School Directors Against Proposal To Break Up UN

Cost of Relocating Aggie and Mining Prohibitive

Splitting the University of Nevada and setting up separate schools of mining and agriculture would be financially impossible for the state of Nevada in the opinion of school directors. The remarks were made in connection with recent legislative proposals.

A bill proposed by Sen. A. V. Tallman would divorce the agriculture school from the Reno campus and move it to Fallon or Lovelock. "If the state cannot afford appropriations to build up the existing school, how can it afford to relocate the school entirely?" questioned Prof. Frederick W. Wilson, head of the department of animal husbandry and director of resident teaching in agriculture.

Members of the assembly mines and mining committee proposed to separate the Mackay School of Mines and move it to Ely or Pioche. "The idea of the committee is to make it possible for the mining school to receive direct appropriations for maintaining the school in lieu of present policies of making general appropriations to the university which are given out to the more vociferous schools," said Prof. Jay A. Carpenter, director of the Mackay School of Mines.

Professor Carpenter went on to say that when the state of Nevada gets big enough to support separate schools of mining and agriculture, as is done by South Dakota, Montana and Missouri, then such a proposal would be in order. But at present there would be no advantage in moving the schools to mining and agricultural localities.

"Why take the students and the whole school to the mining specimens and sacrifice having adequate English and chemistry departments which provide necessary background education, when the specimens can be brought to the school for the same practical experience," said Hugh C. Ingle, mining student, when questioned about the proposed move.

With increased appropriations to rehabilitate the university farms for laboratory work in agriculture, the students will be able to get the same practical experience that a move to Fallon or Lovelock would provide at less cost to the state, Professor Wilson added.

"It is a healthy sign that the legislators realize the present inadequacies of the university's agricultural school and I believe that a solution to the problem of proper support to the existing school will be forthcoming from this legislative session," Professor Wilson concluded.

Agricultural students said, "This is not a 'hog and corn' college. We realize the need of practical experience in a farm laboratory but we also want an education in English, chemistry and other subjects that we could not get if we packed up and moved into some wooden shacks in Fallon. We don't want to go back to the farm yet."

Dead Enders Hold Hush-Hush Session Around Beer Keg

A car drove down a dark alley and came to a halt at the rear of a large white structure. A door opened and several shabbily dressed men emerged from the car and made their way towards the basement of the building. After rapping a secret knock on the door, they disappeared within.

Inside several men were leaning on poorly constructed chairs. The atmosphere was dreary and bleak. A half burned candle was flickering on a table in the corner. Darkness prevailed over the dismal scene. As the newcomers entered, those already in the room raised their eyes to acknowledge the entrance.

In one corner, behind a bar, another man, dressed in a grimy tee shirt, was busily filling glasses of brew from a tapped keg.

Suddenly one of the men rose to his feet and called the group to order. A discussion ensued. Soon the spokesman nodded and two of the men rose. After glancing carefully up and down the alley, they disappeared into the darkness.

Another man, who had been busily writing, rose and passed out small pieces of paper to all present. Each man jotted down something on the paper. A few moments later the scraps were collected in an old tattered hat.

Three men gathered around the dimly burning candle and began to unfold the papers.

After an eerie silence of several minutes a paper was handed to the group spokesman.

He rose and in hushed tone said, "Paul Weaver has been elected chief stew bum of the Sundowners."

Safety Measures Enforced Monday

New traffic and parking regulations go into effect on the campus Monday morning at 7:45 am March 10, Jimmy Glynn, Blue Key publicity chairman, stated today.

One way traffic will be enforced seven days a week and for all hours, except when patrolmen direct traffic during athletic events.

Violators of one way traffic rules will be fined a flat $2.50.

The campus speed limit has been set at 15 miles per hour. Violators will be fined at the rate of 10 cents per mile. For example, if a student is caught driving 25 miles per hour the fine would be $2.50, 10 cents per mile for each mile of the 25 mile per hour speed.

Parking on the main campus boulevard is against the new rules.

A patrolman from the city of Reno will be on the campus to enforce the new traffic regulations.

The Blue Key will continue to enforce parking regulations.

Durham to Head Rally Committee

Bob Durham was elected chairman of the rally committee by the student senate this week, Hans Wolfe, ASUN president, announced. Durham replaces Hale Tognoni, who resigned the post recently.

Resignation of Virginia Cole as assistant yell leader was accepted by the student senate, Wolfe said. Miss Cole stated that her resignation was due to an overload of activities.

Sundowners Elect Weaver Head Hobo

Sundowners, campus good fellowship organization, without a leader since the graduation of Herb Chiara, last week elected Paul Weaver as their new chief stew bum.

On assuming the reins, Weaver pointed out the heights to which the members might rise by frequenting low dives.

Names of new initiates were discussed and it was decided that action on them be tabled until a more accurate check of their capabilities could be made.

"These men must be selected with care," Weaver stated. "Each must be able to make his contributions in the discussions if the group is to continue to be influential in world affairs."

A meeting will be held Tuesday, March 11, at 7 pm in the ASUN building at which time three stalwart representatives of each fraternity will be chosen to carry on the tradition of the Sundowners.

Sixty-Three Neophytes Become Actives As Three National Sororities Initiate

Initiation ceremonies this week made 64 girls members of three national sororities on the campus. Delta Delta Delta, Pi Beta Phi and Kappa Alpha Theta all held initiation exercises and parties in honor of the new members.

Celebrating three important events in its history, Kappa Alpha Theta held a banquet Saturday night. The dinner commemorated the 77th anniversary of the fraternity's founding, the 25th anniversary of Beta Mu chapter on this campus, and honored 11 new initiates in the organization.

New members of Kappa Alpha Theta are Binney Arnold, Molly Blair, Kay Brennan, Andrea, Ginocchio, Nancy Ann Heher, Beverly Lehman, Shirley McDonough, Dixie Dysart, Gedney Gallagher, Gwen Byrd and Coralee Shaw.

Following the banquet Saturday evening, a slumber party was held at the sorority house for all members.

Climaxing a week of parties and sorority activity, the Tri-Delts initiated 29 new members into their sorority Friday night.

New initiates are Donna Lee Audrain, Juanita Barret, Sue Broadbent, Constance Burkholder, Kathleen Capurro, Norma Carruth, Pat Cutter, Mildren Chapman, Margaret Fairchild, Honor Enkelke, Fay Fryberg-

Gorman to Write University Bills For Legislature

Budget Reduction Meets Approval Of Money Men

The task of writing the university's legislative bills was assigned to Dr. Charles H. Gorman, comptroller and official legislative representative of the administration and board of regents, following a joint finance committee meeting at which an agreement was reached for an increase of at least $400,000 in the university's biennium budget.

In addition to the $400,000 the legislators said they would "do what we can" toward getting the $350,000 once ear-marked for the new classroom building and still in the state postwar reserve fund, transferred to a new heating plant and to authorize an early start on that badly needed project.

Businessmen Suggest

A committee composed of Reno businessmen, who recently surveyed the university's needs at the request of the university, and who were also present at the Monday finance committee meeting in Carson City, suggested that the requested budget increase of $526,896 could be reduced to $418,544. But after this week's discussions the legislators and Dr. Gorman agreed on an even lower budget increase of $400,000.

