

GARAMENDI PLANS BIG YEAR FOR STUDENTS, UNIVERSITY

Leader Stresses Spirit, Enthusiasm in Message To U. N. Students

"With the cooperation of the student body, student officials, and administration, 1940-41 will be an outstanding year for the university," Ray Garamendi, ASUN president for the ensuing year, predicted today.

"Not only in the field of athletics and other inter-collegiate activities but from a scholastic standpoint all indications point to a successful future with rewards," the new leader said.

Plans for a gala homecoming in the fall which marks the sixty-sixth anniversary of the university are already being formulated, it was indicated, and special efforts will be made to bring alumni in all sections of the nation together for the occasion.

In a statement to the 'Brush, he emphasized the importance of upholding varsity traditions, the program to beautify the campus, and the close harmony of student groups with their executives in building up a better university spirit.

According to Garamendi, the program for solving the campus traffic problem is expected to be submitted to the Board of Regents shortly by Blue Key, the group handling the situation. When completed, the detailed plan will be embodied in the 1940-41 Frosh bible edited next fall.

Better intercollegiate cooperation and harmony was also stressed by the incoming president who stated that he intended to be present, if possible, at the national convention of college student presidents this summer. The convocation may be held on the Pacific coast this year.

"Our college must consider itself a part of the entire collegiate educational movement on the Pacific coast, he said, and endeavor to keep up with the highest standards possible. One of the finest means of promoting good-will is through intercollegiate contests and activities."

Garamendi will spend part of the summer beginning June 17 at Camp Ord on the Monterey peninsula where he will participate in advanced ROTC training. Later he will go to his home town, Ely, but will return to the campus several days before the opening of school to prepare for his official duties.

Dave Hartman, outgoing president, is expected to leave on a trip east in the early part of the summer and may return for graduate work at the university next fall.

"To Students of the University of Nevada:

"May 7, 1940. As a final message to the students of the university in my official capacity as ASUN president, I would like to express my appreciation and gratitude for the fine spirit of cooperation shown me during my semester in office. You have responded willingly when asked to pass on certain legislation deemed important by student officers and faculty and have shown that you are interested in the welfare and future of Nevada. This, I feel, is the spirit which will greet my successor, Ray Garamendi, and if such is the case, Nevada will go far."

Dance Club Gives Silver Tea Program

The University of Nevada dancing club presented a program at a "Silver Tea" in the Twentieth Century Club last week.

The tea was given to raise funds to enable the dancers to make a good-will tour of the state beginning next Saturday when they roue will go to Lovelock. Other trips, which are definitely scheduled, include Las Vegas, Ely, Elko, Pioche, and Mina.

Dancers who performed are Marie Hersh, Mary Catherine Carroll, Norma McDowell, Virginia Spencer, Billie Jean Stinson, Myrtle Elges, Evelyn Osgood, Elizabeth Schwartz, Viola Sorenson, and Jane Goodyear.

Musical selections were presented during the afternoon by Lisle Beeman, Mary Higgins, Ella Corbett, and Nellie Higgins.

Miskulin Awarded Attendance Medal But Wasn't There

Michael Miskulin, Ely, was absent from ROTC drill last Friday for the first time in two years. Ironical as it was, last Friday was Governor's Day, at which time awards and medals are presented deserving cadets.

Cadet Corporal Miskulin was to receive a fourragere of university colors for the best record in attendance and discipline but wasn't there.

The absence, however, will not be marked against him, according to Col. Oral E. Clark, professor of military science and tactics, because he was away on university business. Cadet Corporal Miskulin is a sophomore manager on the university track team which went to Davis Friday for the Far-Western conference meet.

Teacher Graduates Awarded Positions

Sixty-three candidates for teaching positions in Nevada schools will graduate this spring from the university. Dr. Fred W. Tranter, dean of the school of education and director of the teachers' placement service, said today.

Positions have already been awarded the following: Mrs. Nellie Lees, first grade, Pioche; Gene Wines, physical education, Boulder City; Thelma Eager, fifth grade and music, McGill; Betty Brannin, intermediate grades, Ruth; Maris Maule, intermediate grades, Ruth; Margery Cliff, English, Smith Valley; Martha Ann Holcomb, high school, Smith Valley; Patricia Meaker, elementary, McGill; Betty Nelson, elementary, McGill; Sybil Furchner, elementary, Kimberly.

High school, Tom West, upper grades, Kimberly. Listed as candidates for teaching positions are 33 women 4-year graduates, seven women normal graduates, and 23 men graduates.

"This number is about the same as last year's graduating class, and we were successful in placing every member last year in a teaching position, Tranter said.

"Many graduates cannot be offered the position they would like to have," he explained, "but I feel that we will place this year's graduates in positions before the school term next fall begins."

Schools throughout the state are availing themselves of more use of the university's teacher's placement service, and by so doing, Tranter said, greatly facilitates the employment of our state university graduates.

Burleigh to Attend Columbia University

Betty Burleigh, prominent senior journalism student, was admitted to the Pulitzer graduate of the school of journalism last week, at Columbia University in New York.

Miss Burleigh plans to leave for the east in September where she will live at the International house for the duration of her graduate course which will last until June 1941.

She has been very active on the University of Nevada campus being a member of the Sagebrush staff and of Phi Kappa Phi, Kappa Tau Alpha, Chi Delta Phi, Beta Sigma Omicron, Press Club, Blue Peppers, and on the senior week committee, the Ski Carnival publicity, and honor roll.

"I feel I have received a fine background in the Journalism courses at Nevada for the work which I will have to do to receive my Master's degree," Miss Burleigh stated.

She said that she would seek employment on a publication such as a newspaper or magazine after she has completed her course.

"Even though I am very excited at the prospect of going to New York, I know that I shall miss Nevada and particularly the University of Nevada," Miss Burleigh added.

Graduates To Sign Book of The Oath

Seniors may sign the book of the oath anytime between today and graduation, it was announced today by the president's office.

The book is signed each year by the graduating students and now has several hundred signatures of alumni. The tradition of signing the oath volume was originated during the term of office of Dr. Walter E. Clark, former president of the university.

Carpenter Inspects Treasure Mountain

Professor Jay Carpenter, director of Mackay School of Mines, spent Monday in San Francisco visiting the Golden Gate exposition.

Purpose of the trip was to determine whether any part of the Treasure Mountain exhibit, now being dismantled by workmen, can be used in a new mining exhibit planned for the museum of the Mackay School of Mines.

S. A. E. BASEBALL TEAM IS WINNER INTERFRAT TITLE

Taus Places Second As Season Is Concluded This Week

Sigma Alpha Epsilon emerged this week on the top side of the interfrat baseball league, taking winning honors with eight wins and no losses.

The Evans Streeters, dark horse of the year's race, got off to a fast start and were never headed all season. They climaxed a good season by handing the favored defending champion, A. T. O. a 5 to 2 loss last week, thereby clinching the title.

Taus Wins Three

A. T. O. caught up its games during the week, winning three games and losing one. Lincoln Hall, Sigma Phi Sigma, and Sigma Nu falling victim to the Taus sluggers, while S. A. E. topped the champions and ended their championship climb. Scores of the week's engagements were A. T. O. 8, Sigma Phi Sigma, 0; A. T. O., 31; Sigma Nu, 7; Lincoln Hall, 6; and A. T. O. 2; S. A. E., 5.

