Nevadans Win Trophy
By 72 Point Margin;
Van Slyck Pack Star

By Marilyn Reynolds

The close of a week which marked the seventh annual Winter Carnival, found the University of Nevada ski team still in possession of the revolving ski trophy. Cups for open houses and hospitality went to Kappa Alpha Theta, Lambda Chi Alpha and Pi Beta Phi, and the golden crown of carnival queen came to rest atop the blond head of B. J. Wallace, a Stanford coed.

Outpointing the contestants in all three events, the university ski team chalked up a total of 300 tallies against California's 228, Stanford's 218 and Placer Junior College's 98.5, with Ashly Van Slyck easily starring for the Pack slalom.

Giant Slalom

Van Slyck placed first both in Saturday's slalom and Sunday's giant slalom and captured second place in the jumping. The giant slalom was a Nevada "walk away," with Van Slyck first, Eddie Meaker, second, Les Hawkins and B. Fisher of Stanford tying for third, and Jerry Wetzel making a Nevada fifth.

Points were not earned for the team by the feminine members of the ski team, but nevertheless, they dominated their part of the meet, with Jerry Brown taking the women's slalom Saturday. Miss Brown and Lois Post placed second and third in Sunday's giant slalom, beaten by Charlotte Townsend of Stanford.

Jerry Wetzel and Ash Van Slyck took first and second in the jumping Sunday.

House Decorations

TRI DELTA 3-TIME WINNER OF SCHOLARSHIP TROPHY

Red Cross Campus
Quota Set at $850

A campus quota of $850 has been set for the Red Cross fund drive which will open March 4, Virginia Cole, chairman of the drive, announced. She has stated that it is hoped each campus group will contribute 100 per cent. This means one dollar from each student.

There is much work to be done in caring for servicemen still overseas and the peacetime work of the Red Cross is great, Miss Cole stated.

Her committees, to be appointed soon, will assist her in the collection of funds.

Engineer's Day To Be Revived

Meeting to plan reorganization of the University of Nevada student branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will probably be held sometime in March, according to Stanley G. Palmer, dean of the college of engineering.

In the past, the organization has held general meetings of engineers with outside speakers, and has sponsored Engineers Day on the campus, with the Friday afternoon and Saturday of the event, held near St. Patrick's Day as possible, declared holidays. The engineers also gave two dances every year before the war.

Engineers Day will be revived next year, Dean Palmer said, and the regular meetings may be revived this year after the reorganization meeting next month.

JIM MELARKEY ELECTED BY A ONE VOTE MARGIN

By Sylvie Geraghty

One pencil marked ballot made the difference between a tie and victory for Jim Melarkey over Jim Borge in the junior class election last Thursday. A 31-30 vote gave Melarkey the position of class manager.

Before the ballots had been counted, the senate had voted to disqualify any ballot marked in pencil or in pen because the regulations for voting were printed on the ballots. Election returns also might have been different if the other half of the junior class had voted; only 62 out of 118 eligible juniors voted in the election.

Two Candidates

Only two candidates were put up for the position of junior class manager Melarkey, a returned veteran, having been a navy pilot while in the service, was Sigma Alpha Epsilon's candidate. He is now majoring in civil engineering and is well known for his basketball talents. On campus before the war he was a member of Coffin and Keys, Block N and the interfrat council.

Jim Borge, Alpha Tau Omega candidate, and former army pilot, is also a returned veteran. Borge attended the university in 1942 and was a member of Blue Key, Block N and Sagers, as well as being an honor roll student.

A. & M. Election

The senate also voted to allow the Aetemis-Manzanita Association to hold their presidential elections in February instead of April. This action was brought before the senate because the association desires to have both their incoming and outgoing presidents take a field trip in March to study various residential halls and their student governments in California.

ALUM DINNER PLANNED

A buffet dinner will be held for alumni, families and guests by the Cross and Crescent Mothers Club Sunday evening at the Lambda Chi Alpha house from 5 to 7, according to Mel Rovetti, social chairman. Lambda Chi song team will furnish entertainment for the dinner.

