PINKISH ISSUE ENDS AFTER SOLONS MEET

Charges Against Summers Dropped By ASUN Senate

Special Meeting Votes 13-1 To Withdraw 'Red' Action Against Debator

By Martin Risard

After careful consideration, the student senate last night voted 13 to 1 to drop action against a member of the student body who is alleged to have communist leanings.

The action was started at last Wednesday's senate meeting when a member of that body proposed to withhold funds from the debate squad pending removal of the offending member.

Maclin Summers, senior debator, was the principal subject of the investigation set off by the senate's action. Following the proposal the senators voted to take the matter to their respective houses and get the opinions of members. A special committee was set up to further investigate the matter.

The investigation was started following remarks allegedly made by Summers and from action taken last semester by the university scholarship committee when they refused to grant Summers, an "A" student, a scholarship on the grounds that he was communistically inclined.

Summers, however, appealed to the board of regents on the basis that the committee was being discriminatory and that he was not a communist. After investigation the regents absolved him and granted him a scholarship.

Summers Speaks

In a statement to the Sagebrush Summers said, "I am not at this time and never have been a member of the Communist party, what is more, I have never been affiliated in any way with the Communist party."

If the proposal had been accepted, S. H. Vinocour, debate coach, said that as a servant of the state of Nevada he could not violate the Constitution of the state or of the United States by discriminating against a person because of his race, religion or political belief.

"Since only those students not in good standing as members of the ASUN shall not be allowed to participate in student activities, and to my knowledge Summers is a member in good standing both of the university of the ASUN, I therefore could not deny him a place on the debate squad," said Vinocour.

It was pointed out at the meeting that it was not the intent of the senate to defame anyone but only to get to the root of the alleged "red" activity on the campus.

Homecoming Day Schedule Posted; Weekend Planned

Sororities to Present Queen Candidates During Open House

All sororities will hold open house Wednesday, October 22, from 8 to 9 pm to introduce their respective Homecoming queen candidates to students.

Balloting for queen will take place Thursday, October 23. Ballots will be cast from 9 to 12 pm and from 1 to 4 pm. in the ASUN building.

Open house on campus for alumnae will be from 9 to 12 on Friday, October 24. The Commerce Club, Home Economics Club, Chemistry Club, Crucible Club and Associated Engineers are all requested to have reception committees at their respective buildings at this time.

The Homecoming committee requests that all students stay out of the YWCA student center Friday, October 24, so that Homecoming guests can have full benefit of its facilities.

The following is a complete schedule of Homecoming activities announced by Bob Vaughn, Homecoming publicity man:

Thursday, 8 to 12 pm—Phi Sigma street dance.

Friday, 7 pm—Pajamboree.

Friday, 8 pm—Rally and bonfire.

Friday, 9 pm—Open house, sororities and fraternities.

Saturday, 9:30 am—Cross country.

Saturday, 10:30 am—Float parade.

Saturday, 12 noon—President's reception for alumnae.

Saturday, 2 pm—Football game.

Saturday, 7 pm—Alumnae banquet.

Saturday, 9 pm—Dance.

Late Registrants Boost Enrollment To All-Time High

Seventeen new students registering after the September 27 deadline increased the student body total at Nevada to 1820 persons, a new record.

Figures released by the registrar today indicated that every new registrant establishes a new enrollment record at this university. The 1803 totaled September 27 replaced the 1725 high of 1946.

Breakdowns of the students have been classified into the following groups: freshmen 728, sophomore 492, juniors 194, seniors 165, special 70 and graduate 34.

The college of arts and sciences totaled the highest percentage of the record enrollment with 1188 signed. College of engineering posted 485, and the college of agriculture enrolled 150 students.

Transfer students not yet classified comprise the remaining 137 enrollees.

FROLICS POSTPONED TILL NEXT SEMESTER

The Wolves Frolic, annual campus variety show of Homecoming week, has been postponed by the senate until sometime during the first two weeks of next April.

