Stadium Is Arena for Badger-Dog Fight; SPCA Threatens to Stop Show

In spite of threats by SPCA officials and University administrators, the battle between Copper King, shining champion of Nevada badgerdom, and Wolf, alert and husky flea hound, will be staged right after the assembly this morning in Mackay Stadium.

Last minute plans have been completed and Jim Borge, Blue Key president, announced that Copper King arrived safely from Ely this morning. Bill Buck, Sager's president, gave his assurance that Wolf has been primed all week on raw meat and is now dieting in preparation for the grueling battle with the stocky, evasive badger.

New stove pipes, baseball umpire's chest protector and a G. I. helmet have been obtained to provide protection for the student umpire, who will be picked from volunteers among the spectators. Spectators are also warned to bring sticks long enough to ward off the badger if he starts for the crowd.

The badger will be brought into the arena in a strong bur-lap sack and Wolf will be led in on a leash, equipped with a fast release mechanism. The two seconds will face each other, with their charges, ten feet apart and then an assistant will grab the lower corners of the badger's sack. As the top is released the badger will come out in a blaze of copper.

Unless SPCA officials succeed in breaking up the battle, it will continue until the badger or the dog wins, or until they both drop from exhaustion.

Odds have been posted on the outcome, and popular opinion has it that Copper King will cover Wolf. Many say that a smaller, speedier dog should have been selected.

Navy Commissions Available for Grad Engineer Students

Commissions in the Supply and Engineering Corps of the United States Navy are available for all graduating students, Prof. Stanley G. Palmer, dean of the School of Engineering, announced today. All seniors who are interested in seeing the requirements for these commissions may do so at any time in the next two weeks, Dean Palmer said.

Commander R. Shile of the San Francisco Naval Procurement Office is expected to visit the campus within the next few weeks to give a talk. He will explain the qualifications necessary for the available commissions in the Navy.

The Office of Naval Procurement has issued a bulletin that explains the qualifications for commissions in the supply corps, the nurse corps, chaplains corps, civil engineering corps, petroleum engineers corps, medical corps and dental corps. The bulletin is available in Dean Palmer's office.

Students who leave their names with Dean Palmer will be notified of the time and place of the meeting with Commander Shile, the engineering head said.

If Badger Fights, Fur Flies --- Twice!

Fur will fly in other places besides Mackay stadium if the badger fight promised by the Blue Key organization and the Sagers actually takes place, Fredrick Wood, Dean of the College of Arts and Science, inferred today.

Badger fighting is against the state law, the dean said.

Anyone participating in such a contest between a dog and a badger is liable to get into trouble with the state authorities as well as the SPCA.

"Any student who participates in such a spectacle as a battle between a dog and a badger, in which one or both will be killed or badly injured, will lower the prestige of the school, and in doing so will indirectly hurt himself," the dean said.

Campaign Rulings Set by Committee

Campaign expenditure limits and credit hour requirements for candidates for ASUN offices were set in a meeting of the student senate executive committee this week. Elections will be held at the Agricultural building from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., May 15.

Each organization will be limited to a campaign expenditure of $25 for student president and a $15 expenditure for each other office. Gifts donated for campaigns are to be considered as part of the allowed expense.

Any organization violating these rules is subject to disqualification of their candidates by the executive committee, Hans Wolfe, ASUN president, said.

Candidates for ASUN president, Block "N" representative to the Board of Athletic Control, and the senior class manager must have completed 92 semester hours.

Sixty hours are required for junior class manager and 29 hours for sophomore class manager. Only members in good standing in the ASUN and those students not on probation will be eligible.

All groups making nomination are to be requested by the executive committee to insure that their candidates will be able to complete his or her term of office, Wolfe said.

Home Econ Group To Elect Officers

Nominating committee members to select candidates for Home Economics club offices were appointed by Dace Ricketts, president of the group, at the last regular meeting.

Named were Ruth Armstrong, senior representative; Laura Lue Johnson, junior; Meryde Brown, sophomore; Ann Marx, freshman. Miss Ricketts is automatically a member of the committee.

The nominators will meet after Mackay Day, and present a panel of nominees at the next

HELEN SHAW TO REIGN AS MACKAY DAY QUEEN

From Obstacle Race to Mackay Ball, This Year's Celebration Is on the Road

Queen Helen Shaw, demure, blue-eyed, brunette will reign over the 34th annual Mackay Day celebration, which began this morning with an obstacle race and assembly.

Picked from six sorority contestants by Earl Carroll, Hollywood beauty czar, Miss Shaw represents Delta Delta Delta and according to the beauty chart sent with her photograph to Carroll she is 5 feet 6½ inches tall, weighs 124 and has a near-perfect figure measuring 36-inch bust, 26-inch waist and 36-inch hips.

Dance and Coronation

Miss Shaw will be crowned with flowers at 10 Saturday evening in a ceremony highlighting the dance which begins at 9 p. m. in the gymnasium. Ernest Piersall's ten-piece band will furnish music for the dance. Judging of costumes in a parade across the band stand will begin after the coronation. As a finale for this year's festivities, awards for best beards, costumes, song teams and work teams will be made at 11:15.

Obstacle Race

As the opening feature of today's activities, seven fraternities sponsoring five-man teams will compete in an obstacle race. Starting at 10:45 this morning in front of Morrill Hall with a three legged race, the first two men of each team will hobble across the campus to the shore of Lake Manzanita and pass their fraternity-paddle batons to team members, who will paddle across the lake astraddle in-nertubes.

Bicyclists next receive the paddles with a swat and begin the third leg of the race down to Mackay Stadium and around the track twice, passing paddles to the final contestants, who will sack-race across the stadium to the finish line at the assembly platform.

Saturday Noon Luncheon

Tomorrow at noon 1200 students, faculty members and guests, will dine in the gymnasium; hear the Mackay family history as told by speaker, Miles N. Pike, former university student and now United States attorney for Nevada; and eleven

U. OF N. NEWS SERVICE ENTERS EIGHTH YEAR OF SENDING RELEASES

University of Nevada's news service is entering its eighth year on the campus, Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, head of the journalism department said yesterday. The news service is a university agency, made up of members of the journalism faculty, which sends dispatches of activities at the university to papers in Nevada and nearby portions of California.

About 75 papers subscribe to the service. Ordinarily, two or three long stories a week are sent out, the same story going to many papers. In addition, there are a number of shorter "personals" about individuals on the campus which are sent to their home-town papers.

fraternity and sorority song teams.

Song Team Themes

Themes of the eleven song teams will be: Gamma Phi Beta, gypsy; Kappa Alpha Theta, Broadway; Delta Delta Delta, dreams; Pi Beta Phi, dancing in the dark; Zeta Phi Zeta, formerly planning to present 10 pretty girls, has dropped out.

Fraternity themes are: Sigma Nu, Scotch; Sigma Rho Delta, 1880's; Lambda Chi, gay '90's; Theta Chi, gay '90's; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, reunion; and Phi Sigma Kappa, Spanish.

Work Day-Beard Check

At 7:15 tomorrow morning work teams will meet on the upperclass parking lot in front of the Education building for a beard and attendance check. Rev. Robert W. Caswell, Reno Unity Church pastor, will present the dedication prayer to John Mackay in front of the statue at 8:15, and work crews will begin beautifying the campus right after the service.

Sorority Open Houses

Sorority houses plan to hold open-house parties beginning at 8 tomorrow evening. Their doors will close by 9 p. m. for the dance.

A dual track meet between Nevada and the California Agricultural college at Davis, California, will begin at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon in the stadium.

Saturday morning at 10 the University Wolf Pack nine will bat it out with the Cal Aggie baseball team on the Threlkel park diamond.

Comptroller Aide Attends Meeting In San Francisco

Perry W. Hayden, assistant comptroller of the university, this week attended the ninth meeting of the Western Association of College and University Business Officers at the Fairmont hotel in San Francisco.

On his return to the campus, he declared that he had gotten many useful hints regarding the business aspect of the veteran problem. He said he was surprised to discover identical problems to those encountered here have arisen at all western universities.

