

Sixty-Two Universities and Colleges Send Delegates to Inauguration Oct. 12

Representatives to March in Procession With Faculty Members, ASUN President

By Patricia Ussery

Sixty-two universities and colleges and 11 academic organizations have designated representatives to bring their greetings to Dr. John O. Moseley on his inauguration as the seventh president of the University of Nevada October 12.

Included among representatives from other parts of the United States are four university presidents, three deans and the president of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities.

March in Procession

The representatives will march in the academic procession with members of the faculty and the student-body president. The group, wearing caps, gowns and hoods, will assemble at Mackay quadrangle at 9:30 am and will march from there to the inaugural exercises.

Representatives Named

Those colleges and universities who have already named their representatives are: University of Alabama, Allegheny College, University of Arizona, Belmont College, Beaver College, Brigham Young University, University of California, University of Chicago, Colorado College of Education, Columbia University, Dickinson College, Harvard University, Duke University, Illinois College, Illinois Institution of Technology, University of Illinois, Iowa State College of A & M, Nevada Represented

University of Iowa, John Hopkins University, Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Science, University of Kentucky, Knox College, University of Maine, University of Maryland, University of Michigan, Mills College, University of Minnesota, Montana School of Mines, Montana State University, Mount Union College, University of Nebraska, University of Nevada.

University of New Hampshire, University of New Mexico, University of North Dakota, Occidental College, Ohio State University, Otterbein College, Oregon State College, College of the Pacific, Park College, Pennsylvania State, University of Pennsylvania, Rhode Island State College, Sacramento College, Simmons College.

Smith College, University of Southern California, St. Louis University, Stanford University, Syracuse University, Vassar College, University of Vermont, Washburn University, Washington and Jefferson College, University of Washington, Washington and Lee University, Wellesley College, Westminster College, Whittier College, University of Wyoming and Yale University.

National Organizations

National organizations who have dedicated their representatives are the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, Society of the Sigma Xi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon National fraternity, Sigma Nu fraternity, American Association of Teachers of Journalism, American Chemical Society, Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Pi Beta Phi sorority, American Association of University Women, and the Association of American Universities.

It is expected that more universities will dedicate representatives during the next two weeks, the inauguration committee said.

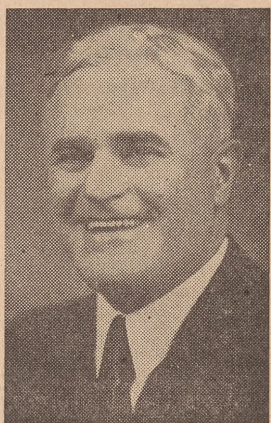

Press Club Slates Speaker This Week

Mrs. Isabel Miller, special pictures feature editor of Look magazine, will speak to members of the Press Club and journalism students at the Kappa Alpha Theta house Monday October 2, at 8 pm, Toni Suverkrup, Press Club president, stated.

Slides and pictures will be used to demonstrate how the material for the pictures department is assembled and edited.

Mrs. Miller also conducts a course at New York University sponsored by Look magazine dealing with picture assemblage and make-up.

NEW PRESIDENT

Dr. John Obleyer Moseley, who, on October 12, will be inaugurated as the seventh president of the University of Nevada in colorful ceremonies on the campus in Reno.

Student Affairs Group Organized

Re-organization and enlargement of the student affairs committee was announced by Dr. John O. Moseley, president of the university, at a faculty meeting September 21.

Those now members of the committee are Dean of Men R. C. Thompson, Acting Dean of Women Alice B. Marsh, Prof. Meryl Deming, Prof. Jessie Pope, Robert S. Griffin, assistant in administration; Patricia Lowry, dietician; James Aiken, football coach; Leonard Hill, ASUN president, and Betty Mollignoni, editor of the Sagebrush.

"The purpose of this committee will be to cooperate with all student organizations in promoting wholesome student activities and in maintaining and strengthening campus traditions," the president said.

He also pointed out that with an enlarged committee, better contacts can be established and maintained with the student body.

He feels that the functions of this committee should be largely persuasive in nature to lead the way to a campus life beneficial to individual students and the university as a whole.

Nine Men Pledged To Fraternities

A total of nine men pledged three fraternities this week, Dean of Men Reuben C. Thompson announced.

