

SENIOR WEEK ACTIVITIES BEGIN SUNDAY WITH INFORMAL TEA

BACCALAUREATE, COMMENCEMENT PLANS COMPLETED; WILL USE GYM

Bible Is Principal Commencement Speaker; Announcing Names Is Newly Added Feature

Plans have been completed for baccalaureate services to be held Sunday, May 21, at 3 pm with Bishop William F. Lewis of the Episcopal church delivering the sermon of the day, it was announced by the president's office today. His subject will be Frontiers for Fellowship.

In the past years, the service has been held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, but this year services will be held half an hour later in the new gymnasium, the first time the students will have assembled there. Acting President Charles H. Gorman will preside at the services.

The complete program for the services is as follows:

- Processional . . . Largo, Handel and Intermezzo, Bizet . . . Reno Civic Orchestra under direction of Prof. Theodore H. Post.
- Invocation . . . The Rev. Brewster Adams.
- Reading of Scripture . . . The Rev. Charles J. Dohn.
- Anthem . . . Supplication, Post Lawrence Osborne and choir.
- A Capella Choir with W. E. Corris as accompanist.
- Hymn . . . America . . . Congregation with orchestra.
- Benediction . . . The Rev. Hans J. Zuecker.
- Recessional . . . March, Bizet.

The commencement program at present is still tentative although the principal speaker and some of the others to appear have been selected. Ceremonies will be held in the new gym.

Bible Is Speaker

Alan Bible, 1930 graduate of the University of Nevada, and now attorney-general of Nevada, will be the principal speaker. He will address the graduates and their friends present on the subject of Our Responsibility in Today's Government.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. Alfred McMullan of the Catholic faith and Benediction will be given by the Rev. Lawrence Osborne of the Methodist church.

Musical for the occasion will be furnished by the Reno civic chorus and orchestra with Marvin Triger as commencement soloist.

The ceremonies are to be held at 10:30 am Monday, May 22, and tentative plans are to have the Blue Peppers in uniform as usherettes for the affair.

Major J. C. Howard, head of the military department will be general marshal of the day for commencement and Leonore Hill, as ASUN president, will be student marshal.

Henningsen Announces
Katherine Henningsen, senior class manager, will set a precedent when she announces, with the aid of the public address system, the names of the graduates as they receive their diplomas. This has not been done before and the audience has not been able to hear names of the graduates as they are called by the registrar in handing the diplomas to the president for presentation to the students.

Prizes Awarded
Announcement will be made at the ceremonies of scholarships and prizes for the coming year as well as honorary groups to which students are elected. Several senior awards will also be presented, such as the gold medal, the Armarko book award and others.

The oath for persons receiving the degrees of bachelors will be administered at the ceremonies by Chief Justice William E. Orr of the U. S. Supreme court.

Committee Completes U. of N. War History

A survey of the war activities of the University of Nevada campus has recently been completed, it was announced this week by Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, chairman.

Several months ago the faculty were asked to list the civilian and military activities in their respective departments which have taken place during the first two and a half years. The survey will be compiled in the near future by Professor Higginbotham, who was appointed editor.

Immediately following commencement a survey of the war service records of alumnae will be taken and this will also be compiled in pamphlet form.

The committee approved of a breakdown of the projective history into chapters. Each chapter will deal with some special activity of the alumnae.

LIEUT. McMILLEN VISITS

Lieut. Hugh McMillen, former assistant professor of military science and tactics on the campus, spent a short furlough in Reno last week.

Lieutenant McMillen was stationed here when the ASTP contingent was on the campus. He is now at Camp Beale, Marysville, Calif.

Nevada War Mining Told of in Article By Prof. Carpenter

"Impact of the War on Nevada Mining and Metallurgical Operations," an article by Prof. Jay A. Carpenter, head of the Mackay School of Mines and director of the bureau of mines, was published in the May issue of the American Institute of Mining Engineers' magazine.

This article, written by request of the association, gave the story of production increases in strategic metals as the production of gold and silver, former important ores of the state, went down. It compared present times with those of the big bonanza, and stressed the importance of the mining industry in the state.

Copper Decreases

Though the production of copper has not increased a great deal, it pointed out, arsenic, lead, antimony, tungsten, zinc, manganese and magnesium were becoming of increasing importance to the mining industry of the state.

Also the fact that the population of the state had increased 25 per cent because of the growth of strategic industries was noted.

In the postwar economic status of the state, the future of the state's largest metallurgical plan, Basic Magnesium Inc., will be of probable great import, the article concluded.

Oldest Alumnus, Judge Norcross, Has a Birthday

BY ANNETTE LEIGHTON

The oldest living Nevada alumnus, Judge Norcross, celebrated the 75th anniversary of his birth yesterday.

Judge Norcross graduated with the first four-year class from the University of Nevada in 1891. There were three graduates that year, Judge Norcross said. The late Frederick Bristol and Henry Cutting were the other two.

Another Commencement

This year on May 22, Judge Norcross will march in another commencement procession when he joins the 1944 graduates as the representative of the first graduating class.

Since 1891 Judge Norcross has watched the growth of this institution from its humble beginning to its present status. He attended law school in Washington, was a school teacher, surveyor, district attorney of Washoe county, Nevada supreme court judge, 1905-1912, and at present is the federal district judge. He was appointed to this position 16 years ago on May 1.

Parents Were Pioneers

Thomas Norcross' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whitney Norcross, came to Nevada from California and set up one of the first sawmills to be operated in Nevada at Galena in 1863. Later the family moved to Glendale, Nevada, then an active city.

Judge Norcross, for his many activities and achievements, is a member of the New York hall of fame.

His daughter, Mrs. Edwin S. Bender, is also a graduate of the University of Nevada.

Aldrich Is Named Gothic N Head

Initiation of new members into Gothic N, highest women's athletic honorary, and installation of officers took place yesterday afternoon in the home ec rooms of the Agriculture building, according to Frances Yee, president.

Marie Aldrich, new member, was elected president to replace Miss Yee. Other officers will be elected next fall.

The new members were Ethel Dixon, women's physical education instructor, Nancy Herz, Clara Beth Haley and Betty Jo Hanna. These girls received their Gothic N jackets, Miss Yee said.

Miss Haley and Miss Hanna, as graduating seniors, received their lifetime passes to all athletic events on the university campus, Miss Yee added.

The old members of Gothic N, Frances Yee and Dorothy Reynolds, are both graduating this year.

THREE COEDS HONORED

Three university senior coeds will be named by the American Association of University Women to receive a year's complimentary membership in the organization for their outstanding leadership, it was announced by Mrs. Mila Coffin Glass, president. The names of the women will not be made public until commencement ceremonies, she added.

Student Will Get Yearbook Next Week

Printing Finished; Binding Remains

After completion of printing at Reno Printing Company and bookbinding by the Cardoza company of San Francisco within the week, the 120-page 1944 Artemisia will be distributed by the middle of next week, Bette Poe, editor, stated today.

