

Address and Awards Featured at Initial ASUN Assembly Thursday

Speaking on the university program to go before the Nevada state legislature, President John O. Moseley addressed students at the first ASUN assembly of the semester held in the education auditorium yesterday.

Dealing mainly with the proposed building plans, the president described possibilities of establishing a student "hangout" in the basement of Stewart Hall, taking the space now used by the military department. This department is to move soon to the new gymnasium.

Scholarship Awards
Delta Delta Delta, with a 2.75 average, was awarded the cup for the highest sorority average for the fall semester, while the scholarship plaque for improvement went to Gamma Phi Beta, with acting Dean of Women Alice B. Marsh making presentations to sorority presidents.

After a talk by Coach Aiken praising Nevada's 1944 football team, Leonore Hill, ASUN president, presented athletic certificates to 17 football lettermen including Bob McClure, right tackle and All-

American star; Jack Dieringer, left tackle; Benny Coren, center; and Alf Sorensen, quarterback, who were placed on the Pacific coast team.

Awards were given John Helstowski, center; Gus Cammerano, guard; Fred Kluge, guard; Lenny Marmor, halfback; Bob Durham, guard; Ed Diercks, end; James Clarkson, end, and Ken Sioafsky, tackle.

Absent Awards
Absent awards went to Bill Mackrides, fullback; Elmer Green, end; Jack Musselman, quarterback; Harold Hayes, end, and Art Palmer, manager. Sweaters are to be presented to all men awarded certificates at a later date.

Bob McClure, outstanding football star on All-American teams, who was named to the first Pacific coast team, was awarded a gold watch band by the student body.

Coach Aiken introduced Nevada's 1945 basketball team and announced the first game which was played last night opposing the Fallon Navy team coached by Lt. Jim Bailey, former coach at Nevada.

NEVADA JARGON TO BE PRINTED IN DIALECT DICTIONARY FOR AMERICA

By U of N News Service
"Weowawe," "Pogonip," "Washoe zephyr," and similar Nevada words and phrases may become familiar sights to scholars of the future when the Dialect Dictionary, now being compiled through the efforts of the American Dialect Society, is completed and published.

Nevadans are being asked to contribute such words as unusual place names and their origin, new and localized words and proverbial sayings typical of this region to the forthcoming publication.

Dr. Muriel J. Hughes of the University of Nevada English department is chairman for Nevada, and she is asking the cooperation of people throughout the state in an effort to arouse public interest, since this is the first time Nevada has been asked to contribute to this historical work.

Words, Phrases Sought
Letters are being sent to English teachers in high schools, to newspaper editors, lawyers and other prominent citizens asking their cooperation in collecting the typical Nevada words and phrases. Full credit with the name of the person sending in the information will be given in the dictionary.

Similar groups have been organized throughout the United States under the sponsorship of the dialect society in an effort to record and preserve typically American words and figures of speech for posterity.

Nevada contains a wealth of such material, Dr. Hughes believes, since the early history of the state was packed with colorful incidents and personalities.

Such industries as mining, railroading and cattle and sheep raising usually give rise to expressions and figures of speech which are adopted into the everyday conversation of the people of a region.

Many Sources
Foreign and Indian sources, too, are utilized in collecting this material. Often foreign names are Anglicized with extremely interesting results, as for example, the so-called "Pickett Wire" river in the south, Anglicized from the French "Picador." Foreign proverbs and folk sayings, too, often are adopted by a community and become a part of the everyday speech.

Old Letters, Diaries
Old family letters written in the early days, old diaries, almanacs and the like frequently contain examples and references to places, giving a clue to the origin of place names and expressions. Conversations with old settlers and pioneers will frequently produce many almost forgotten words and phrases, Dr. Hughes said.

The American Dialect Society was founded in 1889 at Harvard and has long been the leader in the research field dealing with American words and terminology, including linguistic geography, non-English dialects, new words, semantics and proverbial sayings of the United States from its early days.

Fraternities Discuss Standards And Problems at Meeting Tuesday

By Jim Coleman
At a meeting Tuesday night at the home of Dr. John O. Moseley, alumni and leaders of the six fraternities on the campus of the University of Nevada discussed problems of the groups with regard to raising group standards. Dr. Moseley and Dean Reuben C. Thompson lead the discussion.

Dr. Moseley voiced the idea that the so-called "hell week," which the fraternities have held in the past, should be modified so as not to bring discredit upon the university or Green groups.

Substitute Suggested
He then outlined a substitute plan that could be worked out if accepted by the neophytes. This plan suggested pledge luncheons by the chapter of each group and an interchange of pledge luncheons. There would also be a university night and alumni nights put on by all of the fraternities. This plan will be placed before the Greek groups at their next meeting for consideration.

Finance Angle
Another suggestion brought forward at this meeting was for a finanial arrangement whereby the different fraternity houses on the campus of the university will be able to collect all back money owed them by active members.

A common auditor would be hired by the various groups to look over their books at the end of each semester, and he would hand the names of those members that were in arrears to the dean of men.

