

Marilou Ferguson Selected Sweetheart of Squadron C

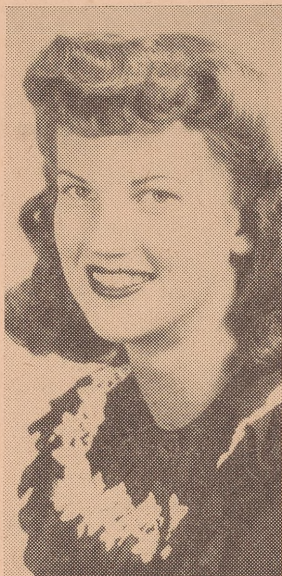

Marilou Ferguson, Delta Delta Delta pledge from Reno high school, was chosen sweetheart of Squadron C, Ruth Mary Noble, army-sorority coordinator, announced today. Miss Ferguson received a total of 43 votes out of a possible 100. Mary Harriman, Kappa Alpha Theta from Lovelock, placed second in the contest, which included ten coeds from five different women's groups. Wednesday night the squadron C aviation students were allowed to take the "sweetheart elect." Miss Harriman and two other contest coeds to the theater. The other two Nevada coeds included Hope Fleming, Delta Delta Delta, and Doll Corbett, Manzanita Hall Association.

Instigated by the army tactical department of the 313th college training detachment and interested upperclass women students, the contest was judged solely by pictures submitted by the sponsoring sororities and Manzanita Hall. The coeds were eliminated first with a primary ballot, which brought the contest to a final judgment between the two pictures. Each of the ballots were signed by voting aviation students, however, in the primary 12 of the hundred did not vote and in the final 13 declined to cast a ballot.

The duty of "squadron sweetheart" will be to serve as agent between her respective squad and the sororities on the campus. Miss Ferguson will also serve as hostess to all squadron C social activities on the campus.

Next week a sweetheart will be selected for squadron D, much in the same manner that Miss Ferguson was chosen. Each women's group will submit pictures for the squadron vote. In a like manner it is hoped that each squadron stationed here will be able to obtain a campus coed to serve as their agent as long as they are on the campus.

Miss Noble, who is a Delta Delta Delta senior, will probably remain in her present capacity as coordinator between the army tactical officials and the sororities.

Marilou Ferguson, freshman Tri-Delta pledge, was selected Squadron C "sweetheart" by a squad of 100 aviation students, it was announced today.

Aiken Expects Wolf Pack Win From Bay Dons

Nevada's Eighteen Face USF's Fifty Strong In Sunday Tussle

"We usually expect to get beat when we go to San Francisco," Coach Aiken stated this week, "but this year we've got a chance to win."

An 18-man University of Nevada Wolf Pack, out weighed about 15 pounds to the man, faces the University of San Francisco Dons—a 50-man squad in the first game of a doubleheader in Kezar Stadium this Sunday afternoon at 12:30. The second game will be played by the Del Monte pre-flight team and St. Mary's Gaels.

San Francisco's tactics will probably include the "Gus Henderson" spread formation and an extensive aerial offensive play. In San Francisco's game with Pleasanton navy base last week, 63 attempted passes were made by both teams; the majority by the Dons. October 10 the Dons will play the fighting eleven from Southern California.

This year the San Francisco team has two men from Loyola, Parker and Scanlon, who are reputed to be a double threat in the backfield.

Aiken disregards weight. Despite the fact that the Nevada team will be again out weighed, Coach Aiken is inclined to disregard this as an important disadvantage, since that has proved to be no hindrance to the Pack in its first two games.

Aiken's final comment on the coming game was that both teams are fast, and the game should be a good one. We have good passing material on the Nevada squad in young Jimmy Aiken, who is the Pack's star hurler, and Merlin Shea, Bill Mackrides, Kenny Simms, and Bev Waller who will receive Nevada will depend pretty largely on its speed and passing accuracy to give the Dons a fight for any score they might roll up.

Aiken's Lineup

The Wolf Pack starting lineup that will face University of San Francisco's eleven coached by veteran Al Tassi is as follows:

- Right end.....Kenny Simms, 180
 - Right tackle.....Bob McClure, 190
 - Right guard.....Ted LaTona, 175
 - Center.....Jack Murden, 195
 - Left guard.....Bernie Shapiro, 195
 - Left tackle.....Lloyd Hermansen, 220
 - Left end.....Bill Mackrides, 170
 - Quarterback.....Redger Parker, 170
 - Right half.....Merlin Shea, 175
 - Left half.....Jimmy Aiken, 150
 - Fullback.....Al Dockery, 185
- The Wolf Pack will leave Reno Saturday morning by Greyhound bus, and will stay at Hotel Grand while in San Francisco.

Call to Service

Lloyd Hermansen, 220-pound Nevada tackle, reported to the Salt Lake City induction center this week to be sworn into the army. Hermansen will return to Reno Thursday, play his last game for Nevada in San Francisco Sunday, then go to his home in Nebraska for the remainder of his furlough before he goes into training.

Arden Means and Tim Weatherford were both forced to leave school to enter the service, and Walt Leonard was called home last week when his family was notified that his older brother had been killed in action in Africa. Leonard will enter the service in a short time.

