The Sagebrush advocates and asks for:

1. The erection of a Pittman memorial union building on the University of Nevada campus.
2. The unification of the diverse elements of the Nevada campus.
3. The improvement of conditions in the parking lots both behind and in front of the gym to eliminate the quagmires which every storm brings to both places.
4. The strict enforcement and observation of Blue Key parking control rules.
5. The complete support of Nevada athletic teams by students.
6. The immediate beginning of work on the new gymnasium.
7. The return of the university farm as a laboratory for use of Nevada agricultural students.

DID YOU WORK?

An enviable record in hospitality, promotion and general all-around good fellowship was set in Reno last week-end when the University of Nevada played host to quite a number of skiers representing several of the major universities on the Pacific Coast.

Joe McDonald, director of the show, completed his second attempt at Carnival promotion in fine style; and visiting skiers were loud in their praise of his efforts and abilities.

The Snow Ball, always a highlight of Carnival celebration, was well-planned and executed, and as a result everybody who attended pronounced it the dance of the year.

All right, we're through handing out the laurels, from here on out if the shoe fits, wear it.

Approximately fifty Nevada students were named on the various committees necessary for the successful staging of an event of this kind. It is to be doubted if more than twenty ever actively engaged in helping make the thing a success.

It would be superfluous to point out that those twenty who did help had to work all hours of the day and night to see that everything went all right, because when you have twenty students doing the work of fifty, somebody is going to put in a lot of overtime.

Starting about a month ago, the practice of calling weekly meetings was inaugurated by Director McDonald for the purpose of integrating the work of each separate committee and taking care of the eventualities that always arise.

As the weeks passed the attendance at these committee meetings grew smaller and smaller; less interest was shown, and the day before the Carnival it seemed that all the work of preparation for the dance, the banquet, and other functions would be left to a very few.

Fortunately, such was not exactly the case, and some of the more conscientious students did show up and work well at the dance and the banquet.

However, one could hardly walk into the Waldorf at any time over the week-end without seeing on every hand little white ribbons denoting the wearer was a member of the Ski Carnival committee. In plain words, the Waldorf was lousy with committee members, while those places where there was real work to be done were almost deserted and those that were there were too tired or too busy to stop and pin the ribbons on. To the best of anyone's knowledge's the majority of those who sat in the Waldorf proudly displaying their badges of office never did a lick of work.

It is needless to point out the ultimate result of such a situation. This year was a crucial one as far as the Winter Carnival, and its continuance is concerned. It was up to the entire student body to see that it was a success. Did you do your part?—B. A.

He that loses his conscience has nothing left that is worth keeping.

Full Social Week Follows Carnival

After a week-end of vigorous entertainment, mainly for benefit of visiting skiers, the sororities and fraternities are continuing the pace this week with many socials and dances.

Almost as soon as the open house decorations were taken down, the Tri Deltas started decorating for their pledge dance to be held tomorrow night from 9 to 12. Candy men will take the place of snow men, but informality is still the keynote.

Mary Kornmayer, Eleanor Goldsworthy and Bety Cole are on the decoration committee. Chaperones will be Mrs. Anita Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Morrison Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Pederson, and Mr. and Mrs. James Goldsworthy.

Thetas Entertain

Declaring open house during the entire Snow Carnival, the Thetas had as their guests last week-end Elizabeth Lamsen, Kappa Alpha Theta from California; Billie Mae Thomas, UCLA, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Jeanette Thompson, UCLA; N. C. Breesse and her dog Tara, both from New Mexico; Yvonne Blossom, from California; and Kathleen Starratt, who was affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta while an undergraduate at Nevada.

The SAE's will be the Theta's guests Sunday at a buffet supper and social to be held from 5 to 7. Andrea Anderson is head of the food committee.

With Mary H. Arentz heading the committee, Kappa Alpha Theta seniors will take charge of the social for the ATO's next Wednesday evening from 7 to 8.