Topics discussed at the meeting were: "Planning an Adequate Resident Hall Program," "Housing of Veterans," and "Relations of Colleges and Universities with Veterans Administration."

Mr. Nelson R. Henson, director of training service for vocational rehabilitation and education of veterans, Washington, D. C., reported that the veteran problem will probably reach its peak in 1949. It was formerly predicted for 1951.

Mr. Hayden said he was invited to view the famous cyclotron in the University of California, but a business appointment prevented the visit.

Nevada High School Y Get-Together

YWCA all-association meeting and a get-together with Reno and Sparks high school senior girls will be held at 7 p. m. Tuesday, May 6, in Stewart hall, Betsy Haydock, social chairman of YW, announced.

Chairmen of committees for the occasion are decorations, Marion Nielson; refreshments, Joyce Edwards; serving, Marge Menu; clean-up, Marge Friend; invitations, Nancy Hecker; and property, Gloria Griffin.

SENATE MEET SET

Members of the ASUN senate will meet Wednesday, May 7, at 4 p. m., Hans Wolfe, ASUN president announced. Meeting of the executive committee will be Tuesday, May 6, at 6:30 p. m.

New senators will not attend this meeting but are required to be present at a May 21 meeting to be sworn into office.

Periodical Looking For Writing Miner

Anybody want a job? The Mining World, a periodical published in San Francisco, California, is looking for someone to write miscellaneous mining news items, and to keep records of mining activities.

In the past, the job has been handed by a woman but at present the publication isn't particularly choosy—a man will do.

Housing Applications For Students Filled

For the first time in more than a year, the Dean of Men's office reports that all of the student applications for housing for this year are filled.

Come next fall, however, the shortage is expected to be as serious as ever. At present there are about 50 more applications for housing next fall than there are houses and trailers.

THE TIME IS NOW

Mackay Day has rolled around again on the perpetual calendar of events of the University of Nevada. Of the 34 times that the chief benefactor of the university has been honored, the 1947 celebration should be the best. It will be if every student takes a full and wholehearted part in witnessing and participating in the many events that have been arranged for the two-day affair. A lot of work goes into the planning and execution of an event the scope of Mackay Day. That toil has been put into this year's plans by the many committee members. Their sweating continues today and tomorrow right up to the time that the last costumed couple leaves the gymnasium.

Biggest worry ahead for that group is seeing that the student body enjoy every event on the schedule. They shouldn't be faced with such a problem. They have done their parts already. Now it is up to the students to take a hand in things and attend each phase of the celebration. The enjoyment will come naturally, and visible appreciation will be the committee's award.

Mackay Day has made its appearance after a six-week's advance billing of sprouting beards. Everything indicates that the student body is ready and willing to participate fully in the celebration. No man has been laked for not growing a beard. Every luncheon ticket has been sold, but there has been no report of ticket scalping.

With this start, let every student get in and have a good old-fashioned time from the opening whistle to the after-dance shave.

Let 'er rip!

Melner, McNeilly Selected Planners For New Program

Student Briefing Features Carnival Booths And Students

Sinclair Melner and Daryl McNeilly were appointed coordinators of plans for the new student orientation program, scheduled for Monday evening, September 15, at a meeting of campus organization representatives held last week.

In contrast to last year's county fair, this year's program will be a carnival featuring more elaborate and livelier booths.

Professors Irving Sandorf and James Van Dyke were picked from the faculty members present at the meeting to aid the student coordinators in arranging the evening's entertainment.

Organizations presenting definite plans for their stunts at the meeting were: Rifle club, which plans to stage a mock rifle range; Associated Engineers, will display types of bridge construction and tools of the profession; Pre-medicals plan to exhibit microscope slides and conduct physical examinations.

The Chemistry club will perform actual chemical experiments; Ski club will show colored slides taken during recent tournaments held on ski runs in this area; Orchestris will stage a hula dance; and University Singers will present a twenty-minute program of music from the opera Carmen.

All organizations desiring to stage orientation programs must present definite plans to either of the student coordinators before May 19, Dr. Ralph Irwin, director of the entire orientation program, said.

Thank You

Now that the preparations for Mackay Day are over, and the "Day" itself is in full swing, I'd like to express my thanks, first to the student body as a whole for their enthusiastic cooperation and the spirit they have shown in taking part in Mackay Day activities; second, to Joe McDonnell and the members of the administration who have given the committee needed advice and assistance; finally and especially, to the members of the Mackay Day committee who have cooperated with each other in every way to make Mackay Day a huge success.

Special mention goes to Dace Ricketts, Jim Schultz, Bill Griswold and Eppie Johnson, who have carried most of the responsibility for their outstanding work on the committee.

Thanks, all of you—you've been swell.

Lyman Earl,
Mackay Day Chairman.

Subversive Sprays Sabotage Dandelions

Agronomy class members saw a demonstration in weed control last Tuesday morning when the Nevada Spray company sprayed the dandelions between the Agriculture and Education buildings in an effort to get rid of the weeds there.

Conducting the experiment were Jim Trail and Bernard Connelly, former students at the University of Nevada.

The solution, known as 2-4-D, was sprayed on the weeds in 2/10 per cent solution at the rate of 200 gallons per acre. According to the demonstrators, a second application may be necessary to exterminate the weeds. The solution reacts in a way that causes the weeds to mature so rapidly they grow themselves to death, those in charge of the demonstration said.

KERRSES

By Eileen Kerr

Desperate Idaho students are threatening to pitch their tents on Moscow Mountain to get away from six or seven flying-friends who buzz the university buildings morning, noon, and half the night. The surplus war commodities departments in Idaho could probably make a fortune with anti-aircraft guns and a little suggestive advertising.

Life size pink and blue giraffes, chartreuse elephants, and real live monkeys from a nearby zoo will carry out the "Night at the Circus" theme of the University of Utah's Freshman class frolic this weekend. Pink lemonade will be sold at one cent per glass. Nominal, to say the least.

In his first stage show since the Broadway hit "Banjo Eyes," Eddie Cantor starred last weekend in the Fresno State Varsity Varieties. His choosing a college amateur production for his return to stage work is unique indeed, and Fresno was lucky to obtain the genial comedian.

Funny frat stuff comes from the Indiana Daily Student which reports a Beta Sophomore Day during which one group of pledges flew four sophomores to the northern end of the state where they were met by a pre-arranged hearse. Another group went south and scattered sophomores among the hills. Some unlucky sophs returned too soon from their playful exile and got another dose of the same.

This sort of plug usually results in free tickets, which would be a direct insult to my student body card, but you ought to know that the "Male Animal" will be one of the most entertaining bits of thespic activity prepared by campus performers this year. Most unusual piece of characterization will be Helen Brania's interpretation of Cleota, the colored maid.

It's pitching season: baseball?

Heywood Editor Of Frosh 'Book'

Handbook Gives Complete Campus Information

Helaine Heywood, freshman, was appointed editor of the Frosh Handbook for 1947-48 at a recent meeting of the publications board it was announced today.

The Frosh Handbook gives out complete information on traditions and government of the university. Possession of the book is a "must" for all new students whether freshman or not.

The 150 page "bible" contains statistics about past officers in ASUN activities, track and field records, and information about fraternities and sororities.

Work Started

In order to put the handbook up to date for the coming school year, necessary revision will be carried out by the editor and the staff this school semester.

The handbook will be made available to new students this September. The place of distribution is yet to be determined.

The editor of the Frosh Handbook for the past school year, 1946-47, was Marjorie Menu. The staff was composed of Hans Wolfe, Rose Nannini, Lois Hitchens, Tosca Masini and Gloria Mapes.

The book sells for 50 cents.

"Judah, as if the Artemisia were not in a bad enough state of affairs, this had to happen."

This statement could well have been made by Max Dodge, Artemisia editor, following a recent incident.

One of the major problems confronting the Artemisia editorial staff this year has been obtaining photographs. First it was a shortage of film and then it was a matter of not having time to have the pictures developed. Days sped into weeks and still the much needed pictures could not be had.