Thursday's game found the Lincoln Hall men nearly defeating the highly-touted Taus, dropping the game by one point, despite Bud Bacon's circuit club in the fourth inning with two men on. Johnny Etchemendy gave nine hits to the Hallmen, while rival flinger John Kneemeyer let the Taus collect but eight bingles.

Snakes Dumped

Friday's encounter between ATO and Sigma Nu provided the biggest score of the season when the Taus pounced on a 31 to 7 win over the erring Snakes. John Lemich and Ralston Hawkins, each socked circuit hits, while the other Taus sluggers collected four triples and three doubles. Sigma Nu's 15 errors contributed heavily to their loss. In the fourth inning, the entire ATO nine rounded the bases, while they nearly did so in second and third innings.

Phi Sigma Kappa defaulted last night's game with the SAE's.

Pitching Duel

Wednesday, Beta Kappa and SAE indulged in a pitching duel which saw the Evans Streets emerge 6 to 3 over the Beta K's. Little Bill Pecolee let the Beta Kappa hitters collect but four bingles, while Bet Kappa's Davis gave up but one more to SAE.

This year's play was considerably hampered by capricious weather and by numerous conflicting events, but mainly by the failure of the Independents to put a team on the diamond, end by Phi Sigma Kappa's inability to keep a playing team on hand. Players agreed this week that some action will be taken next year to prevent a repetition of schedule scrambling such as occurred during this year's play.

Final standing of the league is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
S. A. E.	8	9	1.000
A. T. O.	7	1	.888
Beta Phi Sigma	6	2	.750
Beta Kappa	5	3	.625
Sigma Nu	4	4	.500
Phi Sigma Kappa	1	3	.250
Lincoln Hall	2	6	.250
Lambda Chi	0	6	.000
Independents	defaulted	all games.

Engineers Install Incoming Officers

The last meeting of the Associated Engineers, featuring the installation of newly elected officers and a speaker program, was held April 25.

New officers of the organization installed during the meeting were Cyril Ham, president, Gerald McCormack, vice-president, and Bill Orr, secretary-treasurer.

Guest speaker for the evening was Bernard Hartung, Nevada state highway safety engineer, who spoke on the subject of "Highway Safety and the New Pennsylvania Pike." Motion pictures on the construction of the Pennsylvania Pike were presented before the group.

Plans of the associated activities for the fall semester were discussed at the meeting. A plaque bearing the names of the graduating seniors will be installed at an early date on the engineering bench.

Cyril Ham Elected Lambda Chi Prexy

Cyril Ham, junior electrical engineer, was elected president of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity Thursday. He succeeds Mitchell Cobega, who is retiring from the office to attend the army air school at Hamilton field.

Ham has been very active on the campus. He is president of the Associated Engineers, Blue Key, and has been on the honor roll several semesters during his university career.

He will hold office until December, 1940.

Formal initiation ceremonies for men elected to Nu Eta Epsilon, national honorary engineering fraternity, were held April 24 at the home of President Leon W. Hartman.

Engineering students initiated were Melvin Tilley, Bill Potter, Don Townsend, Cyril Ham, Charles Bacon, Dudley Davis, and Bill Mitchell. Professor William Davidson was named an honorary member of the organization.

Following the formal initiation ceremonies a banquet was given in honor of the new members at the El Cortez hotel.

Bernard Hartung, state highway safety engineer, was guest speaker at the banquet. Hartung discussed subjects relating to highway safety problems.

Activity plans for the fall semester were discussed by the group and an election of officers was held. Charles Bacon was elected president of the society for the coming year. Registrar To Mail Grades By May 18

Grades will be in the mail May 18, with exception of Seniors, Registrar Jeanette C. Rhodes said today, and with them Nevada will bid farewell to its present grading system.

In its place will be the new system of grading decided upon by faculty action this year. The new arrangement will facilitate the teachers' grading problems as well as ease the task of compiling and keeping individual grade records.

Four Marks Given

In brief, the new system condenses the six passing grades—1 to 3.5—into four passing marks—A, B, C, and D. In terms to this year's marks, the new grades will be as follows: 1 to 1.6 will become an A in next year's grading, 1.6 to 2.5 will comprise a B, 2.5 to 3.2 becomes C, and 3.2 to 3.9 will be a D. In all the new marking system is merely a simplification of the old.

If students are wondering what happens to their present credit when the new system goes into operation in the fall, they can relax, for those credits are translated into terms of the new system.

The present requirement for graduation from the College of Arts and Science, for example, is 126 credit hours, 63 of which must be above 2.5. The new system raises to 252 the grade points above a C necessary for graduation, but with it is raised the value of the present credits.

For each credit hour a student now has above 2.5, that student is credited with 4 credit hours in the new system. Thus, if Joe Smith now has 30 credit hours above a 2.5 next year he will have 120 applying toward graduation. A junior this year having 63 credit hours above 2.5 would thus have already satisfied the quality-grade requirements for graduation.

Revisions Made by Faculty

In arriving at the new arrangement, the faculty committee dealing with the subject determined the relative percentages of the different grade levels into which students at university fall, and these groups were put in terms of A, B, C, and D. The average grade prevalent at Nevada was termed a C, the excellent grades A, above average a B, C good, while those whose work falls below the average of the other students will receive a D.

The original grading system at Nevada consisted of a 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 system, with the 1 as the highest grade and 5 as the failing mark. Then it was decided to insert half-points, and thus arrived at the present six-passing mark system.

WE'LL STILL SING THE SAME OLD SONG

That's right, they're wrong. For according to the San Francisco Chronicle it is rumored that the singing students of the University of Nevada will no longer render musically, "and sing again the sweet old songs of U. of N. so gay" as their Alma Mater song.

But, according to the report from the Chronicle, "By Truckee's gleaming waters, ever clear! ever clear!" will replace it, and "will be THE official song from now on."

They're wrong, for according to ASUN officials, the official song is still "U. of N. So Gay."

In part, the Chronicle article read: "After fifteen years of looking for a suitable official song, the University of Nevada has finally found one. And the authors are two San Franciscans, James Price, publicity and script writer, and Dino Alessi, composer salesman."

"The two are also the authors of 'When the Leaves Are Falling,' 'Love That Is Lost,' and 'Keep That Old Smile Smiling.'"

However, despite the Chronicle, when you hear, "Let's all sing the Alma Mater," stand up and let your voice ring out with the "U. of N. So Gay." If you don't you might be a bit embarrassed if your singing and the band's music don't melodiously harmonize.

Said the music department, the other day—that's right, your face should be red.

Six Students Elected Into Masque and Dagger

Six students were elected into Masque and Dagger, honorary dramatics society at a recent meeting of the group.

Those elected and feted at a banquet at the Tavern are Jeannette Taylor, Nonnie Goldwater, Betty Brannin, Tom Cary, Guy Allen and Grant Sawyer.

New officers for next year are Richard Sawyer, president; Ridgety Pierson, vice-president.

NYA Proves Big Aid To Eighty-nine U. of N. Students

University of Nevada's national youth administration allotment of $10,099 has enabled 89 needy students to earn an average of $14.20 per month during the school year, according to State Administrator Margaret Griffin.

Miss Griffin was well-satisfied with the accomplishments of NYA students at the university, pointing out that 72 per cent of the needy students were above the general student body grade average last semester. The scholastic average last semester. The scholastic average was 2.5027; NYA students made an average of 2.1996.