These men would not be allowed to re-register in the university until they paid up all back money.

Not only would the member not be able to get back into the university, but he would be unable to go to any other campus until he paid. This plan also will be placed before the members of the different fraternities to be voted on at the next meeting.

ARTEMISIA UNDERWAY

Conant Studio finished taking pictures for the 1945 Artemisia last week, according to Bette Poe, editor of the Artemisia.

Miss Poe said that the staff was mounting panels of sororities, fraternities and organizations.

Thetas to Hold Initiation for Eleven Saturday

Kappa Alpha Theta will hold initiation for 11 candidates on Saturday, January 27. Initiates are Virginia Auchampaugh, Jerry Brown, Josephine Eather, Alice Etchart, Patricia Frazee, Georgeanne Lane, Mary Libbey, Barbara Mills, Shirley Platt, Lois Post, Marilyn Reynolds and Roberta Whitney.

Banquet Planned

A banquet honoring the new members will be given at the Riverside Hotel following the ceremony. Bonnie Yater is in charge of arrangements with Beth Petersen assisting her. Marilyn Amodei is the chairman of decorations. Speakers at the banquet will be Arlene Meri-ald, Beverly Minor, Frances Ul-lom, Jane Perkins and Virginia Auchampaugh.

Initiation for 18 New Tri-Delts

Eighteen pledges are to be initiated into Delta Delta Delta sorority Friday, February 2, following a banquet to be held at the Riverside Hotel, according to Genevieve Siri, general chairman for the affair.

Initiates Named

Initiates are Alice Ruth Doyle, Phyllis Snyder, Kathryn Boyle, Virginia Cole, Odette Darrigrand, Suzanne Evans, Jeanne Forson, Neva Gardner, Virginia Gardner, Sylvie Geraghty, Merri Jo Harp, Patricia Ireland, Frances Kennedy, Beth Lind, Marjorie Menu, Joyce Neil-son, Barbara Olesen and Dorothy Thomas.

Beginning the three day affair will be a pajama party at the chapter house on Wednesday night, January 31, followed by dinner Thursday and "goat day" Friday. Sunday morning the entire chapter will attend church in a group.

Committee in Charge

Aiding Miss Siri with arrangements are Pat Thomas, chairman of the pajama party, assisted by Kay Kinneberg, Gloria Mapes and Evelyn Payne; Pat Thomas, chairman, and all senior Tri-Delts will arrange the dinner, while Tosca Masini with the help of Teddy Hicks, Rose Nannini, Marilou Ferguson and Maxine Beasrs will take charge of goat day.

Courtesy Clinic To Sponsor Talk

Pat Lowry will speak on "How to Hold Your Fork," covering all table manners, before campus coeds at a meeting next Friday at 4 pm in Artemisia Hall, sponsored by the courtesy clinic of the war board.

Though the meeting was formerly scheduled for today, the date had to be postponed due to unforeseen circumstances, according to Mary Watts, courtesy clinic chairman.

This lecture will be the first in a series of addresses on culture sponsored by the clinic and presented by the separate social organizations on the campus. Next week's program was arranged by Zeta Phi Zeta with Maie Nygren in charge.

All women on the campus are invited to attend, while freshman women are required to be present and roll will be checked, Miss Watts added.

College to Stage Gamma Phi Skit

Gamma Phi Beta Homecoming skit, which won the cup in the 1944 Skit Parade for the best sorority presentation, is to be given at Stevens College in Columbia, Missouri, according to word received by Leonore Hill, Gamma Phi Beta president.

Miss Hill was notified by Toni Suverkrup, former Nevada student, who in turn received the information from her sister-in-law, Maryjo Suverkrup, head of the dramatic department at Stevens College. Maryjo Suverkrup saw the skit while visiting in Reno.

The skit was written by Leonore Hill.

Interfraternity Council Revived

Interfraternity council on the campus was re-established with Jim Coleman, Sigma Nu, elected chairman, at a meeting of all fraternity leaders last Wednesday. John Baker, Lambda Chi, was named secretary.

Due to war conditions and the effect on the enrollment of men at the University of Nevada, many of the fraternity groups on the campus were forced to curtail their activities until they could build up their memberships.

This semester finds all six of the Greek letter clubs back in full swing. Because of the increased activities of the Greek groups, the interfraternity council was brought back into full play.

During the meeting plans were outlined for an interfraternity dance to be held either in the Century Club or the university dining hall. The date was set for February 16 at 9 pm. The dance will be semi-formal. Men of the organized Independents have been invited to attend the affair, according to Coleman. The dance committee consists of Bob Uhlig, Baker and Coleman. Another meeting will be held by the organization Tuesday when the final arrangements will be worked out.

REGENT'S BOARD TO DEBATE PLAN

To further discuss the university's improvement and construction program now before the legislature, the board of regents will meet on the campus Saturday morning, President John O. Moseley said today.

Luncheon will be served the regents in the university dining hall, where they will have an opportunity to meet the students.