President James Glynn stated that the chief reason for this act is that the work involved in the production of this show, a gigantic task for those involved, would be too great a burden this fall and would interfere with other scheduled activities.

Two potential directors of the next show are Mrs. Van Fluee and Mr. Carl Libby. Both of these directors are well experienced in producing shows and will be contacted to see which will accept the job, stated Glynn.

Frosh Tradition Violators in For Hack of a Time

Tickets for the men's upperclassman committee to hand out to freshmen and lower division students for violation of school traditions have been printed and distributed among the committee members. This is the first step in enforcing Nevada traditions, stated Tommy Thompson, chairman of the committee.

Men appointed to represent the various fraternities on the committee are Ed Drennon and Curt Baker, Phi Sigma Kappa; Dick Elmore and Lyman Swartz, Alpha Tau Omega; Dick Rowley and Gene Grottegut, Lambda Chi Alpha; Frank Rittenhouse and Dick Colon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Don Johnson and Norman Hoover, Theta Chi; Gerald Knowles and Bill Harwood, Sigma Rho Delta, and Orsie Graves, Sigma Nu. Also to be appointed are two sophomore vigilantes from each house on the Hill to help the upperclass committee members.

For the past few years the men's upperclass committee has not functioned at full strength, but this year Thompson hopes to see to it that all freshmen abide by school traditions.

Punishment rules have been set up as follows: Three swats for no dink, three swats for no frosh bible; ten swats for cutting campus (this applies to all male students), and 25 swats for wearing cords by underclassmen. Consistent violators will be thrown in Manzanita Lake, Thompson said.

FORMER STUDENT RETURNED HOME

In conjunction with the nation-wide tribute paid to the World War II dead whose bodies arrived in San Francisco on October 10, flags on the university campus were lowered to half-mast Sunday.

Among the dead who were returned was Lt. (jg) Paul M. "Pat" Eaton, former University of Nevada student and football star.

Open Season on Gaels Sunday In Frisco's Kezar Stadium

WOLVES SEEKING FIRST GAEL WIN SINCE '34 UPSET

Not since 1934 has a University of Nevada football squad been able to outscore their bay area rivals, the St. Mary's Gaels.

In that year the Wolves upset the St. Mary's team 9-7, and it is still one of the most talked about games in Nevada's football history. Twenty thousand fans had gone to see the Gaels warm up in preparation for its next week game in New York with the Fordham Rams, but they left in a speechless daze; for they had just witnessed the "Wonder Team" of Moraga go down to defeat in the biggest upset of the week.

The Pack's veteran center, Tom Cashill, placed a drop kick from the Gael 39 yard line in the last three minutes of play to provide the margin of victory.

The game was played on a Friday, and the Sagebrush rated it an extra. Sport editors the country over talked about the upset for many weeks. It was, however, the only game Nevada won during the 1934 season.

Since that time the Pack has been defeated five times in as many games, and have compiled only 18 points against 134 for the Gaels.

In 1935, the Pack was defeated 20-0, and again in '37 they were held scoreless as St. Mary's piled up 37 markers. In 1942 Nevada dropped another one, 20-6, and again in 1945, 39-0.

Last year's 1946 game saw the heavily favored Gaels come from behind to squeeze the Pack 13-12. Twice Nevada had gone into the lead, but both times the Gaels came back, and the Wolves failure to convert after their touchdowns proved their downfall.

VICTORY HEIGHTS VETS SUGGEST PLAYGROUND FOR KIDS PROTECTION

The possibility of building a playground for veterans' children was suggested at a recent meeting of the veterans of Victory Heights, said Dr. Robert S. Griffin, dean of men. Victory Heights, the veterans' housing project, is located near the campus athletic field.

These meetings are held as a means of contact between the university and the 114 families residing at Victory Heights.

The danger of cars speeding near the project was discussed. Some general repair work, and the constantly recurring problem of heating were brought up. But, from the tone of the meeting, things at Victory Heights appear to be running fairly smoothly, commented Dean Griffin.

