ASUN Reinstates Four More Groups

Revive Band, EE, Block N, Sagers

Four formerly inactive organizations were replaced on the active list, and three new organizations were recognized at a meeting of the ASUN senate this week.

Sagers, UN band, Block N and Electrical Engineers declared inactive due to lack of members as a result of wartime curtailment, were reinstated.

Blue Peppers and Saddle and Spurs were recognized, and the Women's War Council was reorganized to include both men and women under the new name of Nevada War Council.

Sagers Change

In addition, an amendment was added to the constitution of Sagers, with consent of senate, allowing them now to function under a war clause which does not limit the number of members. When before active, the organization included one member for every ten men in a fraternity or independent.

Senate allowed Zeta Phi Zeta, social organization, to lower the scholastic average necessary for membership from 2.4 to 2.5.

Inactive Groups

Organizations now listed as inactive are Aggie Club, Blue Key, Camera Club, Civil Engineers, Cercle Français, Delta Delta Epsilon, Future Farmers of America, German Club, Sigma Gamma Epsilon, Sundowners, Newman Club, Masque and Dagger, Interfraternity Council, Scabbard and Blade, Campus Club, Canterbury Society of the University of Nevada, Campus Players, Nu Eta Epsilon, Ski Club, Forensic Key, Commerce Club and Crucible Club.

These clubs functioned before the war, and it is expected that in post-war times they will be revived. The limited enrollment on the campus at this time is the reason for their discontinuation, Leonore Hill, ASUN president, said.

Active Organizations

Active organizations as now listed are Alpha Epsilon Delta, Pan-Hellenic Council, Zeta Phi Zeta, Sagers, Wesley Foundation, Chemistry Club, Fine Arts, Chi Delta Phi, Press Club, YWCA, Cap and Scroll, AWS, Home Ec Club, Gothic N, Artemisia-Manzanita Association, WAA, Math Club, Independents, Campus Choral Club, Mechanical Engineers, Associated Engineers, Phi Kappa Phi, Coffin and Keys, and the seven above named re-instated or newly organized groups.

Thompson Wants Men on Campus

Dean Anticipates Proportioned ASUN

"I'd like to see more men on this campus, and I don't suppose I'm alone in the feeling," said Dean of Men Reuben C. Thompson.

"In fact, I wouldn't mind being a student here myself these days," he added, chuckling, referring to this year's ratio of two and a half women to one man.

Better Than Last Year

Dean Thompson pointed out that the University of Nevada is a little better off this semester as last year's figures were almost four to one.

In normal times the proportion runs about six men to four women, so the change has been radical in the years since he first took over the post of dean of men in 1932.

Employment Problem

There are other changes too, Dean Thompson said. In the employment situation his task in previous years had been to find enough jobs for the men, but at present the problem lies in finding the men to fill the jobs.

Although the position as advisor takes time and effort, Dean Thompson looks forward to a return of male students in their rightful proportion.

SIX CONTESTANTS FOR HOMECOMING SWEETHEART

Six contestants for the honor of Homecoming sweetheart are Lola Mae Dunbar, Pi Beta Phi; Beryl Dickerson, Independent; Marjorie Menu, Delta Delta Delta; Patricia Crummer, Kappa Alpha Theta; Ida Mae Kellough, Gamma Phi Beta; Virginia Cole, Artemisia-Manzanita Association. Winner of the contest will reign at the annual Homecoming dance at the Twentieth Century Club October 28.

Mrs. Von Fluee Directs UN Show

By Gloria Mapes

The Homecoming Skit Parade to be presented in the Civic Auditorium Friday evening, October 27, is directed by Mrs. Margaret Von Fluee.

Mrs. Von Fluee has been a member of the well known Abbey Players and the Fulton Stock Company. She majored in dramatics at Mills College and has written and directed many plays, radio skits and musical comedies.

Outstanding productions written and directed by Mrs. Von Fluee as director of the Sparks Victory Workshop include "Yankee Doodle Boy" and "V for Vickie."

Practices of the individual skits are being scheduled with a combined practice to be held tonight, Genevieve Siri, co-chairman of the Homecoming Skit Parade, said today.

