

Sponsor Wanted To Enter Turtle In Detroit Fete

Lucky Coed to Make Journey to Race as Turtle Trudge Queen

Wanted:
One turtle, one coed's picture and one university organization to sponsor said turtle's journey back to the University of Detroit's annual Turtle Trudge.

Delta Pi Kappa, the journalism fraternity at the University of Detroit, is reviving the school's annual Turtle Trudge, or the race of the turtles, the event slated for April 25. Colleges and universities throughout the country ship turtles to the University of Detroit to participate in the turtle race.

A picture of one of the coeds of each school entering the event may also be sent to compete in the Turtle Trudge queen contest. The girl who is chosen queen will be invited to Detroit to preside over the festivities, with all expenses paid by Delta Pi Kappa. The school whose turtle wins the trudge will be awarded a miniature gold cup.

The Turtle Trudge is a national event, with schools such as Texas Christian, Tulane, Southern Methodist, Tulsa, Yale, Santa Clara and the Universities of California, Illinois, Missouri and Michigan entering candidates.

A Nevada campus organization is wanted to provide a turtle, choose a Nevada coed, and ship the turtle and coed's picture to the University of Detroit. The only requirement is a dollar entry fee for the turtle. If the campus sponsor group would like to enter the race but is unable to obtain a turtle, all that is necessary is to send 50 cents to the University of Detroit, along with the entry fee. The university will then purchase and paint a turtle with Nevada school colors, and enter the animal in the race.

Applications for sponsorship of the turtle and the coed may be turned in at the Sagebrush office.

Program Reslated For Radio Show

"We'll Take It From Here"
Chased Off Air by H. S.

Postponed last Saturday because of the conflicting broadcasts of high school basketball championship games, the university radio program, "We'll Take It From Here" will be heard tonight at 8:30.

The outline of the program will be the same as was announced for last week's program, Jim Coleman, program director, said. Madlen Maestretti will be the celebrity of the week, while Delta Delta Delta will choose the song of the week.

Don Ealy will act as announcer and Bill Friel will read an editorial. Bill Geraghty will discuss the housing problems of the veteran.

Student Body Pres. Salary Set at $40

At a meeting held late Thursday, the finance control board voted a salary of $40 a month to the student body president, instead of $60 as was previously announced. Following a survey of other colleges, the decision was reached this week by the board.

During spring elections the question of continuing this salary to succeeding student body presidents will be settled.

Silas Ross Donates Scholarship Money

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Ross donated a sum of money to the Associated Women Students to help towards awarding their $25 scholarship, which goes to an outstanding woman student, and will be awarded later on this year, said Maurya Wogan, president of the AWS.

Lost Weekend to End At Frosh-Soph Hop

Continuing the lost weekend started in the student assembly this morning, pink, black and gold champagne glasses, beer mugs, and stripped zebras will make up the atmosphere of the frosh, soph "zebra room" tomorrow night at the State building from 9 pm to midnight, according to Pat Crummer, co-chairman of the affair.

Dr. and Mrs. John O. Moseley, Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Hicks and Mrs. Alice B. Marsh will be present as guests of the two classes, Miss Crummer also announced.

Assisting Phyllis Green, decoration chairman, are Violet Bangle, Jackie Ross, Pat Ross, Marilyn Reynolds, Roberta Whitney and Norma Eason.

Ann Bergendorf, Phyllis Baker, and Jeanne Walker are doing publicity for the dance under Scoop Holmes, chairman.

Admission charge will be $1.20 a couple and door prizes will be given to two students.

VETS WANTED TO DRIVE VEHICLES

Student veterans who have had experience in driving military vehicles are needed by Col. Gilbert E. Parker, ROTC head, April 6 to help with the official Army Day program planned for Reno.

Parade Demonstration
Arrangements have been made with the Herlong Ordnance Depot to use equipment for a parade and demonstration. Tanks, medium and heavy, LVT's, DUKW's (Ducks), scout cars, half tracks and tank destroyers are all available but the depot is short of drivers. All men interested in volunteering to drive these vehicles under Friday, demonstrate them and return to Herlong the following day are asked to see Col. Parker in the ROTC office.

