Senators Change Campus Parking Rules; Melarkey Selected as N Representative

Because of the obvious shortage of cars on the campus this semester, the senate voted Wednesday night to allow underclassmen to park in the area between the old gymnasium and the extension service building.

This new ruling will not, however, allow parking in the space directly adjacent to the extension building, which is especially reserved for its staff. Members of the men's upperclass committee will patrol the parking sections daily to see that each respective car is parked in the right place.

Six Fraternities Begin Pledging Of College Frosh

Members of the six national fraternities on the Nevada campus commenced pledging this week after a joint meeting held in the office of dean of men, Reuben C. Thompson, Wednesday afternoon. It is anticipated that each house will attempt to pledge some of the available freshmen.

Final Decision
Previous to this meeting the houses had decided not to pledge on an unwritten agreement, at least until something definite was decided one way or the other. This meeting proved to be the deciding factor when it was pointed out during the session that there was no existing factor that made pledging illegal and that the national interfraternity council had gone on record as encouraging pledging on college campuses as long as men were available.

Because of obvious social limitations, Jack Fleming was appointed as a committee of one to represent the entire Greek groups at the social calendar meeting Thursday to choose three dance dates for joint affairs.

Greek Representatives
Attending the meeting and organizations represented were Charles Fleming, Jack Fulton and Clinton McCubbin, all Lambda Chi Alpha; Jack Fleming, Theta Chi; Gilbert Sutton and Clayton Triger, Alpha Tau Omega; Bob Uhlig, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Warren Parks, Sigma Nu.

Former Students Changed in Rank In Armed Forces

Several former University of Nevada students have recently been commissioned, promoted or received other honors for their work with the armed forces, with two of the men, Capt. Harry Ackerman and Capt. Joseph Kosakowski, receiving the distinguished flying cross.

Captain Ackerman, who already holds the purple heart, air medal and distinguished service cross, was awarded the distinguished flying cross with the oak leaf cluster. He was in Reno recently on leave.

Captain Kosakowski, who is still in England with the eighth air force to which they were both attached when making raids over axis territory, also received the distinguished flying cross.

Captain Prunty
Captain T. C. Prunty, formerly with the military department of the university, has received the temporary rank of major at Pasadena Junior College, where he is now stationed. He instructed the advanced military course at Nevada last spring.

Don Ross, former student and member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, was commissioned a second lieutenant at the Roswell, N. M., army air forces training base. After being commissioned, he spent a few days in Reno visiting friends and his parents.

Major Rod McLeod, class of '39, was the pilot of a B-26 bomber which landed at the Reno army air base recently on a routine cross country flight to McDill field where he is stationed. For the past 29 months, he has been on overseas duty.

Bob Joy Promoted
Robert A. Joy, former instructor in history and English at the university, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain at a west coast base where he is stationed.

Ensign Albert Caton, 1940 graduate from Nevada in electrical engineering, left Thursday morning for Fort Schuyler, N. Y., for training in technical work. While at the university, he was a member of Sigma Nu and was elected to Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic fraternity.

John Sweatt, now enrolled as an engineering student at Nevada, has enlisted under the navy's V-5 program and will report soon to pre-flight school at San Luis Obispo, Calif.

New Representative

As no candidates were submitted during nominations this week for the office of Block N representative to the board of athletic control, Jim Melarkey, SAE, was automatically appointed to that position by senators at their meeting Wednesday night.

Melarkey is a member of Coffin and Keys, men's highest honorary group, and obtained his letter for playing basketball for the Wolf Pack varsity team. He has always been on the first squad for each season he played for the regulars.

Three other appointments were made by senators at the meeting for other offices left out of last week's student panel. These students include Bill Richter, who was appointed a fraternity senator to the board of finance control and Mary Alice Holmes, who was appointed to the publication board. Last week only two names were submitted and so the third name was added to the board during the last meeting.

John Sweatt was appointed as one of the yell leaders for the ensuing football season. His brother, Harold, was also a University of Nevada yell leader over a year ago.

It was suggested by Ed Sawyer, Theta Chi senator and chairman of the men's upperclass committee, that freshmen men be forced to buy bow ties in place of the usual traditional dink.

Senators attending the session include Katherine O'Leary, Theta; Leonard Hill, Gamma Phi; Bob Uhlig, Phi Sig; Warren Parks, Sigma Nu; Dorothy Reynolds, Independent; Helen Batjer, Manzanita Hall; Ed Sawyer, Theta Chi, and Pat Traner, Pi Phi. Dorothy Savage, acting president, officiated.