Chairmen in charge of the individual skits are Tosca Masini, Delta Delta Delta; Leonore Hill, Gamma Phi Beta; Jo Ann Miller, Kappa Alpha Theta; Florene Miller, Pi Beta Phi; Carmen Grundel, Artemisia Hall; Nora Saunders and Frank Apa, Independents; Lucille Shea, Zeta Phi Zeta; Jack Good, Alpha Tau Omega; John Baker, Lambda Chi Alpha; Jim Coleman, Sigma Nu.

ASUN Windows Bare As Curtain Rods Are Found Missing

By Anna Garamendi

Strange noises and cries to the effect of "What'll we do now?" were heard coming from the graduate managers' office as the bare-faced windows peered about the room with still nothing on.

Women Encouraged

Won't someone help them? It seems three eager Nevada coeds, with some encouragement from the women's upperclass committee, answered the plea.

Yes, at last the graduate manager's office was to have curtains. Each one was carefully removed from the bundle, and laid out on the table, but first mates had to be found and seams had to be matched.

That's That

Now everything was ready, that is, everything except the curtain rods, but surely they would be nearby.

As of today, these windows, those in the manager's office remain undressed.

There was not a rod in the building, and the three ASUN beavers departed sighing.

UPPERCLASS WOMEN SCHEDULE MEETING

Next meeting of the women's upperclass committee will be held in the ASUN building Thursday, October 19, at 4 pm.

This week's meeting was postponed because of the inauguration of President John O. Moseley.

A list of the coed offenders will be placed on the bulletin board, and the women will report at the designated time and place.

Freshmen Gather Wood for Bonfire

Every student in the freshman class is required to take three wooden boxes to Clark field for the Homecoming bonfire October 27.

Freshmen should take the boxes to the field on one of the three following afternoons: October 13, 20 or 27, according to Frank Apa, chairman of the Homecoming bonfire committee.

Someone will be at Clark field from 1 pm until 5 pm on these afternoons—all of which are Fridays—to check freshmen who bring boxes, he said.

Any freshman who does not take the required boxes to the bonfire will have to answer to the upperclass committees.

This minimum requirement of boxes has been set so students can have a bigger and better bonfire for the Homecoming rally this year, Apa explained.

Lieutenant Sent German Grammar

By Helen Corica

Shortly before the invasion, Lt. Jack Streeter, now serving with the famous first division in France, wrote home requesting a copy of a German grammar, it was disclosed this week by Major John C. Howard, head of the military department, to whom the request was referred.

Streeter, a Sigma Nu and member of the class of '43, felt that a quick sweep through France might place him with an army of occupation in Germany, and he wanted to be prepared with something more than the "necessities of life" phrases supplied in the army brochure, said Major Howard.

Major Howard consulted Dr. Christian W. F. Melz, German instructor, who not only selected a suitable German grammar and German first reader, but sent the books as a personal gift to his former student.

Lt. Streeter, whose home is in Sparks, has been awarded the purple heart and has been recommended for the bronze star medal, according to Major Howard.

He has been wounded twice while serving with a mortar outfit and is convalescing at a field hospital in France, according to latest word.

Prof. Higginbotham To Address AAUP On Survey Results

Prof. A. L. Higginbotham will address the American Association of University Professors at a meeting to be held October 19 at 8 pm at the home of Dr. Harold N. Brown, according to Dr. Eldon Wittwer, president.

Professor Higginbotham will report on a survey made last spring by the American Publications Association concerning the attitude of university presidents toward post-war education trends. The University of Nevada was included in the survey.

Group discussion will follow the report.

Homecoming Sweetheart Election Set As Six Contestants Vie for Honors

Election Board to Staff Polls for Voting Slated Wednesday, October 25

FROSH TO PAINT N, OCTOBER 21

Saturday, October 21, freshmen will attend the annual "N" painting, according to Leonore Hill, ASUN president. This activity is required of all frosh.

Arrangements will be made by Neva Gardner, class manager, and the men's and women's upperclass committees.

Members of the upperclass committees will check all freshmen for attendance, and those not present will be punished according to tradition.

Faculty Members Speak at Confab

Several members of the University of Nevada faculty participated this week in the school administrators' conference held in the Engineering building.

At the first of a series of six sessions, Dr. John O. Moseley, university president, was introduced by Miss Mildred Bray, state superintendent of public instruction, and chairman of the conference.

