PACK SET TO INVADE MIDWEST SUNDAY

GREEKS GREET GRADS

Top honors in the sorority division went to Pi Beta Phi. Their "Greeks Greet Grads" won the sorority float trophy in last Saturday's Homecoming parade.

A ?-!(?)?! STATE OF AFFAIRS

So most of you want to sleep in tomorrow? That's swell. Then if the team gets a two-time loss tagged on them while they're on their little trip, you "spirited individuals" can sleep in again. We don't think they're going to lose either one of those games back there—and if you get out of those sacks in the morning, the chances of the Pack losing will be even more remote. Believe it or not, it makes the fellows feel pretty good to know that the entire student body is behind them. They're taking off at 8:30 tomorrow morning, and for the benefit of you who say, "I can't make it to the send off rally, I'll be there to see them return," if you can't make it to an 8:30 morning (the sun is up then) send off, what makes you think you're going to be eager to greet the boys at 1:30 (wee hour time) Sunday morning? That's when they come back. Be a real Pack backer. Get the 'ell out there to see them off—and return.

National Rating at Stake Against Bills

Negative Attitude Shown by Students

Men and women who have not returned their proofs to the Camera should do so immediately, Doris Hanssen, Artemisia editor, said today.

The sooner proofs are returned to the Camera, located above Hip's Drug Store, the sooner those pages can be assembled. Students must return their proofs, she said, selecting the one they wish printed.

The editor mentioned that organization heads and their groups will have pictures taken after the fraternity schedule is completed.

Wolves Fly East To Meet St. Louis; Nevada Favorites

Detroit Follows; Billikens Expected To Be Toughest Opponent of Season

Meeting the St. Louis Billikens in St. Louis Sunday afternoon, Nevada's Wolf Pack will board a United Mainliner at 8:45 tomorrow morning on a jaunt into the Midwest that will also bring them face to face with the Detroit Titans, Friday night, November 8.

Nevada, ranked by the Associated Press as the 23rd best team in the nation, is favored to top the Bills, current co-leaders of the Missouri Valley Conference.

Speed and power by the Wolves is expected to tell the difference between the two clubs. St. Louis is a hot-and-cold team as their three won-three lost record indicates. Reports, however, from the St. Louis camp anticipate a tough ball game is in store for the high flying Nevadans.

Coach Joe Sheeketski is of the same opinion and commented on the fact that they defeated Georgetown, which holds a 12-0 victory over Tulsa's Golden Hurricane, a good indication of what Nevada may expect.

Heavy Line
The Nevada mentor also added that the Bills have a big line and some fast big backs, along with a fine passer.

Leading the heavy St. Louis line is Roland Otto and Ross Nagel, towering tackles, while Lou Jackstadt and Ed Signaigo at guards will run to the right and left of center Bob Sweeney. End chores are handled by Harry Sortal and Jack Wuestling, rangy glue fingered pass receivers.

Offensive threats of the Bills rest in the hands of Dee Alberts, described by Coach Dukes Duford as "running like the wind," the pitching of Jack Rooney, and the ball lugging of Al Mundwiler and Pete Wisman.

St. Louis May Be Pack's Toughest Gridiron Opponent

Thrice Beaten Billikens Hold Wins Over Drake, Tulsa Topping Hoyas

University of St. Louis Billikens, smarting from a 47-14 pasting handed them by a virtually unknown St. Bonaventure eleven, will play host to the Wolf Pack gridders in St. Louis this Sunday.

Prior to their unexpected defeat by the little New York college, the Bills, co-leaders of the Missouri Valley Conference, had completely overwhelmed the Missouri Mines, 61-0, Drake University 41-12, and Georgetown University 16-0, while losing to the University of Missouri 19-0 and Marquette University 27-23.

Twin Brothers Act

W. J. (Dukes) Duford is now in his seventh season as head football coach and athletic director, and he has based his hopes for this year's team on the twin brother act of Dee and Lee Alberts, who lettered at the halfback positions in '46.

Irish Bob Sweeney, the 210 pound veteran center, will again hold down the pivot spot, and such men as lettermen Herb Hartmann, a 200-plus tackle, and 210 pounder Lou Jackstadt, give the Billikens line plenty of veto power to halt enemy ball carriers.

Marquette Grad

Head coach Duford is a graduate of Marquette University with the class of '24, and played fullback on the great Golden Avalanche teams of 1922-23, which went undefeated and unscored upon.

After graduation Duford played professional football with the Green Bay Packers for three years and then took over head coaching jobs at St. Mary's, Kansas, and St. Ambrose College in Davenport, Iowa.

31 Wins, No Losses

At St. Ambrose his gridders established a record of being undefeated in 31 games, from October, 1935, to September, 1939. From 1933-39 his teams were undefeated in conference games of the Iowa State Conference.

In five campaigns at St. Louis, Duford's Bills have won 20, lost 25, and tied two, to give him an all-time record of 89 victories against 43 setbacks and 11 ties. Since coming to St. Louis Duford has abolished the Warner system and now employs the T formation with variations.

BECK BECOMES MRS.

Irene Beck became Mrs. Les Hawkins on October 18 at Newcastle, California. Mrs. Hawkins is a Gamma Phi Beta. Hawkins is a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

Vets Subsistence Checks Due Here Saturday, Says Lee

All veterans attending the university whose papers have been processed should receive their subsistence allowance checks by Saturday, Mr. Keith Lee, veteran's counselor, announced today.