Greeks Arrange Social Calendar

Eight representatives from Greek organizations on the Nevada campus arranged the semester social calendar in coordination with Dean Reuben C. Thompson and Mrs. Alice B. Marsh, who is acting for the dean of women, at a special meeting Thursday afternoon.

Representatives present included Doris Knight, Gamma Phi Beta; Jane Dugan, KAT; Ada May Bachman, Independents; Betty Burkhalter, Pi Phi; Dorothy Able and Edith Batchelder, both Zeta Phi Zeta social group; Annette Donati, Tri-Delt, and Jack Fleming, representing all six fraternities. The fraternities will hold joint dances as scheduled on the calendar.

Dates accepted during the meeting are as follows:

October

October 2, Saturday—Delta Delta Delta.

October 9, Saturday—Kappa Alpha Theta.

October 16, Saturday—Fraternities and Zeta Phi Zeta.

October 23, Saturday—Homecoming.

November

November 6, Saturday—Pi Beta Phi and Independents.

November 13, Saturday—Gamma Phi and Zeta Phi.

November 20, Saturday—Fraternities and Delta Delta Delta.

December

December 11, Saturday—Kappa Alpha Theta and Zeta Phi.

December 17, Friday—Fraternities.

December 18, Saturday—Independents, Gamma Phi and Tri-Delts.

January

January 8, Saturday—Pi Beta Phi.

University Band Out for Duration

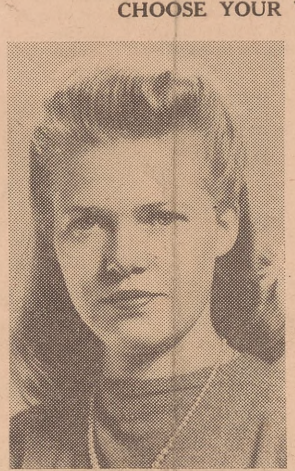

Because of the manpower shortage, the university band will not be organized this year, according to Prof. Theodore H. Post, director.

The band made its final appearance on Governor's Day last spring and as at that time the group was short of members, several men from the faculty substituted for students who had gone to the armed services.

Soon after, Professor Post organized a band from aviation students stationed on the campus and this group now is using the university instruments.

ROTC Graduates Become Officers At Fort Benning

After more than three months training at officers' candidate school at Fort Benning, Ga., 12 graduates from last year's advanced military courses will be commissioned second lieutenants on Monday, Major John C. Howard, officer in charge of the ROTC unit, announced today.

Three others will also be commissioned after a similar training in two other schools, Major Howard added. These three men include Lyman Earl, who has been training at a signal corps school at Fort Monmouth, N. J., and James Kehoe and Elwyn Freemonth, who both have completed courses in the anti-tank school at Fort Knox, Ky.

The 12 Nevada students who will be commissioned infantry officers at Fort Benning Monday include the following: Leonard Anker, Pablo Arenaz, Sam Drakulich, Pete Echeverria, William Etchemendy, Eugene Francovich, Wendell Leavitt, Deane Quilici, Mario Reconcione, Warren Salmon, Jack Streeter and Clifton Young.

It is anticipated that these men will return to their respective homes throughout the state for a few days furlough upon completion of the graduation ceremonies. One other member of this class, Nick Mastrovich, was recently confined to the hospital for illness and was unable to complete his course in time for the Monday graduation, however, officials state that he will complete his course in the near future.

All of these men, with the exception of the separate three that went to different schools than Fort Benning, left June 12 for training in Georgia. Previous to then, they all had completed the advanced military courses here on the campus to qualify them for OCS training.

The first year advanced ROTC students were entrained at Camp Roberts, Calif., and will return to the university sometime next month to complete the advanced military training. When they return to the campus, they will be confined to quarters in Artemisia hall.

Professor Marsh Subs for Dean

Prof. Alice B. Marsh of the home economics department is now acting for Dean Lucille Benson, who was taken seriously ill and confined to her apartment last week for an indefinite period of time.

The illness is a relapse from influenza which the dean had late this summer. The work involved in the task of instituting new quarters for out of town women students, as well as her weakened condition brought about the relapse, it was stated by Alice Terry, the president's secretary.

Mrs. Ruth Ferris is now teaching the freshman English class which the dean formerly taught.

NEVADAN TRANSFERRED

First Lieut. Silvia C. Blackburn, former student at Nevada and a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, has been transferred from Fort Des Moines, Ia., to the third WAC training center at Fort Ogelthorpe, Ga.

