Jim Aiken Leaves Wolf Pack Campus To Take Over Oregon Coaching Reins

No Replacement Yet Named to Assume Post Vacated by 'Whispering Jim'

By Gene Evans

Followers of the Wolf Pack were stunned this week when Jim Aiken, the man who has put Nevada in the sports limelight, announced he had accepted a position to coach the Oregon Web-foot. News of the shift came at a time when the toughest schedule in recent years was being lined up for Nevada.

Aiken left immediately, following the announcement, for Oregon where he will be introduced to the Oregonians between halves of a basketball game Friday evening. He will return to the campus to clean up his business here and then proceed to the northern Oregon school's campus sometime in April to assume his new duties.

McDonnell Spokesman

Joe McDonnell, graduate manager and spokesman for the Nevada board of athletic control, stated that no action had yet been taken to fill the vacancy left open by Aiken's advancement. "We are going to let the matter sit for a while," said McDonnell. "There's no hurry to fill the position. The board feels that by letting the matter rest, there will be less chance of making a mistake."

McDonnell went on to say that no applications for the position had yet been filed. Sometime next week, the board will meet to discuss possible men available for the job.

Dick Miller, end coach of last year's eleven, has accepted an invitation to accompany Aiken, who is being allowed to choose his own staff, to Oregon. The invitation was also extended to Jake Lawlor, line coach, and Jim Bailey, backfield coach, but up to the present time neither has accepted.

Colorful Era

The movement northward by Aiken brings to a close his role in a colorful era in Nevada athletics. Taking over the athletic reins of the university when things were in a turmoil, Aiken's first year at Nevada, 1939, saw him bring the far western conference title to the Pack. After that Nevada withdrew from the conference and the school joined the independent ranks.

Although Aiken's record of 38 wins, 26 losses, and four ties is not too impressive, the bulk of the losses came during the lean war years when Nevada carried on despite a manpower shortage. The last two seasons were the Pack's best, and the two that boosted Aiken into the position of prominence he holds today.

During the mentor's reign as head football coach and director of athletics at the University of Nevada, he produced several players who gained national recognition. Marion Motley, great Negro fullback of the professional ranks, got his start under the tutelage of Aiken.

Horace Gillom, who recently left Nevada to turn pro, was selected as all-Pacific coast and named to many all-American elevens. Bill Mackrides, quarterback on last season's team, was recognized as one of the leading passers in the country, and was a key reason for the Wolves capturing the national championship in passing yardage.

The ex-Nevada athletic director intends moving his entire family to Oregon as soon as convenient. However, before boarding a plane Tuesday for the northern school, he said, "I regret very much to leave Nevada and my friends here, but I consider the Oregon offer a big opportunity for advancement."

World War III Threatens, Says Ely Culbertson

World Famed Bridge Authority and Wife Give Lecture Tuesday Morning

"The basic cause of the first and second world wars was the absence of central authority among sovereign states. This same factor will lead to a third world war which is now threatening," said Ely Culbertson, chairman of the citizens committee for United Nations reform, in his lecture Tuesday morning to university students, faculty and townspeople. Mr. Culbertson offered the quota force plan to provide for that authority in the United Nations.

President John O. Moseley introduced Mrs. Hazel Payne, chairman of Town Hall, under whose sponsorship Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson were lecturing. Mrs. Payne presented Ely Culbertson, author, lecturer, and bridge authority. Mrs. Culbertson was graduated from Vassar in June, and was chairman of the student division of the United Nations reform.

'45 to '50 Important Years

The most important years in the world's history, with the exception of the time of Christ's birth, Mr. Culbertson said, will be 1945 to 1950. The fundamental causes of the first and second world wars are economic adjustment, lack of education and religion, but the basic cause is absence of central authority among sovereign states, and this last basic factor may bring on the third world war which is now threatening, Culbertson continued.

The time factor, he said, is very important. "How much time have we, Americans, in which to build that effective central authority that would prevent the violence. It is true that today the United States is the mightiest nation of all time. There is virtually no limit to the military might of the United States."