Lieutenant McMillen To Instruct ROTC

Lieut. Hugh McMillen of the army ground forces is expected to arrive on the campus October 1 to take over his duties as instructor of the first year advanced ROTC students who will be returning to the university, Staff Sgt. Michael J. McCormick announced this week.

Lieutenant McMillen is now stationed at Camp Roberts, Calif., where most of the returning ROTC cadets are finishing their basic training. He will instruct cadets in the latest tactics of modern infantry warfare.

Members of Chem Club Elect Gung President

Helen Gung, senior student from Reno, was elected president of the Chem Club at a meeting held Tuesday in Mackay Science hall.

Jane McCulston was elected vice-president and Gordon Mills, secretary-treasurer.

A schedule for activities during the semester was discussed and one new member, Lucille Shea, was admitted to the club, which plans to meet on the second Tuesday of each month.

WAR BONDS SOLD

During the past two weeks $27,733.75 in war bonds has been sold by the comptroller's office, with six students and two cadets buying bonds, it was announced.

ROTC Cadets Pass Examining Board For Nevada Return

Thirteen of last year's first year advanced ROTC cadets have passed the final examining board at Camp Roberts, Calif., and are expected to return to the campus as engineer trainees on or before October 15, it was announced this week by Staff Sgt. Michael J. McCormick of the military department.

These 13 men were entrained to Camp Roberts in the first part of June and received basic military training and specialized courses while there. When they return to the campus, Sergeant McCormick stated, they will be stationed in Artemisia hall and will take specialized courses as designated by army curriculum.

Those returning are Don Burrus, Rodney Boudwin, Bob Collins, Bob Crowell, Floyd Edsall, John Hattala, Bob Hoyer, Alex Lemberes, Addison Millard, Bob Preece, Stan Reese, Neil Stewart and Mike Zoradi.

Three other first year advanced students will also return from other army camps to study the same courses under the same program, McCormick added. They include Charles Burke and John Stuitbergen, both of whom have been stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., and Merton Domooske who has been at Camp Custer, Mich.

All of these men will be allowed the privileges given to all soldiers under the ASTP unit, which includes activity in all collegiate programs except sports.

New Phi Kappa Phi Committee Elected From the Faculty

Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary, last week elected committees from the faculty for the following year, Prof. Vincent P. Gianella, president of the group, announced today.

Serving on the alumni and honorary committee are A. L. Higginbotham, chairman; F. L. Bixby and W. I. Smyth. Dr. A. G. Mazour is chairman of the banquet committee assisted by T. H. Post, Miss Edith Ruebsam, J. R. Van Dyke and Dr. B. F. Chappelle.

Reception committee members are Dr. Eldon Wittwer, chairman; Miss Jesse Pope and Margaret E. Mack.

Elected to the special speaker's committee were Dr. Harold N. Brown, chairman; G. B. Blair and A. L. Higginbotham.

The graduate and undergraduate committee consists of chairman, Sigmond W. Leifson, Dr. C. R. Hicks and Dr. G. W. Sears.

V. E. Scott is chairman of the nominations committee with Miss Katherine Riegelhuth and Dr. Milan Webster assisting.

Phi Kappa Phi is composed of those students elected for their high scholastic average during their four years of college. Twice yearly, bids are given to about ten percent of the graduating seniors.

Officers of the organization are all faculty members and those now heading the organization are V. P. Gianella, president; Dean Fredrick Wood, vice-president; W. D. Billings, treasurer; Dr. E. W. Lowrance, secretary; Mrs. Alice Marsh, corresponding secretary, and Dr. Eldon Wittwer, marshal.

Blue Peppers Begin Coed Marching Unit

About 50 women attended the first Blue Pepper meeting of the semester held last Monday in the Education auditorium.

With so many women interested, the Blue Peppers will soon be organized as an effective marching unit to perform at football games, Jane Dugan, president officer at the meeting, stated.

New officers for the group will be elected at a business meeting next Monday at 3:45 p.m.

Practice marching will be held on the quad Monday and Wednesday afternoons at four, Miss Dugan stated, with Lt. John E. Cervi of the 313th college training detachment, as drill leader.

Ninety-One Students Take Physical Course

The 91 men registered for the physical education course this semester will be given physical training somewhat similar to that given the army air force cadets, according to Chester M. Scranton, class instructor.

The class is compulsory for all men students, and the only section offered is given at five p.m. each day of the week. This time was chosen as the only one at which there would be no conflict with other classes.

HELEN BATJER

Winners of the primary race for student body president yesterday afternoon were Helen Batjer and Ruth Mary Noble, who will both be placed on the general ballot next Thursday. Miss Batjer belongs to Artemisia-Manzanita Association, while Miss Noble is affiliated with Delta Delta Delta.

Maintenance of Campus Traditions Stressed by President Candidates

Two Men Speak on Freshmen Platform; Remaining Speakers Were Twenty Coeds

Keep the traditions and activities alive on the Nevada campus was the most important point stressed by all four presidential candidates during the election campaign session Wednesday night, which featured 20 women and two men.

With Adey May Dunnell, chairman of the election board, as master of ceremonies, an entire women's cast, with the exception of the two, starred in a program, which included more "shaky-knees" than good speeches. The women freshmen candidates made the best "vote for me" addresses to the assembly of 150 students or more, than any other group, according to various opinions.