Wolf Pack Set To Better First 'Frisco Showing

Stopping Wedemeyer Is Greatest Concern Of Nevada Eleven

A "raring to go" Nevada Wolf Pack will have a chance to prove its mettle against a highly touted St. Mary's football team this Sunday at 2:30 pm on the gridiron at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

"Notwithstanding the services of their All-American half-back, Herman Wedemeyer, the Gaels have not looked too impressive in previous games it is true. However, the particular circumstances surrounding each of the games must not be overlooked," stated Nevada football mentor, Joe Sheeketski.

When St. Mary's tackled Portland in the season's opener for both schools they were up against a much stronger Portland squad than the one that met the Wolves in the 51-6 debacle last Saturday. Sheeketski attributed the Portlanders' weakness last Saturday to the numerous injuries to the Pilot team. As witness to this fact the Portlanders held St. Mary's to a two touchdown win margin.

Gaels Ride Roughshod

The Gaels rode roughshod over their next opponents, University of Hawaii, but ran into trouble when they faced the California Bruins. The Bears, which many experts rate as a Rose Bowl contender, concentrated their defensive might on Wedemeyer and thus held the Gaels to a lone touchdown. It was this same type of defense that enabled the University of Washington to down the Gaels, Sheeketski explained.

At this point Coach Sheeketski pointed out that unlike the larger schools, with squads of 70 or 80 men, his team was relatively small by comparison, numbering only 37 men.

The fact that most teams playing St. Mary's this year have concentrated on stopping Wedemeyer is attributed to the Hawaiian's skill. Sheeketski said that he believed Wedemeyer to be possibly the greatest back in college football today.

Lotsa Beef

With two of their linemen weighing upwards of 260 pounds, St. Mary's is expected to be a formidable foe on defense as well as a powerful offensive outfit. Coach Sheeketski was most impressed by the (Continued on Page 5)

Dean Announces Reduction in Rates For 'Frisco Trek

Bus transportation at the reduced rate of $6.03 per round trip ticket will be available to all students attending the St. Mary's game at San Francisco on October 19, announced Dr. R. S. Griffin, dean of men.

The Greyhound bus lines has agreed to run as many buses as necessary to meet the demand. Each bus will accommodate 37 passengers and will depart from Reno at midnight Friday, October 17.

Dean Griffin pointed out that in order to obtain the reduction in fare it was necessary to guarantee a capacity load for each bus dispatched. Consequently, some students who have failed to make early application for transportation on these chartered buses may find it necessary to pay full fare on the regular scheduled bus.

Failure of the Southern Pacific Railroad to make a suitable concession to meet the demands of Nevada rooters going to San Francisco this weekend made it necessary for Dr. Griffin and Miss Elaine Mobley, dean of women, to make the present arrangement for bus transportation.

Delayed Deliveries Slow Construction Of University-Located Naval Armory

Two weeks delay in the first stages of construction at the new naval armory site was laid to the late delivery of supplies, L. C. Miles, general superintendent on the job, said today.

Delivery of the lumber needed for concrete forms was held up at the Southern Pacific railroad depot while they awaited confirmation on the destination of the material.

When the lumber was finally unloaded at the site northeast of the campus, steel for the reinforcing of the concrete foundation was lacking.

Despite these delays, the superintendent added, construction was "up to schedule now that the foundation for the first wing of the armory is practically complete."

Tank Officiates
Ground breaking ceremonies were held last September 19 for the $170,000 project at which Reno's Mayor Francis R. Smith officiated. Other officials on hand at the time were Dr. John O. Moseley, president of the university, and Prof. Irving J. Sandorf, head of the electrical engineering department.

The first site tentatively suggested when the navy proposed construction of the armory less than a year ago was Idlewild Park. When this proved unsatisfactory, the present location at the northeasterly edge of the campus was chosen.

Through an informal agreement between university officials and naval officers in charge of the project, the electrical engineering students of the university will be allowed to use the more than $300,000 worth of electronics equipment with which the armory will be equipped.