If the bookbinding is completed and the Artemisia in entirety is returned to Reno from the Cardoza company by that time, students will be able to obtain their yearbook each afternoon of next week, Miss Poe added. Distribution of the book will be in the ASUN building.

One semester students must pay an additional $1.50 to obtain a yearbook in order to cover the price not included in their semester fee. Part of their ASUN fund, $1.50, is automatically added to the Artemisia fund.

Due to wartime conditions the editorial portion of the Artemisia is smaller this year, Miss Poe added, however, the advertising section is equivalent to that of last year.

Seven Senators Sworn Into Office

Seven newly appointed senators were sworn into office this week at the final ASUN senate meeting for the year.

Those that will serve on the senate next year and took the oath of office are Bonnie Yater, Kappa Alpha Theta; Betty Flyge, Pi Beta Phi; Nora Saunders, Independents; Dorothy Abel, Zeta Phi Zeta; Mary Beth Winchester, Gamma Phi Beta; Gordon Mills, Theta Chi; Gilbert Sutton, Alpha Tau Omega.

The annual senate picnic will take place next week, either at Moana Hot Springs or Virginia Lake, Jack Osgood, chairman, announced. The definite time and place of the picnic will be noted on the bulletin board.

Members of the old and new senate who attended the meeting Wednesday were Helen Batjer, retiring student body president; Leonore Hill, new student body president; Katherine Little, secretary; Dorothy Savage, Bonnie Yater, Nadine Gibson, Betty Flyge, Dorothy Reynolds, Nora Saunders, Jack Good, Gilbert Sutton, Italo Gavazzi, Alfred Mills, Bob Uhlig, Charles Fleming, Mary Beth Winchester, Dorothy Abel, Warren Parks and Isabel Blythe, Sagebrush reporter.

His daughter, Mrs. Edwin S. Bender, is also a graduate of the University of Nevada.

Coeds Appointed At WWB Meeting

At a women's war board meeting held Wednesday, Kathleen Norris, newly elected president, appointed six coeds to fill offices of the war board's subdivisions next semester.

The new officers are Mary Harriman, publicity; Mary Watts, courtesy clinic; Madlen Maestretti, speakers' bureau; Katherine O'Leary, entertainment; Jayne Creel, finance; Mary Ancho, salvage. Ex-officio members who will meet with the board are Dorothy Abel, president of AWS; Lillian Sloan, president of the campus Red Cross unit, and Alice B. Marsh, WWB advisor.

Six assistants, one from each sorority and social group, will be appointed by each division chairman next fall.

Secretary to the group will be elected at the first meeting of the fall semester which will be held shortly after registration.

In explaining the function of the new addition to the board, the courtesy clinic, Miss Norris said that its prime aim is to encourage more gracious living on a war time campus.

WAA Postpones Dedication of Campus Fireplace

Now Planned Tuesday With Nancy Herz Doing Honors

Dedication of the outdoor fireplace, originally scheduled for this week, will be postponed until Tuesday at 7 pm, due to the conflict with the dinner given to the faculty by the board of regents and Acting President Charles H. Gorman, according to Dorothy Reynolds, president of WAA.

The dedication is to be open to the public. Honored guests will be Mrs. Leon W. Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Silas E. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Sirkegian, Ann Warden, Mr. and Mrs. Leo McNamee, Mr. and Mrs. Gorman, Alice Terry, Carl Horn, Thea Thompson, Acting Dean of Women Alice B. Marsh, all of the women members of the faculty, ASUN senate, student class managers, Dr. and Mrs. Walter E. Clark, Helene Batjer, former ASUN president; Leonore Hill, ASUN president, and all members of WAA.

Presentation by Herz

The new president of WAA, Nancy Herz, will present the fireplace to the university and Ross of the board of regents will accept on their behalf.

The stone benches around the fireplace constructed by the university have been completed and are in place, Miss Reynolds said.

Since no bronze is available because of wartime conditions, a birthwood dedication plaque has been prepared through the courtesy of Fred Pierson and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frost to serve for the present, Elsa Sameth, head of the women's physical education department, said. This will be signed by the WAA president and the chairman of the board of regents.

Dedication to Hartman

The fireplace is dedicated to past President Leon W. Hartman and named for the lodge built in 1929 under the leadership of Verrel Weber, advisor and Mae Simas, president of WAA at that time. The name is Waaveva.

A sports banquet will be served immediately after the dedication to WAA members and invited guests.

Prospective Grads Enter Service Now

Of the eight prospective graduates from the college of engineering one is already in the army and two others expect to enter the armed services soon, Dean Stanley G. Palmer, said today.

Carlos Duano, electrical engineer, and Otto Oshida, mining engineering, plan to enlist upon graduation. Robert Preece, civil engineer, is now studying under the ROTC-ASTP for due to a broken wrist he could not leave the university with his class when they graduated.

Jack Layson, civil engineering student, has two offers. He is under consideration as junior sanitation engineer, and also has a prospective position with a California fruit company.

James Devlin, electrical engineering student, has not yet made any plans, but he is considering several offers.

Tom Boland, who has been studying electrical engineering, is now employed as chief engineer at the KOH broadcasting company and will probably continue to work there after commencement, the dean said.

John Fox, student at the Mackay school of Mines in metallurgy, is accepting a metallurgical position with the General Electric Co. in Schenectady, New York.

Frank Pitz, who will graduate with a degree in geology, plans to take a position with a mining business within the state, probably, Dean Palmer added.

Saddle and Spurs Initiates Four Women

Saddle and Spurs initiated four girls at a banquet held last Sunday at the Club Fortune by presenting the second floor show for the night clubbers with Goldie Howard, president, acting as the master of ceremonies, Mary Watts, secretary of the club, said today.

Those who were initiated were Madlen Maestretti, Pela Oyarbide, Pauline Sirkegian and Jacqueline Prescott. Donna Anderson, fifth initiate, was not able to attend.

On the program were various acrobatic stunts, a can-can dance and cowboy songs.

Informal Tea Will Open Week's Activity While Events Follow Rapidly for Seniors

An informal tea to be given by Acting Dean of Women Alice B. Marsh Sunday at the ATO house between 4 and 6 o'clock will open senior week activities, which climax a week later with commencement, according to Ruth Mary Noble, general chairman of events.

The university students will use the new gymnasium for the first time with the holding of both baccalaureate and graduation services there, Miss Noble said.

During the entire week the Book of the Oath will be in the outer office of the president of the university so that all graduates may sign. The oath will be administered to the seniors during the commencement program by Chief Justice William E. Orr, of the state supreme court.

Guests at Tea

Guests at the informal tea to be held Sunday will be Acting President and Mrs. Charles H. Gorman, Dean and Mrs. Reuben C. Thompson and Prof. and Mrs. Theodore H. Post. Professor and Mrs. Post will direct the group in singing college songs.

Acting President Gorman and the members of the faculty club will give a tea Monday honoring the graduates. The affair will be held at the president's house on the campus from 4 to 6 pm.

