

Nine AST Trainees Win Honor Insignia

Nine engineering students stationed on the campus now wear small blue stars on their lower left sleeves, signifying that they constitute the upper ten per cent of the Nevada contingent. The insignia were awarded after considering faculty recommendations as to academic achievements of the students and the military achievement records of the men, according to Major J. C. Howard, commanding officer of the unit.

Awards were based on grades and military records made by the trainees last semester and the men will be entitled to wear the honor insignia for the remainder of the current term. At the beginning of the next term, the upper ten per cent of the unit will again be determined, based on records made during the present term.

Those awarded insignia were Charles Allen, Robert Bingha, Aldo Chaisan, Alan Chilton, Russell Clark, Alvin Conway, Walter Perkins, Volne yPlumb and Curtis Tarr.

Under the army directive authorizing awarding of the insignia, Major Howard pointed out, only ten per cent of the men with a particular unit are allowed to wear the blue stars at a time.

Mrs. Olga Bullinger Joins Home Ec Staff

Mrs. Olga L. Bullinger of Lyndale, S. D., has been named an instructor in the university home economics department, according to Miss Mildred Swift, head of the department.

Mrs. Bullinger is a graduate of South Dakota State College at Brookings and took graduate work at Iowa State College. She has recently been with the sixth service command at Fort Custer, Mich., where she was employed as recreational director at the service club.

At the University of Nevada, she will teach institution management, food economics, quantity cookery and home management.

VANE STROTHER EDITS NORTH PACIFIC PAPER

Vane Strother, former journalism student at the university, is now in the navy and editing "The Morning Sun" which he, in a letter to Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, head of the department of journalism, says is the "North Pacific's leading daily newspaper."

Strother also requested in the letter several copies of the University of Nevada journalism style books for use in editing the paper.

In a unique situation, Strother's paper receives most of its news of the outside world via radio in Morse code.

SPORT SNORTS

BY MADLEN MAESTRETTI
Leading off their 1944 schedule with victories against the Fallon Merchants and the Reno army air base, the Wolf Pack have proven that they deserve a larger audience. Both opposing teams were labelled "stiff opposition" by local sportscasters, but the Pack downed them—and by good margins. Yet, the students continue to look down their noses at the boys, regarding them as a bunch of fumbling beginners. But until the student body shows up at a game to find out different the audience will continue to be 18 coeds.

On the floor this weekend the lineup will probably be Layson, Sheehan, DuPratt, Mackrides and Case. Bruce Hill, the team's most frequent high pointer, has been missing practice this week due to flu and will probably not see much action this weekend.

At scrimmage practice last night the Pack defeated a cadet team, 37-29. Sheehan meshed 18 points in the rough and tumble game.

A speed burner on the half pint size seems to Jimmy Parker, formerly of the Hawthorne Serpents; his hustling through practices so far, tabs him as a jack to watch.

Jack Layson, whose children occasionally watch him at practice games, is called the strong arm of the group. Layson is a fast moving all around player, but once in a while displays a short temper—a possible cure, a chiroprapist.

Puzzy Case's game of ball is perhaps the most pleasing to the eye that the Pack has to offer. Smooth and fast, Case is one of the Pack's best men.

The Pack and students will greet a former University of Nevada varsity football man this weekend when Jimmy Aiken arrives from Farragut, Idaho, after finishing boot training, for a short furlough visit.

It was learned this week that two U. of N. ballplayers are also referees. Bill Mackrides and Chuck Sheehan have refereed games at Billingshurst.

Rumor has it that Sheehan was "booted" at Billingshurst.

It's this writer's guess that a game well worth watching would be one between the Wolf Pack and the Reno town team. Alf Sorensen, former Pack star, manages the town group which boasts Jake Lawlor, Frankie Williams, Tom Ross and Jess Brooks. Although downed by the Reno high team this week, the townies should prove, after several more practices, a slick quintet.

JOHNSON APPOINTED

Miss Lucille Johnson, who attended classes at the university during the fall semester, has been appointed instructor in English at Fernley high school, Dean Fred W. Tramer of the school of education, announced.