Kappa Alpha Theta was entertained at a social by the Lambda Chi Thursday night at the chapter house, Rovetti added.

PRINGLE INITIATED

Jack Pringle, freshman, was initiated into Sigma Nu Tuesday night, stated Doug Trail, president. Pringle recently enlisted in the army and reports for active duty Monday.

PROF MENTIONED BY TIME

Dr. J. E. Moose, professor of chemistry, was mentioned in "Miscellany" column of this week's Time magazine connected with his invention of "non-stick chewing gum." Dr. Moose discovered the gum while working at the Monsanto Chemical Company in Anniston, Alabama, before coming to the university this fall.

NOTICE

Class Manager Bob Ravera announced that there will be a freshman class meeting Friday, February 22, at 4 pm. The class will discuss plans for a frosh assembly and also welcome all new freshmen.

Pi Beta Phi in Second Place in Grade Race
With Average of 2.751; KAT Pledges Tops

Members of Delta Delta Delta became the permanent owners of the Pan Hellenic scholarship cup today when they captured for the third consecutive semester the top grade point average of Nevada's four national sororities. Tri-Delta's winning average was 2.879 while Pi Beta Phi ran a close second with a 2.751 average.

Gamma Phi Beta rated a 2.745 average, while Kappa Alpha Theta followed with an average of 2.60. Kappa Alpha Theta pledges carried the highest pledge average with a 2.334 and pledges of Phi Beta Phi came in second with one of 2.259, while Gamma Phi Beta and Delta Delta Delta followed with a 2.253 and a 2.252, respectively.

The averages of the pledges have no effect on the awarding of the scholarship cup except in the case of an active average tie between two sororities.

Students' Average

The student body of the university maintained an average of 2.232. Once again the women students led the scholarship average with an average of 2.486, the male average being 2.006.

Six students in the university made perfect scholarship records with four point averages. Only students who stand in the upper five per cent of the student body scholars. (Continued on Page 3)

ASUN Broadcasts Initial Program Mar. 1 Over KOH

The initial ASUN radio program is tentatively slated for March 1, according to Jim Coleman, chairman of the program committee. Broadcast time is slated for 8 pm.

The dummy script for "We'll Take It From Here," the campus week in review, has been written and is being worked into a permanent program, Coleman stated.

Auditioning

Auditions are under way at station KOH for campus talent, program ideas and script suggestions. Anyone interested in trying out may do so at the committee's regular meeting on Monday nights or at the ASUN building on Monday, Wednesday or Friday afternoons by contacting Tosca Masini for an appointment. Six tries auditioned at KOH this week, Coleman added.

The skeleton for the 15-minute program has been drawn up and divided into sections. The first five minutes will be a four part news broadcast of campus events composed of the news story of the week, feature story of the week, sports story of the week, and the social news of the week.

Outstanding Student

As a conclusion for the program the tune of the week, as chosen by a social group, sorority or fraternity, will be played in the last three minutes, Coleman stated.

Program Committee

Members of the radio committee assisting Coleman are George Ross, director of news; Helen Brania, program director; Tosca Masini, talent scout; Jo Miller and Bob Durham, script and casting managers; and Gordon Harris, chief engineer.

Victory Bond To Be Awarded

A $100 victory bond will be offered as a prize to any student at the University of Nevada who submits the best plan for the investment and reinvestment of the principal sum $20,000, to the approximate income of $1000.

The above mentioned $20,000 is a proposed gift to the Mackay School of Mines, the income of which will be distributed as gift scholarships to those students who both deserve and need it, and are registered in the Mackay School of Mines.

Regent Silas L. Ross, chairman, President John O. Moseley and Director Jay A. Carpenter, secretary, have been appointed as the committee to set up governing conditions for the contest and judge it.

The conditions governing the contest are as follows: The discussion and plan for investment must be limited to 3000 words, and may be accompanied by mathematical data if necessary; the contestants have to register by March 20, and their final report must be in by May 20, in order that the winner may be announced on commencement day. Students of limited financial knowledge may ask assistance, but the report must be of their own composition, and the contest should have sharp competition from students in all departments.