After eliminating the class manager candidates, who gave their speeches, Miss Dunnell took advantage of the alphabet and introduced the presidential candidates campaigning managers, who in turn presented a pep talk before introducing the hoped-for presidents to be. In most cases the managers could have been eliminated from the program without harming the chances of the presidential candidates since most of their "patter" consisted of list of accomplishments and nasty remarks, usually explaining some ill-given nickname, according to some students attending the meeting.

As for the presidents elect, student opinion was interested to listen for an indication of a substantial election platform—especially old students who had witnessed former male election campaign programs. However, each candidate had some basis for running for the office, it was indicated.

With Geraldine Streshley of the hall and Zeta Phi Zeta introducing her, Helen Batjer maintained that although all presidents elect were potential campus leaders, despite the lack of sorority political coaching, whoever should win the election should demand the cooperation of all students and organizations, Miss Batjer is a member of the women's war council, ASUN executive committee, Blue Peppers, WAA, ASUN senate and last year's Mackay Day committee.

Second presidential candidate speaking was Katherine Little, who was introduced by Pi Phi Beulah Haddow. Miss Little maintained that with experience in student body president affairs last year, under coaching of Former President Eugene Mastrolanni, she could handle the job. She also boasted an "everybody vote plan" so that there would be no downfall in student government. Besides being president of her sorority, Miss Little is a member of the women's upperclass committee, ASUN senate (for which she was recently appointed secretary), Blue Peppers, Ski Club, Fine Arts, last year's Mackay Day committee, Pan-Hellenic Council, Women's War Board, Sagens and honorary major of the ROTC detachment.

District 13 President Visits Delta Chapter

Mrs. Wilbur Stewart, president of Delta Delta Delta district 13, addressed members of Tri-Delta's new pledge class and spoke at active meeting while in Reno this week.

Tuesday evening, Mrs. Stewart was guest of honor at an alumnae meeting in the home of Mrs. Edna Salter, president of Tri-Delta alliance.

Mrs. Stewart is a member of Theta Pi chapter at the University of California at Los Angeles. She now resides in Los Angeles.

Henningsen, Poe Chosen Heads of Seniors-Juniors

Waller, Masini, Siri And Peterson Place In Other Races

With an easy 94 votes, Ruth Mary Noble, Delta Delta Delta candidate for ASUN president, passed all three women competitors to be placed on next week's general ballot along with Helen Batjer, who barely came second with one vote over Katherine Little, Pi Beta Phi contender.

In the second-place race Miss Batjer, who is affiliated with Manzanita Hall Association, obtained 70 votes while Miss Little received 69. The fourth candidate, Dorothy Savage, who has been acting president and is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, obtained only 56 of the available votes.

Two hundred and eighty-nine students voted for ASUN president yesterday out of a total of 406, almost 50 of which are either special students or are taking post graduate courses. On a comparative average with previous student body elections, according to campus politicians, this was an excellent turnout of voters.

Henningsen Wins

Katharine Henningsen of Delta Delta Delta was elected senior class manager with 19 of the available 45 votes. The other contenders for this office, Jane Dugan of Kappa Alpha Theta and Mary Alice Holmes of Gamma Phi Beta, received 11 and 15 votes, respectively.

Bette Poe Elected

In a much even race for junior class manager, Bette Poe, Kappa Alpha Theta, received 18 votes to attain the office. Leonore Hill of Gamma Phi Beta obtained 14 votes and Janet Wilson of Delta Delta Delta received 13.

Peterson and Siri

As there were four running in the sophomore class managers race, two candidates, Beth Peterson and Genevieve Siri, will be placed on the general ballot next week. Miss Siri topped the other three with a vote of 25, while the runner-up obtained 16 votes. The two other candidates who lost on the primary ballot include Lillian Sloan and Patricia Traner, who received 12 and six votes, respectively.

Masini vs. Waller

In the only race where men candidates prevailed one was chosen to run on the general ballot for freshmen class manager next week. Beverly Waller, Alpha Tau Omega pledge from Fallon, will be placed on the ballot with Tosca Masini, Delta Delta Delta pledge from Sparks. Waller received 27 votes, while Miss Masini obtained 29.

The other five candidates who ran on the freshmen primary ballot were as follows: Jimmy Andrews, ATO pledge, 21 votes; Eleanor Corle, Pi Beta Phi pledge, 17; Mickey Munley, ATO pledge, seven; Patricia Ussery, Gamma Phi Beta pledge, 12, and Jack Dieringer, Sigma Nu pledge, 24.

Because of sorority competition prevailing on the campus, it is expected by campus politicians that the ASUN presidential race next week will be very close. As yet there has been no indication which way the two losing sororities will vote, or whether they will form a solid voting mass or not.

In this week's elections there was one invalid ballot in the freshmen race, two in the sophomore race and one in the presidential, according to the ASUN senators who counted the votes Thursday evening.

Sally Black Engaged to Dick Booker

Miss Sally Black, Gamma Phi Beta, has announced her engagement to Aviation Cadet Richard G. Booker, of Sparks. Miss Black is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Black of Honolulu.

Cadet Booker, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Booker of Sparks, attended the University of Nevada prior to his enlistment in the service. While on the campus he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

He is at present stationed in Ontario, California, for pre-flight training, and the wedding will take place in Honolulu after Cadet Booker completes his training, Miss Black stated.

