UN Athletic Board Refutes Gambling Charge at Wolves

Charges of gambling interests trying to influence the Wolf Pack first printed in the sports column of Sports Editor Bud Spencer of the San Francisco News and quoted by Ty Cobb in his sports editorial in the Sunday edition of the Nevada State Journal were officially refuted in a letter released yesterday by Joseph T. McDonnell, graduate manager and secretary to the board of athletic control.

The letter, to Mr. Victor O. Schmidt, commissioner of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, read in part:

"There has never been a single instance in which the gambling interests of the state of Nevada have ever attempted to interfere with the administration of intercollegiate athletics at the University of Nevada, or influence any of the individual members of a team. We, the members of the board of athletic control, therefore, wish to officially refute the statements attributed to Mr. James W. Aiken which appeared in the San Francisco News on November 6."

According to Editor Spencer, Jim Aiken, head coach at the University of Oregon and former Nevada mentor, made the accusation that the "sure-thing boys got on the 'inside' of athletes (Wolf Pack) by promising them jobs and helping them through school."

Coach Joe Sheeketski emphatically stated that there has been no attempt of any kind to influence the team while he has been here.

DR. PRICE OPENS NEW YW SOCIAL

YWCA group on campus is sponsoring a new Sunday evening program consisting of chapel, dinner and discussion. The programs are held every first and third Sundays of the month in the basement of Stewart Hall from 5 pm to about 6:30 pm, beginning November 16.

This Sunday the discussion will be on student problems and will be led by Dr. Kingsley Price, assistant professor of philosophy here at Nevada. All students are invited to attend the gathering. A fee of 25 cents will be charged for dinner.

General chairman for the group is Alice Pettis and Lynn Longberg co-chairman. Other committee members in charge of the program are Chapel, Donna Moore and Francis Tschopp; dinner, Delores Spradling and Donna Garrett; discussion, Jo Ann Tice and Mary Douglas; publicity, Nancy Hecker and Helen Burr.