Regents Mrs. C. W. Henningsen of Gardnerville, Chris H. Sheerin of Elko, Paul J. Sirkegian of Kimberley, Leo A. McNamee of Las Vegas and Silas E. Ross of Reno, chairman of the board, are expected to attend.

Use of New Gym Debated at Meet

Use of the new gym for basketball games was discussed at the meeting of the athletic board Tuesday evening, but the gym will probably not be ready for use until after the season, according to Harry Frost, chairman of the board.

Coach Aiken said that only a few games had been scheduled because of the uncertainty of getting players. Prospects of games with big colleges are doubtful, because Nevada is unable to meet the guarantees such schools ask.

Use of the new gym would promote enthusiasm, and might make such games possible, according to Prof. Leonard Chadwick, secretary of the board.

Members of the board who attended the meeting were Harry Frost, alumni representative; Prof. W. D. Billings, Prof. P. A. Lehenbauer, Leonore Hill, Jack Good, Coach James Aiken and Prof. Chadwick, graduate managers.

English Honorary Initiates Sunday

Formal initiation ceremonies of Chi Delta Phi, national English honorary society, will be held Sunday morning, January 28, at the Gamma Phi Beta house, according to Harriet McNeil, president.

Newly elected members are Lois Honeywell, Jean Chartier, Mary Ancho, Eileen Kerr, Pat Ussery, Pauline Leveille, Pauline Sirkegian, Anita Hincelot and Virginia Olesen.

Following the initiation, a breakfast will be held at the Riverside Hotel. Lucile Shea is in charge of arrangements.

Guests of the group will be Dr. and Mrs. Robert A. Hume and Miss Florence Billingham, sponsor.

Hellcat Naming Contest Starts For Nev. Plane

In order that the students may have a part in naming Nevada's navy Hellcat, purchased with funds from the campus war board drive last semester, the financial bureau of the war board has announced a "naming" contest.

Suggestions may be turned in at the Sagebrush office or to any member of the war board before February 21. The hellcat will be christened sometime in April.

Final results of last semester's drive totaled $210,356 for the period from October 1 to December 20. Total sales cleared through the university during the entire semester were $252,093. The campus drive netted more than twice the $87,500 cost of a navy Hellcat, but regulations do not permit a school to sponsor more than one plane.

Pan-Hel Checks Initiate Lists

University of Nevada Pan-Hellenic Association met Tuesday evening at the Kappa Alpha Theta house, according to Pat Traner, president of the group. Sorority presidents and representatives presented lists of girls to be initiated in the near future. Averages of the new initiates were also checked.

Revision of the Pan-Hellenic handbook was discussed and plans for changes in the present rushing system were made, although no definite conclusions were reached, Miss Traner stated. The possibility of putting spring semester rushing on a regular basis was also discussed. It was suggested that activities on the campus be put on the point system, but here also no conclusion was reached.

Arrangements for a national Pan-Hellenic officer to visit the University of Nevada campus sometime in March are being made by Miss Traner. It was also announced that Eleanor Corle has been named the new Pan-Hellenic representative from Pi Beta Phi.

Campusites Plan Hospital Program

Camp and hospital committee of the University of Nevada college unit of the American Red Cross will present a group of entertainers from the campus at the Reno Army Air Base hospital on February 7, Tosca Masini, chairman of the committee, announced.

Tentatively scheduled for the act, which will have a Valentine theme, is a three-piece orchestra, a vocal solo by Alice Ruth Doyle, a skit from the Theta house, a piano solo by Barbara Heany, a comedy duet by the Gamma Phis and a reading by Joyce Nielsen.

Tosca Masini will act as master of ceremonies. The act includes talent from each of the four sororities. It is hoped that another act may be organized in the future which will include talent from other campus groups.

The Home Economics Club is planning to make and sack candy to be distributed among the hospital patients following the program. Arrangements for taking the group out to the hospital were made through Miss Marie Francis of the Washoe county chapter of the Red Cross. Assisting Miss Masini in her plans is Jo Ann Miller, co-chairman of the camp and hospital committee.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE TO MEET THIS TUESDAY

Executive committee of the senate, composed of Dorothy Abel, Barbara Heany, Gordon Mills and Paul Yparraquire, will meet Tuesday, January 30, at 4 pm in the ASUN building.

Regular meeting of the senate, student governing body, will be Wednesday, January 31, at 7:30 pm in the ASUN building.

Goal Set in Campus Drive to Aid World Student Service Fund Work

BUDGET DUE WEDNESDAY

Budgets for various campus organizations must be submitted to the office of the graduate manager not later than Wednesday, January 31. The finance control committee will meet some time next week to consider the budgets.

Semester Length Determined Today

Student Opinion Factor in Decision

By Helen Corica
At a faculty meeting today, final action will be taken on recommendations of a special sub-committee headed by Dr. George W. Sears, department of chemistry, to change the present mid-term semester break to February 1, and lengthen the spring term to the middle of June.