NAVY ENSIGN ENROUTE

Ensign Alfred Mills, University of Nevada graduate '43, was home on leave this week at his home in Fallon prior to his transfer to Fort Schuyler, N. Y. He has been in the degaussing service in San Francisco since his graduation last May. Mills was an active member of Theta Chi fraternity, Phi Kappa Phi and president of the Chemical society.

Lafayette Frats Pledge Freshmen

Easton, Pa. (I.P.)—Fraternity life at Lafayette has been drastically changed by the war, but although all of the fraternity houses have been taken over by the college, the Greek letter organizations continue to function and retain their entity, some with badly depleted numbers.

To encourage the fraternities to function, college authorities have permitted rushing and pledging in accordance with regulations, and have also provided rooms for the various groups to meet. This program of encouraging the fraternities to remain active differs from those at a number of other colleges, where many have gone out of existence for the duration of the war.

In taking over the fraternity houses by the college, a plan has been devised to make it possible for those fraternities to preserve their equities.

All fraternities have banded together and delegated control to a central committee of seven men, three from the fraternities, three from the college and Pres. William Mather Lewis, ex-officio member and chairman without a vote. This committee has the power to act as agent for all of the 15 fraternities owning houses.

One of the acts of the committee was to take away the identity of the fraternities and designate them as "fraternity house dormitories," utilizing them to house civilian students, fraternity and non-fraternity alike. The rental charge is in keeping with those previously charged at the dormitories, which are now housed by army men at the college.

Sponsor Praises Get-Together Dance

Geraldine McFarland, newly elected Sagen president, said today that the get-together dance sponsored by the Sagens last Saturday at the gymnasium was well attended by a number of cadets, most of the freshmen men and many college women.

Get-together dances in previous years have been sponsored by Blue Key, honorary organization, as the first social event of the semester. This year, since no Blue Key members are on the campus, the women's pep organization sponsored the dance.

No Debate Scheduled For Year's Activities

There will be no debate season this year, according to Prof. William C. Miller, instructor of speech classes.

Low enrollment, the absence of inter-collegiate competition this year, and the fact that there are no experienced upperclass debaters returning to school this fall help account for dropping the activity, he added.

Besides the former coach, Dr. Robert Griffin, is now occupied in the full time position of coordinator between the university staff and the air forces and army engineer training detachments.

Mining Engineers Tour State Mines

Eight upperclassmen and Director Jay A. Carpenter of the Mackay School of Mines last week went on an inspection tour of the Ely and Pioche mining districts.

Student members on the tour were Frank Fitz, John Fox, Royce Hardy, Otto Oshida, Warren Parks, Edmund Sawyer, Harold Heinen and Walter Vreeland.

On Friday, September 24, the group was the guest of Consolidated Copper Mines at Kimberly, Nevada, through the courtesy of Superintendent Paul Sirkegian, class of '24 and regent of the university.

Saturday they were guests of Combined Metals Company where Samuel Arentz, Jr., class of '34, is chief mining engineer.

Saturday night they attended a dinner and program sponsored by the American Institute of Mining Engineers.

The group was transported by bus, except Fitz who flew his own plane to Ely and was accompanied on the return trip by Oshida.

Texas School Plans 24-Hour War Course

Dallas, Texas (I.P.)—So great is the demand for experience and training in war plants that classes in the Southern Methodist University engineering school are on a 24-hour basis. Persons who are already employed in aviation plants and other industries in and near this city attend refresher courses at 1, 2, and 3 o'clock in the morning as they go to or leave their work.

To accommodate the approximately 2000 persons regularly demanding such courses, instructors have been recruited from the ranks of private business to teach on a part-time basis.

TWENTY ATTEND GAME

About 20 Wolf Pack rooters are planning to take the annual football trip to see Nevada play University of San Francisco this Sunday, according to Prof. Leonard E. Chadwick, graduate manager.

Those planning the trip are Blanche Parker, Mary Ancho, Hallie Berry, Bob Mytinger, Bob Peterson, Joe Hazlett, John Sweet, Betty Burkhalter, Adey May Dunnell, Rose Marie Mayhew, Sydne Hamilton, Ray McGuire, Jack Dieringer, Bill Atkinson, Marshall Johnson, Jim Coleman, Marvin McQuerry, Jack Crider, Fred Wood and Frank Apa.

School Bus Transports College Coeds to PE

For the convenience of women PE students, a school bus has been secured to transport them from the campus to Northside junior high school where classes are held, Miss Elsa Sameth, head of women's PE department, announced.

This year is the first time since the old gymnasium was built in 1922 that classes have been held elsewhere than the gym, but army student trainees stationed on the campus need the facilities now.

FACULTY AND FOOTBALL

Because several gridiron kings on Coach Aiken's Wolf Pack failed to attend classes regularly, it was brought to the attention of the faculty who voted at a recent meeting to appoint a committee to investigate the athletic situation on the University of Nevada campus.

If these football players had attended classes, the faculty would have no reason to complain and a "shakeup" in athletics would not appear necessary to them. However, the classes were not attended and the faculty rightfully acted.

On the surface, the faculty encroachment appears quite serious, even to the extent of elimination of present season games. But underneath, the faculty has no method of curtailing the present football schedule, nor do they want to. If any action is motivated, it will not occur until next fall and next season, which in lieu of time might present a different picture.