Prizes are to be given to those students submitting outstanding poems to the group before March 31, and winning entries are to be published in the Nevada Chi Delta Phi magazine which is to appear this semester. Mary Ancho and Miss Kerr have been in charge of contest arrangements.

Ski Club to Hold Elections Soon

Lawlor Returns Home;
Jean Bicknell to Wed

Losing a vice-president and secretary will necessitate an election by the Ski Club at the meeting of the organization Monday at the Tri-Delt house at 8:15 pm, according to Lois Post, president.

Returns Home
Peter Lawlor, former vice-president, returned recently to New Zealand, and Jean Bicknell, who served as secretary, will be married within the next few weeks, thereby making the election in order.

Virginia Olesen has been appointed to preside over the meeting by the president, who is in the hospital because of injuries received while skiing last weekend.

NOTICE
Summer school catalogues are now available at the office of Dr. Harold N. Brown and Dean Fred Traner in the education building.

TRAILERS FOR VETS TO ARRIVE NEXT WEEK, REPORTS GRIFFIN

Dr. Robert Griffin, acting dean of men, announced this week that the long awaited trailers for the veteran housing project will arrive next week and will be ready for occupation shortly thereafter.

An earlier attempt last week to procure the trailers from Hawthorne naval base met with government authority difficulties. Griffin stated that the San Francisco FPMA office granted authority for the transfer of the trailers from Hawthorne to their future site at West Second and Chism streets.

More Red Tape
Information regarding procurement of the trailers for veterans is available in the dean of men's office. According to Griffin, separate trailer court application forms must be filed out. He added that these blanks

Parking Lot Lined By Blue Key Men, Willis Announces

University of Nevada parking lot was lined this week by Blue Key members, announced Noel Willis, president. Fines will be levied against car drivers who disregard these parking spaces.

A list of 27 names has been turned in to the comptroller's office, each of whom owes a parking fine of one dollar.

Fewer Violators
Willis stated that the number of violators have been decreasing, however, the large list of names which still exists is due to the fact that the students have owed this fine for several weeks, but have failed to pay it.

Those owing parking fines are Owen Chaffee, Edward Autchenson, M. D. Fairchild, Mrs. Florence Barrett, Joanne Berg, Pat Burkhalter, Hugh Fraser, H. G. Hox, Carl Neal, Jim Coleman, Samuel Baillie, Mrs. Emily Hilliard, Santino Oppio, Ty Short, C. H. Gorman, Dr. Bradley, Gino Quilici, George Hackworth, Henry Mayer, John Chism, Robert S. Griffin, Elmer Lyon, Jac Peterson, John Baker, Walter Menke, Luigi Desideri and Royden Beardall.

Poetry Contest Entries Received

A report on the Chi Delta Phi, national English honorary, statewide high school poetry contest pointed out that several entries have already been received from Nevada high schools, Eileen Kerr, president of the group, said today.

Prizes are to be given to those students submitting outstanding poems to the group before March 31, and winning entries are to be published in the Nevada Chi Delta Phi magazine which is to appear this semester. Mary Ancho and Miss Kerr have been in charge of contest arrangements.

Tuesday evening at the Chi Delta Phi meeting Dr. Charlton G. Laird, associate professor of English, announced that he will have open house for university professors and students interested in English at his home at 1112 Manor Drive Sunday evening. If it proves successful, other English professors will have similar Sunday evening gatherings at their homes during the semester, Dr. Laird said.

EDUCATION AUDITORIUM

Due to the recent increase in enrollment of the university, it will be necessary for any group, faculty or student, wanting to use the education auditorium to inquire of Dean Frederick Traner as to its availability.

Several times this semester there has been confusion when groups have made plans to use the auditorium, and have interrupted classes being held there.

$200 To Be Awarded For Welding Article

For the best article on welding, one student and one publication which prints the article will receive $200, according to the terms of the A. F. Davis Undergraduate Welding Award being offered now by the American Welding Society.