Such an arrangement would place the fall opening in the third week in September. Faculty discussion will also cover consideration of the student senate's vote to favor the existing system. Dr. Sears points out that his committee has been investigating both sides of the proposal from all angles for almost three years.

Regardless of which way the decision goes, everyone cannot be satisfied in a situation of this kind. Personal preference, much as we would like to consider it, cannot be the deciding factor. We must think in terms of the good of the university," said Dr. Sears.

Some of the factors bringing about the recommendation for changes were: students engaged in practice teaching are not given the best advantage for a semester's work because the Reno schools close much later than the campus term; experimental work in botany, at its best with spring seasonal growth, is hampered by the early May closing; since the majority of universities do not open until mid-September, national science meetings are usually held about September 1, and faculty members from Nevada are unable to attend, and thus cannot bring to their work first-hand information on new trends.

During the committee's investigation, student opinion that a June closing would interfere with summer employment was found to be groundless. Consultation with mining and highway interests disclosed that students were needed and would be hired at any time.

Forestry service does not care to employ students who must return to classes in August, and full scale activity at Lake Tahoe does not get under way until mid-June, due to climatic conditions.

The relief usually consists of food, medical care, clothing, books and study materials, although it sometimes includes emergency aid to students who are victims of air raids and fires. The guiding principles of the organization are that it is international and inter-racial, non-political and non-sectarian.

UN Pres. Writes Column for Frats

Appearing as a regular feature of the Fraternity Month magazine, "Greek-Say," a column by Dr. John O. Moseley, president of the university, deals primarily with situations of interest on college camps.

The Fraternity Month is a Leland Incorporation publication serving as an organ of the national fraternities and sororities. Dr. Moseley has been a contributor for several years.

Entitled "Nobs Versus Snobs," Dr. Moseley's article in a recent issue considers the feeling of superiority that affiliated students are sometimes inclined to show toward non-affiliated students or those of another fraternity. He defines a snob as being "one who adopts that part of the real which is false in order to make himself appear real."

He adds that "on the American college campus today, there is but one nobility—that marked by kind hearts, good manners, tolerant minds and zeal for self betterment and the amelioration of the whole human race."

Nevada Students Asked to Give $2

By Pat Ussery
Setting $800 as the goal of the World Student Service Fund drive to be sponsored in February, the finance bureau of the campus war board completed plans at a meeting Wednesday afternoon and announced the organizations who will participate in the drive.

Eight campus groups will sponsor the contribution booth on their respective days beginning Friday, February 9, with Pi Beta Phi, and continuing through the next week to the closing day of the drive, February 16, when the booth will be sponsored by Gamma Phi Beta.

Portray Countries

During the week the booth will be tended by Artemisia-Manzanita Association and Zeta Phi Zeta, Monday; Delta Delta Delta, Tuesday; Independents and Interfraternity, Wednesday, and Kappa Alpha Theta, Thursday. Each day the booth will be decorated to portray one of the foreign countries in which WSSF does its work. The themes of the various groups have not yet been announced.

Contributions

Each student will be asked to contribute the cost of one day's tuition, according to Jane Creel, chairman of the finance bureau. It is estimated that a Nevada student's expenses are approximately $2 a day. Daily reports of the drive will be posted on the contribution booth across from the library.

Assembly Slated

An assembly will be held on the opening day of the drive, with Dean G. L. Hammond speaking on Latin America. Miss Creel also stated that various organizations are planning additional activities during the week to stimulate contributions.

In 1944 the University of Nevada contributed $2000 to the Student Service drive through the community war fund. However, this is the first time that the university has attempted to send funds directly to the WSSF.

National Fund

An independent organization, the WSSF receives its support mainly in colleges and schools where it believes there is better understanding of the need for student relief.

It was organized in 1940 when the Far Eastern and the European Student Service Funds merged, and as the war has spread, has expanded its activity to meet needs in all parts of the world. It expects to continue its work after the war as a part of the reconstruction program.

Student Relief

Student relief is carried on in 17 countries, wherever it is possible to reach student victims of war. In addition to the foreign countries, work is carried on in North America to aid student refugees, evacuee students, and student prisoners of war and internees.

The relief usually consists of food, medical care, clothing, books and study materials, although it sometimes includes emergency aid to students who are victims of air raids and fires. The guiding principles of the organization are that it is international and inter-racial, non-political and non-sectarian.

Members of the finance bureau and war board who are in charge of the drive are Jane Creel and Mary Ancho, co-chairmen; Valerie Scheeline, financial chairman; Betty Walker and Betty Waugh, publicity; Dean Dukes, Paul Yparraquire, Jean Marie Proctor and Jerry Brown.

FACULTY CLUB SLATES DINNER FEBRUARY 3

A dinner meeting will be held by the Faculty Club in conjunction with the Women's Faculty Club Saturday, February 3, at 7:30 pm, in the University of Nevada dining hall. The program will include dinner, music and entertainment.

Hosts and hostesses for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Giannela and Mr. and Mrs. G. Hardman.