Picnic Planned

The picnic will be held Wednesday at Reno Hot Springs, according to Vern Keller, chairman of the event. Students will assemble in front of the ASUN building at 10:45 am, and all students having cars are requested to bring them.

Refreshments at the picnic will consist of hot dogs, potato chips and beer, he said. Students wishing to attend the picnic are requested to sign up on a sheet located on the bulletin board.

The senior banquet will be held in the green room of the El Cortez Hotel promptly at 7 o'clock. Tickets may be purchased on campus for the sum of $1.00 from Jane Dugan, Helen Cashbaugh or Doll Corbett, Miss Noble said. Honored guests invited to the banquet will be Dean Marsh, Dean and Mrs. Thompson, Acting President and Mrs. Gorman, former Dean of Women Margaret Mack and Leonore Hill, new ASUN president.

For the trek, baccalaureate and commencement seniors are required to wear caps and gowns, Miss Noble stated. These can be obtained from Thea Thompson, librarian. A $5 rental fee is charged.

Students will assemble at 10:30 Friday in front of the ASUN building for the trek, and members of the class will give speeches relating the history and significance of the various buildings and memorials visited.

Speakers on Trek

Five Coeds Pledge As Nurses Cadets

Five university coeds, Adrian Sutton, Jean Bicknell, Beverly Thompson, Lucille Leonard and Eleanor Corle, will be honored at a tea to be given Friday by the Twentieth Century Club in recognition of their pledging to cadet nursing, according to Mrs. R. L. Osborne, state recruiting officer for the cadet nursing program in Nevada.

The cadet nursing pledge program contacts interested girls and assists them in planning a two-year nursing schedule of classes at universities throughout the country. Upon completion of this study pledges are ready to enter full membership in the program.

YWCA Hears Symphony At Chadwick's Home

Mrs. Leonard E. Chadwick was hostess to the YWCA Thursday at a symphony luncheon. The group listened to Tschalkovsky's Concerto in B flat minor.

Mrs. Alice B. Marsh, acting dean of women, and Mrs. J. E. Reid, acting secretary of YWCA, were guests and each members of YWCA brought a friend. After the symphony, Mrs. Reid explained activities that other groups are carrying out and made suggestions for the coming year.

ANKER WITNESSES RAID

Lieut. Leonard Anker, graduate with the class of 1943, witnessed his first bombing raid by the enemy since his arrival in England, the military department announced recently.

Lieutenant Anker was very active on the campus last year. He was affiliated with Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and belonged to Phi Kappa Phi, Scabbard and Blade, Blue Key, Sagers and the Aggie Club. His major was agriculture.

Bette Poe Named Artemisia Head For Third Term

Watts and Molignoni Re-appointed by Board; Charlton Replaces Iler

Bette Poe, junior Kappa Alpha Theta, will serve her third term as editor of the Artemisia next year, having been reappointed for the office by the publication board at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the ASUN senate rooms.

Mary Watts was re-appointed business manager for the yearbook to serve her second year as manager of the publications.

Betty Molignoni, junior, Tri-Delt, was named to edit the Sagebrush during the coming year. She has been serving with Melba Whittaker as co-editor during the past semester. Miss Whittaker is a tentative graduate from the university from the university this spring.

Brush Manager

Thelma Charlton, sophomore Theta, has been chosen to manage the Sagebrush next year with Marilyn Dugan named as alternate. The alternate was chosen in the event Miss Charlton registers at Stanford university. Her plans at present are undecided.

Lela Iler, who has managed the Sagebrush for the past semester since Adey May Dunnell graduated, is also resigning her post, being a graduate senior.

Financial status of the publications was discussed and plans were made at the meeting for a banquet to be held Friday, May 19, at 7 pm at the Trocadero.

Duo-Chairmen

Geraldine McFarland and Lois Bradshaw, student members of the board, are in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

Dr. Ernest L. Inwood, on leave from the university, is chairman of the board and Prof. Leonard E. Chadwick is secretary. Other members are the publications heads and the three student members. Mary Alice Holmes Bean is in the third student member.

Cap and Scroll To Initiate Five

Cap and Scroll will hold initiation for the five newly elected members tonight at 7 pm in the home ec rooms in the Agriculture building, Dorothy Reynolds, president, announced.

The formal initiation will be followed by a dinner at the Trocadero at 8 o'clock. All members, old and new, will attend and Dr. J. E. Church and former Dean of Women Margaret Mack will attend as honored guests.

Women to be initiated are Katie O'Leary, Annette Leighton, Nadine Gibson, Leonore Hill and Nancy Herz.

Old members of the organization are Lois Bradshaw, Ruth Mary Noble, Nita Reifschneider, Katharine Henningsen and Dorothy Reynolds.

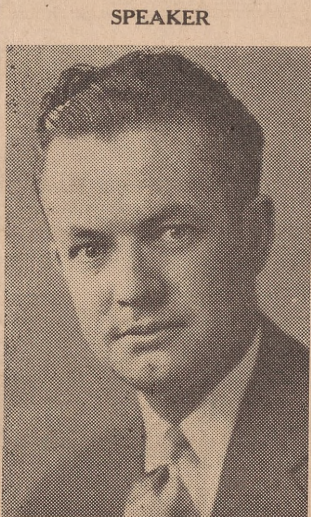

Marianne Smith Marries Navy Trainee Thursday

Mrs. Leland Stenovich, the former Miss Marianne Smith of Ruby Valley, Nevada, and one time student of the university, exchanged wedding vows with Leland Stenovich, navy trainee, at a home ceremony performed Thursday afternoon in the presence of her family and close friends.

Mrs. Stenovich attended the university for two years and was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Her husband, whose home is in Elko, is receiving training with the navy.

NEW CATALOGUE OUT

The yearly edition of the university catalogue will be available at the registrar's and president's office about June 1, according to Miss Alice Terry.

SPORT SNORTS

BY MADLEN MAESTRETTI Sports Editor

You may kick about the football team 1943 produced and the short basketball season of 1944, but you can't deny that one of the oldest and most popular college customs, which had died in many colleges, lives on at Nevada.

Yeh, I know you're think "So what." Well this is what . . . remember when you were in high school how you looked up to Motley, Schlager, O'Shaughnessy, Melarkey and others—and they sort of became an ideal to you? To some kids those fellows set a goal—a challenge to get in the swim with college. Well, there are boys in high school today who look toward the two kids from Philly, an' Coy, Buster an' LaTona, the Fernley flash, the Romeo from Fallon and the coach's son with the same feeling. Only now, these high school kids have to go to war first. And while they're in uniform they will remember that football and basketball are being played at Nevada—the equipment doesn't lie dusty and unused—the coach is still bellinging and the fans are still sport-conscious.

Part of the good ol' times remain and it's a memory they will cling to and maybe they will say—"When I get back I'll go to the University of Nevada.

