

CRIPPLED WOLVES MEET DUCKS ON EUGENE TURF

Underdog Pack Winging to Oregon For Tussle With Aiken's Gridders

Smarting from last week's thumping at San Francisco, Nevada's Wolf Pack left Reno by plane this morning for Eugene, Oregon, where tomorrow at 2:30 pm they will meet Jim Aiken's Oregon University Webfeet.

Crippled from injuries received at Kezar last Sunday, the Wolves enter Saturday's affair as definite underdogs.

Tommy Kalmanir, the Pack's ace running back, did not make the trip to the timberland. A broken hand received in the USF fray will keep Kalmanir on the shelf for two weeks.

Limping on bad legs and on the doubtful list are Ed Klosterman, half back, Jack Davis, center, Ted Kondel, shifty ball carrier, is nursing head bruises and is another uncertainty.

Subda Ready

Counteracting this injury list is the return to action of John Subda, running threat, and Bill Morris, center. Darwin Farnsworth, injured earlier in the week, has rounded into shape and will be ready for action.

Subda, out for three weeks with a broken ankle, has been operating at full speed in practice and likely will receive the starting call at left half.

Morris, recovered from a fractured wrist, is showing the form that won him two letters at the pivot position.

Wizard Van Broklin

Coach Joe Sheeketski, after scouting the Oregon-Texas game last week, anticipates an aerial show on the Eugene turf tomorrow afternoon.

The Pack mentor commented on the passing wizardry of Van Broklin of the Ducks, who leads the Pacific Coast Conference in the pitching department.

Jake Leicht, Oregon's All American seat back of 1945, also came in for plenty of Sheeketski praise.

Jim Aiken, after watching his former team take a drubbing at San Francisco, said, "Regardless of the showing Nevada made today, we fear the Wolf Pack and expect a rough go Saturday."

The boys who played for deep voiced Jim here last year and playing against him tomorrow, share Aiken's opinion. They've been waiting for this one.

Sharpening Up

Sharpening up a not too potent pass defense, the Silver and Blue have been busy all week designing a formula that will stop the shots of Broklin.

Oregon, looking notoriously weak against Texas passes, will also have to be on their toes to bat down counter heaves of Nevada's Mike Mirabelli.

Probable starting Nevada lineup: Dan Orlich, or Duke Lindeman at LE, Timnas Carlson, LT, Ken Snofsky, LG, Tom Reinhardt, C, Dick Tilton, RG, Fred Leon, RT, and Scott Beasley, RE.

Mirabelli will open at quarter, Dick Trachok and Subda at halves, with Lloyd Rude working from the fullback post.

LIFE BEAUTIFUL TO BE CHANGED FOR FALL FROSH

Life will be more difficult for Nevada freshmen this fall, according to the programs outlined by the men's and women's upperclass committees this week. Nevada traditions are to be enforced rigorously this year, with severe penalties for violations.

Freshmen men must wear their dinks and carry their bibles, said Tommy Thompson, head of the men's upperclass committee. They will not be allowed to wear cords or "cut campus." Swats and fines will be meted out to nonconformists.

Thompson expressed the hope that cooperation from the freshmen would greet the efforts of the committee to reinstate traditions. However, he added, the upperclass men would not hesitate to "get tough" with violators.

A somewhat similar policy will be followed with regard to freshman women, Roberta Butler, head of the women's upperclass committee, announced. Frosh girls who do not wear ribbons in their hair or carry bibles will again be seen on the campus sporting eight-inch, blue and silver bows, or carrying suitcases.

In addition to Miss Butler, members of the women's committee include Elizabeth Burr, Barbara Olsen, Doris Maloney, Marjorie Simons, Gedney Gallagher, Marilyn Reynolds, Nora Saunders, Billy Heath and Girard Parker.

The membership list for the men's upperclass committee is not yet complete.

Fraternity Pix Schedules Set By Artemisia

Fraternity members and pledges will have pictures taken for the 1948 Artemisia beginning October 10, announced Doris Hansen, editor. Mr. Ralph Marks of "The Camera," who is now taking the sorority pictures, will also take fraternity pictures. His studio will be open from 9 am to 12 pm and 1 pm to 5 pm.

Pictures must be paid for when taken, with four poses costing $1, each additional pose not included. The fraternity men must wear white shirts, ties and coats.

Members of honorary societies will be required to take additional pictures. Block N members must wear white shirts and dark block N sweaters.