At her new post, she is assistant secretary of the officer's candidate school. While a civilian, she was employed by the state superintendent of schools and the Nevada tax commission.

CHOOSE YOUR WOMAN DICTATOR

Election Campaign Scheduled Wednesday; Four Men Placed in Frosh Manager Race

In the first ASUN coed student body presidential race four women were nominated Tuesday as candidates to be placed on the ballot, it was announced at the senate meeting Wednesday night.

The four coed candidates and sponsors include Helen Batjer, Manzanita Hall Association; Katherine Little, Pi Beta Phi; Ruth Mary Noble, Delta Delta Delta, and Dorothy Savage, Kappa Alpha Theta. All of the candidates will be introduced at a student campaign meeting next Wednesday night along with other students running for class managers.

Sweetheart Contest Started on Campus

Ten campus coeds, two from each women's group, have been entered by sororities in the "squadron C sweetheart" contest. Ruth Mary Noble, co-ordinator between aviation students and sororities, announced today.

Squadron C will choose one of the women students as their typical sweetheart. The coed will then act in the capacity of morale agent between the various sororities on the hill and the aviation students of that particular squadron.

Coeds entered in the contest include the following: Mary Harriman and Peggy Ford, Kappa Alpha Theta; Sydne Hamilton and Eleanor Corle, Pi Beta Phi; Hope Fleming and Marilou Ferguson, Delta Delta Delta; Dorothy Doyle and Frances Crane, Gamma Phi Beta, and Doll Corbett and Geraldine Streshley, Manzanita Hall Association.

The winner of the contest will be chosen by the aviation students and her name will be announced in the 'Brush next week.

Former Students Celebrate Four Marriage Ties

Four marriages and one engagement of former students of the university were social events recently.

On September 4, Mattie Jean Geraghty, Pi Beta Phi pledge during the fall semester of 1942, became the bride of Cpl. Bruce R. Thiessen of Richmond, Va.

The engagement of Sally Woodgate, member of Gamma Phi Beta, to Sgt. William Dunfield was announced in Carson City on September 7.

Friday, September 10, Barbara Dickerson and John Beatty were married in the First Baptist Church in Reno. Mrs. Beatty attended the university during the fall semester of 1939 and was a pledge of Delta Delta Delta sorority, while her husband is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha and a pre-med student at Nevada who is scheduled to leave soon to continue his training under an army program at the University of Maryland.

Zelda Reed, Tri-Delt graduate of the university, became the bride of Edward Lawrence Smith in Las Vegas on September 11.

An army chapel in Fresno was the scene of the wedding of Miriam Rebaletti and Lieut. Frank Wiley on September 12. The bride was graduated from the university this spring and was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta and of Chi Delta Phi, English honorary. The couple will reside in Fresno until Lieutenant Wiley is called for overseas duty.

NOTICE FROSH MEN

As traditional dinks are unavailable this year, you will be required to wear either black or blue bow ties, according to the members of the men's upperclass committee. These ties can be obtained from any downtown business house and must be purchased by next Friday.

Faculty Schedules Memorial Services For Campus Losses

Memorial services will be held Sunday, October 3, in the Education auditorium at 2:30 p. m. for seven men and one woman formerly associated with the university.

In simple services, tribute will be paid to the late President Leon W. Hartman, and George S. Brown and A. C. Olmstead of the board of regents, Mrs. Mary Stillwell Buol and C. R. Townsend of the agricultural extension service, and E. S. Leaver, Alfred P. Towne and Jesse Woolf, all of the U. S. Bureau of Mines on the campus.

Acting President Charles H. Gorman will preside at the meeting and Silas E. Ross, chairman of the board of regents, will introduce speakers who will tell of the contributions of these people to the university and to the state, according to Dean Fred W. Traner of the education department, who is in charge of arrangements.

Charles A. Cantwell will speak of Judge Brown; Dr. C. W. West of Doctor Olmstead; Dean Reuben Thompson of President Hartman; Cecil Creel, director of the extension service, of Mrs. Buol and of C. R. Townsend; and Director Jay A. Carpenter of the Mackay School of Mines will speak of Leaver, Towne and Woolf.

Music will be directed by Theodore Post, head of the music department at the university.

All eight of the persons being honored at the convocation had been with the university for many years.