Gradually, things were looking brighter and it seemed as if the annual would come out on the scheduled date, June 5.

Then, last week as one of the photographers was on his way to have the pictures developed by a downtown firm to speed up the process, he had to stop at his doctor's to be X-rayed. That was the end.

Instead of clear pictures of students and campus scenes, there were bones, bones and more bones.

She was only a plumber's daughter, thus her face flushed silently.

Special A-M Meet Deals With Many Campus Problems

New Officers Installed, Conduct Discussed, Cancer Film Is Shown

Among matters dealt with at a special Artemisia-Manzanita meeting last Wednesday were installation of new officers, summer session and fall session reservations, student conduct, and control and prevention of cancer.

New officers installed were: President, Roberta Butler; secretary-treasurer, Joyce Guess; senator, Laura Lou Johnson; and alternate senator, Meryde Brown.

Dean Mobley announced that the Summer Session room reservations must be in by Friday, May 10. Room reservations for Artemisia and Manzanita for the fall semester must be in not later than May 15, with a deposit of $10. This deposit will be refunded if the cancellation is made before September 1.

Student Conduct

Student Conduct and Control rules were read and emphasis was placed upon them in relation to Mackay Day.

"In the government of the university, the president and faculty rely chiefly upon the individual and collective self-control, the sense of honor, and of duty of the students.

Students are expected to register promptly, to pursue their studies with diligence, to attend classes regularly, and to show both within and without the University such respect for order, morality, personal honor and the rights, both of person and of property, of others as is reasonably to be expected of good citizens.

Those students who do not meet these requirements may, upon recommendation of the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, be suspended or expelled from the University."

Cancer Films

Cancer prevention films sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Delta, a medical organization, were shown in conjunction with the American Cancer Society. The films were a Walt Disney color cartoon, "The Traitor Within," and "Choose to Live."

Dr. Wesley W. Hall spoke in connection with these films and answered questions on cancer.

Snaps From the University's Baby Book Committee Named By Home Ec Club

By Marilyn James
Half a century ago there was no Mackay Day on the university of Nevada campus. The campus of those days consisted of about half a dozen scattered buildings, with no grass or trees to add beauty. The lone piece of shrubbery was a rose bush which bloomed outside Stewart hall and was the pride and joy of the gardener.

This picture of this campus at the turn of the century was described by Mrs. George Anderson, who attended the university in those days and is at present a resident of Reno.

Early Hours

According to Mrs. Anderson, girls from out of town lived in "The Cottage," now Manzanita hall. They had to be in at 7 p. m. each evening except Saturday when their special late privilege allowed them to be out until midnight. Wednesday and Saturday were "beau nights" and girls could entertain their boy friends in the beau parlor until 10 o'clock on Saturday and 7 o'clock on Wednesday.

A "preceptress" took the place of the house mother of this day and the president of the university and his family resided in the back of "The Cottage." Steam heat was furnished when the boys who were in charge of the furnace thought to turn it on. To go downtown, even in the daytime, the girls had to have permission from the preceptress.

Skirts 'n Shirts

The girls wore long skirts and shirt waists, a reversal of the modern day short skirt and long "sloppy Joe." Stewart hall housed the dining hall in the basement and those eating there had to wait outside until meals were served. On wet days, the girls usually had to spend the entire school day in soggy skirts as a result of them dragging on the ground.

No fraternities or sororities were on the hill till later. Men living in Lincoln hall were members of a secret society known as THPO, the real meaning of which the girls were never able to discover. Girls living in "The Cottage" belonged to LFG which to them meant "Love for Good;" the men on campus, however, said it stood for "Lotta Fool Girls."

Smoking was forbidden anywhere on campus, so the boys went to the cemetery when they wanted to beat a weed in those days. There must have been many a full session on some of the more convenient tombstones in that cemetery.

Cane Rush

The big event of the year was the Frosh-Soph cane rush. It was held between the freshman and sophomore men who attempted to wrest the cane from the other team. This event might be comparable to the annual tug-o-war held across Manzanita lake on Mackay day.

"The Student Record" was the Sagebrush of its day and was published once a month in booklet form. The military department wore blue uniforms and had a cadet band composed of some of its musically inclined members.

Monthly dances were held in the gymnasium. These were all-school dances and the couples danced the shottish, the waltz, the two-step and many of the square dances. Jitterbugging was unthought of in those days but the Paul Jones was a dance that caused much furor and excitement. There were program dances and the most popular girls got their programs filled in immediately by the best dancers, which caused much envy among the wall-flowers.

Men of Distinguished

The campus man called for his date without an automobile. If he was really "sharp" he wore a high starched collar, had a huge watch chain across his vest and sported the latest in pointed toe shoes. Like all the gentlemen of his day, his hair was parted down the middle. Instead of a lush corsage of orchids or roses, the flowers for his girl were a small bouquet of violets or sweet peas.

The campus queen of the very early twentieth century wore a "party dress" of dotted swiss (which was "the" party dress for all nine months of school), canvas shoes, and for that final touch of chic, white cashmere stockings.

A much rougher brand of football was played at the stadium. The girls sat on the hillside, for there were no bleachers in those days. To show their school spirit they carried yellow chrysanthemums. Nevada colors were red and yellow until the Spanish-American war when they were changed to blue and silver, because the flag of the old Spanish monarchy was red and yellow.

Basketball Champs

Girls weren't outdone in athletics, though. The girls' basketball team played other girls' teams from Stanford and surrounding schools and came home with the championship. Mrs. Anderson was a member of the basketball team.

There was no large student band to play at the athletic contests. The girls' Symphony club was a string group of banjos, mandolins, ukeleles and guitars. There was a boys' orchestra, too, which was separate from the cadet band.

The Agriculture department was small, but students taking the course were highly esteemed. Girls had no home economics department but could take a course in manual training, such as ironwork and woodwork, using the boys' equipment and rooms. The teaching staff was comparatively small and teachers often doubled up on courses. It was not uncommon for a teacher to conduct a class in chemistry one hour and the next hour teach an English course.

No Libe Piping

No long evenings or afternoons were spent studying (or just looking) in the libe, for the library of those days was in the basement of Stewart hall and students stayed only long enough to check their books in and out.

There was a dramatic society which was coached by Prof. N. E. Wilson. It produced such plays as "Pinafore" and "Olivette." At one time the cast of "Pinafore" made the long journey to Virginia City and put on the play for Comstock residents.

There were no Nevada traditions in those days, freshmen did not have to paint the "N," for there was none. Those were the days when the University of Nevada was very young and the traditions which we now revere were being made.

National director of the Methodist Wesley Foundation, Mr. Hiel Bollinger gave a talk to the members of the group April 22.

He spoke about background of the organization and how memberships are given. A pot luck supper was served after the meeting.

Females Take Over Brush Staff in '27

A committee was appointed to set up a panel for the election of officers for the Home Economics club at a meeting Thursday, April 24.

Dace Ricketts, president of the Home Economics club, said today that the next meeting of the group will be in the second week in May.

Officers for the coming year will be elected at the meeting.

The date for installation of the new officers has not yet been determined.

Today, the day before Mackay Day, 1927, girls have taken over the whole production of the Sagebrush. Ernest L. Inwood, regular editor, has gone to Ely and 12 men are off the editorial staff for this issue.

and did hand over the whole production to women. They did an excellent job of putting out a paper, and if you were to ask Dr. Inwood, he would probably tell you the same. Don't ask him why he was in Ely on Mackay Day.

Will they be able to do it? If you, the readers of this article can bring yourselves back to the present, 1947, Ernest L. Inwood, who is now a Ph.D. and head of the department of economics, business and sociology here at Nevada, was the editor of the Sagebrush 20 years ago,

Nevada Thinclads Prepare for Meet With Strong Cal Aggie Track Squad

Several Closely Contested Races in Offing for Fans On Saturday Afternoon

The University of Nevada trackmen will meet a strong California Aggie team from Davis tomorrow afternoon in Mackay Stadium, in their third dual meet of the season.