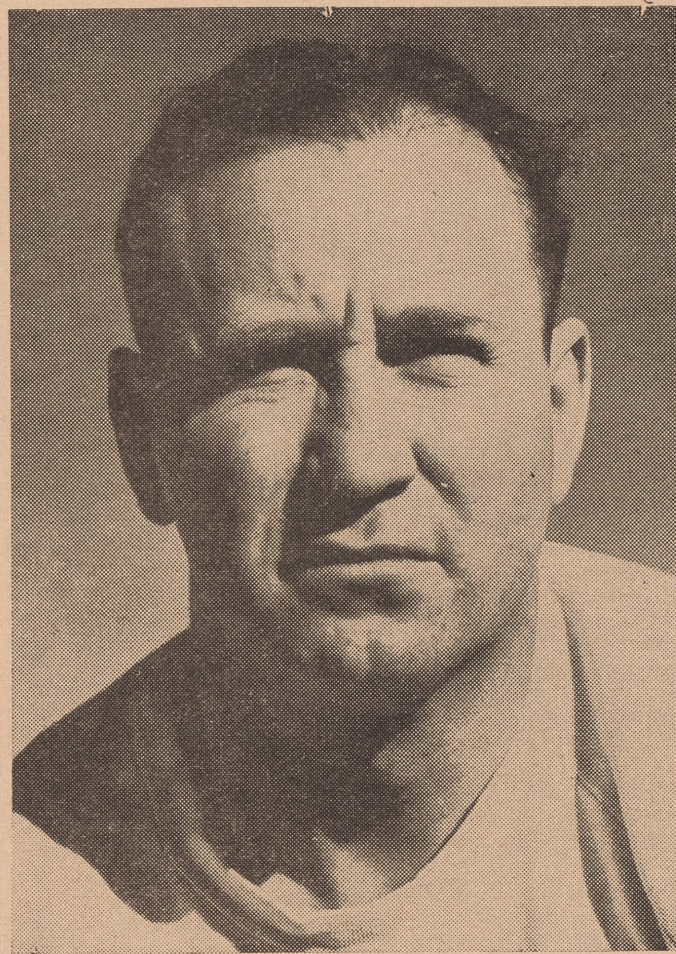

Blue Key and Coffin and Key members will be required to wear white shirts, ties, coats and the caps representing their group. Members of the Suntermite: Alpha Tau Omega, Blade will have their pictures taken for those organizations at a later date.

The editor has set the following picture schedule for the fraternities and Scabbard and Blade: Alpha Tau Omega, October 10, 13, 14; Lambda Chi Alpha, October 15, 16 and 17; Phi Sigma Kappa, October 20-21; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, October 22, 23 and 24; Sigma Nu, October 27, 28 and 29; Sigma Rho Delta, October 30, 31; Theta Chi, November 3, 4.

PRE-MED HONORARY TO HOLD INITIATIONS

Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-med society, will hold a formal initiation Saturday at 7 pm in the Agriculture Building.

EX-HEAD WOLF

Gravel voiced Jim Aiken who left Nevada for greener pastures will be leading his Oregon Webfeet against the Wolves tomorrow in Eugene. Aiken was the driving force behind Nevada's uphill fight for athletic recognition.

Fags and Jags To Greet Y 'Consumers'

Members of the jittery set will no longer be worried about their best friends not having "one." A cigarette machine has been installed in the snack bar for their convenience.

At the same time, thirsty patrons will soon be able to buy all the coca-cola they can drink. The present machine is to be retired, and a new 400-drink dispenser will replace it.

Barbara Pinjuv, head of the YWCA, also announced that a similar machine will be set up in the basement of the new engineering building.

Instead of dispensing the coke in bottled form, the new contraptions will pour it into paper cups. This system enables a much larger number of drinks to be handled than with the use of bottles. There will be no increase in price.

Candy, chewing gum and pie are also being offered for sale this semester.

FINAL REGISTRATION SET NEW RECORD

Crowding into every bit of available space, late enrollees pushed the final registration figure for the fall semester to 1803, the greatest number of students ever to attend the University of Nevada.

Final tabulations show the men out numbering the women 1285 to 518, a ratio of two and one-half men for every coed.

President John O. Moseley, in announcing the end of enrollment, stated that the university could not possibly handle any more students, as the 1803 now registered will fill all facilities to capacity.

FORMER CANUCK FLYERS WILL RECEIVE BONUS

The Canadian government has approved a bonus to former members of the Royal Canadian Air Force who served during World War II, said Colonel Gilbert E. Parker, professor of military science and tactics.

He added further that any person who falls under this category should report to the military department as soon as possible as the final report must be submitted to headquarters, 4th air force not later than October 10 of this year.

Scabbard and Blade Initiates Honor Idea In Advanced Military

An honor system has been initiated in the advanced military classes. Sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, the students in most of the classes have voted unanimously to support the system, said Bert Hildebrand, head of Scabbard and Blade.

Last spring, the honor system was adopted by the advanced students to combat the great amount of cheating going on during examinations. The trial was entirely successful, said Hildebrand. No cases of cribbing were reported during the remainder of the semester.

Dr. Robert S. Griffin, dean of men, reported that while the honor system has never been tried at Nevada on a large scale, it has been used at various times by individual instructors.

Despite the publicity that has been given the honor system, it is in effect in few institutions today. West Point and the University of Virginia use the system but most colleges have found it impractical, said Griffin.

Reno Club Sponsors University Art Show

Reno's Latimer Art Club will sponsor an art exhibit at the university next week, announced Ida Mae Kellough, fine arts publicity chairman.

The exhibit of 15 pieces, most of which were drawn by members of the Latimer Art Club, will be held in the art room of the temporary English Building on the campus, and will last from 1 to 5 pm daily, October 6 to 10.

Miss Kellough also stated that any student interested in joining the club should be present at the next meeting, the time of which will be posted on the bulletin board.

COMPLETE DIRECTORY IN STUDENT CENTER

Proofs of the student section of the campus directory are now on the walls of the student center, Alice Terry, secretary to the president, announced today.

All students should check and make the necessary changes on these proofs prior to October 4, the date that the final copy goes to the printer.

Homecoming Committee Reveals Plans For 1947

Blue Key Releases Registration Tally

After a week of campus automobile registration, Blue Key announced that it has issued parking permits to 84 faculty members, 64 staff workers and 521 students.

It was emphasized today by John Witte, Blue Key president, that for the first time, all student parking permits will be the same, with no differentiation between upper and lower classmen as has been the custom in the past.

Campus parking facilities for students will be open this year to all students, provided they have registered with the traffic administrator and have their parking permit displayed on their vehicle.

Traffic regulations will be enforced strictly. Ignorance of the regulations on the part of any student will not be accepted as an excuse. A complete copy of the traffic regulations is given to each individual as he registers. Copies of the regulations are also to be found in the Sagebrush and on the bulletin board.

Permits were issued from Monday through 4 pm today at a booth set up beside the university library.

Student Surveyors Getting Prepared To Check Buildings

"Line," "Station O," "Station 1," "56 feet," and again the surveying class is at the serious business of learning to get those measurements accurate.

With a record enrollment of 125 in two sections and six lab periods, Prof. Frederick L. Bixby of the civil engineering department and his assistant, Weld Arnold, have their hands full teaching each man the correct way to handle the tools of surveying.