Even if the faculty does act it is obvious that the extent of encroachment will include only tightening of university regulations. They will undoubtedly insert a regulation to university rules that will demand an athlete's regular attendance to class in order to be eligible for any given sport. This ruling will probably affect other students and cause betterment of their attendance record, too.

In the minds of the faculty and the minds of many students, athletics is secondary to education—the university was not formed to foster winning teams, but to educate succeeding generations.

Despite some unauthorized student opinions, many members of the faculty regard sports, especially inter-collegiate, as essential to any university—for in sports there is an unbreakable tie that education alone cannot give to the school. It is assumed that school spirit is secondary, but absolutely necessary.

Only narrow minded faculty members begrudge the existence of sports on the campus—these men usually remain entrenched in one pattern of life and are unable to see the reality of student spirit. However, even the broad-minded professor rightfully condemns football or basketball as an excuse for missing class periods—with the exception, of course, of out-of-town trips.

No matter what ulterior motive imported an athlete to Nevada—money or fame—his only allegiance to the school is regular attendance in classes so that the professors get a fair break.

SORORITY CATTING

THIS WEEK—THE EDITOR'S WHEN SORORITIES SUDDENLY plunge madly into politics, the results will undoubtedly be unpredictable—however, a hasty look into the sorority situation, even before the primaries, finds this writer predicting a three-way triangle for student body president.

FLASH: This column is right on two counts—Noble surged ahead of all and will run on the general ballot next week and the simple statement that women are unpredictable. It seems the results turned out to spite this column—the "dark horse" accounted for the unaccountable votes, plus a solid twenty, and tallied one vote more than Little to crash the generals. Savage didn't even place.

RUTH MARY NOBLE, DELTA Delta Delta candidate, will reach the general election, according to the straw vote of popular ballot. She has a strong following of Tri-Delts and many voters who will mark her name merely because she is Noble.

ON THE ALPHABETIC SYSTEM that might have existed in normal times, when men and women were abundantly planted upon the campus soil, the tally would count votes for Helen Batjer, Zeta Phi Zeta, social group, hopeful. However, this system of vote is no longer prevalent on the Nevada campus, so Batjer's votes will come only from followers, which for some reason cannot be tabulated.

THE OTHER WOMAN CANDIDATE who will run on the general ballot will obviously result in a race between Katherine Little, Pi Phi, and Dorothy Savage, Theta. The Kappa Alpha Theta membership tally totals almost 50, while the Pi Phi number only a near 25.

THE OTHER CANDIDATE, BATJER, could possibly be a "dark horse" on the ballot if the many unaccounted votes swing her way, however it is expected by the few remaining long-time campus politicians that the power will still remain in sorority circles.

THE UNACCOUNTED VOTES include the Organized Independents, whose number as yet has not been tallied; the unorganized independents, the campus men (fraternity and otherwise) and the non-sorority women in Lambda Chi and ATO, whether they are strongly affiliated with Manzanita Association or not.

FRATERNITY MEN OF LAMBDA Chi will obviously vote for Little, while those in Sigma Nu for Savage. Other old-time frat men, who are very few, numbering about 25, will probably vote to their own choosing, depending upon personal opinion of respective candidates.

GAMMA PHI BETA AND THEIR over 20 votes have been rumored as solid Little voters on one day and backing Batjer the next. If there is a tight squeeze in the final count, those 20 votes will account for plenty, but only if they are a solid 20.

INDEPENDENT GROUPS WILL probably vote for candidates of their own fancy, that is if they vote at all. However, if some wise office seeker recruited them to her side—she's a cinch for student body president. The independent element on this campus numbers more than 200 students (both male and female, and include the organized group.)

IN THE RACE BETWEEN LITTLE and Savage the results will depend upon several degrees of circumstances. In many respects Savage has the edge on Little with a stronger sorority pull and actual experience as acting president of the student body since last summer. Savage has also acquainted herself with more students by signing her name as acting head to the ASUN card. However, there are not so many students on the campus this year that Little remains unknown.

IF SAVAGE WINS IN THE PRIMARY, Ruth Mary Noble will have a better chance in the general than if Little wins. For if Little wins, the Thetas will back the Pi Phi rather than the Tri-Delts, since they have always been political competitors (at least as extensive as former sorority politics had been).

Letters to the Editor

THE BEST OF MANY

We don't know who you term as "the rude group," but we sincerely hope you don't mean the ASTU engineers. We are all college men of past years and know what it means to have student body support at sports events. Therefore, this is addressed to you, B. Mollignoni, sports editor:

We attended the game last Sunday in almost full force and gave our whole-hearted support to a great Nevada eleven. In fact, I was approached in the stands, after rooting for Nevada, and asked if I didn't know who to root for. This person, of whom I speak, happened to be a member of the Nevada student body and a person who thought it disloyal for me not to root for the army eleven.

Another thing, B. Mollignoni, about conducting ourselves at a football game, I think that most of our men have been to enough big time football games to know how to act.

We presume that in all of these statements of yours that you are pertaining to a group of men with wings on their shoulders, because you see, we consider ourselves as attached-students to the University of Nevada and have been told as such.