If some veterans have not received their checks by November 5, Mr. Lee will be in the dean of men's office all of that Wednesday to take their names so an immediate check can be made.

"Veterans transferring to the University of Nevada from other institutions who find they still do not have supplemental certificates and who have requested transfer of their files without receiving notice of transfer for these records will probably not be paid this time," Mr. Lee said.

Lee's new office hours are from 11 am to 3 pm Tuesdays and Thursdays in the dean of men's office.

Singers Selected For December 15 Messiah Program

More than 60 university students have been selected to sing Handel's "Messiah" in the campus mixed chorus group, Prof. Theodore H. Post, head of the university music department, announced today.

The University Singers will join with the Reno Civic Chorus for the 13th annual presentation of the "Messiah" on December 15. This entire chorus will be under the direction of Professor Post, and a combined Reno Civic and University Orchestra will be conducted by Prof. Robert Z. Tate for the occasion.

Rehearsals for the chorus are being held on Monday nights in the university band room at 7:30 pm, and all interested singers are invited to attend, Post added.

Last year 3500 people attended the performance. There were singers from Stockton's College of the Pacific, Carson City, San Francisco and Los Angeles taking part. Additional copies of the music have been secured for the increased group number this year, according to Post, and many new members are expected to join in this great event.

MAYOR TO SPEAK

Mayor Francis Smith will speak before the Federated Church Campus Club this Sunday, October 2, 1947. His topic will be "Reno Yesterday and Tomorrow."

Meeting time is 5:30 pm at the Federated Church. Refreshments and entertainment will also be provided. All students are welcome.

Many Frat Men To Eat Beans At Annual Feed

Inter-Fraternity Awards, Kinnear Trophy To Be Presented

Five hundred fraternity men are expected to attend the annual inter-fraternity "bean feed" Monday night at the gow house. Each year male members of campus organizations participating in the intramural program gather at the campus dining hall to take part in the presentation of trophies to winners of the past year's competition. The Kinnear trophy, symbolic of intramural supremacy, will be presented to Sigma Nu by Bill Gillis, inter-fraternity council president.

Sigma Nu earned the coveted trophy by winning the last baseball game of the year. Eleven minor awards will also be presented.

U. G. Dubach, professor of political science of the Lewis and Clark University in Portland, Oregon, will be featured speaker. Dubach is highly active in fraternity affairs on the west coast.

As principal speaker on the gram he will be the first out-of-state man to address an inter-fraternity function.

Most fraternities will make attendance compulsory for their members and some organizations will pay the fee of $1 a plate for their members.

Dr. John O. Moseley, president of the university; Dr. Robert S. Griffin, dean of men, and Mr. Joe Sheeketski, head coach, will be among the guests.

Unaffiliated men are also urged to attend.

JUNIOR PROM DATE SET FOR NOVEMBER 22

The annual junior class prom will be held this year on Saturday, November 22, according to Bill Gillis, junior class manager.

While the site of the dance has not yet been named, final arrangements for the affair are being formulated.

A NEW LOW

Prof. Alex D. Dandini, assistant in the foreign language department, now marks some failing papers with an "H"—as in horrible.

Violets Violent as Vittles Vaporize

A score of men and their dates stood around the SAE house, at 6:30 last Friday evening. There was to be a buffet dinner, but something seemed amiss.

For one thing, the tables were not set. His curiosity aroused, one of the men looked out in the kitchen. Charlie, the cook, was gone, and so was the food.

A cursory inspection revealed that all of the pledges had fled, taking housemother, cook and chow with them.

Faced with the prospect of buying their dates a meal, the members immediately instituted a widespread search for the lost dinner.

Within half an hour, the kidnappers were uncovered—in a barn on South Virginia. There was enough of the purloined supper left to fill everyone, but most of the beer had been consumed by the pledges, apparently in a fit of remorse.

What form of retaliation will be taken by the members has not yet been decided. As SAE Chaplain George Himes said, "The Lord have mercy on our erring brethren."

Assembly Schedule Set for Semester

The schedule for the remaining student assemblies of this semester has been released by Dr. Robert M. Gorrell, member of the committee on lectures and assemblies.

The committee approved the dates on which classes will be dismissed to allow students to attend the assemblies. As yet the specific activities to be held on those dates have not been determined, but an advance notice of each assembly topic will be published.

The dates run as follows: November 25, Tuesday, at 11 am; December 18, Thursday, at 10 am, and January 9, Friday, at 9 am.

MINING PROJECT CLASS MAKES INSPECTION TRIP

Members of the mining project class made an inspection trip to the property of the Eagle Picker Co. at Clark Station last Wednesday.

Professor Jay A. Carpenter, director of the school of mines, accompanied his class on the trip where they studied mining and processing of diatomaceous earths.

Band to Travel To Carson City For Nevada Day

Space Allotted to University For Parade Entries In Annual Affair

Eleven bands, including the University of Nevada's, and dozens of floats and marching units will march in the 83rd Nevada Day parade in Carson tomorrow.

An estimated 30,000 visitors, including many university students, are expected to pour into Carson to participate in the celebration.

Hoop skirts and bustles will again be in vogue, replacing the "new look," if only for a few days. Carson City males may be seen strutting in toppers, tails and the sideburns they have been so tenderly caring for during the last couple of months.

Covered wagons and surreys with and without fringes on top again will roam the streets, reminiscent of the day Nevada was admitted to the Union back on October 31, 1864.