Another survey showing the accomplishments of NYA students after graduating revealed that the majority of former relief students are successful. Students who once received college assistance who now have positions and have attained honors are:

Nine teachers employed in Nevada schools; one employed with General Electric laboratories at Schenectady, New York; six mining engineers in Nevada and Colorado; one engineer now employed by a firm in Chicago; one local manager of the United Press association bureau at San Diego, California; one second lieutenant in the Marine Corps; two second lieutenants of the United States air corps; a recipient of a $1,000 per year fellowship at Cornell University and a candidate for Ph. D.; and one law student at the University of California.

Miss Griffin explained that all NYA work is carried, in addition to the regular school schedule. When possible, students are assigned to jobs related to the field of work in which they are majoring and which will not displace any regularly employed workers. Employees must maintain a 3.0 scholastic average any be between the ages of 16 and 24, inclusive.

Annual Dinner Set For Phi Kappa Phi

The annual banquet for alumnae and active members of Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society, will be held at the Riverside hotel at 7:00 p. m. Saturday.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Norman W. Pendleton, formerly a pastor of the Federated Church here. His subject will be "Economic Experimentation the Way of Economic Salvation."

L. E. Chadwick, instructor in the economics department will entertain the group with several tenor solos during the course of the banquet.

The committee in charge of the banquet is Professor A. L. Higginbotham, chairman, Miss Margaret Jensen, and Dwight Billings.

A final meeting of Phi Kappa Phi, for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year, and for the election of graduate and undergraduate members to the organization will be held tomorrow, Professor William Smythe, president of the Nevada chapter, said.

Board of Visitors To Be Here Friday

Eight members of the honorary board of visitors will be on the campus Friday to tour the university grounds and inspect the inner workings of the institution.

The representatives who are parents of the Nevada students and who will be here are: W. H. Marks, Virginia City; Mrs. Andrew Kinneberg, Battle Mountain; Mrs. M. Vuich, Tonopah; Mrs. R. R. Orr, Pioche; Mrs. Henry Atchison, Gardnerville; Ralph Dixon, Hawthorne; Fernando Giococchia, Elko, and Mrs. David Patterson, Dyer.

Chief Justice E. J. L. Taber of the Nevada supreme court will probably join the group as ex-officio chairman. The members of the board are chosen every two years and are appointed by the governor. The delegates are selected from various sections in the state from which students are registered.

Journalism Society Initiates Three Students

Initiation of three members elected on the basis of scholarship and character, yesterday was held at a meeting of the University of Nevada chapter of Kappa Tau Alpha, national society honoring scholarship in journalism.

Those initiated are Miss Elizabeth Burleigh, graduating senior; Basil Benedict, senior student, and Frank McCulloch, junior student. Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, a member of the group's national council, presided.

An election of officers followed, with Frank Sullivan being elected president; Benedict, secretary, and Prof. Higginbotham, adviser.

Yearbooks Appear On Campus Monday

The 1940 Artemisia was distributed to students today and yesterday by members of the yearbook staff.

The book centers around a futuristic theme, with the first page devoted to a campus scene with an airplane overhead, symbolizing progress. Throughout the publication, the write-ups and photography are designed to make the student conscious of the future.

The book follows a blue and white color scheme with the cover exhibiting a coed in ski togs and blue lettering. Blue lines set off the pictures in the body of the Artemisia with small clouds lending an added color effect.

Innovations found in the 1940 yearbook consist of the most popular man and woman on the campus and a unique series of inspiration shots.

Louis Peraldo and Bette Cochran, most popular man and woman, are shown in a two page series. Margaret Nash modeled the inspiration pictures, showing the typical life of a Nevada coed.

Fraternity and sorority panels followed tradition with a panel of members, and informal shot of the house interior, and a separate picture of the house president.

Do You Know That . . .

By JEAN HARRIS

Generally only once in every undergraduate life is he or she privileged to forego the final week of school and enjoy the pleasures and relaxations of Senior Week. Starting yesterday, Seniors of the class of 1940, embarked upon their week of hooky and a whirlwind of picnics, teas, dances and athletic contests which will end with graduation exercises next week.

Numerous classes since the beginning of the university have already enjoyed their Senior Weeks and look back upon them as the culmination of an enjoyable era. So peering into the files we find that:

30 Years Ago
The faculty of the University of Nevada took their final slam at the 1910 class of seniors and edged them out in the annual faculty-senior baseball game 5-4. The seniors were the baseball champions of the school having previously defeated teams representing the other classes at the university. The victory by the faculty gave the professors a claim to the University of Nevada baseball championship for 1910.

The University of Nevada high school track team, coached by Silas E. Ross, took third place in an Academic track meet held on Mackay Field. High school teams from Reno, Susanville, Tonopah, Goldfield, Elko and the university competed in the meet which was won by the Reno pepsters. It was the last meet at the university which many of the seniors were privileged to witness as undergraduates.

A bronze tablet commemorating the gift of the Mackay Training Quarters to the University by Clarence H. Mackay was unveiled in the training quarters on Commencement Day. Seniors of the class of 1910 can still see the tablet which is placed above the huge fireplace in the building as well as shots of yesteryear's athletic squads which line the walls of the Block N room.

20 Years Ago
Nevada athletes lost their second and last contest of the year by dropping a close track meet 68-63 to the California Aggies from Davis. The result of the meet was decided by the 880-yard re-

University of Nevada Debate Squad Concludes Highly Successful Season

Probably the most successful forensic season ever enjoyed here was concluded last week with the University of Nevada in possession of two championships and other high rankings in Pacific Coast debate circles. Receiving the highest award possible in the field of oratory on the West Coast, against competition from all the larger schools, Robert Joy, senior student and debate manager, won first place in that event at the Pacific Forensic League Tournament.

Then Tom Cooke and Kenneth Mann, sophomore debaters, won the junior college debate championship at the Pacific Coast Forensic League Junior Tournament at Stockton.

Stockton Tourney
In the Stockton tournament held early this semester, Charles Mapes and Russel Strom, sophomore debaters, received the highest judges' decision on quality of speaking as a team.

At the same tournament, Mapes received third place in the "town meeting" discussion, while the other Nevada debate team was walking away with the championship.

The squad's record was the best in the tournament. Entering with only two debate teams and competing against thirty other schools, most of them with large enrollments, Nevada students won a debate championship, a tie for third in debate, the highest judges' rating for speaking ability as a team, and third place in the "town meeting."

Women Gain Honors
In the second debate trip of the semester, Nevada again shared well, with the women this time garnering the honors.

Competing in the senior college debate tournament at Redlands, California, Betty Mason and Katherine Devlin, varsity women's debate team, scored a fourth place against the women's teams from all the larger schools while Miss Devlin received third place in oratory and reached the finals in both extemporaneous and impromptu speaking.

Joy Crowned Chairman

As a climax to an already very successful semester, Robert Joy, with his prize winning oration, "A Temple to Nemesis," won the oratorical contests at Corvallis, Oregon, receiving the distinction of having his speech named as one of the best college orations delivered in the United States this year.

Not only did Professor Robert S. Griffin and his debaters win fame for the school this semester in the field of forensics, but last semester as well.

Fall Semester

At a late fall tournament in Stockton, Robert Joy reached the finals in extemporaneous speaking while Charles Mapes in the same tournament reached the finals in the impromptu speaking.