Next week the athletic control board meets to further plans for next fall—the main question is, "will Nevada have a football team?" For the men in charge this is a serious problem. The manpower shortage applies here as in all war-time activities, only this year it is worse. Much depends on registration and even more on the possibility of the government sending 17-year-olds to Nevada.

When Coach Aiken returned from his state tour this week, he said that he had talked to athletes in many of the high schools he visited. The truth is that many boys would like to come to college but they're slated for summer draft calls. From his discussion it evolved that possibly a dozen football players will enroll next semester from Nevada high schools.

This means that Nevada will have a tough time carrying on. Members of the athletic control board have a tough problem on their hands and anyway they solve it there will be disadvantages. Their decision means a lot to most of us.

I want to take these last several inches to thank the PE department, the coaches, and the boys of the teams for the cooperation I have gotten this year.

Most people don't realize that it's kind of tough being a woman sports writer. Most athletes would rather kid a girl than give her straight dope for a story. But I've gotten by and I'll admit that once the guys got used to a skirt nosing into their business, they were swell. Thanks, fellows, and—30—for this semester.

Faculty Dinner Held Thursday

Honoring the University of Nevada faculty members, a dinner was given last night in the university dining hall on behalf of the board of regents by Acting President Charles H. Gorman.

The dinner began at 7 pm with many of the faculty members and their wives present. Short speeches were given during the course of the evening by faculty members who were called on for impromptu talks by Acting President Gorman, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Entertainment was furnished by Tony Peccetti and his accordion for the affair.

Invited guests were the Misses Olga Bullinger, Helen Batjer, Chapman, Ethel Dixon, Gertrude Hayes, Kay Henningsen, Clare Johnson, Margaret Mack, Esther Romano, Edith Reubsam, Elsa Sameth, Adelaide Steiner, Mildred Swift, Alice Terry, Jessie Pope, Katherine Riegelhuth, Phyllis Schumacher, Margaret Hartman.

Semester Roundup Sketched by Coed Who Sees a Semester of Profitable Activity

BY HELEN MEAKER

Spring again and time for all Nevadans to glance slyly toward the rear, take cognizance of their accomplishments, and, like on New Year's, make appropriate resolutions suitable for breaking next year.

The spring semester started off with a spurt of enthusiasm from the Editor's Desk which, everyone will remember, concerned Rubino, his violin, and Jack Fleming. Lela Her was selected by the publications board for the office of Sagebrush business manager, and 16 coeds smiled prettily at anything in a uniform while awaiting the Scabbard and Blade's primary election of honorary major.

Women and Brush

The January 28 Brush was for the first time in Sagebrush history edited by women; Betty Molignoni and Melba Whittaker, who were named joint editors to replace Jack Fleming, freshly resigned from that job. The U. of N. students were asked to give blood donations and gave them, and the board of regents announced that Pres. John O. Moseley would replace acting President Charles Gorman July 1.

Velma Heaton was chosen by Scabbard and Blade to act as honorary major over the annual military ball. The social calendar was set by the calendar committee and Dean Reuben C. Thompson and the campus brick drive netted $90.

Jack Fleming, while he was still editor, began a series of Squander Bug stories in the Brush for which that paper was awarded a citation by the U. S. Treasury Department for its patriotic cooperation.

The Pan-Hellenic group announced plans for a bean feed and bond drive, and Janet McClellan, senior student, topped the honor roll list. The Pan-Hellenic bean feed was dubbed a success by 200 enthusiastic coeds who purchased $1625 in bonds and $261 in war stamps.

Bob Uhlig was named by the senate to head the 26th annual Mackay Day committee, and the women's upper-class committee banned the coeds wearing slacks on the campus.

Honorary Names Five

Phi Kappa Phi named five students to their honor group, and the Mackay Day committee solicited the sororities' help on work day.

Seventeen coeds and two aviation students found that giving a pint of blood was not so bad, and the University of Nevada gave the ASTP stationed on the campus a term credit for their hours of study.

March came in like the proverbial lion and found Nevada men badly in need of a shave, the better for the Mackay Day whiskerino.

ROTC Leaves

Twelve Nevada ROTC men left for OCS training at Fort Benning, Georgia, and Dr. John D. Bibb replaced Dr. T. C. Harper as the university physician.

March 8 the students said goodbye to the AST unit stationed on the campus when it left for Camp Cook, California. The next morning the campus began to have that now familiar "naked" look, and the quad didn't echo quite so many songs.

Six coeds—Francis Bauman, Zeta Phi Zeta; Jane Dugan, Kappa Alpha Theta; Ponita Ferguson, Delta Delta Delta; Mary Alice Holmes, Gamma Phi Beta; Geraldine McFarland, Pi Beta Phi, and Dorothy Reynolds, Independent—were selected by their respective groups to be judged by Earl Carrol for the honor of Mackay Day queen. Jane Dugan was the contest winner.

Athletic Awards

Six Nevada hoopers were awarded Block Ns, and the Pan-Hel presidency rotated to Pat Traner of Pi Beta Phi.

The civilian men of the campus held a dance, the second of its kind this semester, at the former SAE house—showing that though out-numbered on the campus, they weren't out.

The ever-potent cinch list came out, which may or may not have been responsible for Jack Fleming's breaking into the news as the result of an automobile accident.

Underclassmen prepared excuses and food for the semi-annual N painting excursion, while upperclassmen prepared student lists and penalties for tradition violators.

Students chattered over Easter holiday plans and griped if they didn't have any.

The "Angle"

Seven frosh men "assumed the angle" for the upperclass committee punishment. It seems they thought the N white enough without their cooperation.

Aviation students from ground and service forces received orders to return to their former units, and the remaining squadrons, sighing with relief, worked harder for graduation day.

Dugan Is Queen

Jane Dugan, senior Theta coed, was chosen by Earl Carrol as "most beautiful" and reigned as the thirteenth Mackay Day queen over a campus that was proud of having a Mackay Day, despite obvious limitations.

The Pi Phi's won the coveted song team cup, and the Gamma Phi's captured the work day trophy. The coeds in general cursed the measles epidemic in the AST unit and missed the Mackay Day dance.

Three juniors began campaigning for the coming presidential election, as the campus watched with interest to see if the girls would stick together or elect a man student prexy.

May Dinner Completes Home Ec Activities For Spring Semester

Senior women were the honored guests at a May dinner and fashion show given by the home economics department Tuesday, according to Miss Mildred Swift, head of the department. This was the final event of the spring semester for home ec women.

The semester began with naming of a new instructor, Mrs. Olga Bullinger, who was employed to fill a gap created by the death of Mrs. Lucille B. Benson. Mrs. Alice Marsh became acting dean of women necessitating the appointment of another instructor.

National Officer Visits

During the semester, Miss Jessie Harris, president of the national Home Economics Association, stopped in Reno en route to a western regional conference. She addressed Nevada home economics students and was honored at a tea here.

Miss Mildred Swift, department head, attended the regional nutrition conference in San Francisco in March and was accompanied on the trip by Cecil W. Creel, extension director.