"We control the seas; we control the air, and we have a monopoly on the absolute weapon, the atomic bomb. We have the active good will of four-fifths of the world. We are seeking no profit out of our might. We are seeking not one inch of territory, not one cent of profit. We seek a world order free from aggression." The time factor, Culbertson stressed, is important, because "in two or three years, by 1949, Russia will have her own atomic stock piles."

Barrett President Of Newly Organized Music Honor Group

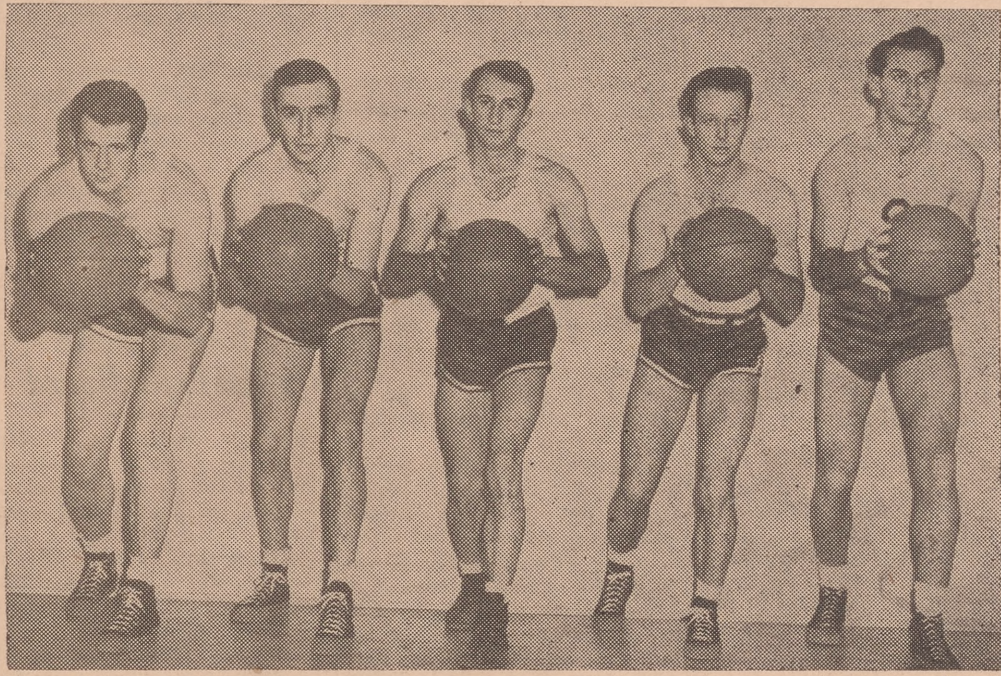

Lewis Barrett was elected president of the newly organized honorary music society at a meeting held last week. Gloria Rosaschi was chosen vice-president and Roydon Beardall, secretary-treasurer.

The purpose of the club is to promote a better musical organization and create interest in the university singers from semester to semester, to unite the present members of the men's and women's university choral groups and to plan for social activities.

Students must have at least one semester's affiliation with the men's or women's choral group to become eligible for membership.

Dues of 50 cents a semester will be levied on each member and this money will pay for pictures in the Artemisia.

DESERT DAM READY FOR WAVES

Wolf Pack Favored Over Pepperdine In Important Tilt

Top Coast Independents Battle for Supremacy In Weekend Series

By Ray Gardella

The "Battle of the Giants" looms as a "natural" tonight when Nevada's Wolf Pack cagers clash with the powerful Pepperdine Waves in the first of a two game series in the university gym at 8:15 pm. The scrappy freshmen quintet tangles with the Turf Club in the preliminary at 7 pm.

Nevada's reputation as a leading independent team on the Pacific coast is at stake against a quintet that has won eight of 15 games against top flight opponents. Undefeated in nine contests on their own court this season, the Pack will be slight favorites to cop the encounters in the most important tilts since their Eastern excursion.