"Reaching the finals or semi-finals in any of these big coast tournaments is a marvelous achievement in itself," said Professor Griffin. "Competition among schools in forensics on the West Coast is very keen."

Aside from their fine showing away from home, the Nevada debaters met last year's intercollegiate champions from Southern California and a senior college of Pacific team in the local auditorium, losing closely contested audience decisions.

Those students who participated in these tournaments and who were responsible for the showing are Robert Joy, senior debate manager, Betty Mason, women's debate manager; Katherine Devlin, Andrew Roosaschi, Charles Mapes, Donald Downs, Russel Strom, James Tranter, Bill Casey, Tom Cooke, Bill Lattin, Kenneth Mann, Jack Sreeter, Darrel Birch, Clifton Young, Warren Ferguson, Mary Arentz, Fred McIntyre, Artemus Ham, and Cameron Batjer.

ED. NOTE—The play was well attended.

President and Mrs. Walter E. Clark entertained with a delightful banquet at the Riverside hotel in honor of the graduating seniors.

After a bountiful repast, inspiring and timely addresses, and fitting remarks by the toastmaster, everyone joined in the college song and yell, finally giving the good old "20" yell and then departing for home and bed it being quite late.

At the commencement exercises, degrees in mining were granted for the first time since 1917. At the beginning of the Great War, almost all of the upperclass mining students enlisted and were only able to graduate in 1920 after being discharged from the services.

10 Years Ago
The annual senior play was called off by the committee in charge of the production. Lack of time for adequate preparation and too many university entertainments during the final weeks of school were the reasons advanced for the cancellation. A University of Nevada Play Productions show "Three Dead Files" was to be the final dramatic production of the year.

Bud Miller, former University of Nevada student, visited friends here last week. He is now attending the Western School of Business in Sacramento.

it's helpful to millions*

The familiar Telephone Directory is America's No. 1 Reference Book—consulted millions of times a day by men, women and children in every walk of life.

Besides being "America's Calling List," it is also one of the most helpful buying guides. In the classified "Where to Buy It" section (yellow pages) you will find the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of dealers who sell what you want—many of them listed under the trade marks of scores of nationally advertised brands.

This idea is one of many pioneered by the Bell System to increase the value of your telephone service.

Why not telephone home often? Rates to most points are lowest any night after 7 P. M. and all day Sunday.

Rushing Is Changed By Pan-Hell Council

An entirely revised rushing program has been proposed for next year by the Pan-Hellenic council.

Most radical change is the condensing of all rushing parties into one week early at the beginning of the fall semester.

An innovation will be introduced in the form of a class for freshmen girls conducted by the Pan-Hellenic council.

New Central Office

A central office will be established somewhere on the campus for the purpose of distributing party invitations.

A sorority will send invitations for the first party to half of the total number of girls it is rushing.

Each sorority will give three teas and two dessert hours. The teas will be from 4 until 6 in the afternoon.

On Friday, the last day, each sorority will give a tea and a girl should accept the invitation of the house whose bid she intends to accept.

Combined Presentation Teas Besides this revision of rushing, the presentation teas will also undergo a radical change.

Social Doings

The President Says...

By DR. LEON W. HARTMAN
THIS AND THAT

King David, who lived about 1000 B. C., was the father of King Solomon, who, in turn, was famous for his sense of justice, for his wisdom and for his good judgment—except in matters pertaining to women, for he is reported to have had 700 wives, more wives than any man possessing good judgment should ever have had! He was also reported to have had a lively interest in the Queen of Sheba.

According to the Biblical account, King David had purposed in his heart to build a great temple in Jerusalem, but he was not permitted to accomplish his heart's desire. In the language of the Bible I have prepared for the House of the Lord a hundred thousand talents of gold, and a thousand talents of silver, and again "Even three thousand talents of gold, of the gold of Ophir and seven thousand talents of refined silver, to overlay the walls of the houses withal."

Basing our estimates on the authority of the Bible, King David was perhaps the richest man who ever lived. An enterprising newspaper reporter recently interested himself in calculating the gold and silver which King David had accumulated for the purpose of building the temple.

Assuming the current value of an ounce of gold to be $35 and that of an ounce of silver to be 71 cents, the reporter calculated that King David's gold today would be worth almost $6,337,700,000 and his silver would have a value of approximately $1,264,800,000 in terms of our American money. The total amounts to $7,642,500,000—a very tidy sum even in these days when we are quite accustomed to speak in terms of billions of dollars, although it is very doubtful if any one of us, even a great banker, knows the meaning of the words "a billion dollars."

On December 20, 1939, the amount of coin and currency in circulation in the United States reached a record high mark of $7,679,000,000, a sum which approximates the reporter's computation of the total wealth of King David. One is perhaps justified if he considers this reported wealth of King David to be a customary oriental exaggeration.

We often speak today of the huge national debt and we frequently wonder if it will ever be liquidated. Was there ever a time when a national surplus instead of a national debt perplexed the political wiseacres of the time? Yes, in 1884, the chief plank in the platform of one of the two great political parties in this nation demanded that the surplus in the treasury of the United States be reduced. It was believed at that time that the Federal Government had too much cash on hand for its own good and for the good of the people. Mirabile dictu!

The White House, official residence of the President of the United States, was the first public building to be erected in the city of Washington. Its cornerstone was laid on October 13, 1792, while George Washington was still alive. However, he was not present at the ceremony of laying the cornerstone. The first occupants of the White House were John Adams and his wife Abigail Smith Adams, who took up their residence there in November 1800. Mrs. Adams was a writer of note, although she was not a college bred woman. Among other articles she wrote, "The Familiar Letters of John Adams and His Wife Abigail Ddams During the Revolution."

John Adams was a member of the Continental Congress and, along with Jefferson, Franklin Sherman and Livingstone, served as a member of the committee appointed to draw up the Declaration of Independence. In 1777 he was appointed commissioner to France; in 1778 he secured a loan in Holland for this country and in 1782 he negotiated a treaty with Holland recognizing the independence of the United States. Adams took part in concluding the provisional and the final treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain and in 1875 he went to London as the first ambassador of the United States at the Court of St. James.

During the period 1785-1788 Mrs. Adams accompanied her husband to Paris and to London. Her letters to her husband reflect the conditions of the time of the Revolution and are of historic and social value.

It is of interest to observe that the first college graduate to reside over the White House was Mrs. Grover Cleveland who, as Frances Folsom, was graduated in 1885 from Wells College, situated on Cayuga Lake at Aurora, New York. Mrs. Cleveland entered the White House as a bride in 1886. After the death of President Cleveland, she married Professor Thomas J. Preston, Jr., of Princeton University. Mrs. Preston, now 76 years of age, lives at Princeton, New Jersey.

The estate of Virginia is commonly known as the "Mother of Presidents," having given eight presidents to the nation. Ohio stands next in line as a runner-up, having produced seven

Letters to the Editor

Heckle, our love:
Sob! Sob! So you are leaving your dear old Alma Mater! You may forget the tedious hours spent compiling the paper, but you are not forgotten for you leave behind your ideals and ideas set forth in your editorial columns of the Sagebrush.

Four years of work here at the University have not been merely a passing of time for you, but they have begun your life work in journalism. The experience you have gained has helped build a foundation upon which you can travel far. Surely, success is ahead for you, Heckle, if you continue to achieve as you have in the University.