According to Prof. Bixby, the largest class enrolled in previous years was 55. The present class more than doubles this figure, with the majority of the men veterans.

The first week's work consisted of organizing the classes into groups of four with a captain over each, learning to handle a chain properly, and to pace off given distances. In the next several weeks the various buildings on the campus will be measured for a second semester surveying project.

Recognition Service To Be Held at 'Y'

Recognition service for YWCA members will be held Tuesday, October 7 at 7 pm in the basement of Stewart Hall. All Y girls must attend this meeting, said Barbara Pinjuv, YWCA secretary. At this candlelight ceremony the girls will be officially recognized as active members in the organization. A short business meeting will follow the ceremony.

Madame Dione, recognized hat designer, will speak to the group on remodeling old hats, or making new hats out of old hats. Madame Dione studied designing at the University of Paris. She designed hats for Universal pictures and Metro Goldwin Meyer in Hollywood, and worked with designer Hatie Carnegie in New York City. She is now living in Reno, and has done some work for the Joseph Magnin store.

A class in remodeling old hats will be started under the instruction of Madame Dione if enough girls are interested.

Anticipating the biggest Homecoming in the history of the university, the Homecoming committee, under the co-chairmanship of Winona Earl and Doug Trail, met Wednesday afternoon and began preparations for the weekend of October 24 and 25.

Winona Earl announced that expenditures this year for sorority and fraternity float decorations will be limited to $25. She also announced that house decorations will be "out" for the event.

Other campus organizations desiring to enter floats in the Homecoming parade are requested to notify either Winona Earl or Doug Trail as soon as possible.

Street Dance

The annual Phi Sig street dance will be a pajama dance and will follow the football rally and "pajamboree" Friday evening of the Homecoming weekend.

Crowning of the Homecoming queen will take place between halves of the football game if approval can be received from athletic officials. In previous years the crowning ceremony took place during the Homecoming dance.

The committee also has tentative plans for staging a barbecue for alumnae and students.

Miss Earl also announced that Rex Jemison will head the committee for electing the Homecoming queen. Bob Vaughn will handle publicity. Pat Fee and Elaine Abercrombie will act as secretaries. Sue Hubbard will be in charge of alumnae registration and the campus tour. Milo Price is slated to handle arrangements for the float parade.

NOMINATIONS NOW OPEN FOR FRESHMAN HEAD

Election date for freshman class manager has been set for October 9, by the ASUN senate, announced James Glynn, student body president. Nominations for the office have been accepted at President's Glynn's office in the Student Union Building since Tuesday, September 30, 1947.

The election board which will handle details is composed of Bob Uhlig, chairman, Lowell Bernard, Jim Neell, Bob McCrae, Marilyn James, Billie Winn, George Himes, Bernie Ertter, Charlie Lockhart, Bob Bryant, Ida Mae Kellough, Orville Holderman and Judy Bogart.

Woman Shortage Hits Dance Group

There aren't enough women to go around at the social dancing group meetings, stated Miss Jacquelyn Van Gaasbeek, dancing instructor. She implored more to join since there were only four women to the 14 men present last week.

The group meets at 4 o'clock on Mondays and Wednesday at the dance studio of the gymnasium. The group will take up the tango at its next meeting, according to Miss Van Gaasbeek.

APTITUDE TESTS GIVEN TOMORROW

New students who have not yet taken the university aptitude test are expected to do so tomorrow at 9 am in room 210 of the Education Building, said Ralph A. Irwin, professor of psychology.

Every new student is required to take this examination. There are no exceptions. This includes upperclass transfer students, special students and those taking only one course, as well as regular freshmen.

THERE ARE SOME IN EVERY CROWD

Nevada lost a ball game last Sunday, and at the same time student "followers" of the Pack cost the school a little prestige—prestige that, incidentally, is coming to the school the hard way.

Many reports have come to the attention of this department regarding the conduct of several individual rooters who got a wee bit out of order. The fact that we hear these things doesn't mean that there is reason for editorial comment.

However, when the same things are voiced to the student body president, the fall guy for the ASUN, then something should be done about it.

The following is a direct message from Jimmy Glynn to you, the students of the University of Nevada:

Several reports have come into this office pertaining to the conduct of a few individuals in harrassing the players of their own team prior to the beginning of the game last Sunday. Whether this conduct was a product of a whiskey fog, or just some San Francisco dew I can't say. However, I do know, this conduct met with the distinct disapproval of some of our more respected alumni and the players themselves.

The usual amount of such friendly spirit has never met with any outside criticism, but a little of the plain old fashioned heckling and cat calls goes a long way with most everyone, especially when the parties involved are representing our university. This is not the kind of thanks that players appreciate for doing the best they know how.

If we continue along these lines, we can expect a condition existing at the University of Nevada similar to the condition that has existed at California for several years. We can travel along as a muddled, unorganized group of cliques, defeating ourselves at every turn, or we can straighten up, pull together and give ourselves a reputation looked up to by everyone.

Let's give our team a helping hand, a pat on the back. They'll produce "wins" much faster and much easier if we do. The Wolf Pack is doing its best, let's show our appreciation.

J. M. Glynn, ASUN President.

IN SPITE OF IT ALL

A word of praise is in order for the university chemistry department who, despite the current teacher shortage, and inadequate equipment, have been given a top rating by examiners of the American Chemical Society.

With the general overall lack of proper facilities on the campus, the chem department's showing is an achievement of no little merit. It gives the rest of the departments something to shoot for.

If it were the navy, which it isn't, we would say, "Well done, Chemistry, well done." This isn't the navy, so all we can say is "Keep up the good work."

Church Conducts Snowfall Survey In South America

Himalayas Work Completed By Meteorology Chief During Summer

Dr. James E. Church, chief in station meteorology in the Hatch Experimental Station and on leave of absence from the University of Nevada, is now in Argentina, South America, to establish and lay the ground work for snow surveys in the Andes Mountains.