Continuing their social program, the Lambda Chi's entertained members of Gamma Phi Beta sorority Wednesday night from 7 to 8 at the chapter house. Gene Mastroianni, social chairman, was in charge of the affair.

Sigma Phi's Invited

Another social for the Sigma Phi's will be held in their honor Sunday from 4 to 6 by members of Gamma Phi Beta. Jane Moyer will see that the guests are treated hospitably.

Bernard Smith was in charge of arrangements for the social held by Sigma Nu for the Tri Deltas Wednesday night.

Major Gent Elected To Scabbard And Blade

Major Wm. F. Gent, commandant of cadets at the University of Nevada, was initiated into Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society, recently.

Major Gent was made an honorary member with the same privileges as active members of the group.

After being inducted into the society, Major Gent took an active part in the initiation of junior officers who received their formal degree.

FOOTLIGHTS

Well, much as we hate to admit it, news is rather on the lean side this week. We've hunted and hunted for things to expose, but we just ain't been able to find anything that we can sink our teeth in.

You know, no doubt, about tonight's Little Theatre production, "Room Service," starring one William C. Miller, our dramatic director. From all appearances this show will be good, and what's more, quite laughable. So if you want to see how a director acts, don't miss this tonight and tomorrow night. Don't forget I told you about it, and if you pass up this opportunity to see a performance par excellence... well, it's your own fault.

The student body should have a real treat soon, for we're to see some one-act plays put on by the students. Here is opportunity for all, because you second-semester frosh girls can at last strut your way to stardom. This is kind of a new thing, and there is high hope that these dramatic attempts will meet with your approval.

Ah, we did uncover something... The Dramatists' Alliance of Stanford University is offering its sixth annual contest in dramatic writing. Cash prizes are being offered for verse drama and prose comedy (full length or one-act). Awards of $100 in cash, production of your work at Stanford and guarantee of recommendation to the National Broadcasting Company, American Educational Theatre Conference, and Pasadena Playhouse are what you future Shakespeares get if you're the tops. (For further details consult your 'Brush dramatics ed.)

AWS MEET PLANNED

Members of the AWS will sponsor a speaker at a student body meeting as soon as a date can be arranged with President Hartman, Mary Kornmayer, president, said this week.

Bill Seeks Money For Analytical Lab

A senate bill seeking appropriation of $5000 for free assay work in the state analytical laboratory at the University of Nevada was introduced in the state legislature last week by Noble H. Getchell of Lander county.

Walter S. Palmer, director of the laboratory and member of the school of mines faculty, stressed the importance of such work in a letter to Senator Getchell. Palmer declared that continuation of such work was vital to the search for new sources of strategic metals in the state, in face of national defense needs.

The bill was referred to the mines and mining committee for study and action.

Don't be too surprised if Dick Miller, varsity football and basketball man, gets an appointment to a coaching job on the campus soon after his coming graduation.

Sigma Nu, Lambda Chi and Tau cliques are patting themselves on the back as possible winners in the coming inter-frat track meet.

"Chef" Scranton, director of the inter-fraternity athletic program, will be given the enviable spot of a "Judge Lands" at the next meeting of the inter-fraternity council, slated for Feb. 17.

Scranton will be asked to clarify the eligibility situation of junior college baseball lettermen, legally prohibited to participate in the Greek horsehide tourney.

The program changes and clarifications are to be acted upon by the council, theoretically a representative body speaking for each of the participating teams.

University of Louisville basketball players, having hit a slump, were recently keyed up by a unique plan of their coach, John Heldman.

Billy Nelson Is Lost To Skiers For Final Meets

Nevada's ski team stock took a fast downhill slide today with the announcement that Bill Nelson, star jumper and all-around performer, had dropped out of school.

Nelson, the biggest reason for Nevada's second place in the recent intercollegiate ski meet at Galena Creek and Grass Lake, left the team considerably weakened.