New Fellowship Program Related

Pepsi-Cola to Sponsor 'Tuition Plus' Plan

A new program of graduate fellowships, sponsored by the Pepsi-Cola Company, is now available for seniors attending Nevada, according to word received by President John O. Moseley.

The scholarship board of the Pepsi-Cola Company will award annually on a regional basis, 26 three-year fellowships, each of which will pay full tuition plus a yearly allowance of $750 for living expenses.

Fellowship holders may select any accredited university in the United States and may pursue work leading to the MA, Ph.D., M.D., or other professional degrees. Awards are to be limited to students of exceptional character and talent and will be given on a competitive basis, stated President Moseley.

In view of the urgent need for students of high ability to carry on research and enter the professions, the Pepsi-Cola committee presents this program for the better service of the nation through the education of superior young men and women.

Senior students who want to pursue studies toward advanced degrees in the professions may contact the University of Nevada representative, Dr. W. D. Billings, associate professor of biology, for full particulars concerning these fellowships. First awards will be made in the spring of 1948.

New Nevada Song To Be Auditioned By Wolf Musicians

William Teakle of Reno Donates Song Rights To the University

The University of Nevada music department is making progress in selection of a new school song, stated Prof. Theodore H. Post.

Written during the fury of last year's demand, a peppy new song composed by a Reno musician was sent to the university music department. Mr. William Teakle, composer, has since granted all rights of the song to the university.

Professor Post received a request from the National Broadcasting Company for one of Nevada's college songs to be used in a football medley. Unable to send "Hale to Our Sturdy Men" because the song has been copyrighted, Professor Post sent the new song composed by Mr. Teakle. This song is called "Fight for Nevada."

The music department has received a recording of the song, by the NBC orchestra, and an arrangement has been played by Reno's radio station KOH during Nevada football broadcasts. Professor Post has made an original arrangement for the university band.

"Fight for Nevada" is to be played by Professor Robert Z. Tate directing the university band at today's assembly. The new song will also be played at Kezar Stadium for Sunday's football game with St. Mary's College. Words to the new song are:

"We will fight for our Nevada,
We'll surpass our every foe,
We will win for our Nevada,
We will win first place,
we'll show
We will fight for our Nevada,
We will fight with brawn
and might,
Fight for our Nevada,
We'll fight, fight, fight,
fight."

Scientist Lectures On Achievements On New Researches

"New Electrical Horizons" was the topic of a talk by Walter E. Smith, field engineer for General Electric Co., who spoke at the Wednesday meeting of the university branch, American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Mr. Smith told of his travels and experiences and gave an overall picture of the development and effects of high frequency radiation.

He illustrated his speech with demonstrations of new magnetic materials and the most recent developments in insulation and plastics.

Mr. Smith, who has spoken to IEE groups before, showed them and insulation plastic which could be twisted, pulled, pounded out of shape, yanked apart, kneaded back together again and still retain enough resiliency to be bounced on the floor like a rubber ball.

The meeting, held in the Electrical Engineering building, was attended by members and by guests from the Sierra Pacific Power Company and radio station KXLL.

ALUMS TO REGISTER IN SNACK BAR OCT. 24 FROM 8 AM TO 12 NOON

Alumni registration will be conducted in the YWCA snack bar in the basement of Stewart Hall from 8 am to 12 noon Friday, October 24, Julia Baker, YW publicity chairman, announced.

Doughnuts and coffee will be furnished to the registered alumni by YWCA, she added. The snack bar will not be open to university students during the morning.

Band Will 'Pitch' At Sunday Game

The university band will be "in there pitching" at the game Sunday, Director Robert S. Tate said today. No spectacular feats will be tried, he said, but they will do a good job on standard maneuvers.

The band now numbers about 60 pieces and two majorettes have been added to the original three of Pat Ireland, Ida Bess Sanderson and Frances Batt. They are LaVonne Bingham and Marilyn Fitzgerald.

Band men will not travel as a group, but will go down to the game individually. They will meet at the end tunnel on Kezar Stadium at 1:30.

"The band," Tate said, "needs a lot of building up." They have no banners. Practice periods are too short and far between.