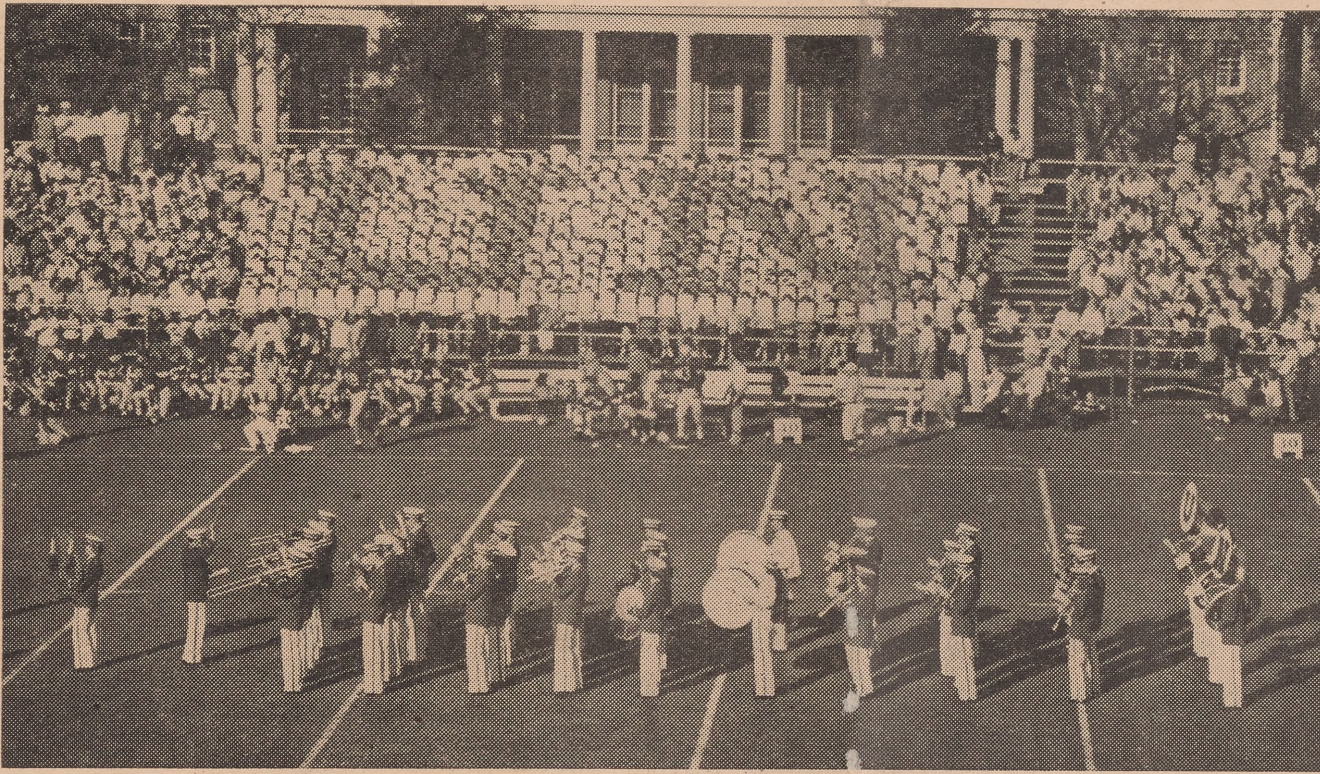

Tri-Delts to Hold Carnival Dance Tomorrow Night

Tri-Delts and their dates will gather at Lawton Springs tomorrow night for the annual Tri-Delt Carnival dance. Balloons, paper clowns, and animals will decorate the dance hall. Lou Eccles and his orchestra will furnish the music.

Ann Morgans, chairman of the dance, was assisted by Frances Tschopp, Jo Ann Miles, Virginia Shaw, Margaret Fairchild, Bernadette Ertter, Beryl Dickerson and Jeanne Ellin Rule.

Chaperoning the dance will be Dr. and Mrs. Robert S. Griffin, Mrs. Mable Starr and Mrs. Adie Bankin.

Refreshments will be served.

This picture of the Nevada rooting section gives the student a good idea of the results of his efforts at the Homecoming game. Tomorrow, bigger and better stunts are planned. Give yell leaders your utmost cooperation, gang, and make the show sharp.

Regulations Put 200 Couples Limit On Junior Prom

The junior prom, traditional fall dance sponsored by the junior class, will highlight social activities next week.

Bill Gillis, junior class manager, set this year's prom date as November 22, in the ballroom of the State building in downtown Reno. Due to uncertainties in scheduling varsity basketball games the new gym is unavailable. Dance time is from 9 pm until 1 am.

Admission will be limited to 400 people in the State building, as Reno fire department regulations will not allow more. Gillis added that the limitation of persons does not mean that the dance will be for juniors only, but is open to the student body.

Harvest Ball Theme

The prom will be carried out as in the past in a harvest ball or Thanksgiving theme, with the reds and browns of autumn predominating.

The dance will be strictly semi-formal; formal gowns for women and dark suits for men. Larry Chapman and his 10-piece orchestra will furnish music for the ball.

Chaperoning the dance will be Miss Elaine Mobley, Dr. and Mrs. Robert S. Griffin, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Moose, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Brown and Dr. and Mrs. Vincent P. Gianella.

Tickets can be bought from junior class members. Price including tax is $1.50 per couple or $1.00 stag.

Wednesday Meeting To Welcome New Alumni Executives

Newly elected members of the executive committee of the Nevada Alumni Association will be welcomed at a meeting Wednesday, November 19, according to an announcement made this week by Rex Daniels, director of the alumni office.

The members were elected during the Homecoming banquet, October 25. Twenty-five members from Reno and 25 regional members make up the committee.

New members from Reno are Kelly Lyon, Carl Digeno, Bill Parish, Merle Snider, Max Jensen, Jim Melarkey, Georgia Cole and Anthony Zeni.

The Alumni Association holds regular meetings on the third Wednesday of each month.

Campus Sheriff Hits Recent Crime Wave

By Gene McKenna

"In the future, violators of campus traditions may find themselves being thrown into Lake Manzanita, as we are now in a position to crack down," announced Tommy Thompson, chairman of the men's upper-class committee, today.

"Many men have failed to comply with the regulations set down by the upperclass committee and the sophomore vigilantes, so from now on, violators will be given the full punishment due them," Thompson went on to say.