Fifty Men Compose Campus ROTC Unit

One company, known as Co. A and composed of 50 men as compared with the regular infantry company of 193 officers and men, will comprise the Nevada ROTC unit this year, Major John C. Howard, head of the military department, announced today.

Men from the detachment of army engineers now stationed on the campus will be selected to lead the ROTC students in Thursday afternoon drill, he stated.

For Friday drill, other non-commissioned cadet officers will march the company. These officers will be chosen from ROTC ranks and will be men with previous military training, either in high school or at the university.

Normal School Teachers Promoted to Principals

After several years teaching service, three former normal school graduates of the university have been made principals of Las Vegas schools, Dean Fred W. Traner of the education department announced.

Helen Marie Smith, who received her normal school diploma from Nevada in 1931 and her B.A. degree from San Francisco State college in 1943, has been made principal of Biltmore elementary school.

Mrs. Laura Lide Deering taught the third grade in Las Vegas for several years before receiving her position as principal. She was graduated from the Nevada normal school in 1928.

Mrs. Ruby Thomas taught the sixth grade after receiving her normal school diploma at Nevada in 1931 and has now been made principal of her school.

Base Outweighs Nevada's Eleven Fourteen Pounds

Second Game Victory Predicted for Pack By Sport Experts

Similar to last week's competition, the Reno army air base will outweigh the Nevada Wolf Pack in the clash in Mackay stadium Sunday at two o'clock. Last Sunday found the fellows outweighed about 20 pounds to the man, whereas this week they are at only a 14-pound per man disadvantage. The game this week promises to be a little faster game than last, and the Pack is expected to utilize the experience gained in their first game to beat the air base in the same type of offensive action used last week.

The Nevada team scrimmaged with the air base squad the middle of this week with about the same results that were the outcome of their first scrimmage about a week ago. The Wolf Pack appears to be in better condition and is a great deal more confident after their first game.

Aiken's Ruling
Coach Aiken is enforcing strict training rules and works the squad hard in daily practice. Downtown sports writers predict another easy win for the Nevada fellows on the strength of their first appearance.

A change has been made in the Nevada starting lineup for this Sunday's game. Ted LaTona, sophomore from Sacramento Junior College, will play Arden Mean's guard position, and Kenny Simms, Nevada end of last season, will replace LaTona. Means has been called to duty in the merchant marine.

Coaches Lineup
The Nevada starting lineup will be as follows:

- Right end—Kenny Simms, 180
- Right tackle—Bob McClure, 190
- Right guard—Ted LaTona, 175
- Center—Jack Murden, 195
- Left guard—Bernie Shapiro, 195
- Left tackle—Lloyd Hermansen, 220
- Left end—Bill Mackrides, 170
- Quarterback—Redger Parker, 170
- Right half—Merlin Shea, 175
- Left half—Jimmy Aiken, 150
- Fullback—Al Dockery, 185

The loss of Tim Weatherford and Arden Means leaves the Nevada squad with 21 men. The second string includes Bobby Bergen, 165, back; Jerry Carter, 183, back; Ben Coren, 170, guard; Don Ferraro, 150, back; Mickey Munley, 158, back; Chuck Sheehan, 165, end; Bob Spanzian, 180, guard; Ralph Thomas, 175, end; Bev. Waller, 165, back; Bill Wien, 180, tackle.

One more game was added to the Wolf Pack schedule this week when the Pleasanton navy base accepted a game for October 17 in Mackay stadium. The navy team will have several thousand sailors to select their team from, and will have a chance to see just what they can do in their first contest this Sunday when they meet the University of San Francisco Dons. The game with the Pleasanton team promises to be one of the better ones of the Nevada season.

Only two more games are to be scheduled. Coach Aiken is scouting around for a good team to play the Homecoming game, and wants to make this the best game of the year in tribute to the alumni on the battlefronts and those who will be able to attend October 23.

The remaining Nevada schedule stands as follows:
Sept. 25—Reno army air base—Reno.
Oct. 3—University of San Francisco—San Francisco.
Oct. 10—Open.
Oct. 17—Pleasanton navy base—Reno.
Oct. 24—Open.
Oct. 31—Oakland coast guard—Reno.

Nevada Pre-Meds Continue Training

Four pre-medical students of the university are planning to leave Nevada soon to continue their training at medical schools where they have been accepted, according to Dr. E. W. Lowrance, pre-med adviser.

John Beatty, senior Lambda Chi is scheduled to be called around November 15 and will enter the University of Maryland to complete his training under army supervision.

