COMMUNITY AND WAR CHEST DRIVE

Wednesday marked the opening of the victory drive of the Reno Community and War Chest. Valerie Scheeline, chairman of the finance bureau of the service board, is in charge of the student division on the campus. She faces a hard job—that of seeing that U of N meets a quota set at $2000.

With the aid of every student and every faculty member, the goal will not be a difficult one to reach. But should even one small group of individuals fail to make some contribution, no matter how small, the quota may never be reached.

Even though the fighting is over, the need for help in areas devastated by the war is greater than ever. Homeless millions face starvation in Europe and Asia. If they are denied the necessities of life now, their faith in the Allies must face the necessities of life now, their faith in the Allies must face a serious test.

The university has done well in each drive launched. With the increased enrollment we could well afford to go far beyond the quota mark which we met and topped last year. The answer lies in the effort of each of you.

GRID GUESSERS GATHER ROUND!

Below are ten of the important grid games to be contested on Saturday, October 20. Now all you've got to do is to pick the ten winners and guess the final score of each While temporarily stationed at Washington, Miss Creel is performing duties at nearby camps. As a staff assistant, at 22, she is the youngest American Red Cross workgame. Sounds easy, doesn't it?

Briefly, here's the setup. Let's take that first game for an example. Nevada versus Tulsa. Supposing you pick Nevada to win by sev-en points then insert the number 7 opposite Nevada. Should Nevada win by one point or 13 points you'd lose six points, which isn't bad. Now supposing, and this is pure supposi-tion, that Tulsa would win by six points. For picking the wrong team you automatically lose 50 points plus the six points Tulsa won by Plus the seven points you picked the Wolf Pack to win by. Therefore, you'd lose a total of 63 points for that particular game. Got it?

Now all that remains to be done is to get out a pair of spippers and is to get out a pair of snippers and a pencil and get to guessing. A con-tainer will be provided in the Wolf Den for all entrees and the contest for this week will close on Friday October 19, at noon. Winners of the first week will be announced in the October 27 issue of the Brush The prizes? There'll be two, a winner and a runner-up award. Just what they are we'll keep you in the dark so you can speculate on the prizes as well as the outcome of games. Sort of a guessing game all the way around. Saturday, October 20:

Wolves to Face Strong Opposition Tomorrow Against Marines Eleven

Santa Barbara Team Undefeated in Four Games; U of N Lineup Changed

Still smarting from the humiliating setback suffered at the hands of St. Mary's College, Coach Jim Aiken's Wolves make their second of four home appearances on the Mackay gridiron tomorrow afternoon when they take on the high flying Santa Barbara Marines.

Vowing to make complete and full restitution to their loyal band of university followers, the Wolf Pack faces no easy task in turning back the Leathernecks. Undefeated in four games, the California Marine flyers will present a formidable lineup studded with ex-college stars, and the Pack will have to display position will be letterman Kenny.

and the Pack will have to display a complete reversal of form from a complete reversal of form from last week if they intend to return to the winning side of the ledger. With several key men sidelined because of injuries and illness, Aik-en will field a revamped lineup which will include the presence of several virtually unknown substitu-

Notable among the changes will find Ebby Robertson, 175 pound Sullinvan, Indianan, holding forth at the fullback in place of the injured regular, Lloyd Rude. Robertson has been developing rapidly of late, according to reports, and Aiken ful-ly expects the Housier lad to turn a stellar performance against the

Another of the unsung trial horses elevated to a starting role is lanky Norbert "Smokey" Smolinski who will open at end. Smolinski, never a brilliant but always a steady and consistent performer, will take over Stan Kitchener's place on the left flank. Kitchener is indefinitely with an injured ankle.

Major important switch in the Nevada lineup will find all-Americandidate Bob McClure opening at center. McClure was the outstanding lineman in the Gael game and Aiken has moved "Big Buster" over to the pivot spot to bolster the mid-line weakness.

Opening at McClure's right tackle position will be letterman Kenny Simms, one of the Pack's most effective and dangerous defensive players. Simms excels when the gong is the roughest and the Illinois import will have ample opportunity to display his wares tomorrow.

Rugged Ed Dysie will start at left guard in the only other change of the week. Regulars Max Dodge, Gus Cammarano and Jack Diering-er complete the forward wall lineup.

In the backfield, "Franny" Farns-worth will open at right half, "Hap-py" Reed will handle the "T" from the quarterback spot, and Maurice Hagleen is expected to get the nod over Jim Taylor for the left half beth. Taylor has been harmored by berth. Taylor has been hampered by injuries the past few days and may not suit up for the game.

Also sidelined by injury is Jim Welin and it is doubtful if the Boone, Jowa, guard will see much action except from the bench.

Nevada's Linemen

Expected to see considerable service in tomorrow's tussle are linemen Bud Mason, John Kentera and Stan Norton, and backs Walt Polenske, Bob Ravera and Ron Baker. All six of the first string under-studies have been standouts in the week-long scrimmage drills and Coach Aiken intends to substitute freely in attempting to hit upon a winning first string combination.

Kick off time is scheduled for 2:30 and the university band will be on hand to highlight the afternoon's festivities