Serve as Chairman

Dr. Harold Brown, Dr. F. W. Traner and Dr. Frederick Wood each served as chairman for one session. Those attending were principals and superintendents from schools throughout the state, many of them U of N graduates.

Timely Discussions

Both high and elementary schools were represented. Each session consisted of a prepared talk on a timely school problem, followed by panel discussion.

This is the second conference of this kind. The first was held in November, 1942.

Replace Institute

They replace the annual Teachers Institute which has been suspended for the duration, according to Miss Bray.

Dr. Robert Griffin, assistant in administration at the university, was coordinator of the conference program.

University Dancers

University Dancers will entertain at the Shriners' initiation at the State building October 21, Miss Elsa Sameth, head of the women's physical education department, announced this week.

The dance, composed and directed by Miss Sameth, was written to the "Arabian Dance" from Tschickowsky's Nutcracker Suite.

Miss Barbara Byington will be featured in the presentation, Miss Sameth said.

Pack to Meet Tonopah Air Base 11 in Return Game With Rampaging Indians

Sagens Make Sales To Further Plane

In sponsoring the bond booth last Friday, $35.40 in stamps and $243.75 in bonds were sold by the Sagens, according to Leonore Hill, president.

At the football game Sunday $25.58 was sold in war stamps, she added.

These amounts are the first to be tallied in the campus drive for buying a navy Hellcat fighter plane in war bonds and stamps.

In charge of the booth Friday was Bette Poe, and Sunday, Thelma Charlton was chairman.

Correspondence Courses in All Depts. Planned

Administrative Council Handles Credit Details

By U of N News Service

Correspondence courses in all departments where work can be suitably adapted to instruction by mail will shortly be available from the University of Nevada.

Approval was given recently by the board of regents to a plan recommended by the university faculty.

At present all details will be handled by the administrative council, headed by Dr. Fredrick Wood, dean of the college of arts and science, from whose office all requests for information will be answered.

Two Types Explained

Two types of courses will be available to those who make use of the correspondence system, according to present plans.

First will be courses given for college credit which will demand the same qualifications and prerequisites of any university class, and which will conclude with a college type final examination which must be successfully passed before credit will be allowed.

For those who desire courses without credit, the regular course outline will be followed out without the final examination, since no grades will be entered against the on-credit students' record.

Every effort will be made to meet individual requests, Dean Wood stated. If there is a demand for courses not on the college level in which high school students can participate, these will be offered also.

With the growing interest in adult education and extension courses, a definite need has arisen in Nevada for this type of education service, in the opinion of Dr. John O. Moseley, president of the university, who added the University of Nevada administration and faculty feel the responsibility for such training within the state rests primarily upon the university.

Moderate Fee Attached

The inauguration of the correspondence courses is one step in an effort to make the university facilities available throughout the state. A moderate fee to cover preparation of courses and clerical work involved in sending and recording the lessons will be charged, Dean Wood said, and present tentative plans call for a ten-lesson course for each credit.

SAGENS SELL PROGRAMS AT UNIVERSITY GAMES

Sagens will sell football programs at all home games in connection with the Sagens organization, it was decided at a meeting held October 12. All members are to report to the stadium at 1:30 on game days, according to Leonore Hill, president of the organization.

Poms-poms will be sold at the Homecoming game if crepe paper is available, she added. Harriet McNeil, Bonnie Yater and Mary Watts were appointed to investigate the availability of suitable materials.

By Mitz Maestretti, Sports Editor
U of N's Wolf Pack will meet an Indian team on the rampage tomorrow at 2:15 on Mackay field when they play a return game with the Tonopah Army Air Base eleven.

Loses Two Men

Having lost two of their main string men, the Indians strength would seem weakened, but they gained a fullback whose experience with Cornell in pre-war days will be obvious to Nevada's boys.

However, after the past two week-end games, the Pack will be up to them.

Last week's 25-9 victory over the lumberjacks of Arizona State at Las Vegas brings the schedule of the season to two wins and one loss.

Game Lineup

Show Sponsored By Board Clinic

A fashion show will be held Friday, November 3, sponsored by the Campus War Board courtesy clinic and the home economics good grooming clinic.

An authority on good grooming will speak at the program—which is designed to assist campus women in selecting appropriate dress and to promote social graciousness.