John McFarland, Lambda Chi, and George Pendo, SAE, have been appointed to Washington University at St. Louis and will probably begin their courses there in March. Both will finish pre-med training at Nevada in January.

Fred Wood is scheduled to begin classes at the University of Chicago in January as part of an ASTP unit, but his status at present is under discussion by draft officials.

COMES THE ELECTION

For the first time in student body history four campus women are on the presidential ballot—four coeds when men formerly ran in their place. The normal tale was which male should the sororities back, but now it is the direct opposite.

The picture of four women, who supposedly represent "presidential timber," on the front page is indeed a sad case for old time Nevada male students who have seen other years and better 'Brushes. Years when fraternities' very existence in campus politics depended upon the outcome of the spring election—and which machine won.

This present situation is unavoidable, however, and no group of men or women can do anything about it. But upon conclusion of the global war and when Nevada's boys return to the campus, men will again be pictured on the front page of the Sagebrush.

This coming election, which normally is held in the spring, reminds this writer of former years—and of the fraternity man who might have been this year's campus head, or at least hoped to sit in the master's chair. The years that this man was groomed by his frat for the highest ASUN office only to be swept on to bigger battle fields are ironic.

Sororities do not grove their potential leaders from freshmen years, but let them grow from year to year—for at the time this year's presidential candidates started school little was anticipated of their present position. There was no need for political grooming, for the ASUN coveted president's job was simply out of the question.

Now it is different. There are coed candidates, who undoubtedly look better on the front page than men, but also decidedly different. They and their sponsors are ready for political action, which can not be predicted by this writer.

When the men campaigned, the money was thrown into candy, gum, cigars and beer—even rose corsages for coed gullibles. This year, although the expenditure allotment was curtailed by the ASUN senate, anything can happen, for sororities are naturals at producing novelty. However, the winning house will probably sponsor a social tea rather than the usual beer bust, which was prevalent in better times.

The ASUN president is not the only position domineered by coed candidates, for every class manager nominee, with the exception of four freshmen, have women running in the race. However, this first became noticeable last year, when Bette Poe was chosen sophomore class head when the former manager left for the army.

However, one of the annual voting time incidents still prevails in the election campaign Wednesday night before the Thursday ballot. With an all women cast, it's likely to be stupendous. This writer wouldn't miss it.

A QUEEN FOR SQUADRON C

When squadron C of the 313th college training detachment receives two pictures each from University of Nevada sororities, confusion will reign in the ranks until a sweetheart is chosen as a female "date bureau" for the aviation students.

They must pick from ten different pretty faces, which in itself is difficult, especially considering the sorority opinion if its candidate is not chosen. Actually this squadron sweetheart was not inaugurated to glorify the sorority, but to assist the cadets.

The purpose obviously is "morale builder," but this is not the sole function of squadron sweetheart, who will serve first as a date bureau and second as an agent between the aviation student and the "coed of his heart." This sweetheart will also act as hostess for each social function that her specific squadron might attend on the campus.

The plan was not instigated solely by squadron C, but by a conglomeration of coeds and the army tactical officers assigned to the aviation student detachment. Squadron C serves only as the guinea pig—so that if the plan works other squadrons will also choose sweethearts from pictures submitted by respective groups.

However, army tactical officers emphasize that this program in no way violates the rules concerning aviation student association with civilian students. One of the policies outlined for the army college training program was no fraternizing with civilian students on the campus. So in view of this regulation actual social activities will occur only on Saturday nights and until taps Sunday night.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

SORORITY PAT ON THE BACK

As it is impossible for one person on this campus to personally see and talk to every sorority woman within the period of less than a month, I would like to offer my appreciation for their individual cooperation during the recent Pan-Hellenic rush week through the printed media.

It was certainly obvious that "dirty pledging" was non-existent during rushing this year—besides, of course, the summer parties, which are conventionally accepted anyway. Every sorority group cooperated with me and none complained about any necessary mandate I might have issued during the rushing season.

It is for this extreme, and unusual as compared with many years previous, cooperation that I feel so free to be assured that some form of appreciation should exist so that all groups shall know how I feel about the whole season. As near as I could tell in my duoposition of Pan-Hel president and sorority rusher, all groups did their level best to curb normal activities to a wartime plane and still were able to present the freshmen a pleasant party every day.

In conclusion, I congratulate each group for the wonderful girls they did attain during the week.—Ruth Mary Noble, Pan-Hellenic president.

BOUQUET FROM WINK

The Editor,
University of Nevada Sagebrush
University of Nevada
Reno, Nevada.