"Just wait until next year," he said, "and we will show you a real band. We will try to build it up to 70 or 75 players and develop a lot of first class maneuvers."

This year is the first that Nevada has had a man devoting full time to the band.

Many a girl has kept a "runner" out of her stockings by slapping his hand.

Carson Women Hope For Early Return To Closer Shave

Some students may be wondering whether the sudden growth of beards on the campus means a long cold winter, or an early start on Mackay Day. Since it is still rather early to start the winter face protection, and Mackay Day isn't until next spring, not even a freshman would be justified in getting that much of a head start.

The explanation is very simple. The hairy-chinned individuals are residents of Carson City and are getting in shape for Nevada Admission Day, which is October 31. The men of the state capitol grow beards every year to get them in the mood for the celebration.

From the appearance of some of these wire-like adornments, both on campus and in town, the last few hours of the festivities should be dedicated to the return of the razor, and sponsored by all women who think a close shave is a very good idea.

Wetzel to Lead Nevada Ski Team

Squad Loses Two Members; Offset by Additions

Captain of the University of Nevada ski team for the coming season will be Jerry Wetzel, an outstanding skier of this area. The nucleus of the team along with Wetzel, will be returning last year's team members, Barnes Berry, Ash Van Slyck, Cliff Banta, Harvey Rose and Dick Rowley.

The team lost two fine skiers, Dick Munn and Mickey Munley, this year, but will gain Bill Briner from Auburn, California, and Jack Parke from Reno. Both of these men have proved themselves valuable to any squad by their past skiing records.

The first meet that the team will probably take part in is the Snow Cup meet, held at Alta, Utah, in December. First meet to be held in this area will be put on by the U of N Ski Club and all teams in the eastern division of the California Ski Association will be invited to take part. The meet will be held at White Hills.

Date for the university Winter Carnival has been set for February 20, 21 and 22, 1948, but no chairman or committees have been named as yet.

PACK TRACKS

By Bill McFarland

Headin' for Herman will go the Pack Sunday. And should the Wolves put the crusher on the pineapple kid from Honolulu, there'll be many a loud howl from this side of the Sierras.

Squeezing St. Mary's Wedemeyer will be one of the busiest tasks facing the Nevadans this fall. For two years the Wolf Pack has been trying to catch up with Herman, but on each occasion the Silver and Blue have bitten the dust from the flying feet of the Hawaiian Hurricane.

To top it all off, on espedy Hawaiian isn't enough for Jim Phelan and his men of Moraga. The Gaels have the services of Wedemeyer's home town buddy, Spike Cordiero, who also makes long and spectacular six point jaunts when least expected.

There is some consolidation in the fact that Wedey has been hobbling around on bruised feet for the past two weeks and Cordiero is nursing a week knee. Both are slowed down to 10 seconds for the 100 yard dash, putting them into the same speed category as some of our guys. With this handicap the Gaels will take the field as an even bet against the Wolves.

The Payoff

Here is the payoff. The sports editor for The Collegian, St. Mary's campus publication, came up with the statement that Phelan's boys were slipping by playing 1947 football, 1945 style. Seems that the 1945 style has been pretty potent for the Gaels. What does that sports editor want? An unbeatable team, or his name in the paper. The latter appears to have been his objective.

Probably the deciding factor in the Gael-Wolf clash will be the line play. Nevada looks to be a bit more hefty and capable of handling the St. Mary's forwards. It's been a long, long time, and the Wolves are due.

Pack Pastes 51-6 Loss Onto Hapless Portland Eleven

Hard Charging Line Paves Way for Fast-Stepping Wolf Backfield Men

Piling up a net total of 348 yards from rushing and passing to Portland's 82, the Silver and Blue clad Wolf Pack romped over an out-classed eleven from Portland, Oregon, 51-6, at Mackay Stadium Saturday.

Having defeated the Pilots, the Nevadans will enter Sunday's grid contest against Coach Jim Phelan's St. Mary's Gaels with a record of three wins against one defeat.