Yes, Heckle, we will miss your Ipana smile beaming at us from behind your cluttered desk in the Sagebrush's cubbyhole. But, there is one consolation for your graduation. Your suc-presidents. New York state has furnished nine vice presidents of whom Van Buren, Fillmore and Theodore Roosevelt became president.

A recent news dispatch reports that in the last week in March the great air lines of the United States completed a full year of service without a single case of death or serious injury through accident. Flying night and day along the nation's various sky lanes commercial transport planes carrying individual died; not even one million passenger miles. And not a single individual died; not even one notable accident occurred. This is a remarkable record and is without parallel in any other country of the world. It is not difficult to understand why the traveling public is becoming air-minded.

Changes Promised For Frosh Bible

As one of several innovations to be introduced in the Frosh handbook for 1941, the pamphlet will be printed in blue ink instead of the traditional black, Mary Cantlon and Bill Wylie, heads of the publication, said this week.

The entire makeup and typography of the book will also be revised and a number of new cuts of the campus added.

ASUN and AWS constitutional changes will appear in the book as well as completely new sections on athletics, finance control, and the student athletic manager system.

An entire section, incorporating the new regulation that automobiles will not be parked on the campus between 7 A. M. and 4 P. M., and other new regulations, will be devoted to campus traditions and methods of enforcing them.

After the summer binge is over we shall be back, two bigger and cheerier cheeries, to welcome and cooperate with Mac in his endeavors.
Ah, Heckle, you were our first love and training you gave us. If we could and training you gave us. If we could afford it we would shatter a champagne bottle upon your bow to launch you on your way to success.
Thanks, Heckle! And goodbye.

WHAT WE THINK

By JACK RHOADES

When Nevada withdrew from the Far Western Conference last week at Fresno, it appears to us that she made a very poor move. Of course football will benefit because big name schools will be on the schedule and therefore more money in the coffers but what about the other sports such as basketball, track, tennis and golf. It looks to us that Nevada is trying to sacrifice all of the so-called minor sports for the great game of football. When the next season rolls around that is to say 1941, Nevada may have a hard time getting schools on her schedule because the position of independent is a bad spot.

All Fraternity Baseball Team
The season is all over and the S. A. E.'s are champs and with the closing of a season we will try to pick a fraternity team. Well here goes:
Catcher—Eaton, S. A. E.
First base—Beta Kappa.
Second base—Johns, Sigma Phi Sigma.

Third base—Hawkins, A. T. O.
Shortstop—Thompson, A. T. O.
Center field—Flagg, A. T. O.
Pitcher—Pecolle, S. A. E.

This team is made up of players that played in the positions named. There are men like Mayer (PSK) and Beloso (SN) that are not on the team because the men, who are both potential all fraternity outfielders, sacrificed their making the team as outfielder to fill a needed spot for their house.

Back Through the Year
July, 1939—J. Aiken breezes in town from Ohio.

August, 1939—Shuey breezes in town from Ohio.

August, 1939—Football begins.

September, 1939—Six players cut from squad.

October, 1939—Miss Margaret E. Mack makes the headlines.

November, 1939—Weather today is fair, low pressure area moving over Nevada from the Northwest.

December, 1939—Nevada beats C. O. P. and wins conference title.

January, 1940—School is now in its second semester.

February, 1940—Ski tourney held with success.

March, 1940—The low pressure area finally reached Nevada and it is raining today.

April, 1940—Still raining.

May, 1940—School is out.

The Conference Track Meet

Walt Powers finished his running career last week-end in a blaze of glory in the conference track meet held in Fresno. Walt won both the 100 and 220 yard dashes and he finally realized his college ambition.

Bob Cameron also finished his career by taking third in a good field of pole vaulters. He had trouble judging his speed and getting his step in his pet event because the meet was held at night and it was Bob's first night track meet.

Others to get points were McNabney in the low hurdles, Trigerero in the 440 and Polish in the javelin.

What will be in store for the athletics of Nevada in the future is a big question but it looks like next fall will be a banner season in football as for the other sports. Well I don't know.

Star Baseball Team Selected

An all-interfraternity baseball team was selected this week by baseball representatives of each of the teams entered.

Each house was allowed to pick a first and second team, but not allowed to include members of its own team.

The team was then selected on a basis of five points for those selected by the houses on the first team and three points for those on the second team.

Basta Appointed Football Manager

Joe McDonnell, graduate manager, and chairman of the athletic managers selection committee announced last week that George Basta had been named as head student football manager for the season, and that Arthur Kinneberg had been appointed as head student basketball manager.

On the committee of selection for basketball manager were David Hartman, ASUN president, Gordon Thompson, president of the Block N. society, C. B. Schuardt, varsity basketball coach, Emery Conoway, incumbent student manager, Ted Olson, representative of the varsity basketball squad, and Joe McDonnell, non-voting chairman.

The committee for selection of the football manager was Jim Aiken, varsity football coach, Joe McDonald, representative of the football squad, Dave Hartman, Gordon Thompson, Pat Eaton, appointed by the executive committee to represent the incumbent football manager who resigned in the middle of the 1939 season, and Joe McDonnell, non-voting chairman.

"While in session, the committee gave consideration to some means of reestablishing the student managerial system for the 1940 football season," McDonnell said.

He pointed out that due to the shortage of prospects who were eligible to be appointed student managers, the committee thought it advisable to appoint to the position one of the incumbent manager of a major sport in order to avoid the awarding of a Block N for only one semester's service.

"Furthermore, it was necessary to choose a man of upperclass standing, and due to the fact that there was no one out for the football management of at least junior standing in the university, the committee deemed it advisable to appoint Basta, who is serving as varsity track manager," McDonnell said.

Basta will hold office through the 1940 season after which a new manager will be appointed, according to the A. S. U. N. constitution.

George Basta, junior A. T. O., was named head student football manager for next season, this week by the athletic managers selection committee.

Arthur Kinneberg, sophomore A. T. O., was appointed basketball manager.

Hartman To Speak At Nevada Schools

Dr. Leon W. Hartman will speak at the graduating exercises of five Nevada and northern California high schools during May and June, it was announced today.

First on the schedule is Smith Valley, which will hold the ceremonies on May 16. He will journey to Susanville on May 28.

The president will deliver the main address in Loyalton on May 29 and a week following will speak to the graduates of Reno high school in the state building downtown.

The final talk of the tour will be given on June 10 in Fallon when the exercises will be held for the Churchill county high school.

Wolf Tracksters Place Fourth In Conference Meet

Walt Powers, running his last for Nevada, led the Wolf Pack tracksters to fourth place in the annual Far Western conference meet Saturday at Davis.

Fresno won the meet for the ninth consecutive time with nine first places for 78 1.16 points. College of the Pacific was second with 38½. California Aggies won the relay, last event on the program, to overtake Nevada and nose out the Wolves for third by a fraction, 17 1-3 to 17. Chico State was fifth with 16.

Ten of Nevada's 17 points came from twin victories in the sprints by Walter Powers, husky blonde speedster from Sparks, who wound up with championships in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Powers defeated a number of veteran rivals, including Nelson of Fresno, Reams of Chico, Ritchie of Pacific.

Powers was hardly pressed in the 100 which he ran in :9.8, equalling the conference mark he held in 1937, but short of the present record of :9.5 set by Reams in 1938.

The Nevadans won by nearly six yards in the 220, in the fast time of :21.7, but was far short of Nelson's record of 21 flat.