Pepperdine's colorful aggregation, reputedly the strongest team in their sector, has defeated Occidental, Loyola of New Orleans, North Texas Teachers, Houston University, Texas A & M, Hardin-Simmons and Chapman (twice), while losing to Bowling Green, Eastern Kentucky, Valparaiso, Salt Lake Eckers, Oklahoma City Airliners, Los Angeles Shamrocks and San Diego State (a one point upset).

Campus Cops Use Parking Fine Money

Who gets the money from parking fines?

The University of Nevada does not get it, Dr. Robert S. Griffin, dean of men, said today.

To clear up any misunderstanding about the disposition of the one dollar fines for parking violations on the campus, the money goes to the comptroller. It is then placed in a special fund for the use of the committee in charge of enforcing parking regulations.

The money is used to pay for printing parking tickets and safety posters and the purchase of traffic signs and red paint for marking off restricted areas.

The current parking regulations were approved by board of regents in 1940, and are enforced by the Blue Key, national honorary service fraternity, composed of upperclass men.

Address Changes Cause Difficulty For Dean of Men

All students should keep the university informed as to their correct address, Dr. Robert S. Griffin, dean of men, said today.

Much difficulty has been encountered lately in locating students who have moved since notifying the university of their address and telephone number. Married veterans have been most delinquent in this respect.

"I haven't been able to locate some students even to do them a favor," Dr. Griffin said.

In the event of a housing vacancy of some kind, the next person on the list is notified, but difficulty has been encountered in locating the students to inform them of their good fortune, the dean of men added.

Seven Universities Given Invitations To Ski Carnival

Invitations to participate in the annual ski carnival, to be held February 21, 22 and 23 at Spooner's summit and Mount Rose Bowl, have been extended by Nevada to seven western colleges, Mahlon Fairchild, chairman of the carnival, announced this week.

The colleges are Stanford University, UCLA and the universities of Oregon, California, Washington, Utah and New Mexico.

University of California has accepted the invitation, but Washington University will be unable to attend as the dates conflict with a ski meet to be held by that university, Wayne Bradford, publicity chairman for the carnival, stated. An invitation may be extended to the University of Denver to replace the University of Washington team, Bradford added.

The ski carnival will begin Friday, February 21, with a meeting of all skiers competing, Fairchild said, and open house will be held the same afternoon at the houses of the four sororities on the campus.

Saturday's events will be held at White Hills on Spooner's summit and will consist of jumping and cross country. Downhill and slalom events will be held Sunday at Mount Rose Bowl, Fairchild announced.

The ski carnival dance is to be held February 22, according to Barbara Olesen, chairman of the dance committee. Definite plans have not been made but the committee is trying to hire a name band, Miss Olesen said. Other members of the committee include Dale Riley, Lorin Yparraquiere, Harold Okholm, Bliz Patterson and Vivian Davis.

Non-Stop Skaters Prevent 'Flooding'

Because skaters would not stay off Manzanita Lake long enough, the attempt by a group of Manzanita Hall students to flood the lake and thus produce smooth... ice... was... foiled... Miss Ethel Longbaugh, junior A & S student, said today.

She said that Chief Evans of the Reno fire department has offered to help any campus organization which will undertake the task of scraping and flooding the lake.

Winchell Wowed By Wire At Ely's Finesse

In view of the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson lectured here Tuesday morning, students might be interested in this excerpt from Winchell's column of Friday, January 10:

"Chandler, Arizona: Dear Walter," passionately telegraphs Ely Culbertson, author of "Bridge to Peace," "I am getting married this week at San Marcos Hotel here to a Vassar beauty and intellectual, graduated June. She dedicated her life to world peace. Romance born at Chicago peace rally where I was a speaker and she a delegate for students comm for U. N. reform. Holding scoop for you as you nice to me long time—Ely."

"Fine scoop. What's her name. Didden yez ever hear in the newspaper biz, to be a reporter, you gotta know the six Ws?"