Six bills will be written by Dr. Gorman to be presented to the legislature early next week. These bills will provide for the increase in general appropriations, enable the university to take advantage of public law 733 now being considered by the national legislature which would give government aid to proposed building projects in the various state colleges.

Engineers' Day To Be Revived, Says Jim Glynn

Celebration To Be Held May 17; Displays, Contests, Set for Gala Affair

Engineers' Day, formerly one of the big campus celebrations, will be revived this year after a wartime lapse of several years. The date set for the big day is May 17, Jimmy Glynn, chairman of the Engineers' Day committee, said.

The central theme this year is to be an automobile and airplane show. The cars and planes will be displayed on and around the quad. Glynn expressed the hope that a helicopter may be procured for the show.

Apart from the central display, the separate engineering schools have their own exhibits, which include various contests.

The civil engineers ordinarily put on a chaining and a transit contest, while the mining students run a "mucking" contest. The mechanical engineers have slide rule, drilling and riveting contests.

Former Displays

Some idea of what the displays are like may be gained by a look at those used in the past. F. L. Bixby, civil engineering professor, one of the old timers at Nevada, said that one year the mechanical engineers set up a large, scale model locomotive on rails in front of the ME building, running it up and down the walk all afternoon. It was not too successful, as steam pressure could not be kept up.

Tractors, shovels and new types of construction equipment are often loaned by large concerns to the civil engineers for their display. The electrical engineers usually have exhibits of new or unusual equipment and trick effects of electricity.

The evening will be given over to the engineers' brawl, a dance to be held in the gym. Each engineering school is to decorate a portion of the gym with an appropriate motif.

Engineering students from junior colleges in California are invited to attend the celebration. It is hoped that many of them may become interested in the University of Nevada engineering schools, Glynn said. The engineers may also sponsor a drafting contest for high school students from all parts of the state, as has been done several times in the past.

Students Under 2.0 Now on Probation

Students who have not maintained a 2.0 or better average for the past two semesters were put on probation as of the last meeting of the University of Nevada administrative council.

Dean Frederick Wood, head of the arts and science department, said that no student was suspended, but students now in default must show a marked improvement. The probationary period lasts for one semester only.

COAST GUARD FILMS SHOWN AT ASSEMBLY

Motion pictures of the United States coast guard were shown at Monday afternoon's assembly, sponsored by the military service.

Ensign Jeremiah M. Stark discussed the opportunities existing for commissions upon graduation from the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Connecticut.

GET GRUESOME MEN AND GROWSOME

"Tarry at Jericho until your beards are grown . . ."—Old Testament.

Do not tarry on the campus until your beards are grown. That will be better advice to men students when the Mackay Day festivities get under way.

The committee which governs these activities is going to meet in two weeks and will decide what is to be done to those persons who violate this rule.

Each male student last year was required to raise a beard. In the event that he did not raise one, he was thrown into Manzanita lake. And the lake is cold during the spring months.

On Mackay Day there was a contest held to determine who had raised the best beard for the season. After the celebrating ended the boys shaved off their beards and began trying to make dates again. Tough isn't it?

There were men who were exempt from raising beards, but they were an extremely small minority. They were excused only after a long and intensive questioning.

No official rules governing the beard growing will be issued until the committee has passed on the rulings. So far no one has anything to worry about.

Mining Department Scored in Carson

The Mackay School of Mines came in for a Carson City lashing Thursday by Senator Don McGuirk (R-Storey). The legislator declared that his request to have the director of the Mackay School of Mines meet with the senate mines and mining committee was flatly refused. Reason given was that it was against the policy of the regents and the administration, according to McGuirk.

McGuirk declared that he would vote to withhold appropriations from the university's mining department unless satisfaction is received on the request.

MUSICAL PROGRAM FOR FACULTY CLUB

An abridged presentation of Carmen may be given at the women's faculty club guest day program the latter part of this month, said Prof. Theodore H. Post, head of the music department.

The performance, said Post, will consist of about 20 minutes of excerpts from the famous opera.

If it is not presented to the women's faculty club this month, Post added, it will be postponed until "music week" which begins the first week of May.

GONZALES, POLISH ANNOUNCE ELOPEMENT

Florence Gonzales, Pi Beta Phi from Reno, was married to Fred Polish, Alpha Tau Omega from Yerington, Saturday, March 1.

They eloped to Gardnerville and were married there in the Methodist church.

Polish has withdrawn from school and is now in Ely, where he is employed by a construction company. Mrs. Polish will remain at school, living at the home of her parents in Reno.

Joe Sheeketski, line coach at the University of Iowa and former All-American honorable mention football star at Notre Dame, is Nevada's new athletic director and head football coach.

Sheeketski was offered the post and accepted by telephone at a Friday meeting of the board of athletic control in the Riverside Hotel.

Salary terms were not disclosed, but the contract will run for five years. No decision has been made on the matter of assistant coaches under his new regime.

Sheeketski was assistant coach under Dr. Eddie Anderson at the University of Iowa in 1946, and assistant coach at Notre Dame in 1945. He was head coach at Holy Cross College from 1939 to 1941 after a five-year tenure as backfield coach at that institution. While mentor at Holy Cross he compiled a record of 16 wins, 11 losses and two ties.

He comes to Nevada highly recommended by Dr. Eddie Anderson, University of Iowa's head coach, and Karl E. Leib, president of NCAA and a member of the board of governors of the Big Nine.

Sheeketski is 37 years old, married and has no children. His home is Shadyside, Ohio.

While being interviewed on the campus, Sheeketski created a very favorable impression with both administration and athletic officials—a big factor in aiding his final selection.

Rotary Scholarship Awarded to Moody

Norma Moody, sophomore arts and science student, has been awarded the Reno Rotary Club scholarship, according to a report issued from the office of Dr. Harold N. Brown, chairman of the university committee on scholarships and prizes.

She had completed 32 hours of work with a 3.12 average and was selected by the Rotary Club from the applicants upon the recommendation of the committee.

Miss Moody, Zeta Phi Zeta, was graduated from the Mineral county high school in Hawthorne, Nevada.

INDIVIDUAL PICTURES FOR BLUE PEPPERS

Gloria Mapes, president of Blue Peppers, announced individual pictures of members of Blue Peppers, as well as group pictures, will be in the yearbook.

Emblems, in the form of the state of Nevada, have been ordered to be worn as part of the new Blue Pepper uniform, said Miss Mapes. The center of the emblem will be a pepper of blue material, with white letters "BP."

At the base of the insignia will be a wolf's head looking upwards. The emblem will be worn on the upper part of the left arm of new white jackets. The uniform will be completed with white gloves and overseas cap.

WILLIAMS, RISARD ENGAGEMENT TOLD

Alice Williams, university student from Elko, recently announced her engagement to Martin Risard, Theta Chi pledge from Reno.

Miss Williams said they plan to be married in June, although the definite day has not yet been set.

SMOKE SCREENS AND PIPE DREAMS

Nevada's legislators are reaching deep in their bag of tricks to find "solutions" for the university's problems.

Latest legerdemain to be displayed in Carson City are the proposals to uproot the college of agriculture and Mackay School of Mines from the campus and scatter them about the state.