The Aggies, said Coach Jim Bailey, are bringing a squad of 34 men and will be three deep in every event.

The men from Davis do not lack in either experience, or material, said the Nevada coach. That was shown when they defeated San Francisco state last Saturday, who had defeated the Wolves two weeks ago in Mackay Stadium.

Small Squad

Nevada's hope will again be centered on a small squad, with a few individuals entering many events.

In the 100, Bill Smales, who won the century at Chico State last Saturday in 10.1, will be pitted against the Aggies' Talbott who was clocked at 9.9 last Saturday when he defeated Hal Fox of San Francisco State who ran the hundred in 9.5 in Mackay Stadium recently.

The 220-yard dash should prove a close one, with Grant Davis and Smales running against Talbott, who ran third last Saturday in a 22 second furlong, while Davis ran second in a 22.3 heat at the Chico State meet.

Watch Quarter Mile

The quarter mile, with Nevada's Dick Trachock (51.3) running against Waldron, who has toured the 440 in 50.5, will probably be the outstanding race of the meet.

In the mile, Don Gruwell, who ran second in a 4:49.4 race last Saturday, will be Nevada's pacer. Jack Fagan will carry Nevada's colors in the 880 and Hale Tognoni and Richard Fulstone will enter the 2-mile event for the Wolves.

Max Dodge, whose twirl of 154 ft., 1/2 in., is one of the three top discus tosses in the country, is again favored to cop that event along with the shot put and a place in the javelin. He will be supported in the weight department by Tom Bell, Hugo Giorgi and Roger Brander.

The javelin is undisputedly in the Aggie's favor, with Jerry Weber of the Davis team throwing the spear a few feet over the 190 foot mark.

Should Be Close

The broad jump and pole vault should prove interesting, with the Aggie man's best jump of 21 ft., 2 in., being challenged by Bill Smales and Tom Kalmanir, who are both capable of better jumps.

Hartwig of the Aggies has pole vaulted 11 feet, while both Jim Melarkey and Bill Smales have cleared 11 ft., 6 in. and Tom Cross has gone 10 ft., 6 in.

Schlange of the Aggies has a high jump mark of 6 ft., 3 in. and has run the low hurdles in 24.6. He has no noticeable competition in the high jump, but will be pressed closely by Carl

Chico Defeated 4-6 By Nevada Tennis Team During Meet

Nevada opened its 1947 tennis season with a 4-2 victory over Chico State College at Chico last Saturday. The Wolves captured three of the single matches and one of the doubles.

Pete Pridden started Nevada rolling with a 6-3, 6-3 win over Burns of Chico. Nevadan Ed Reed duplicated Pridden's feat and downed Estes 6-0, 6-4. Len Stern handed Chico its third defeat by taking Tinkler 6-3, 6-4. Vern Brown of Nevada was defeated 6-8, 6-3, 6-4.

In the doubles, Pridden and Reed were defeated by Burns and Estes 6-3, 2-6, 6-3. Brown and Stern revenged that Nevada loss with a win over Fox and Tinkler 6-3, 6-3.

In the only other meet Nevada has had this spring, the Wolves tied the Reno Tennis Club 4-4.

Dining Hall Deficit Necessitates Raise In Board Next Fall

Board at the university dining hall will be advanced to $45 per month starting next fall. Due to the steadily rising cost of foods, there will be a deficit of about $22,000 facing the university dining hall this June 30.

Dr. Charles H. Gorman, university comptroller, stated that even with the $40 per month board rate, the university is still losing $3.60 per month on each student who eats at the dining hall.

"The actual cost of food staples was 74 per cent higher in March as compared with last November," Dr. Gorman said.

The board of regents has authorized a board rate of $45 per month to be listed in the university's 1947-48 catalog, with food assessments to fluctuate in direct proportion with the food needed.

Robinson in the low hurdles. Robinson will also run the high sticks for the Wolves.

California Aggies' relay team of Reed, Williams, Putterbaugh and Waldron, was clocked at 3:28.3 last Saturday, almost two seconds better than Nevada's unbeaten mile quartet has done so far.

NEVADA TRACK TEAM DEFEATS CHICO IN MEET

In spite of an unfamiliar sandy track, Nevada's track team defeated the Chico State college team 70 1/2 to 60 1/2 at Chico last Friday and Saturday.

Nevada made the best record in weights, while Chico came out ahead in distance as was expected.

Max Dodge broke his own Nevada-Chico dual meet record of 145 ft., 4 inches by a discus toss of 153 ft., 8 inches, just short of his University of Nevada record of 154 ft., 1/2 in. set week before last.

First and second places in the 100 were taken by Nevada trackmen. Bill Smales won first and Tom Kalmanir won second.

Carl Robinson won the low hurdles, upsetting Chico's crack hurdler, Wainright.

U Racket Team Faces Cal Saturday

Nevada's tennis team with one victory under its belt, has four more tough matches to face this season.

Having defeated Chico 4-2, they will meet California Aggies in Reno tomorrow at the Reno Tennis Club.

Future games include San Francisco University in the Bay City next Thursday, College of Pacific at Stockton next Friday and Chico State in Reno on May 16, Dr. Meryl C. Deming, coach, announced this week.

Sex Appeal Returns As Beards Vamoose

"Leave us face it!" Beards are definitely on their way out after tonight if the coed population on campus has anything to say about it. Women's reaction has been anything but one of delight.

Typical expressions of opinions are:

Della Sorenson, special student from Montana, who is witnessing her first Mackay Day: "Bearded men may be exciting to bearded women, but they certainly do not appeal to me!"

Zina Coe, arts and science junior: "We'll be kinda glad when it is over."

Gwen Byrd, frosh: "I've been told that it tickles, but personally I'd rather they didn't have beards."

What would be the reaction of a male if he had to kiss a bearded woman for six weeks?

Robert Radovich, Brush reporter, "I'd love it!"

Why were you absent from class yesterday—acute indigestion? No sir, a cute coed.

Rifle Team Second In Major Matches

Squad Cops 90 Per Cent Of Postal Matches

With the official scoring not yet received from headquarters, sixth army, the University of Nevada rifle team ranks second to the University of California at Berkeley in the finals of the National Intercollegiate rifle match.

"The team made a magnificent showing for a small, newly organized group," Colonel Gilbert E. Parker, professor of military science and tactics, said. "They have won 90 per cent of the matches that they have entered."

The University of Nevada rifle team competed in the National Intercollegiate preliminaries against 15 other teams from eight western states.

"Five teams were to qualify for the finals and Nevada made fifth place," Colonel Parker said.

"Nevada improved considerably in the second stage and during the third stage made up sufficient points to pass Arizona. Now Nevada is in second place by a good margin of 64 points," Colonel Parker added.

Donald J. Metzker, team captain, and 15 other men fire each week. The high ten count as the team score. Two men, Kenneth T. Rice and Emil Ott vied for honors as the high-point man. There was only a single point difference in their scores, stage after stage. On an unofficial scoring by Captain McElroy of the military department it was found that Rice nosed Ott out by three points.

Peavine Gets Facial To Open Mackay Day Festivities in 1928

Tomorrow, Mackay Day, 1928, promises to be one of the biggest celebrations of its kind in the history of Nevada.

At 8 pm, the freshmen will be dispatched up to Peavine Mountain to whitewash the block N.

During the morning, fraternities and sororities will have its face lifted.

Beard check will also take place in the morning, and those lacking beards will be laked. Of course, men have been thrown into Manzanita Lake all week for various offenses and for not honoring the day set aside for the Mackay celebration.

At noon, women of the home ec department will feed the entire faculty and student body.

Judge E. A. Ducker of the state supreme court will be the principal speaker, and President Walter E. Clark will deliver the Mackay Day address.

At the close of the meal, ASUN officers will be nominated and the Glee Club will entertain.

Admission will be 40-cents and must be paid at the door.

At 3 pm the annual interclass track meet will be held on Mackay Field. By that time the fraternities should have the fences up around the track.