Miss Johnson was graduated from the University of Oregon in 1943 and replaces Rita Turano at the Fernley school.

FORMER STUDENT VISITS

Hope Fleming deVeuve, former student at the university, is in Reno this week visiting her mother.

She will join her husband in San Francisco early next week, and will accompany him to his new station at March Field, Riverside, Calif.

Mrs. deVeuve was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta sorority while on the campus, and worked on the Sagebrush staff.

AST Gives Marines Close Win, 34-33

Small Crowd Attends Fast Hoop Tilt

Although witnessed by a small audience, the Engineer-Hawthorne Marines tilt last Saturday was one of the most thrilling of the basketball season. The campus trainees lost to the leathernecks by one point, 34-33, in a fast, evenly matched game.

The Marines held a slight margin throughout three quarters; rallying around Curtis Tarr and Jack Terry. The Engineers threatened to overtake the Marines in the fourth quarter. Pinkham, bury leatherneck, spurred his team on with quickened pace to hold the lead to the end.

The military ball handled by the Engineers prevents a game this Saturday, but their schedule has been announced as follows: February 11, Tonopah army air base; February 12, Fallon Merchants.

Library Receives Book by Deutsch

An autographed copy of "Letter and the Spirit," by Maurice E. Deutsch, vice-president of the University of California, who gave the principal address at the inauguration of the late President Leon W. Hartman, has been received by the university library, according to Thea Thompson, librarian.

Other books recently received by the library include "Thunderhead," by Mary O'Hara; "Lassie Come Home," by Eric Knight; "California," by the federal writer's project, and "The Mother," by Vardis Fisher.

Special Tea Planned To Honor Fine Arts

Mrs. J. C. Darlington, head of the arts and crafts department of the American Association of University Women, will entertain the Fine Arts Club with a social tea in the near future, Lois Bradshaw, president, announced.

Mrs. Darlington previously volunteered to aid the group in obtaining exhibits for display on the campus.

Annual Faculty Dinner Planned Next Friday

The annual dinner of the Faculty Club will be held next Friday at 7 pm in the Methodist Church, according to Prof. Jay C. Carpenter, president.

Hosts and hostesses for the event will be Prof. and Mrs. Dwight Billings, Mr. and Mrs. Forest M. Willhite, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield C. Higgins and Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Reed. Mr. Higgins will be in charge of the program.

STAMP SALES RISE

Sale of war stamps by the university post office for the last week has shown an increase and was the biggest week for sales during the entire fall semester, according to Robert Prescott, postmaster.

PI PHI SOCIAL

A social will be held tonight at the Phi Beta Phi house for the ASTP engineering trainees stationed on the campus, according to an announcement by Buelah Haddow, president of the local chapter.

Campus War Council Starts Two Projects

Members of the women's war council are active on two projects this week, according to Brownie Wylie, chairman.

Mary Alice Holmes is in charge of collecting waste paper and scrap from all sorority houses and a definite schedule for workers on the Red Cross production committee has been arranged. Members of the latter group spend afternoons sewing on insignia for soldier students and doing other odd jobs of service, she added.

Coeds Vacation Between Terms

A one-day vacation between semesters this week warranted short trips by many of the students.

San Francisco proved to be a popular stamping ground for many of the coeds including Shirley Dimock, Kay Kinneberg, Ruth Mary Noble, Marie Aldrich, Dannie Shovelin, Bobbie Johnson and Betty Waugh.

Eight students went to Lovelock for the weekend. They were Ellen Reed, Dorothy Watson, Isabel Blythe, Mary Harriman, Kathleen Blythe, Francis Cook, Clara Beth Haley and Annabelle McVicar.

The following students went to their homes in various parts of the state. Gloria Rosaschi and Dace Ricketts, Yerington; Lucile Brown and Helene Batjer, Smith Valley; Mary Frances Gusewelle, went home to Las Vegas and took as her house guest Nita Reifschneider.

Dorothy Fransway and Ann Iriarte traveled to Winnemucca; Arlene Marialdo, Marge Kelley and Nadine Gibson went to Eureka; Mary Alice Holmes, Oakland; Myrl and Mae Nygren and Wilda Pfum, Fallon, and Gloria Springer, Hawthorne.