"Who, what, where, when, why and Walter!"

Religious Service Is Planned for UN

Plans for a director of religious services for the University of Nevada are being formed, Professor Irving Sandorf, professor of electrical engineering, announced today. Professor Sandorf is acting in behalf of the Campus Club, the oldest religious organization of its kind on the campus.

The director will have a full time job. He will conduct religious education and services at the university, and will organize church activities at the Federated Church of Reno.

Professor Sandorf said that the director will also advise students on their personal problems.

Board of Regents Receives Members

Albert Hilliard and John Cahlan will be formally received as members of the university board of regents at a special meeting to be held at the university Saturday, January 25, President John O. Moseley announced.

Hilliard, a prominent Reno attorney, and Cahlan, acting managing editor of the Las Vegas Evening Review-Journal, were elected to the board of regents in the general election last November. Retiring members of the board are Leo A. McNamee of Las Vegas and Chris H. Sheerin of Elko.

Artemisia Cost Exceeds Income, States Nannini

Artemisia costs for 1946-47 will exceed the estimated income by $1460 as shown in a report of receipts and expenditures presented at a meeting this week to the student senate by Rose Nannini, business manager of the yearbook.

The senate acknowledged the fact that funds are needed and could be raised by charging each student an additional dollar for the yearbook, Hans Wolfe, ASUN president, said. In order to do this, however, the ASUN constitution would have to be changed and this can only be done by a student vote. Before definite plans for raising the money are made by the senate, the senators were asked to discuss the matter with the organization they represent, Wolfe said.

Two alternate members were sworn in at the Wednesday senate meeting. They are Emmett Johnson, Highlanders, and Thomas Macaulay, Independents.

The resignation of Jack Diehl as chairman of the upperclass committee was accepted by the senate and Pete Hanford was named to replace him. Diehl stated that he was resigning because he is participating in too many activities and that the committee was receiving an increasing amount of criticism. Diehl was left on the committee as a member and Baxter Martin was named as Highlander representative to the committee.

Social Committee Will Meet Tuesday

The social calendar committee composed of college deans and students will meet Tuesday afternoon in the hall of English to arrange the campus social calendar for next semester, Dean Robert S. Griffin, committee chairman, announced today.

'Y' ADVISORY BOARD TO REPORT MONDAY

An advisory board meeting of the YWCA will be held from 6 to 7:30 on Monday evening, January 20, announced Barbara Thompson Pinjuv, YWCA secretary. Mrs. John Bibb will preside at the meeting.

YWCA Head Weds During Weekend

Barbara Thompson, YWCA secretary, was married Saturday to George Pinjuv, special student. The wedding took place at the Carson City home of Leslie Harvey, a member of YWCA.

The bride is from Wahpeton, Mrs. James Rogers, formerly Jeanne Huesgan of Devils Lake, North Dakota, and the best man was Mr. S. H. Vinocour, university English instructor.

The bride is from Wahpeton, North Dakota, and has been in charge of the YWCA here since September. The groom is from Las Vegas, Nevada. The couple will take a wedding trip during Easter vacation when they will visit Mrs. Pinjuv's family in North Dakota.

SAGENS MEET

Sagens, campus women service organization, held their regular meeting Thursday evening at the ASUN building, Jo Ann Miller, president, reported today.

SKIERS ENTER NMU CARNIVAL

Members of Nevada's ski team left Tuesday for New Mexico, where they will participate in the first annual ski carnival at the University of New Mexico. The meet takes place Friday and Saturday.

The University of Nevada was invited to the meet by Jim McNamara, at one time a sports writer for one of the San Francisco papers and covered winter sports. He became interested after covering one of Nevada's annual ski carnivals at Mount Rose and brought about a similar meet in New Mexico this year.

Skiers making the trip include Dick Munn, Barnes Berry, Les Hawkins, Cliff Banta and Mickey Munley.