Coach James Scrugham, Jr., expressed himself as well pleased and "a little surprised" over the showing of the Nevada skiers in the meet. He said, however, that he wasn't so sure of the Pack's chances in the remaining meets.

Loss of the jumper marked the fourth casualty to befall the team this year. Earlier Charles and Oliver Henriksen and Lester Glessman dropped from the squad.

One and possibly two meets remain on the skiing schedule. Definitely scheduled is the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Championships Feb. 28, March 1 and 2.

Squad members compete tomorrow and Sunday under the colors of the Reno Ski Club in a California sectional Class B meet to be held at Truckee.

Nevada Pack Beats Davids As Panthers Swamp Frosh

'Shanty' Gets Hot

Nevada's fast-breaking hoopsters proved to be a Deillah to the House of David outfit as they pulled two victories out of the bearded gent's whiskers Friday and Saturday nights.

Coach Charlie Schuchardt's boys could not be fooled by the fancy tricks of the barnstormers and played steady ball amidst the screwy maneuvers of their opponents.

The Pack employed a fast break in both tilts to a good advantage. Obviously tired from their long barnstorming tour of Canada, the bearded boys could not keep pace with the speedy Wolf five, which took an early lead in both games and were never headed.

Gladdening the heart of Coach Schuchardt was the play of many of the reserves who had previously appeared weak under fire. In this group were Gino Quilici, Alf Sorenson, Bob Taylor, and Bob Hawley.

Bob "Shanty" O'Shaughnessy, Nevada forward who found his shooting eye in last week's tilt with St. Mary's, continued with his scoring spree to capture high point honors for the series.

Ray Harris and Dick Miller, Nevada guards, turned in fine performances for the double-header with Miller playing his best offensive game of the season.

For the bewildered visitors each player specialized in a certain department of the game. Red Johnson rang the hoop time after time with long shots; Giff Jeffers was the cleverest dribbler to appear on the Nevada floor this season.

Wayne Payton was the David's mainstay under the basket for follow-up shots, and Oliver Troth and Dutch Chandler specialized in clever passing.

Payton was high-point man for the Michigan set team with a total of 19 markers for the series.

Big Squad Answers Bailey's First Call For Varsity Track

Coupled with frosh basketball, varsity and frosh track became another worry to Coach Jim Bailey as an unusually large number of cinder path performers reported for training this week.

The completion of the workouts on the track during the past week found Bailey in a position to seek meets for the Nevada tracksters.

The opening meet is tentatively scheduled with the California Aggies for Mackay Day, April 5. The only other meet definitely scheduled by Bailey is with Chico State, here, on April 19.

Meets for the freshman tracksters have been arranged with many Nevada high schools and with Lassen junior college.

Pending are plans for a meet with Placer junior college. All dates for these meets are still undecided, Bailey stated.

An unusually large sophomore turnout has boosted the possibilities of the varsity squad, Bailey said. On the other hand came news that two stars from last year's frosh team, Hale Tognoni and Harry Paille, upon whom the mentor had counted heavily for points, have been lost to the squad through scholastic difficulties.

"Pardon me, Mrs. Astor, but that would never have happened if you hadn't stepped between me and that spittoon."—Exchange.

Sacs Pile It On

Sacramento junior college's towering Panther quintet twice drubbed the Nevada frosh in preliminaries and the comic tilts between the varsity and the House of David here Friday and Saturday nights.

After being completely outclassed and beaten 54-15 Friday, the yearlings came back the next evening to hold the favored invaders to a 59-34 score.

Leading only six points at the half in the first tilt, the Capital eagles overcame a bad case of basket-missing and took advantage of many erratic passes of the frosh to pile up 38 points in the second half.

The frosh were clearly off form and showed little of the team play that has marked their work in other games this year.

In the second game, Sacramento started early and held a halftime score of 38-10. Keeping the yearlings on the defensive most of the time, the visitors took advantage of height, poise and clever ball handling to win.

