Senate Votes Non-Participation In Selection of Who's Who for 1945

Senators Submit Lists to Faculty Group For Final Decision of Honors to BMOC's

ASUN senate last night voted not to participate in the selection of 12 possible candidates for Who's Who of American Colleges and Universities, leaving the entire selection to members of the faculty administrative council and deans of the various colleges.

Submit Lists

Dean of Men Robert Griffin had requested that the senate members submit individual lists of whoever they thought outstanding in the senior class to qualify for this honor. To this list the faculty could add or subtract, reaching the final decision.

Senators were informed that they were invited to stand in the receiving line of a student reception which will be given by President Dr. John O. Moseley for the entire student body December 3, Monday, from 8 to 10 pm.

Calendars of student social events, which had just arrived from the printers, were distributed by Rose Nannini, head of the calendar committee. Organization heads will also receive calendars.

Reno High Shares Navy Hellcat With University

In line with the suggestion made by Director Jay A. Carpenter of the Mackay School of Mines, that the University of Nevada purchase one of the four engine bombers offered for sale to the educational institutions, as a tribute to Nevada's flying Wolves, the university has fallen heir to a Navy Hellcat.

Despite Carpenter's belief that the quad would make an excellent runway, the Hellcat can now be found in the lot in front of the new engineering building.

Purchased by C. of C.

This plane was originally purchased by the Reno Chamber of Commerce for $100 and then presented to the Reno high school. A place to store a plane having a wing spread of almost 42 feet and an overall length of 33 feet 6 inches was the problem confronting the high school which decided finally to share the Hellcat with the university.

The plane is to be used jointly by the university and the Reno high school and in the case that aeronautical courses are offered again, the plane will be used in ground school work.

Courses May Be Resumed

During the spring and summer of 1941 and 1942 civilian pilot training under the Civil Aeronautics Association was given at the university and these courses and others in nautical engineering will probably be given again, Dean Palmer, head of the school of electrical engineering, announced.

AWS EXEC MEET

There will be a meeting of the Associated Women Student's executive committee Thursday at 4 pm in the AWS office, according to Maurya Wogan, president. At this time the budget for the semester will be discussed. All women senators are requested to be present.

Olesen Wins Grid Guessing Contest of Week; Second Consecutive Time Coed Cops Prize

For the second consecutive week a campus coed bested male grid guessers when Ginnie Olesen tabbed every game correctly on last Saturday's card to "win in a walk."

Jim Coughlin, Homecoming Day cross country victor finished in the number two position tabbing nine of the ten selections correctly.

For winning, Miss Olesen will be entertained for a night at Club Fortune and Coughlin will be the recipient of two theater passes.

December 1 will wind up the season for all major grid teams and herewith is presented the final Sagebrush contest of the year. Highlighting the week's menu will be Army vs. Navy, USC vs. UCLA, Georgia against Georgia Tech and Oregon and Oregon State.

Freshman Miners Take Field Trip To Steamboat

Mackay School of Mines freshman engineers, numbering approximately 22 students, made a field trip to Steamboats Springs Friday under the direction of Dr. Vincent P. Gianella, head of the geology department, said Director Jay A. Carpenter of the Mackay School of Mines.

The trip was made in cars of the Hunt Foundation, established by S. Frank Hunt, who made a fortune at Mountain City, and left one-tenth of this fortune to the Mackay School of Mines. The money is used for equipment, travel expenses and summer field courses for faculty and students.

Two geologists of the United States geological survey are currently making a study of the minerals now being deposited at Steamboat.

Wolves Score Sixth Win of Season Sunday

Scoring three touchdowns in the opening 19 minutes of play, University of Nevada Wolves maintained their unblemished season record on Mackay Field Sunday when they edged a fighting eleven from the Great Bend, Kansas, Air Base by a score of 26-13. The victory was the Pack's third in a row and sixth of the season.

Striking early, the Wolf Pack rolled to their first score of the afternoon six minutes after the opening kickoff. With Lloyd Rude and Klemaszewski reeling off several nice gains, the Pack put on a sustained 50 yard march good for three successive first downs. Rude culminated the drive by digging the ball over from the one yard line. The conversion attempt failed.