Sigma Nu announces the pledging of Chuck Bennion, Larry Heinz, Warren Kyse and Paul Zaehring.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon pledged David Levison.

Only two fraternities have elected presidents for this year. Warren Parks holds this position for Sigma Nu and Alpha Tau Omega is headed by Jack Good.

Reading Featured at Chi Delta Phi Meet

Activities for the semester were mapped at a meeting of Chi Delta Phi, national English honorary society, held Tuesday, September 26, at the home of Florence Billinghurst, sponsor.

The future meetings are to include a speaker, and discussion meetings at which poetry, drama, short stories and novels will be the topics. Committees to handle the meetings were appointed by Toni Suverkrup, president.

Georgianna Hicks was elected secretary-treasurer of the group replacing Lucille Shea who resigned.

A reading, The Men From Mars, by Orson Wells, was presented by Toni Suverkrup and Lucille Shea.

HELLCAT FIGHTER PLANE GOAL OF CAMPUS DRIVE

Campus War Board Heads Bond Drive

ASUN Will Purchase Navy Hellcat Plane

Beginning today, the campus war board is sponsoring a bond drive on the University of Nevada campus to purchase a navy Hellcat fighter plane at the cost of $88,500, Kathleen Norris, president of the board, announced yesterday.

Upon its purchase, the plane will be named The University of Nevada.

Sales Begin Today

Stamps were sold today at the Sagens bond booth across from the library, and bond booths will be set up in Mackay stadium at the football games.

Students are encouraged to purchase stamps and fill their books and to turn them in to any group representative of the bond drive committee. In this way, the university is given credit for the stamp sales.

If each student were to fill out a book to the amount of $18.75, the sum of $10,000 would be raised toward the purchase of the plane.

May Buy Bonds

Those students who wish to buy bonds may fill in an application blank at any campus booth. When the student has filled in the blank according to directions, the committee will have the bond mailed to him.

If a student subscribes for a bond at any other booth, he may ask for the duplicate of the application, and hand it in to his group representative.

Parents or friends of students may also purchase a bond at another booth and turn it in to a student who will see that it reaches a bond drive representative. The credit for the sale then goes to the university.

No money for bonds is taken at the campus booths; only the written application for the sale.

Special Features

Besides the campus booths, campus organizations will offer various entertainments for which admission will be a war stamp. At a date to be announced, Pan-Hellenic will hold a joint bean feed and auction for war stamps.

Sorority and fraternity representatives for the drive have been appointed, and will present plans to their respective groups at future meetings.

Committee Members

Jayne Creel, chairman of the finance division of the campus war board which is directing the bond drive, is assisted by the following committee members: secretary, Jean Marie Proctor; publicity co-chairman, Betty Walker and Betty Waugh; chairman of campus organizations, Valerie Sheeline; city chairman, Marilyn Dugan; alumni chairman, Dean Dukes; campus service organizations, Paul Yparaguirre, and subscription advisor, Thelma Charlton.

The drive will continue through December 15, the end of the sixth national war bond drive.

During this time, various campus groups will sponsor special activities and stunts to promote interest in the drive and sale of bonds and stamps, Miss Creel said.

Dance Tonight Is Date or No-Date

Sagens will sponsor a Date or No-Date dance tonight from 8:30 to 12:30 in the old gymnasium. The air base orchestra will provide music for the dance.

New members in Sagens cleaned and decorated the gym this afternoon as part of their pre-institution duties.

Admission will be 50 cents per person and both couples and singles are welcome, Bob Craig, acting president of Sagens, stated.

JANE CREEL

Jane Creel, senior Kappa Alpha Theta, who is chairman of the finance division of the campus war board sponsoring the bond drive for Hellcat navy fighter plane.

SAGENS CONDUCT WAR BOND BOOTH

Sagens, girls pep organization, conducted a war stamp and bond booth today directly across from the library.

Bette Poe, senior Kappa Alpha Theta, was in charge of the booth and other members of the group sold stamps and bonds during various periods throughout the day.

It was open from 8 am to 4 pm, closing too late to print the results of the sales in this week's issue of the Sagebrush.

Lt. Col. Smith Tells Press Club of Problems of Covering Allied Invasion

By Jo Ann Miller

Lt. Col. Thor Smith, speaking before members of the Press Club and journalism students at the Kappa Alpha Theta house Monday evening, told of the problems of organizing the coverage of the Allied invasion of France last June.