John Polish threw the javelin 171 feet 5 inches to take a third for Nevada in the javelin, which was won at 199 feet. Elwyn Trigerero was fourth in the fast 440 which was won at :49.8.

Jim McNabney, promising Nevada sophomore hurdler, took third in the low hurdles, which were won at :24.2. Bob Cameron, senior pole vaulter, scaled 12 feet, 3 inches to take third. The event was won by Hoffman of Fresno who set a new record of 13 feet 9 inches, shattering Dutch Warmerdam's old mark.

Best mark of the day was a remarkable two-mile record set by little Bobby Madrid of Fresno, who galloped the grind in 9:29.5. Bonnefield of Pacific sailed the discus 148 feet 3¾ inches for a new record.

Men who will receive varsity awards in track for the 1940 season include: Walt Powers, Bob Cameron, Jarrell Perkins, James McNabney, Paul Seaborn, John Polish, Harry King, Pio Mastroianni, and Elwyn Trigerero.

UN Golfers Second In Fresno Match

The University of Nevada golf team finished the playing season in Fresno over the week-end by taking second in the conference meet. Cal. Aggies won the meet by out-shooting the Nevada team when the chips were down. Fresno State and Chico State finished in the second and third position, while C. O. P. did not compete.

Bob Taylor of Nevada was low medalist for the meet with 155, with Bob Taylor of Nevada was low ishing third and fourth. Joe Kasakowski finished well down in the field with 176.

The team finished the season with 4 wins, 4 losses and 2 ties, which is a good record for the first season of intercollegiate competition. Of the team four players only Cameron will graduate and so Nevada will have reason to point for a fine season next year.

Two Freshmen Win Track Numerals

Thomas Kent and Harry Paille are the two University of Nevada freshmen to win awards in track this season, Coach Jim Bailey said yesterday.

The two fresh stars will probably receive their sweaters and numerals sometime this summer, he added.

Due to unfavorable track conditions, the three-way meet with Reno and Sparks high schools was called off, and this cut down the chances of the various members of the squad to win their awards.

In order to receive a sweater for track, it is necessary to win at least five points in one meet," Bailey said.

"The season was so very short this year that several of the men who would have won a sweater were unable to do so."

Those almost certain of winning a sweater in track had the season continued were Gene Mastroianni, Warren Hart, Jack Kearney, and Hale Tognoni.

Those who took the necessary five points in a single meet, but who have already received a sweater for another major sport are Geno Quillici, Tony Sutich, and Alf Sorrenson.

BAZZINI NAMED AGGIE PRESIDENT

John Bazzini, Junior Agriculture student from Wadsworth, was elected as president of the Aggie Club at the meeting held Tuesday. He succeeds Loyal Willis, who graduates this month.

Other officers elected were George Freye, vice-president; Lee Hansen, secretary-treasurer, and Harold Jacobsen, historian.

Bert Rice was put on the head of a committee to work on a Horse Show which is planned to be put on next fall.

GEORGE FREY ELECTED FUTURE FARMER HEAD

George Frey, sophomore agriculture student from Fallon, was elected president of Future Farmer of America Collegiate Chapter at the meeting held Thursday.

Other officers elected were John Giomi, vice-president; Elliot Lima, secretary; John Cantion, treasurer, and Wendell Leavitt, reporter.

The F. F. A. has concluded a very successful year, being largely responsible for the success state F. F. A. convention held on the campus last month.

THEY'LL LEAVE THEIR MARK IN THE WORLD

History has it that the pyramids of Egypt, the Great Wall of China, and Babylonian hieroglyphics embody the carved descriptive pictures and names of the famous people of that time.

And, tradition has it at the university of Nevada that all graduating engineering students and Lincoln hall men that pass through its portals shall leave behind an indelible name upon either the engineering plaque or Lincoln hall's "carved table."

Lincoln Hall's ornamental "carved table," which was originated in 1916, will bear at the end of this semester, the newly added names of Ned Dickson, Ike Caraco, Lewis Sanborn, Herman Konnerth, and Ernest Jorgensen.

To be eligible to place his name upon this honorary table, the student must have lived at Lincoln Hall for a period of seven semesters and must have belonged to the Lincoln Hall Association for at least one year and a half. Students who live at the dormitory are well informed that if they sit on this table they will receive five swats.

The names that will be inscribed on the engineer's 1940 copper-bronze plaque which will decorate the engineers' bench along with the plaque of the past years, will include mining

SPRING SEMESTER OF 1940 WAS EVENTFUL

BY MARY HILL

At the end of the spring semester of '39-'40 an eventful and colorful period has been written into the annals of the University of Nevada. Four months have marked many interesting and important events.

First Week

Gene McDaniel led the university honor roll for the fall semester with an average of 1.03. Registration figures for the first week school were 871, with 200 more men than women enrolled. "Ah, Wilderness" was announced as the first campus play of the spring semester. Walter Wilcox was selected as candidate to West Point by Congressman James Scrugham. The Wolves prepared for their final league season, while basketball fans expected some fast games. Nevadans' hopes for retaining national ski laurels rose with the enrollment of Bob Roecker. Sorority rushing plans were under way, with a week-long rushing period scheduled. Nevada benefactor S. Frank Hunt died. After the Blue Key get-together, dance the big question of the week was, "Who are the most popular girl and man on the campus?"

Second Week

Betty Cochran and Louie Preado were named most popular students. Committees were beginning work on the Ski Carnival plans. Al Caton was named head of the Mackay Day committee. Frank McCulloch, of the high school presidents' convention. Ralph Isaac, junior student, was drowned at Virginia Lake. Eleanor Roosevelt was scheduled to speak in Reno on April 9. Margaret Jensen was named to the Finance Control Board. Nine men and a girl had their first official ride in their flying course.

Third Week

Honorary captains were chosen for the R. O. T. C. and band. The women's rifle team was beginning practice. People were asking, "I wonder what's become of Elsie?" Mary Margaret Cantlon and Wilfred Wylie were named "frosh bible" heads.

Fourth Week

Oscar, the swan, was moved permanently to Virginia Lake, officials stated. Spring football practice began. Beards were sprouting in full glory. Mary Mahoney elected Saddle and Spurs head. Nevada debaters, Russell Strom and Charles Mapes, ranged high in Stockton tournament.

THIS TIME THE MOUNTAIN COMES TO NEVADA

Part of Treasure Mountain, now being dismantled on Treasure Island in San Francisco, may reside in the museum of the Mackay School of Mines, if present plans of Professor J. Carpenter, director of the mining school, are completed.

Receiving word from exposition authorities this week that the exhibit was to be wrecked, Professor Carpenter said today that he will leave Monday for a visit on the exposition site to determine whether any part of Treasure Mountain can be used in a new mining display planned for a newly-provided space in the mining museum.

The new exhibit room, equal in area to the present museum space, has been provided by the recent completion by WPA workmen of a basement addition to the museum.

The present museum is confined to mineral and ore display. Professor Carpenter said he plans to provide the new show-room with a modern exhibit consisting of old and modern mining machinery, model mines and mills, and a modern mining laboratory. With this in view, he will visit the dismantled exhibit to reclaim some of the material for the planned exhibit. Such material could, he said, with aid of friends and graduates of the Mackay School of Mines and of the university, easily be brought to Nevada and placed in the museum.

"Such objects," said Professor Carpenter, "would add not only the value and worth of the mining museum but to visitor interest in the university as a whole."