Four minutes later, Nevada again sent the scorekeeper into action when they added their second tally. This time it was Mat Klemaszewski who hit the payoff stripe after a 10 yard jaunt off left tackle. For Klemaszewski it was a personal triumph. Several times during the season the New Jersey jitterbug has threatened to score only to be stopped inches short of a score. Rude's place kick sailed through the cross bars and the score at the end of the first quarter was 13-0.

Jim Taylor carried the mail for Nevada in chalking up the touchdown that made the score 19-0. Taking the ball from Durham in a quick opening play off right tackle, Taylor plowed through the hole, cut to the sideline and outran the Kansas secondary to register the tally on a nice 15 yard run. That was the extent of the second period activity scoring.

In the third stanza, Great Bend, after being on the defensive the greater part of the contest tallied two quick touchdowns to pull within six points of the locals.

The visitor's first score came on a five yard line plunge and they added their second touchdown several minutes later on a pass play good for 70 yards from the line of scrimmage to run the count to 19-13.

The Wolves came right back to march 50 yards for the afternoon's final score. Starting on the mid-field stripe, Rude and Taylor alternated to move the ball to the seven yard marker from where Rude punched it over on a line plunge. McClure's kick was good for the extra point and that was the ball game.

Desperately taking to the air, Great Bend completed several passes in the waning moments of the contest only to be stopped short of another score when Ebby "Call Me Doc" Robertson intercepted a pass just as the game ended.

Rude, Klemaszewski and Taylor were particularly outstanding for Nevada in the backfield, while John Kentera, Pat Heher, Bill Morris, Carl Robinson and Buster McClure were pillars of stone on the line. Heher, starting his first game of the season, played 58 minutes of bang-up ball.

LOCAL SCHOOLS TO ASSIST IN WSSF DRIVE

World Student Service Fund drive which will take place on December 2 to 12 will also be carried to all grammar schools, junior high schools and the senior high school in Reno, according to Dr. Ernest Inwood, chairman of the faculty committee of WSSF.

Randall Ross, supervisor of elementary schools in Reno, said. Students of public speaking classes at Nevada will make two minute speeches in each of the classes in the Reno city schools, and also at the Parent Teachers meetings, to explain the purpose and importance of the World Student Service Fund.

Bill Ward, publicity chairman for the drive, and Jim Coleman, member of the publicity committee, are planning a 15 minute roundtable discussion, several five minute programs and short announcements for the radio about the World Student Service Fund drive.

Engineering Course To Be Returned

A course in engineering orientation given previous to the war is to be resumed next year, Dean Stanley G. Palmer, head of the school of electrical engineering, announced.

This course was formerly designed as four elementary courses in the four schools of engineering, but was discontinued when the philosophy five course of war issues took over orientation programs.

On Thursdays in the lecture room in the Mackay science building, talks on "Jobs in Engineering" and other phases of this subject are being presented for students who are interested now, but this is not yet a standard course.

U of N Considered For Schooling Norwegian Studes

(Special.)—Possibility the University of Nevada will soon have a number of Norwegian students was seen this week following conversations between Senator E. P. Carville and officials at the Norwegian embassy in Washington.

Senator Carville in discussing his proposal that Norway select the University of Nevada as one of the institutions to which Norwegian youth be sent for training called the attention of Hans Olav, counselor of the embassy, to the outstanding school of engineering and mining at the state university.

Interested in UN Norwegian officials, representing Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstierne, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary, expressed deep interest in the possibility of utilizing the University of Nevada facilities.

It was pointed out by Senator Carville that within the last few months between 200 and 300 Norwegian youths have been sent to the United States by their government to obtain college educations in American universities. More will follow in each succeeding year, the senator was informed.

Skiing Instructors In discussing the possibility of utilizing Nevada's educational facilities, the senator called attention of the embassy officials to the fact such students possibly could, if they so desired, earn some additional money acting as ski instructors to the winter sports enthusiasts who each year flock to Nevada.

DANCE GIVEN BY ATO

An informal dance was given by Alpha Tau Omega last Friday night in the social hall of the Trinity Episcopal church. Clayton Trigero was chairman, assisted by Dick O'Connell.