MARILYN DUGAN ELECTED THETA PREXY FOR '46

Marilyn Dugan, junior student, was elected president of Kappa Alpha Theta at the meeting held Monday night. Outgoing President Jo Ann Miller was named Pan Hellenic president.

Other elected were: Jane Perkins, vice-president; Patricia Crummer, corresponding secretary, and her assistant, Jerry Brown; Mary Ellen Schwartz, recording secretary, and her assistant, Bernie Murphy.

Social Chairman

Social chairman, Marilyn Amodei, assistant, Jo Ann Erb; rush captain, Loie Post, assistant, Shirley Platt; senator, Barbara Mills, alternate, Bets Seddon; house chairman, Mary Libbey, assistant, Naomi Batjer.

Alice Etchart, pledge trainer, Helen Boner, assistant; Marilyn Reynolds, editor, Virginia Chaplin; assistant; Roberta Whitney, chaplain; Frances Ullom, activity chairman; Eleanor Norris, assistant.

New Officers

Marshalls, Gloria Haley and d Carolyn Smythe; music chairman, Jo Ann Erb; archivist, Gloria Haley; historian, Carol Riley; publicity chairman, Ardis Fitch; service chairman, Virginia Auchampaugh, assistant, Kay Sterling, and Pan Hellenic delegates, Marilyn Dugan and Loie Post.

Marilyn Dugan, new president, will attend summer conference in Pasadena this summer, the first one to be held since 1942 in Chicago. Jo Ann Miller will be alternate.

To Present Dance Play Mon.

"Christopher Columbus," a dance play by the Edwin Strawbridge Ballet company, will be presented Monday at 8 pm in the new gymnasium under the auspices of the university, Miss Elsa Sameth, professor of physical education for women, announced.

The Strawbridge company is from New York and has performed all over the world. Strawbridge does all the dance and music planning for the group. This company is the same group that presented "Johnny Applesed" here last spring. The program is open to the public and as Reno has so few of this type of program it is highly recommended, especially for high school students and children of elementary school age, Miss Sameth said.

University of S. F. Dons to Clash With Wolf Pack Here This Weekend

Bay City Team Constitutes Threat to High
Flying Wolves Friday and Saturday Nights

By Max Dodge

University of Nevada's high flying basketball team bore down this week in preparation for probably its biggest test since the powerful Fleet City team came to town three weeks ago. Friday and Saturday of this week they clash horns with one of the best independent teams on the Pacific coast in the form of the University of San Francisco Dons. Sporting a season record of nine wins against nine losses, the Dons do not outwardly appear too potent.

UN REACHES CAPACITY FOR TERM

Instructor, Housing
Problems Are Discussed
By Faculty Members

The University of Nevada has reached the capacity of its facilities for the present with an enrollment of 1087 students, faculty officials concurred.

However, it was stated, at any time more facilities may become available as negotiations and plans proceed to accommodate an expected enrollment of over 1500 next fall—a total which would be the largest in the history of the institution.

As in many institutions throughout the nation students have even been "turned from our doors." According to President John O. Moseley correspondence has been received from a couple of larger western universities asking if Nevada could handle their surplus students.

Moseley explained that in light of existing conditions he "did not encourage the sending here of these additional men."

One official stated that the university can handle as many students as "can be housed," particularly with work being carried on drawing plans of the proposed arts and science classroom building and with several new instructors lined up for work here next fall.

To Hire Profs

Wartime Shortages Affect Progress Of Art Department

From the art department comes the startling news that it, too, can be considered a war "casualty." According to Mrs. Helen Joslin, head of the department, the inferior brand of wood going into the present day drawing boards is holding down the class enrollment.

"Now that may seem far-fetched," said Mrs. Joslin, "but look at it this way. Because of the inferior quality of material being used in the boards today, many have cracked, making them useless; therefore, I can only accommodate as many students as I have boards."