According to one assemblyman, such a move would have a "beneficial action." That is correct. It would benefit moving van companies, real estate speculators and construction outfits who specialize in frame buildings instead of "massive monuments we now build." It would benefit many people—but how about the mining student who needs an English course in order to get his degree? Is he to commute between Pioche and Reno?

Lack of appropriated funds is the basis for all the university's problems. If an expensive division of the university into three parts, each located in a different section of the state, is the answer to its financial needs, why stop there? Divide it into more parts and thus save even more money and make it better. Move the education department to Stovepipe Wells.

The suggestion for these moves is based on the premise that the future miners would be closer to actual mining operations and aggie students would be able to get down to a better grade of earth. This sounds good, but the majority of their work takes place in classrooms, not on the ends of muck sticks or in hay fields.

As part of the plan it is proposed that all three university farms be sold—including the Fleischman dairy. This was given to the university not so long ago for the use of agricultural students. It was not given with the idea that it be sold before the ink on the deed was properly seasoned.

What is to be done with the building now housing the Mackay School of Mines? It also was a gift to the university. In fact, the Mackay family's gifts total two million dollars.

Obviously, the whole scheme emanating from Carson City is a political smoke screen. It seems to be a favorite pastime of politicians confronted with requests for money to drag red herrings before the taxpayers. This college transfer is one of these deals.

The idea seems to be to casually threaten taxpayers with a plan that will patently cost them many times the amount needed and requested. When the public realizes this, they will be ready to accept anything offered by the legislature.

Let's not be confused, or misled by these wild schemes. Let's keep our eyes on the main objective—enough money to properly conduct a University of Nevada. And a university, according to some reliable dictionaries, is a collection of colleges.

The state legislature may not be serious about the university. They can't be and at the same time kid around with ideas such as the ones that have been presented. The students at the university are dead serious in their desire to have a good university—one that can issue a good diploma.

Fifteen State Legislators Among University Alumni

Fifteen of the 58 members of the Nevada state legislature are alumni of the University of Nevada.

Ralph W. Lattin, senator from Churchill county, attended the university in 1918. M. A. Fairchild, assemblyman from Washoe county, in 1920, while Rene W. Lemaire, senator from Lander county, attended in 1925.

Walter J. Cox, senator from Lyon county, received his B.A. degree in 1928.

Carl Fuetch, assemblyman from Washoe county, was graduated in 1929 with a B.S. degree.

Warren L. Monroe, editor-publisher of the Elko Independent, assemblyman from Elko county, received his B.A. degree in 1929, also.

Marvin Humphrey, assemblyman from Washoe county, was seen about the campus prior to 1931 when he was graduated with a B.S. degree in agriculture.

Francis R. "Tank" Smith, assemblyman from Washoe county, who recently announced his candidacy for mayor of Reno, tucked his sheepskin 'neath his arm back in 1932.

William R. Beemer, assemblyman from Washoe county, was awarded a B.S. degree in electrical engineering in 1934.

Kenneth F. Johnson, senator from Ormsby county, graduated in 1934 with a B.A. degree.

E. Frandsen Loomis, Washoe county senator, received his B.A. degree in 1936 and continued his education at Hastings College of Law in San Francisco, California.

Lewis J. Capurro, Washoe county assemblyman, was graduated in 1940 with a B.A. degree.

Harold J. Jacobsen, representative from Humboldt county, left the university in 1941 with a B.S. degree in agriculture to his credit.

Leslie Gray, assemblyman from Washoe county, attended the University of Nevada but received his B.L. degree from California (Boalt Hall) in 1940.

George W. Frey, representative from Churchill county, received his B.S. degree in agriculture in 1943.

State and Nation Education System Upgrade Planned

While Nevada legislature ponders the question of money for Nevada schools, the N. Y. Times ran a two page story on the conditions of education in the whole country.

Nevada was given as an example showing relation between money given to schools and economic prosperity in the recent nationwide survey conducted by the New York Times.

In 1930, the money expended per pupil in Nevada was $102, in Mississippi, $21. The retail sales per person were $564 in Nevada, and $129 in Mississippi. Magazine circulation in Nevada per 1000 was 509, telephones 176; in Mississippi, magazines 175, telephones 36. Education pays for itself, was the conclusion of Benjamin Fine, reporter on the survey.

It has often been said, according to the New York Times, that civilization is in a race between education and catastrophe. Supporting this is the preamble to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. "Since wars begin in the minds of men, it is in the minds of men that the defenses of peace must be established.

The survey reached conclusions, and recommended 14 ways of beginning the upgrade in the education system of the United States.

1. Greater financial support of public schools.
2. Increase in teachers' salaries.
3. Federal aid to education.
4. Single salary schedule (the same salary system for teachers in both elementary and secondary schools).
5. Better working conditions for teachers.
6. Tenure and retirement laws.
7. No community restrictions and meddling.
8. Improvement of teacher training institutions.
9. Better school buildings essential.

Newman Club Holds Sunday Breakfast

The Newman Club, campus Catholic organization, will hold its monthly Sunday breakfast on March 16 at 9 am.

The club is making plans for a social hour near the end of March and its annual picnic in April.

Carl Digno, club member, said all students interested in the organization are welcome to attend the Sunday breakfasts held each month. The club meets in the basement of the Catholic church on Chestnut and Second streets.

ECON, HISTORY HEADS TALK AT 'Y' MEETING

Dr. Ernest L. Inwood, head of the department of economics, and Dr. Charles R. Hicks, history department head, were guest speakers at an all-association YWCA conclave March 4, Sally Beebe, YWCA publicity chairman, announced.

Dr. Inwood spoke on "Our Current Relationship Here and Abroad," and Dr. Hicks discussed Japan's relationship with the United States.

10. Improve rural schools.
 11. Introduce modern teaching methods.
 12. More teacher participation in school program.
 13. Better recruitment program.
 14. Greater interest of public in nation's schools.
- "Our democracy," said the N. Y. Times, "is postulated upon the existence of an educated, intelligent electorate. To make democracy work, it is necessary that we maintain a strong system of free public schools."

Engineers Name Twenty-Two Men As Honor Students

Twenty-two out of 467 students achieved the honor roll last semester in the school of engineering, Professor Jay A. Carpenter, director of the Mackay School of Mines, revealed today. The honor roll is determined by picking the top five per cent of the grades in the engineering school.

Mackay School of Mines had seven out of a total of 147 students on the honor roll. The electrical engineers had seven out of 135. The civil engineers had five out of 100. The mechanical engineers had three out of 95.

The total percentage of students in the school of engineering on the honor roll was 4.75 per cent.

Grade Resolution Drawn by Council

Grades were the main topic of discussion at a meeting of the interfraternity council last week. After much debate the following grade resolution was drawn up to be submitted by each representative to their respective houses:

"A grade of 2.2 will be mandatory for a student taking ten or 11 hours or less in order to be initiated into the fraternities on the University of Nevada campus. A grade of 1.8 is already required for those taking 12 hours or more."

The interfraternity sponsored dance will be held on April 12. Each fraternity has been requested to furnish a two man detail to work on the general dance committee.

Fraternities Plan Dancing Weekend

Three fraternities will hold their mid-winter pledge dances this weekend.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon is holding its pledge dance this evening at the Odd Fellows Hall in Reno. Charlie Mayo is the chairman of the event.