Student Board To Hold Meet November 28

Mary Watts Moore, chairman of the student service board, has announced that the board will meet November 28 for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Alice B. Marsh. The revision of the constitution in accordance with the new name and the discussion of a new committee for Girl Scout leaders will be the main business before the board.

Board Members

Frosh Collects Love Letters As Her Hobby

In order to find out hobbies of some of the students on campus, I went to the library, where I narrowly escaped eviction by the librarian who was trying to suppress the squeals of the subjects when they heard the information was to be published. Nevertheless I was able to get information on the following hobbies.

Love Letters

Jo Ann Erb collects love letters. Yes, I know you will say that is quite a hobby, but Jo, who is a freshman, is very serious about her hobby. She has been collecting these letters for about three years, and now has about 250, both her own and letters of friends who will part with such personal items.

These letters are stacked in small piles according to dates, then tied with a pastel ribbon.

This Started It

Jo started this hobby because once she received a letter worth remembering, and decided to save any of the same type that she could get.

Jeanne Worlock, a sophomore, has any kind of dancing for her hobby. When she was five years old she took special dancing lessons for a few years, and then for awhile her mother, who was a dancing teacher, helped her along until she could get her training in school.

Attended Mill College

Jeanne has danced at several school functions both in grammar school and high school. Last summer she attended summer school at Mills College where she took up rhythmic, analysis, technique and chorography in relation to modern dance. On campus this year Jeanne is active in dance, and wants to learn as much as she can about modern dance, and its methods.

Eleanor Norris, freshman student at the university, collects dance bids. She has collected them since she was in the eighth grade, and expects to continue the hobby in college. She already has one wall in her room covered with them, and expects to cover another wall while she is in college.

Prized Bids

Among her most prized bids are the following: barn dance bids which resembled corn pipes, straw hats, and a barn of straw; polka dot hop bid, of polka dots; jalopic bid, in the shape of an old jalopic; formal bids of satin with the initial of club, etc. in glistening spangles, and an Hawaiian bid which was a replica of a hula girl.

J. WETZEL TO RETURN

Jerry Wetzel, recently discharged flight officer, is another of Nevada's former students who plan to re-enter the university next semester. Before leaving for the service in the fall of '42, Wetzel was sports editor of the Sagebrush, on the university ski team and is a member of Theta Chi fraternity.

Wolf Pack to Meet Las Vegas Eleven In Final Grid Contest of 1945 Season

Nevadans to Travel to Las Vegas for Game This Weekend With Army Air Corps Team

Making their final appearance of the 1945 season, Coach Jim Aiken's Wolves journey south this weekend to play the Las Vegas Army Air Field. For southern Nevadans it will be their first look-see at the state university's eleven this year.

Sunday's encounter will be more than just another skirmish for the local gridders. Not only will they be seeking their seventh win of the current season but they will also be out to complete one of the most successful campaigns in the school's history. Only in the St. Mary's California and Tulsa games were the locals downed.

Besides defeating the Fresno State Bulldogs on Homecoming Day, a team Nevada hadn't beaten in 13 years, the Wolves also completed their home season with a perfect record of five straight wins.

Financially Successful Financially, the Pack probably enjoyed their best season in recent years. An estimated 155,000 people paid to see the local eleven perform.

Against Las Vegas, Coach Jim Aiken will probably start the same eleven which he fielded against Great Bend, although spirited competition is still being waged for several positions on the line. At the end spots, Aiken will have Max Dodge, Stan Kitchener, Carl Robinson and Smokey Smolinski from which to choose. Pat Heher and Buster McClure undoubtedly will get the call at the tackle posts with John Kentera and Joe Stoff opening at guards, and Bill Morris at center. Morris and Heher will be performing before a home crowd.

The diminutive Pack center was a member of last year's Las Vegas high school championship squad, while Heher hails from nearby Basic.

In the backfield the identical four which opened last Sunday, and achieved such creditable success in the opening minutes of the game will probably get the nod again this Sunday. That means that Bob Durham will be at quarterback, Matt Klemaszewski and Jim Taylor at halfbacks, and Lloyd Rude at fullback. Others who undoubtedly will be pressed into action include a so-called second string consisting of Happy Reed, Ebby Robertson, Maury Hagle and Bob Ravera, almost as good as the starting quartet.