"The invasion," Col. Smith said, "was considered, and is still considered, the biggest story in news history. Therefore, it was imperative that the story was covered and written up to the best advantage for world readers."

First Week Coverage

"During the first week of the invasion," he explained, "all the stories of the invasion were pooled. In this way, no press or network received an advantage or scoop. Later, we were able to manage the coverage of the story as it is done in the city room of a metropolitan newspaper. With a London office as our city room, we allowed the correspondents to sign up for the spots they wished to cover, and they worked out of the London office. Since some of the correspondents got there too late to get assignments, we were forced to tell them to go to their bureau chiefs for assignments."

"Planned Year Before

Col. Smith showed how tremendous a job the organization of the invasion coverage was by pointing out that the plans were discussed for a year before the actual beginning of the invasion.

"Because of his supreme modesty," he said, "it was necessary that the public relations officers and the press correspondents organize a staff to cover General Eisenhower. In this way, we were able to avoid taking up the general's valuable time in press conferences."

He went on to explain that the

STATIONED OVERSEAS

Lt. Warren Salmon, former Nevada student and now an officer with the 104th infantry, has arrived at an undisclosed overseas destination, according to a letter received by Major J. C. Howard, written by Lt. Salmon while aboard ship.

Sagens Sponsor Bond Booth Sales

Group Will Publish Student Directory

A bond booth will be sponsored by the Sagens at the football game between Nevada and Alameda Coast Guard Sunday to launch their drive to buy a navy fighter plane with war bonds.

Thelma Charlton, junior Kappa Alpha Theta, is in charge, and Sagens will work one quarter each. Barbara Heany and Rose Marie Mayhew will sell the first quarter, Lee Hill and Thelma Charlton, second quarter; Mary Watts and Lavina Ramelli, third quarter, and Pat Trainer and Jane Creel, fourth quarter.

Student Directory

Sagens' annual student directory will be published near the end of the week with campus and home addresses and telephone numbers of all the students on campus. Blue Key put out the directory until last year, when they became inactive, and the Sagens took over.

To Usher at Games

Sagens will usher at all home football games this year. Sagens formerly had this job, but they have taken over selling programs since they became active on the campus this year.

Harriet McNeil, senior Gamma Phi Beta, was elected to Sagens, women's campus service organization, at their meeting Thursday evening, according to Lee Hill, president.

Lt. Leonard Anker in Battle for France

staff consisted of one representative of the United States Press, one from the U. S. network, one from the British press, one from the British network, one reel photographer, one still photographer, a censor and Lt. Col. Smith as the head of the group. All stories about the general written by this staff were pooled for the world press.

Super War Room

In order to accommodate the 600 reporters and commentators who were covering the invasion, the British ministry of information turned over an entire wing of its building in London for the use of the press and network representatives. One room, called the super war room, was lined with charts and maps for the use of the representatives. Here special releases were issued and briefings read.

In answer to questions, Col. Smith explained how a press correspondent's story reaches the United States. After the story is written at the front, it is sent to the filing station at the army's field headquarters where it is immediately censored and sent to the United States. Due to this advantage in speed, press dispatches frequently are far in advance of military dispatches, which pass through several stations before they reach their destination.

University Graduate

Lt. Col. Smith was introduced by Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, head of the department of journalism. Col. Smith, a graduate of this university in 1927, was active in many campus affairs. He was affiliated with Sigma Nu fraternity, and in his senior year was editor of the Desert Wolf, student magazine no longer published. He is in Reno spending a 10-day leave with his family.

NEVADAN TRANSFERRED

Lt. Harry E. Wheeler, a member of the Mackay School of Mines before the war, has been transferred to Washington, D. C., from Peru, Nebraska, where he has been teaching naval V-12 units. Lt. Wheeler was in mapping work with these naval groups.

Wolf Pack Will Play First Home Game Facing Formidable Coast Guard Team

Wolves in Good Physical Condition For Struggle With Alameda's Eleven

The Wolf Pack will put in its first official home appearance before students and Renoites when they face the powerful Alameda Coast Guard team on Mackay field Sunday, October 1.