A floor show will highlight the evening. Music will be supplied by Bill Buck and his band. Special guests will be Mrs. Rapsen, SAE housemother, and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Carlson.

Brunson Harris, social chairman of Alpha Tau Omega, has announced that the ATO pledge dance will be held at the California building at Idlewild park.

Chaperones will be Dr. and Mrs. Harold Brown, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Inman and Mr. Samuel Basta.

Eppie Johnson is chairman of the Theta Chi dance to be held Saturday at 8:30 pm in the State building.

Given by active members for pledges, the dance will be attended by representatives from each frat on the hill. Larry Chapman and his band will play for the affair.

Sigma Xi Hears Atom Bomb Talk

"The fact that effective atomic bombs can be made was irrefragably released to the world at Hiroshima on August 6, 1945, and other nations certainly will learn how to make them whatever rules and restrictions we maintain," Dr. Henry DeWolf Smith, atomic physicist, said in a speech at the university this week.

Dr. Smyth, author of the recent "Smyth report" on atomic energy and consultant on war research projects to the national research council and to the office of scientific research and development since 1940, lectured under the auspices of Sigma Xi, national scientific organization.

There must be international control of the atomic bomb as there are no counter weapons or international defense, Dr. Smyth said. The problem of secrecy in atomic energy is not as important as the problem of control.

Several Groups Feature Dances For Social Week

Gamma Phis, Pi Beta Phi, Independents Stage Social Affairs

Decorating their house with spring flowers and the lamb and lion of March, Gamma Phi Beta held its annual lamb and lion dance Saturday night. The new pledges of the sorority were special guests.

Alberta Brunner was chairman of the dance committee. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. William McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. William Elder and Mrs. Addie Reinken.

"Kiss and Tell" was the theme of the Phi Beta Phi pledge dance held Saturday evening at the Phi Phi house. "Luscious" lips were used to decorate the house, the programs and the refreshments.

Music was by Bob Warren and his band. Guests at the dance were Mrs. Nellie Corde, Miss Elaine Mobley, dean of women; Mrs. Mabel Fulton and Mrs. F. A. Tracy. Cake and coke were served. Barbara Gould was in charge of all arrangements.

The members of the Independents opened their Ptomaine Tavern Saturday night in the California building at Idlewild Park. Miss Ann Heim, chairman of the dance committee, reported that the party was a "huge success."

Smorgasbord and coffee were served, and Larry Chapman furnished the music. Entertainment included a floor show.

Don Damkroger won the prize for the best man's costume with his south seas sarong and leis. Rita Lou Berrum was awarded the prize for the best woman's costume.

Theta Chi Pledges Hold 'Hell Night'

Pledges of Theta Chi fraternity held a short "hell night" for their active members Friday night, February 28, prior to "hell week."

Actives returned to the fraternity house Friday night to find all the doors locked. A ladder to one of the upstairs windows provided a means of entrance. Inside things were quite upset. Beds were short sheeted and sprinkled with breakfast food. One of the members entered his room with a splash, for a pan of water had been balancing on top of the door.

Work Week

This week actives are having their revenge as 17 men undergo a "constructive work week." Theta Chi "hell week" follows the usual routine in that pledges must maintain silence for the week, carry gum, cigarettes and candy for the actives, and shine shoes, make beds and generally obey the actives. In addition to these chores, construction work is being carried on. Painting, plastering and gardening about the house as well as general cleaning are under the direction of active members.

First degree of initiation will be held Thursday night, second degree Friday night, and third degree on Sunday night. Saturday night the pledge dance will be held at the State building, and a banquet given by the actives for the pledges will precede the third degree of initiation Sunday night.

Thirteen Phi Sig Pledges Initiated

Potentials Escape Paddling By New House Ruling

Thirteen pledges of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity were initiated last week after a week of work, silence, and other restrictions which completed the neophyte period. The pledges to receive their pins in the final initiation ceremony were Milo Price, Bill Horton, Robert Calver, Joe Dini, Ugo Giorgi, Frank Ward, Bud Gianelli, Ernie Morley, Sam Savini, Larry McGowan, Ray Gibson and Dave Heher.

The Phi Sigs feature a constructive work week which replaced the typical hazing common to fraternities in general before the war. During the week, all pledges were required to complete 18 hours of labor on the house. This included painting the front hall, washing windows, cleaning the cellar and painting rooms in the house.

Pledges also serenaded the various sororities and served as houseboys in a sorority for one meal, during which the sorority women assisted the Phi Sig actives in making things difficult for the pledges.

No Checkers See Mr. Lee at Once

Veteran students who have not received their February assistance checks should report to the veterans administration office on the campus not later than Monday, March 10, Keith L. Lee, veterans' training officer, said today.

A few checks are late due to delay in the transfer of records where students have transferred from other colleges, Mr. Lee said.

Any veteran who has changed his address since receipt of his last check should inquire at his old address before reporting to the veterans administration. Mr. Lee pointed out that the student should also ask the assistant postmaster at the main post office if he has any record of the check having been returned because of non-delivery.

In the case of a lost check, the student should go to the veterans administration office on the campus and fill out a form. His statement will then be turned over to the FBI, the veterans training officer added.

DRIVES FOR FUNDS MUST BE APPROVED

Organizations will no longer be able to come on the campus and start drives to raise funds without the approval of the executive committee of the student senate, Hans Wolfe, ASUN president, announced. This was decided at a recent meeting of the student senate.

Pineapple Company Employes Students

Miss Genevieve Calahan, home economist and editor of Sunset Magazine in San Francisco, is now in Reno starting a survey for Dole Hawaiian Pineapple Company.

The object of the survey is to see if people will like pineapple in the new frozen form, and if they prefer it in chunks, slices or crushed form.

Ten women students are representing Dole Pineapple Company by handing out chunks of fresh, frozen pineapple on sticks in six different markets in Reno, said Miss Mildred Swift, head of the home economics department.

The students are Anneleise Marx, Joyce Gidley, Shirley Van Meter, Alice Joudas, Donna Williamson, Jane Sloan, Caryl Stewart, Anna Lou Stewart, Bonnie Taylor and Dee Hand.

Accumulation of 25 Years As Yet Not Covered

University of Nevada library has, at the present time, a 25 year accumulation of unbound periodicals which are stacked in the basement, James J. Hill, librarian, said this week.

Professor Hill added that he has asked for $5000 a year for five years, in his budget submitted to the legislature, for binding these publications.

Twenty thousand unbound volumes have been collected since 1920. Issues for a year's time equal two volumes.

The seriousness of the situation was mentioned by William H. Carlson, graduate of the University of California in 1936, later librarian at the University of Arizona, in a survey of seven western colleges.

"An arrearage in binding (in all seven colleges) has accumulated and that at Nevada must amount to well over $25,000," he wrote in his report of conditions in these universities.

Artist Portrays Abandoned Mines

Fine Arts group exhibited a collection of water colors by Miss Pierce this week in the English seminar.

Scenes of northern Nevada, particularly in the Carson City - Washoe Valley - Virginia City region, predominated. Among them were several pictures of Fort Churchill ruins. Old mines, long since petered out, were the subjects of a number of the water colors.