Doubt Cleared Up

To clear up some of the doubt about campus traditions that has been in the minds of many men attending the university, Thompson set forth these rules:

1. Veterans are exempted from carrying bibles and wearing dinks but they are definitely liable for all other traditions.
2. The Wolf Den and Blue Silver are considered on campus, contrary to current belief.
3. Violators of regulations will have their names announced over the public address system the day before, and the day of their appearance before the committee. In order to eliminate excuses for non-appearance, the names will also be posted on the campus bulletin board well in advance of the appearance date. Failure to appear may result in double punishment.
4. Repetition of violations

Traffic Violators To Face Suspension

More than 100 letters were sent last Tuesday to those individuals who have not paid traffic fines, stated parking chairman John Witte.

These letters are for the purpose of notifying the recipients of the tickets that their fines have been doubled and gives those individuals five days from the date of the letter in which to pay their fines.

If, at the end of the five day period, the fines are not paid, the offenders will be referred to the administrative council with the recommendation of suspension from the university.

ARNOLD AND BROWN MIDDLE-AISLE IT

Binney Arnold, Kappa Alpha Theta, became Mrs. Stanley Brown this afternoon at a home wedding in Reno.

will bring about serious results. If the student is punished for the same offense three times, he is "laked." If these "three time losers" cannot follow the straight and narrow then they will be brought before the student senate for action, with the possibility of having their student privileges revoked. And if senate action is not enough, the violators will have to face the administrative counsel for possible dismissal from school.

Oh! Oh!

The upperclass committee at present has under its consideration the possible dunking of two students who have committed serious offenses.

The committee, whose duty it is to enforce campus regulations, meets in the ASUN building every Friday at 11:50 am and is composed of Tommy Thompson, chairman, Lyman Schwartz, Dick Elmore, Ed Drennan, Kurt Baker, Pete Rittenhouse, Dick Conlon, Richard Kinner, Tom Harvey, Richard Rowley, Eugene Grotogut, Donald Johnson and Norman Hoover.

The sophomore vigilantes holds its session every other Tuesday in the ASUN building at 11:50 am and has as members Bill Handcock, Bill Horton, Jim Wright, Bob Calvert, Bill Brush, Paul Salemi, Al Barsanti, George Vuconovich, Marvin Picollo, Bill Bowden, Bob McCrae and Johnny Milburn.

CAP AND SCROLL MEETS TOMORROW

Cap and Scroll will hold its monthly dinner meeting 6 pm tomorrow at Ramona's Kitchen, Dorothy Thomas, president, announced today.

The club is organized to develop the highest ideals on Nevada's campus. Members are women students, leaders in student life and activity. Business transactions of Cap and Scroll meetings are secret.

DORM GIRLS ATTEND GET-TOGETHER TEA

The monthly get-together tea for Artemisia Hall and Manzanita Hall residents was held this afternoon from 4 to 5 pm, Miss Susan Smith, social chairman, arranged the tea.

Serving for the tea were Delma Gubler, Jo Ann Tice, Shirley Lundergreen and Mary Micheo. Denice Drown, Jo Ann Tice and Mary Lou Brunton served other refreshments.

Led by Phi Sigs' Campus Greek Men Add 63 Pledges

Men's Greek letter houses have added 63 more pledges to their rosters, according to the latest figures in the office of the dean of men.

Phi Sigma Kappa led the latest pledge parade with 25 new men, followed by ATO with 15. Below is the list of recent pledges and their houses:

FROSH HOOPSTERS ROLL

Freshman basketball practice begins Tuesday, November 18, according to Jake Lawlor, head basketball coach.

All frosh interested in making the team should report to the gym at 6:30 pm.

Hardy Group Greet Returning Pack at Early Morning Hour

Well, there were people, but the team wasn't.

Then the team was, but the people weren't.

Scheduled for 1:15 am, the rally was all set for the return of the team from its eastern junket. But it had to be cancelled at the last moment when the plane was delayed.

A lot of students and townspeople who didn't get the word were on hand for the celebration, though.

A few more came out at 2 am with the notion that the team might be in then.

Finding that the football players would not arrive until nobody was quite sure when everyone went home.

The plane finally showed at 5:30 am and the team was greeted by a small but hardy group.

New Sager Card Stunts for Game

Sagers will cooperate with the cheerleaders in presenting card stunts at the Montana-Nevada football game, Jerry Wynness, Sagers president, announced today. Sagers will also wrap goal posts, sell programs and usher for the game.