Off to a good start, the Pack won its first game of the season last weekend when they downed the Tonopah Indians, 20-0. However, the Wolves will face an entirely different situation this Sunday when they pit their strength against Joe Verducci's boys in blue.

Gardner Elected Freshman Manager

Neva Gardner, Delta Delta Delta pledge, was elected freshman class manager in the final balloting yesterday.

Miss Gardner, who was graduated from Reno high school last spring, is an arts and science major.

Runnerup for the office was Charles (Chuck) Johnson, Sigma Nu pledge from Overbrook, Penn.

Miss Gardner was installed in office at the pep rally this morning.

Homecoming Date Moved to Oct. 27

Tentative Program Planned for Event

Homecoming, originally scheduled for October 12 and 13—coinciding with the week of the president's inauguration, has been moved to October 27 and 28 by the administrative council committee, according to Gloria Mapes, chairman of the Homecoming committee.

Program Slated

Plans for the program of the two-day affair as tentatively drawn up by the committee consists of a rally and bonfire Friday evening in Mackay stadium followed by a serpentine through town to the Civic Auditorium, where skits by the various organizations will be presented.

Saturday afternoon the Homecoming game will be played with the Wolf Pack facing Utah University, and Saturday night the traditional Homecoming dance will be held in the old gymnasium.

Limited Activities

Although activities will not be as extensive as in previous years due to wartime curtailments, a definite effort will be made to welcome the alumni to the campus, Miss Mapes said. The individual sororities and fraternities will arrange get-togethers with their alumni at individual dates.

Sub-Committee Named

Aiding Miss Mapes are the following sub-chairmen: Bette Poe, rally committee; Frank Apa, bonfire committee; Genevieve Siri and Jacqueline Prescott, assembly committee; Jacqueline Thompson, dance committee; Myrl Nygren, sweetheart committee; Gilbert Sutton, publicity, and Jack Good and Doran Patton.

Helping the Homecoming committee with the activities will be the Sagens and the rally committee.

Group Skits

NEVADAN TRANSFERRED

Lt. Harry E. Wheeler, a member of the Mackay School of Mines before the war, has been transferred to Washington, D. C., from Peru, Nebraska, where he has been teaching naval V-12 units. Lt. Wheeler was in mapping work with these naval groups.

Strong Coast Team

Unofficially the third strongest team on the Pacific coast, the Alameda Sea Lions are considered outside of Nevada's playing realm. For the past month the name Gonzales Morales has been highlighting the discussions in grid circles. Backed by college veterans, Morales is Nevada's major threat.

The coach sounded optimistic yesterday when he said that the Wolves are in good physical condition and that anything might happen on Sunday.

Strengthens Line

Two-hour workouts were in progress this week as Aiken concentrated on strengthening the line. Al Nicciolo, outstanding player of the Tonopah-Nevada game, was again shifted to left halfback.

The Pack is banking heavily on the flinging skill of Mackrides and Sorenson. Strength in the line will be Phil Corrigan, guard, and tackle Buster McClure, both tipping the scales around 220 pounds. Also expected in the opening lineup are Jack Dieringer, 185-pound tackle of Reno; Gus Cammerano, Larry Heinz and Paul Zaehring. Also probable to see action in Sunday's game are Frank Kimiro, Harold Hayes, Alf Sorenson, Leonard Marmor, Ed Dierks, Jack Musselman and Bob Durham.

Probable Lineup

The probable lineup will be Green, le; Dieringer, lt; Corrigan, lg; Coren, c; Cammerano, rg; McClure, rt; Dorr, re; Mackrides, q; Nicciolo, lh; Heinz, f; Zaehring, rh.

Known in East

The probable lineup for the Wolf Pack will be better known in the eastern sports circles than in Nevada. Jack Dieringer, left tackle, popular Reno player who was all-state in high school athletics, is the only Nevada boy on the first team.

Bob McClure, right tackle, hails from Dardanelle, Arkansas, and was all-state in Illinois. Phil Corrigan, 220-pound guard, played two years on New Jersey's all-state team.

Bill Mackrides, popular quarterback, hails from Philadelphia, as does Elmer Green, colored left end, who holds the high school high jump record of six feet four inches.

Larry Heinz, watchfob fullback, played for Wisconsin University, and Paul "Zarry" Zaehring, right halfback, starred on the Iowa Hawkeye eleven.