Fallon Standard Awarded Best Service Plaque

More than 200 newspapermen, about 50 of them Nevada graduates, attended the Nevada State Press Association's annual convention at the University of Nevada Saturday.

Professor A. L. Higginbotham, head of the university's department of journalism, was presented with a gold wrist watch in appreciation of his services as the organization's secretary-treasurer in the past four years. He was unanimously reelected to the post again this year.

A plaque on behalf of the university's journalism department was presented to the group by Dr. John O. Moseley, university president, and the group then awarded it to the Fallon Standard for "serving its community best during the past year."

Paul Gardner, publisher of Review-Miner at Lovelock, was elected president to succeed Chris H. Sheerin, a graduate of the university's first journalism class in 1924. Mr. Sheerin is also a member of the board of regents.

Paul Leonard, Ely Times; Harry Frost, Reno Printing Co., and Sherwin Garside, Las Vegas Review Journal, were elected to the executive committee. All three are graduates of Nevada.

Carl Diggins and Richard Armstrong, senior journalism majors, were introduced by Professor Higginbotham as the holders of the state press scholarship. The William S. Lunsford scholarship went to Adele Marsh and Virginia Olesen, also journalism majors.

Pi Phi President Submits Resignation

Vivian Davis, junior arts and science student, handed in her resignation as president of Pi Beta Phi sorority for the spring semester this week.

Miss Davis, whose resignation is due to ill health, will be replaced by Betty Waugh, senior, who was president of Pi Phi last semester.

Miss Davis will return to her home in Las Vegas as soon as she has officially withdrawn from the university. Her plans for returning to school are indefinite.

Wolf Pack Plays Host to 'Cagey' Hawaiian Cagers

Islanders Have Impressive Homeland Record With 18 Straight Wins

Confronting the Wolf Pack in the form of a fast, tricky basketball team next Monday night will be a mixture of Chinese, Hawaiian, Korean, Japanese and Caucasian students from the University of Hawaii. Ranging from five feet six inches to six feet five inches, these boys come to the States hot off an 18-game winning streak.

Coach Bert Chan and his basketballers are at present touring the country, and immediately prior to their Reno tussle they meet the Utah State five in Logan, Utah.

Their state-side record to date is a list of losses including St. John's in New York, St. Joseph in Philadelphia, Canasius in Buffalo, Muhlenburg in Kentucky and Western Kentucky State Teachers.

This tour, however, is the first chance the Rainbow squad has had to play against U. S. college competition. It might also be remembered that they are playing a long, long way from home.

Of their 18-game winning streak in the Islands, the Hawaiian team ran up scores of 108, 97, 84 and 80. This was against prep school and army competition.

Accompanying the Hawaiian squad will be two lettermen of 1941. They are Robert Kau, a sophomore of Chinese descent who is five feet six inches short and proclaimed to be a tricky dribbler, and Robert Wong, a five foot ten inch sophomore and a veteran of Guam and Saipan.

The fastest man on the visiting squad is reported to be King Sing Wong, a five foot ten inch freshman. Another mainstay of the Hawaiian aggregation is Eddy "Hotdog" Loui, a five foot eight inch frosh who was voted the most valuable player in the inter-island inter-scholastic tournament.

Harry "Clown" Kahuanui six foot five inch center weighing 200 pounds, is the tallest man of the club. He is an 18 year old freshman.

VARSIITY SKIERS WIN TAHOE MEET

Once again showing their supremacy over other skiers of this area, the University of Nevada ski team carried off all of the top honors at the Lake Tahoe Ski Club's invitational ski meet at Lake Tahoe last Saturday and Sunday.

Individual star of the meet was Jerry Wetzel who came home with a first place trophy in the downhill race, another first in the jumping event and a close fifth in the slalom.

Close behind Wetzel in the downhill was Cliff Banta also of the Wolf Pack. In the slalom the Nevada skiers were particularly sharp when they won the first five places, with Mickey Munley placing first followed by Barnes Berry, Cliff Banta, Loren Paraguirre and Wetzel.

In the jumping, Wetzel tied for first with Bill Nelson, former star Nevada jumper, and Oliver Hendrickson placed fourth with Mickey Munley placing fifth.

Before the age of reason men took everything for granite.

MAKES GRADE

College professors who have been on the receiving end of aroused sports fans due to scholastic deficiencies of certain athletics, may rest easily in the case of Horace Gillom.

Had Horace made his grades, he would have been ineligible for professional football. College athletes must finish school before they can join the pro ranks, unless they flunk out.

Consequently, it seems that the great passing-catching end has his eye on financial betterment with the Cleveland Browns next fall, rather than finish his college education. So he didn't even bother to attend classes, which, literally speaking, is one way of making the grade by flunking.

N. I. T. SELECTEE

The we-told-you-so version that was visualized for some time has finally appeared. Meaning, of course, that Nevada was on the selectee list for participating in the N.I.T. tournament at Madison Square Garden this month.

With Santa Clara declining an offer, Nevada's chances of going east again were fairly bright. Although the Wolf Pack's record took a terrific beating the latter part of the season, we still think they can match any eastern opposition. In case of doubt, St. John's and Duquesne will readily vouch for the cage efficiency of the Pack.

NO RUGBY!

For all those concerned, please stop trying to lure our national passing champ, Bill Mackrides, away from football and Nevada U.

Bill likes it here, and besides rugby is just a little out of his line. Save your time and money, gents, as we think our passing artist will be pitching strikes (with a football) for the Pack next fall.

Cage Tumults

The thunderous bellowing in the vicinity of the university gym last Wednesday could be aptly defined as the heated play-off for the intramural basketball crown.

Sigma Nus fighting quintet overcame a nine point deficit to win the title from the ATOs, 41-36. The game highlighted a hectic cage season and elevated the Snakes to first place in the Kinnear trophy race.

WHAT'S NEXT..

With basketball season drawing to a dismal close, the next major intercollegiate sports coming up will be baseball and track.

Abounding with good baseball prospects, Coach Jake Lawlor will have plenty of material to pick from including such top-notch performers as Turk Eliades, Bob O'Shaughnessy, Morley Bockman, Jerry De Rushia, Bob Gillis and Chub Drakulich.

In track, Coach Jim Bailey has 34 candidates in which to round out an outstanding track team. Among these are several returning star performers, plus prominent athletics from last year's high school ranks.

MIDNIGHT

We knew that Gene Evans had been training his well educated mongrel, Midnight, but didn't think basketball was on the included list.

Players didn't exactly approve of Midnight's razzle-dazzle floor display which sent several cagers sprawling to the floor. His grand exit from the game via the side door left him firmly impressed that "pooches" should stick to the education aspect of college.

Detroit Announces Pack Grid Tussle On Fall Schedule

Addition of Detroit University to the already rugged fall schedule for the Wolf Pack football team was announced by the athletic board of control. The two teams will meet in Detroit, Michigan, on November 8.

The Detroit team was one of the outstanding independent elevens in the mid-west last season. Their 1946 record shows six wins against four defeats. They held victories over such powerhouses as Tulsa, which Nevada plays in the Homecoming game this fall, USF, Drake and St. Louis, while losing to Holy Cross, Villanova, Marquette and Miami.

Teams scheduled for the coming year along with Detroit include St. Mary's USF, University of Oregon, Portland, Tulsa and St. Louis.