This deal of roping off a section for the Nevada rooters may be a good idea in some ways, but I think it will promote ill feelings, too. There are some people who are loyal supporters who don't have student body cards, and therefore will not be admitted to this select group of individuals, when they are probably more entitled to it than some others.

Maybe this article was not addressed to this group of men. We sincerely hope it wasn't but many of the men have taken it as such and are slightly peeved.

We would appreciate your further establishing this group instead of making it so general. We also realize that you cannot come right out and classify the group, but please don't make us feel as if we were criminals.

We could appreciate having our names cleared if it is at all possible because we feel that this column was a little unjust to us.—The Engineers.

Pledging Jumps To Twenty-Three

Fraternity pledging continued this week, climbing from four last week in one frat to 23 men now pledged to three fraternities, according to Dean R. C. Thompson, advisor to the inter-fraternity council.

Alpha Tau Omega has pledged seven men, Phi Sigma Kappa, ten and Sigma Nu, six.

ATO pledges are James Aiken, Mickey Munley, Jimmy Andrews and Bruce Hill, all of Reno; Charles Sheehan, Fernley; Beverly Waller, Fallon, and Ronald DuPratt, Yerington.

Pledges of Phi Sigma Kappa are Albert Dockery, Las Vegas; Bob McClure, Dardanelle, Ark.; Ralph Thomas, Piedmont, Calif.; Benedict Coren and Bill Mackrides, Philadelphia, Pa.; Bruce Larson, Richmond, Calif.; Robert Spanzian, Chicago; Ted LaTona, Sacramento; Redger Parker, Russellville, Ark.; and Dominic Ferraro, Gabbs Valley.

Sigma Nu pledges are Elio Barsanti, Tonopah; Jack Dieringer, Boyd Tieslau and Hallie Berry of Reno, and Richard Streeter and Richard Kinner, both of Sparks.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha and Theta Chi have not pledged fresh men as yet. Sigma Rho Delta is not represented on the campus this year.

Three Twin Pairs Return to Campus

Twins have always been of interest, especially identical twins. If girls, we expect to see them together, expect to see them dress alike and, as a matter of fact, we almost expect them to act alike. They are always the source of endless comment.

This year there are three pairs of these rare combinations on the campus. Kathleen and Isabel Blythe of Berkeley, California, have returned to the campus again this year. The Blythes are sophomores and are affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Maie and Myrl Nygren, sophomores from Fallon, are also back on the campus. The Nygrens are members of Zeta Phi Zeta, women's social organization. Nancy and Patricia Herz, both of Reno, have been on the campus for three years. Both are juniors and affiliated with Delta Delta Delta. Emilie and Rita Turano, who were members of Kappa Alpha Theta, grad-

Frosh Coeds Laugh Over Men's Plight

BY GLORIA MAPES
 "They'll all be a group of Little Lord Fauntleroy's," seems to be the unbiased opinion of the frosh coeds on the idea of first-year male students wearing bow ties. However, don't misunderstand us. We wouldn't have it differently. After all, why shouldn't the boys have to wear something if those infernal blue and white hair ribbons have to be a part of our ensemble.
 If you happen to notice an anxious look on the faces of frosh coeds, it is because we can hardly wait to see the outcome of this delightfully fiendish idea. Yes, we'll have to take our hats off to the upperclassmen. Perhaps our hair ribbons won't look so bad after all as compared to the coming bow ties.
 Can't you just picture a boy wearing a T-shirt topped with a blue or black bow tie gracefully lassoed around his neck? Perhaps for variety's sake some will wear huge bows or perhaps ones so small that their visibility by the naked eye will be doubtful. There's no doubt about it. We're all expecting to see them worn in places other than the conventional spot. Yes, they would make attractive leg bands and wristlets, but the members of the men's upperclass committee will probably have something to say about where the tie is to be worn.

New English Professor Writes Handbook Article

The annual debater's handbook, to be published this month, will carry an article written by Charlton Laird, associate professor of English, according to word received by the department of English.
 Professor Laird's essay, entitled "Literature for Defense," was originally published in the bulletin of the American Association of University Professors for June, 1941.
 The handbook is used by debate teams in high schools and universities throughout the country.

Sawyer Registers 131 Automobiles For Parking Tags

A total of 131 automobiles have been registered with the men's upperclass committee in the last two weeks, according to Ed Sawyer, chairman. Of these, 36 cars belong to the university staff, 39 to upperclassmen and 56 to underclassmen.
 Sawyer also announced that the men's upperclass group would hold a weekly court session to try traffic violators, if the offender pleads "not guilty." This session will be held each Thursday during the noon hour.
 At this time frosh tradition breakers will also receive punishment for violations, he added.

Fine Arts Club Secures EE Room

Mrs. Helen Joslin, acting head of the arts department, has arranged that the Fine Arts Club may use one of the rooms in the engineering building for exhibits this year.
 The group is trying to secure a water-color exhibit of Mexican scenes painted by Walter B. Swan. The group of 35 pictures is now on tour throughout the United States.
 At a meeting held last Monday, the former dean of women, Margaret E. Mack, addressed the club on the American Association of University Women and said that the crafts department of the association was anxious to cooperate with the fine arts group in any way possible.
 Mary Ann Wells and Virginia Olsen were appointed to keep a scrapbook of the organization and Barbara Heany was appointed publicity manager.
 Lois Bradshaw, president of fine arts, said that to earn hours for membership, trypes may sit at art exhibits, serve at silver teas, and arrange exhibits.