Freshman Coed to Reign at Homecoming

For the first time in Nevada's history, a Homecoming sweetheart will be chosen to reign over Homecoming festivities. Six freshman women have been nominated by campus groups to contend and the sweetheart will be chosen by popular vote of the campus men.

Contestants for Homecoming sweetheart are Virginia Cole, Artemisia-Manzanita; Patricia Crummer, Kappa Alpha Theta; Beryl Dickerson, Independents; Lolamae Dunbar, Pi Beta Phi; Ida Mae Kellough, Gamma Phi Beta; Marjorie Menu, Delta Delta Delta.

The sweetheart will be presented formally at the Homecoming dance, October 28.

It is planned in the future to make this an annual election to choose a Homecoming sweetheart from the women of the freshman class.

BACK THE PACK

When the University of Nevada Wolf Pack trots onto the gridiron in Mackay stadium Sunday afternoon for its first official home game, Nevadans will again say Back the Pack, but with a sincere enthusiasm that is exclusively Nevada's.

The student body this year has shown an increased interest in student affairs. Assemblies are well attended; the Sage social was a success.

Now interest is beginning to focus on the bond drive sponsored by the Campus War Board, the inauguration of President John O. Moseley and the annual Homecoming celebration.

Despite the various forthcoming events that merit attention, the Wolf Pack deserves its share.

The Pack has always been one of the major prides of this institution. To let them down would belie a trust—disappoint the students on the squad, who have looked forward to a victorious season, and hurt the prestige of the university itself. Coach Jim Aiken and his squad work hard to send a capable team onto the field. They want to make the student body proud of its eleven, and the fellows on the squad are proud to wear silver and blue jerseys.

War-time limitations have curbed a great many activities we enjoyed in the past—the Wolves Frolic, campus dramatics productions and the usual big dances—but the Wolf Pack survived.

It survived because the students wanted it, were eager to support it!

Let this year be no exception. Be in Mackay stadium for the kickoff at 2:30 Sunday afternoon and sit in the students' reserved section.

Let's BACK THE PACK as it has never been backed before!

Letters to the Editor

MIND YOUR MANNERS

Dear Editor:

College men and women are expected to be courteous at all times. Manners in the dining hall and at the table reflect true character. The University of Nevada expects anyone who enters the dining room at meal time to have good manners and observe the following standards:

Students must be dressed and groomed properly. Women may wear slacks and wear turbans to cover up curlers, etc., only on Saturday breakfasts and luncheons. Men will wear sweaters or coats EVERY night for dinner and Sunday dinners.

You are expected to observe the following courtesies at the table for luncheon and dinners: everyone will stand at the table until the table is filled and will sit down at once; head of the table fills the plates at dinner and passes them around; no one leaves the table at dinner until all have finished eating. Everyone at one table leaves the dining hall together. Miss Lowry may give you a special permission to leave in advance.

A quiet and dignified atmosphere should prevail at all times in the dining hall. Each hostess or head of the table should aim to keep his or her table quiet by keeping voices down. There shall be no singing in the dining hall.

(Signed) Dining hall committee: Phyllis Baumann, chairman; Maie Nygren, Wilda Pflum, Odette Darrigrand, Laura Lou Johnson, Marjorie Whipple and Dorothy Abel.

Valuable Stocks Given University

Major Fleischmann Donates $60,000

By U of N News Bureau (Special) New scholarships for University of Nevada freshmen have recently been provided through a new gift to the institution by Major Max C. Fleischmann of Glenbrook, Nevada.

Stocks of a value of more than $60,000 comprise the latest gift to the University of Nevada by Major Fleischmann, according to Dr. John O. Moseley, president of the institution.

Large Income

Income from the securities just presented to the U of N estimated to amount to $2250 annually, will be used exclusively for graduates of Nevada high schools who will enter the institution as freshmen.

The new Fleischmann scholarship fund is the second to be established recently for students about to undertake their studies at Nevada, the other being Josephine Beam Educational fund, under which six Nevada high school graduates began work this fall.

One Award This Year

Only one student will receive a scholarship under the new Fleischmann award this semester, Dr. Harold N. Brown, chairman of the university's committee on scholarships and prizes, announced last week.