Second Fashion Show

This is the second annual fashion show scheduled by the war board.

Delta Delta Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Pi Beta Phi, Zeta Phi Zeta and the organized Independents will each provide four models for the fashion show.

Committee Members

Mary West, junior Tri-Delt and chairman of the courtesy clinic, appointed Dorothy Sewell and Phyllis Snyder to assist her as co-chairmen of the fashion show.

First Activity

This is the first activity of the courtesy clinic this year.

Members of the clinic are Mary Watts, chairman; Pauline Sirkegian, Barbara Mills, Dorothy Sewell, Marianne Wells, Georgianna Hicks and Maie Nygren.

Pavement, Curbs Installed at UN

Pavement, curbs and gutters are being installed on the campus this week and next, according to Carl Horn, superintendent of grounds.

The roads in front of Stewart Hall, to the president's house and behind the Mechanical Engineering building will be widened by four feet as well as paved.

A sidewalk will be put in around the Agricultural Extension building, and another from the end of the brick sidewalk at the north side of the Education building to the front.

Old curbs and gutters will be repaired and new curbs and gutters are being installed prior to paving.

Committee to Bring Service Flag to Date

A committee has been appointed to bring the U of N service flag, located at Virginia and Fourth streets, up to date, by action of the ASUN senate.

Members of the investigating committee are Jack Dieringer, John Baker and Nora Saunders.

This record was begun shortly after the war began.

ORCHIDS

First orchids of the week go to Pat Lowry, dietician at the university dining hall, for the superb job she did on the inaugural luncheon. When the expressions of gratitude were being passed around in the new gym, everybody seemed to have forgotten the someone who arranged the luncheon for about seven hundred students, alumni, guests and faculty members. We all took for granted the excellent luncheon we found placed on attractively decorated tables. We ate it. We forgot to thank the inconspicuous people who arranged it. Only too often the people who are most efficient are those least obvious. This was only too true in this instance. The campus women who served did the job quickly and quietly. They served the large crowd, then disappeared. Miss Lowry undoubtedly spent appreciable time planning the luncheon and preparing both food and tables. She probably considers it a part of her job—or her part in making the inauguration of President John O. Moseley a success. However, we of the University of Nevada appreciate her ability and work. Thank you, and your assistants.

SHALL WE QUIT?

Every day some student decides he is tired of going to school and contemplates withdrawing from the university. Everything seems to go wrong. Meetings are attended by the same loyal few students who have the interests of the university foremost in mind. Classes are more frequently cut than attended. Profs are cross, and studies are difficult. There are gab-fests where there should be board meetings, and the student body seems to be absorbing more coke than knowledge. Things are tough. What the quitter does not realize is that he is doing himself and his university harm by this trend of thinking. We are attending a state university. Taxpayers support this campus year after year—in the hope that the boys and girls who entered the institution as freshmen would be graduated as men and women. These people who ungrudgingly maintain the University of Nevada want the men and women who are graduated to be capable, mature American citizens who will be fit to meet adequately problems of the postwar period—and do it so thoroughly there will never be another world war. Our late president—Leon W. Hartman—in speaking to the class of '45, now seniors here, said, "You do not come to college to learn how to make a living. You come here to learn how to live." There is a difference—and a great one! We are here to learn how to live with other people—not to be discouraged by the indifference others may show. We should be inspired by the records made by various of our alumni and endeavor to equal or surpass those records. If we walk out now—and I doubt that many of us will—we are denying students who will come here in the future privileges both scholastic and social, which we have now. If certain group meetings continue to be poorly attended, ASUN senate will be forced to put the groups on the inactive list. If the scholastic average is not maintained on a high level, drastic measures, such as curtailment of social activities, may be the result. If many of us withdraw from the university, the people of Nevada will conclude that there is something definitely spineless about the younger generation. Are we quitting now? Let's dig in—so when the Nevada fellows return to the campus again we can say, "Well, here's the University of Nevada—even better than you left it. We did our best."