Dean Stanley Palmer stated that publication of the prize winners will be announced at the annual fall meeting of the organization. The contest is open to any undergraduate of a college, university or institute of technology.

ASUN SENATE NAMES BILL FRIEL HEAD OF ANNUAL MACKAY DAY CELEBRATION

MACKAY DAY HEAD

Pictured above is Bill Friel this week appointed by the ASUN senate to guide the activities of the 33rd annual Mackay Day celebration. Friel, a veteran who returned just this semester, last attended Nevada in 1943. Senate scheduled May 3 and 4 for the Mackay Day activities.

Press Club to Go To Virginia City

A trip through Sutro tunnel is in the offing for the University Press Club Sunday when the organization will spend the day in Virginia City and vicinity.

Italo Gavazzi, Nevada graduate with the class of '45 and president of Independents last year, will conduct the members on a tour through town, showing them historical points of interest. Gavazzi, long time resident of Virginia City, is also making arrangements for the trip through the mine, according to Isabel Blythe, president of the Press Club.

Risard to Head UN Rifle Club

Martin H. Risard was elected president of the newly formed Rifle Club last Friday afternoon at the regular weekly meeting in the education auditorium.

Others elected to office were Robert F. Hartor, vice-president and Mrs. Mary Watts Moore will serve as the new secretary.

Rifle Teams
An executive committee was designated and will consist of the club officers plus the captains of the three rifle teams, women's ROTC and varsity. By-laws, recently drawn up, were put before the group and accepted. The club decided on immediate affiliation with the National Rifle Association.

No Makeup for Tradition Violators

One senior, one junior and one sophomore were the violators of the upperclass committee regulations, according to Virginia Olesen, chairman of the women's upperclass committee.

Blanche Parker, Dace Ricketts and Carol Dundee, who were all caught cutting campus, were penalized for a week by going without makeup and wearing an "I cut campus" sign.

Professor to Retire Pet Razor Prior to Mackay Day

At least one faculty member will give his razor a rest after next Monday and grow a beard in keeping with the Mackay Day tradition.

Dr. Frank Richardson, assistant professor of biology, who sported a well-trimmed beard during last year's Mackay Day celebration, plans to grow one this year also.

Dr. Richardson believes that a beard growing contest should be held among faculty members or that he should be allowed to compete with the students.

Chi Delta Phi Plans Magazine

University students are eligible to submit original poetry or prose compositions for publication in a magazine to be published this semester by the campus chapter of Chi Delta Phi.

Plans for the publication were announced this week. Maurya Wogan will edit the magazine, while Virginia Olesen and Eileen Kerr were chosen as business manager and circulation manager, respectively.

Literary entries may be submitted to Chi Delta Phi magazine, care of Maurya Wogan, 753 University avenue. All material, which will be judged for merit by Chi Delta Phi members, must be sent in by April 25. The magazine will appear about a month later, and will be sold on the campus.

Mental Tests To Be Given This Saturday

Mental tests will be given Saturday at 9 am and 1 pm for all new students of the university who have not yet taken the examination in room 210 Education building, Professor Ralph A. Irwin of the psychology department, announced.

All students of the university, including special students, transfer students and students enrolled in only one course are required to take this test.

LAST SEMESTER
PLEASE NOTE
New students, including veterans, who were not here last semester and want a copy of this year's Artemisia, must pay $1.50 at the comptroller's office immediately in order to receive their books, according to Marilou Ferguson, business manager of the campus publication.

Veteran to Lead Activities Honoring University of Nevada Benefactors

Pre-War Festivities to Again Be Brought Back to Life;
Committee of 18 to Assist Friel in Preparation of May 4

Bill Friel, senior journalism major, was this week appointed chairman of the committee on arrangements for Nevada's 33rd Mackay Day celebration by the ASUN senate.

Also appointed at a special Wednesday senate meeting were 18 committee members to serve with Friel in arranging for the festivities, which will take place this year May 4 and in preparation for which campus men begin growing beards Monday.

