sea covers. Liberty, as well as honor, man ought to preserve at the hazard of his life, for without it, life is insupportable." Why should we therefore with careless indifference mortgage the future? A mortgage is like a postage stamp. It is easily stuck on but it is removed with difficulty. To apply a mortgage is the work of a moment; to remove it often requires years of labor and self-denial.

mine for one, but will give you a first mortgage on the citadel.

Brother Stone was in town week-end last ago, and although we hate to keep printing his ghastly life in this sheet, it must be mentioned that a week-end with Stone is almost like a week-end with the Great White Bartender himself. Maybe it's because he brings some of that Bank of America gold to town when he comes, which aids (oh it's true, it's true) many a dull week-end, where you crawl home from sheer boredom at eight or nine on a Saturday or Sunday—(maybe Monday) morning. Stone has a D.D. degree, Doctor of Dermatology, and he knows his barber shops.

Now that the practice of giving diplomas away has been discontinued (it was discontinued in 1808, but what's time to a Senior?), a few uses can be suggested to get your money's worth from the parchment, after that epic day in May. A defunct diploma can be used for a window prop, a scratch yad for grocery lists, speeches; or a diploma can always be used as a blotter for the bottom of glasses, or, if worst comes to worst, as a crumb tray, or a receiver for cigar peelings.

From the Mail Department, "Dear Miller, have just finished that book 'How To Win Friends and Influence People,' and it cut me like a knife with its truths, profundities, suggestions, and ideas for success. But I didn't like it, because it said you should smile all the time. Did you ever see anyone who smiled all the time? Didn't it have the same effect upon you as eating a meal I composed entirely of hot mince pie with rich, whipping-cream dressing?"

Sleep is a necessary evil. Research is proving that the amount of sleep one needs can become less and less, until the victims live, so to speak, on borrowed time. Our hats are off to the scientists who have brought this matter to light. But those who are practicing this theory say it has its limitations. Now take Ernest Jorgensen, he hasn't slept for twelve years.

violins walk off the stage with their violins, denoting the action of the workers. The third movement opens with a long pause to describe the activity of the 8 o'clock classes. A bell rings one hour later and the shuffling from room to room is indicated by brisk intermezzos from the harp department. The fourth movement begins with a crash and ends with a crash to denote the effect of the stock market upon the students since 1929. Nevada Tracksters To Meet Chico Next

Nevada track men will face Chico tomorrow at Chico for their second meet of the season.

Chico is rated about as strong as Cal. Aggies, which beat Nevada 80 to 51 in a meet at Davis Saturday. Chico and Cal. Aggies came out the same in a meet with San Francisco State earlier in the season.

Coach Jim Bailey believes that Nevada has a chance to win, however, and is sure to garner more points than it did against the Davis men Saturday. Nevada and Chico are weak in the same fields that Cal. Aggies is strong in. This should put Nevada on a more equal basis with Chico, Bailey said.

Stars of the Nevada tracksters are James McNabney, low hurdles, John Polish, expert of the discus and shot put, and Walt Powers of the 100-yard dash. These men should boost the Nevada points, Coach Bailey said. Other men such as Bob Cameron and Elwin Trigero, who didn't hit their stride last meet are expected to do better against Chico. Trigero lost the 440 by only a few inches against one of Cal. Aggies best men.

James McNabney, on the frosh team of last year is improving continuously, Bailey said, and is expected to get first in the low and high hurdles.

Missing from the Nevada squad will be John Sala, and Pio Mastroianni. Mastroianni is the backbone of the team in the two mile, and John Sala is strong in discus and weights.

In the meet against Cal. Aggies last Saturday Nevada took first in the 100-yard dash, 220 and 220 low hurdles, shot put, and discus. Nevada took numerous seconds and thirds also but was weak in the distance, pole vault, and high jump.

Walt Powers took the 100-yard dash and 220; James McNabney the 220 low hurdles, John Polish the discus, and Jim Perkins the shot put.

U. N. Tennis Team To Meet Wildcats

Varsity tennis men will travel to Chico tomorrow to play the intercollegiate match on their schedule.

Handicapped by the loss of Bud Young, veteran netter, a comparatively inexperienced team will accompany Coach Meryl W. Deming on the trip. Gene Peterson, only remaining veteran of the squad, is expected to come through with his usual good performance that last year won him second place rating in the Far Western Conference.

John Etchemendy, his doubles partner, showed up well in the matches played Sunday against the Reno Tennis Club and is expected to provide fast competition for the Wildcats.