She is Miss Marjorie Menu, top ranking student in the Reno high school graduating class of 1944. Miss Menu was president of her class, served as cheer leader, was head of the school honor society, and was chosen the outstanding girl of Reno high school during the second semester of last year.

Total Value of Gifts

Major Fleischmann's gifts of stock to the university for scholarship purposes now total nearly $175,000 at present prices.

In 1938 the benefactor made his first gift to the institution for scholarships in the form of stock of a present value of $37,500. In 1940 he gave the institution stock valued now at $34,350.

These two gifts were followed in

LT. MILLER AWARDED MEDAL FOR COMBAT

Lieutenant Edwin H. (Bud) Miller, '43, has received the air medal for combat missions over Germany, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Miller, of Carson City.

Lt. Miller, pilot of a P-47 Thunderbolt fighter plane, has now completed 23 combat missions over Europe. While on the Nevada campus he was active in student affairs and affiliated with Sigma Nu fraternity.

1941 by that of stock of a current value at $34,500.

Appreciation Expressed

In expressing appreciation of the gift, President Moseley said that many University of Nevada students are in need of financial assistance in order to undertake or continue their higher education.

He stated that already a considerable number of University of Nevada students have been able to carry on their education through the generosity of Major Fleischmann, and that they have made excellent records, both in the institution and after they have left it.

Requirements for Awards

Requirements for previous scholarships awarded from the income of stocks presented by Major Fleischmann are need, high scholarship, the promise of becoming outstanding citizens upon graduation, and demonstrated qualities of leadership and a spirit of cooperation, expressed through student activities.

The objective of the university in developing all-round young men and young women is encouraged through scholarships like that of Major Fleischmann, Dr. Moseley said.

BENNY COREN

Benedict (Benny) Coren, tough little 160-pound sophomore guard, is making the bigger men hustle for that first string guard position again this season.

Benny is the type of player who continually out-smarts his larger opponents, sometimes charging straight through at the ball carrier, and then drifting at other times to make the tackle.

Despite his lack of weight, Coren will be a great asset to the team with his fighting spirit and desire to win. He will undoubtedly see plenty of action this year being too good a defensive man to be kept on the sidelines when the opponents have the ball.

Like Mackrides, he hails from West Philadelphia high school and played on the championship team of 1941 while weighing a mere 145 pounds.

This past summer Benny worked as a counselor and athletic director in a boys' camp, which worked in nicely with his physical education major here.

Benny expresses the opinion that more fellows from the Philadelphia region will be coming to the university because of the friendly spirit prevailing here.

Well, there I was, 50 cents in my pocket and 240 miles from home—but wait a minute, I'm getting ahead of myself. This is all about the trip made with the Wolf Pack to Tonopah.

To be honest, the trip started Wednesday evening, though we did not leave the campus until Saturday morning about nine. We boarded the bus in front of Lincoln Hall and, after driving around town for 15 or 20 minutes (to let Renoites in on the secret that they have a ball team), we started on our way.

Tonopah Field
 As we drove through the gates at the Tonopah army air base, eight miles east of Tonopah, a moan of disappointment, disbelief and disapproval was heard from every member of the team. The air base playing field consisted of three inches of feathery white dust spread over the alkali flat upon which the base is built.

Driving up to the gymnasium, we disembarked and the team dressed for practice. Coach Aiken put the boys through kicking, passing and running practice to accustom them to the field.

As soon as we had disposed of our extra shirt and our football equipment an officer led us to the mess hall. Due to the comic interpretation of the private away from home for the first time, the fellows were a bit doubtful as to the type of table the army would set for us.

Mess Hall Mess
 As we entered the mess hall the mess sergeant informed us that he had on hand rations for 120 men. Forty-five of us quickly did away with them and began to feel sorry for the other 75 men.

The amazed sergeant stated, "If I had you men for every meal, I would quit my job — if possible." When we informed him that we would be eating four more meals, he tore his hair and asked his commanding officer for an emergency pass. Saturday evening we were given the freedom of the post.

Game Day

Bright and early (10:30) Sunday morning we rose and again visited the distraught mess sergeant. Then back to the barracks for our pre-game pep talk by the coach.