Mackay Day Beards To Sprout Monday

All University of Nevada men must start growing a beard March 25 for Mackay Day unless excused, according to Bill Friel, Mackay Day chairman.

All excuses for not raising a beard must be presented to Noel Willis, head of the men's upperclass committee, at the ASUN office before March 25.

Ricketts Elected Home Ec Prexy

Dace Ricketts was elected president of the Home Economics Club at the regular meeting held Wednesday night.

Miss Ricketts a member of the junior class, is a home economics teaching major. She is affiliated with Zeta Phi Zeta and is house manager of Artemisia Hall.

Also elected to office were Ann Iriarte, vice-president; Dorothy Thomas, secretary; Beverly Burhans, treasurer, and Ruth Wallace, historian.

Ten Chosen for Phi Alpha Theta

Ten students will be initiated into Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history organization, at 11 am Saturday in the office of Dr. Charles R. Hicks, head of the department of history.

Pat Flavin, Carol Riley, Frances Sumner, Rachel McNeil, Anita Hincelot, Mary Lou Hovenden, Junerwanda McMichael, Jane Perkins, Ray Ceccarelli, and Ed Dodson, graduate student, will be the new initiates, according to Pauline Leveille, president of the club.

Luncheon at the Riverside hotel will follow the initiation ceremonies for the students who have completed 12 hours or more of work in history with satisfactory scholastic average, and are thereby eligible for membership into the honorary society.

McKinsey Named Head of Drive

Dr. J. C. McKinsey has been named chairman of a national relief drive sponsored by the mathematics department of the University of Nevada to help Polish scientists and logicians, according to Dr. E. M. Beesley, acting head of the department.

Books of logic, math and philosophy will be collected and sent to Poland, as pre-war Poland, stated Dr. Beesley, was probably the foremost contributor to the world in this field.

Donations of $150 in cash have already been turned in to the drive and books are being sent every day.

Campus Calendar To Be Available

Copies of the campus calendar will be available in one or two weeks, Rose Nannini, chairman of the senate committee in charge of the calendar, said.

The calendar has gone to press at the Reno Printing Co. office and will be available for the heads of the various campus organizations as well as deans and directors, and the administrative offices. Extra copies, if any, will be furnished to students.

THE OLD DAYS

It has occurred to me that prolonged insistence upon the glories of the "old days" at Nevada by students who attended here before the war and are back now, must be a bit wearing to some of those who started school later and are still around.

I know I've done my bit of wailing for the old days and glories, maybe more than most—and I've heard many another veteran holding forth on the same soap box.

I may as well set everyone straight at the beginning—this is no apology for talking about the old days. They were splendid, lusty days, and even if they are a little over-glorified by those of us who knew them and loved them, I feel they are well worth talking about. And the younger students, and those veterans who have just entered school, might conceivably learn something from them.

But I believe those who have been more or less forced to listen to these tales may be becoming, or already are, a bit bored with the "old days" and I think a little explanation of the reason the "old-timers" talk about them as they do might be in order.

For one thing the "old-days" really were good days. In normal times it was always predominantly a man's school, and there was just naturally a little less rigid control of extra-curricular affairs, life was naturally a little more free and easy, and as I've said—it's a good word—a bit lustier.

And, it must be admitted, many of us were a good deal less serious as students in those days before the war, and didn't hesitate to slight our studies if a good opportunity to raise hell appeared.

The reader will say here in rebuttal, I know, "Well, it's largely a man's school again, isn't it?" And if the reader means only that there are once again more men than women on the hill, the truth of the rebuttal would have to be admitted.

But is it a man's school? I'm inclined to think not. For one thing, a large proportion of student affairs is still run by women who attained the positions when it was still largely a woman-controlled school. Most of these women do their jobs efficiently, even admirably in some cases, it must be admitted.

But I'm talking about manner more than efficiency. And there are some things that cannot be attained by efficiency.

A second item is that controls were instituted during the war years which may prevent it ever again from being a man's campus in the old sense.

But I've digressed a bit. I was talking about the reasons for the regard the campus "old-timers" hold for the "old days," and I've intimated that for one thing, they really were good days.