Dear Flamo:
The above is probably an awfully impressive heading to a friend of mine, but this refers largely to you in your official capacity, so I tried to indicate it at the beginning.

I received the first issue of this semester's 'Brush yesterday, and want to say I appreciate your having me on the mailing list for the first time around. (I know what those mailing list are—remember me?)

A look at the new issue of the old rag gave me a big lift. Not only was it a damned good first issue—not of yours, but of the semester—but it let me know there was breath and hope in the old place yet, in spite of trying conditions. There aren't so many on the hill now, but from what I read in the 'Brush those remaining are keeping things going in fine style.

It seems funny to be going to school somewhere else and read what's going on at Nevada in the 'Brush, believe me.

You and Adey May seem to be doing a splendid job. Congratulations, and say hello to her for me. Also to George Knauth, and the others at the press.

If I sound more congratulatory than was my wont when I was sitting in your chair, chalk it up to the mellowing influence of the army, the fact that last night (Saturday night) was a good night or what you will. But believe it sincere.

The perennial schoolboy,
Private William Friel.

A BOUQUET TO WINK

Don't think the staff does not miss your pan within this office this year—and to be honest, I wish this chair were still whining under your weight this fall, Private Wink.

The Editor.

SORORITY CATTING

BY A COED

Sorority women, stepping boldly into politics this fall for the first time they could without masculine disturbance, have nominated a complete coed poll for all eligible offices with the exception for a few stray freshmen in the freshmen class manager race.

Pi Beta Phi

As a representative from the Pi Phi house, Katherine Little was chosen to run for student body president. Her previous campus activities include Homecoming committee, rally committee and the women's upperclass group. Little is also president of her sorority, a member of Sagens, Artemisia staff worker, present secretary to the student body and last year was elected honorary major of Scabbard and Blade and the campus ROTC units.

In the class manager races, Eleanor Corle, freshman from Reno high, and Pat Tracer were selected to be placed on the ballot for the freshmen and sophomore class managerships, respectively.

Kappa Alpha Theta

As Dorothy Savage, AWS president and ASUN vice-president, has been acting president until election time and consequently a natural candidate, she was chosen by the Thetas as the logical coed to place on the ballot as their representative.

Savage has been active in Sagens, and the Artemisia staff—she has also been yell leader for three years.

Another Theta cinch was Bette Poe, who was last year's sophomore class manager, receiving that position upon the departure of Hecky to the army through ERC channels. Poe is also Artemisia editor.

Jane Dugan, formerly a Blue Pepper drill leader and a present member of the Sagens and the ASUN Historian, is the Theta candidate for senior class manager. Although no freshman nominee was chosen to run from the KAT house, Beth Peterson, last year a drum majorette, was selected to be placed on the sophomore ballot.

Gamma Phi Beta

Probably a wise move on the part of Gamma Phi Beta was not to choose an ASUN presidential candidate, however, in its place Mary Alice Holmes will run on the senior class manager ticket.

Leonore Hill, who has always been one of the most active sorority women on the campus, will be Gamma Phi's representative in the junior manager race—at present she serves the sorority as senator in the student union.

A new coed from Reno high will carry the colors of Gamma Phi in the fresh elections—Pat Ussery, who was active in the Reno high Red and Blue and is beginning with one run to her credit on the Nevada Sagebrush.

Delta Delta Delta

Logical candidate subject for nomination from the Tri-Deltas was, of course, the Pan-Hel director, Ruth Mary Noble. Besides being Delta vice-president, Noble is another Nevada BWOC with a list of many activities which would not fit in the space allotted to this column.

Katharine Henningsen will undoubtedly place on the senior class manager ballot—her activities include the Artemisia and Nevada Sagens. For junior nominee for class manager the Tri-Deltas chose Janet Wilson, their senator. Wilson is also a member of the Sagens. Tosca Masini of Sparks will be placed on the frosh ballot, while Genevieve Siri will represent the sorority in the sophomore manager race.

Manzanita Association

From the Lambda Chi Alpha house, now official headquarters for the out-of-town non-sorority group of the campus, comes the name of Helen Batjer, ASUN senator, to represent the association in the presidential race.

There best bet for votes might overcome sorority competition since they will undoubtedly obtain the non-Reno vote.

Coed Greeks as yet have not actively begun war work, except for individual work by specific members, which obviously can not be credited to the sorority. However, two reasons predominate the sin—last week's rushing, which takes more time than coeds can give, and a meeting of the women's war board, which will serve as coordinator between sorority and war work. It is expected that the coeds will swing into full action by the first of next week.