The following went to Los Angeles: Lillian Sloan, Darden Tibbs, Doll Corbett, Francis Baumann and Jerry Shreshley. Katherine Henningsen went to Sacramento.

Mary: Robert Burns wrote "To a Field Mouse."

EARLY REGISTRATION TOTALS 301 STUDENTS

A total of 301 students, 57 men and 244 women, had registered for the spring semester at the university by last night, according to a statement issued from the president's office.

On the corresponding day of the spring semester of 1943, a total of 471 had completed enrollment. Men numbered 246, and there were 225 women registrants.

Thornburg Talks To Press Group

Richard Thornburg, Scripps-Howard Alliance news editor in Washington, D. C., presented a speech before members of the Press Club Thursday night on news coverage in the nation's capital.

The object of the talk was to present the various problems of reporting news in Washington. Thornburg discussed the particular problems that confronts a newspaper man in covering news in the various branches of the government.

He pointed out to the group that coverage of the capital was divided into several distinct categories. The legislative branch of the government requires a different skill of reporting from the executive department.

Before joining the Washington Alliance, Thornburg was the national capital correspondent for the Ohio Scripps-Howard papers. At the present time, his job is to attend all press conferences and edit all copy which he gathers from conferences he might attend.

Mrs. Kent Wallace Will Address Coeds Honoring AAUW Day

Honoring the American Association of University Women day, Mrs. Kent Wallace, state AAUW president, will speak to University of Nevada coeds on February 9.

The program will take place at 10 o'clock that morning in the auditorium of the education building, and all women students will be excused from classes, Dorothy Savage, AWS head, announced today.

Mrs. Wallace visited the eastern section of the United States recently, and is well in touch with the war situation in that vicinity. She is a University of Nevada graduate.

Honored guests will be several members of the state AAUW and all university alumni women are to be invited, Miss Savage added.

14TH CLASS LEAVES

The fourteenth class of aviation students to be graduated from the University of Nevada will leave Reno on February 5, according to Capt. John N. Preston, commanding officer.

A dinner is being planned for the group and formal parade ceremonies will be held, he added.

Campus Women Indicate Academics Come First

The women interviewed on registration day showed great interest in academic work, professed enjoyment of extra curricular activities and 80 per cent were found to be working, according to Mrs. Alice B. Marsh, acting dean of women.

Many girls are not participating in extra curricular activities, Mrs. Marsh added. "These activities have a definite place in college life, and no girl should neglect them," she added.

The vocations of the 80 per cent of women students that work include operating, dishwashing, child care, library, ushering, reader, doctor's receptionist and two graduate nursing.

He became president of Central State Teachers College at Edmond, Okla., in 1935 and held the position through 1939, when he became dean of students at Tennessee, the position he held when nominated to the Nevada presidency.

Doctor Moseley is a member of many honorary legal, educational and civic groups.

Committee Admits Six New Students

The University of Nevada admissions committee considered and passed six applicants at a regular meeting last Monday, according to Dean Stanley G. Palmer, group chairman.

Some of the students considered were transfers whose records must be evaluated in accordance with University of Nevada entrance qualifications; other students had not presented transcripts in time for consideration.

The admissions committee consists of the following members: Dean Stanley G. Palmer, chairman; Dean Fredrick Wood, college of arts and science; Dr. Eldon Wittwer, head of the department of agricultural economics; Dr. Charles R. Hicks, head of the department of history and political science, and Prof. William C. Miller of the department of English.

BUGLE CALLS

FIRST LIEUT. STANLEY G. HILL, former student at the university and now stationed with an infantry unit in the South Pacific, reports that the weather in the area has been wet recently. His unit has been engaged in building roads from their permanent base and have had difficulties in combating the mud and sudden tropical storms.

While on the campus, Hill was a member of the organized Independents and active with the university band.

WALTER RIGGLE, former student at the university and last year editor of the Artemisia, is now stationed at Seymour Johnson Field, N. C., taking basic training as an aviation cadet. Riggle edited the college yearbook until he was called into the service in March, 1943. While on the campus, he was a member of Sigma Nu, Press Club, publications board and a student in mechanical engineering.