The "horrible parade," a popular feature of the '60s, is being revived to liven up the festivities. A burlesque of the regular Nevada Day parade, the "horribles" will be staged Friday night.

Space in the Friday morning procession is allotted to University of Nevada entries, but aside from the band, no organization seems to have answered the call. The Blue Peppers and the ROTC marched the year before last, but they will not be present this year, Colonel Parker, head of the military department, announced.

Press Association Awards Scholarship

Lloyd Rogers, journalism major, has been awarded the Nevada State Press Association scholarship in journalism, Dr. Harold N. Brown, chairman of the scholarship and prizes committee, announced today.

Rogers, whose home is in Reno, is a senior in the college of arts and science. He served as editor of the Sagebrush during the spring semester of 1947.

The scholarship is given by the Nevada State Press Association to help deserving and outstanding journalism students.

BACK TO BACK THE PACK

A trophy for the best fraternity float in the 28th Homecoming parade went to Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The float featured a revolving head representing an old Grad wearing a graduating cap.

HIKING ON THE HILL

By Muriel Smiley

"Dancing in the Dark—da da da dum." The music ends with a sudden crescendo. Everyone looks about with a sickly smile and proceed to remove the gravel from their shoes. The annual Phi Sig street dance was once more in full swing and students were willingly crucifying themselves, scuffling in and out of chuck holes in order to keep the time honored tradition alive. So, if it is your ambition to return to the 1948 street brawl, may I suggest the following ways to avoid embarrassment if you fall face flat on the dance floor?

1. Just lie there. They'll think you've fainted.
2. Get up gracefully. They'll think it's part of the step.
3. Start mopping up the floor with your handkerchief. They'll think you work there.
Rating A-1 with fancy footwork I noticed Pat Ireland... prominent senior... struts her stuff as drum majorette of the band... education major... takes to water like a duck and advises Paniwallis swimmers... calls McGill the hometown... accomplished Cap and Scroll member.

Observing from the stag line was Dick Trachok... dynamic five foot, ten inch halfback belonging to the Wolf Pack... comes to Nevada from Jerome, Pennsylvania... hangs out at the field house... amiable and jovial... active in track... "sold" on a Pi Phi.

On duty at the refreshment stand was Bob Calvert... commonly called "Cal"... studious pre-legal major... grew up in Broken Arrow, Oklahoma... smooth dancer... hopes to learn to ski when snow falls, but shows his skill on the tennis court now.

Nibbling on a sugar cookie while waiting for her coffee to cool down I saw Lorraine Houghton... affectionately referred to as "Hoot"... defends hometown Susanville continually... petite junior, with flashy brown eyes... in the family circle of Gamma Phi Beta... ambitious English major... favorite pastime is sewing up pajamas.

Welcoming newcomers and boosting the party in general was Milo Price... intellectual junior class member... calls Elko the present home, but originally came from Yugoslavia... majoring in business administration... secretary of Phi Sigs... expresses views with the debate squad... one of the leaders of 1947's Homecoming.

Socializing amidst the crowd I saw Anita Davidson... a synonym for pep... property of the greenling class... noted for her Kentucky yodel... studies "campus"... her infectious grin wins swarms of buddies... talented harpist... Nevada home is Las Vegas.

After leaving the spotlight Lake street scene, I was confronted with the sudden thought that, actually, a woman is a rag, a bone, a hank of hair and man? Merely a brag, a groan and a tank of air.

Library Alterations Call for Move Of Charles C. Cutts Book Collection

Students will have more elbow room among the library's card catalogue files, Mr. J. J. Hill, head librarian, announced today. The Charles C. Cutts book collection, formerly placed near the catalogues, is being moved to the front lobby of the building. Also, several more cabinets may soon be available for the files.

Flourescent lighting is installed in the first floor rooms. When materials are available, the upstairs reading and reserved books rooms will also be equipped with better lighting.

New books are purchased this year with a budget higher than ever before, added Mr. Hill. Recent additions ordered by the English department include "The Crackup" and "The Great Gatsby," by F. Scott Fitzgerald; "New Plays From Japan," edited by Glenn Hughes and Yozan T. Iwaski; "Easter," by August Strindberg; "Washington Irving on the Prairie," edited by Stanley T. Williams and Barbara D. Simison; "Washington Irving Journal," edited by Stanley T. Williams; "Rimbud," by Wallace Wowlie; "Stephen Herd" and "Exiles," by James Joyce; "Amerika," by Franz Kafka; "Stella," by Herbert Davis; "The Scarlet Plague" (a first edition) by Jack London.

For the journalism department were "William Randolph Hearst, American," by Mrs. Fremont Older, and "Late City Edition," by Joseph G. Herzberg.

"Introduction to Metallurgy," by Joseph Newton, may interest potential metallurgists.

Electrical engineers will find a large number of new books, among them "Radio-Frequency Heating," by Brown, Hoyer, Bierworth; "Control of Electric Motors," by Paisley B. Harwood; "Principles of Television Engineering," by Donald Fink; "Principles of Electrical Engineering," by Grover C. Blalock; "Electrical Engineering—Problems and Their Solutions," by T. F. Wall, and "Frequency Modulation," by John F. Rider.

Federal Positions Open to Students

Positions in the federal government are now open to qualified seniors who plan to graduate next June, according to a notice received this week by the university from the United States Civil Service Commission.

The commission is now sponsoring its junior professional assistant examination. All seniors eligible in the examination will be considered for government assignments in the professional and clerical, administrative and fiscal services, paying $2644 per year.