Many student body members are expected to accompany the team south for the last game of the year.

Parking Lines To Be Painted

At the Tuesday meeting of the men's upperclass committee most of the freshmen who failed to help paint the N on Peavine mountain appeared to present excuses for their absences. Those failing to present legitimate excuses are to paint new lines on the university parking lots Saturday, December 1, according to Noel Willis, chairman.

Next Week

Those who failed to appear Tuesday will be asked to be present at next week's meeting. Willis stated that continued disregard of these notices will bring additional punishment.

Registration of campus vehicles which was to begin this week will be postponed until next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons because of a shortage of necessary forms. Willis cautioned that registration of all automobiles is required.

Frosh Violators Assigned Chores

Freshman women who violate rules and regulations as set forth in the frosh bible within the next week will be assigned to cleaning up after the bean feed, according to Virginia Olesen, chairman of the upperclass committee.

Assisting the new culprits will be the students who have a second violation charge to their record as well as those students who did not turn out for the painting of the N on Peavine mountain, Miss Olesen said.

Those who are on the list already for the job are Shirley Beechen, Joanne Berg, Joanne Erb, Pat Pringle and Arlyne O'Malia.

Veterans Show Interest in Nevada's Courses

Dr. R. S. Griffin, coordinator for the Veterans Administration, reports that inquiries are arriving daily with regard to courses available, and the number of veterans who have already definitely arranged to begin university work next semester indicates that the enrollment will be considerably increased next February.

Under GI Bill

Seventy-five recently discharged veterans of World War II are now attending the university under the GI Bill of Rights or the rehabilitation act, according to records of Dr. Griffin.

More than half this number are from Nevada, with 13 other states represented in the remaining number. California has 11 veterans now attending this university.

Counties Represented

Nevada communities represented by one or more returned veterans include Ely, Sparks, Yerington, Caliente, Lovelock, Elko, McGill, Oreana, Babbitt, Henderson, Las Vegas, Carson City and Reno.

No single department or college seems to attract the veterans, according to Dr. Griffin's records. They are rather evenly divided among the various courses available.

Picture Schedule For Week Told

Members of Sigma Nu, Theta Chi and Sigma Rho Delta fraternities will have Artemisia pictures taken at the Arcade Studio next week, Alice Etchart, editor, announced.

Monday and Tuesday are set aside for Sigma Nu, while Sigma Rho's and Theta Chi's are asked to come Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. All men should wear a white shirt, v-neck sweater and tie.

Any fraternity man who is a member of Coffin and Keys should have an additional picture taken for the yearbook at the same time. Traditional hats of the organization will be worn.

The 1946 Artemisia will contain approximately 40 additional pages this year. Last year's yearbook contained 72 pages.

GETS INVITATION

Professor Theodore H. Post, head of the music department, has recently been asked by the music educators national conference to attend and serve as a consultant in a curriculum study group at the national conference in Cleveland, Ohio, March 27 to April 3, 1946.

NOTICE

A meeting of the ASUN executive committee will be held next Tuesday at 4 pm in the ASUN building.

CLARIFICATION OF TITLE

There are times when it seems that the Nevada faculty has suffered a striking loss of personnel. In reading newspaper articles in the Brush students very often run across the title "acting dean of such and such."

These various faculty members who are "acting" in the place of someone else should, by now, feel quite self-conscious about their dubious titles.

The situation has, of course, several substantial explanations. However, in view of the fact that the national emergency period is near an end, it seems practical that people suitable to fill vacant positions on the faculty should be more plentiful.

When a faculty member holds an "acting" position for a period of three years, it seems that it is high time that something be done about it.

If they have not shown themselves capable of discharging the duties of their office by now, they should certainly be retired to their former rank and a person qualified for the position should be found.

We can understand why the filling of these various positions has been postponed during the war, but there is no substantial excuse now to leave the positions "up in the air."

In Dr. Moseley's campaign to strengthen this university we feel sure that he has taken this situation into consideration. Action and a solution should be forthcoming.

WHERE IS IT?

We haven't got it. This thing called school spirit is a stranger on our campus. It visits occasionally but evidently it doesn't feel at home enough to stay.