HARLEY HARMON, Jr., University of Nevada graduate, recently received a citation by the chief of navy personnel. Harmon is a member of a navy gun crew engaged in guarding merchant ships from submarine and air attack.

As one of the gun crew, he was cited for "credible service, accurate gunfire, calm and efficient conduct during enemy engagements, gallant courage and ability and coolness in dangerous waters."

While on the campus, Harmon was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha and active in other student affairs.

PROF. J. W. COLEMAN, Major James W. Coleman, former associate professor of physical education at the university, has recently been appointed provost marshal for the Nazi internment camp at Tule, Utah, it was learned here this week.

CAPT. ELLIOT LIMA, Elliot Lima, graduated with the class of '41, has been promoted to the rank of marine captain, after having been with the corps in the South Pacific area for the past 18 months. Lima majored in agriculture while on the campus and was active with the Aggie Club, men's upperclass committee and served as president of his fraternity, Phi Sigma Kappa, during his senior year.

"STRETCH" BEKO, Bill "Beko" former student, now an army trainee at Indiana University in Bloomington, has been appointed to the union board by the president of the college, it was learned here this week.

The board, which controls all social and athletic activities on the campus, is composed of six members, two from soldier students, one from the medical school at Indianapolis and three civilian students.

While at the University of Nevada, Beko was active with the Wolf Pack and a member of Sigma Nu, social fraternity. He was also head of the men's upperclass committee working in conjunction with Jack Streeter, co-chairman.

BOB ROBENS, Lieut. Robert F. Robens, 1942 graduate from the university, was in Reno this week en route to Fort Benning, Ga., where he will take an advanced training course.

While on the campus, he was affiliated with Lambda Chi Alpha and active with Wolf Pack during the football season.

PERKINS PROMOTED, Jim Perkins, 1941 graduate of the Mackay School of Mines, has been promoted from the rank of ensign to lieutenant (jg) in the naval reserve. He is now stationed as engineering officer on a PT boat at a Seattle naval base.

While on the campus, Lieutenant Perkins was affiliated with Lambda Chi Alpha.

PETE ECHEVERRIA, Lieut. Peter Echeverria, former university student, is stationed with the infantry at Ft. Benning, Georgia. Echeverria is an instructor in the weapons section at the infantry school.

While on the campus he was affiliated with Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and was treasurer of his fraternity. He was cadet field major in ROTC, a member of Scabbard and Blade, Blue Key, Coffin and Keys, Phi Kappa Phi and was active in debate. Graduating with the class of 1943, he was from Ely.

YOUNG AND LEAVITT, Lieuts. Clifton Young and Wendell Leavitt are with the infantry at Camp Howe, Texas. Young is working in the office on plans and training for his regiment, and Leavitt is in the intelligence department.

Lieutenant Young, gold medal graduate of the class of '43, was president of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity in his senior year, and was cadet lieutenant colonel of the ROTC in the spring semester. He was a member of Scabbard and Blade, Blue Key, Coffin and Keys, Phi Kappa Phi and was active in debate. He was business manager of last year's Artemisia and a member of the publication board. Lovelock is his home town.

Lieutenant Leavitt was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and was active in the agricultural department. He was in advanced ROTC, and a member of Scabbard and Blade. He registered from Mesquite, Nevada.

WARREN SALMON, Lieut. Warren Salmon is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., taking a motor maintenance course.

While a student at the university, Salmon was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. A graduate with the class of 1943, he was active in campus ROTC and was a member of Scabbard and Blade, Press Club, Sundowners, Blue Key and the Commerce Club.

NICK MASTROVICH, Nick Mastrovich is still in officer candidate school at Fort Benning, Ga. He began officers training course with Pete Echeverria, Clifton Young, Wendell Leavitt and Warren Salmon, but due to a knee injury, he was confined to the fort hospital and his course was delayed. A member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, he hails from Lead, S. D.