NEWMAN BREAKFAST

Newman Club, Catholic student group, will hold its club breakfast following 9:30 am mass Sunday, January 19, at St. Thomas Aquinas Cathedral, Miss Alice Etchart, secretary, announced today.

IT'S CARSON CITY'S PROBLEM

Nevada's many problems land in the laps of its legislators Monday. Heading the list of necessary action are the needs of the University of Nevada.

The ASUN student improvement committee was formed to investigate the immediate problems facing the university from the student's angle. This group did its work well in this respect. It did not stop there, but followed up with letters informing the newspapers and legislators of the state of its decision.

Listed by the committee as vital needs of the university are:

1. A substantial increase in the salaries of all instructors if the university hopes to retain an adequate faculty.
2. An increase in the staffs of many colleges, before they can be fully accredited.
3. More and improved equipment for many departments before they can be accredited.
4. Renovation of present campus buildings.
5. Three new buildings to accommodate the increasing enrollment.

The improvement committee has done its part in the program. Nevada students can do their part by bringing these objectives to the attention of their parents, friends and representatives if these endeavors are to accomplish anything. Students—back your committee and your university by telling Nevada's citizens what its university needs.

War Born Group Plans to Disband

With their original purpose of wartime service gone, members of the student service board proposed to disband at the regular meeting held Wednesday in the YWCA room. The disbandment was sent to the senate for approval.

Originally organized as the war board, the group was active in service drives and in other wartime functions.

Rachel McNeil, president, conducted the group's last meeting. Attending were Miss McNeil, Dean Elaine Mobley, Virginia Cole, Marianne Wells, Janet Da Costa, Dorothy Sewell and Ty Short.

Vet Administration Training Officer Instructs GIs

Veterans Leaving University At Semester's End See Keith Lee

Any veteran who will graduate or plans to drop out of school at the end of this semester should report to the Veterans Administration office immediately, Keith L. Lee, veterans training officer, said today.

A supplemental certificate for further training will then be issued to preserve the veteran's eligibility under the GI bill.

Veteran students who are dissatisfied with their present program and are considering making a change may request counselor service from the Veterans Administration. A part of this service is a series of tests to determine the student's general aptitudes, Mr. Lee said.

Hereafter reports of compensation for productive labor will be turned in on a semester basis and will include an estimate for the next period, the veterans training officer said.

The new form can be picked up from the Veterans Administration office and must be turned in by registration, February 3, or no subsistence check will be issued.

The form asks for the total income from productive labor for the past four months. Data covering November and December of 1946 and January of 1947 is all that is required at this time, Mr. Lee said.

CAMPUS QUERIES

"What is your impression of the ice skating on Manzanita Lake this season?" was asked students this week. Here are some of the answers. A few were unfit for a college.

Charleen Audrain, freshman, laughingly said, "I received a lasting impression—physically, not mentally."

Johnny Laxalt, freshman via Carson City, who is a pre-legal major, disgustedly asserted, "It was just like roller skating over cobblestones."

Julia Baker from Winnemucca, angrily stated, "The fire department refused to flood Manzanita Lake because they claimed it was too choppy—which is precisely the reason we wanted it flooded."

Dick Gilbert, sophomore from Reno, says, "It's too . . . cold."

Georgia Anne Mershon, graduate of the University of Oklahoma and librarian at the University of Nevada, declared that she is only a beginner, but after mentioning her black and blue marks stated, "It's sure fun . . . I think!"

Blue Key to Build New Bulletin Board

Bulletin board construction for the north campus is the plan of Blue Key, campus upperclassmen service group, announced Danny Rice, chairman of the project, today. Jimmy Glynn, Rex Ricketts and George Voss were named to serve on the bulletin board committee.

The northeastern corner of the quad is the tentative site for the board, stated Rice. A large number of students now live north and west of the campus, and the present bulletin board near the library is off their beaten path.

Gamma Phi Engagement Announced at Tea

Mrs. Harvey Sewell entertained at an afternoon tea Sunday to announce the engagement of her daughter, Miss Dorothy Sewell, Gamma Phi Beta president, to Thomas H. Gallagher, pre-dental student from Elko.