In spite of the "war wood" shortcomings, the art class is large, all boards being utilized, with many returning veterans in attendance.

Mrs. Joslin also stated that there was an urgent need for student models. No previous experience is necessary and the pay is 60 cents an hour. Boys and girls who are interested should contact the art department immediately.

Spring Fashions To Be Previewed Thursday Night

Spring fashions will step into the limelight at the new gymnasium next Thursday night at 8 o'clock when members of Associated Women Students present the annual fashion show.

Isabel Blythe, chairman of the affair, announced that tickets will be on sale at all the sorority houses Monday.

Miss Joanna Chapman, assistant professor of education, will act as commentator for the show. She will be introduced by Maurya Wogan, president of AWS. Two freshman students from each women's social organization will act as models.

Dean Alice B. Marsh, acting dean of women, President and Mrs. John O. Moseley and Mr and Mrs. Silas E. Ross will be honored guests.

Refreshments will be served, according to Mai Nygren, chairman of the food committee. Anita Hincinlot is in charge of arrangements. Virginia Olesen, chairman of the clothes committee, has announced that nine downtown stores will donate clothes for the show.

UNIVERSITY PLANNING

We wonder why, when an overload of students was expected to enroll at the University of Nevada with the end of the war, that something so vital as housing was left until the last minute.

Specific individuals and certain groups are to be very much commended for housing the enlarged spring enrollment when work was only really begun on the problem last semester—near the end.

Other problems, instructors and classroom space, are in the process of being solved with officials seeking suitable material to head Nevada classes and plans now being drawn up for a classroom building which is to be constructed as soon as materials become available.

Admittedly the university has now reached the limit of capacity to handle students, and this, largely through the lack of housing.

But the problem is not new. It did not arrive with the admittance of numerous veterans attending school on the GI Bill of Rights, but rather back in 1939 and a couple of years previous when the enrollment exceeded 1000. Even then arose the cry, "how can we accommodate these students with the very limited facilities at hand."

The problem then too included dormitory space, for obviously a student cannot sleep on a park bench and do top flight work in classes.

Now we are faced with the problem of not only accommodating single men, but also married men and their families.

Yet, this was expected. With the passage of the education bill for veterans colleges began to think of "over enrollments" and "peak registrations."

At Nevada when the war ended, we were caught "with our shirts tails short." We knew what to expect, but no planning had been done—in time. The reason for this is difficult to understand.

But, letting bygones be bygones, because there is hardly anything we can do about the situation this spring, we look ahead to the meeting of legislature next January, for through this body come the funds that support the state university.

What is now being done to impress them with the fact that at least during the next three years we may expect larger and larger bodies of students—and that the university will seldom, if ever, again drop below 1000 in enrollment?

The only plans thus far discovered are either temporary or those drawn up by the state planning board—to put two additions on the existing men's dormitory, Lincoln Hall. The proposed additions would house about 50 each.

The veteran attendance is expected to level off. Not all of them will finish university when lucrative jobs are available, and others will be those who do not enjoy study.

However as a matter of simple ratio it is obvious that enrollment is now on the up-grade. In the past the registration about has been three-to-one men over women and now it is about one and a half to one. Therefore, the number of students attending college, this and others, is bound to increase.

Therefore, using not very "far-sightedness" the university should erect another large dormitory. How can we attract a larger enrollment if we have no place to put them?—M. W.

Aggies Elect 1946 Officers

Meeting of the oldest organization on the University of Nevada campus, the Aggie Club, was held Wednesday night, February 20, at which officers for the coming year were elected. They are as follows: Donald Drown, president; Noel Willis, vice-president; John Warren, secretary-treasurer; Bill Eccles, historian.

Future activities, revival of Aggie-Engineer day and completion of the protective fence around the Washington elm were discussed at the meeting attended by 20 Aggie Club members, Drown said.

A committee of Doug Trail, Charles Sheerin and Michael Galli was appointed to investigate the status of the aggie farm.

Another meeting of the organization will be held sometime within the next two weeks, Drown said.