The situation was highlighted last week, Friday to be exact. Quite a good number of university students turned out for the Hi-Y assembly at the Reno High School. Later that morning a college assembly was held in the education building and approximately one-seventh of the student body was in attendance.

The contrast between the two assemblies was terrific. At the high school the auditorium was packed with students and those who couldn't find seats stood in the back of the room throughout the entire program. At the college only a small group of the very small group there displayed any semblance of school spirit—they were the football players.

It is hard to define that something which is lacking here that should foster a substantial measure of pride in this university.

However, it seems evident that anything that other schools can do or have—we can do or have. Some of us can remember the day when every activity on the campus had a good enthusiastic following. People weren't so interested in themselves that they forgot about the welfare of the school. When they went to work to put over something—it went over big.

Our grads and alums could give us a real lesson in appreciation of our school. In the meantime, it's all up to us. Watch for the announcement of the next assembly and how about seeing you all there. You are no exception—if you're a U. of N. student—be there!

Down Sorority Row

Washington in its most hectic days of sleeping on park benches, hotel lobbies or anywhere one could find a not so mild counterpart in the present campus housing situation, particularly where campus gals are concerned.

For the first time in years Manzanita Hall now possesses third floor tenants. How the gals in the garget manage to climb the three flights of stairs several times daily and still navigate to classes remains a mystery.

An all-time record of 175 residents in the women's dorm has been reached this year. The studies of Artemisia, formerly sparsely populated, are now living quarters.

Firebug Absent

At the top of sorority row on Sierra St. stands the Pi Beta Phi house with a capacity of 13 lucky women, plus one. The plus one is the new housemother, Mrs. Tyler from Florida. The Pi Phis have been sporting a new southern drawl since her recent arrival. Rid of their pyromaniac (firebug to you) this year they are hoping for a fireless and thus cooler season. So far the fire department has had no call from 869 Sierra St.

Next door to KAT, house manager Mary Ellen Schwartz was not too surprised to discover a few gray hairs in her hair after 16 Theta sisters moved in. Lucky Theta seniors, plus Prexy Jo Miller and roomie, Jane Perkins, will enjoy sleeping inside this winter, while the remainder of the gals will snooze on the sleeping porch, to the accompaniment of tuneful cat fights and sleep-walkers. Cat fights should be less frequent this year with the absence of "Theta," the black and gold mamma cat, and her litter of two, named "Beta" and "Mew." Actual testimony from inmates at the Theta house describe life as a series of map reading lessons and explorations in search of beds, dressers and closets.

High School Girls Honored by UN Organizations

Starting the conference to be held here by the Future Homemakers of America, a fireside supper was given Sunday night at Manzanita Hall by the A & M Association for the 12 delegates.

These girls representing California, Nevada, Arizona and Hawaii, are future home economics majors from various high schools. The girls will stay at Manzanita as guests of the university Home Ec Club.

On Monday noon three girls were entertained at lunch by each of the four sororities. A tour of the campus was made Tuesday morning and Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 5 the delegates were honored at a tea in the home economics department.

when returning Tri-Delts, numbering 14, found room for only 12. The architectural firm of Elkins, Kinneberg and Ramelli came into being the express purpose of creating a new room in the basement. Bruised fingers, skinned shins, painted hair and a most disorderly basement finally resulted in living quarters for the Cellar Sisters, Pat Ireland, Sylvy Geraghty.

Cole and Riley got a little carried away with the wall cleaning racket and calmed down, among other things, their room. All building and decorating projects have been cancelled until the spring thaw.

Dumb Waiter

Gamma Phi Beta members having not inherited any of the blessings of the housing shortage, are enjoying large rooms and closets free from beds and dressers. Esther Golick in the capacity of house manager has yet to grow a few gray hairs, but affirms that time is all she needs. Kitchen restrictions have spurred old mother necessity to the proposed invention of a dumb waiter. Eileen Kerr stated that she always wanted to be a "dumb waiter."

Squander Bug

This is Squander Bug, genius of defeating good causes—happyascal that knows how to make human nature take the line of least resistance, and he's the guy who will try to keep you from buying Victory Bonds.