Under the direction of the Block N Society, the Mackay Day dance will be at 9 pm. It will be a very informal dance, and upperclass men will wear their cords and Block N men wear their sweaters. "Contrary to preceding years, the Artemisia won't be given out."

Wolf Pack Nine Beats Chico State In Weekend Tilts

First Collegiate Victory For Nevada; Tucker, Gillis Chockers

Nevada baseballers rang up their first collegiate victory of the season last Friday night at Oroville, beating Chico State College 10 to 3.

Chico got eight hits off Bill Gillis, Nevada pitcher, but only one earned run was credited against him.

Ed Sharkey, Nevada catcher, played an outstanding game, pegging out three runners at second base.

Heavy Sticker

Al Lazzarone, Nevada first baseman, sped the Wolf Pack in hitting with a triple and two doubles.

Nevada won the second game of the series Saturday night at Chico 7 to 4.

Chico's hits off Lee Tucker, Nevada pitcher, were well divided and in the pinches Tucker really bore down. Chico had one out and the bases loaded in the eighth inning when Tucker fanned the first man and forced the next batter to pop up to Chub Drakulich at second.

Al Lazzarone led the Nevada hitters again with three hits.

Ed Sharkey, catcher, who played an outstanding game in the first half of the series, sustained a split finger during the second game. Jacques Welin did a good relief job after Sharkey's injury.

Eighteen Cadets Receive Ribbons

Eighteen ROTC cadets were authorized to wear the university service ribbon at the first dress review of the detachment this semester, held recently in Mackay stadium.

The four companies of approximately 30 cadets each, commanded by Cadet Second Lt. Bert Hildebrand, formed on Mackay field with the band, and after retreat ceremonies the detachment passed in review.

Students who received service ribbon authorizations, awarded for "A" grades in military, were: John J. Berrueta, Donald A. Damkroger, Gunter G. Gigas, Robert H. Linka, George Magee, Emil N. Ott, John W. Patterson, William M. Pelter, George Story, Jack G. Wulff, Gerald B. Wynnes, George M. Hill, Granville E. Johns, Bruno Coli, Dale Hanna, Donald Johnson, Jerome Marks and Bert D. Hildebrand.

This week's practice review was conducted to prepare for the annual inspection review on May 5 and Governor's Day, May 21, Col. Gilbert E. Parker, commander of the ROTC and director of military training, said.

Cadets serving as officers for the review in addition to Hildebrand, were: George Hill, adjutant; Kenneth T. Rice, jr., commander of company A; Raymond Larsen, company B; James Freeman, company C; and Kenneth Cusick, company D.

Nevada May Have New School Song Written by Waring

Fred Waring, noted composer, conductor and arranger, may write a school song for the University of Nevada.

Lewis Barrett, member of the song committee, stated today that the request was sent to Waring, but no answer has been received yet.

As the song "Nevada We Salute You" by Milo Sweet of California did not receive favorable acclaim, the manuscript was returned to Mr. Sweet. "Nevada We Salute You" was presented to the student body early in the semester.

Barbara Culley, chairman of the song committee and personal friend of orchestra leader Waring, previously said that he would probably attempt a song if time permitted.

Sportsmanship

Many ski fans have been wondering why Nevada skiers were reluctant to accept and refused to compete in the recent Silver Belt tourney at the Sugar Bowl.

Seems the fireworks started when several prominent California skiers were overlooked when bids were sent out. Consequently, Nevada ski-tooters refused to participate, arguing that the men from the Poppy State should have received offers, too.

While again showing true sportsmanship which was so evident in the past, the Nevadans also displayed sincere consideration for the Californians who were highly instrumental in making many local meets a big success.

Odds and Ends

Missing from the sports picture is Bob "Shag" O'Shaughnessy. Although still registered, he's presently not attending school. As a versatile track veteran, Bob would be a big asset to this year's squad. . . . Discus-thrower Max Dodge is still in the market for a size 13 pair of track shoes. . . . Football Coach Joe Sheeketski is finding the easiest way to get a house to live in is to build one. P.S.: He has the plans.

TOUGH TEST

Nevada faces its toughest opposition to date in the Cal Aggie track squad. Numerically deep in all positions the Aggies annexed a 67½-63½ victory over SF State last week and bested Chico State by an overwhelming score the prior week.

Especially strong in the low hurdles, high jump, and javelin, the Mustangs boast spectacular performers in 100-yard dash sprinters Talbot and Adams, high jumper Schlange and javelin tosser Weber.

Surprises from last week's Chico meet found hefty Max Dodge breaking the Chico State dual meet discus record while placing second in the javelin in his first crack at that event; Bill Smale's smashing victory in the 100-yard dash; fast stepping Carl Robinson breezing in to cop the low hurdles; Grant Davis winning the 220 in his initial attempt at that distance.

Coach Jim Bailey deserves plenty of credit for the win. Juggling performers in various events, Jim's strategy proved the winning factor while the Pack came through in the relay to annex the meet by the narrowest of margins.

FISH STORY

A new sport entered the picture this week. Yes fellow campus anglers, it's time to come out from behind the books, as fishing season opened yesterday.

After reading colorful accounts about the huge schools of fish dying of starvation—and lack of water—many fishermen returned quite disillusioned and disappointed, finding that the only ones that fell for that line were the suckers.

On the other side of the pond, some lucky anglers (those that found a spot along the Truckee that wasn't occupied) caught the limit.

GRID SCRIMMAGE

Light contact scrimmage was in order this week for Wolf Pack gridgers.

Drilling the squad on basic fundamentals and plays, Joe refrained from contact work to eliminate the possibilities of injuries caused by ignorance of assignments.

Although lacking weight, especially in the line, the Pack gridmen are fast and aggressive.

Playing their first game about one week after school starts next fall, spring practice means more than just a few weeks of practice.

Little time will be forthcoming when the chips are down. So spring practice is not just a means of doing away with procrastination but offers the gridster a chance to display his ability prior to gridiron hostilities.

Apostoli, Former Welterweight Champ, Boxes Joe Oliver on Stag Night Card

Headlined with an exhibition bout by former middleweight champion of the world, Fred Apostoli, and ex-professional Reno fighter, Joe Oliver, Block "N" Stag Night will be held Thursday, May 8, in the new gymnasium.

Max Dodge, Block "N" president, announced today that Ed Sharkey, SAE heavyweight, will be matched against Earl Trentner, recent Hawaiian addition to the varsity football team.

Outstanding Card

The show, one of the most outstanding boxing programs to appear in Reno in recent years, will include some of the best-known amateur boxers of the university and western Nevada.

In the inter-fraternity bouts, Jack Swobe, of the 1946 varsity boxing team representing Sigma Nu, will meet Gene Mills, ATO who provided action during the 1947 season.

Another inter-frat tilt will find Larry McGowan, 160 pounder from Phi Sigma Kappa, against Sigma Nu's Cal Casey.

Golden Glover

Howard Heckethorn, sophomore Sigma Nu from Las Vegas, will be matched against Frankie Winnemucca, Fernley high school student and well-known Golden Gloves champion.

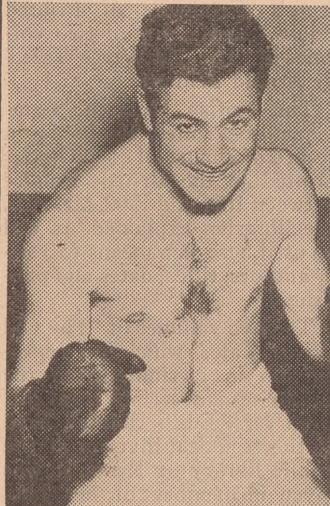

Glen Kanig, university welterweight, will meet Marvin Tobey of Nixon, Nev.

Bob Thronson, also of the 1947 varsity team, will be matched against Roland Quartz, Golden Gloves champion and AAU finalist from Stewart.

Other Bouts

Paul Williams, former Pacific AAU 112-pound champion of Stewart, will hook up with Moe Macias of the Reno YMCA in a feature attraction.