Charles Mapes and Art Kinneberg, competing for the first time on the squad, have been working out daily in preparation for the trip and may provide the needed strength to bring back a victory.

Handicapped by continued bad weather up till about a week ago, Coach Deming said that his charges had been unable to work out enough to get into top shape. However, he added, "with a little experience and some good weather we should have the makings of a good squad."

Next week the squad will travel to Carson where it will meet the Carson Net Club. Following that, the top three players will compete in the Far Western Conference tournament at Fresno.

Tri-Cornered Meet Is Being Arranged For Cub Trackmen

Plans for a three-way track meet tomorrow afternoon between the University of Nevada freshmen, Lassen J.C. Cubs, and the Yerington high school team were announced this week by Jim Bailey, track coach.

"We will probably take most of our points in the distance runs," Bailey said. "Although the squad has quite a few men who have made a good showing in the pole vault and broad jump."

The only time this season the frosh squad has had a chance to show their ability was during the inter-fraternity track meet, held last week. This meet gave Bailey a chance to look over his team while they were under competitive conditions.

Entering the distance runs, which include the one mile and two mile races, as well as the relay, will be Harry Paille, Marion Motley, Thomas Kent, Hale Tognoni, and Don Bagley.

In the interfraternity track meet last week, Paille didn't score in the runs, but placed in the broad jump and in the high jump. Thomas Kent, Fallon star mile, was sick during the meet, but Bailey is confident that he will become varsity material in the distance events. Hale Tognoni turned in a creditable showing in the mile, placing second.

Little Gene Mastroianni took first place in the two mile run, with Don Bagley pressing him hard to take second.

Boyd Smith showed outstanding ability in the field events during the interfraternity meet. He took second in the shot put, third in the discus, and tied for second in the high jump. Bailey is confident that Smith will annex a few points in the three-way meet. Bill Voght is another track man who should be well up in the pole vault, and the high jump, taking a first and a tie for fourth in the inter-fraternity meet. Warren Hart also demonstrated ability in the pole vault.

Leading in the weight events is big Gene Quilici, whose try-outs last week appeared very encouraging. Jack Streeter and Boyd Smith are also in the shot past average marks.

The low hurdles event will be entered by Ira DuPratt, Alf Sorenson, and Jack Kearney. Both Sorenson and Kearney placed in both the low and high hurdles. In last week's meet, DuPratt, formerly Yerington athlete, is expected to regain his old-time form and should show considerable speed over the hurdles. Don Burrus will enter the 440 and the 880-yard races, and from try-outs is expected to garner some points. Aaron Dunn has been throwing the javelin this season.

Dash men, as well as the middle distance runners, seem to be lacking on the squad.

Block N's Third Annual Stag Night Thrills Big Crowd

Lemich Wins By Knockout In Second; Wrestlers Lose To Cal.

The third time was the charm for John Lemich, A.T.O. battler who celebrated his return to the fistic wars with a two round kayo over Bill Voght, S.A.E., Wednesday night during the annual Block N fight carnival.

Lemich displayed some fine body punching, coupled with vicious straight rights to the whiskers to defeat his opponent. Voght, novice light-heavy champion in a recent Golden Gloves tournament held in Reno, opened strong but Lemich carried too many guns for him. Both boys weighed in at 175.

Ross, DuPratt Thrill
Tom Ross and John DuPratt brought the crowd that packed the ancient gym to its feet many times during their wild slugging match. Both fighters hit the floor at least once, and both threw leather with abandon. Ross displayed a snappy left jab which earned him the decision.

Another match featuring sluggers was put on by Al Wisniewski and Wes Goodner. Wisniewski landed the cleaner punches and appeared to be the better conditioned of the two and gained the decision. Goodner won the trophy for being the gamest fighter on the card during this bout.

Brothers Battle
A brother act staged by Charles and Oliver Hendrickson came close to stealing the show from the more highly touted battlers. The two men at it hammer and tongs and landed with anything but the friendly touch. Oliver landed a few more blows than his big brother and was awarded the nod.

Heckethorn Takes T.K.O.
The Heckethorn-Stewart brawl was well on its way toward being the fight of the evening when the younger Stewart got a bad cut over his eye. At the insistence of the referee the bout was stopped to save Stewart from serious injury.

The Wade Hampton-Jack McNutt affair was a rather slow bout with both boys willing to fight but lacking top condition. McNutt was given the decision by virtue of cleaner punching.

In the opener Elliott Lima and Don Struck lambasted each other heartily with the decision going to Struck.