Squander Bug, cousin to Hitler and Tojo who aided them greatly during the war, is still on the job, and very busy, too. He knows that he can still aid subversive elements; so he pursues his task relentlessly with a manical grin of joy.

He knows that if he can keep students on the university campus from subscribing to the Community Chest, he can also keep them from backing the Victory Loan Drive.

He knows how the soldiers must still depend on citizens of the United States during the period of demobilization. He also knows that the many men overseas must be transported home and demobilized. Squander often flies over Reno in his new super-model P-7, which goes with the speed of a mosquito; so he is well up on the local situation and could tell you to the last detail what each student has to contribute. No matter how serious their financial situation is, he knows they can all contribute something toward the drive.

Tonight Squander is chuckling with glee as he imbibes ale in a hidden cabaret at the foot of Peavine mountain. He chuckles because he has won—the Nevada campus didn't reach their quota in the Community and War Chest drives.

Squander hasn't yet found out students mean to fool him this time. They will contribute something to the Victory Drive.

When Squander discovers this, he will rage, then get busy and send those student dollars meant for the fund down to various coke joints and movies; persuade the men they need new and louder socks, the women that they must have another of those lovely little scraps of felt called hats.

But, maybe Squander will get very drunk tonight in his little cabaret on Peavine, and maybe he won't sober up until after the students have done their part for America's fighting men.

YW Services Held In Artemisia Hall

For both old and new members of YWCA, recognition services were held in the Y rooms of Artemisia Hall last Tuesday. The purpose of the ceremony was to restore to membership all of the old members and to recognize both the new and the old members. President, Rose Nannini; vice-president, Elinor Jensen; secretary, Bliss Patterson, and treasurer, Blanche Barker, conducted the services. Eileen Kerr read the devotion commencing the service. Membership cards were given to those girls who paid their dues. According to Rose Nannini, president, dues are still payable. Anyone wishing to pay may contact Blanche Parker or Miss Helen Rachie, Miss Nannini said.

Reporter Tells Just Where Opportunity Nox

By Sylvie Geraghty

Do you lack a steady drizzle of cash? Are you fed up with your financial set up? Would you like to earn a little extra moolah on the side? If your answer has been yes to the above questions, then lend your ear to opportunity knocks from the bully board. To enlighten you unknowing coeds and campus men, there are a number of income opportunities on the loose, and these said opportunities are right before your eyes if you only look.

At present there is an excellent job open for some student, male or female, desiring part time work. To give you the gist of the job, a representative for Plastic Art, a new local firm, is wanted. The job consists of a process in which photos, snapshots, identification cards, and the like may be preserved for a lifetime by spraying said objects with a plastic. For details you may consult the bulletin board.

Part Time Job

Another opportunity is open for a campus man who knows something about electrical fixtures, down at the Reno Little Theater. This, too, is a part time job. If you're interested just check with the bulletin board.

From time to time any number of open job notices are to be seen on the bulletin board, and these notices are for the students' benefit.

Librarians Needed For Army Posts Throughout West

Curtailment of the Ninth Service Command library program at army hospitals in the West is seen unless 50 qualified librarians are immediately secured.

Maj. Gen. William E. Shedd, commanding general of the command, declared at his Fort Douglas, Utah, headquarters, that book-service to convalescing servicemen in both post and general hospitals will be greatly curtailed unless additional qualified library personnel is obtained.

The present shortage, he stated, is due to the recent transfer of more than 100 qualified librarians to overseas installations. Also, he added, the War Department has expanded its library program.

Positions as post or hospital librarians are available to women between 25 and 40 years of age who possess a degree from an accredited college or university. Salaries range from $2,320 to $3,640 annually.

Assistant librarian posts are open to both men and women between 20 and 40 years of age. Applicants must be college or university graduates and have at least one year previous experience to qualify. Salaries depending upon experience, range from $2,100 to $2,320 annually.

All applicants must be United States citizens. Persons interested may secure complete information by writing Ninth Service Command headquarters, Fort Douglas, Utah.

Because the university does not have a file of those students who desire part time work, the notices are posted on the bulletin board. These notices come from townspeople and various business concerns downtown and usually go through Dr. R. S. Griffin's office.