Included are positions of administrative technician, chemist, engineer, legal assistant, librarian and mathematician.

Although specialization of study is required for those who qualify through education, applicants for administrative technician positions who have had one year of specialized administrative experience may offer college education in any field.

There will be no technical subject matter examinations for any of the positions, stated the commission, and it is possible for seniors to receive provisional appointments prior to graduation.

Applications for examinations for civil service appointments can be had at the campus post office or at the downtown post office on Virginia and Mill streets.

All applications must be in before November 4, 1947.

Campus Drive Hits 75 Per Cent Mark In Chest Campaign

University of Nevada students and faculty members gave $2239.80, more than 75 per cent of their quota, to the recent community chest drive, Dr. Harold N. Brown, director of summer sessions, and captain of the university community chest team, stated recently.

"Cooperation from both the faculty and the students was good and I want to express my sincere appreciation for this," said Dr. Brown.

The University of Nevada YWCA received $1000 from the chest last year and asked for $2000 to operate on during the coming year.

Members of the faculty who aided in the drive were, Miss Elaine Mobley, dean of women; Guild Gray, education department; Mill Alice Terry, secretary to the president, and Mrs. Barbara Pinjuv, YWCA secretary.

60 Coed Violators Cited for Offenses Against Traditions

A list of over 60 names of violators of the freshman duties of N painting and bringing boxes to the Homecoming bonfire will be posted on the bulletin board Monday, said Miss Roberta Butler, women's upper-class committee chairman.

Punishment for offenders was planned at the committee meeting yesterday. Culprits will be seen next week in various activities around the library, added Miss Butler.

"If faculty members and employees persist in cutting campus, how are we to keep the freshmen from doing so," asked the chairman. Josie Marsquirena, a senior, was found cutting campus this week.

Saturday is considered a school day by the committee, so freshman women must wear their blue and white ribbons and carry their bibles, Miss Butler warned.

REGULAR A & M MEET PLANNED FOR TUESDAY

Artemisia - Manzanita Association will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, November 5, Roberta Butler, president, announced today. The meeting will be held at the Education building at 7 pm.

Girls living in the halls must attend the meeting, the president emphasized.

Mackay Museum Display Diamonds

A diamond of unknown weight is on display in the Mackay School of Mines museum, according to Walter D. Palmer, professor of metallurgy and curator of the museum.

This specimen was donated to the school in 1931 by Sir Ernest Oppenheimer.

In another showcase, diamond bearing blue ground from mines in Kimberly, South Africa, can be seen.

Professor Palmer explained that to get the diamonds from this very hard ground, it is first crushed and then run over a greased table. The precious stones have a tendency to stick to the table and are thus separated from the rest of the concentrates.

Cheyenne Dancers Present Program

Orchestrated Group Well Attended

Lloyd Shaw presented his Cheyenne Mountain Dancers in a three-part program at the new gymnasium last night. The program, sponsored by Orchestras, girls' dance group, was well attended by students and townspeople. Proceeds have been handed over to the Community Chest.

The first part of the program was devoted to Early American dances, including the polka, mazurka and the varsouviana. After an interlude, Mexican dances were performed, followed by cowboy numbers.

The high school students from Colorado Springs are not professionals, but dancing for the fun of it.

Mr. Shaw, superintendent of the Cheyenne Mountain School, directed the group. He is an authority on American dancing and served as director for "Duel in the Sun." He has published a square dance album for a recording company.

His class in western dancing, held each summer in Colorado Springs, is limited to 90 persons. He has conducted square dancing institutes in Pittsburg, Los Angeles, Seattle, San Francisco, Houston and Salt Lake City.

'GET A HORSE' GIVEN NEW MEANING

The three riding classes of the Women's Recreation Association will hold a supper ride Tuesday, November 4. Girls will meet at the new gymnasium at 5 pm, Miss Doris Hansen, publicity director, stated.

Part of the group will ride horseback, others will ride in automobiles, because not enough horses are available for all the members. This will be the final ride for the classes.

Wesleyites to Hold Goon Costume Party In Secret Rendezvous

With the scene of the party a secret, the Wesley Foundation will hold a Halloween affair on Saturday night, November 1. To add further mystery, all who attend will meet in front of the First Methodist Church and from there will take a hayride to the scene of the party. The meeting time is 7:15 pm.

The party will be a costume affair but dress has been made optional. A prize will be given for the "gooniest" costume in order to arouse more interest in selecting a costume.

On Sunday the Wesley Foundation will have its regular meeting and, in addition, a new breakfast club will meet in the morning at 9 am until 10:30 am. The newly formed group will discuss plans for the coming semester.

At the Sunday night meeting Mrs. Don Fleming will present a book review on Wendell Wilkie's book, "One World."

HOME EC MEMBERS TO HOLD INITIATION; LUNCHEON PLANNED

Twenty girls will become active members of the Home Economics Club Thursday night, November 13, when they will be initiated into the group.

Candlelight ceremonies are to be held for the initiates at 8 pm in the Agriculture building, Althea Benedict, president of club, said. Joyce Harris is in charge of the initiation.

It was decided at the last meet that the club will get together on the second and fourth Thursdays of every month for luncheon meetings in the Aggie buildings, Miss Benedict said.

BELLS TO RING

Robert Morton, sophomore engineer student, and Ruth Gent, former student, will hear the bells ring at the Federated Church when they are married on November 6.