Wrestlers Lose To Cal.
The U. of N. wrestlers managed to win one of their bouts with a more experienced University of California squad. Roger Hickman, lone Nevada winner, used a cross body press to pin Don Lippincott after 3 minutes, 28 seconds of wrestling.

Cliff Young, freshman wrestler on the U. of N. team, was pinned by Dick Morris.

Bill Lattin battled William Wolf, to a draw in nine minutes of grappling but the decision was awarded to Wolf at the end of a four minutes overtime period.

In the other wrestling bouts, Harvey Johnson, Nevada, was pinned by Frank Wata, Cal. in 5:28 and Ben Laflin, California, decided Herb Reynolds, Nevada, after nine minutes.

Latin Outstanding
Bill Lattin was awarded the trophy for being the best wrestler on the Nevada team. John Lemich was named as the best boxer and Wes Goodner was judged to be the gamest fighter of the evening.

Tony Poloni, former light-heavy weight contender refereed the boxing matches and Frank Rosaschi officiated during the wrestling bouts.

Mining Graduate Relates Activities

The experiences of a Nevada mining school graduate in South America were related by Martin Hannifan, Mackay School of Mines, '39, in a letter received by Professor Jay Carpenter this week.

Hannifan recently left the Walker Mine in Plumas County, California, to accept a position as junior engineer in the Andes Copper Mine near Potrerillos, Chile, in South America.

"Potrerillos is situated about 90 miles from Chavarral, the seaport, at 9,500 feet elevation," he wrote. "Here are located the smelter, oxide leaching plant, and a town of about 8,000 population. The mine is ten miles to the southeast at an elevation of nearly 10,000 feet. There is a town there of 2,000 population consisting of the mine labor and their families."

"All the Americans," he continued, "live in Potrerillos and we miners go to and from work in company cars. We work only the dayshift, the night shift being supervised by native bosses from plans laid out for them by the 'gringo' bosses of the day shift."

"My particular job at the present time is safety engineer. I have charge of about 40 men and the biggest problem at hand is dust control. I regret not having had the Bureau of Mines rescue training course, for now I must dig it out of an instruction book."

"The surrounding hills," he concluded "are entirely barren of vegetation but present a most varied and beautiful display of geology and color. I thought Nevada had the most conspicuous outcrops in the world, but ours do not compare with those of the Atacama desert here in Chile."

THE YEARBOOK PREVIEWS U. N. HISTORY

In the days of handle-bar mustaches, bicycles built for two, and leg o'mutton sleeves, the first editions of the Artemesia were published. With a faculty staff of 28 members, the students seemed to find college life too difficult to withstand, for the graduating class of '00 numbered eleven people...

Two fraternities and one sorority were organized on the campus. Manzanita Hall was popularly known as The Cottage. One of the most promising organizations was the University Opera company. Its major production of the year was a comic opera entitled "Olivette"...

The '99 football team had, among other scores: Nevada 63-University of Pacific (C.O.P.) 5; and Nevada 11-Santa Clara 6. The final page of the book portrays a skeleton head crowned with a laurel wreath, and captioned "What's the use!"...

Years passed. By the time '13 arrived the university had reached adolescence, but still had many infant organizations, among which was the Suffrage club. The cheery close of the year's Artemesia showed the editor enjoying a well-earned rest (running from the fire of an outraged cadet).

The '14 edition of the yearbook was the pride and joy of its staff. In this year the block N was first blocked, to become the traditional frosh "bugbear." The Mackay Day celebration was gaining a reputation at its second appearance at Nevada. 1914 was NOT Nevada's year athletically, as all games but the C.O.P. game were lost by overwhelming scores...

The Tri Delt She-Jinx was initiated. Among suggestions for improving Lincoln Hall was the invention of an elevated practice tower for the exclusive use of cadet band members. Male students agreed that the one fault with co-education was the newest modes of bonnets the latest style was scull caps with tall, stiff feathers.

Bonanza days reappeared at the university in 1929 with the largest, most elegant edition to date. It sported a silver cover with a blue wolf, and all pages were bordered in blue. Campus shots were taken from unusual heights. Surrealistic art vied with the vanishing chromo-type shot to make a most unusual yearbook...

Work on the 1940 Artemesia is nearly completed, Nellie Roseberry, editor, announced this week. All captions are completed, and most of the yearbook has been turned over to the printers. The annual cover will this year be blue and white leather, and will include many color photographs and unusual campus shots.