Ninth Week

Cog wheels, a lie detector, etc., featured Engineers' Day. A novel feature was a lighted fountain on the quad. Florence Butler elected Y. W. C. A. prexy. Sigma Phi surprised by convention.

Tenth Week

Blue Key proposes campus improvements. Thirty-eight students reported to scholarship committee to explain grades. The census taker was baffled by Tau relatives. Gloria Day ate one and one-half quarts of ice cream in a Finnish (finish) relief performance. Professor Feemster died. Coeds attended the A. W. S. fashion show and saw the latest spring styles. Lie detector tried by coeds, to their sorrow. Lamba Chis serenade Pi Phi. Men's rifle squad chosen.

Eleventh Week

Committee chosen to draw up university parking regulations. President Hartman revealed building plans for university, including new gym and engineering building. New willow tree to replace dead one. Plaque dedication in honor of Robert Davis planned.

Twelfth Week

Dave Hartman suggests change in senate members' election. Elizabeth Swartz elected Front Page Queen at Press Club dance. Women's staff for Mackay paper announced. Frosh whitewashing scheduled. Permanent Artemesia staff named, headed by Betty Nelson, Gus Edwards, and Jack Pieri.

Thirteenth Week

Mackay Day: beards, leg o' mutton sleeves, cowboy hats, feature celebration. Cleora Campbell selected Mackay Queen. Students vote on constitution revisions. Cyril Ham elected prexy of engineers. Craig's Wife successful. Harriet Morrison won honor of being first alternate in "Typical Coed" contest from all colleges west of Mississippi. Lola Frazer president of W. A. A. Rain prevents N painting. Frosh rejoice.

Fourteenth Week

Presidents' convention held. May 3 set as Governor' Day by R. O. T. C. Proposed A. S. U. N. constitution changes discussed on campus. Stag Night attracted a large crowd.

"Here And Now" To Present College Fraternity Issue

For the benefit of prospective college students, "Here and Now," a monthly paper published by a group of Reno high school students, will run a series of articles next fall on the pros and cons of university fraternities and sororities.

"Here and Now" will present both sides of the question and publish them at the beginning of next semester. The findings are expected to aid future 'frosh' on the camps who in turn will or will not be wary of the Greek letter social organizations, as the case may be.

Jim Gibbs, president of Sigma Phi Sigma fraternity, said this week that such a series would be a fine thing and would be welcomed by the fraternities. Other leaders on the hill hold similar opinions.

"Here and Now" already has received a letter bitterly assailing fraternities, which it expects to publish next month. It will welcome any letters either in defense of or against the groups.

"Here and Now" will be completely impartial concerning the issue and will only publish facts and letters written in.

Inspect Plant

Members of the civil engineering hydraulics class and several members of the electrical engineering college made a tour of inspection of the Drum Power Plant near Baxter, California, April 28.

The group inspected hydraulic and electrical equipment at the plant. Professors Warren Wagner and Irving Sandorf accompanied the party.

Alum Has Feature Story Published

The honor of having a feature story printed in "Headlining America," news story book issued every two years and containing 75 of the best news and feature stories in America during that period, was given this year to Sherwin Garside, former University of Nevada journalism student.

Garside now works for the Las Vegas Review-Journal, the paper in which his story appeared.

"Headlining America" is composed of stories selected by experts in colleges throughout the country who work in cooperation with scores of managing editors and newspaper men. A. L. Higginbotham, professor of journalism at the University of Nevada, is one of the thirty co-editors of the book.

Professor Higginbotham selected Garside's story.

Bill Porter Elected Double E President

Bill Potter, prominent junior student, was elected president of the electrical engineers at a meeting held last week.

Roy Shipp was named vice-president, and Ralph Shearer was elected secretary-treasurer.

The schedule of activities and programs for next semester was discussed by the group.

On the Hill It's Hello!

Dick Sawyer Named Dramatics Prexy

Richard Sawyer, prominent junior student, was elected president of the Nevada chapter of Masque and Dagger, national honorary dramatic society, at a meeting of the group last Monday afternoon. Ridgley Pierson, sophomore member of the Delta Delta Delta, was named vice-president.

Six new members were elected to the organization. They are Guy Allen, Betty Brannin, Tom Carey, Nonie Goldwater, Grant Sawyer, and Jeannette Taylor. Qualifications for membership require that a person take at least one major role and two minor roles, or three minor roles in campus productions, or act as a stage assistant in some capacity for at least four productions. Initiation ceremonies will take place at the beginning of the fall semester.

service prize, and other scholarships and awards will be made by Professor Jay Carpenter, chairman of the committee on scholarships and prizes.
Chief Justice E. J. L. Taber will administer the civic oath to the candidates for the baccalaureate degree and Dr. Hartman will confer the degrees and present the diplomas to the graduates.

The remainder of the program will be:
Processional—"Triumph March" by the university-community orchestra.
The invocation—The Rev. Brewster Adams.
Solo—"Hills"—Marguerite West, accompanied by Mary Atcheson.
Tomorrow the seniors will celebrate with the annual picnic at Lawton's with entertainment and refreshments promised throughout the day, according to Ross Ashley, chairman of the committee.

Thursday at 6 p. m. the graduates will gather at the Club Fortune for the banquet to reminisce and recall memories of their four years at Nevada and discuss plans for their future. It is expected that the dinner will be arranged so that those who wish may dance. Patricia Meaker, chairman, stated.

The last look at familiar campus spots will be taken on Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock when the annual senior pilgrimage will get underway. The procession will start at the student union building with the farewell address there to be given by Nellie Roseberry. The departing students attired in the academic caps and gowns will trek on campus to the tram where June Adams will remind them of times when they crossed the bridge.

Touring the grounds and stopping at various sites, the congregation will listen to speeches by Ross Ashley at the bulletin board; Gertrude Freeman at the library; Robert Joy, Morrill hall; Shirley Fuetsch, senior bench; Albert Caton, engineers bench; Dave Hartman, the Mackay statue, and Robert Cameron, the gymnasium. The dedication of the senior gift will be made by Gordon Thompson at Mackay field.

President's Tea
In the afternoon President and Mrs. Hartman will be "at home" from four until six o'clock. The social activities will be concluded Saturday evening with the members of the junior class entertaining the seniors at the annual senior ball at the state building. Formal attire will be required, Louis Peraldo, who is head of the committee in charge, said.

Yesterday morning the graduates defeated the faculty in the traditional softball game by a score of 27-22 after playing an extra inning. The seniors were hard pressed to take the contest and were hampered by the superior performance given by such faculty stalwarts as Jim Colman, Harry Wheeler, J. P. Puffinbarger, and Merle Deming.

Delta Delta Delta featuring a Hawaiian theme of "Aloha" bade the fourth year students farewell with a tea given in their honor Monday afternoon. The senior women were feted by Sigma Alpha Epsilon at the Century club Sunday.

In an effort to acquaint the graduates with the members of the alumni association picnic was held Saturday at Lawton's as the first event on the program for the most social week in a college student's career.

The complete list of graduates and their pictures will be found on the inside pages of this issue of the Sagebrush.

Press Club Places
Plaque Honoring
Robert H. Davis

The University of Nevada Press Club dedicated a plaque to Robert H. Davis, pioneer Nevada newspaperman, Sunday in Carson City. The tablet, commemorating his start as a journalist, was placed on the Carson Daily Appeal building, on the staff of which he began his career.