Long associated with the Nevada Cooperative Snow Survey and pioneering in predictions of stream flow from snow fields, Dr. Church was requested to conduct a survey for India last spring. From the Himalayas he continued on around the world by way of Africa to conduct a similar survey for the Argentina government.

Last February Dr. Church flew across the Pacific to Manila, thence across China to the southeastern slopes of the Himalayas. He established his base at Darjeeling, riding by horseback into the high snow fields.

Ex-Stanford Prof. Named to Faculty

Professor emeritus Edward M. Hulme has joined the faculty of the history department, Dr. Charles Hicks, head of the department, announced today. Prof. Hulme will be at the university this semester only.

Born in England, Prof. Hulme is a graduate of Stanford, where he taught until recently. He was at Nevada once before, in 1943, as an instructor for air cadets. Prof. Hulme will teach one new course, history of the renaissance and reformation. He will also teach a history of western civilization and medieval history.

determine the relationship between the water content in the snow at the end of the snow season in the Himalayas and the volume of water contained in the streams fed from the snow field. After sufficient data is collected and the relationship established, the water that can be obtained from a given field will be predicted for the months of April through July for Indian farmers.

Dr. Church wrote his report for the Indian government in New Delhi, leaving there by plane on July 23 to continue by way of northern Africa to Argentina.

In his snow survey in the Andes, Dr. Church has had to limit his activities to the western slopes of the mountains. He

Campus Politics Delayed Artemisia, Claims Max Dodge

Fotos Sabotaged by X-Ray As Photog Is Viewed For Foot Injury

Max Dodge, head of last year's Artemisia staff, said today that the reasons for the late Artemisia were lack of cooperation from the staff, lack of cooperation from the various campus organizations, and a general lack of time on the part of the editor. Except for a few people, without whom the book would have been impossible, there was no cooperation at all on the staff, Dodge said.

"Several of the organizations failed to turn in their writeups, and now will have to take what they will get."

"The editorship and business managership of the student publications are deteriorating to no more than political hot potatoes," Dodge said. "The feelings of the sororities and fraternities are considered before purposes of these publications. I was given the editorship because the general feeling on the campus was to give editorial posts to those of the harder sex. Frequent absences on athletic trips and occasional glances at my textbooks made it impossible for me to find enough time to keep the publication coming out as it should have."

Dodge continued: "The system should be reestablished where those who have worked for a certain number of years on the publications and have shown definite qualifications should be appointed to the important posts. No consideration should be given political or fraternal connections."

In attempting to cover some of the latter events such as Mackay Day, he claimed the book was thrown off original schedule.

Proofs and photographs were lost and had to be replaced, he said. Some of the photographs were accidentally X-rayed when, carrying them in his pocket, a member of the staff had his foot checked for broken bones.

hopes that better cooperation between Chile and Argentina will soon allow surveys of both sides of the mountain range to further the predicting of the flow of streams into the central South American country.

It is not known just when Dr. Church will return to the university.

She was only the film censor's daughter—but she knew when to cut it out.

Last Year's Brush Reaps Large Profit For Space Sales

U. of N. Sagebrush, student weekly newspaper, last year made one of the largest profits in the history of the publication, announced Dick Rowley, business manager of the 1946-47 Brush.

In round figures, the profit was $1750, said Rowley. Not since the 1936-37 Brush, when Walter States was business manager, has the paper come close to this amount. States made the largest known profit of $1900 to $2000.

This profit is split annually three ways, explained Rowley. One-third is given to the publication board for the purchasing of supplies, paying for banquets, etc. Another third goes to the ASUN and is put into a fund to take care of any losses the publications might incur. The last third is divided between the editor and business manager as a bonus for their year's work.

Former President Accepts Position With Standard Oil

Hans Wolfe, last year's ASUN president, has accepted a position as junior chemical engineer with the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey. He will be sent to the Island of Aruba in the Dutch West Indies off the coast of South America, and is planning to leave in about two weeks.

Wolfe enrolled in the University of Nevada in 1940 and studied for two years, when he entered the army. He attended chemistry classes at the University of Minnesota and was then sent to the South Pacific where he spent about three years.

He returned to the U of N in the spring of 1946 and graduated in June of this year.

Wolfe was a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Mastroianni Accepts Full-Time Position As Joe T's Helper

On June 1, 1947, Gene Mastroianni accepted the full-time position of assistant to Joe T. McDonnell, University of Nevada graduate manager. Previous to this Mastroianni worked part time with McDonnell for a year, during which time he was also enrolled in post-graduate work.

While a student at Nevada, Mastroianni was elected student body president. During the 1941 and 1942 seasons he was a first string basketball star, and an outstanding member of Block N society. In June of 1943 he was given a degree in electrical engineering by the University of Nevada. Immediately after graduation Mastroianni enlisted in the U. S.

army signal corps and served until June, 1946, when he was honorably discharged.

Now in the capacity of assistant graduate manager, he is in charge of the gate crews and all ticket sales during the sport season. The job also entails many small details and responsibilities which heretofore have burdened the graduate manager.

HOME EC GROUP FETES FHA GIRLS

The campus Home Economics Club played hostess last week to 29 Future Homemakers of America girls from various parts of Nevada. The club gave a picnic at the campus barbecue pit for their guests and extension officers of the Aggie Club.

The first regular meeting of the club was held Thursday afternoon in the Agricultural Building. Plans were made for a tea to honor 4-H Club girls who will attend a conference in Reno on October 4. At this convention, the delegate will be chosen for the conference in Chicago.

Althea Benedict, president, said that the district conference of the Home Economics Club, formerly held at Chico, California, in April, would probably be in November at Yosemite. The exact date will be announced later.

The club will elect a new historian because Jean Scott, who was elected last spring, did not return to school this semester.