But there's another reason. There is the fact that during our absence—there was a war you know—we had time to sit around and think things over, and probably surround that other fine time of our lives with a halo it may or may not have deserved.

And now most of us who have come back are daily wading around on

SOCIAL NOTES "ON THE HILL"

Another Nevada coed joined the list of engaged. Sally Beebe passed the candy at the Pi Phi house Monday night, March 18. Her future husband is Douglas Wilson, a member of the United States navy.

Winona Earl, freshman Pi Beta Phi, falling out of a tree Saturday, sprained her ankle. Lois Post, sophomore Theta, not to be outdone, broke her left ankle in three places at the California-Nevada ski meet after falling over 100 feet during the down mountain race. Dick Rowley didn't escape casualty and displays a finger in a cast, broken while playing basketball.

Marilyn James, freshman student, was pledged to Kappa Alpha Theta Wednesday afternoon, March 21. Miss James is a native of Virginia City, and is in her second semester at the university.

the campus among the ghosts of old days and other faces, of other times and old golden moments we can't possibly ever forget, and certainly can't ever belittle.

And besides, most of us now are in the position of trying to pick up, in as business-like way as possible, the loose ends of an education we left floating around here some years ago. We were all a little younger then, and probably a great deal more light hearted about the whole thing, and this new situation is, not unnaturally, puzzling to us.

Perhaps it is now apparent why all this talk about the old days on the part of returned veterans.

Most veterans have made an adjustment back to civilian life—and to college life, for that's what we are talking about here—which illustrates just how inane all the writings by self-styled authorities on how to handle (with kid gloves) the returning veteran really are.

But if some of us who have come back to school here at Nevada are having a little trouble reconciling our golden memories of the old days here with the way things are now, bear with us.

You may not believe in ghosts, but we meet them every day on the campus, and we can't help but think that some of them are damned attractive ghosts.

And so we talk about them. It's as easy as that.—Bill Friel.

Little Has Display At Fine Arts Meet

Robert Little displayed a group of his indelible pencil sketches at a meeting of Fine Arts Monday evening at the Kappa Alpha Theta house, and gave a lecture on the series.

Most of Little's work was done while he was serving overseas duty as a corporal in the army. His sketches are European landscapes, and he told the group exactly where they were located and under what conditions he drew them.

An exhibit of Little's work will be displayed at the university about April 1, Miss Cook said.

COURTESY CLINIC MEETS AT GAMMA PHI HOUSE

"Table Setting and Centerpieces" was the topic of discussion at the courtesy clinic meeting this afternoon at the Gamma Phi Beta sorority house on Sierra street.

Miss Joanna Chapman, teacher-trainer in home economics education, was in charge of table decoration, including flower arrangement, vases and place mats.

Table setting for family living was demonstrated by Mrs. Lola Stout, social director of Manzanita Hall.

PAID UP YWCA MEMBERS ARE QUALIFIED TO VOTE

Paid up members of YWCA are qualified to vote at the next general election on the panel of new officers, Rose Nannini, president, said this week.

At present the panel is being arranged by the executive committee which consists of Rose Nannini, president; Elinor Jensen, vice-president; Bliz Patterson, secretary, and Blanche Parker, treasurer.

Nearly 50 Gridiron Hopefuls Greet Jim Aiken at First Spring Scrimmage

Lettermen Augmented by Influx of Veterans With Pair of Tackles Impressing Onlookers

Spring football at the University of Nevada started with a clash of shoulder pads and head gear Monday night as Coach Jim Aiken ran his charges through a knock-down, and drag-out scrimmage in the opening session. Everyone seemed to enter into the spirit of the battle and bone bruising tackles and thunderous blocks were the order of the day. The results of the battle showed up on the campus the next morning, as men with black eyes, skinned noses, charlie horses, and stiff joints and muscles limped along between classes.

19 Lettermen

It all added up to the fact that competition for starting berths on the 1946 squad will be more acute than at any time in the recent past. Nineteen lettermen from last year will have to battle numerous returned service men, promising transfers and freshman to gain the nod next fall, while some will have to be satisfied with last fall's clippings.