Fighting the second fight of his career will be Floyd Sampson, younger brother of Phelan Sampson. Young Sampson will meet Marvin Wheeler of Nixon, outstanding flyweight who won the 1946 Diamond Belt.

With these and several other bouts yet to be arranged the program should provide an evening packed with "punches" Dodge concluded.

Kin of Comstocker To Enroll in Fall

Arnold G. Requa and Mark L. Requa, great-grandsons of Isaac L. Requa, superintendent of the Chollar-Potosi Mining Co. of Virginia City during the years of 1867-1875, are planning to enroll in the Mackay School of Mines next fall, Professor Jay Carpenter, director of the Mackay School of Mines said today.

Isaac L. Requa, whose oil portrait hangs in the Mackay Mines Museum, invented and patented the self-dumping skip. His invention was adopted by the Kimberly mines in South Africa and came back to this country known as the Kimberly self-dumping skip. He was instrumental in promoting the railroad from Palisades to Eureka, Nevada, but is perhaps most noted for sinking one of the deepest shafts in Virginia City, over 3000 feet.

Their grandfather, Mark Requa, promoted the copper mines in Ely and was superintendent of mines in Eureka.

Lawrence K. Requa, their father, is now assistant to ex-president Herbert Hoover.

No GI Benefits For Reservists Called for Duty

No additional credit for government educational benefits under the G. I. Bill of Rights will be extended to members of the Army and Navy reserve when they are called back to active duty for 15-day training periods.

This point was cleared up today by Keith Lee, campus veterans advisor, who asked that all students be informed of the new ruling.

Mr. Lee explained that the veterans administration does not consider these 15-day training periods as sufficient active duty to increase the educational benefits.

30-Day Minimum

Another provision of the order, as pointed out by Lee, was the rule governing the recall of reserve members to active duty for longer periods. If any member is recalled to active service for an indefinite period, and if he serves more than 30 days during that time, he is entitled to all the benefits of the present bill.

As the bill stands today, each veteran is entitled to receive one year of education at government expense for each year of active service, plus one month's training for each month of active service for a period of not more than four years.

Lee has urged all veterans who are still uncertain of their standing on this matter to contact him for further information.

Permanent Brass Offered to Vets

Former army officers attending the University of Nevada are asked to turn their names in to the ROTC office if they are interested in obtaining a commission in the regular army.

These commissions may be arranged to go into effect after the candidate has finished school. A screening board of ten army officers will be in Reno May 13, 14 and 15 to interview former officers in the Reno area.

Mackay Luncheon Crumbs Cancel Out Dance Decorations

Decorations will not adorn the new gymnasium at the Mackay day dance, said Jim Schultz, chairman of the dance committee.

Costumes will be worn at the dance, but the Mackay day luncheon will make it impossible to put any decorations up.

The gym will not be cleared until about 4 p. m., then the floors have to be swept, scrubbed to get the crumbs and gummy food off, completely dried, and then waxed.

This will leave no time for the decoration committee to go into action because they will be unable to walk on the floor while it is being prepared for the dance, explained Schultz.

Saddle and Spurs Show on May 11

Horsewomen, 24 strong, of the Saddle and Spurs club, will take part in its third horse show, May 11, to take place at the Reno Rodeo grounds, it was revealed today by Miss Ruth Russell, advisor of the group.

The horse show is to take place in connection with the one given by the Aggies.

Saddle and Spurs is a university women's organization composed of girls who have completed one semester of riding, and have successfully passed a try-out.

The first Saddle and Spur horse show was held in 1939; the next was held in 1941. The group plans to make the affair an annual event.

English style riding, and fundamentals of jumping are being taken up by women riders this year for the first time.

Pela Oyabide is president of the organization which is composed of approximately 55 campus women.

Volumes Received By Campus Library

'Old Wives' Tale' Presented By Mrs. Edith Holmes

The University of Nevada library has just received the first ten volumes of the British Museum's "Catalogue of Printed Books," and a gift of two volumes of "The Old Wives' Tale," by Arnold Bennett.

The British Museum "Catalogue of Printed Books" is a record of almost all of the books printed in the British Empire between 1881 and 1900, Mr. Hill, the librarian explained. It will be used here as a means to verify authors, titles, dates and publishers.

The two volumes of "The Old Wives' Tale," which is a reproduction in facsimile from the author's manuscript, is a gift from Mrs. Edith Holmes, head of the technical division at the public library of Reno. It was given in memory of her husband, the late William Holmes, who was a member of the English department of the University of Nevada before his death.

Congress Catalogue

Mr. Hill also said that the catalogue of the Library of Congress has been ordered but has not yet arrived. This catalogue will be in three sections. The first will include all books up to August 1, 1942. The second section will be a supplement to December 31, 1946. The third section will be a cumulative catalogue which will cover all material since January 1, 1947.

This cumulative catalogue will be issued monthly, quarterly and yearly. At the end of every five years the catalogue will be arranged in one alphabetical volume.

This Library of Congress catalogue will supplement the British Museum "Catalogue of Printed Books" for use by the students as bibliography material.

HERE'S A CHANCE TO BE SOMEBODY ELSE

By Della Sorenson

Here's your chance to be what you've always wanted to be! Have you secret ambitions to act the part of the strong, silent cowboy or the lazy camp-following Mexican who helped put the glamour in the west? Well, here it is, right to order.

Elaine Mobley, Dean of Women, made this statement: "Today gives the opportunity to express our personalities (well, at least our personalities as portrayed by the costumes we choose).

"The people who built the west were rugged individuals. Mexicans and Chinese, in their colorful native attire, worked in many capacities and added a brighter note to the dirty jeans and boots of the miners. Indians and cowboys mixed with the southern gentleman, mid-western farmer, New England fisherman; all with a common purpose: to 'get rich quick'.

"The true spirit of the west sprang from this multicolored background. Check into your past history and select your costume to represent the personality you would like to have been, had you lived in those gay days.

"Costumes more or less effect a disguise for everyday life. Let's dress 100 per cent and transform this college campus into a scene representative of the period."

Well, what are you going to wear? Me, I'm coming draped in old pages of the Virginia City Territorial Enterprise.

Virginia Gardner is the chairman of the tickets and program committee. Her committee members are Ann Heim, and Virginia Kelley.

Pat Ireland, president of Panawallis which is sponsoring the event, has scheduled practices every day from 5 to 7 p. m. from May 4 to the evening of the performance with the exception of Friday and Saturday evenings.

The first act of the aquacade will open at 8 p. m. in the newly decorated and remodeled Moana Hot springs.

ATOM AGE LOWERS UNDERTAKING ART FROM 1890 LEVEL

Time Magazine of March 17 carried a report on the National Selected Morticians, Inc., which predicted that funeral services for those who have succumbed to the deathly atomic rays would be a problem involving lead-lined caskets, Geiger counters and what not.

In 1890 things were different. The following is a quotation from the Virginia City Territorial Enterprise of Oct. 21, 1890, filed at the University library.

"Undertaking. In all of its branches and at prices to meet the dullness of the times. P.S. Special attention paid to the removal of bodies from all and any cemetery in Storey county. Burials in any cemetery in the county. The best, most complete and only burial vaults in the state."

ENGAGED

Soon to be "mister" and "missus" are Betsy Haydock, Tri-Delt, and Harry Kane.

Miss Haydock received her engagement ring last Saturday. They plan to be married on or before August 16.

How a city's voice was restored!

Early on December 14, 1946, flames gutted the Central Office at River Grove, Illinois. Telephone service for 10,000 families ceased to exist.

Even as the fire burned, restoration work was begun. Emergency telephone headquarters was set up. Mobile equipment arrived to handle calls of first importance.

Telephone men from distant points came to aid the local forces. Bell System standardization proved itself again for all men were able to use the same methods, the same tools, the same Western Electric equipment. From Western Electric plants hundreds of miles away the needed supplies—the right kinds and amounts—were started toward River Grove.