Most novel feature of the annual is the use of drapes for sorority and organization pictures. Miss Roseberry states that the use of drapes instead of the white shirts formerly used has been found very successful, and probably will be continued in other yearbooks.

Many informal group shots have been taken and will be included in the book. From now until the end of school little work remains for the annual staff, except the issuing of copies to students. If present plans are carried out, this will be done at the first of senior week.

SHE JINX DANCE GOES ROUND 'N' ROUND

There's a date jinx on the She Jinx, Delta Delta Delta's annual all women's party. Heretofore it has been held in the fall, but due to Homecoming and the many other fall activities, it was changed to an early spring affair.

March 25 was the first date chosen, but traveling presidents crossed that date off the list. April 5, the next chosen position on the social calendar, interfered with Mackay Day.

April 10 turned out to be the night selected for the only all men's night on the campus. Same night, same time, same place. Interesting for all concerned, but also inconvenient.

A badminton tournament stopped the use of the gym on April 11. The date went round and round and came out here, April 16, for the "Singing She Jinx."

Every woman is invited to come to the Jinx dressed as a song. Prizes will be awarded for the best costume, skit, song, and sorority representation.

The party, beginning at 7:00 p.m., will last an hour. Ridgely Pierson is chairman of the affair, being assisted by Margaret Sears, Mildred Missimer, Lois Poulsen, and Shirley Huber.

Alumnus Gives Speech To California Group

Sam Holiday, '39, former geology student at the University of Nevada and member of Phi Sigma Kappa social fraternity, will present a paper on paleontology tomorrow at the annual meeting of the Cordilleran section of the Geological Society of America held at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Holiday is now doing graduate work in geology at Stanford University, and working for his master's degree. About one hundred prominent west coast geologists are scheduled to attend the meeting, which starts today at U.C.L.A. and lasts through tomorrow.

Betty Hull, Pi Beta Phi, spent Easter with her parents in Los Angeles.

Ask Your Parents For Something Besides The Check Next Time

WASHINGTON, D. C., APRIL 12.—(Special)—Uncle Sam is asking college students to write home during March and request something beside the traditional check.

He wants the young men and women who live temporarily at school to remind their parents:

"Count me in when the census-taker comes to the 'family mansion' in April." It has been Uncle Sam's experience in 150 years of census-taking that while absence may make the heart grow fonder, it also tends to make the mind forgetful. Census bureau officials have good reason to believe that the accuracy of the count of students who happen to be away from home at the time of the census can be improved.

College students, temporarily away from home to attend school should be counted as members of the households in which they usually reside. Students who have no permanent residence other than the places in which they are living while attending school or college, however, should be enumerated there. Such students should call or write to the district supervisor for the census if they are not enumerated.

Feeling that college students, like every other section of the population, will benefit from a reliable national inventory, the U. S. bureau of the census is asking them to do their part in making the 1940 census a success. The bureau needs their help in the gigantic task of assembling facts about the 132 million Americans in two ways. First, by making sure that their parents will report them on the census count and second by supplying their parents with certain information they will need in order to report on them accurately.

The latter precaution is advisable even for students living at home, since they may be at class when the enumerator arrives. Offhand, it might be thought that parents would know everything about the students which would be called for in the census. The questions which are now being asked, however, are somewhat more complex than those of previous years, reflecting the need for facts bearing on the many problems which have arisen in the United States during the eventful decade just closing.

The queries on which parents are most likely to be uncertain are those relating to employment status. Information is wanted on the following:

Number of weeks the student worked in 1939 (equivalent full-time weeks). Number of hours he worked during the week of March 24-30, 1940. Present, or if seeking work, last occupation (exact nature of duties performed).

Present or last industry (kind of factory, store or other place of business). Present or last class of worker (wage or salary worker in private work; wage or salary worker in government work; employer; working on own account; unpaid family workers).

Whether at such work in private or non-emergency government work during week of March 24-30. If not, whether assigned to public emergency work (such as NYA) during that week.

If neither, whether seeking work. If not at work or seeking work, does student have a job or business, from which he is temporarily on vacation, sick leave or lay-off? (Students on Easter vacation between March 24-30 might be in this group).

The only other question which parents might have trouble answering concerns place of residence of the student on April 1, 1935. If the student was away from home at the time, in prep school, college or elsewhere, the parents are still to report his permanent residence, which normally would be the same as their own.

Students at West Point, Annapolis and other training institutions of the war department, navy department and U. S. coast guard, and student nurses living at hospitals or nurses' homes will be enumerated at those institutions.