At one we mounted an army truck which took us to the gym, and at ten minutes to two the team was on the field ready to go. The Wolf Pack was pleased with the outcome of the game, the score of which you know, and the Tonopah Indians showed themselves real sportsmen as they showered us with congratulations.

Team Honored

A victory dance was given in honor of the team that night, and although most of the members were dressed in levis and flannel shirts, we were accepted in every club on the base.

After a restless night we arose Monday at 6:30 am, and for the last time—to the joy of the now bald mess sergeant—ate breakfast in the squadron A mess hall.

The bus, which was to bring us back to the university, was late. When the coach asked for a volunteer to find out the reason, your reporter, much to my sorrow, stepped forward.

Left Behind

While talking to the lieutenant who was to arrange our transportation, the bus picked up the team and passed out of the gate leaving me behind. A lieutenant graciously offered me a ride to Tonopah, and from there two sergeants brought me to Reno . . . fifteen minutes ahead of the bus.

The team appreciated the hospitality shown them in Tonopah, and are planning to give a victory dance for the Tonopah team when they play here October 14. All university students are invited to attend and repay the kindness which was shown the Wolf Pack.

Minister (at a funeral): Friends, all that remains here is the shell. The nut is gone.

SPORTS EDITOR DISTINGUISHED

By Pat Riley

Down went McGinty, according to an old ditty. Likewise, down went Maestretti—in a heap.

Near tragedy hit the Brush staff last week when the feminine sports editor's horse grew weary of bearing his burden and lay down in the thoroughfare — with Mitz aboard.

While she wriggled out from beneath Smokey's bulk, a mass of befuddled looks on their faces.

No one helped Mitz to her feet—or Smokey either; instead, the usual questions, "Are you hurt?" "What happened?" "Break your leg?" were shot at her.

Too stunned to answer, Mitz climbed on her bedraggled steed and stumbled homeward.

We're happy to report that neither Mitz nor Smokey is the worse for the experience and have reached the understanding that Maestretti shall be the sole rider of the team.

Maj. John Howard Compiles Record

By Hugh Farmer

Major John Howard of the military department has announced that he has started gathering material for a permanent war record of all former University of Nevada students now in the service.

Shoulder Insignia

This record will consist of the organizational shoulder insignia of the unit to which each man is attached which will be accompanied by an inscription containing name, rank, organization and other information concerning the war record of each individual.

For War Record

At some future date when each record is completed, Major Howard plans to present the record to the university to become a supplement to the university war record, which in turn will become a part of the Nevada historical war record. Compilation of the latter was recently authorized by Governor E. P. Carville.

Individual Project

Sincere interest in the welfare of Nevada men has prompted Major Howard to make this record as a permanent tribute to their service. He states this undertaking is a personal project, and he believes it will be the only one of its kind in the state. Anyone having information concerning any former University of Nevada student now in the service is requested to see Major Howard so that the record of each man may be made as detailed as possible.

News Sent Papers By Campus Bureau

The University of Nevada Campus News Bureau gathers new stories of the university as an educational institution for exclusive distribution to papers of the state, according to Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, director.

With Mrs. Katharine Mergen as assistant, the bureau covers two types of news. One consists of general news stories sent to all papers of the state and the other of news centered around individual students for release in their hometowns.

This service has been functioning for the papers of the state since the fall of 1940, Higginbotham explained.

Ten New Members Join Chem Club

Ten new members were welcomed into Chem Club at a meeting last week at the home of Dr. Loring B. Williams.

Gordon Mills, newly elected president of the club, gave a review from the news edition of the American Chemical Society publication, and advantages of membership were explained to new members.

New Members

Members who attended for the first time were Jeanne Swanhelm, Lucille Shea, Shirley Campbell, Gerald Locke, Bruce Larson, Roy Beardall, Tom Macauley, Ethel Pettis, Dean Dukes and Bob Morton.

Members of the Student Affiliate of the American Chemical Society, official name of the local organization, are eligible to become members of the American Chemical Society three years after graduation. They can subscribe to the official publication at reduced rates.

Eligibility Explained

Students are eligible to become members of the Chem Club if they are majoring in chemistry or if they are taking a course which will lead to a B.S. in chemistry.

Minors in chemistry may join as local members, ineligible to vote or hold office.

Other officers are Jane McCuisition, vice-president, and Judy Bogard, secretary and treasurer. They were elected at a short meeting earlier in the semester.