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

Recently students have felt undeniable pressure from the long arm of the law regarding under-age students' presence in downtown bars and night clubs.

The plain fact is: proprietors of liquor-selling establishments in Reno do not want college trade. It is against the laws of the state for minor people to be in bars, and college students—those chief craving is for a coke in the middle of the afternoon—take up entirely too much valuable space. Space where better paying patrons might be spending their money for more-than-a-dime beverages.

College students do not like to meet in bars any more than people like to have them there. There is no other place to go. They like to talk. That, seemingly, is normal. But no proprietor of a bar is interested in what is normal for college students or anyone else. He is interested in having paying customers, and we do not blame him.

However, where are college students expected to go? Until this week, there was nowhere. Thursday President John O. Moseley announced that a make-shift hangout in the basement of Stewart Hall is being prepared as a coke bar for University of Nevada students. That is far from an attractive prospect, but it is the only plan feasible at this time.

No one realizes the need of a student center more keenly than Dr. Moseley. He feels that campus activities—including the innumerable cokes—should be kept on campus.

Nevada's 42nd legislature now has under its consideration an ambitious building program for the university. Fourth on the list of five new buildings needed is a student union building. It will include a cafeteria, grill, bookstore, lounge room, soda fountain, recreational hall and offices for student government, student newspaper, student yearbook, dean of women, dean of men, YWCA, YMCA and inter-mural and intercollegiate athletics.

If the building is granted, University of Nevada students will have something to look forward to. They can probably bear the musty atmosphere of the Stewart Hall basement until our collective dream is realized.

Under the proposed arrangement, all college activities would be provided for. There would be no desire among students to frequent downtown establishments. Needed more than any other building from the standpoint of student activities, this building would do a great deal toward solving post-war student problems.

If this legislature feels that the building is unnecessary, bar and night club proprietors will continue to be harassed by policemen because under-age students are in their establishments. And the bar and night club proprietors will continue to be rude to students as they can without being too obvious.

The students? They will continue to wander from one corner to the next, hoping some day to have a building of their own on their own campus, where they can sip and talk—out of everybody's way.

Ladino Farm Donated by M. C. Fleischmann Includes Modern Equipment and Buildings

By Margaret Moseley
 Two hundred fifty acres of cattle grazing land with green covered buildings at the foot of snow covered mountains completes the Ladino Dairy Farm, presented to the University of Nevada by Major Max C. Fleischmann last September 6.

Modern equipment for milking cows by machines are to be found in the milking room. Milk cans are kept neatly stacked on three racks in a room which is kept semi-sterile. At present, about 60 cows are milked, but places are provided for 90 at one time. The room is provided with an electrically driven cream separator and an electrically operated refrigerator in which 40 cans of milk can be kept at one time. The floor is covered with lime to prevent any possible infection of the milk.

Automatic releases are used in the main barn to feed 32 cows at once, 16 on each side of the barn. Feed is regulated to each cow and given in proportion to their needs. Oats, cotton seed, soy bean, meal and bran are kept in the feed and storage room. The bran contains 16 per cent protein to produce more milk.

Corrals and sheds in which the cows are kept at night and during rain storms have been built. Also a hospital and calving barns are provided. The bull pen now houses one young Canadian bull and two others. Young calves are put in separate shelters at different stages until they are old enough to be out on their own.

The buildings include a bunk house, milkers' quarters and a cook shack. In the bunk house are a modern kitchen, five bedrooms, dining room and recreation room. A deep freeze unit connected with the cook shack is used to store veal, mutton and other products from the farm.

If you are caught in hot water, be nonchalant. Take a bath.

Preliminary Rifle Contests Begin

Hearst Matches Slated This Year

Preliminary contests for selection of the university rifle squad commenced this week, according to Sgt. Michael McCormick, instructor in military. The squad will consist of 15 men chosen from 36 trying out.

Calendar for squad competition calls for matches with most of the universities within the ninth service command, followed by entry in the national Hearst matches, which will be completed by March 25. University of Nevada finished seventh in this national competition last year.

New Squad

"Although this semester's squad will consist of all new men, enthusiasm is very keen and if the present rate of interest is sustained, there is no reason why the team should not be as good or better than last year's," Sgt. McCormick said.

Postal Matches

Postal matches have already been arranged with the University of Idaho for week ending March 17, and Montana State for week ending February 24.

The university squad will challenge the Reno Rifle Club sometime during the season, and arrangements are being made for a duel match with Reno high school, one to be held on their range and one at the university.

Sgt. McCormick points out that this campus is fortunate in having such a well equipped range, and students are welcome at any time to watch the matches.

SEABEE VISITS

Seaman First Class John Spann, '41, now in the Seabees, visited the University of Nevada campus last week. He has been in service for one and a half years and at present is stationed at Port Hueneme, California.

While on campus, Spann was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and was active in campus affairs.