Other officers in addition to Miss Benedict, are Meryde Brown, vice-president; Ann Marx, treasurer, and Marjorie Kean, secretary.

Jeanne Ellin Rule, Jacquie Sirkegian, Lois Soucek and Frances Tschopp.

HIKING ON THE HILL

By Muriel Smiley

It has been truly said "if there is anything more wonderful than going to school, it is not going to school, and if there is anything more delightful than arising at 7 am, it is arising at noon." But, at the present, the U of N student has no time to sit back and make mental investigations of what happened to bygone vacation days. Finances, dropped in at the cobwebby old library the other evening to witness the hundred of intellectuals, or facsimile thereof, attempting to capture a little knowledge from pages of frantic notes, outlines, questions, answers and open books.

Sitting at a corner table doodling on fresh white paper, and legislating about things in general was Henry Stewart . . . one of the vets . . . pulls down high grade point average . . . when personalities were dished out "Hank" got three helpings . . . getting grey hairs from heading the improvement committee . . . can usually be found buzzing around the Aggie Building or carrying some species of greenery around the campus.

Picking up books at the circulation desk, I noticed high and mighty upperclassman Vivian Davis . . . ex-prexy of the Pi Phi fold . . . retains a finger in almost all campus pies . . . a spirited Sagen . . . active in the Y . . . frightens frosh violators as a member of the upperclass committee . . . a lively cut-up on occasion.

Deeply engaged in study sat Bill Gillis . . . one of the U's big men of action . . . has a nose for news . . . is hoping for a diploma come spring . . . president of the Block N society . . . resides in Long Beach, California, during the summer . . . holds his own in the campus political field.

Boning for quizzes and chatting with Jim, was Bonnie Lou Taylor . . . up and coming sophomore . . . wears her personality smile on all occasions . . . helps keep life merry at Manzanita Hall . . . member of the Fine Arts Club . . . claims home ec as her major.

Surrounded by campus cuties sits the ever-popular Tom Bell . . . tall, dark and handsome sophomore . . . among the football fold . . . travels Vegas way on vacations . . . inhabitant of the Tau house . . . major at the U is physical education.

Attending to prescribed assignments are the Whitworth twins, Betty Jane and Edith . . . distinguished easily by the shade of their eyes . . . ski artists . . . Renoites . . . trip the light fantastic with Orchesis members.

Shifting here and there about the reading room I see Horace Smith . . . best known by his abundance of freckles . . . hails from the big county Elko, town of Wells . . . calls members of Sigma Nu his brothers . . . expresses a liking for basketball . . . serious about the medical field . . . wears the traditional blue and white dink.

After deciding I had kept the study ball rolling long enough I trotted on over to the student center to hear the latest gossip on the various pinnings about campus, which reminds me:

- A sigh,
- A dance
- A shot of gin,
- A kiss—
- G'bye fraternity pin.

Women Worker Pool Will Be Conducted

Seeking information on how many campus women are working and the conditions of their part-time jobs, Dean Mobley wishes all employed girls report to her office, in the library.

The dean of women plans to conduct a wage survey in order that some uniform scale be made. Many girls now working are not doing so under good conditions and wages. The Employment Service provided by Dean Mobley's office urges all campus women to put in their application if thinking about future part time jobs.

Dean Mobley states there is always a demand for baby sitters and girls wishing this type of work should register the hours they will be available.

VOLLEYBALL RENEWED AS WRA ACTIVITY

Volleyball will be renewed as a WRA activity, announced Betty Rice, president of WRA. Meetings will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 pm in the new gym.

Miss Rice believes volleyball, always a popular sport, will be a lot of fun for the girls who turn out.

Margie Simon, Pi Beta Phi, will manage the sport.

McCray Awarded AWS Scholarship For Point Record

Elinore McCray, sophomore Gamma Phi Beta, was awarded the Associated Women's Students' scholarship of $25 at the first meeting of AWS Thursday, 4 pm, in the education auditorium. Betty Tracy, president, presented the award.

The AWS scholarship is awarded yearly to the woman student who achieves an outstanding scholastic record and who receives no other awards.

Miss Tracy announced that beginning with the 1947-49 school year, the award was increased to $50.

Mary Fidler, head of the Campfire Girls in Reno, was guest speaker at the meeting. Her topic was "Executive Positions in Campfire for College Women."

AWS is an organization for all women on campus, Miss Tracy said, and all women automatically become members when they pay their registration fees at the beginning of a semester. The aim of the group is to bring all university women together for more effective cooperation.

The AWS head announced that she would have office hours

INSTRUCTOR ADDED TO STAFF; TO TEACH PE

Miss Marge Price, a recent graduate of Arizona State College at Tempe, Arizona, has been added to the staff in the women's physical education department, announced Miss Elsa Sameth, head of the department.

The new addition will teach golf, swimming, bowling, horseback riding and orientation.

Miss Price stated she expects to enjoy her new position, and finds Nevada's campus beautiful, her students a fine group of girls.

WOMEN'S HONORARY

Cap and Scroll, women's honorary society, will hold its first dinner meeting of the year Saturday, October 4, at the Moulin Rouge.

Debaters Light Up While Discussing Year's Program

Nevada's debate squad held its first smoker of the year at the Lambda Chi fraternity house last week. The major purpose of the smoker was to acquaint alumni and new members with this year's program. Bonnie Yturbe, team captain, presided as toastmaster.

Among prominent alumni present were Jay Carpenter, director of the Mackay School of Mines; Keith Lee, campus veterans advisor; Build Grey, and others.

A number of communications were read from alumni who were unable to attend, among these were J. Sourwine of Washington, D. C., Clel Georgetown, who is attending the American Bar Association convention, and Oscar W. Bryan, prominent Las Vegas attorney.

Each of the alumni present spoke, encouraging debate and pledging their support to the organization.