ATTENTION!

An important meeting for all track and baseball candidates will be held in the university athletic director's office in the new gym on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Dr. E. W. Lowrance To Return in Fall

More biology courses will be offered in the fall semester with the return of Dr. Edward W. Lowrance, associate professor of biology, now absent on leave, according to Dr. Frank Richardson, assistant professor of biology.

Dr. Lowrance has been instructing at the University of Kansas medical school since November, 1944, when he left the University of Nevada.

Dr. Richardson also stated that there is an increased enrollment in the pre-medical school. There are few upperclass divisions, most of the pre-med students being in their first year. Of the 100 students enrolled in the pre-med department, approximately half of them are returned veterans.

SOUND FILM SHOWN

"Four Hundred Years in Four minutes," a sound film on cake making, was shown in the agriculture building on Tuesday, according to Miss Mildred Swift, head of the home economics department. Members of the home economics classes and guests attended the showing.

that in regard to the present instructor situation, "Nevada will hire as many instructors as needed considering available funds.

"At present a number of temporary instructors have been added to the staff, and a number of courses over-enrolled have been divided into sections. In some lecture courses sections have been allowed to grow large, but only with regard for the capabilities of the professor."

Search Continues

Several permanent men have been signed to the staff to start work in the fall and the search for "best professors available" continues in filling other vacancies.

A number of professors yet on leave of absence at other universities and in the service are expecting to return here in the fall.

"At any rate," Wood explained, "the personal instructor-student contact that has long been the keynote in Nevada teaching will be maintained."

"We feel that every instructor has a duty—to know the student—and therefore to be better able to know what each individual needs to learn; and every student has the right to be known to his instructor."

Housing Situation

Dean Robert S. Griffin stated in clarifying the housing situation, "yes, university housing is at present even over-crowded, but at any time more units in the Highland Terrace project may become available and plans for the trailer camp are near completion."

In giving the present housing picture Griffin said, "there are now 93 men in Lincoln Hall, about 20 more than normally housed there, and a capacity of 60 men are being housed in the housing project."

"Assuming that the university can complete negotiations for the rest of the project by next fall, 38 more single men and 100 family men could be housed. The proposed trailer camp will house 38, and should more married veterans apply, additional camps may be set up."

"There is always hope that more space in private dwellings in Reno may be made available to students," Griffin added. But all officials interviewed agreed that this possibility is slight in the immediate future.

VETERANS WARNED

Dr. Robert S. Griffin, veterans' coordinator, issued a second warning to veterans today: all veterans who have not filled out special veteran's registration forms should do so immediately.

Also, some men have not turned in their certificates of eligibility to the registrar. These forms, coming from the veteran administrator, should be filled out and turned in immediately as these papers are necessary for the veteran's subsistence allotment.

Free Radio Time Offered to Vets

In spite of the small turnout of veterans to the student veterans meeting last night, matters of importance to the organization were discussed. One subject brought to the attention of the group was the availability of radio time, free of charge, over KOH, for use by veterans for obtaining part-time jobs and for the boosting of the organization in general.

The matter of voting upon the organization's constitution, however, has been postponed until next Thursday night at which time the election of the veterans' officers will also take place.

The importance of ratification of the organization's constitution as quickly as possible was stressed. In order that the veterans group might be recognized by the school, it must first have its constitution approved by both the student affairs committee and the student senate.

All veterans are asked to attend the meeting next Thursday night, February 28, at 7:30 in the education building auditorium.

Three Elected to Sagens Thursday

Elected to membership in the Sagens, women's upperclass service organization, at a meeting of that organization Thursday night, were Frances Burke, Zeta Phi Zeta, chosen as an unaffiliated student, and Helen Brania and Dorothy Sewell of Gamma Phi Beta. Nora Saunders, Independent, was reinstated at the meeting. Five members are eligible for membership from each of the sororities and the unaffiliated students. No other members were elected because the quotas were already filled.