Scholarships Given Serpentino, Hicks

Lorraine Serpentino, sophomore Delta Delta Delta from Reno now attending the University of Nevada, was awarded a premedical-prenursing scholarship of $100, it was announced last week by the president's office. Miss Serpentino was named alternate for this award last spring and became eligible for it when Esther Detweiler of Beowawe, the original recipient, failed to return to school this fall. Miss Serpentino also received the Rose Sigler Mathews scholarship of $75, which she declined in order to be eligible for the premedical-prenursing scholarship. Georgianna Hicks, sophomore student from Sparks, was presented with the Rose Sigler Mathews award for the school year of '44-'45, since she was the alternate for the scholarship.

Alumni Newsletter Has 1600 Readers

More than 1600 members of the armed forces—including graduates, former students and faculty members—are now receiving Wolf Tracks, alumni newsletter featuring information about Nevada servicemen and women. Dr. R. S. Griffin, assistant in administration and alumni secretary who edits the publication, said this week the mailing list is still incomplete, but efforts are being made to obtain the addresses of those Nevada service men and women absent from the list. Mrs. Ottie Robinson, custodian of war records, Miss Alice Terry, secretary to President John O. Moseley, and Mrs. Phyllis Larson, secretary to the alumni office, assisted Dr. Griffin in the publication of Wolf Tracks. This is the second issue of the publication.

Sorority Catting

Anonymous, but Female

Two distinguished gentlemen were overnight guests of Pi Beta Phi and Delta Delta Delta Tuesday night. However, they chose to make their appearance without the fanfare usually accorded such dignitaries (their escorts had modestly disappeared), so their presence came as a surprise to their hostesses.

At the Pi Phi House

The Pi Phi visitor was received by Mrs. Pierce, house mother, who summoned the girls (in various stages of dress and undress) to meet their guests in—of all places—the kitchen.

Greeted less formally was the Tri-Delt guest who was also reposing in the kitchen when snack-bound Deltas found him.

Sorority Hospitality

When it became noticeable that neither guest could walk (oh-oh), true sorority hospitality was extended, and Willie and Gene stayed the night—still in the kitchen.

(Note: Willie felt safer at the Tri-Delt house since a number of Pi Phis were laboring over his more notorious works for an ex on the morrow.)

Return Home

Came the cold dawn, and William Shakespeare and Eugene Field—or the reasonable facsimiles thereof—were escorted to their customary posts in the libe—their dignities no less for the sojourns to the sorority kitchens.

Congratulations, boys! It's not every man who can weather the night in a sorority house, or, as the chaplain in Tonopah would put it, "Things are tough all over this year."

P.S. We'd like to know just who it was that took those two marble busts out of the libe.

ESMWT Continues Magnesium Study

Plans Pend Okay Of Washington, D. C.

University representatives of the Engineering, Science and Management War Training Program plan to continue courses at BMI in spite of the recent government order which will close the plant at Las Vegas by the end of the year, Dr. S. W. Leifson, head of the physics department, stated recently.

Classes will begin about October 3, subject to the approval of the plan from Washington, D. C.

Originated at Nevada The ESMWT program is under the auspices of the U. S. Office of Education and derives all its funds from this agency. It began in Nevada in January of 1943 on the University of Nevada campus with a course in engineering fundamentals.

The first course offered at BMI in August of 1943 was in physical metallurgy. Under the ESMWT program, classes are conducted only in areas where there is an important war industry.

Work to Continue

BMI, while gradually reducing production of metallic magnesium, hopes to continue work with magnesium alloys and expects to carry on a great deal of experimental work in this field, since very little is known at the present time about magnesium and magnesium alloys, Leifson said.

Trains Techniques

The course offered by ESMWT, which is entitled "metallurgical inspection techniques," will train workers to carry on inspection and control work on magnesium alloy products.

The course will be taught by Allen L. Tarr, laboratory supervisor at the Las Vegas plant. Tarr, who is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, received his master's degree in metallurgy at Columbia University.

For several years he had charge of metallurgical courses at the Cooper Union Institute of Technology in New York and also taught ESMWT courses at Rutgers College in New Brunswick, New Jersey.

Purpose Stated

Purpose of the classes is to broaden the knowledge of the men employed and consequently to increase their efficiency. The University of Nevada is not qualified at the present time to give courses in the management phase of the program but science and engineering are available.

Educational supervisor of the class is Professor Jay Carpenter, director of the Mackay School of Mines and head of the department of mining engineering. Professor Carpenter plans to visit the class to see that it is conducted in such a way as to conform with University of Nevada educational standards.