Nevada's hard charging forward wall, teamed with a constant changing quartet in the backfield, proved too much of an offensive threat as well as a defensive stone wall, for the injured riddled gridiron combination from Portland.

Nevada scored in every quarter of the game, while the Pilots lone score came in the third period, when the Oregonians passing combination finally began to click.

Owens Connects

During the third quarter Owens of the Pilots completed 11 out of 17 throws for all 109 yards of Portland's air yardage total. Owens bucked over from the one foot line for the lone Portland TD. The Pilots net total yardage rushing was a minus 27.

Nevada's initial tally came early in the first period when Fred Leon recovered a Pilot fumble. Stan Heath, Wolf Pack quarterback, pitched a strike to Harold Hayes to set the Nevada gridgers in scoring position, and three plays later Ted Kondel went around right end for the score.

Moving pictures in color, taken by Dr. Carl Watson of Reno were shown at the Ski Club meeting held Tuesday evening, October 7 in the Aggie building.

The pictures were taken during the last two years here in the western states and are of prominent skiers of this area and of some foreign skiers who entered outstanding ski meets last winter. The movies also showed some water skiing on Lake Tahoe.

Glen Menu announced that a local sporting goods store will give a 15 per cent discount to all university ski club members that purchase new skiing equipment from them. Next meeting date has been set for October 21 in the Aggie Building at 7:30 pm.

Twenty-Six Men Report for Initial Basketball Tryout

Twenty-six basketballers hit the hardwoods Tuesday night for the initial tryout of the 1947-48 University of Nevada basketball varsity.

Jake Lawlor, head basketball coach, said that along with a nucleus of seasoned players there are a number of good prospects, and that he is looking forward to an interesting season. He stated, however, that Nevada is facing a tough schedule and it would be several weeks before things would begin to take shape.

Lawlor said that approximately eight gridmen have indicated that they will try out for the varsity. But, he added, that he would not allow football players to participate until the end of the grid season. His reason was that participation in two athletic events at the same time would cut down the scholastic standings of too many players.

It is his intention, said Lawlor, to give every ball player an even break. He added that in order to prepare for the tough schedule ahead it would be necessary to cut the squad down to workable size. Lawlor stated that no definite date will be set for trimming the squad down, but that he would post a list on the bulletin board every few days to keep the players informed.

Thirty Nevada Students Nominated For Listing in College 'Who's Who'

Nomination for listing in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," will close Monday at 4 pm.

"Any student or organization not having turned in a nomination is still perfectly welcome to do so," Dean Robert S. Griffin said today.

The various campus organizations have already submitted 30 names.

"Nominations should be turned in to my office, and any individual having the proper requirements may nominate himself. Students whose names were chosen for last year's issue will not be accepted this year unless they are chosen by the administrative council after being properly nominated," Dean Griffin added.

The requirements for nomination are: The candidate must have attained at least a junior class standing in the university, must have above average scholarship ratings, and must demonstrate the character and qualities of good leadership.

The book allows room for 17 University of Nevada students. Final selection will be made by the administrative council, which is composed of all the deans and directors on the campus.

Nominations on file at Dean Griffin's office include the following: Delta Delta Delta: Virginia Cole, Doris Hanssen, Pat Ireland, Billie Kennedy, Marjorie Menu, Joyce Nielson, Barbara Olesen and Dorothy Thomas.

Gamma Phi Beta: Billie Heath, Doris Patterson, Joy Percy, Jac Peterson and Janeth Rowley.

Independents: Nora Lorene Saunders. Kappa Alpha Theta: Josephine Eather, Alice Etchart, Mary Libbey and Marilyn Reynolds.

Pi Beta Phi: Lois Hitchens and Elizabeth Tracy.

Zeta Phi Zeta: Zina Coe and Genevieve Swick.

Alpha Tau Omega: Millard R. Bowers, Robert Durham, Richard Elmore, Bruce Hill and Edward C. Reed.

Lambda Chi Alpha: Jordan Eliades, James Glynn, Howard Haman, Richard Rowley and Bonnie Yturbide.