Scene of the announcement was the Sewell home on Marsh avenue.

Miss Mary Lou Sewell, sister of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Robert P. Farrar greeted the guests at the door. A betrothal card bearing the news was presented each guest by Miss Helen Brania.

Invited to pour at tea were Mesdames W. W. Conant, Harold Luce, Donald Bates and Joseph Deming. Assisting in serving were Misses Eileen Kerr, Bliz Patterson, Ida Kellough, Carol Keith, Rachel McNeil and Betty Walker, all sorority sisters of the bride-elect.

A senior student, Miss Sewell will be graduated in June. She has been active in many university organizations and was recently named in Who's Who.

Gallagher is the son of Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Gallagher of Elko. Having served three years with the army, he returned to the Nevada campus this semester. Following the marriage, which will take place in September, he plans to attend dental school in San Francisco.

Wolf Pack Favored Over Pepperdine In Important Tilt

Coach Jake Lawlor, with an imposing array of basketball talent, will probably depend largely upon his mainstay quintet composed of diminutive Jim Melarkey and sharpshooter Grant Davis at forwards; lanky Hal Fischer at center; All-American Bob O'Shaughnessy and backboard ace Bill Moylan at the guard spots.

Seeking their 13th and 14th wins of the season, the Pack hoopsters have thus far defeated Sacramento AAU, Hawthorne Marines, Chico State (twice), St. John's University, Colorado A & M, Brigham Young, Loyola (twice) and California Aggies (twice), while losing only to Georgetown, St. Joseph's and Duquesne.

Not too optimistic over the outcome, Coach Lawlor predicts the toughest series of the season against the tall, lanky Pepperdine five stating "Anyone who predicts a winner in either game is a good guesser."

There were no indications that center Max Dodge and forward Scott Beasley, who were declared ineligible last week, would be reinstated for tonight's encounter.

Lassen Junior College will provide the opposition for the frosh in tomorrow night's preliminary, starting at 7 pm.

PACK TRACKS

By Ray Gardella

The sudden exit of Jim Aiken from Nevada's grid picture came as a stunning surprise to Wolf Pack followers. Jim has done a great job of making Nevada a "big time" football machine—a far cry from yesterday.

The sudden realization that Nevada is without a grid coach makes one shudder in view of the fact that we'll be facing some of the top teams in the nation next fall.

One can hardly blame Jim for heading for greener pastures. Jim's record is certainly deserving of a chance to display his coaching ability at the University of Oregon next fall.

Not since the hey-days of 1922-23 when Chet Scranton, Jimmy "Jackrabbit" Bradshaw, and company played such vaunted teams as California, St. Mary's, University of Southern California, Santa Clara and Stanford, will the Pack have competed against such outstanding gridsters as they will meet this fall.

St. Mary's, Tulsa and Oregon, a usual powerhouse in the Pacific coast conference, will probably be the toughest teams Nevada will face in their energetic schedule. St. Mary's lost to Georgia Tech, 41 to 19, in the Oil Bowl, while Tulsa suffered a one touchdown defeat at the hands of Detroit, 20-14, for its only loss last season.

The will to win spirit Nevada's gridsters demonstrated last season should cause plenty of grief for opposing teams. With Bill Mackrides, national passing champion, still in the fold, Nevada's grid prospects for a banner year appear very bright. Our faith in Nevada's cage team remains undaunted and we predict a double victory over Pepperdine in this week's series. Nevada's ability to rise to great heights against better teams spells nothing but trouble for the potent Pepperdine cagers. Though not exactly spectacular in some recent victories, one must remember the Pack was never hard pressed to win, and defeated all opponents by nine points or better, which is pretty impressive in our books.

Aggies Stopped Cold
Last week's encounter with Cal Aggies provided a spectacle seldom seen in college circles. Stellar guarding and impressive floor play by Nevada's cage quintet held the Aggies to three points and NOT ONE basket during the entire first half.