Principal speaker of the day was Bob Parker, senior journalism major, who outlined the life and work of Davis.

"Davis," Parker said, "had unusual capacity for setting down in words a graphic account of the early days of Carson City. His talent was later capitalized on in his newspaper work, especially in 1925 when he was given an assignment by the editor of the New York Sun to cover the world."

In covering the world, Davis has traveled in the neighborhood of 300,000 miles and has written of the commonplaces that happen in every major city on the globe. All of his stories have appeared in the column in the New York Sun which he calls, "Bob Davis Reveals," and in many of the 17 books which he has written. An interview with Benito Mussolini gained Davis a life membership in the Associated Press.

Clarence Heckethorn, outgoing president of the Press Club, acted as master of ceremonies for the occasion and outlined the work and activities of the club.

He said that the Press Club had, in former years, dedicated plaques to Mark Twain in Virginia City, and commemorated the founding of the Territorial Enterprise, first printed newspaper in Nevada, with a plaque erected at Genoa.

"In future years," Heckethorn continued, "The Press Club hopes to recognize the achievements of such Nevada writers as Rollin M. Dagget, William Wright (Dan DeQuille), Harry Mighels, Sam Davis, and Joseph Goodman.

Mrs. Lucy Crowell, a relative of Robert Davis, expressed gratitude to the Press Club for the memorial, and Alfred Chartz, who worked with Davis on the Appeal, told several incidents connected with early Nevada journalism. Amos Buckner, present publisher of the Appeal, gave a short history of the newspaper and told of the days when Davis was a compositor on the staff, contrasting it with the type of paper that it is now. He also related several highlights of the life of Davis. Shirley Fuetsch and Ray Garamendi arranged the dedication.

Advantages of University of Nevada
Presented by Illustrated Catalogue

An illustrated booklet designed to acquaint Nevada high school graduates with the opportunities at their state university has been published under the auspices of the University faculty committee on public relations.

Edited by A. L. Higginbotham, professor of journalism and chairman of the committee, the booklet supplies information on living expenses and quarters, student employment, entrance requirements, subjects offered, and numerous other phases of college life which would interest a high school graduate.

Now on the presses at the State Printing Office, 1500 of these miniature catalogues will be distributed this spring. One will be sent to every senior graduating from high school in Nevada, eastern California, and to several central California high schools and junior colleges.

Designed primarily to answer any questions which would occur to a prospective student, the subject matter of the booklet was suggested by members of the news editing class at the University of Nevada, who drew upon their own experience as freshmen before offering material.

Photographs of the campus, the class-rooms, and typical Nevada scenes are included, as well as shots from a football game, a university play, and such undergraduate activities as the debate squad, a Home Economics dinner, winter sports, and "lolling on the lawn."

Formulating the working theory on which education at the University of Nevada is based, the opening paragraph reads:

"The University of Nevada, only institution of higher learning in the state, is marked by recognized standards of scholarship, approved professional and liberal arts training, an intimate student-teacher relationship, and a democratic student life. Although a university, it offers many of the advantages of a small college."

The fact that at Nevada classes are small enough to permit of a closer student-teacher relationship than is possible at many other colleges is emphasized.

"No Nevada student is every merely a name on a class roll; he is, on the contrary, regarded as an individual with characteristics, needs, problems, and with abilities which must be nurtured and developed individually rather than in the mass.

"Few universities are able to achieve this personal respect for the student which is the foundation of education at the University of Nevada."

Sections of the booklet are devoted to the faculty vocational guidance committee, through which any student may be given tests and receive advice in the choice of a vocation in keeping with his interests and attitudes; professional training, which is offered at Nevada in a variety of fields and is recognized by professional associations and accrediting groups; the opportunities for employment of trained graduates in several different fields of endeavor; the 50 or more scholarships open to worthy students; the climate and advantages of Reno proper; and many other such items of information.

Living expenses at Nevada are somewhat lower than at many institutions, according to the pamphlet. A section devoted to student expenses brings out this fact, and tabulates such expenses from $450 to $550 for the college year of eight and one-half months. Students who require part-time employment may find information on opportunities for employment on or near the campus, the NYA student aid.

Members of the faculty committee on public relations who sponsored the booklet are Professors Jeanne E. Wier, Theodore Post, J. P. Puffinbarger, E. Wittwer, and A. L. Higginbotham.

Agriculture Group
Announces Contest

A prize of $75 for the best paper and $25 for the next best paper submitted by students in the college of agriculture is being awarded by the Nevada Livestock Production Credit Association of Reno, Nevada.

Anyone who has been registered as a student in the college of agriculture from the territory served by the donor association which includes all of the State of Nevada, Mono and Alpine counties and the Sierra Valley, California, and has completed the preceding semester, is eligible to enter.

The subject for these essays may pertain to any and all matters dealing with the financing of farming and for stockraising from the angle of production. It is intended that this shall exclude financing of land but shall include financing incidental to the production of farm crops and breeding, raising or fattening of livestock. The papers are limited to 2,000 words in length.

Elimination contests will be held under rules of the college of agriculture to determine the two best papers prepared by qualified contestants. These essays are to be presented by the authors at the annual meeting of stockholders of the donor association, to be held on a date to be announced either in January or February, 1941.

Decision as to best and second best paper will be reached by the aid of the stockholders, and the awards will be made immediately following the decision of the judges. Papers submitted will become the property of the association.

Do You Know How We Happened To Get University Profs and College Coeds?

BY SALTY

Once, long, long ago all men were at peace upon the good green earth. Men with long white beards lolled around in the shade of the evergreen trees and talked—talked of politics, the classics, and weather.

One day the Maker of all things looked down upon the earth and figured thusly: "Men are too peaceful and well satisfied; I must do something to make them aware of the facts of life," and therefore it came to pass that college professors were fashioned and placed upon the earth in order that men might become acquainted with the reasons that made other things tick.

But alas, all was not well among the children of the earth. Soon all the men had been instructed in the bys and by ways of life, and soon the professors began to approximate that state of affairs commonly known as stagnation.

So He looked down from his lofty perch and wondered what could be done with such a trying state of affairs: "I know not what to do. No one is satisfied with their lot, yet each is content to muddle along in the same rut. I must supply some incentive, some catalyst, as it were, to arouse them from their lethargy."

Therefore, the high and mighty one, coniving in a manner most ungentlemanly, fashioned a creature which has become known everywhere as the "co-ed," which is just an easy way of putting a lot of trouble into a short word.

Since no one could understand this intricate bit of machinery, it was necessary for the learned ones to set up an entirely new school of thought. No one, not even the supreme intelligence of the period, could find what the secret was that made the thing go. One day, a (wiseman, like even unto Solomon, hit upon the scintillating idea that perhaps they should train one of the creatures themselves to think and thus bring about the solution of the vexing problem, and it became the fad of the day for these nonentities to attend college.

It has been said by those in the know that the idea was not such a hot one, because although the plan was set up many years ago, nothing has ever come of it, and there is not one woman thorough the length and breadth of our land who understands another woman.

Hartmans to Entertain

Dr. and Mrs. Hartman will entertain graduating seniors Friday afternoon from four until six o'clock. The reception will be in the form of "at home" to seniors.

The affair will be the final social to be given by the president and his wife this semester. For the past three months the university students have been the Hartmans guests at open houses on Sunday afternoons.