The card stunts will be larger for this game, Wynness continued. Cards will be placed on an area covering 600 seats. At the Homecoming game, the cards covered approximately 400 seats. Students sitting in the rooting section will not be required to wear white shirts or blouses, but should wear their rooters' caps, the Sagers president emphasized.

Saturday will be the last opportunity for Sager tryees to get hours of work toward the 15 hour requirement for membership, Wynness stated. Tryees may work from 8 am to 12 noon and from 12:45 to kickoff time tomorrow.

Fine Arts Plan Better Exhibits

Salvador Dali on the Nevada campus! It sounds impossible, but the Fine Arts Club has great hopes for next year.

Aided by advisor J. Craig Sheppard, the club is planning bigger and better known exhibits in the future. Shows must usually be engaged a year in advance, so Fine Arts Club members are eager to begin work now, stated Mr. Sheppard.

A stimulus in art interest through outstanding exhibits, he intimated, might help to add a major in fine arts, which is not yet offered. Art appreciation courses, he added, might also be made available.

Miss Helen Joslin, head of the fine arts department, declared that classes in the history of art and in art appreciation are integral to the cultural education of any university graduate.

More room is needed for fine arts classes, she said. Enrollment in these was limited this year as usual, because of the lack of room.

SO SO BOBCATS MEET WOLVES IN HOME FINAL

Montana State College offers the opposition when the Wolf Pack makes its final Reno appearance for the 1947 season tomorrow afternoon.

Nevada crushed the Bobcats, 38-14 in last year's Homecoming game in Reno.

The Bobcats fielding virtually the same team as last year, which annexed the Rocky Mountain Conference championship and played a 13-13 tie with the University of New Mexico in San Diego's Harbor Bowl, have won four and lost four this season.

Beat Portland, Too

Their record includes wins over Portland 20-13, Idaho State 34-12, Colorado State 32-13 and a 13-12 win over University of Montana in their traditional game. The Staters lost to University of Oregon after the Aiken men rallied for three last period touchdowns to overcome a 14-6 lead, and win 27-14. Other losses were to Utah State 28-13, Hawaii 14-0 and Brigham Young University 19-14.

Injuries will hamper the visitors, according to word from Bozeman. Several key men, including Buzz Brisbin who was the leading ground gainer against Nevada last year, are nursing broken and fractured bones and other injuries.

Well Known Coach

Clyde Carpenter, head coach of the Bobcats, is well known to followers of football in Montana. He starred as a halfback during three years of varsity football for Montana State.

After graduation he directed Billings high school for ten years. In 1941 Carpenter returned to Montana State as assistant coach of football and basketball, where he remained until he enlisted in the navy in 1943.

In 1946 Carpenter again returned to Bozeman, and in his first season, his Bobcats won five, lost three and tied two.

Prof's to Receive Poinsettia Plants

Christmas poinsettias are expected to arrive at the university greenhouse in the near future, according to Mr. Herbert Preuss, head gardener.

The poinsettias will be kept in the greenhouse until Christmas week, when they will be passed out to members of the faculty, Mr. Preuss stated.

Preuss added that the pansies planted in the circles in front of Morrill Hall were "doing nicely" and if the good weather held students could expect to see early blooms.

First Cock Robin And Now Goosey Gander

A goose has been found in Lake Manzanita with a .22 caliber bullet hole through its vitals, Dean of Men Robert S. Griffin announced yesterday.

Who shot the bird, or whether or not it was shot somewhere else and managed to fly to Manzanita, has not been determined.

Dr. Griffin said that if the game commission finds whodunit the fines might come to several hundred dollars for the violation of four different game laws.

WEEK OF THE WINDS

During the past week, many winds blew throughout the nation which, for the most part, rose from a faint wheeze to a small puff, and then faded into the atmosphere from whence they had come.

Two winds blew into Nevada last week. These bid fair to follow a pattern similar to their fellow winds elsewhere in the country. However it is probable that these winds will last a little longer and blow a little stormier, before they, too, return to the atmosphere from whence they came.

The gustiest breeze blew from the area of the English buildings where one of the more tempestuous winds huffed and puffed and blew into a squall.

This wind roared many things concerning university situations that are true in many instances, but it made no suggestions for a remedy.

This wind wheezed, "... the veteran wants more modern practical, and realistic courses."

The wind proposed no method of obtaining same.