Replacing Bonnie Yater, who graduated in January, as vice-president of the organization was Maie Nygren, who will hold office until the annual elections preceding Mackay Day.

Student directories will be printed as soon as the registrar's list is complete, according to Gloria Rosaché, chairman of the committee in charge of arranging the publication of the directories. Jo Miller, Genevieve Siri, Mary Beth Elkins and Florine Miller were appointed to the sales committee in charge of selling the directories.

These violators are Joan McInnis, Bob Creveling, Pat Burkhalter, Joanne Berg, Rose Nannini, Owen Chaffee, Evelyn Payne, Edward Autchenson and Mahlon Fairchild.

Willis stated that strict enforcement of the ASUN parking regulations will be made. Rules regarding parking areas have appeared in the Sagebrush and maps of the campus marking the locations of the various lots are posted on bulletin boards in campus buildings.

Car owners are responsible for knowing these parking areas and unless adhered to they will be fined accordingly.

FIFTY GRIDDERS TURN OUT FOR SPRING SESSION

Many Grid Vets Return To Vie for Former Berths on Pack Lineup

Some 50 picked aspirants will begin the battle of beef and brawn in the University of Nevada's first post-war spring football turnout, according to Jim Aiken, football coach and director of athletics.

With nearly all of last year's better-than-average team certain to be around, and the addition of more than 20 veterans, the spring practice will be featured by many individual battles for spots on the two squads which will slug it out at the termination of the session.

This inter-squad contest will be given all the fanfare of a regular fall game with bands, drum major-ettes, cheering sections and the rest. Downtown boosters who have given the Wolf Pack such loyal support in both lean and prosperous years will be invited to the preview of what the '46 version of the Nevada eleven will have to offer.

At the end positions the battle for the survival of the fittest will be the most acute. Fourteen men from six states will be at each other's throats trying to gain a little notice from the powers that be. Back from last year's team are four lettermen, Stan Kitchner, Carl Robinson, Smokey Smolinski and Max Dodge.

They will be extended to the limits of their capabilities by such men as Floyd Edsel, returning veteran and former letterman; Hollan Hendrix, a transfer from Compton College; Paul Richards from Reno High who is fresh out of the service, and Les Johnson, discharged veteran who has just joined Jake Lawlor's basketball ranks.

Others who will be out for the wing position are Vernon Kinnear and Bud Sloight, from last year's varsity; Al Phillips, Bob Youley of Evansville, Indiana, and Jack Swobe of Reno.

All-American "Buster" McClure and "Bearman" Gene Quilici will be favored to win out in the struggle at the tackle position, but John Kentera, last year letterman, will be well up in the running, as will Ed Drennon from Sacramento. Eddie Dysle, letterman, and Al Di Chiara round out the tackle position.

Guards Pat Heher and Sam Paulikidas have an edge at that position. Heher lettered last fall and Paulikidas was an Aiken mainstay in '42. Competition now is in the form of two year letterman Gus Camerano, Joe Bonjorno of last year's squad and Len Alloy, all-city from Chicago.

Frank Kirkland, veteran and Compton College transfer, will battle things out with "Wildcat" Bill Morris, last fall's standout at middle post. Jerry Munk, diminutive holdover, and Bob Mason of Reno may have different ideas.

Anyone who can figure out who will play in the backfield is sticking his chin out or is an up and coming star gazer. Headliners are last year lettermen Lloyd Rude, Darwin Farnsworth, Bob Ravera, Walt Polinski, Maury Hagleen, Bob Durham, Ebbie Robertson and others of the '45 squad. Returning letterman Turk Eliades and Jimmy Aiken will make their presence known.

Nick Paulikidas, "Duke" Drakulich, Gene Evans, Washington State transfer, will also be in the running. Morley Bockmon of Long Beach, Jesse Standish of Indiana,

Wolf Pack Registers Victories 21, 22 Over California Aggies Last Weekend

Lead by "Bombsight" Bob O'Shaughnessy with 21 points, the Nevada Wolf Pack registered win number 21 Friday night over the California Aggies by the lop-sided score of 67 to 18. About the only impressive feature of the game was the Pack's phenomenal shooting. In scoring 21 points "the Shag" sank 10 out of 14 shots from the field and Jimmy Melarkey, the team's leading scorer, sank six out of 12 to maintain his 14 point plus average.