Several men were outstanding in the initial session. Catching everyone's eye in the line was Stannard Frank, husky all-stater from Stewart. Just returned from the South Pacific, the 194-pound tackle is the first Stewart Indian school athlete to attend the university.

Among other names to watch for next fall in the line is Tony Chuffi, 212-pound tackle from Los Angeles, who last fall started for the University of Pittsburgh and was named on Notre Dame's all apponent team. Also standing out in the line were Dan Olguin 197-pound tackle from Sparks, Ed Drennon, 200-pound tackle from Sacramento's McClatchy high, and Lou Popp at center.

A host of good backs brought a smile to Aiken's face as they tore up the turf with displays of speed and power. Darwin Farnsworth, last season's top ball packer, looked good on cut back plays and exhibited the same change of pace that made him so slippery last season before he broke his collarbone on a 280-pound Tulsa tackle. Lloyd (the Horse) Rude looked extremely powerful on line backs and end runs.

Melarkey Leads Hoop Season With 335 Points

Dropping in 355 points in 26 contests, Jimmy Melarkey, five foot eight inch forward, wound up on top of the scoring list as the University of Nevada completed its 1946 basketball season with a record of 28 wins and five losses. Melarkey's jump shot which is nearly impossible to check averaged him 14 digits a game. Second with 237 was long shot artist Jim Mackey, followed by Grant Davis with 213.

All-American "Bombsight" Bob O'Shaughnessy although playing in but 16 of the 33 contests tanked 204 points. In the three games played in the Kansas City NAIB tourney "Shag" averaged 18 points per contest.

Weather Hampers Track, Baseball

Baseball will not get under way until Monday due to adverse weather conditions, according to Jake Lawlor, head baseball coach. Practice, which was supposed to begin two weeks previously, will then begin in earnest. Many of the men going out for baseball will also be going out for football, while others will be going out for track.

Track, which was also scheduled for an earlier beginning, will start Monday. The reason for the late start in track is the shortage of sufficient equipment to begin training. Enough equipment is expected to be in by then to warrant the beginning of the sport.

Schedules for both sports are still tentative and will be light for the first year of competition since the war years.

Hawkins Places In Weekend Meet

Les Hawkins, Nevada student, rated fifth in the California Ski Association championship tournament at Mt. Rose last weekend, placing fifth in the slalom and ninth in the down mountain run. Hawkins was the top representative from the Reno Ski Club while Ashley Van Slyck also placed for the Reno team.

Six Nevada students, Ashley Van Slyck, Eddie Meaker, Les Hawkins, Ted King, Jerry Brown and Lois Post, competed in the meet with nationally known skiers.

The meet, sponsored by the Reno Ski Club and Reno Winter Sports Association, was won by Dick Mowitz, 19 year old ski star from Salt Lake City, record holding entrant for down mountain runs. More than 50 acclaimed skiers entered the meet from all of the western states.

Cage Star Named On All-American First String Team

O'Shaughnessy Mentioned As Outstanding Player In Recent Tournament

Nevada's national prestige took a sharp upward trend last week when "Bombsight" Bob O'Shaughnessy was named on the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball's first All-American five. Considered by many as the most outstanding player of the recent NAIB tourney at Kansas City, "Shag" could have easily claimed this honor had Nevada won another game. Those witnessing the tourney agreed that he was easily the most popular, as his floor work and long shorts from the center of the floor continually brought rounds of applause.

In gaining this honor O'Shaughnessy became the first basketball player in the history of the school to be so honored. The only other basketball player to be mentioned for All-American honors was Dan Bledsoe who was mentioned in both 1932 and '33 while playing on a team that didn't approximate the record of the present squad. Bledsoe is now coaching at White Pine high school in Ely.

A player's reputation seems to better with age and probably in a few years when all the old timers start hashing over players of the past "Shag" O'Shaughnessy will be mentioned more often than most as the greatest athlete ever to play for the university.