The wind wailed, "Pick up the catalogue of nearly any university and scan the biographies of the faculty. The dates of their training will startle you."

The wind never breathed this, but Einstein and the atomic scientists weren't members of the class of '43 at that.

The wind blew and blew and rustled many skirts, before finally it howled, "... and he would like to start a housecleaning of most university administrations."

The wind must know that such a purifying campaign is not the sole property of the veteran.

At the same time the zephyr from the "Hill" was going full blast, a wind of lesser velocity was blowing Nevada-ward from the Oregon timberlands.

This blustering, grating wheeze groaned many things concerning Nevada athletic integrity. It wailed tales of gamblers, and members of Nevada teams being helped through school and promised jobs for an "inside" on athletic events.

This small gust never attributed its blowing to the fact that a short time before, a howling Wolf Pack had done unkind things to its former head breeze.

Weather forecast: Fair and "warmer," with decreasing wind velocity.

Campus Queries

An article by S. M. Vinocour, speech instructor, which appeared in the October 18 issue of "School and Society," has created a mild stir on the campus. In his article, Vinocour sets forth the supposed complaints of the veteran students regarding the teaching methods and subjects on various camps in the west.

Most reactions on the campus came from members of the faculty. Following are some of the comments made by various professors and instructors:

Dr. Paul Eldridge, associate professor of English, said, "This is a hard hitting, straight from the shoulder article. Part of it, of course, is the old cry as to whether a college should teach the humanities or skills, and personally I'm all on the side of the former before much specialization occurs. And I think 'Who's Who' (as a criterion of success) will bear me out. Most of the GI's in college are in a hurry, but there's no royal road to an education (though there is a skid row to ignorance) and you can't jet-bomb your way to intellectuality."

"On the other hand, there is much in what Mr. Vinocour and his GI poll say that should be remedied."

Dr. Ralph A. Irwin, professor of psychology, commented, "The veteran doesn't always know what's good for him. He may be getting what he needs without realizing it."

When questioned, Dr. Vincent P. Gianella, professor and chairman of the department of geology, said, "Age doesn't determine the worth of a professor. You will find good and bad teachers in all age levels."

Dr. Robert M. Gorrell, assistant professor and chairman of the department of English, stated, "This is not an important article because it lacks sufficient evidence for the rather sensational comments it makes."

In reply to the article, Professor Jay A. Carpenter, director of the Mackay School of Mines, gave this statement:

"Every instructor in our university should read with care the veteran's viewpoint as recounted by Vinocour's article in

ROTC Department Maintains Library In New Gymnasium

Although it is generally unknown to members of the faculty and student body, a reading room is maintained in the new gymnasium by the department of military science and tactics.

This room is open daily from 1 to 4 pm Monday through Friday and contains the military branch of the university's main library, consisting of about 200 volumes and nation-wide clipping service on matters concerning national security.

The first volume of the series, "The United States in World War II" has just been received and is one of 99 now being written by the army's historical division.

Other material of a historical nature as well as up-to-the-minute information is available for discussion groups interested in military science and tactics.

"School and Society" based upon his many years of teaching."

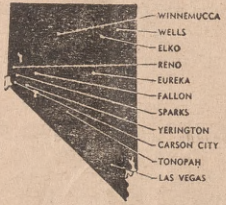

Apparently the only ray of hope lies in the department of speech.

"The department of speech in Nevada has always been outstanding, having trained such a great national orator as Senator Pat McCarran."

Most veterans contacted had not yet read the article, but it was evident that comments would be forthcoming from them in the very near future.

CAMPUS SOCIAL ETHICS SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION

Campus social standards and ethics will be discussed at a meeting of campus leaders called by Dean of Women Elaine Mobley and Dean of Men Robert S. Griffin for Wednesday evening at 7:15. The meeting will be held in the English seminar in the university library.

The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint the new officers of the various organizations with the campus code. Fraternity and sorority presidents, the inter-fraternity council, Pan-Hellenic and the student affairs committee are particularly requested to attend.

According to Miss Mobley, the code was revised last year and has worked out well and in all probability will not need revision.

The one thing lacking, Miss Mobley said, is the coordination of social chairmen concerning the social calendar. This, she explained, is due to their newness to the positions.

The calendar will go to press after the various club meetings are verified in the near future.