Thetas Use Song To Thank Frats

Kappa Alpha Theta said it with music Monday night, when they serenaded the fraternity houses to show their appreciation for the election of their candidate as Homecoming sweetheart.

Sixty Thetas, both actives and pledges, thanked the frats with their own words to the tune of "Thanks for the Memories," various fraternity songs and their Theta song.

Pat Eddy, who was elected sweetheart, nosed out her closest rival, Pi Phi's Ruth Irwin, by one vote.

Editor's note: Overlooked in the serenading were the men of Lincoln, Bourbon and McGoogle halls. Could be, girls, a vote cast by one of these men was the one that did the trick.

Carnival Is Theme Of Mormon Dance On Halloween Night

A carnival dance with all the trimmings of a carnival and Halloween has been planned for tonight by the Mutual Improvement Association, a young peoples organization of the Mormon church.

Each age group within the MIA has built a small booth from which will be sold everything from home made candy to photographs. One young girls group has arranged a "house of horror" and will conduct tours through it for a price.

A large group of university students attend the meetings of the MIA each Tuesday evening. Their program is one of recreation and social activities with classes in drama, speech, music and dancing.

The dance will be held in the Mormon church at 7 pm. There will be no charge for admission.

CARSON ROTARY CLUB TO FEATURE CAMPUS STUDENTS IN PROGRAM

For the first time this year, University of Nevada students are continuing an entertainment series of the music department.

The November 4 meeting of the Rotary Club in Carson City will feature Ladies night with the following students taking part in the musical program:

Alberto Barrios, minstrel; Manfred Hardesty, baritone; Lois Post, violinist; Mary Handley, soprano, and Mary Libby, accompanist.

Campus Dramatic Group to Conduct Tryouts Monday

Tryouts for two one-act plays and future radio shows to be presented by Campus Players are to be held on Monday night at 7:30 in the education auditorium. The names of the plays are "The Valiant" and "Jack, Jill and a Friend."

The radio plays will be adaptations of stories from the Bible, Chaucer and Shakespeare. They will be given on Sundays at 8:30 pm over radio station KXXL. Louis Hall, director, announced that last Sunday "The Merchant of Venice" was given. He also said that anybody wishing to submit scripts may do so and they will be given very careful consideration.

The Rev. Gareth Hughes, university dramatic coach, is producing these shows. He hopes to form a more permanent Shakespearean group on the campus.

INDEPENDENTS PLAN HALLOWEEN SHINDIG

Organized Independents will take over the Y room in the basement of Artemisia Hall for a Halloween party Saturday night, November 1.

Halloween games, fortune telling and dancing will be the main attraction of the evening. The Barb party will last from 8 pm to 12 pm, Nora Saunders, social chairman of the Independents said.

600 Alums Attend Annual Banquet

More than 600 alumni of the University of Nevada attended the annual banquet at Lawton Hot Springs last Saturday night, climaxing the most outstanding Homecoming in the school's history.

Rex Daniels, alumni secretary, stated this year's banquet attendance more than doubled last year's record attendance of approximately 300. He said plans this year had called for from 350 to 400 buffet servings and that the unprecedented size of the crowd proved too much for Lawton's facilities to handle. More than 100 who were not served were refunded the price of their banquet tickets.

Daniels expressed the hope that by next year's Homecoming time there would be a banquet hall in Reno large enough to accommodate a group of 500 or more.

Highlight of the Saturday night festivities was the election of Mark Yori, Jr., of Reno as Alumni Association president, succeeding Wayne C. Hinkley of Reno. Louis Peraldo of Winnemucca was named association vice-president.

Art Exhibit Survey Given by Sheppard

"Exhibits—How to Look at Them and Understand" was J. Craig Sheppard's topic in his brief talk before the Fine Arts Club on October 27. Barbara Olsen, president, lead the meeting at the Gamma Phi Beta house.

Various types of art were discussed by Sheppard. Problems an artist might have in composing his work were mentioned.

Sheppard, a new member of the fine arts department, obtained his B.F.A. degree in sculpture and painting at the University of Oklahoma.

His interests in fine arts vary, declared Sheppard. Shifting from phase to phase presents fresh aspects and the challenge of new problems, he said.

Sheppard was appointed official advisor for the Fine Arts Club before the meeting adjourned.

Nevada Weathers Golden Hurricane; Breezes in 21-13

Stan Heath's Passing, Kalmanir's Jaunt Highlight Win

A point hungry Nevada Wolf Pack proved its pigskin prowess to 8500 Homecoming Day fans by turning back a "scraping" Tulsa eleven, 21 to 13, at Mackay Stadium Saturday.

Tulsa's Golden Hurricane raced out of its first huddle and began a bruising running offensive that waned only with the final play.

As evidence of the effectiveness of their unning offense the Tulsans piled up 14 first downs to Nevada's 10 and gained 244 yards rushing while the Wolves could only pick up 92 along the ground.

Passing Clicks

The Wolves outclassed the visitors in the passing department with Quarterback Stan Heath completing 10 for 16, netting the Pack 136 yards from Tulsa's 98 yards from 11 completions for 19 attempts.

Tulsa got its first scoring opportunity when Burroughs broke through and blocked Scot Beasley's punt on the Nevada 19. Three plays later Boone carried it across for the Okies. Missing the conversion, Tulsa led 6-0 as the first quarter ended.

The Nevadans opened up with a series of short passes from Heath to Kalmanir, then Beasley snared one. Heath then faded back to his own 20 and fired a 60-yard spiraler to Halfback Willie Elder.