Once there was a very famous Indian by the name of Shortcake. When he died all the young braves were arguing about who should have the honor of burying him. At last his squaw came in and said, "Squaw bury Shortcake."

Three Activities Added to WAA Sports Schedule

Nine activities, softball, riding and tennis, all of which will begin next month, and archery, rifle, dance, bowling, swimming and Outing Club, which are continued from last semester, are being offered for WAA credit this semester, Mrs. Mary Watts Moore, president, announced.

Schedule

The plans for these WAA sports and those for a tentative spring play day to which Sacramento Junior College, Lassen Junior College and Auburn Junior College, will be invited, were made at the WAA board meeting last week, Mrs. Moore said.

The WAA sport schedule now includes archery, 4 pm on Monday and Wednesday; rifle, 4 and 5 pm on Monday and Wednesday; dance, 4 pm on Tuesday and Thursday; bowling, 9 and 10 am on Tuesday and Thursday; swimming, 1:30 to 3 pm Tuesday and Thursday and 7:30 to 9 pm Thursday evenings; Outing Club time is yet to be arranged. Beginning April 2 at 4 pm on Tuesday and Thursday will be softball; tennis at 4 pm Monday and Wednesday, and in the first week of April, riding, the time for which has not been set.

Two Stanford Alumni Visit U of N Campus

Dr. Donald Tresidder, president of Stanford University, along with Mr. Neal Van Soocy, former journalism teacher at Stanford, visited the Nevada campus last week, according to Dr. C. H. Gorman, university comptroller.

Tresidder and Van Soocy came to Reno to attend a luncheon and dinner given annually by the Reno chapter of the Stanford Alumni, and also to visit the University of Nevada.

"What is home without a mother?" said the guy to his gal on the phone.

"I am tonight," sighed the girl.

BRITISH-YANKEE DICK VALE

By Bill Gillis

American college coeds—Nevadans in particular—are extremely juvenile, is the general opinion of Richard C. Vale, who, though not an international authority on the subject, has made several round-the-world tours thus acquiring a definite idea concerning woman's pulchritude on a comparatively world basis.

Currently doing post graduate work at the University of Nevada, Dick was destined for an average American boyhood until the intervention of President Coolidge. At one year of age Dick departed for England with his father who had been recently appointed as the American vice-counsel to the British Isles by the president.

From 1927 until 1938 Dick attended Stonhurst College which is often referred to as the Catholic Eton of England. He also displays a decided negative opinion concerning the American system of education. "While this country is 100 years in advance of the British industrial techniques, the general educational system in the United States offers students only a patch of education compared to England."

Summer vacations led to excursions in France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Yugoslavia, Spain, Portugal, Russia, Czechoslovakia, North Africa, Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Palestine. While in Vienna in 1936, Dick saw the man who was later to change his life a great deal—Adolph Hitler.

Dick Vale enlisted in the Royal Air Force volunteer reserve corps, though under age, and while visiting Rouen, France, on leave from the RAF in September, 1939, he first heard Prime Minister Chamberlain's "state of war" address to the world.

Dick headed back to France following the outbreak of the war as a sergeant flight mechanic and survived the battle of Dunkirk.

"Lucky to be alive after that blood-stained debacle," was the air force sergeant's terse reply.

"I remember while we were waiting on the beaches to be evacuated that eight of us were taking cover in a shell hole. I heard a blinding flash and the Jerry artillery fire had scored a direct hit on our hole. Two of us escaped unscathed. The other six—I'm lucky to be alive."

After Dunkirk, Dick kicked around participating in the historic battle of Britain and eventually wound up on the Libyan desert on the Benghazi shuttle ran flying Sunderlands.

Back in England Dick received his only wound of the war when he was nicked in the abdomen by flak while piloting a Spitfire over Calais, France.

American at heart, Dick received his discharge from the RAF and on March 19, 1942, enlisted in the AAF in London. Later assigned to the eighth air force, the American born soldier endowed with Tommy traits participated in 34 missions over Europe in a B-17 until he was shot down in March of '43. Taken prisoner by the Germans, Dick's international schooling enabled him to become the camp interpreter not only for the Americans, but for the other captured allied prisoners as well.