Two Thousand See Wolf Pack Victory At Sunday's Game

Approximately 2000 spectators witnessed the initial appearance and victory of the Nevada Wolf Pack last Sunday in Mackay stadium. Prof. Leonard E. Chadwick, graduate manager, stated today.

Of the total attendance about 500 were service men, half of them stationed on the campus. Of the spectators, approximately 1100 were from among the Reno high school student body and Reno townspeople, and 200 were university students. All of the Reno army air base grid team were at the stadium to see what they would be up against when they meet the Wolf Pack Sunday.

Students who worked at the concessions booth were Marlon Holcomb, Kay Holcomb, Valerie Scheeline, Peggy Boyle, Elizabeth McDonald, Frances Cook and Clara Beth Haley. Taking tickets and student body cards at the turnstiles were Mary Watts, John McFarlane, George Pendo, Ray McGuire, Jack Fulton and Jim Coleman. Acting as guards were Clint McCubbin, Marvin Triger, Joe Haslett Bob Mytinger, Dick Colon and Jimmy Andrews.

ROTC cadets and army engineers helped guard the packing lots, main gates and the area behind the field house.

Lieutenant Kehoe Raised to Captain

Lieut. Lewis E. Kehoe, former university student from Lovelock, was promoted to rank of captain in the army air force training command, it was announced this week. The captain is attached to the field office of the air school at Santa Ana as an inspector.

Captain Kehoe graduated from the university with a master's degree and later attended the University of Illinois for post graduate work. Later he was an instructor at Pershing county high school.

Before receiving his second lieutenant's commission in June, 1941, in the coast artillery anti-aircraft division, Kehoe was a member of the Nevada national guard unit. Captain Kehoe was transferred to the air forces in December, 1941, and was stationed at an eastern field before being transferred to the army air force western flying training command in Santa Ana.

Gothic Members Drop From Seven to Three

The title of "The Most Exclusive Club on the Campus" goes to Cap and Scroll, highest women's honorary on the hill.

In former years the club has had as many as seven members, but this year it has dwindled to three "BWOC's."

Outstanding senior women who hold membership this year are Ruth Mary Noble, Nita Reifschneider and Dorothy Reynolds.

Miss Noble was accepted into Cap and Scroll because she is president of the campus Pan-Hellenic council, while Miss Reifschneider heads Chi Delta Phi, English honorary. The other member, Miss Reynolds, manages the affairs of Gothic N, honorary women's athletic group.

Homecoming Days Curtailed by War

Homecoming will be held this year, but proceedings will be on a much smaller scale than in previous years, according to a statement by Jack Good, chairman of the Homecoming Day committee.

Though ceremonies will not begin with the traditional bonfire, a rally will be held if a football game can be scheduled, he stated.

A dance will probably be held and sororities will hold open house, but it is doubtful if decorations will be used.

The Wolves Frolic, annual campus show cannot be presented this year, due to the lack of personnel, according to Good.

Earl Wooster, president of the alumni association, announced that local members of the university alumni will hold a dinner at Lawton's tentatively scheduled for Saturday, October 23. Officers will be elected for the coming year, he said, but few out of town members are expected to attend.

Members of the Homecoming committee, besides Good, are Ed Sawyer, Ruth Mary Noble, Katherine Little, Lela Tier, Jacqueline Prescott and Betty Poe.

Pre-Meds Resume Speeded Program

The accelerated program for pre-medical students this year is essentially the same as last year, according to a statement made by Dr. E. W. Lowrance, advisor. There are 39 students in the department at present.

The present program, greatly accelerated because of the war effort, does not necessarily include graduation from college, but may be completed in two years and one summer session. The course includes all fundamental medical sciences, but eliminates most of the arts courses.

At the end of the first year of study, students must apply to medical schools for admission, and these schools consider them while they complete the second year of the course. At present it is very difficult for women students to enter medical schools because the army and navy are using many of the schools to train their own doctors under the

Frosh Coed Irked By Ever Presence Of Hair Ribbon

BY GLORIA MAPES

Oooh, look at that ghastly combination! Red play shoes, beige skirt with a kelly green sweater, and to top it off royally that ever present blue and white freshman hair ribbon. Of course, to the campus crowd you're just considered as an underclassman. However, what must the townsfolk think when a freshman coed walks through the business district on her way home? "What this university needs is a good course in exterior decorating," would be an appropriate and typical remark. It is no wonder that counting the days until Christmas and the end of the semester has a double meaning to all freshman girls. Can you blame us for repeating over and over, "Give us strength."