In a matter of just 11 days . . . a record accomplishment . . . two Quonset huts were erected, new switchboards installed, splices and connections made. River Grove's communications system was restored.

Planning well in advance for both emergencies and normal growth, is a task of telephone management. The many and varied problems presented offer a stimulating challenge—promise adventure and opportunity—to men who choose telephony as a career.

A Boy! A Girl! A Moon! A Car! Nick Gives In! He Went Too Far!

By ROGER BRANDER

The Model "A" putted to a hissing stop. Only a few feet away lay Virginia Lake under a full Nevada moon. The night was warm, the sky clear. Only the faint mist of the Milky Way could be seen threading its path through the glistening constellations. A night made to order for . . .

Penny's small hand gently clasped Nick's tanned forearm. "Please, Nick. Please?"

Nick flicked his lighter, placed it to his cigarette, and drew in deeply.

"Penny, we've been over all this before. It's still 'No.'"

"But, Nick, have you no consideration for me? Besides, no one will find out."

"Maybe not, but think of the consequences if someone did find out." Nick saw that she was dead serious, and even though she was his best girl he couldn't bring himself around to doing such a thing. Why couldn't she fight it off for just a short while longer. After all it was only a few more days before the big day.

As if reading his thoughts, Penny snuggled closer to Nick behind the steering wheel. She put her head on his shoulder so that the blue and white ribbon in her hair teased him under the chin.

Nick cleared his throat and squirmed uncomfortably, both hands gripping the wheel.

"Oh, you college men," Penny uttered disgustedly. "You take everything too darned seriously!"

"But, Penny," Nick began apologetically, "you just can't ask a fellow to do that sort of thing. It just isn't done . . . not here anyway."

A few seconds of uncomfortable silence ensued while Penny mentally mapped a new plan of attack.

Then it happened. Nick found his face resting in Penny's white hands.

"Nick, you must . . . you must. Do this for me and I'll be yours for ever and ever." Her pleading blue eyes penetrated deeper and deeper into Nick's swirling brain. Suddenly her lips were on his in a kiss that shifted the swirling from low gear to high. Nick's grip on the steering wheel grew tighter. His hands were sweaty. His feet played keep away with the floorboard.

In a futile effort to save himself Nick tried to turn his head. Penny's small grip was vise-like. Finally Nick gathered all his mental faculties, and with a hand on each of Penny's shoulders he pushed her away with the thrust of a lumber-jack:

"All right! You win, you win! I'll risk everything and shave my beard before Mackay Day!"

DIogenES NOT THE ONLY TRUTHFUL MAN

In the years 412-323 B. C. there lived in Athens a great philosopher. His name was Diogenes. Everyone knows that this is a fact, and it ain't necessarily news.

This great Greek lived a simple upright mode of life. He wore little clothing, ate the coarsest of food, and was the epitome of upright and honest living. In fact he traveled over much of the known world looking for an honest man. A large number of people have heard about Diogenes and his lamp so we still ain't tellin' you anything new.

The important tidings of this story is that alas poor old Diogenes was born about thirty centuries too early; for right here at our own U. of N. is a brave soul who dares to tell the truth even in our times. In sixty odd excuses handed into the upperclass committee for failure to raise a Mackay Day beard one and only one person asked to be excused from growing a beard because it is a physical impossibility for him to grow one!

Names are withheld to protect our subject from the wiles of this corrupt world.

Clothes make a man but it's the skin that makes a peach.

In 1922 the Artemisia came out on Mackay Day.

BEARD SHAVING TEMPTATION TO BE IGNORED

What has happened to the men's upperclass committee? The answer from Howard Hamen, chairman, is that nothing has happened. Absolutely nothing.

The brawny boys have been on the alert but to date have not ferreted out a single violator of the beard raising mandate.

Haman indicated that it would not be a good idea to get too playful with the razor until quite late Mackay Day, however.

Veterans' Leave Rate Announced

Time Should Accumulate For Emergencies

Leave for veterans attending school under the GI bill accrues at the rate of two and a half days a month, it was announced recently by the Veterans Administration.

Veterans enrolled in college for one year would ordinarily have accrued enough leave to carry them through the period between spring and summer sessions, or to take care of short periods of illness during the school year without losing any part of their subsistence pay, the Veterans Administration's bulletin pointed out.

When to Use It

Sick and annual leave should be used during an emergency period only, in order that veterans may receive the maximum amount of training, Veterans Administration officials advised. Many veterans, it was pointed out, are not using their accrued leave because it uses up time to which they would be entitled in school.

Veterans now enrolled who plan to continue in the same school during the summer session will be continued in school without a break in training or in the payment of their subsistence allowance if the vacation period between the spring and summer session does not exceed 14 days, it was explained.

At the University of Nevada the spring semester end June 7, and the first summer session begins June 11, resulting in no break in pay or any change in status to Nevada veterans.

Prep Debators Set For May Tournament

The annual tournament of the Nevada State High School Forensic League will take place on May 9 and 10 on the University of Nevada Campus, said Mr. S. M. Vinocour, state director of the group.

Thirty-four high schools in Nevada have been invited to enter contestants in the tournament. The debate topic will be "Socialized Medicine."

There will also be original oratory, dramatic interpretation and extemporaneous speaking.

The topic for the extemporaneous speeches will be "Threats to World Peace" with specific topics chosen from Time magazine, Newsweek, and Readers Digest.

Quarterhorse Judge Sought

Aggies to Hold First Show Of Kind in U. History

University of Nevada Aggie Club plans to have a representative from the Pacific Quarterhorse Association to judge the quarterhorse class at the horse show to be held May 11 at the Reno race track, said Mike Galli, secretary of the Aggie Club.

The group is trying to get some matched quarterhorses to race at the track, Galli continued. He also added that the interest shown by local horse breeders and riding associations has been encouraging.

University's First

This will be the first horse show to be sponsored by the university at any time. There has not been a horse show of this type in Reno for a number of years, Galli added.

The main object of the show, he said, is to promote interest in various breeds of saddle horses found within the state. Various classes of horses will be judged; some of which will be in hurdling class for jumpers, roadrack class, Tennessee walking horses and the open stock horses for novice and professional classes.

Snack Bar Remains Open During June For Y Conventions

Snack bar of the YWCA will remain open during the month of June, while boys' state and girls' state conventions are held on the campus. This decision was reached at a YWCA cabinet meeting held Tuesday evening, April 29.

Whether or not the snack bar will be open for university students attending summer session has not yet been decided, Barbara Pinjuv, YW secretary, said. The snack bar will be operated by YW girls and will sell souvenirs as well as regular refreshments. There will be approximately 150 to 200 high school seniors on campus.

Mrs. Pinjuv explained to the cabinet members that senior students of Nevada high schools are chosen on the basis of scholarship, moral character, and citizenship to come to Boys State or Girls State, each of which will last two weeks. During their time on campus, the students run a model city and government.

If a student should happen to walk on the grass, he will be tried in a court with a prosecuting attorney and a defense attorney. The experience is to teach the boys and girls more about government and good citizenship.

Seven Ski Awards To Be Presented

Skiing awards for the 1947-48 season are to be presented to seven men, providing they meet the grade requirements at the end of the semester. These men were recommended by Warren Hart, skiing coach, and approved by the ASUN executive committee in a meeting this week.

They are: Jerry Wetzel, Mickey Munley, Cliff Banta, Barnes Berry, Harvey Ross, Richard Rowley and Hans Wolfe.

New rules were established for awards to be presented for all subsequent seasons and are:

1. Awards will be given only for intercollegiate competition.
2. Only three events will be classed as intercollegiate meets. They are the U. of N. winter carnival, the PCISU meet, and the Vanderbilt races sponsored by the University of California.
3. If a skier on the team takes part in two or three meets out of the three, he must make team points in at least two events, not necessarily in the same meet. If a skier competes in only one of the three events, he must make team points in at least three events.

Jumping, cross-country, down-hill and slalom are the events in which team points are to be made.

Awards for the 1947-48 season were made according to rules established by the executive committee in December, 1946.