Not quite able to figure out the Wolves' defense, the Aggies were held to four field goals and 10 free throws. Big Mike Schaffer, the visitors' leading threat, had a bad night as four Nevada centers stuck to him like blood hounds, limiting him to one basket, although he picked up five free throws to total seven points.

When the reserves took over, Bill Gillis lead the way as the Pack maintained the same hot pace by dumping in four quick ones from the field to be third high for the evening.

Saturday night saw the Pack start out a little slow, apparently still flushed with the ease of the previous night's victory. The Cal Aggies looked a much better team and those present thought for a while that it might be a ball game. Nevada came to life and Coach Jake Lawlor ran in every man on the bench to try to keep the score down. He succeeded to a degree, as the scoreboard stood 98 to 30 as the final whistle

ADDRESSES NEEDED

All students who did not put their university address on their "railroad tickets" should contact the registrar's office as soon as possible and leave their addresses. These addresses are needed for the university records, Blue Key directory and if the students live in town, the Sagebrush also wants the address to mail the Sagebrush to local students.

Improvement of 'Gow House Chow' Favored By Students in Poll Conducted This Week

By Marilyn Reynolds

"Gow house" food is under discussion again. For months gripes have been aired orally to faculty, trustees and other students, now, in the form of a student poll conducted by the Sagebrush, the students have the opportunity to see their opinions and complaints summarized.

The students, realizing the difficulty of preparing and serving food for the large number which the university dining hall must serve, have made the following statements in answer to the question, "Do you think 'gow house' food has improved any this semester in comparison to that of last semester?"

Preparation Method

Beverly Lewis, freshman, said, "I don't think it has improved, although I don't think it's the food that is bad, it's just the way it is prepared." Joe Bongiorno, freshman, stated, "I think it has improved. It's not bad at all now."

Yolo Musso, freshman, said, "It has become so bad lately, I haven't even eaten there." Betty De Campos, freshman, said, "The food has improved slightly, but then I only eat two meals a day there so I'm no authority."

No Improvement

Camille Cummings, sophomore, said, "The 'gow house' food has not improved; it is consistently atrocious!" Robbie Whitney, sophomore, said, "No it hasn't improved. How can the practice of throwing last week's leftover vegetables into a gelatin salad today make for a good meal?"

Mary Clinton, sophomore, said, "Not to any great extent. For the amount of money we students put out, the food is terrible." Joyce Stoker, freshman, stated, "No. It certainly isn't like the food that mother cooks."

Still "Awful"

Orsie Graves, junior student, said, "It has improved a little, but it's still awful." Rachel Rand, sophomore, said, "I think it has improved slightly, but for the money we spend it could and should be better." Bill Fryer, senior, said, "It has improved generally, but every now and then they give us stuff I wouldn't feed my dog."

Marilyn James, freshman, said, "It's better as a whole, but occasionally it slips back into the same old rut." Jim Mackay, freshman, said, "I don't think it has improved any. The good food is there but hasn't been, isn't, and probably never will be prepared right until there is an 'ironist' dietician to supervise the handling of the food."

Tex Harrison, freshman, said, "No. They don't ever treat the food right that they use over again."

Favoring Opinions

Alphonse Di Chiara, freshman, said, "Yes, it has and I ought to know, I serve it. The consumption is much greater this semester and there aren't many leftovers, so something new has to be prepared for every meal." Bill Geraghty, freshman, stated that it was all right with him, all he wanted was better deserts.

Nevada Retains Ski Meet Cup

Colorful Norwegian eaves trimmings, snow, a miniature ski hut, and "nixies" on skis, made up the theme carried out by Kappa Alpha Theta, winner of the outside decorations cup for the sororities. Mary Ellen Schwartz was in charge. Lambda Chi Alpha carried off the fraternity exterior decorations prize with their interpretation of a ski jump, highlighted by an elevated snow bear on skis, the Greek letters of the fraternity fashioned from snow, and a loud speaker system advertising the ski meet.