Subda for Six

Elder was brought down on the Tulsa 17, but it took the Wolves only three plays to move the ball to the goal line where Fullback Johnnie Subda carried it across for the first Nevada score.

Tackle Bob Corley toed the first of three perfect conversions

Keller Named King Of Hill Chessmen As Club Is Formed

Chess enthusiasts have met and organized a chess club on the campus, to be known as the Chessmen of the University of Nevada.

At the preliminary meeting, a constitution was accepted and officers were elected, including Harold Keller, king; Barney Childs, royal secretary; Huling Ussery, rook; Bonnie Yturvide, bishop; and Evo Granata, knight. Dr. E. Maurice Beesley, head of the mathematics department, is to be the faculty advisor.

Yturvide announced that meetings will be held every Wednesday night in the English seminar room of the library. He said that plans are under way for meets with other chess organizations and for intramural competition. The club is open to any and all chess enthusiasts, Yturvide said.

through the uprights.

Tulsa started out with speedy halfback Stratton scooting around end for a long 22 yard gain. End Duke Lindemann abated the storm winds somewhat as he recovered a Tulsa fumble on the Nevada 27.

The Wolf Pack drove down from this point to the Okies' 20 yard line, where Heath rifled another pass to end Harold Hayes, who took the ball on the 10 and jackrabbited across for the score. Corley split the posts to put Nevada out front 14-6.

Okies Strike Back

With three of their backs out of the game as a result of bone-crushing tackles by the Nevada defenders, Tulsa still managed to power their way for a score that threatened the Wolves' margin.

On the return kickoff, Halfback "Touchdown Tommie" Kalmanir following terrific downfield blocking went all the way for the last Nevada tally.

Corley booted another one through, and the Nevadans were on the long end of a 21 to 13 count.

Play Grows Rough

With scoring at an end, play grew rougher and "rock 'em, sock 'em" tackles by Ken Sinosky effected the removal of another Tulsa back from the game.

Tulsa Coach Buddy Brothers stated Tulsa had played its best game, but Nevada had the edge in backfield talent. That made the difference, he said.

Joe Sheeketski had nothing but praise for his team, and profound admiration for the Tulsa squad.

Independent Entry Ross Smith Wins Homecoming Race

Clocked at Minute Faster Than Last Year's Best; Timed in 24:09

Leading the field by an easy half mile, Ross Smith, mining engineer student from Watsonville, California, and representing the Independents, took top honors in Homecoming's intramural cross country race Saturday.

His time, 24:09, was more than one minute faster than last year's. Others pacing were Orsie Graves, second; Buddy Hardy, third; Robert Coughlin, last year's winner, fourth; John Boynton, fifth, and Al Richardson, sixth.

The first fraternity to place three men across the finish line and consequently win team honors and 60 points toward the Kinnear trophy was Sigma Nu. Runners placing for them were Orsie Graves, second; Barnes Berry, seventh; Jack Parke, eighth; Guenther Brueckner, ninth; Virgil Johnson, 15th; Elio Barsanti, 21st; John Stoistic, 24th, and Don Anderson, 25th.

Theta Chi was the second fraternity to put three men across the finish line and gains 40 points toward the coveted trophy. Runners placing for them were Al Richardson, sixth; John Smith, 11th; Robert Tognoni, 12th, and Don Johnson, 32nd.

Third place honors went to SAE with Bob Coughlin, fourth; John Boynton, fifth; Gunter Gigas 13th, and Orrin Brown, 19th.

ATO took fourth place honors having Buddy Hardy, third; Fred Dressler, 16th; George Reese, 17th; Dan Yparraquirre, 18th; Robert Korb, 20th; Frank Johnson, 26th; John Doyle, 28th; Glenn Hadley, 29th; Herman Fisher, 30th, and Barry Brooks, 33rd, running for them.

Running for Lambda Chi were Dale Riddle, 14th; Tom Bowman, 27th; Dick Cunick, 23rd, and Stan Reese, 34th. Smith was the lone man to cross the finish line for the Independents.

Of the 54 men starting 34 finished.

Nevada's Victory Is Grads Revenge

M. H. North, a member of the University of Nevada's first journalism class, returned to Reno after 22 years to see the Nevada-Tulsa game, and to visit with his former instructor, Professor A. L. Higginbotham, last Tuesday.

North is now advertising and sales promotion director of the Oklahoma Natural Gas Company in Tulsa. He supplies approximately 500 newspapers in the state with advertising for his company.

"Out on Mackay Field last Saturday I received my personal revenge from the beating Tulsa gave Nevada two years ago by a score of 40 to 0," North said, when asked how he liked the game.

North added that at that game in Tulsa he had sat on the bench with the former coach Jim Aiken and watched the Wolf Pack bow to a powerful Tulsa team, but this time it was different.

North, who was editor of the Artemisia and a member of the Sagebrush staff in 1924, commented that he could hardly recognize Reno as it has grown so tremendously since his days here.

Sigma Nu Leads in Kinnear Race; Phi Sigma Kappa, Lambda Chi Next

By Harry Spencer and Pete Pridgen

Haste makes no waste as far as the Sigma Nu athletes are concerned in the present intramural race for the Kinnear trophy.

Starting off with the cup in their possession this year, the Snakes seem determined not to have it sit on any other mantle.

Clinching the softball crown and a big 100 points toward the trophy, the Sigma Nuans continued their winning ways with a first place victory in the annual cross country race Saturday.