State Officials

Recently, Miss Mildred Bray, state superintendent of public instruction visited the campus, bringing with her Mrs. Justine O'Reilly, new state supervisor for vocational education.

Most significant advance made in the department was renovation of room 108 in the Aggie building into a lecture and demonstration room. The powder room has been nearly completed for the women, too. Miss Swift announced.

Aiken Recruits Farm Volunteers

Coach Jim Aiken returned to the campus this week after concluding a six-week tour of the state speaking to high school students on behalf of the victory farm volunteer program.

Recruiting volunteers for summer farm work, Aiken reports that both boys and girls responded to the call to aid the war effort. Girls were enlisted to drive cars, trucks and tractors while boys will be employed in the hay fields and at other farm jobs. Transportation and housing will be furnished by the government. Volunteers will be paid substantial wages.

Hit Most Schools

Covering most of the high schools in the state, Aiken reports that approximately 700 students had signed up though recruiting was not yet completed at Reno, Sparks and Lovelock. At Elko high 91 students volunteered; Las Vegas, 63; Ely, 61; Winnemucca, 59.

As directory of the victory farm volunteers of Nevada, Jim Aiken spoke for the state extension department. The program is under the direction of the national food administration and the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C.

DORMS TO CLOSE

The women's dormitories will close officially May 23 to allow time for cleaning the houses in preparation for summer school, it was announced by Acting Dean of Women Mrs. Alice B. Marsh.

The living quarters will open again the first of June for the summer session students.

old schedule for student finals as the dwindling army personnel eased the danger of conflicts.

Professor A. E. Hill, English department head, announced his intentions to retire after 31 years as a member of the U. of N. faculty. Senior's their work nearly over, met to make plans for the long awaited senior week, and students tussled with their consciences over whether they should go picnicing or write that term paper.

Looking back, we can't say the usual, "It hasn't been a bad year," for it's been a whole lot more than that. It's been a test for college students in general. It is our opinion that Nevada made her "grades."

Medical Training Needs Revision

No Single Pattern For Med Study

MEDFORD, Mass. (IP) — Because modern medicine demands men with different abilities, there should be no single educational pattern for all students studying to become physicians, according to Dr. Leonard Carmichael, president of Tufts College.

"Diversified modern medicine demands men with very different abilities, interests, and many divergent but specific skills. In making this statement it is recognized that certain minimum requirements must probably be met by all individuals who are to be called physicians in our society, but these common requirements that are to be imposed upon all should be made as modest as possible so that real expertise in special fields can be early encouraged."

Dr. Carmichael said that the present war training programs of the army and navy for premedical and medical students are "fully justified emergency measures. One valuable outcome of these programs will be the fact that they have startled us into thinking through again our basic pattern of premedical and medical education," he said.

"In considering possible changes in premedical and medical education we are sometimes tempted to imagine that a change in the number of years spent in college or in medical school or some other external administrative device may solve all our problems. Actually, scheduling problems and administrative plans are secondary to the real question of how premedical and medical education can best be formulated to fit the needs of individual students who are preparing for various aspects of modern medical service.

"Before anything like a final answer can be given to the whole problem of premedical and medical education it will be necessary to analyze all the health services required in our society now and in the near future and formulate a training program to meet these specific needs. A determination of the number of individuals who should be trained as physicians and for other health services can be made only by a careful and continuing study of the changing and basic needs of our society for such services.

"The so-called general college education of the premedical student can best be fitted to the individual needs of the student in relation to his required and necessary study of science. At least a fair proportion of premedical students should take much more science in college years than the minimum now required by the American Medical Association. Among the supplementary subjects that should be given special attention by such students are advanced physical chemistry, at least two college courses in mathematics, a second and highly quantitative course in physics especially arranged for future medical students and a thorough course in modern applied statistics.

"Especially in colleges in which a large number of students prepare in undergraduate years to enter the medical school which are part of the same institution, every effort should be made to develop close relationships between the premedical science courses of the college and the preclinical science courses of the medical school."

Eighteen Withdraw In Spring Semester

Only 18 students have withdrawn from the University of Nevada since the close of spring enrollment, Registrar Jeannette Rhodes announced today. Nine men and nine women withdrew from their courses.

At the outset of the semester 375 students were registered of which 283 were women and 76 were men. Sixteen of those were ROTC men who had returned to train at Nevada. These two have withdrawn, Mrs. Rhodes said.

All editorials printed in the University of Nevada Sagebrush, unless otherwise designated, are written by the editor and frequently do not represent all opinions of students on the campus. SWAN SONG

With 51 years of Sagebrush history now on the books, the time has again come for the retiring editor to have printed his famous last words, if they be famous. At least, they will be last.

At the end of this semester, counting our worldly goods and our memories, we realize we have said a good many farewells to a motley array of people. We are now faced with the greatest goodbye of all to our paper, our staff, our office, and in this instance, our books and the University of Nevada.

In the Sagebrush issue of January 28, 1944, students, you saw the names of two women on the masthead of the paper. It was the first issue for us, and we were a little more than proud of our come-uppance. The dream of every journalist is that he may someday be an editor.

We were an editor, and these nearly 16 weeks since then have proved that the responsibility we owed a great many sources other than our own conscience was overwhelming. We enjoyed working our heads off until the middle of the ayem—dashing off copy and headlines that each Friday you would have the news to read.

We cursed the typewriters—always breaking down; we ranted when news didn't break right for the Brush. We have come now to the point where the traditional swan song is in order. Never too busy to say hello, yet never for a moment forgetting there had to be a goodbye.

In these last days, we have wandered up to the office, looked at the worn machines which have reeled off copy for so long. We rehashed all the several wall decorations—our little gems (blunders), cartoons, jokes, pictures and miscellany pasted over the wall and utilizing valuable ceiling space. We felt that emptiness, heard echoes from the past, heard doors opening and closing, but no one entered.

This was our reward. We smiled and remembered the laughing and busy days when the office was filled with chattering people. We kicked listlessly at beer bottles and wads of copy paper. We sat down to write our final words and found ourselves not at our best for the task.

Newspaper people have a symbol for such things and it tells as well the goodbye as the words. This is it, kids. The end of our regime. We enjoyed the brief while at your service.

Permit one more editor to sign the roll of the past grands. She will be the first woman to do so. She signs with regret because it means her last Brush has been put to bed, her last Brush headline written, her last story completed and ended with the same familiar mark. Goodnight and 30.—M. Whittaker.

ESMWT Chemistry Course Is Planned for BMI; 5 Approved Classes Organizing Now

A petition for a course in analytical chemistry to be offered at BMI in Las Vegas has been sent to the head office of the Engineering, Science and Management War Training program for approval. Dr. Sigmund W. Leifson, university representative, said today.

The five courses recently sent there for consideration have all been approved. They are now under organization and classes will soon commence. Study in one, metal-lurgy of light alloys, has already commenced with an enrollment of 25 students.