Yturbe summarized last year's activities and trips, and said, "at the beginning of last year, no one had ever heard of Nevada. By the end of the year, because of continued victories, they were well aware of Nevada. This year we hope to do well enough so that the U. of N. debate squad will not only be recognized, but feared."

NEWMAN CLUB MEETS

Newman Club activities will start this coming Sunday after 9:30 mass at St. Thomas Aquinas Cathedral. All meetings are to be held on all first Sundays of the month. Father John T. Bradshaw, Schwartz Named Advisors of Campus Ski Group

First Ski Club meeting of the year was held in the Education Building last week with President Norman Olsen presiding.

Questionnaires concerning ski outfits, former skiing experience, ski trips, etc., were handed out, filled in and returned. A local sporting goods store has offered to give the Ski Club members discounts on new equipment, if there is enough volume, it was announced.

The club constitution was ratified, and two faculty advisers, Ken Bradshaw and Robert Schwartz, were approved by the group. It was also brought up in the meeting that several honorary members should be named, these to be chosen at the next meeting.

Olsen stated that in the meetings to come there would be more movies and talks by outstanding skiers of this area.

Next meeting has been called for October 7, at 7:30 pm in the Education Building, and Students interested in joining the organization are invited to attend.

Marshall to Speak To Church Group At Sunday Meeting

Mr. Clarence F. Marshall of the local YWCA will speak on "A Student YMCA at the University," at the next meeting of the Wesley Foundation to be held Sunday night at 6 pm.

The program will start with services from 6 pm to 7 pm. Supper will be at 7 pm with the speaker-discussion hour to follow. All members are to take part in the discussion.

According to Director Louis Hilbert the club has many new plans for the new semester. "Our organization is embarking on what we call a new era," said Director Hilbert.

The new plans include a Halloween party on November 1 and a dramatic club to be called The Wesley Players. The formation of the dramatic group will be announced at a later date.

Campus Club Picnic Slated for Sunday

Moseley Attends ROTC Conference Held in Florida

Dr. John O. Moseley, president of the university, was one of the many school heads who attended the ROTC conference held at Elgin Field, Florida, the past summer, according to Col. Gilbert E. Parker, head of the military department.

Training tactics, personnel and supply improvements of the ROTC's air training units in the nation's colleges was the main purpose of the conference, stressed Col. Parker.

Dr. Clarence Byrd, a personal representative of Dr. Moseley, also in connection with the military department, attended the western regional ROTC conference held at the University of California and Stillwell Hall reserve center at the Presidio of San Francisco, August 13-16.

Pertinent Issues

Among the most pertinent issues discussed at the conference which are of interest to Nevada ROTC students were as follows:

1. Securing a uniform system of academic credit for ROTC students on a nationwide basis.
2. Developing a comprehensive plan for the teaching of certain common subjects such as geographic foundations of national power and military problems of the United States, by civilian instructors of college faculties.
3. Studying the feasibility of developing ROTC textbooks for subjects other than tactics and technique in the advanced course.
4. Revising the tests for annual inspections, bringing them in line with subject schedules and the minimum standards stated therein.
5. Making a study of the curriculum and subjects of both the senior and junior ROTC with the view of making changes in the relative title and weight of each course.

After a delirious week of gossip concerning the payment of subsistence for this month, the truth has finally found its way to the surface.

All veterans who have received their authorization award that came out last week will receive their subsistence for the month by October 15. Seven hundred and ninety-eight of these authorization awards have gone through the mail office. This leaves approximately 100 veterans who will have to experience further delay; however, they will receive a combination of two checks on November 1.

The majority of these 100 students are transfers and students who have incomplete records. A student transferring from one school to another must realize that all his records take several trips to San Francisco, and this little act takes time. The veteran administration, I think, is doing all that is in their power to get these checks out as soon as possible.

Some disabled veterans under the rehabilitation act have received their subsistence checks already. It wouldn't surprise me if the remainder of the checks for the students under the rehabilitation act would be out within the next couple of days.

Don't let some of these veterans pile the snow up around you by the flamboyant waving of checks in front of your face. All these veterans who have their subsistence checks applied for leave after finishing up their summer session here at the university. Most of these checks are for 15 days of accrued leave, and amount to about $36. After all, they'll only be 360 beers ahead of you by this weekend. If any veterans had to beat a rent rap, and had to move in a hurry during the summer months there is no need of applying for a change address. The address you put on your registration forms during the opening days of school will take care of your new address.

One sure way of getting confused and immediately poor, I have found out, is to put in a change of address to the veterans administration. These forms have to make their weary way into San Francisco—slow and cautious as a fresh and bewildered replacement O.C.S. lieutenant going up to the front. If your check does not come to your new address, then do some back checking. Check your old address!

"Since the opening of the semester," Dean Griffin said, many reservations in the dormitories have been cancelled, and it is now possible to place a few students in the old gymnasium."

Lincoln Hall vacancies have been filled by the men who resided in the old gymnasium last semester. However, all vacancies were filled in the order of priority, and no exceptions were

Mackay Field Scene of Rousing Cheers As Intra-Mural Race Gets Under Way

By Harry Spencer and Pete Pridgen

The ringing clang of horseshoes and the sharp crack of bat on ball filling the ozone of Mackay Stadium these days heralds the opening of this year's intra-mural athletic program.

With all iron tossers seeing action, this week's horseshoe competition was keen and promises to bring forth a heated race for the ultimate championship. The pitmen from the SAE house were impressive as they defeated tossers from the ATO, Lambda Chi and Sigma Nu. Phi Sigma Kappa also boast of a perfect record in the first week's play by virtue of wins over Lambda Chi, Independents and Sigma Rho. After forfeiting their initial match, the Independents bounced back in the second round to turn back the Lambda Chi entries in a nip and tuck affair. Getting off to a slow start with three losses, were Lambda Chi and Theta Chi.