Sigma Nu: Mahlon Fairchild.

Sigma Rho Delta: Elmo De-Ricco, Jack Owen and John Witte.

"Something new has been added to!" The student center is increasing in equipment as well as popularity. A new coke machine, variety of snacks, music and flying ping-pong balls give it all the conveniences of home and its cheerful atmosphere draws after class crowds from sunup to sundown. The other day when we were on the regular tour seemed we caught the same spirit and before long found ourselves groping through the smoke to the lounging chairs.

Pounding out a little ditty on the ancient piano was George Lindesmith... known to friends as "Lindy"... ambitious premed... linked to the Phi Sig tribe... envied because of his brains... hung his pin last Saturday night.

Horseshoe Singles Title Copped by Undefeated SAE

Snake Nine Leads Field; Competition Keener At Halfway Mark

By Harry Spencer and Pete Pridden

With an unblemished record of seven wins and nary a loss, the lads from the SAE abode took an undisputed first place as the horseshoe singles competition terminated. Tossing for the Violets was Pat Francellini whose steady arm and accurate eye accounted for each of their wins.

The victory enables the Sig Alphas to collect 25 points toward capturing the Kinnear trophy, and leaves them setting the pace for the trophy as these were the first points chalked up by any contestants. Fastly secured to the second place position are the Phi Sigs who concluded with a 6-1 record, while the Taus hold down third place on five wins and two losses.

Craving the taste of victory, the SAE pitmen continued their winning ways in the opening rounds of horseshoe doubles by virtue of four wins and no defeats.

Sigma Nu men bettered the .500 mark, while the Taus and Lambda Chi iron tossers won two and lost two for an even .500 margin. Theta Chi contenders remained in the undefeated ranks by emerging victorious in their first two outings. Sigma Rho and the Independents organization were the only teams failing to register in the win column.

Weatherman Unkind

A cloudy sky and muddy field were the winners on the softball circuit this week with many of the scheduled games postponed due to adverse weather conditions.

In games played before the bad weather set in many reversals of form were in evidence as supposed underdogs rose to nip the league leaders where it hurt the most.

Theta Chi came through a close battle with SAE on the big end of a 5-4 score. The Sigma Nuans continued their winning ways by dropping Phi Sigs 5-1 and picked up a win by virtue of a forfeit from Independents. Phi Sig managed to carve a notch in the win column by accepting a forfeit from Sigma Rho, who in turn gained a charity victory from the Independents.

Lambda Chi dumped ATO from third place with a last inning rally that put the Taus on the short end of a 7-6 score.

With Sigma Nu the only nine sporting an unblemished record, many of the other teams make it a point to have their biggest turnout when they meet the Snakes. The few games played the past week witnessed a much larger supporting roster section on hand for all the contests.

WOLF FULLBACK LEAVES SQUAD, QUILTS CAMPUS

Lloyd Rude, Nevada first string fullback had no comment today after his sudden withdrawal from the university. Joe Sheeketski, Nevada coach, stated that Rude had not been in to see him and he did not know of any complaints he might have.

"If his complaint is that he hadn't played enough against Portland, then I don't think he is justified," the Nevada coach said.

"He started the game as first string fullback and reentered the game four or five times."

"Rude is an injured man with a bad knee. We must conserve all our men for bigger games to come. He should feel and know that," Sheeketski continued.

"Personally, I don't feel that he is responsible for his actions. I feel that he has been prompted to act as he has by some outside source."

"We will miss Rude and we are sorry to see him leave the squad. I speak for myself, the staff and the members of the squad."

"I'll say again that I do not feel that he is personally responsible for his actions, for I feel that he loves the sport too much to quit in the middle of the season."

"Rude is a very good player. If I didn't think so, I would not respect him as my first string fullback," he said. "I like Lloyd personally and I have done everything in my power to help him, scholastically, as well as athletically."

Wolves Boosted In San Francisco

The Nevada football team was given a build-up in San Francisco at the weekly sports-writers luncheon last Sunday by Rex Daniels, Wolf Pack publicity director.