Five Okayed

Four of these new courses, industrial instruments, general chemistry, electrical engineering and metallurgy of light alloys are being offered at Basic Magnesium Inc. in Las Vegas. The fifth, a chemistry course dealing with a particular process of refining manganese ore, is offered at the Manganese Ore Co. Minimum enrollment at which these courses may be offered is 15 students, Doctor Leifson said.

The sixth course, now under consideration, if approved, will consist of 72 hours of analytical chemistry study which will be offered at six hours a week for 12 weeks. The laboratory in the Henderson high school will be used for instruction.

Tarr to Instruct

The instructor of this course, an example of the well qualified teachers used by this program, is Allen L. Tarr. He is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, received his master's degree in metallurgy at Columbia and for several years was in charge of metallurgical courses at the Cooper Union Institute of Technology in New York. He also taught ESMWT courses at Rutgers College.

If this last course is approved, it will start about June 1 and become course number 14 for the fiscal year ending in July.

This program began in Nevada with a course in physical metallurgy offered at BMI for the first time in August. The enrollment was 65 students. The second section of the same course, for foremen only, had an enrollment of 28 students. Permission to repeat the course was applied for and granted, and the enrollment in the third session totalled

Dean Marsh Plans Visit in Fernley

Acting Dean of Women Mrs. Alice B. Marsh will leave Thursday, May 18, to visit senior girls at Fernley, Wadsworth and Fallon high schools.

While in Fallon, Mrs. Marsh will speak at an AAUW banquet given in honor of the girl graduates.

On May 19 Mrs. Marsh will journey to Yerington, Gardnerville and Carson City to inform the high school girls regarding the University of Nevada and campus life.

With the completion of this trip, Mrs. Marsh will have visited every major high school in the state of Nevada. As acting dean of women, Mrs. Marsh has made these trips to encourage graduating senior girls to attend the University of Nevada.

Letters to the Editor

BY HELENE BATJER

This is the last issue of the Sagebrush for this semester, and I feel that it is only proper that at this time I should write my last gripe for the year and as your ASUN president.

First and foremost, I want the student body to know that I have felt it a privilege and an honor to have been chosen to be the student body president. My last hope is that I have been worthy of the position and of you as a student body.

I have made many mistakes this year and I am not apologizing for them, for everyone is entitled to a few, and any over that amount I have paid for, because I have been told about them loud and long. The fun of the whole business is to look back and laugh at all the times you thought you were above your ears.

"That Drowning Feeling"

When you have that drowning feeling, the thing that rescues you is the thing that makes the office worth the risk. The thing, and I should say person, that comes to your rescue is some student that really has the ability to straighten you out. Fortunately, I have always had one of those people around. Another thing that gives you the strength to carry on is the fine cooperation the student body will give when they are asked.

This year has been really fun for me with all the ups and downs that go with any year, but no one would trade them in for anything different.

In closing not only this little tid-bit, but the school year and my term, I want to thank the entire student body, all the campus leaders, and especially professor Chadwick for all he has done for me and the student body; and Mr. Gorman for the fine cooperation and interest he has shown student government, and last but not least, Katy Little, the ASUN secretary, who has been my right hand.

NOTICE

An announcement issued from Acting President C. H. Gorman's office this week stated: "D Day is coming, of course the actual date is unknown, we wish to accompany our boys with our prayers and spiritual support."

"When class bells and the bell on Morrill Hall ring intermittently, students and faculty will please immediately assemble in the auditorium of the Education building and there engage in prayer."

Artemisia and Lincoln Halls Renovated For Use of Civilian Students in Fall

Artemisia and Lincoln Halls will be renovated for the use of men and women civilian students this fall, Carl Horn, superintendent of grounds, announced.

Present plans are to relinquish the houses rented this year, and return to old quarters, unless another large force should be sent for training here at the last minute. Manzanita hall will be retained for any army contingents, according to present plans.

Summer school students will be quartered in the buildings now in use. Cleaning must be done during the two weeks' recess between commencement and inter-session starting June 5, Horn said.

Summer Plans

In fact, he pointed out, the summer's program will consist largely of cleaning buildings which were unavailable during the winter term. Caring for lawn and flowers will be done during remaining time. The pansies are to be taken up shortly after commencement, and will be replaced by geraniums from the greenhouse. A great variety of annual flowers have been started there and will be used to fill the flower beds around the halls, Horn said.

Gym Platform

The immediate job on the calendar is the construction of a platform in the new gymnasium, and the decoration of it with palms and other hot-house flowers for the graduation exercises, he said.

All the employees who have a year's service will be given two weeks vacation with pay, he concluded, and by the time everyone is back from his holiday, it will be time to start the fall semester.

TWO JOIN MARINES

Eugene Grotogut and Carl Bernard, both freshmen students at the university, have been sworn into the marine corps. The two will leave for basic training shortly after school is completed in May.

Capt. James Dalzell Missing in Action As Squadron Chief

Captain James Willis Dalzell, former student of the University of Nevada was reported missing in action over Germany since April 18, according to word received by Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Withers of Reno.

Captain Dalzell, who has been overseas since November, 1943, is the pilot of the Flying Fortress, "Ace High," stationed with the Eighth Army Air Force at an English bomber station. Further information was not given, but will be advanced to Mr. and Mrs. Withers as soon as it is received.

Captain Dalzell was recently awarded the air medal for meritorious achievement in combat missions. He is a flight commander and squadron operations chief and has participated in numerous raids over occupied Europe.

Captain Dalzell, who graduated with the class of 1940, was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity while on the campus.

A smattering of the male and female members of Nevada's faculty sipped tea and coffee with the Artemisia-Manzanita girls at the ATO house Sunday.

They were bowed in and out by the house mothers of ATO and Lambda Chi, Mrs. Rawles and Miss Dixon, as well as Helen Batjer, ASUN president, Gerry Streshley, outgoing A & M president, and Phyllis Baumann, incoming A & M president.

Acting President Gorman did his bit toward making the affair a success by passing open-faced sandwiches.

The ATO house shone from stem to stern, and the girls (unaccustomed as they are) were all dressed fit to kill. Miss Mack, the former dean of women, and Mrs. Hartman, widow of the late President Hartman, did the honors pouring tea and coffee and passed sandwiches and cake.

The few professors who were there got along famously with the girls, and, we hope, went home determined to raise all grades at least one point. The atmosphere held talk of everything including the weather and stories of "way back when" when the tea got underway; gossip about old friends, introductions all around, and immaterial bits that seem to get in every conversation.

The guests sniffed the apple blossoms, drank tea, and departed. The wind began to blow, and Virginia Olesen, chairman of the event, took off her shoes and heaved a tremendous sigh—the tea was over.

Ohio Man Conducts Survey of AST On Postwar Plans

CINCINNATI, Ohio (IP) — Soldier students of the 155th army specialized training unit at the University of Cincinnati are looking beyond the war to the day when they can return to peacetime college and university study as civilian students.