Lt. Leonard Anker Shows Interest in Ladino Dairy Farm

Lt. Leonard Anker, former agriculture student at the University of Nevada, has written to Major Max C. Fleischmann expressing his interest in the 250-acre Ladino dairy, which Major Fleischmann gave the university.

The correspondence started when Mrs. Anker, who lives in Lovelock, sent her son a clipping regarding the presentation of the farm to the university.

Lt. Anker, convalescing in England from a shrapnel wound received near Aachen, was so impressed that he wrote to the major through the office of Dr. F. W. Wilson, dean of agriculture.

According to the dean, Major Fleischmann was very pleased with Anker's letter. The major is at present on his farm, Hope Plantation, Jacksonboro, South Carolina, trying to improve South Carolina Herefords into a better line of beef cattle.

INFIRMARY

Two students are confined to the infirmary this week with colds, according to Mrs. Beatrice Warren, infirmary nurse.

They are Nancy Heckman and Beth Petersen. Miss Heckman entered the infirmary Monday and Miss Petersen Tuesday. Mrs. Warren stated that neither of the girls is seriously ill.

Fine Arts Group to Sponsor Exhibit of Reno Art Collector

The Fine Arts group will present the first exhibit of the semester in the art department starting Monday, January 29, and continuing through Friday from 1 to 5 pm each afternoon.

Charles Cutts, well known Reno art collector, has loaned a number of articles from his extensive collection to the group for display this coming week. In addition to lithographs, pencil and ink sketches, Cutts will display several rugs, shawls and tapestries which he collected during his many travels abroad.

Outing Club Plans Ski Trip Saturday

A ski trip to Mount Rose Saturday will be the first activity of the Outing Club this semester, Phyllis Snyder, president, announced. The group will spend the day.

Plans were made to go last weekend but due to lack of transportation and unfavorable traveling conditions the trip was postponed. With only a small amount of new snow since last weekend the roads remain in good condition and chains are not required, Miss Snyder said.

DOROTHY WATSON VISITS ON CAMPUS

Dorothy Watson, former U of N Tri-Delt, is visiting the campus this week.

A journalism student while at Nevada, Miss Watson is now majoring in education at Chico State College in Chico, California. She will leave Reno Saturday to register for the spring semester at Chico Monday.

While on this campus, Miss Watson was a member of Press Club, Fine Arts, Sagebrush and Artemisia staffs.

DR. IRWIN TO TEACH IN SUMMER SESSION AT SAN JOSE STATE COLLEGE

Dr. Ralph A. Irwin, professor of psychology, will teach in the summer session at the San Jose State College, San Jose, Calif., it was announced this week. Classes to be taught by Dr. Irwin will be in the fields of social, abnormal and educational psychology.

Summer session for San Jose State College will begin June 2, 1945. Dr. Irwin will return to the University of Nevada to resume his position as instructor at the beginning of the fall semester.

LT. FRANK SULLIVAN PROMOTED IN PACIFIC

Lt. Frank Sullivan, '36 graduate, has been promoted from lieutenant j.g. to full lieutenant in the naval reserve, according to word received by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Sullivan of Reno.

Serving as gunnery officer of an amphibious transport, he is now somewhere in the Pacific.

While on the campus, Lt. Sullivan was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon and served as editor of the Sagebrush.

Wolves Margin Out Fallon Navy 38-33

Showing a final score of 38-33, Nevada topped the Fallon Navy by a slight margin in the fast and exciting first game of the season before a crowd of enthusiastic fans.

With a basic screen play the Wolves rolled the score to 23-12 by half time, and continued to mount up points in tense play throughout the latter half of the game with Simon making the last university basket.

Top Players
Effective play between Sorenson and Coren delighted spectators, while both Simon and Durham were outstanding on the floor. McClure, Nevada football star, played a rough game and was ruled out on fouls.

Offensive play by the Fallon team was exhibited by Dwyer, a short sailor, and Cole, also short, redeemed himself for some boners with exceptional play later in the game. Hapross, Fallon high pointer, played a fast hard game having the advantage of height.

High Point Men
High point men on the Wolves squad were Simons and Durham tied with 12, while Sorenson was runnerup with seven points. Credited with nine points, Hapross took Fallon honors followed by Tucilowski with eight.

Game Tuesday
Plans are being made for a basketball game to be held Tuesday at 8 pm in the old gymnasium with proceeds to go to the March of Dimes. Opponents have not yet been definitely scheduled, Coach Jim Aiken explained, but the other team will be either Hawthorne Sailors or Hawthorne Marines.

By Tosca Masini

Service teams will fill in the schedule of the University of Nevada Wolf Pack until the new gymnasium is completed, when college teams will make their first appearance on the campus this year.

Although the athletic offices were moved to the new quarters in the gymnasium this week, it will probably be the middle of February before games will be held there, Coach Jim Aiken said today.

Coach Aiken issued the call for his hardwood players at the beginning of the semester and 13 men reported for practice. He salvaged them all, although only one among them has ever before played college ball and that man is Alf Sorensen, stellar senior guard, who was chosen captain.