Daniels told the bay area sportswriters and coaches that Reno fans think this is Nevada's year to beat St. Mary's. He also added that the Pack will be at full strength for the game with last week's three sidelined regulars ready to go.

Coach Jim Phalen of St. Mary's spoke during the meeting and recalled the 13-12 victory St. Mary's gained over Nevada last year.

"That was the toughest game we played in 1946," was the way Phalen described Nevada's last outing with the Gaels.

Phalen also stated that Spike Cordiero, injured St. Mary's halfback, would not be likely to see action against Nevada.

Regarding the Nevada cleat-mongers, Sheeketski verified the fact that after the first quarter of the Portland game the Wolf Pack took advantage of their lead to polish up their pass offense. He also said he was pleased with the way his boys played, both offensive and defensively.

With injuries still plaguing such first string players as Buster Tilton, Ken Sinoofsky, Carmen Caruso and Scott Beasley their ability to play a large portion of the game will be a deciding factor.

Blue Peppers Are ROTC 'Steppers'

Adding a spot of color to the annual Homecoming Day parade will be the addition of a number of Blue Peppers to the ROTC ranks.

One company of second year cadets, under the command of cadet Captain Robert Durham, will represent the Military department in the annual affair, stated Colonel Gilbert E. Parker, head of the military operations on the university campus.

The company will be divided into two platoons, with Sinclair Melner and Bill Kinnikin acting as platoon leaders.

The cadets will participate in conjunction with the university band to head the parade, and a color guard will be selected from the cadet corps, according to Colonel Parker.

Peacock Piqued By Pantie Pilfering

With unreasonable contempt for danger, someone entered the basement of Artemisia Hall through a window recently, and pilfered some panties—44 to be exact.

Theft of the apparel was discovered early, said Mrs. Florence Peacock, social director of the hall, but the pantie pilfering remained a complete mystery even after the garments were located in Mackay Stadium on the football field.

Everything was returned to its rightful owner, reported Mrs. Peacock, and there was no loss, except the time that it took to rewash the articles.

More Mail Boxes For Student Rental, Says Comptroller

Mr. Charles Gorman, university comptroller, announced Wednesday that 160 new private mail boxes, identical to those which have been in use, have been installed in the campus post office, and are now available to the student body for rental.

The cost of the new boxes, approximately $1000 installed, was approved by the board of regents on September 20 and the boxes were installed during the first part of this week.

This new equipment has doubled the former amount of boxes, but the demand for these facilities is still greater than what is now available.

Some students who in the past have had to share inadequate post office facilities will now have a post office box all to themselves, Mr. Gorman added.

Join the crowd at Kezar Stadium in San Francisco.

The grave of the unknown soldier in Paris has placed in the hearts of Frenchmen a deep respect—a respect of complete devotion.

When Paris was occupied by the Allied forces—and at the present time—the little fire above the grave deserved and got a salute from all passing servicemen. Not a forced salute of passing brass, but a grateful acknowledgement for those men who gave up what they wanted most of all on earth—their lives!

As a soldier I have saluted this grave many times, and in doing so, noticed passing Frenchmen stop and remove their hats. There is no compulsory law enforcing this tribute, but it comes from a willing respect.

The University of Nevada's memorial plaque is to be regarded in the same light as the monument in Paris. However, it is passed without recognition, looked at with curiosity, and at times even abused by the younger youths here at the university.

Those names that are so even and simply placed in columns on our plaque are marked by endless rows of earth in Europe and the Pacific.

Those names on the plaque represent men like Zeb Kendall Jr., who was killed in one of the first bomber raids on Berlin; Mac Andrews, who gave his life in the crash of a flaming

There is only one way for the freshmen to see behind those names and that is to experience the same fear, the same sick feeling that comes to your stomach, and the same dread of that final, endless blackness. The veterans know these basic emotions, but the freshman can only guess.

Our freshmen should have instilled into them the deeds of the men on the plaque. There may be a time when the training that led to the acts of our Gold Star veterans will be forced into their youthful minds.