Mrs. Warren Named Nurse at Infirmary

Mrs. Beatrice Warren, R. N., of Pennsylvania, has replaced Mrs. Georgie Gressot as nurse in charge of the university infirmary.

Mrs. Warren assumed her duties on Tuesday, after a week's interval in which the infirmary was run by Mrs. Catharine Lynch, regular hospital attendant, assisted by Marilyn Bradley, '44, senior student, who has had previous training at Stanford-Lane Hospital in San Francisco.

Mrs. Georgie Gressot, nurse who had been temporarily in charge since the beginning of this semester, has been ill at her home in Reno since early last week.

Kievit Describes Gifts of Dollars

More than 2000 silver dollars are being contributed by the people of Nevada to send to the crew of the USS Nevada, a veteran battleship of Pearl Harbor, Aleutian campaign, D day and the invasion of southern France.

Several members of the crew have never seen a silver dollar and are thrilled at the prospect of the gift, according to Lt. Joseph F. Kievit of Reno, who is home on leave. Lt. Kievit, University of Nevada '40, was active in Sigma Phi Sigma, Block N, Sagebrush staff and the varsity football team while on the campus.

E. P. Carville, governor of Nevada, is gathering the dollars for the gift to be sent to the crew of the battleship in a magnesium casket. Standing offshore in each of the French invasion campaigns, the USS Nevada blasted holes through beach defenses with salvos from her 14-inch guns, and shattered enemy tank concentrations, convoys and troop movements several miles inland, and helped prepare the way for the allied invaders.

Two Mine Profs See Plant Close

Professor Jay A. Carpenter, director of the Mackay School of Mines, and Professor William I. Smythe made an inspection trip to Gabbs Valley September 24 and 25.

While there they witnessed the final closing of the $3,000,000 magnesium reduction plant constructed by Basic Magnesium Incorporated.

Carpenter said that Mackay School of Mines graduates who were connected with the BMI plant at Gabbs had already obtained new positions when the plant closed.

BIOLOGY HEAD JUDGES VICTORY GARDEN FAIR

Dr. P. A. Lehenbauer, head of the department of biology, judged the victory vegetable contest entries at the first junior victory garden league fair held recently at the Reno Community Center.

The fair was sponsored by the Reno Recreation Commission, and was under the direction of W. C. Higgins, formerly a member of the university faculty in the college of agriculture.

Dr. Lehenbauer, who has judged every flower and vegetable exhibit in Reno for the past 20 years, had the privilege of judging the first flower show held in Reno.

Prof. Lehenbauer Responsible for Orchid Collection

Professor Philip A. Lehenbauer started our present display of 41 orchid plants, now in full bloom in the greenhouse, approximately 22 years ago. At that time he had enough seed sent from the University of Illinois, where he had been plant physiologist, to form seven plants.

Orchids are delicate flowers needing expert care, according to Herbert Preuss, in charge of the greenhouse. These flowers can't survive a temperature of less than 60 degrees F. and must be given proper rest following their seeding period, which lasts almost a year. Rest, as applied to orchids, means less water than usual. This is very important since lack of rest can cause their roots to rot.

The green orchids in the collection were added last year. These Lady Slippers are expected to be in full bloom next month.

BRUCE HILL VISITS RENO ON FURLOUGH

Pvt. Bruce Hill, '47, freshman student on campus last year, is in Reno on furlough. He is now a member of the signal corps, attached to the army air forces, and will complete his training as a cryptographic technician at Selfridge Field, Mich., following his furlough.

Pvt. Hill is affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and was a member of the varsity basketball team last spring.

Bill Fryer Named Barbs Vice Prexy

Bill Fryer, sophomore transfer student from the University of California at Davis, was elected vice-president of the Independents at a meeting Monday night in the Agriculture building.

Maurya Wogan was elected alternate woman senator and Bob Craig alternate man senator to the ASUN senate.

Italo Gavazzi is president of the group.

Have a Coca-Cola = Soldier, refresh yourself

...or a way to relax in camp

To soldiers in camp, from the Gulf Coast to the north woods, Coca-Cola is a reminder of what they left behind. On "Company Street" as on Main Street, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes. Ice-cold Coca-Cola in your icebox at home is a symbol of a friendly way of living.