Probably Dick's happiest moment of his extensive war career was climaxed two years after his capture when he was liberated by the Russians in March of last year. "You might say that liberation found me with a good case of malnutrition," the Cambridge graduate mused.

Exactly 20 years after leaving the land of his birth, Dick returned last year as a member of the AAF. Now Dick is preparing to leave for the Orient, one of the few places he hasn't been, where he will serve on General Douglas MacArthur's staff in an administrative capacity.

AWARD FOR SERVICE

A sleeping village in the path of a raging flood . . . at her switchboard an operator makes call after call to alert the community and summon aid. She leaves only when rising waters reach the board and the building itself becomes flooded.

For this and similar acts of public service, more than 1,200 telephone men and women have received the Bell System's most coveted award—the Theodore N. Vail Medal.

Service to the public has long been a tradition in the Bell System. The thought "service first"—day by day as well as in emergencies—has helped give this nation the best communications service in the world.

Pi Phied Piper Pis Rudy M; Mouse's Tale Ends

By George Himes

Rudy M. is dead. An end has come to the colorful career of the Peeping Tom of the Pi Phi house.

Rudy M. is dead. Rudy M. (the M. stands for mouse) was executed Tuesday at 11 am after being tried by a high court of house members of Pi Beta Phi shortly before. The criminal was apprehended by Mary Ancho, the Pi Phied piper of Sierra street, and final rites were conducted by Frances Sumner, grand high executioner.

Grand Entry

Rudy M. made his appearance two weeks ago down the chimney of the Pi Phi house much as the wolf in the fairy tale.

Favorite tricks of Rudy were climbing the curtains of the living room during the Monday meetings of the sorority girls, sitting at the head of the bedstead while the beds were being made and raiding the cupboard of those juicy tidbits that satisfy a mouse's hunger. High on the priority list of Rudy M. were almond Hershey bars, followed closely by nylon hose.

Tall Tale

Rudy M. was variously described as cute, chubby and even fat and was the proud possessor of a six inch tail that proved to be his downfall, for it was the suspension by that tail that the culprit was brought to justice.

Sentenced to death by drowning, Rudy M. surprised the official witnesses by proving to be an able swimmer and force was needed to fulfill the sentence.

Sierra Cemetery

Rudy M. was laid to rest beneath a modest headstone behind the house on Sierra street. The end of a colorful career.

Rudy M. is dead. Does anyone have a cat?

Members Sought By Wesley Group

Membership drive for Wesley Foundation, Methodist organization for college students, will soon get underway, according to Jeanne Creed, president.

All returned veterans and other new students are welcome to attend the informal talks, worship services and socials every Sunday evening from 6:30 to 9:30, Mrs. Creed said.

Several university professors have spoken at the meetings on youth in the post-war world, and ministers from various Reno churches have lead discussions in order that different types of religion may be better understood.

Every other week Wesley Foundation leads the worship services following the discussions, and the high school Methodist organization is in charge on the alternating weeks.

The social hour is spent in dancing or playing games, according to Betty Tracy, recreational chairman, and a large get-together will be held in the near future for prospective members.

The organization is considered a standard university activity, and one does not necessarily have to be a Methodist to belong, Mrs. Creed said.

A pinch of salt may be improved by dropping it into a stein of beer.

Journalism Interns Now Number Eight

After several lean war years, with an all-time low of one student enrolled last year, the journalism departments internship course is reviving. With an enrollment of eight senior journalism majors, the largest in four years, the practical experience course is utilizing the facilities of the downtown newspapers and the United Press, termed cooperatives by the department, and is giving the student journalists valuable experience by actually allowing them to work on a professional newspaper.

The student journalists and their assignments are as follows: Donald Segerstrom and George Ross, Reno Evening Gazette; Mary Donlin, Madlen Maestretti and William Friel, Nevada State Journal; Isabel Blythe and Maurya Wogan, Reno bureau of the United Press, and Rex Daniels and William Friel, KOH radio station.