Due to Pat Francilini's display of horseshoe pitching skill, the SAEs loom as early season favorites.

Close Softball Race Due

Although it's a little early for predictions in the diamond ball department, early games seem to point towards a much hotter race for the softball crown this year.

Opening with a forfeit victory over the Independents, Lambda Chi went on to bow to a strong Sigma Nu nine in what was perhaps the best game of the week. This affair was a seesaw tilt for seven innings before Orrin Snyder of the Snakes broke up the game with his last inning homer as Sigma Nu won 3-2.

Theta Chi went down to a 14-1 defeat before Sigma Nu in their only appearance. The SAE softballers appeared to have a wealth of hitting power as they polished off the Phi Sigs 17-1 and the Independents 18-10.

Behind the one-hit pitching of Ed Bosler, ATO shut out Sigma Rho 8-0, in a five inning duel.

Despite the fact that these were initial games for all the teams, they showed a remarkable amount of hustle, and competitive spirit was at a peak.

Student Rooters Assured Adequate Seating at Kezar

Twenty-four hundred seats will be available for Nevadans at Kezar Stadium during the coming football game between the Nevada Wolves and the St. Mary's Gaels, October 19. Approximately 1200 of these seats will be reserved for the student cheering section, the rest will be sold to Nevada followers who are planning to attend the game.

Although the number of seats available seems adequate, the necessity for filing early applications cannot be over stressed, stated Joe T. McDonnell, graduate manager. The only way a student can be guaranteed a seat in the cheering section is by filing application, preferably as soon as he receives it. Applications must be turned in on or before October 10.

The purpose of these applications is two-fold:

One, it will provide an accurate check on the number of students to be expected at the game. This will determine the number of seats that may be sold to the general public.

Two, it will eliminate the possibility of those who have filed applications not receiving seats by supplying a check list for ASUN cards.

The applications will be similar to those used for the USF game, and will soon be available at convenient places throughout the campus.

A drunk who had boarded a double deck bus and stumbled up to the top deck, came rolling down the stairs a minute later with the observation: "I ain't going to ride up there. There's nobody driving."

PACK TRACKS

By Bill McFarland

Leave us face it. Those San Francisco Dons brought the roof in on our guys last Sunday. Not since Tulsa's 40-0 romp over the Pack in the fall of 1945 has Nevada met such a disastrous afternoon.

Nevada's goal line must have looked like the Golden Gate bridge to Joe Scott, Forrest Hall, Jim Ryan, Don Panciera and company for they were crossing it like a bay area crowd just before the fog rolls in.

The whole story lies in the fact that Nevada was caught with their pass defense down. With Don ends racing behind the secondary, all Don quarterback Ryan had to do was heave a pass with six points written on it.

An oddity about the San Francisco affair was the punting practice Ed McKeever sent his boys through in the fourth quarter. No less than four times on first down did USF boot the ball back to Nevada. Texas Ed and his crew were apparently giving the locals every chance to make it a closer ball game.

The Silver and Blue aren't looking for any alibis for last week's showing. They had the breaks go against them, but there are still eight games to be played. The Wolves appear to be just mad enough to take last week's pasting out on "Whispering" Jim Aiken's Oregon Webfeet tomorrow afternoon.

The Oregon game should be interesting from several viewpoints. Not only would the Nevadans like to hand their former coach, Jim Aiken, a set back, but also from the fact that Oregon University used very poor ethics in questioning this institution's integrity in regard to tickets for Saturday's game.

Many ears are burning over that deal and should the Pack ramble against the ugly ducklings, bruised relations on this end will be somewhat appeased.

Look for a rejuvenated Pack against the Ducks. They've been looking forward to this one for a long time.

Lack of Equipment

Plans for a junior varsity football team are at present stymied by a lack of equipment, according to athletic director Joe Sheeketski.

Aiken's History As Wolves Coach Written in Wins

Ex-Nevada Mentor Led Pack In Its Climb Toward National Fame

When Nevada's football eleven meets the University of Oregon at Eugene Saturday, the Pack will be playing against a team coached by Jim Aiken, the former Nevada instructor who changed the Pack from a losing to a winning team during his eight years as mentor.

At the time Aiken came to Reno, the Pack was a member of the Far Western Conference and their opposition was composed mainly of the smaller schools of the west. After piloting the Wolves to a conference championship in his first season here (1939), the following season he dropped out of the conference and started Nevada's climb toward national recognition, which they actually won during the 1946 campaign.

In 1940 the Pack broke even in an eight game schedule, finishing as one of the highest scoring elvens in the nation. During the 1941-42 seasons they continued their climb with a slightly better than .500 record against the top Independents on the coast. In 1943 and 1944 the war had hit many schools and Nevada was no exception. Although they managed to play outstanding ball, football in general was below par, so the Pack waited until 1945 before continuing their upward surge. During the '45 season they won seven out of their 10 games.

Pack's Greatest Year Aiken fielded his strongest ones to USF and St. Mary's team of all in '46, winning seven while dropping two close. Seven members of that team are now playing professional ball, which gives Aiken a record of eight of his former Nevada players now in the professional ranks.

MID-OCTOBER PEGGED FOR HOOP WORKOUTS

Most observers agree Aiken gave the Nevada fans a better brand of ball than they had seen in a decade. He gave them their strongest All-American candidates in Marion Motley, Bob McClure and Bill Mackrides. But most important he gave the Nevada fans a winning team, year in and year out.

Jim is now the head coach at the University of Oregon. His team faces a tough schedule and they are considered by the experts as the "dark horse" of the Pacific Coast Conference. In their two previous games this season they won one and lost one, beating Montana State College 27-14 while bowing to a strong University of Texas team, 38-3.

Michaels Appointed Head Yell Leader After Game Trials

Nominating committee last week appointed John Michaels, Sigma Rho Delta, head yell leader for 1947-48. He will be assisted by Johnny Etcheto, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Sinclair Melner, Sigma Nu.