University of Nevada students gathered on Clark field this afternoon to stage a last-minute rally to cheer the Wolf Pack for Saturday's game with the Tonopah Indians.

Stunt of the afternoon was the appearance of Joan Tillinghast garbed in a Nevada football uniform.

Photographers from the downtown papers were on the scene while the cheer leaders ran through several yells and the team practiced a few plays for tomorrow's game.

Lincoln Hall men will stage a victory dance at the university dining hall from 7 pm to 10 pm Saturday night. No admission fee is attached, and the entire student body may attend the dance.

Don't leave the library for parts unknown with a "one-hour" book, which is the only copy on the shelf. Remember, the next fellows need it, too.

Just Brushin'

By Jim Coleman

Way back in the fall of '42 the first wartime football team of the University of Nevada took the field with 30 men on the roster.

This year the Wolf Pack goes into its third wartime football with 43 men on the squad.

Pack Hit Hard

On the face it would seem that Nevada would be better off this year than they were in '42; but when you start figuring out the age and experience of the players you can see just how bad the Pack has been hit by the war.

In 1942 the average age of the Wolf Pack players was 19½, while this year the age is 17½ years. Also, back in '42 most of the men on the team were from the state of Nevada; in fact 20 out of the 30 were from this state.

Nevadans Outnumbered

This year there are only 12 Nevada men on the team, with more men from the state of New Jersey than from Nevada. New Jersey has 15 men on the roster and Pennsylvania has seven, and there are nine men from other states.

The Pack in '42 had 17 frosh on the team as compared with 35 this year.

The teams are the same only in one respect, both had but one senior.

PRE-INAUGURAL SOCIAL

Sagers, campus men's service organization, held a pre-inauguration social Wednesday evening from 8 to 10 pm in the university dining hall. Cokes and cookies were served.

Sagers tryes planned the social and carried out arrangements and clean-up work, according to Gordon Mills, newly elected president of the organization.

PACK PRINTS

By Madlen Maestretti, Sports Ed.

Much to the surprise of the student body, it was learned this week that there would be Pack Prints on a football field in Canada November 5. The team will make an airplane trip to play an army transport command team at Edmonton, Alberta, on that date.

The trip will be made within a three-day period with no expense to the university, and our team will play before American and Canadian servicemen stationed at the transport command team. The game comes under the title, "morale booster."

Coach Pleased

Coach Jim and the boys seemed very pleased about the whole thing this week, in fact they celebrated—with two-hour practices and a series of tough scrimmages.

Gaining prominence through practices this week were Ed Diercks, second string tackle, who incidentally, is the team's scholastic wizard; Musselman, who will play first string left halfback this week; Senofsky, 193-pound tackle, and Tonopah's Vucanovich.

Two Men Leave

The Wolves and fans will be missing two former Pack men this weekend—amiable Paul Zachringer and Frankie Dimiro, who left last night for the east coast and phases of military service. Zarry asked last night if I wouldn't pass on a word of thanks from him to the students of Nevada—"Just tell 'em thanks for everything, and I'll be back next fall." Brief its true, but earnestly said.

No Game Conflict

In order that the Reno High-Lovelock game would not conflict with the Pack-Indians tilt set for tomorrow afternoon at 2:15, the high school game will be played at 10:30 am on the East Ninth street field.

Over Confident?

Some sources say that the team is over confident for their game tomorrow. I'm not laying any odds; we know what the Pack can do, but whether their outlet is solid or not, Saturday's game will tell. The least we can do is support them, right or wrong, just as the coach and Palmer, the manager, back them up. Back the Pack!

Can't Something Be Done?

By Adele Marsh

Heard in and about the libe at any time of day:

Drinking fountains—Dry ones don't quench thirst. Can't they be fixed?

Public telephone—Installing one in the libe is practically a MUST.

Locker room—Plans for new buildings should provide locker space for uniforms, books, coats and other excess baggage. The stuff all rests on library tables now.

Study room—Lighting and ventilation are both very bad. They're certainly not conducive to clear brains and good eyesight. Can't something be done?

By Charles Blenio

One of the most consistent ball players this season is Larry Heinz of Chicago, Illinois. In the games thus far he has proved himself valuable in his dual role of a hard runner and a sharp blocker.