Dr. L. A. Pechstein, director of the university's war training program announced, here recently that an overwhelming number of these men, 82 per cent, expect to attend institutions of higher learning after they have done their part for Uncle Sam.

There is an indication, Dean Pechstein noted, "that higher education faces the greatest challenge in its history so far as numbers are concerned."

Conducts Survey
Results of a survey among approximately 600 average ASTP men on the local campus were reported by Dr. Pechstein. Believed to be the first of its kind, the survey was made among soldier-students within a week after they had arrived at the university in order to determine their attitudes unaffected by campus study and training routine.

In contrast to the 82 per cent anticipating civilian college careers are 14 per cent who have no present intention of continuing their studies at 4 per cent who are now undecided.

Typical Group
Coming from every state and representing the full army range of ages, from 18 to 38, these 600 soldier-students are believed by Dean Pechstein to form a typical cross section of the approximately 140,000 ASTP men on nearly 225 campuses throughout the country.

Of those covered by the survey, 77 per cent of the 215 high school graduates who have not previously been to college possess a desire for college work after the war; 89 per cent of the 332 whose college careers were interrupted by the war expect to continue for a degree; and 57 per cent of the 46 who now hold college degrees expect to take up post war graduate studies.

Approximately one-fifth of the surveyed men are engaged in ASTP foreign area and language studies, many of them college graduates. The balance are in ASTP engineering courses.

SENIOR NOTICE
Tickets for the senior banquet will be on sale in front of the library Monday and Tuesday from 10 to 12 o'clock. Everyone should get his ticket before Thursday morning. Jane Dugan, chairman of the senior banquet, announced today.

LEE HILL PLEDGES

To the students: Now that I have been officially installed as your student body president, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your kind support.

Thanks, too, for the confidence which you have shown in selecting me as your new student head.

With your help and cooperation, I shall endeavor to show that this confidence has not been unfounded.

Once again, I pledge you my impartiality and assure you that I shall do all in my power to be worthy of the trust that you have placed in me.

Into the Past
When we look in retrospect at the successful year that is almost completed, we are happy to offer our congratulations to "Batch." By means of her hard work and sincere interest in the student body, she has efficiently guided us through a maze of wartime problems. She has furthered student activities and kept our campus alive and active in trying times. As students we have not been blind to her efforts and can safely say that much of the credit for a successful year goes to our outgoing "prexy."

Because a Nevada student is, by nature, cooperative, it is only a formality to ask you for your aid and assurance for next year. By working together we can be sure that, once again, our student body can uphold the high standards of which it is so proud.

LEE HILL.

Summer Work Now Available

Summer work, consisting of grading and picking fruit for the Becket Fruit Company at Penryn, Calif., from the 10th of June to the first of September, is now available.

The salary during the learning period is 50 cents per hour and at no time does the employee receive less than $6 per day. Transportation is paid both ways. Although only ten girls are desired, they must bring an older woman with them to do the cooking and act as their guardian. Living quarters consist of a 12-room house furnished by the company and equipped with beds, blankets and cooking utensils. The only articles the girls need to furnish are dishes.

Girls have already been recruited for this work from Mills College, Stanford University and the University of California.

All girls interested should apply at the dean of women's office and must be over 16 years of age.

Reporter Reviews Military Events

BY DOROTHY WATSON

With the recent commendation given to Staff Sgt. Michael J. McCormick of the military department, the department adds another achievement to its semester activities. Major J. C. Howard, head of the department, announced. He was given the commendation for a new method he has devised of disassembling the Garand M1 rifle.

Early in February, the university rifle team completed a correspondence match with the University of Louisiana with James Chadwick of the AST unit scoring the highest individual tally in the match.

New Captain
Relieving Capt. M. B. Cutler, transferred to Hammond Hospital in Modesto, Capt. Arthur Baker arrived on campus as the executive officer of the AST unit. Shortly afterward, the first graduating class completed training at Nevada and became eligible for advanced training.

Another rifle match by correspondence, was organized within the ninth service command and Nevada took sixth place in the match. Len Crocker drew high score in this match.

AST Graduates
Graduation ceremonies for another group of AST men was held, following word the unit would be disbanded and three members of the unit were awarded medals for outstanding achievements. Allen Chilton, James Bostwick and Volney Plumb were the recipients. On March 8, the men who had occupied Artemisia hall were transferred to Camp Cook, Calif., the unit being disbanded.

ROTC Leaves
Departures were again in order when the members of Nevada's ROTC who had been returned to study with the AST were moved to specialized camps for officer training or air corps instruction.

Recommendations Asked by Former Studs

Letters of recommendation have recently been requested of Dean Stanley G. Palmer of the college of engineering from four electrical engineering graduates of the university who are now applying for commissions in the navy.

These men are George Couch, graduate with the class of '44 in January; William Potter, '41; David Hartman, '40, and Cyril Ham, '41.

Three of the graduates are now employed by General Electric and one by Westinghouse, the dean noted.

Texas Considers Training Veterans

AUSTIN, Texas (IP)—University of Texas administrators and student life officials are giving considerable thought these days to the matter of a future large influx of World War II veterans, returning from the battlefield to the classrooms, it is indicated.

Already several score of discharged servicemen are enrolled, but it is believed that only a few of these have seen actual battle. The bulk have received honorable discharges after relatively short periods in training camps or college training programs, either through the army's normal retraining program or for physical disabilities which had not been caught in time to prevent their induction.

Vanguard Returns
"The group now back in school, however," Assistant Dean of Men H. R. Gipson pointed out, "is obviously the vanguard of a contingent of veterans which will grow to large proportions as our wounded return from the European theater of war. We can expect many of our former students and other new students from the casualties at Salerno among the 36th division who are now hospitalized."

Gipson is already encountering some problems of adjustment among the veterans now in school, and hopes to utilize these as a guide to prepare the student life office for the big influx later on.

More Problems
"There will likely be more problems than we are aware of," he explained.

ASUN Holds Installation for Next Year's Student Body Officers at Thursday Meet

Installation ceremonies were held for next semester's class and student body officers at a student body meeting held yesterday morning in the Education auditorium. Block N sweaters were also presented to members of the basketball team.

Dorothy Abel was installed as president of the Associated Women Students by Dorothy Savage, outgoing women's president. After Miss Abel had been installed, Coach Jim Aiken presented this year's basketball squad with their Block N sweaters. The following men received awards: Bill Mackrides, Charles Sheehan, Ronald DuPratt, Jack Layson and Marvin Trigero was given a manager's sweater. Two of the squad who are now in the army, Bruce Hill and Walter Case, will have their sweaters mailed to them. At the meeting Ronald DuPratt accepted their sweaters.

Secretary Introduced

Helen Batjer, former ASUN president, introduced Marilyn Barton, who is the newly appointed student body secretary, replacing Katherine Little, Pi Beta Phi. Miss Barton is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Following the introduction of the new student body secretary, Miss Batjer proceeded to install Leonore Hill, newly elected student body head, after which Miss Hill presented the outgoing president with a gavel from the ASUN.