The digit-hungry Snakes also wrested at 1.75 out of the horseshoe singles and bid fair to challenge the SAE lead in the horseshoe doubles.

One Game Remains

Only one softball game remains on the diamond ball agenda. That is a contest between the SAE nine and Sigma Nu. Even though they lose this game the Snakes cannot be ousted from their first place position, since every other team in the competition has suffered at least two defeats while they are undefeated.

The best SAE can hope for, if they should win this game, is a tie for fifth place with Theta Chi.

Phi Sig and Lambda Chi split second and third place points between them as they tied with five wins and two defeats apiece in softball competition.

Fourth place and 20 points went to ATO, while Theta Chi warily awaits the outcome of the Sigma Nu-SAE game before laying claim to the 10 points for fifth place.

SAE Wins Points

SAE wound up on top in the horseshoe singles and added 20 points to their total. Phi Sig placed second for 10 points, with ATO a close third receiving five points. Tied for fourth place Lambda Chi and Sigma Nu split fourth and fifth place points between them and came out with 1.75 points each.

As the ATO's remember only too well, these decimal points can often make a world of difference in the final standings. Last year the Sigma Nu's beat out ATO by .50 points for the trophy.

The SAE horseshoe duo still leads in the horseshoe doubles play with five wins against one loss. Sigma Nu has four victories against one defeat and have to play Sigma Rho and SAE to wind up their schedule.

If the Snakes Win

If the Snakes win both of the remaining contests, they can take a first place away from the SAE's, who need only to defeat the Snakes to insure their supremacy.

Led by Sigma Nu president, Orsie Graves, the Snake cross country team placed three of their men across the finish line.

Men's Dormitory Made Race Track For Jet Midgets

Jet propulsion has come to Lincoln Hall.

Taking a page from a recent issue of Life Magazine, which showed students at Cal Aero Tech racing jet propelled cars, John Michael, a Lincoln Hall resident, designed, built and raced a model. His success caused other students to build models and the fad is growing.

The miniature cars are propelled by the carbon-dioxide cartridge usually used to charge soda water bottles. The force of the escaping gas sends the cars streaking down the second deck hallway of Lincoln Hall which is used as the race-way.

It is not unusual to find as many as 60 or 70 students lined up in the hallway to watch the cars. Two of the most ardent spectators, Charles Thompson and George Eustachy, say that "our biggest thrill is to see one of the cars slip off the guide wire and smash to pieces."

first and in so doing added 60 points to their growing total.

With Graves coming in second, individual winner of the cross country affair was Ross Smith, Independent, who jogged the five miles from Sparks to Mackay Stadium in 24.9 minutes. Buddy Hardy of ATO was the third man across the finish line.

Intramural supervisor Chet Scranton of the PE department, said today that volleyball and basketball would be next on the calendar of events.

Competition Lack Brings Invitational Hoop Cancellation

Returnees, Replacements Expected to Give Pack Successful Year

Coach Jake Lawlor announced today that the annual Reno invitational basketball tournament would not be held this year because teams with prominent records could not be obtained for the event. Last year Nevada won the meet which included USF, Colorado State and Brigham Young.

Lawlor added that the team has begun to hit their stride and should be ready for the tough season that starts the end of November. First cuts for the varsity tryouts were made Wednesday.

Among some of the outstanding basketballers at the University of Nevada this year, said Lawlor, are Grant Davis, veteran forward; Bill Moylan, steady guard, and Hal Fischer, center.

Returning to the Nevada campus after a year's absence is Jim Mackay, regular on the varsity's 1945 quintet.

Ronald Dupratt, a '44 letterman, is also back this season and should add strength to the squad.

Some of the tryouts who have stood out during practice, Lawlor said, are Bob Larson and Ed Reed from last year's squad, and John Laxalt, Pete Pridgen and Louis Mendive, who were with the freshman hoopers last season.

Louis Joseph, from Compton Junior College, and Jack Pringle, back from service, are shaping into probable varsity material.

Sagens to Strut New Uniforms at Football Contests

The Sagens will be wearing new royal blue uniforms in the near future, Pat Ussery, president of the Sagens, announced today.

The finance control board of the university is contributing 50 per cent of the cost of the new uniforms, the Sagens will pay the rest.

The uniforms, made up of royal blue jackets and skirts, will be worn at football games along with rooters caps and the Sagens emblems. Up to the present time, local concerns have been having trouble placing the order for the uniforms due to the exact color wanted, but it should not be long before the order is filled.

The Sagens, 25 members in all, will continue to be the backbone of the football rooting section, regardless of uniforms, Miss Ussery said.

SWIM CLUB MEETING ON TONIGHT'S SCHEDULE

PACK TRACKS

By Bill McFarland

Next stop St. Louis, as the Wolf Pack moves into the mighty midwest to show their wares Sunday against St. Louis University on the banks of the Mississippi.

Much speculation in these parts indicate that the Wolves will run the Billikens clear out the "show me" land.

Probable logic for such an attitude on the part of the speculators is that St. Louis was mortified 47-14 by the unheard of (so-called locally) Indians of St. Bonaventure in Olean, New York.

If such is the case, don't take too much stock in the prognostications. St. Bonaventure's victory wasn't nearly the surprise in the east as it was here in the west.

SLU lost to a team that participated in a bowl game last New Year's, and one that apparently has plenty of talent this year.