Reporting to the census bureau is required by law, but the same statute protects those giving the answers against disclosure of individual returns or their use for taxation, investigation or regulation.

They will be used solely for statistical purposes. For example, it will be possible to determine from the 1940 census the number of college graduates in various occupations, the number of unemployed college graduates and a great deal of other important information never before available. Not only will the census produce material of this type, directly bearing on the students' prospects, but it will furnish sociological data of considerable value to students doing research.

They were alone in his car. Suddenly her homely features were lighted with a look of horror. "I see now that you are like all the others," she cried shrilly. "My Gawd!" he screamed. "What have I done?"

"You know, you foul beast!" she shouted into his little pink cauliflower ear. A knowing look came into his eye. Stark terror struck his heart, and in a frenzy of mad passion he snatched his Ingersoll from his pocket.

"Ah!" he bellowed. "It's 9:58. We can till make it!" And the wonderful thing about this little story is the fact that he wasn't like the others after all. He was faster. At ten o'clock she was sound asleep in Manzanita and he was hurrying to get to his other date!

Students, members of the faculty, and the public are invited by Professor Palmer to see the film. "Darling, am I the first man you ever loved?" "Yes, Reginald. All the others were fraternity boys."

Do You Know That . . .

By JEAN HARRIS

In just about four weeks the seniors will be adding their names to the long list of signatures in the "Book of the Oath." The signing of this pledge is one of the finest of our university's traditions—it's like the final recognition of the central purpose of a college education.

The book is beautifully bound in blue and silver and contains 100 vellum pages designed to form a permanent record of the pledge to service and high ideals of each successive class of graduates for 100 years.

The "Book of the Oath" was originated by President Clark in 1920, and as a lasting illustration of the ideal expressed by the Oath, he included on one page the university's World War Honor Roll. Of the 392 men from the U. of N. who served, 17 gave their lives and names to the Roll of Honor. The text of the Oath:

"I, about to be graduated from the UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, ACKNOWLEDGING my great debt to the Giver of all life who has given me life in Nevada, the State whose people are most blessed with pioneering strengths and whose land of all America is freshest from His hand, and most truly His cathedral, with mountain columns, star vaults and sage-incensed aisles, hourly urging me to reverent thinking and living.

"ACKNOWLEDGING my great debt to this Nation and to this commonwealth, which, through guardian organization and through open school doors, have jointly made it possible for me to come into the full riches of my natural and my racial inheritances.

"HERE AND NOW PLEDGE lifelong loyalty to the shaping ideals of American civilization: LIBERTY bounded by law drawn for the common weal, EQUALITY of opportunity for all, and JUSTICE administered in accord with the dictates of the common will, lawfully expressed.

"I HERE AND NOW FURTHER PLEDGE that in all the years to be granted to me to the fullness of my

And the fool soon dwindled to bone and hide (Even as you and I) But he tamped down the stew in his little inside (And said that he relished the stuff, beside) So some of him lived but the most of him died (Even as you and I)

President Hartman Urges Cooperation

President Hartman has expressed his willingness that the university cooperate in another Civil Aeronautics Student Pilot Training Program, providing the Civil Aeronautics Authority continues the program and the present student group completes the course satisfactorily.

To facilitate the starting of another group students desiring the course should register before the first of May so that the selection of students may be completed by the beginning of school in the fall.

The course will still have the status of an extra curricular activity. Students interested should see Clark Amens, director of the C.P.T.P., in the electrical engineering building.

alotted strength I SHALL SERVE, both alone and with others, to the high ends that uncleanness, greed, selfishness, charity, comradeship, and reverence shall widen, and that this, my generation, shall bequeath an even better and nobler civilization that come to it."

Suggested Rules for the Faculty that appeared in the Desert Wolf in Dec., 1926.

1. Never, under any circumstances, wake a student who has fallen asleep in your class. If his snoring annoys you, just have him turn over. This will make your class popular. Remember that 10 hours of sleep are required and that those who are registered for 16 hours won't be able to keep up their work.

2. Never get to your classes until ten minutes after the last bell has rung. This will give the students a chance to get off the campus and will let you have the day for yourself. Remember that time is just as valuable to the students, and that they too, have many important engagements.

3. Never interrupt the students while they are gossiping in class or trying to study for their next class. Remember this is the only chance they have of getting together for informal gatherings outside their evening sessions and perhaps the only opportunity to borrow a book or make a date.

4. Never flunk a student. You may have him back in your class next year.