Two other games will probably be added to the schedule in the near future, according to the control board.

SF Dons Outslug Nevada Mittmen

The University of Nevada boxing team won two out of three exhibition fights, but lost all four team bouts last Saturday night to the University of San Francisco Dons in the bay city's Coliseum bowl.

Bob Thronson, skilled Nevada welterweight, won the first round of his match with San Francisco's Cade, but Cade knocked him out in the second.

Roy Barni, USF, stopped Bill Baumann in the third round. Mirci of the Wolf Pack lost a fast three round decision to featherweight John Hennessy, and Nevada's heavyweight, Bud Harwood, was decimated by Julian Miguel of the Dons.

As San Francisco only had four fighters on their team, they picked three other student boxers from their student body to give all the Wolf Pack punchers a workout.

In the first of the three no-decision bouts, Glen Kanig blasted Saloza of the Dons. Gene Mills of Nevada beat Caster of USF in the second, but Richie Piccinini was taken by San Francisco's Mendoza in the third.

UN Forensic Team Wins Oregon Meet

Western Division Tourney Next on Tour Slate

Nevada debaters, who recently won five out of seven debates at a tournament held in McMinnville, Oregon, are now preparing for the Pi Kappa Delta, western division tournament, to be held at Claremont College in Pomona, California, on March 28, 29 and 30.

The University of Nevada's three man debate team, composed of Bonnie Yturvide, Scott Whitney and Rex Jamison, recently returned from the McMinnville, Oregon, tournament, which was held to determine the Pacific northwest titles. S. H. Vinocour, debate team adviser, said today.

Yturvide won first place in the "speech of occasion" event. This is one of the most difficult types of speaking, Mr. Vinocour added, as each participant swings to another form of speech in each of his three preliminary rounds. Yturvide's final speech, demonstrating the functions of the Braille system of the blind, won him the title.

Whitney won second place in the extemporaneous speech event, and was one of the seven finalists in the forum discussion.

More Entries

Yturvide and Whitney won or placed in the following four events: speech of occasion, extemporaneous speech, forum discussion and debate.

Financial difficulties prevented the entire University of Nevada debate team from entering the northwest meet. More Nevadans will probably be able to compete in the big Pi Kappa Delta tournament, Mr. Vinocour concluded.

St. Mary's Cagers Edge Wolf Pack In Weekend Tilts

Melarkey, Davis Injuries Slow Wolves; Gaels Win Via Gift Line

Three points accounted for the Wolf Pack's 12th and 13th losses in 33 starts. St. Mary's Gaels from Moraga hills copped two games from Nevada's crippled Pack last weekend by scores of 57-55 and 43-42.

Culminating in a five-minute overtime period, Friday night's game saw tiny Jimmy Melarkey, Nevada's forward, give the Reno fans a thrill and the Gaels a threat by hooping 19 points. Shortly after the second period Melarkey turned his ankle and was forced to rest, returning with about three minutes of play remaining.

The game ended in a 49-all tie, but in the overtime Gaels "Biff" Burke and Hank Lau insured victory for the Moragans by combining their efforts for eight points. Melarkey and O'Shaughnessy drove hard to close up the Gael lead, but time ran out too fast.

Melarkey Out

Saturday night, with Melarkey benched because of an ankle sprain and Grant Davis joining him shortly after the starting whistle with a recurring knee injury, subs Jack Swedenborg and Scott Beasley helped Lawlor's club amass a 21-16 half time lead.

The lead see-sawed in the second half, after St. Mary's squared the score. With two minutes left, Davis re-entered the game to put Nevada ahead 42-41 with a two-hand shot from the corner. St. Mary's center, Jack Rial, counteracted Davis with a pivot

SAGER NEWCOMERS TO GET SHINGLES

An initiation banquet for 16 new Sagers will be held at the Rivieri restaurant Friday, March 7, at 6:30 pm, announced Bill Buck, president of the men's service organization.

Shingles denoting membership in the Sagers will be presented to the newcomers at that time, said Buck.

shot, and time ran out with the Gaels ahead, 43-42.

Bob O'Shaughnessy, Wolf Pack guard, took scoring honors in the second game, hitting for 17 tallies. Nevada out-field goalied the Gaels 17 to 15, but the Frisco men cashed in on free throws, making 11 out of 13.

Interfrat Cage Crown Annexed By King Snakes

Sigma Nu, by virtue of their 41-36 victory over Alpha Tau Omega last Wednesday, emerged as the top team in the intramural basketball playoff and thereby amassed another 100 points toward the coveted Kin-near trophy.

The game was close and hard fought with the ATOs holding the largest gap in the score during the third period at 28-20.

The Taus jumped to an early first quarter lead; staved off the powerful Sigma Nu's hard-worked artists during the second quarter, and retired at half time with a promising 22-15 lead.

Sigma Nu's powerful quintet, however, was not to be denied, for the third period saw the Snakes hitting the hoop from all angles. Third quarter ended 29-29.

Snakes Score First

Fourth period tension was broken with the Snakes dunking the first field goal, and although the two teams were never more than four points apart during the last period, Sigma Nu's superior floor play and reserve strength proved the margin of victory between two evenly matched squads.

Carney Hall with 12 points and Bob Knudsen's nine paced the Snakes to the intramural cage championship, while Glen Pridgen and Johnny Laxalt with 13 each were the big guns for the losers.

Although Sigma Nu is assured of its first place standing, second place honors between Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Alpha Epsilon are still to be decided.

If the Violets should upset the undefeated Snakes in their game which will probably be played next week, honors for second place would be shared by the Taus and SAEs. On the other hand should Sigma Nu defeat the Violets, the Taus will automatically place second and Sigma Alpha Epsilon will add 30 more points for third place.

Spring Sports Get $4600 Allotment

A budget of $4600 was granted for spring sports by the board of athletic control, spokesman Joe T. McDonnell, graduate manager, stated this week.

The money will be spent for new equipment, guarantees to out of state teams coming here, and traveling expenses for Nevada's teams.

Budgets are: varsity track, $1800; varsity baseball, $1700; tennis, $600, and golf, $500.

PARK SKI MEET NEXT FOR PACK

Six skiers from the University of Nevada left Reno Thursday for Yosemite National Park to take part in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Ski Union's annual championship meet to be held on March 7, 8 and 9.

This three day event will feature jumping Friday, March 7, at 2:30 pm; slalom, Saturday at 9:30 am; downhill at 2:30 Saturday, and cross country at 10 am Sunday. Each school competing will be limited to six men in each event and scoring will be under the rules of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Ski Union. The Yosemite Winter Club will present awards to the first, second and third place winners.

Making the trip for Nevada will be Jerry Wetzel, Barnes Berry, Mickey Munley, Cliff Banta, Oliver Hendrickson and Harvey Rose.

REWARD IS OFFERED BY SAE FOR ELUSIVE TUBE

For the last two weeks, SAEs have been without music, and all because of one little tube. The tube in question is an integral part of the radio-phonograph belonging to the house.

Days of searching the radio parts stores in Reno have proved fruitless. However, hope is not yet lost, since the proper tube (General Electric 25c6) may possibly be found in some of the larger cities on the coast.