Engineer Cadets Buy More Bonds

Engineer cadets under the ASTP unit at the university have recently subscribed 20 per cent of their pay for purchasing war bonds, according to Staff Sgt. Michael J. McCormick of the military department.
 Each of the trainees also has taken out an insurance policy with the government, the average policy being for more than $9000, Sergeant McCormick added.

PRESS CLUB MEETS

Press Club will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the ASUN building to plan a complete schedule of guest speakers for future meetings, Lois Bradshaw, president of the group, stated today.
 All members not attending the meeting or presenting an excuse will be automatically dropped from the club, she added.

Many Books Added To Campus Library

"Desert Challenge," by Richard G. Lillard, is one of the newest additions to the university library, according to Miss Thea Thompson, librarian.
 The book, though not a tourist guide, is an interesting interpretation of the rise and fall of Nevada under peculiar conditions of sagebrush and desert.
 Another book added to the library is "South From Corregidor," by Lieut. Comm. John Morrill, U. S. N., and Pete Martin. The book is an account of the last flaming days and hours of Corregidor and the epic escape of 18 navy men in a 36-foot boat through Japanese-infested waters.
 Also among books recently added to the library shelves is a collection of four Charles Dickens masterpieces, which include "David Copperfield," "Oliver Twist," "Pickwick Papers" and "Martin Chuzzlewit."
A Wilder Play
 "The Skin of Our Teeth," a three-act play by Thornton Wilder, is also listed among the recent shipment of books. The New York Times recently called this work "the best play the forties have seen in many months."
 The university library has added approximately 50 books during the summer. Some of the others that have been acquired are "Who Walked Alone," by Perry Burgess; "Tennis," by Helen Hull Jacobs; "A Century at the Bar of the Supreme Court," by Charles Henry Butler; "Railroading From the Head End," by S. Kip Farrington, Jr.; Post Biographies of Famous Journalists, edited by John E. Drewry.
 "Thankless Child," by Frank Swinnerton; "Golden Fleece," by Hughie Call; "One World," by Wendell Wilkie; "Men at War" with an introduction by Ernest Hemingway and numerous other novels, scientific and professional books.

Nevada Bulletins Given to Soldiers To Mail to Parents

Army student trainees stationed at the University of Nevada will be able to acquaint their parents and friends with the campus by sending the publicity bulletin to them, Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the faculty public relations committee, announced today.
 This bulletin not only contains pictures of various campus scenes, but written information concerning the school. The trainees can obtain the bulletins by listing the parents and friends names and addresses on the sign-up sheet in their respective barracks, Professor Higginbotham added.

WAC Recruiters Present Movie

Officials of the local WAC recruiting station will present a moving picture to members of the AWS at a meeting Wednesday afternoon at 4 p. m. in the Education building, Dorothy Savage, president, announced today.
 Purpose of the program will be to show the university coeds the change over from WAAC to WAC—or auxiliary to regular army. The title of the movie is "We're in the Army Now."
 It is mandatory for underclass freshmen women to attend AWS meetings and so class roll will be called, Miss Savage added.

GAMMA PHIS INITIATE

Myra Rowley, Sparks, and Madge Elder, Reno, were initiated into Gamma Phi Beta Monday evening. President Brownie Wylie presided over the initiation. Pink carnation, the sorority flower, centered the theme. Following the service, a buffet supper was served.

It is never too late for a woman to keep an appointment.

FROSH MEN GROAN AS BOW TIES REPLACE DINKS

Freshman men are groaning under the new rule that they must wear blue or black bow ties. Upperclassmen, however, are firm and state that a penalty of five swats will be administered to any frosh who fails to wear his tie.
 Chief complaint stressed by frosh men is, "How the hell can you wear a bow tie with a T-shirt?"
 The fellows picture a weird combination of a T-shirt, a stretch of bare skin and then the tie betwixt.
 Their opinion is that the traditional dinks of previous years were not so bad after all, mostly because a beany did not necessitate the wearing of a dress shirt to school.
 Some of the frosh have threatened to appear facetiously wearing their ties in their hair, around their arms or on their legs. However, the committee warns that the conventional place to wear a tie is around the neck. In fact around the neck will be the only place the presence of the tie will be accepted when the ruling goes into effect Monday, the committeemen added.

REGISTRAR'S NOTICE

Out-of-town students who have not listed their campus address with the registrar should do so this week, Mrs. Jeanette C. Rhodes announced.

IN SUB-CHASER SCHOOL

Ensign Jim Perkins, graduate of the Mackay School of Mines in 1941, is in Miami, Florida, attending a four weeks' course at the sub-chaser training center. Perkins, who was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha, has been on a submarine chaser operating out of Norfolk, Va., since last January. He attained his commission in the naval reserve in October, 1942, and received special instruction in diesel engineering at the University of Pennsylvania.

 were as follows: reorganization of the student body assembly plan so that more of the students will attend, honesty and square shooting with groups and individuals and impartiality in naming committees. She was introduced by Marie Aldrich. Her qualifications include Pan-Hellenic council presidency, Cap and Scroll, Sagens, Blue Peppers drill leader, Homecoming committee and Sagens.