Our guys are going to meet a team which bumped Georgetown and Georgetown was described by Tulsa as having a tougher line than Nevada. Everything points to a tough ball game, especially if the Billikens shoot a line nearly as tough as Tulsa's at the Silver and Blue.

St. Louis is going to be out to regain lost prestige against the Wolves who are rated by the Associated Press as the 23rd best team in the nation.

Coach Joe Sheeketski is looking for a very busy afternoon in St. Louis. I'm inclined to agree with the Nevada mentor. It'll be close but Nevada wants to climb higher in national ranking and a win over the boys of Missouri will help that cause.

My guess is Nevada 12 points at least. Could be more.

Leftover From Homecoming
Old grads were more than impressed by what they called the best team Nevada has had since All-American "Rabbit" Bradshaw was performing for the Wolves in the '20s.

The alums were also high in praise for Coach Joe Sheeketski in his first year as Nevada head man.

"He has done wonders this year in knocking off top-flight opposition," were many of the comments.

Mild mannered Sheeketski gives all credit for success to team who has worked hard in bringing glory to U of N.

Some supporters expressed belief that the Nevada athletic director was the man to get Nevada into the Pacific Coast Conference.

How about it coach?

Cadet Corps Roster Doubles Strength

An addition of 142 cadets over last year's peak is giving added strength to the present ROTC program, Colonel Gilbert E. Parker disclosed today.

Last year's total number of cadets was 142, while the present enrollment of 284 doubles that mark.

New equipment has been secured for the influx of new trainees, but additional instructors have not been necessary, Colonel Parker asserted.

ARTIST'S SKETCH OF NEW NAVAL ARMORY

New Naval Armory Progressing as Scheduled; Cost Boosted to $170,000

Work on the new naval armory at the northeasterly edge of the campus below Clark field is progressing on schedule, L. C. Miles, general superintendent of construction, said today.

With no further delays in receiving supplies anticipated, the work will be completed by January 26, he added.

The foundation for the middle wing of the armory is finished and the steel framework for two of the three buildings composing the wings of the armory have been erected within the past week.

The metal roofs are being put on but work is progressing slowly because of the lack of steel.

Butler Huts The Butler huts which will make up the three wings of the $170,000 navy project were not built to withstand heavy snows, Allen E. Plummer, navy inspector, explained.

The metal buildings were sent complete from the factory and the construction plans specify placing the "bents," steel framework which support the low-pitched roof, 20 feet apart. It is necessary, Mr. Plummer explained, to place an intermediary "bent" every ten feet to guarantee sufficient support in case of a heavy snow. "We have spotted a supply of these supports in government stock piles on the coast. We expect no delay in receiving these additional supplies as soon as the title is cleared through Washington," Mr. Plummer declared.

Wolves Fly East

Stan Heath and Mike Mirabelli have been throwing plenty of passes in new offensive drills indicating that the Wolves will throw a lot of leather in St. Louis. Handling the Pack line will be Capt. Scott Beasley and Harold Hayes at ends, Fred Leon and Timnas Carlson, tackles, and center Carmel Carruso will sandwich between Ken Sinofsky and Buster Tilton, guards.

Sunday's game will be aired by radio station KOH and game time is 12:45 pm, Reno time.

Water Color Show To Be Presented

A group of water colors will be displayed by the Fine Arts Club November 3 through 7, announced Miss Ida Mae Kellogg, publicity chairman. The Fine Arts Club, an organization devoted to cultural interests, is open to men as well as women. Though in the past there have not been men members, the group has decided to encourage men to join.

The Reno branch of the National League of American Pen Women, a cultural group with varied interests, cooperates with the Fine Arts Club in organizing the work of local artists. Mrs. Scott Haynes is the Pen Women's art chairman.

The water colors may be seen from one to five pm during the exhibit in the art building, located in the temporary additions.

Mining Professors Leave for Survey

Three faculty members of the School of Mines left today for the Contact mining district in Elko county. Professors Vincent P. Gianella, Allan Cree, and Harry E. Wheeler will make a preliminary investigation of that area, which is the proposed site of the S. Frank Hunt Geologic Foundation field course to be held during next June and July.

Professor Wheeler stated that next year's course will be conducted by Prof. Cree and himself. The Contact district, while not considered a great producer, provides an ideal location for the field course. It provides a wide variety of petrologic, stratigraphic and structural problems with which the mining student will be confronted. Aerial photographs will be taken of the Contact district this fall to aid in the course planning, Professor Wheeler said.

STUDENTS, PROFS SEE CHEMICAL EXHIBITION

Three students and two professors from Nevada attended the first chemical exposition ever held on the west coast last week.

Walter Averett, Don Lyman, and Stan Smith drove to San Francisco on October 23 and returned late the next day. The students met Dr. George W. Sears, head of the department of chemistry, and Dr. Joe E. Moose, professor of chemistry, at the exposition.

Metallurgy Group Plans Steel Tour

Six students in steel metallurgy will take a hunt Foundation trip this weekend to visit Columbia Steel corporation's mill at Pittsburgh, California.

The trip was arranged by Professor William I. Smyth of the Mackay School of Mines and the students will leave Reno Thursday afternoon, returning Sunday afternoon.

The Hunt trips are sponsored by the Hunt Foundation, established by the late S. Frank Hunt, discoverer of the Rio Tinto mine at Mountain City, Nevada. Funds from the Hunt Foundation cover the expenses of field trips for geologic study, for trips to operating mines and mills, and for mineral prospecting by supervised groups of students of the Mackay School of Mines.