High School Cagers
The others include many cagers who have taken top honors in their respective high schools.

Pete "Spider" Simon and Lenny Marmor, freshmen from Passaic high school, New Jersey, from all reports will take honors this season.

"Little" Bobby Durham, who has attracted fans in all games so far, starred in the team at Ft. Lauderdale high school, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. Unfortunate is the fact that Bobby expects to be called to visit Uncle Sammy soon.

Benny Coren and Buster McClure, former gridiron stars, who are "terrors on the gridiron" as a certain UP reporter says, and "Coach Aiken is having trouble teaching them to bruise just a wee bit easier on the basketball court," are both sophomore students at Nevada and new to the hardwood.

Tall Nevada Cager
Tallest of the group is George Vucanovich, another grid star, who took basketball honors at his home in Tonopah.

Harry Spencer, another boy from Ft. Lauderdale, played ball for St. Anthony high school and comes to Nevada with an outstanding record.

Jim Clarkon, rebound artist, and Ken Sinofsky are both from East Rutherford, New Jersey, and ex-

Mail Box Renting Record Is Shown

According to Robert Prescott, university postmaster, more mail boxes have been rented this semester than ever before, regardless of registration figures.

A new system will be put into effect in regard to money orders and parcel post, commencing February 1. Postal notes will be issued instead of money orders up to a certain amount. Any orders above the amount will revert back to the regular money order system.

Dunbarton Oaks to Be Discussion Topic

"The Dunbarton Oaks Conference" will be the subject of a discussion led by Wally Higgs at Wesleyan Foundation Sunday evening at 6:30 pm, at the Methodist church, according to Jeanne Forson, president of the group.

Members of Wesleyan Foundation will conduct the worship service at the regular evening service. Chuck Burns will be in charge of recreation after the service.

footballers who look like good material.

The team suffers the loss of several hoopsters from last semester practice tilts. They are Ronald Duprat, Bill Nichol, Fred Abercrombie and Fred Friel.

Coach Aiken announced that Clayton Trigero will be the basketball manager this year.

Frosh-Soph Plans Remain Big Secret

Secrecy still surrounds plans for the frosh-soph assembly and dance as committees continue their work this week, meeting with Neva Gardner, freshman class head, and Gloria Mapes, sophomore class manager.

Plans for a theme were discussed at a joint meeting of the assembly and dance committees Monday. The assembly committee, consisting of Rose Nannini, Jack Dieringer, Phyllis Green and Bob Durham, met Wednesday, and the dance committee will meet next week.

Members of the dance committee are Rachel McNeil, John Baker, Pat Babb and Howard Williams.

Air Age Education To Be Offered in Next University Summer Session

By U of N News Service
Dealing in broad outline with all phases of aeronautics, from basic principles of flight to global weather forecasting and the new concept of distances and map projections, a course in air age education will be offered for the first time at the University of Nevada during the summer session which begins July 18, immediately following the intersession which opens June 4.

Sponsored by the United Air Lines, the course will be under the direction of Thad W. Stevens, supervisor of audio-visual education in the Oakland, California, public schools, according to announcement made recently by Dr. Harold N. Brown, director of the summer school at the university. There are no pre-requisites for the course.

Experienced Instructor
Stevens has been instructor in civil aeronautics adult classes in Oakland for some time, and is the co-author of a global geography for the intermediate grades which stresses the world point of view with its changed concepts of time and space resulting from the development of air travel.

Dr. Brown stressed the fact that the air age class will be designed primarily for the person who knows little about aeronautics, and will develop the elementary phases of the subject in a non-technical manner to appeal to the layman.

World Air Travel
Of particular significance in the course is the presentation of the importance of air travel in the world of the future. Distribution of human life and resources will be included in the discussion with regard to accessibility by air and the re-routing of the world's commercial lanes.

In studying the basic principles of flight, models, films and other visual aids will be utilized, while map study and map projections will constitute another closely related phase of the subject.

Weather Study
Global weather forecasting will be included in the course, since the rapid travel of the air age will make it necessary for weather reports to be available in all parts of the world almost simultaneously.

Popular Courses
Addition of the course in air age education is in line with the specific goals of the summer schools as conceived by Dr. Brown, who stated that in addition to teacher training and refresher courses, the summer schools are endeavoring to offer increasingly large numbers of popular courses which will appeal to the public regardless of scholastic standing and will make available to the public subjects of general interest as background material.

Finger Painting Taught on Campus

Finger painting, which has gained popularity in physiotherapeutic work during the past few years, has been added to the curriculum of art education classes, Mrs. Helen Joslin, head of the art department, announced this week.

Ex-service men are undertaking this type of creative efforts as a means of developing finger dexterity and muscular control, under hospital supervision. This type of work also aids the individual personalities in reviving lost interests.

Other art classes have begun to work from models with various students posing. Stress is being placed, in all classes, on individual progress and development of personality particularly suited to art courses, Mrs. Joslin stated.