A suitable reward will be presented for any information leading to the replacement of the tube, Mel Woodgate, SAE house manager, said.

Letters Awarded To Football Men

Fourteen men were approved by the executive committee of the student senate as eligible for Block N awards in football for the 1946 season, Hans Wolfe, ASUN president, said this week.

Those to receive awards are James Aiken, Scott Beasley, Morley Bockman, Jordan Eliades, Harold Hayes, Pat Heher, Tom Kalmanir, Bill Mackrides, William Morris, Chuck Siferd, Ken Sinorsky, John Sudba and Richard Trachok. Eppy Johnson manager, was also named.

These men were selected in accordance with the student constitution which states that at the close of each semester the coach of the sport concerned and the Block N society will recommend to the executive committee the players qualified to receive letters, Wolfe said.

The executive committee selected from this list those persons who were passing in 11 semester hours at the end of the semester following the completion of the sport.

Block N Appoints Bill Gillis to Head 'Stag Night' Plans

At a meeting of the Block N society held last night in the ASUN building, Bill Gillis was appointed general chairman of the "stag night" to be held on March 27, Max Dodge, Block N president, said today.

Committees were appointed and a discussion about the number and types of bouts was held. It was decided to limit the program to ten three round bouts. These will include interfraternity matches, wrestling, exhibitions by the University of Nevada boxing team, and several fast bouts by outstanding amateurs in this area.

Committees to assist Gillis are publicity and promotion, Bob Durham, Grant Davis, Dick Elmore and Pat Heher; in charge of bouts, Jim Borge, Jordan Eliades, Orsie Graves and Ken Sinoisky; concessions, Darwin Farnsworth, Harold Hayes, Bill Mackrides and Ev Curless; properties, Harry Paille, Jack Swedenborg and Len Marmor.

NOTICE

AWS planning board will meet on March 16 at the ASUN building. All members of the board are asked to attend as Artemisia pictures may be taken.

Saddle and Spurs Plan Spring Rodeo

Plans for the spring rodeo to be held May 18, were formulated at the monthly meeting of Saddle and Spurs, university women's riding club, Pela Oyarbide president said.

Members who had not kept their riding hours up to date were dropped from the organization.

Jumping will be taught this semester as well as English riding. All lessons prior to this time have been western. Since the number of available horses is limited, tryouts will be held to qualify for the lessons.

Hereafter, Saddle and Spurs will hold their meeting on the last Tuesday of every month.

Scabbard and Blade Officers Elect Domonoske Captain

Officers for Scabbard and Blade, ROTC officers' campus organization, were elected at a meeting Tuesday evening.

Mert Domonoske was elected captain. Joe Earl was elected first lieutenant; Gene Mastroianni, second lieutenant, and George Clark, first sergeant.

The military ball, sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, will be held May 17. The ball will be a formal affair.

Regular meetings of the ROTC organization are held on the first and third Thursdays of the month. Old Scabbard and Blade members on the campus are welcome to the meetings.

The local chapter known as C Company Seventh Regiment, has been inactive on the campus since 1934.

Speaker Lectures To Student Chapter

Walter Jessup, western representative of the American Society of Civil Engineers, spoke to the student chapter of that organization last Friday.

He was introduced to the civil engineers by Prof. H. B. Blodgett, new head of the civil engineering department, and spoke on the relationship of the student chapter to the national society.

The next business meeting will be held March 27 at which time a discussion will be held about civil engineers' participation in Engineers' Day. At this meeting an election for president to relieve John Witte of his dual role as vice-president and acting president will be held.

Astronomy Talk Set for Tonight

Dr. Arthur M. Harding, retired president of the University of Arkansas, will lecture on astronomy at 7:30 pm this evening before members of the Nevada Astronomical Society. The speech will be given in the Education building auditorium.

This evening's lecture, "Glimpses of Other Worlds," marks Dr. Harding's second appearance on the campus, sponsored by the Nevada astronomy group. His first lecture was presented in 1939.

Pictures of interesting celestial bodies will be used to illustrate the talk. Dr. Harding has written many books on astronomy, Dr. Robert M. Gorrell, head of the university committee on lectures and assemblies, said.

Anyone interested in astronomical phenomena is invited to attend the lecture.

NEW CLASS OFFERED IN PE DEPARTMENT

Miss Elsa Sameth, head of the women's PE department, has announced the possibility that a class in square dancing will be offered. The class is scheduled for each Wednesday at 5 pm, and its being offered will depend upon the number of students who are interested in taking it.

Women will be interested in the fact that they may substitute this hour of square dancing for the third period of PE 1 and 2 which they usually take at 1 o'clock Monday or 11 on Friday, Miss Sameth stated.

COMMUNISM SUBJECT AT HISTORY MEETING

A discussion on communism was led by Pauline Leveille and Teddy Hicks at the regular monthly meeting of Phi Alpha Theta, University of Nevada's history society.

The meeting was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Philip Auchampaugh who entertained as their guests Mrs. Effie McQueen, Willis Ireland and Orville Holderman.

According to Wilburta Flavin, president, the next meeting will be an open one on Tuesday, March 13, and will be held at the Gamma Phi Beta sorority house.

the Differences in Cigarette Quality

...and now the demand for Camels—always great—is greater than ever in history.

DURING the war shortage of cigarettes... that's when your "T-Zone" was really working overtime.

Blue Key Members Plan Construction Soon

If materials are available and if labor poses no new problems, the campus may have a new bulletin board.

Dan Rice, chairman of the Blue Key bulletin board committee, intimated that construction would begin as soon as materials could be obtained.

Members will supply the labor when all is in readiness. Tentative location for this campus crier will be the southeast corner of the Mackay School of Mines and will face in that direction.

Similar in Style

Carl M. Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said that the style will have to be similar to the main bulletin board. The construction must be sturdy to withstand the gales that whip around the campus. No less than six by six posts set in cement must be used.

Fresno State College is having the same type of difficulties as Nevada. They are erecting four quonset huts to be used by the department of agriculture, physical science and industrial education as classrooms, laboratories, storage space, and the college farm cafeteria.—The Fresno Collegian.

Students may or may not be interested to note that it now costs $5 to get married instead of the customary $2, but that the legislators vetoed the proposed $25 tax on divorces, which are still cheaper than candy and flowers and making up.—Nevada Appeal.

Nevada freshmen who have such difficulties in white-washing the N will be amazed to hear that it is traditional for the frosh in Berkeley, California, to paint the C a bright green come spring. Sophomores play vigilantes and try to prevent the prank — invariably fail — and then repair the damage. No suggestion intended.—The Daily Californian.

After the semi-discouraging news from Carson, we're considering organizing a bundle for Nevada campaign. Does anybody have any slightly used loose leaf paper—or if not, any old shaggy thousand dollar bills will do.

The California Institute of Technology has a newly formed guide service which conducts students and off campus visitors through various departments.—The Cal. Tech.

You aren't safe anywhere these days. A bleacher collapsed recently in the Purdue University Field building, killing two and injuring 150. It was not Friday the 13th.—Indiana Daily Student.

Two thousand two hundred students in Buffalo, N. Y., went on strike in protest for higher wages. We at Nevada would prefer to strike in a different way, but the higher wages are promised both Nevada and New York teachers.—U. P. Buffalo.