The new ASUN president installed the following class manager: Mary Beth Winchester, senior class; Genevieve Siri, junior class, and Gloria Mapes, sophomore class manager. Miss Winchester is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, while Miss Siri and Miss Mapes are both affiliated with Delta Delta Delta.

Genevieve Siri, former sophomore class manager, announced that the frosh-soph picnic, which was originally scheduled to be held at Lawton's, will be held at Reno Hot Springs. All freshmen and sophomores were to meet at noon Friday in front of the ASUN building, she stated.

Streeter Is Stationed With Army Overseas

Lt. Jack Streeter, graduate from the university with the class of 1943, is now stationed overseas, according to a letter received by the military department.

While on the campus he was affiliated with Sigma Nu, Sundowners and Blue Key. He was also light heavyweight boxing champion in the Golden Gloves tournament.

University of Nevada Interested in Buying Surplus Equipment

In answer to a questionnaire from the Industrial Instruments Manufacturers war problems committee, Dean Stanley G. Palmer of the college of engineering said that the University of Nevada would be interested in purchasing war surplus instruments with which to furnish the engineering laboratories.

If these instruments are released, the dean said, they will be offered to colleges at a reduced price. They consist of equipment formerly unobtainable without a priority.

Though some of the equipment will not be new, all of the equipment offered is of the long-lived type. They are instruments used aboard war vessels and in other war machines.

Materials for all the departments of the college will probably be available under this war surplus program, Dean Palmer concluded.

ELWYN FREEMONTH

Lieut. Elwyn Freemonth, former university student, is somewhere in Great Britain, according to a communication received by the military department this week. He is serving with the armored forces.

Freemonth graduated from armored officer candidate school at Fort Knox, Ky., last fall. While on the campus he was affiliated with Sigma Nu fraternity and was a member of Scabbard and Blade. He was a junior student last year.

SEMESTER SALES

Bond sales for the spring semester total $36,382, according to the records in the comptroller's office. Another bond drive is scheduled for June.

Don't cash in your bonds—they are your assurance of doing your duty at home for the boys at the front.

AWS Fashion Show Draws 110 Coeds

With a June bride's trousseau as a theme, 26 University of Nevada coeds paraded the latest in spring attire for an audience of 110 campus women at the AWS fashion show Thursday.

For a honeymoon at the beach, Bette Poe modeled a seersucker, 2-piece combined swimming and play suit, donated by the Vogue. Pat Ussery displayed a 2-piece midriff playsuit in white with a short flared skirt and matching panties which also came from the Vogue. Smart mustard colored slacks trimmed with brown saddle stitching were worn by Mary Harriman, clothes featured at Toby's.

Summer Cottons

Crisp and cool cottons for daytime wear were the choice of Phyllis Baumann modelling a rose print shantung with a white pique hat for the final touch, and Pauline Sirkegian showing a red checked gingham trimmed with black velvet ribbon. These two frocks came from Joseph Magnin's. A white flowered cotton dirndl was shown by Dorothy Abel, this dress also from Magnin's.

Casual, softly tailored, in-betweens were worn by four coeds, Pela Oyarbide appeared in a white classic print silk currently featured at Doris Wilson's. A dark pink rayon-crepe with matching novelty buttons was styled by Madelen Maestretti. J. C. Penny's donated this number, Jackie Prescott appeared in a brown and white check gingham from Town and Country. Jane Wilcox showed a cool green linen with white applique and a white pique hat. This is also a Joseph Magnin's feature.

Suits

The ever essential tailored suits were the choice of Brownlie Wylie, Nadine Gibson and Janet McClellan. A dressy apple green suit from Doris Wilson's was selected by Miss Wylie. An all wool tweed, mannish tailored, 3-piece suit was modeled by Miss Gibson. This neutral colored suit was from the Town and Country. A suit of tropical worsted material, featuring the cardigan style jacket was displayed by Miss McClellan.

One of the main attractions of the show were the cocktail frocks. Kay Kinneberg, Dorothy Sewell, Marilyn Guenther, Jean Bicknell, Nora Saunders, Florene Miller and Teddy Hicks were the models with dresses from Doris Wilson, The Wonder, Penney's and the Riverside.

Highlight of the show was a bridal party with Dorothy Fransway as the maid of honor wearing an aqua formal of heavy faille with a sweetheart neckline. Her accessories consisted of a dainty muff and a starched tulle hat. Next came Velma Heaton and Jackie Thompson as the two bridesmaids. Their dresses were identical with that of the maid of honor except theirs were pink and blue.

Bonnie Yater as the bride was lovely in a traditional heavy white satin wedding dress. Long sleeves and a long train were also in the keeping with the visit of a radiant bride. Her halo-crown of seed pearls set off a fingertip veil. The gowns of the entire party were from The Wonder.

Bert—I'm a happy man because I have the best wife in the country.
Curt—Who wouldn't be happy with his wife in the country?

Down Sorority Row

WITH JINNY OLESEN

Strolling on campus the other day, we came to the conclusion that it is not only the efforts of Mr. Horn and his crew that make Nevada grounds unique, but also the few remaining gas buggies one sees parked hither and yon contribute much to our campus.

The Weapon

A sight which we will miss next year is the diminutive "Secret Weapon," owned and operated (we sometimes wonder how) by Nita Reifschneider. Not the sturdiest of "Henry's" offspring, the little machine, vintage '29, has been known to run, and satisfactorily, too, with a load of 17 sorority sisters and friends. Because of the paint job—dars! we describe the designs in green, tan and "naturelle"—and its honored years, it was dubbed the "Secret Weapon" and the handle stuck.

Hepzebah

Whoosh! Picking up scattered belongings and ourselves, we see B. Mollignoni's faithful Chrysler "Hepzebah" disappear round the gate. "Hep" should be cited for meritorious action, for "Mol" certainly puts her through her paces—you know these journalists. "Hepzebah's" favorite roosting spots are in front of "ye olde" Wal and the Tau house, the former preferred.

No column on cars would be complete without mention of the antiquity that transports Jacquie Prescott and her gang from Pi Phi house to campus and back. A beautiful reddish brown, the Prescott pride is unique among campus vehicles, for it bears on the windshield a C sticker—oh, boy!

The Faculty Buggies

Among faculty cars, Coach Aikens' big Packard takes the bouquet, for its rumble is never without the sunny Aiken smile.

Last, but certainly not least, the old hubba wagon, piloted by Prexy Batch comes chugging in to complete our review.

ELIADES COMMISSIONED

Lt. Jordan Eliades, former student at the University of Nevada and member of the Wolf Pack football squad, has just received his commission and is now a P-40 pilot in Arizona.

The lieutenant was returned to Nevada after he entered the army to train with the college training detachment of aviation students on Nevada's campus and was then sent to further instruction at bases within the western flying training command.