Several of the junior collegians tipped six-foot-two to six-five, making good use of this altitude in following in their shots.

Phil Seewald and Royce Hardy were the outstanding Nevada players Friday, while Fred Forson played a hustling game Saturday night to lead the frosh with 11 points.

Spring Practice To Start In March

Spring football is expected to get under way about the middle of March, although no definite date has been set as yet, Coach Jim Aiken said this week.

"I expect to make a scouting trip into Utah, Colorado and Kansas at the conclusion of the basketball tournament at Ely," Aiken stated, "and I expect to have some big, experienced junior college boys here for spring practice which will begin when I return."

Back from the varsity for more competition will be Motley, "Zug" Bennett and Sorenson in the backfield; Goodner and Daniels at ends; Bill Bennett, Royalty and Wisniewski at tackles; Quilici and Schlager at guards; and Korngiebel and Skidmore at center.

John Polish, varsity back of '39, has returned to school after a year's absence. A knee injury that he suffered in the '39 campaign has completely healed.

War Experiences Told In Address

Mme. Simone Salkin--Masse, who arrived in America from France two months ago, spoke before members of the Cercle Francais and others at St. Stephens house Wednesday night on the subject, "How I Discovered America." The speech was given entirely in French.

Mrs. Salkin-Masse left her home in Belgium to visit her mother in Paris and eight hours later learned that Belgium had been invaded by the Germans. Her early impressions of America and experiences before she reached America by way of Lisbon and South America featured the speech.

Difficulties in obtaining visas and transportation accommodations were described and the route she followed from Paris to New York was traced on a map. In order to understand the entire speech clearly, members of the audience were given English resumes.

Evelyn Osgood, president of the French club, conducted the meeting and introduced Mrs. Margaret Donovan, violinist who opened the program with a solo, "La Meditation de Thais," and a French interpretation of "Turkey in the Straw," by Manen. She was accompanied by Florence Billingham.

Marvin Trigo, accompanied by Guy d'Hardelet, sang "Sans Toi," and Mme. Salkin--Masse's son, Jean, concluded the program by singing "God Bless America."

Student Draftees May Be Called For Exams In March

All undergraduates who have received their questionnaires from local selective service draft boards may expect to be ordered to report for physical examinations any time after the middle of March, board officials stated today.

The law states that board officials may require physical examinations of all class 1-D men (students) during the 60-day interval before the ending of the academic year.

"We intend to take advantage of this law to speed up our obtaining the necessary draft quotas," officials said.

This means that all "red tape" leading up to draft induction will be taken care of beforehand so that acceptable students will be immediately available for call on the completion of the school year.

Thus far all college students who have received questionnaires have been placed in class 1-D or class 1-E, the latter being those men who have taken their physical examination and were found fit for only limited military service. According to existing laws, both of these groups are deferred from induction only until the end of the academic year or until July 1, whichever occurs first.

A total of 300 questionnaires have been sent out by draft board number "1" of Reno, while board number "2" of Sparks has mailed approximately the same number.

So far all draftees have been sent to the induction station at Sacramento. The February contingent, however, will be sent to the station at Salt Lake, officials stated.

Carpenter Speaks To Minerals Club

Speaking at a meeting of the Rocks and Minerals Club Wednesday night, Prof. Jay A. Carpenter, director of the Mackay School of Mines, gave an address on "Metallic and Non-Metallics in Building Construction."

He stressed that wood in building construction is giving away more and more to metals and non-metals, and illustrated his talk with demonstrations of the chemical and physical properties of some of the materials now in use in building construction.

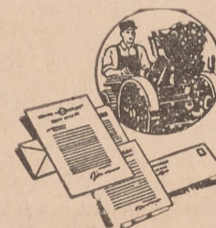

The Rocks and Minerals club is composed of faculty members and townspeople interested in mineralogy and geology. Dr. Lawrence Parsons of Reno is president of the club.