University of Utah recently celebrated its 97th annual founder's day with a mad weekend similar to our own Mackay Day.—The Utah Chronicle.

Confusion is again in the offing. The Carson City, Nevada, Appeal tells us that we may possibly have daylight saving time between May 1 and September 30. You set the alarm—I've never had calculus.

The St. Mary's Collegian mailing staff persists in mailing our exchange copy to the "Sagehen." Evidently they think "There ain't nobody here but us chickens." St. Mary's is an unusual school in many ways. A timely item from the college reveals that they have an association called the Eire Oge Society which specializes in Irish culture.—St. Mary's Collegian.

For the first time since 1941, Santa Clara College will have a yearbook, the Redwood. It will be the lengthiest in the school's history.—The Santa Clara.

Frosh Women Told To Abide by Rules

The "do or die" attitude has been assumed by the women's upperclass committee. The masters called a meeting Wednesday for all the frosh women on campus. The whys and wherefores of wearing ribbons were explained, and how it had become a style that all frosh women love to follow.

The little (?) girls were told to keep on the straight and narrow path; no more campus cutting. The frosh were told that they could sit on the senior bench in four years, after they have discarded the pretty bibles that have almost become a part of them.

Funds for Budget Up to Legislature

Funds to meet the proposed budget of the University of Nevada, it now appears, depend on the ability of the legislature to raise additional revenue, Rex Daniels, secretary of the Nevada Alumni Association, said today.

Due to a report to that effect from several members of the legislature who are also members of the alumni association, the group will not take an active role in lobbying for the proposed university budget. The decision was made at the regular meeting of the executive council of the alumni association last week.

Coach Discussed

Incorporation of the association, the football coach situation and the results of the membership drive now in progress, were discussed at the meeting, but no definite conclusions were reached, Mr. Daniels said. The second edition of "Wolf Prints," the alumni association's periodical, will go out to association members early in March. Reaction to the first issue has been good, according to word received in the alumni office.

Classes are currently engaged in research on state and national folklore. They plan a collection of American proverbs and sayings which are to be published by the American Dialect Society.—Utah Chronicle.

On the Nevada campus, such a project was begun in 1944 under the direction of Miss Muriel Hughes, now teaching at the University of Vermont. This movement will be revived this year by the English department in general and Louis Hall, graduate student, in particular.

The state library in Carson City has a new rare manuscript, the last will and testament of a London merchant, "laboriously penned" on July 8, 1675. The 272 year old document is a valuable addition to the state rare papers division and was a gift from a Nevada admirer who now lives in New York.—Carson City, Nevada, Appeal.

Sweet Springtime Snares Students

Balmy Breezes Make Library Work Impossible

Welcome sweet springtime! But, woe to the student in the springtime, for it takes great determination to concentrate on assignments in such weather as is now in effect. The library, supposedly a place for study, has now become a popular meeting place. Going to the libe is not so unusual, but staying there and working is another thing.

"I go there usually to meet someone, anyone," admitted Hank Mentaberry, Sigma Nu from Winnemucca. From the library, students continue on to the snack bar, Wolf Den or just the great outdoors.

"I go to the library in the afternoon to study, and then I go to the library at night to do the studying I never managed to accomplish in the afternoon," complained Tom Collins, Lambda Chi from Bishop, California. Collins continued that there were too many people, too many girls, wandering around and he just couldn't study any more.

Matt Klemasewski, Phi Sig from New Jersey, said he goes to the library because that's the best place on the campus to see all the girls. "There's so much going on," he stated, "that I never get any studying done up there."

Bill Bowden, Lambda Chi from Las Vegas, vowed that he goes to the library with good intentions, but "the patter of little feet up and down the aisle distracts me, and before I know it, there I am, interested in girls instead of books."

"I don't go to the library," stated Joan Mardis, from Reno, "unless I have nothing better to do or else really have to get something done."

"Difficult as it is, it is a case of necessity, and I do somehow manage to concentrate at the libe," declared Jane Wilcox, Gamma Phi Beta from Reno.

Such lovely weather to loaf, and such a shame that studies accompany classes and school. But, being distracted is more fun anyway.

PREP CLUBS STAGE TOURNAMENT IN GYM

Reno, Carson City, Hawthorne and Stewart have qualified for the state high school basketball tourney with wins in district play this week in the university gymnasium.

The state championship round will be waged in the gym next weekend. Today and tomorrow semi-finals and finals for the district title will be run off, with tonight's pairings including Reno-Stewart and Carson City-Hawthorne.

Virginia City and Fernley will battle Saturday night for the district B tournament crown, for schools with enrollment of 85 or less. The winner will compete in the state B meet.

University Budget Cut by Officials the state farm bureau from the university to an independent status, and provide for transfer of the postwar appropriations for a new classroom building to the heating plant.

Budget Cuts Made

Dr. Gorman proposed that the following cuts in the university's requests could be made to meet the $129,896 reduction in the budget increase for the next two years operation of the university: $192,363 originally requested to add new faculty members and to replace present staff members considered inadequate could be cut to $125,000; the fund of $119,000 requested for new equipment could be reduced to $75,000, and a cut from $292,000 to $275,000 could be made in the maintenance and operation budget.

Although the proposed heating plant could not be completed for three years, legislators and Dr. Gorman agreed that it would be advisable to enact measures which would allow the university to take advantage of government aid for building which may be passed by Congress. The act would grant colleges the difference between the amount of money needed to construct buildings in 1941 and that needed today, or the difference caused by present high building costs.

Senate Says No To Liquor Plan

Student senators this week disapproved a plan presented by Youth Service, Incorporated, of Reno for control of the sale of liquor to minors, Hans Wolfe, ASUN president, said.

The plan consisted of having students register when they reach the age of 21, and when any controversy arises over age, the registration card must be presented before the student can purchase liquor, Wolfe said.

Fraternities Okay Fifteen Pledges

Five fraternities have pledged 15 men in the past week, Dr. A. S. Griffin, dean of men, announced yesterday. Theta Chi led the list with six, while Sigma Nu and SAE took five and two, respectively. Sigma Rho and ATO one each.

The new pledges are: Theta Chi, Claude M. Tuckett, Ralph A. Casazza, Theo T. Sherman, Claude J. Colmier, William L. McCabe, Paul E. Morsberger, Sigma Nu, William E. Shepard, William C. Irish, Laurence G. Means, Bruce E. Belnap and

Ray Miller. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Arthur C. Gary and Stanley C. Simmons. Alpha Tau Omega, Michael E. Traynor. Sigma Rho, Ralph D. Drown.

100th Anniversary of the Birth of Alexander Graham Bell • March 3, 1947

ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL by Moffett, 1918.

He gave the world a new voice

Alexander Graham Bell was a teacher of the deaf. He was also a trained scientist who made it possible for millions upon millions of people to hear each other by telephone.

The telephone brought something into the world that had not been there before.

For the first time people were able to talk to each other even though separated by long distances.

Horizons broadened. A new industry was born, destined to employ hundreds of thousands of men and women and be of service to everyone in the land.

Alexander Graham Bell was a great humanitarian, not only as a teacher of the deaf, but in his vision of the benefits the telephone could bring to mankind.

Bell's vision has come true. It keeps on being an essential part of this nation-wide public service.