Response Fairly High

"The students' response to these part time calls is fairly high although not all of them are answered," Dr. Griffin said.

So there you are, you students who have been complaining of an empty pocket and an empty pocket-book, there's your chance.

Captain: "Private, I hear that two MP's brought you in last night."

Private: "Yes, sir."

Captain: "Drunk I suppose?"

Private: "Yes, sir, both of them."

EDITOR'S DESK

During the past several weeks I have attempted to institute several regular columns which are new to this student newspaper.

One is a column entitled, "Introducing . . . Nevada's Veterans." We propose, space permitting, to publish something of the service record of a veteran each week.

We do not publish this particular column for the glory of any one group or any one person. On the contrary, the column originated when students found that they could better help and understand veterans if they knew more about them and their service record.

About our so-called "gab column"—a better name has not yet been chosen—it was commenced in this issue and will be continued as long as the students feel that it is fulfilling its purpose (whatever that may be).

I should like to see more "letters to the Editor." One frequently hears about things that students disapprove of, or approve. These opinions would pack much more weight in print.

As to the signing of student letters to the editor, I do not require that the name of the signer appear in the Brush, but all letters which appear before me for publication must be signed by the name of the author. I will withhold the signature on request.

Commenced in the last issue was a schedule of the coming events of the week. In order that it might be a real aid to the students, the secretaries of all campus organizations should make it a point to list their activities for the coming week with the Brush by Wednesday of each week.

It is possible that the listing of meetings in this way will avoid planning two important meetings at the same hour on any certain day.

Sagebrush Poll Reveals Many Students Approve of National Military Training

A Sagebrush student opinion poll recently revealed that out of a group of 20, 13 students believe that national military training is necessary.

Six students interviewed believed that military training was not advisable. Only one student was undecided.

The student poll was conducted by Brush staff members, Kay Sterling and Alice Williams. Of the students interviewed, six are veterans.

Berkeley Black—veteran. "Yes, it's the only way we can keep any sort of semblance of power."

Darwin Farnsworth—"Yes and no." He believes in it for those who are not going to school but feels that an education comes first.

Jeanne Worlock—Frosh. "Yes, if we ever get caught again with no power, it will be too late."

Barbara Olesen—soph. "Yes, because I think it will make men out of college boys, and because they will be more mature and capable of carrying on their duties as citizens when they graduate."

Max Dodge—Vet. Junior. "Yes, so we will be prepared."

Odette Darrigrand—Soph. "Yes, for boys. It is good for them. Provides discipline."

Happy Reed—Vet. Freshman. "No, why take them in now? They will just have to learn it all over again."

Josie Eather—Sophomore. "Yes, because we must be prepared for any event that may arise at any time or that may start popping sooner than we expect."

Beverly Minor—Freshman. "Yes, because if they pulled Pearl Harbor on us, they can do it again, but I don't think they should take those that are going to continue their schooling."

Frank Apalategui—Veteran. "Yes—people should have a year of training to keep a standing army—it does them a lot of good. They get more out of education when they come back to school."

Nora Morris—Soph. "No, it interrupts boys' lives, can't replace college, and the strategy they teach now will be obsolete in the next war."

Philmore Pacy—Veteran. Soph. "No, because we have a 90-day wonder left over from the last war for a president and he's the only person that would think of such a fool idea."

Phyllis Baker—Frosh. "No, it holds boys back from college and vocation, gives reason for more war because other countries will be afraid that their neighbors are mobilizing to war against them."

Rosemary Chester—Frosh. "Yes." Scott Markin—Senior. "Yes." Noel Willis—Junior. Vet. "Yes." Judy Bogard—Junior. "No." Doug Lauener—Junior. "Yes, if conducted properly."

Nan Epler—Soph. "Yes." Pat Fair—Frosh. "Yes, it's a good idea."

ENROLLMENT IN EE DEPT. STEADILY INCREASING

Dean Stanley G. Palmer, head of the school of electrical engineering, announced that the enrollment in the electrical engineering department has doubled this semester and is steadily going up.

Many new students have also interviewed the chairman of the admission committee for entrance into the university in the spring semester, Dean Palmer said.