Mackay Luncheon Starts Campaign For UN Offices

Candidates May Be Backed By Any Organization On the Campus

Nominations for elective ASUN officers for next year will be opened at the Mackay Day luncheon, Hans Wolfe, ASUN president, announced. Student body president, Block N representative to the board of athletic control and senior, junior, and sophomore class managers are the positions to be filled. Although usually presented from fraternities, nominations may be made by any campus group, Wolfe said.

Noon on Tuesday, May 6, is the closing deadline for additional nominations that are presented to the senate by formal letter after the Mackay Day luncheon. The letter must also contain the name of the group sponsoring the candidate, Wolfe stated.

Political Rally

Names of candidates will be posted on the bulletin board for ten days. Scholastic credits and qualifications of the prospective officers will be examined during this interval.

Wednesday, May 14, is the date set for a political rally in the new gymnasium. At this time, candidates will be presented to the student body, and campaign speeches will be made. The probable time is 7:30 p. m., Wolfe said.

Primary elections will be held Thursday, May 14, in the Aggie building, Wolfe also announced. Stan Brown is head of the election board, which was appointed by the ASUN senate at the first of the year and has officiated at all elections this year.

General elections will be held Thursday, May 22, one week after primary elections, Wolfe added.

Blue Key Wrath To Be Inflicted On Night Parkers

"Parking regulations will be more strictly enforced," Jimmy Glynn, president of the Blue Key, declared today. The statement was made as a comment on a Sagebrush editorial last week which criticized the laxity of the organization in handing out tickets at night.

"The editorial was cussed and discussed thoroughly at the Blue Key meeting Tuesday evening," Glynn said.

The editorial stated that the only time the organization gave tickets to violators at night was when Blue Key held a meeting.

To prevent further criticism, Glynn said, the regulations will be enforced every night.

Library To Be Open As Usual Saturday

The library will remain open on Saturday morning as usual from 9 a. m. to 12 noon.

Mr. J. J. Hill, director of the library, said that even though the majority of men will be working on the school clean-up program, and many women will be helping with the Mackay Day luncheon, some students who have the opportunity will want to study.

The library has received approximately 40 new books including a 21 volume set of Milton's works. Seven of eight volumes of the detailed account of the Nazi war trials entitled "Nazi Conspiracy and Aggression" is now in the stock room.

HIGHLAND TERRACE SEEKS INSTRUCTORS

Sunday school teachers are needed at the Highland Terrace project church, Barbara Pinjuv announced at a YWCA cabinet meeting Tuesday, April 29.

Mrs. Sydney Fox of Highland Terrace asked for three to six girls to teach an interdenominational Sunday school for children between the ages of three and 14 years, Mrs. Pinjuv said.

The girls will be needed for the rest of the semester and perhaps on into summer, too, she added.

FIVE HONORARY OFFICERS

Scabbard, Blade Choses Five Coeds Honorary Officers

Major for May 16 Military Ball

Five university women have been selected as honorary officers for the Military Ball, May 16, Merton Domonoske, captain of Scabbard and Blade, said.

Of the five, one will be chosen as honorary major and will reign as queen over the Military Ball to be held in the Twentieth Century Club. The five girls are: Maida Lee, Teddy Hicks, Lucille Munroe, Maxine Jones and Helen Boner.

A cup will be presented to the queen at the ball. The other four honorary officers will serve as captains of the four ROTC companies.

The five queen contestants will be presented to members of Scabbard and Blade at a dinner dance this Sunday at Dutch Gardens, Domonoske said.

Medical Fraternity Aids Cancer Drive

Alpha Epsilon Delta, medical fraternity on the campus, is sponsoring a drive this week to aid in winding up the cancer drive in Reno. Henry Stewart, president of AED, has stated his willingness to cooperate and help Reno go over the top with her cancer drive this year.

Two movies will be shown in the Education building auditorium at 7:45 Wednesday night. There will be a Disney film entitled "The Traitor Within," and a regular film entitled, "Choose To Live."

Dr. Wesley W. Hall, local doctor, will speak after the movies.

'Thugs' and 'Molls' At Snake Jailbird

"If I had the wings of an angel, over these prison walls I would fly," sang Sigma Nus and their dates at the annual Sigma Nu jailbird dance, held Saturday night, April 26, at Reno Hot Springs.

Fred Wood's orchestra played for the "thugs" and their "molls," said Bob Knudsen, chairman of the dance. Bill Ebert and Everett Curless assisted Knudsen in arranging for the dance.

Carl Riggle won the prize for the best men's costume of stripes, and Miley Chase won first place in her "prison-bait" costume, Knudsen added.

WESLEY FOUNDATION MEMBERS HOLD FEED AT BOWERS MANSION

A picnic was held at Bowers Mansion last Sunday for members of the Wesley Foundation, national organization for Methodist college students.

The picnic started at 12:30 and lasted till 6 p. m., said Art Johnson, president of the group. Students played baseball, swam and ate "hamburgers."

Bob Morton was in charge of transporting. Carl Johnson and Dee Hand were on the food committee.

Annual Dinner Held By Medical Group

Alpha Epsilon Delta, national honorary medical fraternity, held their annual banquet at Eugene's restaurant, Sunday afternoon at 4:00.

Speakers at the dinner were Doctor Phillip A. Lehenbauer, professor and head of the Biology department, and Doctor J. E. Moose, professor of Chemistry.

The organization was disappointed, according to Henry Stewart, president, when their other speaker, Doctor Peter Frandsen, former head of the Biology Department, could not attend because of a previous engagement.

It was through Doctor Frandsen's efforts that a chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta was established on this campus.

John Turns Green But Not From Envy

By LEWIS BARRETT

John Mackay is turning greener and greener! Some chemists will try to tell you that the elements are oxidizing the copper in the bronze statue, but that's not so.

John's sick over the conditions of the Mackay School of Mines. No new equipment since 1926, the school's drop from third place among the nation's mining colleges to approximately thirteenth, and a recent threat by the legislature to move the school to Ely or Pioche are the real reasons why Mackay's statue, guarding the entrance to the mining school, is taking on deeper shades of turquoise.

Then too, the university administration's recent fall from favor with state legislators is enough to cause John to topple off his pedestal, but instead he just leans a little harder on his pick, tightens his grasp on his handful of nuggets and turns a little greener.

Maybe he's not even thinking about the school. There is a possibility that John's jade shades reflect jealousy of the bushy black beards that are blossoming on the masculine chins during this festive session. You see, John only sports a mustache. Or, could he be provoked at not being able to pucker and whistle at the coeds that roam about the campus in this modern age. Gay ninety's fashions clothed most of the comely curves in his hey-days.

Whatever the reason, Mackay must remain silent and immobile on his stone foundation portraying his feelings only with varying shades of green.

Man has more courage but woman shows more backbone.

NEW A & M OFFICERS ELECTED BY GROUP

Roberta Butler was elected president of the Artemesia-Manzanita association at an election held Wednesday afternoon. Other new A & M officers are Laura Lue Johnson, senator; Joyce Guess, secretary-treasurer; and Meryde Brown, alternate senator.

Nominations of candidates for officers were held at a meeting of the association the previous evening. Ellen Turnquist, this year's president, was in charge of the meeting.

CIGAR ANNOUNCEMENT

Rod Eason passed cigars at the Sigma Nu house Monday night to announce his "pinning" to Kay Caldwell. Miss Caldwell was graduated from Sparks high school last year and is at present employed in Reno.

UN Autumn Bulletin On Carson Presses

The University of Nevada bulletin for next year went to press in Carson City late this week, Dr. Robert Gorrell, assistant professor of English, said today. The new catalogues should be ready for distribution by July.

The main changes are in the College of Engineering and the Mackay School of Mines curriculum, which have been reorganized to a certain extent, Dr. Gorrell said.

Mr. Hughes also displayed a part of his collection of rare old books and copies of Shakespeare's plays.

Mr. Hughes read passages from "The Merchant of Venice" and "King Richard the Second."