What's this about registering for stickers on our cars? Underclassman. Yes, it's that same old classification; we have been under estimated again. Just between you and me, do you think it is fair to reserve that huge parking lot in front of the Education building for all three upperclassmen with cars? Somehow it seems as though a little of the collegiate spirit left the campus when dinks failed to return. Yes, there was something about seeing those blue and white skullcaps on the heads of freshmen. Let us hope those days will soon return with dinks to be worn and men to wear them.

To the upperclassmen: Seriously speaking, we really do like your beautiful campus and incidentally the awful truth of being recognized as freshmen. To the professors: If you happen to catch some of your freshmen students day dreaming, don't be too hard on them. They undoubtedly are looking forward to the day when they will be seniors of the good old U. of N.

SPORT SNORTS

BY B. MOLIGNONI

Sports Editor

Nevada's 34-0 opener with the Tonopah Bombers last week sent the new Wolf Pack off to a blazing start and stirred up a bit of enthusiasm in even the most skeptical of her backers. Despite our "They're young, they're nervous" pre-game crepe-hanging, we respectfully eat our bitter words without salt and promise to back the Pack confidently in the future.

In the Stands

Few people seem to realize the disadvantage under which our Nevada leaders struggle at the games this year. The rooting section is small; last Sunday there were many freshman rooters who didn't know the college cheers and songs. Adding more bedlam to the already chaotic section were a group of servicemen who gained admission to the Nevada rooters section by claiming to be Nevada backers.

These fellows found it necessary to cheer the opponent at odd and annoying points during the game. They shouted a variety of hackneyed and outdated phrases which they evidently considered clever or humorous, and heckled other spectators as well as the two cheer leaders.

To this rude group our comment is addressed: In former years the Nevada rooting section has been found to have sufficient pep and enthusiasm to satisfy every Nevada. Sunday we had two perfectly competent cheer leaders on the field, and the Nevada student body and local enthusiasts were giving a satisfactory amount of vocal support to the team without the aid of a disorganized group of ruffians who evidently didn't know how to conduct themselves at a college football game.

There are certain ethics observed by adults in the grandstand. They do not include provision for a bunch of noisy show-offs. Therefore, we respectfully submit a suggestion that the new upperclass committee or some other active organization rope off the University of Nevada student body rooting section and admit to that section only people who possess satisfactory student body cards.

This would not be an offensive act, but a defensive one. If any group of individuals cannot behave in a gentlemanly fashion, they simply cannot be accorded the privileges ordinarily granted gentlemen.

On the Field

Morale on the gridiron reached its zenith after the first touchdown and the fellows in silver and blue settled down to giving the retreating Bombers a systematic run for their exercise.

Among the thrills of the day we spotlight Bev Waller's rapid 83-yard ramble down the field and over the goal; young Jimmy Aiken's shift performance among the bigger fellows; six beautifully completed out of 13 attempted passes; Bill Mackrides drive through the line of scrimmage and subsequent 60-yard sprint to the fourth Nevada touchdown in the second half; Redger Parker's three conversions out of four attempts

At two o'clock Sunday afternoon the Wolf Pack will tangle with the Reno army air base eleven on Mackay Field. The Wolf Pack is outweighed about 14 pounds to the man, but Aiken is relying on their rigid training and constant practice to keep them out in front as it did a week ago.

With the little experience they have had, the men should show a little more practiced style of football, and will probably hold up the reputation they have won in their last game.

The above may seem, by now, to be a pretty tiresome phrase. It's a good phrase; Nevadans have been using it for decades. It's said in all sincerity. The new students who were in the stadium last Sunday showed an admirable amount of spirit and enthusiasm, but that pep waned slightly in the second half. Let's have a repeat performance—and carry the pennant through until the final gun.

Nevada Students Count Totals 406

A total of 406 students enrolled in courses at the university this fall, according to a count compiled in the president's office at the close of registration last Saturday.

The tally includes 122 men, 284 women, 18 special and 16 graduate students. However, it is indicated that many of these men students will drop school before the end of the semester to enter the armed forces.

This year there are 177 freshmen compared to 310 last fall, 75 sophomores compared to 155 in 1942, 60 juniors in comparison to 139, and 60 seniors to 125 last year. Total registration last year was 787.