Last speaker on the presidential program, Dorothy Savage, emphasized the importance of maintaining traditions and activities until the boys come home to relieve women students of their war time duties. Introduced by Campaign Manager Katherine O'Leary, Miss Savage has been serving as acting president of the student body since last summer. She also has AWS presidency to her credit, student yell leader, Sagens, Fine Arts, publication board and experience on the war faculty board and board of athletic control.

Two freshmen men speakers on the Wednesday election program were Jimmy Andrews and Jack Dieringer (two others on the ticket, Mickey Munley and Beverly Waller, failed to appear). Women candidates speaking were Tosca Masini, Tri-Delt; Eleanor Corle, Pi Phi, and Patricia Ussery, Gamma Phi.

Sophomores speaking for themselves Wednesday included Lillian Sloan, Gamma Phi; Beth Peterson, Theta; Genevieve Siri, Tri-Delt, and Patricia Traner, Pi Phi. Junior class manager candidates were Leonore Hill, Gamma Phi; Bette Poe, Theta, and Janet Wilson, Delta Delta Delta. Seniors speaking were Jane Dugan, Theta; Mary Alice Holmes, Gamma Phi, and Katharine Henningsen, Tri-Delt.

SPORT SNORTS

BY B. MOLIGNONI

Sports Editor

Taking the week's issues in order of importance, it seems as though we owe the ASTU some sort of an explanation of a couple of paragraphs in last week's column. At least, the ASTU evidently expects an explanation.

Shortly after publication of the 'Brush last week, an unprecedented verbal bombardment made a direct hit on the office. The mildest was an appeal from an ASTU man for the author of such "rash statements" to exclude the ASTU in print in the next issue. The strongest was a threat from some burly engineer to "punch that guy right on the nose." Now fellows, the guy is a she.

Back to the slanderous statements, so called, of last week—please consult the column before going off half-cocked. Perhaps the generalities were obnoxious. They, too, had a reason. The identification of the offensive individuals was unknown; therefore, we made a blanket statement, intending to impress those servicemen who were out of line with the University of Nevada rooting section. Just why the engineers applied the statement to themselves, we do not know.

No reference was made to the ASTU students. The rebuke was not intended for any one group of men. We hope that this satisfies irate ASTU men and that we are now back on a friendly basis.

Incidentally, when our late President Leon W. Hartman offered our campus to the United States government for a training program, we of the student body offered to share our fun, simultaneously. We realize the need for student support during wartime. We certainly are not so foolish or smug as to think that we could get along better without these military students.

We appreciate your enthusiasm and support, and encourage, rather than condemn, your school spirit. We merely ask that you conform to certain Nevada traditions, as you would have had you come here as individual students in normal times.

Wolf Pack Morale
 Coach Aiken's enthusiastic "We usually expect to get beaten when we go to San Francisco, but this year's we've a chance to win" has sounded the key for team morale this week.

The fellows have competed against a score of former college men in these servicemen tilts. They have experience, speed, enthusiasm, excellent condition and promising passing possibilities in their favor.

They're excited about playing the San Francisco Dons in view of the fact that the Dons meet the eleven from Southern California next week. This is a pretty good condition that the Dons are a rather high-rating team on the coast.

Dons' Dope

This week Kerry Kersey, former Nevada student who is now a naval engineer trainee at the University of San Francisco, took a minute off to send some advance dope on the Dons.

Kersey says: "The University of San Francisco, which Nevada plays October 3, has possibilities. It is inexperienced but willing. Scanlon running from the tailback position is dangerous and should improve before the game. Perry is another man to watch out for. Nevada will have to be on its toes to beat them."

Kersey added a few parenthetical notes: "California has a very strong team with navy players and five or ten Stanford men that really bolster it. It should be the strongest team on the coast—or at least one of the strongest. Santa Clara will definitely not be allowed to play football. St. Mary's is full of 17-year-olds and 4-Fs."

Homecoming Committee Arrange Plans; No-Date Dance Scheduled for Affair

This year's Homecoming dance, departing from usual custom, will be a no-date affair, according to Ruth Mary Noble, chairman of the dance committee.

The dance will be held in the State building starting at 9 p.m. Miss Noble and Katherine Little are in charge of the decoration committee and will obtain chaperones, and Bette Poe is in charge of the program committee, will secure the building for the dance.

Saturday, October 23, the traditional rally will be held, although the possibility of a football game on Sunday is still doubtful, since no opponent has been scheduled to play. Miss Little is in charge of the rally.

Jack Good, chairman of the Homecoming committee, stated today that no parade would be held this year and the Wolves' Frolic would probably not be presented.

However, he added, if there is a performance, it will be given in the Education auditorium rather than at the Granada theater as in former years.

Sororities will hold open house and plans are being made for the alumni banquet, Good stated. Further plans for all events will be made at future meetings of the committee.

Others serving on the general committee include Edmund Sawyer and Jacqueline Prescott.

THETAS INITIATE

Initiation for five pledges of Kappa Alpha Theta will be held Saturday afternoon in the chapter house. Those to be initiated are Isabel Blythe, Mary Harriman, Annabelle McVicar, Beth Peterson and Ellen Reed. Nita Reifschneider, president, will preside at the ceremony.