Skiing Conditions Better This Week

Skiing conditions at the local slopes were much better than last weekend. There had been no new snow but the sun and other elements melted down the crust leaving a fair surface.

The usual group of enthusiasts were at Sky Tavern and were met with a good flurry of snow and wind most of Sunday afternoon.

The first university casualty on the ski hill was Ann Bergendorf who suffered a broken ankle this weekend. Travelers Elizabeth Benz and Anrea Ginocchia were snowed in for most of the weekend during a trip to take in the skiing at Soda Springs.

Two Games Booked; Others in the Fire

Only two grid games have been officially announced so far for the 1947 season. Tulsa will meet Nevada in the October 25 Homecoming tilt. The Pack will face Jim Aiken's new alma mater, the University of Oregon, October 4 at Portland.

Two midwest games are signed but announcement will come from those schools—the home teams. USF, St. Mary's and Portland U are near-certainties as opponents. Iowa University is also negotiating with Nevada.

WOLF PACK CAGERS CHALK UP 11TH, 12TH WINS OF SEASON

Nevada's Wolves of the hardwood annexed their eleventh and twelfth victories of the season over the weekend when they downed the California Aggies 47-38 and 38-24. Falling back on the tactics they have used in past contests, the Pack played only well enough to win both games.

In Friday evening's affair, the Nevada cagers took the lead immediately following the opening whistle and were never headed. When the two teams left the court at half time, the Pack was out in front 31 to 16. An inspired Aggie team took the floor for the second half and outplayed the visitors from Reno. However, the comeback started too late and Nevada won 47-38.

Grant Davis, Wolf forward, was high man for the victors with 13, but Ken Shaffer, Aggie center, led the scoring for the evening with 16 points. Jimmy Melarkey, Davis' running mate, turned in 12 markers for third best honors.

Wolves Are Hot

Apparently intent on distilling any Aggie hopes of victory the second night, the Wolves turned in perhaps their best half-game performance of the year. Defensively and offensively, they were "on."

For 20 minutes the Wolves held the Aggies to a mere three points. So tight was the Nevada defense that the Californians were unable to score a basket from the floor. The score at intermission time was 27 to 3.

For the second successive evening the Aggies took the initiative in the second half and completely outplayed the Wolves. But as on the previous evening, they were to far behind to catch their opponents.

Dean Gets Office At Engineer Meet

At the annual meeting of the Pacific southwest section of the American Society for Engineering Education, Dean Stanley G. Palmer of the University of Nevada was elected vice-chairman of the section for 1947.

As vice-chairman of the engineering society, Dean Palmer's duties will be to arrange the program for the December, 1947, meeting to be held at Marin Junior College in California.

1948 Meeting Here

The vice-chairman customarily becomes the next year's chairman with the implied obligation of holding the annual meeting at his educational institution. Consequently, in 1948 Dean Palmer and the University of Nevada will play host to the society on this campus.

Due to his attending a pre-Christmas meeting of land grant colleges at Chicago, Dean Palmer was unable to attend the meeting at California Institute of Technology held from December 26 through 28.

Professors Jay A. Carpenter, James R. Van Dyke and Irving Sandorf were in attendance and took part in the discussions and served on committees. After the meeting they inspected the huge fabrication plant of the Aluminum Company of America in Vernon.

Vet Office Adds Services to Cover Typing of Thesis

Cost of typing a thesis, when a veteran enrolled under the GI bill must furnish one, will be paid by the Veterans Administration, it was announced today by Mr. Keith L. Lee, veteran training officer at the University of Nevada.

The Veterans Administration will not pay for printing, micro-filming or otherwise reproducing thesis under this law, however, Mr. Lee added.

For the disabled veteran enrolled under the vocational rehabilitation act, the Veterans Administration regional manager can decide whether thesis typing, printing and other reproduction costs are necessary, and the Veterans Administration will pay accordingly.