Last Sunday at Las Vegas, Larry was away and gone before the Arizona State boys knew who had the ball. Coach Aiken's T formation reverses, featuring Mackrides and Heinz, seemed to work like a charm, and Larry piled up quite a chunk of yardage.

Larry attended St. Rita high school in Chicago and while there won all city honors as a halfback. He also performed in basketball, baseball and track, while still finding time to hold the 155-pound boxing title.

After graduating from St. Rita high Larry spent two semesters at the University of Wisconsin in Madison before coming to the University of Nevada.

Quiet and unassuming, he is well liked by everyone on the hill and is enrolled in the college of arts and science. Larry is also the proud wearer of a Sigma Nu pledge pin.

Highlights of Inauguration Reviewed After Picturesque Campuses Ceremonies

With formal induction made by Silas E. Ross, chairman of the board of regents, Dr. John O. Moseley was inaugurated as seventh president of the University of Nevada and presented with the official seal October 12, following the academic procession from the quadrangle to the stadium.

The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice William Orr of the state supreme court, Dr. Alfred Atkinson, president of the University of Arizona, delivered the main address.

Inaugural Luncheon
After the exercises, the inaugural luncheon was held in the new gym with approximately 800 in attendance. At this time, brief remarks and congratulations from state and university representatives and the presentation of distinguished delegates took place.

A public reception at the Twentieth Century Club in the evening concluded the inaugural celebration.

Students of the university greeted Dr. and Mrs. Moseley at a special reception October 9 at the president's home.

In delivering the principal address of the inaugural exercises, "The University and Postwar Demands," Dr. Atkinson stressed the fact that the universities should accept a place of leadership in building attitudes and information necessary to international understanding.

"Greatly increased relations with other nations will call for a revision of the methods of teaching so that we may know languages as a facility rather than as a culture," Dr. Atkinson said.

Postwar Universities
He described the peculiar characteristics of universities in the post-war era as that of greatly enlarged research, given the obligation of determining the meaning of new relationships into which the world is being tossed so violently.

A People's Institution
Dr. Atkinson said that the state university is a creature of the people, and as such must concern itself with problems of major interest to people generally by continuing as important teaching centers while meeting the challenge of the post-war era.

"Oncoming generations must be assisted in their efforts to gain an insight into important knowledges," he said.

Larger Student Bodies
He added the nation's 1700 universities and colleges, and other institutions above high school level, administered to a million and one-half students prior to the war, and will be called upon to serve even larger numbers of men and women returning from war service.

This sharp increase will make the problems of the years immediately ahead quite difficult.

Complex World
In closing, Dr. Atkinson said, "The world has become a very complex place, and those who would carry responsibility must have greatly enlarged understandings. The world of simple and unchanging routines is gone, as is also the world of safe and tranquil isolation. These exist only in our memories."

Outlines Philosophy
In the final address of the program, President Moseley outlined his educational philosophy, stressing the importance of a free and liberal education in training for leadership in a democracy. "A leader in a democracy must first of all be free, for that is what democracy means." "The only education I know that will endow its disciples with such a freedom is a liberal education."

He then added that a liberal education was devoted to the training of the body as well as of the mind.

Schools Serve Society
Dr. Moseley emphatically stated that the schools are a result of the prevailing social order rather than the cause of it. However, "it is the opportunity of education to serve the social order, first of all, by the advancement of knowledge," he explained.

To Uphold Tradition
President Moseley spoke of the heritage of the University of Nevada and pledged himself to uphold the traditions of the institution.

He expressed his wish that the students of the University of Nevada feel that they are individuals and not cells in a social organism. "The unpardonable sin of education is to blunt the personality of the youth."

Destiny Defined
In conclusion, Dr. Moseley spoke of the destiny of the university in "preserving humanism in a world torn on one side by collectivism and on the other by individualism run riot."

He added, "The simple message

MARCHING UNIT DRILLS AT GAME

Blue Peppers, women's marching unit, will march at the Nevada-Tonopah game tomorrow during the half, according to Sgt. Michael McCormick, drill master.

The university band in cooperation will play "Hail to Our Sturdy Men" while the first letters are formed, and the army air corps song when the latter are made.