Three Colleges Use Internship Training System

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (I.P.)—Because government is the nation's biggest business, keen interest has been displayed in the "internship" type of training in public administration, being continued for the second year by the University of Tennessee, Alabama and Kentucky in cooperation with their respective state government departments.

Five of the first eight fellowship students, selected last year from a large number of applicants from southern colleges, have recently won the Southern Regional Training Program's "Certificates in Public Administration" and in addition the degree of Master of Arts under this internship plan.

Recently, nine students in the second year of the program completed their internships in the state departments of the three states and in the TVA. The next stage of training for the second group begins when they register as graduate students for courses in public administration at the University of Alabama. They will continue their studies at the University of Tennessee during the winter quarter and at the University of Kentucky in the spring quarter.

The "interns" spent their first summer in learning public administration by observing and doing various types of administrative work in the state departments under the direction of various state officials. Assignments covered a wide variety of tasks: attending legislative sessions and helping to prepare the record of actions on bills for the guidance of the officials; scoring applications and other duties in the personnel departments; investigations for old age grants; field work for state planning board, and preliminary work in revising tax procedures.

LT. STREETER ON LEAVE

Lt. Jack Streeter, Sparks, graduate of the university in 1943, is home on a two months leave after seeing action in Germany. While on campus, Lt. Streeter was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity, Blue Key and was chairman of the men's upper-class committee.

New Water Main Being Installed

A new 24-inch water main is being laid on North Virginia street between 10th and 12th streets, opposite Manzanita and Artemisia Halls, which links up with the outlet of the Washington street reservoir, and the gas house near Nevada Pack.

This work is being done by the Isbell Construction Company for the Sierra Pacific Power Company, and is part of the finishing up job to provide an increased water pressure for Sparks.

It was necessary to lay this new pipe to get under Orr ditch, which runs through the campus.

Independents Hosts At Swimming Party

Independents were hosts to unaffiliated men and women at a swimming and dancing party which was held Friday at Moana Springs.

Rita Lu Berrum served as chairman of the social committee.

Chaperoning the dance were Mr. and Mrs. C. Berrum. Refreshments were served.

UN GRAD DISCHARGED

Lt. Leon Etchemendy, former student, has recently been discharged after serving with the army since his graduation from the university in 1942.

While he was here, Etchemendy was a member of ATO, Blue Key, Scabbard and Blade, and was head yell leader for three years. He is at present teaching at Northside junior high school.

ACE to Investigate GI Study Programs

Washington, D. C. (IP)—What colleges can learn from army and navy wartime educational techniques will be the subject of a two-year investigation soon to start under the auspices of the American Council on Education, according to an announcement by Dr. George F. Zook, president.

A grant of $150,000 from the Carnegie Corporation of New York and the general education board has been received by the council to carry on this work. The study will be under the direction of Dr. Alonzo G. Grace, commissioner of education of Connecticut, on leave of absence for this purpose.

Among the various subjects which have already been selected for study are the various procedures which the armed forces have used in selection, classification and assignment of personnel. Tests and testing procedures, rating scales, evaluation boards, etc., will be analyzed.

Other studies will include the techniques of curriculum construction based upon analysis of the job to be done, the emphasis on demonstration and performance in teaching and continuous measurement of progress, new uses of printed materials, visual and auditory aids and school equipment, training programs for leadership and for the training of teachers physical education and health, short term refresher courses, and new fields for women. An analysis will also be made of the non-military educational activities such as those of the United States Armed Forces Institute and the Coast Guard and Marine Corps Institutes. The comprehensive library program whereby the reading interests of men and women have been met will be included.

HEADS GOT TOGETHER

RESULT: MORE TRANSCONTINENTAL TELEPHONE CIRCUITS

With wire scarce and wartime calls increasing, telephone engineers made existing pairs of long distance wires carry nearly four times as many calls as before. This was done through installation of additional carrier equipment, requiring closer spacing of the wires on the line and transpositions at shorter intervals.

Three pairs on the Southern Transcontinental Route were rearranged, and in a 430-mile section this had to be done while keeping the urgently needed wires in service all the time. To do this, new tools and new methods had to be devised in the laboratories and on the job.

This is another among many examples of how Bell System teamwork and engineering skills maintained telephone service under wartime conditions.