WARD NICHOLS, Ward Nichols, Lambda Chi Alpha junior last year, was home last week for a few hours, en route to naval air cadet training at Susanville, Calif. Formerly he was stationed in San Luis Obispo.

DAVE FOSTER, Pvt. Dave Foster was home last week on furlough from his station in Mississippi.

'OATS' VAUGHAN, Lieut. Otis Vaughan of the army quartermaster corps, recently went overseas, it was learned here this week. Vaughan was a Lambda Chi while on the campus and served on the board of athletic control until he entered the armed services.

DREW SMITH, Cadet Drew Smith, former university student, will graduate from West Point military academy in June with his lieutenant's commission.

While on the campus, he was affiliated with Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and completed his sophomore year before entering the military academy.

'BUCK' WHITE, Ensign Glen "Buck" White is in a San Francisco hospital recuperating from injuries sustained when his ship was torpedoed in the Pacific. Before entering the merchant marine, Ensign White attended the university where he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha and active in football and basketball squads.

JIM BETT, Ensign Jim Bett left with the seabees last week for overseas duty. He is a former civil engineering student at the university, having graduated in 1942. He was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha, Sagors, Sundowners, Blue Key and Coffin and Keys.

CAPTAIN CARROLL, Capt. Phillip H. Carroll, former Nevada student, is now stationed at Camp Dix, N. J., where he has the distinction of having qualified his entire company with the new Garand rifle. He visited the military department this week.

RICHARD ROCHE, Capt. Richard Roche, advanced military graduate, has been stationed with the mountain infantry in Alaska for the past several months and visited the campus briefly this week.

BERNARD CONNELLY, Lieut. Bernard Connelly, former Phi Sigma Kappa student at Nevada, was home for a short visit this week, on leave from his station at Camp Claiborne, La.

Halle Berry, freshman class manager, spent last weekend at Soda Springs skiing and working on the ski tow there.

Regents Authorize Palmer to Direct Engineering Station

Station Revived After Inactivity Of Five Years

Re-establishment of the engineering experiment station was authorized by the board of regents at a recent meeting, according to Dean Stanley G. Palmer, who was appointed director.

The authorization was made in recognition of a request submitted by Dean Palmer. The arguments brought forward were that nearly all land grant colleges now have such stations and that an organization of engineering experiment stations was formed in November of 1942 at a meeting held in Chicago.

Purpose of Stations
No request has been made for special funds to be set aside to carry out this project at this time. Plans for the organization and functioning of the station are now under way, with regard to post-war times, when professors now on leave can return and take an active part in the organization.

The organization of engineering experiment stations is to benefit them all and to attempt to procure federal aid similar to that now given agriculture experiment stations at land grant universities. According to Dean Palmer, it is highly desirable that the University of Nevada engineering experimental station operate in coordination with similar institutions at other colleges in case such funds become available.

The article of "what every girl should know" has been renamed, "what every young girl knows by this time."

Established by Boardman
The University of Nevada engineering experiment station was first established under the direction of Prof. Horace P. Boardman of the department of civil engineering, now emeritus.

During the time of its operation several important projects were undertaken and three engineering bulletins were published.

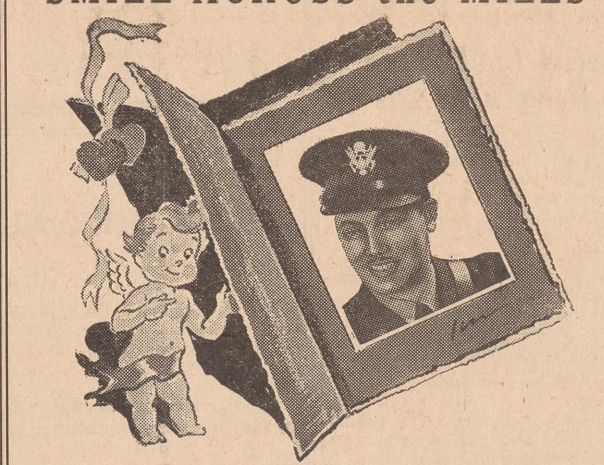

The station was abolished in 1939

when Professor Boardman retired after 30 years of instructing at the University of Nevada.