These three men were picked as a result of their fine showing at the Arizona State game, Mike Galli said. Many students have been wondering why there were so many yell leaders at the game. The reason for this was that they were all trying out and that the nominating committee was in the stands to choose three regular leaders.

Although these three have been named, there will be three more chosen, all girls, two of whom will be freshmen.

Wolf Pack Bows To Powerful Dons In Sunday Game

Nevada Elev'n Opens Strong; Team Shoots Bolt After Scoring

In their second outing of the season, the Nevada Wolf Pack eleven bowed to a power laden University of San Francisco team 37-13 in Kezar Stadium Sunday afternoon.

After receiving the opening kickoff, the Pack began a ground and air assault that ended only when Tommy Kalmann scored from the one yard line. A 46 yard pass from Mike Mirabelli to Scott Beasley set up the second play. Try for extra point was wide and Nevada led 6-0.

However, the surge of power displayed by the Pack did not dismay the Dons' offense. Taking advantage of Kalmann's fumble on the 10 yard line, the Dons pushed over their first score midway in the first quarter. USPT Marin Willis split the uprights for the extra point and a lead that his teammates protected throughout the tilt.

USF Aces Increase Score

Long runs by USF's speedy backfield ace, Forrest Hall, and accurate passes by Jim Ryan and Don Panciera produced a half time lead of 23-6 for the Dons.

As the half got under way the Pack offensive failed to click and they were forced to kick from deep in their own territory. The attempted kick by Toczykowski was blocked and set up the Dons' fourth touchdown.

A sustained drive early in the fourth quarter netted the Dons their final score, and at this point they led 37-6.

A series of Pack passes failed to produce a serious threat to the opponents goal line in the last quarter, but by virtue of Dick Trachok's 58 yard run the Pack again came into the scoring column in the final minutes of play. Corley's try for extra point was good and the score board read Nevada 13, USF 37 as the final whistle blew.

Reno Man to Speak To Commerce Club At Next Meeting

E. H. Walker, executive secretary of the Reno Chamber of Commerce, is to be the speaker at the next meeting of the Commerce Club, to be held in the home economics room of the Agriculture Building on Thursday, October 9, at 7:30 pm.

The subject of his talk will be the functions of the Chamber of Commerce in Reno and the nation. Refreshments will be served.

The Commerce Club was organized at the University of Nevada in 1938. Its purpose is to obtain speakers from leading industrial firms both in Nevada and on the coast. Dr. Ernest Inwood is the faculty advisor and Dave Moore is president. Membership is open to any student who is taking a course in the business or economics department.

Aisles in Bleachers To Be Kept Clear

In order to avoid a dangerous condition now existing in the new bleachers at Mackay Stadium, it is emphasized by Joe T. McDonnell, graduate manager, that the aisles in these bleachers must be kept clear at all times during a game.

Construction has begun on additional seats which will bring the total seating capacity of the student cheering section up to 1700. This will assure an adequate number of seats for all Nevada students attending home football games. It will be absolutely unnecessary for anyone to sit in the aisles.

If you want a seat on the 50 yard line, come early, said McDonnell. Don't come late and expect to find a choice spot in an aisle.

Calendar Committee Expects to Complete Activity Dates Soon

The task of scheduling all campus social events, holidays and various group meetings was begun by the campus calendar committee at its first meeting of the semester held September 22 in the hall of English.

According to Elaine Mobley, dean of women, dates of campus holidays, fraternity and sorority social events already have been placed on the calendar. Remainder of the work for the committee consists of obtaining a general agreement by all groups on the campus regarding time and dates of their regular meetings.

Progress in this direction has been temporarily retarded by the resignation of Dorothy Thomas, former chairman of the committee, said Dean Mobley. Miss Thomas' position will be filled by an appointment of the senate.

It is estimated that the calendar will be completed and copies distributed to various offices through the university by October 20.

Fall Plans Outlined At Recent Meeting

Every Thursday morning a communion for Episcopal students will be celebrated by Bishop Lewis. Immediately afterwards a light breakfast will be served so that students may attend 8 o'clock classes.

In the evening a program consisting of a speaker, a discussion and a social program will take place. All Episcopal students are invited and an informal invitation is extended to other students who are interested.

Libe Eliminates Four Seminars By Remodeling

During the summer months, numerous changes have been made in the university library. Four seminar rooms on the main floor have been taken over by the library staff for special collections of material, explained J. J. Hill, director of libraries.

What was once the history seminar room will be used by the cataloging department. The former economics seminar room will be used as the bibliography room, where all general, trade and national bibliographies will be kept. Bibliographies of the Library of Congress, the British Museum and union lists will also be stored in this room. Government documents and publications will be stored in the old agriculture seminar room. The library receives from 20,000 to 30,000 government documents and publications a year.

A map room has been made into what was previously the classics seminar room. Four new map cases have been installed, and the old maps will be filed by sets. Fifty thousand maps have been ordered from the army map service; they will arrive a thousand a month for 50 months. Besides these, 2000 maps have been ordered from

Velvet Voice Jim Scouts Travesty At Kezar Sunday

One of the interested spectators at the Nevada-USF game last weekend was former Nevada coach Jim Aiken whose University of Oregon team meets Nevada this Saturday.

Questioned by Nevada alumni about his team and his forecast for Oregon's game with the Pack, Aiken said, "We have a good team, and expect to have the best line on the coast by the end of the year. The Texas defeat was expected and I was satisfied with our team.

Shelves have been built all around the former newspaper room in the library; this space will now be used for reserved books, thus eliminating confusion behind the issuing window. A new system will be used whereby the students will obtain their own books, and then check them out.

Students in English and modern language will still have access to seminar rooms.

"I am watching out for Nevada, however, as they are stronger than the USF score indicated and our passing is weaker than of USF at present."