Beginning in the spring semester, a course in fundamental colors and design coupled with abstract space division will be offered by the department for home economics students.

SPEAKS BEFORE CLUB

President John O. Moseley, speaking before the Carson City Lions Club, outlined the university's program now before the legislature, stressing salary adjustments and the construction of new buildings.

Legislators to Visit

Members of the 42nd Nevada state legislature plan to visit the campus Tuesday morning, February 6, according to President John O. Moseley.

Luncheon for the senators and assemblymen will be served at the university dining hall, to enable them to meet the students, a wish they have expressed, Moseley added. The university's legislative program is now before this session of the legislature.

High Grades for Campus Veterans

By U of N News Service
Scholastic records of World War II veterans who are enrolled at the University of Nevada under the provisions of the GI Bill of Rights and the rehabilitation act reveal that the veterans as a group topped the general average of the entire student body, and outranked the general men's score by a still wider margin.

General average of the entire student body for the first semester which ended in December was 2.36 grade points, with the men's general average totalling 2.14. The veterans as a group averaged 2.54 grade points.

Four individuals in the veterans group made averages higher than B or above 3.0, while five ranked approximately at the student body level. Only three of the 15 veterans enrolled fell noticeably below the general student average.

Almost without exception, the veterans are enrolled in full courses, carrying from 14 to 18 or more hours for the semester, many of them in the engineering, mining and biology departments.

As the second semester opened January 8, 1945, there had been no withdrawals among the veterans, and several more recently discharged veterans have indicated that they plan to enroll at the university for the spring semester, according to R. B. Jeppson, vocational adviser for the Veterans Administration.

Candy Cook Planned By Home Ec Group

Plans for a "candy cook" are being made by the Home Economics Club for the camp and hospital show to be presented at the Reno Army Air Base on Monday, February 5, according to Jane Creel, president.

A committee to revise the membership requirements will present the proposed changes at the next regular meeting on February 7.

As it now stands, to gain membership into the organization home economics students are merely required to attend meetings. Miss Creel stated that in the future new members would have to go through a probationary period of one semester, attending a majority of the meetings.

PI PHI SOCIAL

Pi Beta Phi will entertain campus men at a social at their chapter house Saturday at 8 pm. Laurel Davis, social chairman of the sorority, is in charge of the affair. Dancing and cards will be the entertainment for the evening.

Two New Scholarships Made Available; Three Others Increase Award Amount

By U of N News Service
Two new scholarships are now available to students at the University of Nevada and will be awarded for the first time at the 55th annual commencement in May, Dr. Harold N. Brown, chairman of the scholarships and prizes committee, announced this week.

In the department of economics, business, and sociology, a scholarship of $100 has been established by Hugh Herd and Charles Short of the Herd n' Short firm of men's clothiers in Reno.

In the music department, a scholarship of $100 has been made available by Mr. and Mrs. Wilford P. Smith, and will be known as the Emporium of Music annual scholarship.

Increased amounts in two awards already established also have been made.

Increased Award

The William S. Lunsford scholarship in journalism, established in 1935 by Ethel Lunsford Frost and Harry J. Frost, has been raised from $75 to $100 to be awarded annually to a student specializing in journalism who meets the scholastic and character requirements of the award.

The Armanko prizes, established in 1936 by the Armanko Office Supply Company of Reno, which formerly offered prizes of books valued at $60 and $40 to senior students judged to have the best private libraries, has been converted to the Armanko Office Supply scholarships, to consist of two $100 cash awards in the field of chemistry and physics.

Service Prizes

Also increased in amount are the Albert Senior Public Service prizes, coveted award which goes to two outstanding senior students on a basis of good scholarship, good character and worthy service in behalf of the university or community. Formerly $25 each, the prizes will henceforth be $37.50 each.

New last year is the Mary Elizabeth Talbot memorial scholarship of $300 in mathematics, with first award to Charlotte Ferris of Reno. This scholarship is offered by Ida Mary Hoover, Harry J. Robinson and Sidney W. Robinson, niece and nephews of Mary Elizabeth Talbot.

Requirements Same

In general, requirements for the new scholarships and those awarded in the past years are the same. To be judged eligible for an award, the student must be of good moral character and display outstanding scholastic ability in the department or subject in which the scholarship is awarded, Dr. Brown said.

Financial needs of the student will be a factor in the award only when two students of equal ability and qualification are to be considered for a scholarship in most cases.

Primary purpose of the scholarship awards is to recognize and encourage students of outstanding ability in scholastic fields. In no case will a scholarship be awarded unless the recipient is duly enrolled in the university at the time the award is payable.

It is the hope of the scholarship committee, Dr. Brown said, to make available to students scholarships and awards in all departments and in as many individual fields as possible.

At the present time, scholarships available to incoming freshmen at the university total $3750 under the terms of the Major Max C. Fleischmann and the Josephine Beam awards.

PARTY POSTPONED

The Sagen swimming party, scheduled for last night, was postponed a week due to the varsity's first basketball game, Lee Hill, president, announced yesterday.