Judges for these decorations were the captains of the visiting ski teams, Raleigh Andrews of Stanford, Harry Morgan of California, and Howard Thruston of Placer.

Snow Ball

Social activities of the carnival were climaxed by the snow ball Saturday night at the State building. B. J. Wallace, Stanford coed, was crowned queen of the carnival by Stan Brown, carnival chairman. B. J., who thinks "Nevada is wonderful," was presented with a complete ski outfit, including a red parka, red hat and mittens, a gold engraved identification bracelet and ski poles. Miss Wallace is a junior at Stanford, majoring in Spanish regionalism, and is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Starting the Saturday evening events was the skiers' banquet at the Golden Hotel, presided over by Joe McDonald, former university athlete, who in turn introduced Stan Brown, carnival chairman; Lois Post, ski club president; Virginia Olesen, publicity director; Paul Parraquiere, ASUN president, and Dr. Ernest Inwood, graduate manager.

Ski Union Meet

Following the banquet a meeting of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Ski Union, at which time new officers were elected and the constitution was amended. Lois Post was elected as vice-president of organization, while Ashly Van Slyck will be the Nevada student representative and Dr. Frank Richardson will act in an advisory capacity.

Approximately 300 out of state students attended the carnival, according to Stan Brown.

Car Registration Rules Explained by Secretary of State

Because of the doubt among out-of-state students at the university as to the responsibility for Nevada registration of automobiles while attending school, Malcolm McEachin, secretary of state and commissioner of vehicles for the state of Nevada, sent a letter to the student body of the university setting forth provisions for registering passenger cars by non-resident owners.

The following regulations apply particularly to students attending the university under the GI Bill of Rights.

Out-of-State Cars

The passenger cars, operated by non-residents and registered for the current year in a foreign state, need not obtain Nevada license plates, provided the current plates from the foreign state are displayed at all times.

If the non-resident operating a motor vehicle obtains employment in this state, he immediately becomes liable to Nevada registration of his car. "This provision applies as completely to part-time employment as to full time employment," McEachin said.

McEachin pointed out in his letter that the Nevada law "defines the owner of a motor vehicle as a person having the lawful use and control of a vehicle for a period of ten or more successive days." Therefore, a car registered in the name of a parent or other person is still liable to registration, if the non-resident operator accepts employment of any type.

Registration plates are sold by the various county assessors, and the registration fee is $5. McEachin also pointed out that "non-resident" veterans could not be subject to personal property taxes on their vehicles because, as veterans, they are granted a $1000 personal property tax exemption.

He also stated that he would be happy to supply further information if it is requested.

Virginia City Outing Planned for Sunday

Newman Club outing to Virginia City, which was postponed because of the ski carnival, will be held this Sunday, February 24, according to Pat Heher, president of the club.

Members will meet in front of St. Thomas Aquinas cathedral in Reno at 8:45 am and proceed to Virginia City in private cars to attend mass at St. Mary's in the Mountains, and spend the afternoon visiting the town's historic spots.

More than 25 members are expected to make the trip, Heher said, and they all may bring guests.

Student Attendance At UN Library Doubles This Term

Twice as many students are using the University of Nevada library this semester as did last semester, according to Miss C. L. Johnson, chief cataloguer. This is due to the large number of returned veterans now on campus, and also due to the fact that everyone seems to be studying harder, Miss Johnson said. From 50 to 100 students are in the library every evening of the week.

At present there are more than 70,000 books in the library, including unbound periodicals and government publications, the total comes to almost 85,000, according to James J. Hill, librarian.

Campus library subscribes to 275 periodicals, and receives about 300 more each year by gift and exchange. Periodicals collected over a period of 25 years are unbound and in the basement of the hall of English, Mr. Hill said.

"Is that girl's dress torn or am I seeing things?" "Both."