Blue Peppers Head Pipes Drill Team At Ute Homecoming

Gwen Byrd, head of the Blue Peppers marching unit, attended the Homecoming weekend at the Utah State Agricultural College last weekend. She observed the maneuvers of the Corps of Sponsors, girls' drill team, corresponding to the Blue Peppers.

The Corps of Sponsors is rated one of the top women's drill teams in the United States, Miss Byrd stated. Officers of the drill team met with Miss Byrd to discuss the possibility of nationalizing Blue Peppers and the Corps of Sponsors. Reorganization of Blue Pepper would change the group's name to that of the Utah Aggie's drill team, Miss Byrd explained.

Friday night, Miss Byrd was introduced to Utah Aggie students at their Homecoming dance. She rode on the queen's float in the Homecoming parade and attended a football game Saturday. She attended an ROTC banquet Saturday night.

HIKING ON THE HILL

By Muriel Smiley

Flash! Our first snow was really white this year—more so than ever before. Eventually, a feeling of utter misery will fill your soul when you look out over a white campus, but for the present that first snow was great.

Observing the first snowfall from within Lincoln Hall was Pete Mygatt... studios junior... a journalist at heart... affiliated with Sigma Rho Delta... ex-copy boy for Los Angeles Examiner... willing worker for the Press Club... teased about his bow legs... hometown, Rancho de Taos, New Mexico.

Female Offenders 'Court Martialed' By Sojer Initiates

Many university women were a little baffled last week when they were arrested by initiates of Scabbard and Blade, military honorary, and brought before a formal court martial committee.

The women, guilty of being on the campus after 7:30 pm, were asked questions like, "What was the score of the Nevada-St. Mary's game?" If the answer was incorrect, they had to recite a poem, sing or dance as punishment. Then they were given punch and cookies, symbolizing bread and water for prisoners, and released.

The defense for the women was headed by Sinclair Melner and Bob Durham was the prosecuting counsel.

Thomas Clemens, who left for Cincinnati Tuesday night to represent the Nevada company at a national Scabbard and Blade convention, was the president of the court martial board.

Wolves Blasted Out of Detroit Stadium, 38 to 6

After five consecutive wins, Nevada footballers were overpowered 38-6 by a genie-sized Detroit eleven on the victor's home grounds. The game was played Friday night under the lights and amidst a drizzle of rain.

Emerging with a decision over a potent St. Louis team, the home club entered the Detroit stadium heavily favored.

Matching a devastating ground attack with a lightning aerial assault, the Titans rocked the Packmen back on their heels with a first quarter score, and continued to unbalance the Nevadans throughout the fray.

Ernie Zeno scored the only Nevada touchdown early in the third period after the Wolf Pack had recovered a Titan fumble on Detroit's 10 yard line.

Nevada Baffles

Taking advantage of a Nevada fumble in the early minutes of the game, the opponents reached the payoff stripe in three plays with fullback Jim Massey lugging the leather 30 yards for the score.

A second period pass from quarterback Stan Heath was intercepted by Detroit's Archie Kelly, who raced 48 yards to tally standing up. The conversion was good and the score board read Titans 13, Wolf Pack 0 at the end of the first half.

Two long runs by Detroit backs netted the pre-game underdogs another marker in the third period to boost their lead to 20-6 over the invading Pack.

Scoring three times in the last period, the Titans increased their total to 38. Before the Pack was able to produce a serious threat to the opponents goal line, the game was over and the locals had suffered their worst defeat of the season.

Clipped from the report of a girls' basketball game: "Everything was going fine for the local girls until the last half of the fifth when all the bags got loaded."

Year's First Snow Warmly Received By Ski Enthusiasts

Skiing in the Reno area was well started during the past week with eight to ten inches of snow reported atop Mount Rose, and at the Sand Dunes ski region on the Tahoe side of the mountain.

The Dunes are covered with about five inches of pack and four inches of powder snow and many early birds from the university have already "hit the slopes."

A rope tow was put into operation November 2, and will be running each weekend until the snow becomes too deep, according to Warren Hart, tow owner.

Included among the some 65

skiers at the Dunes last weekend was Miss Dodie Post, former Nevada student, who is getting in some early practice before leaving for Europe as a member of the 1948 United States Olympic ski team.

CAGERS SLATE 11 HOME TILTS

Eleven games of 17 scheduled this year by University of Nevada basketball team will be home games.

Twenty-three men are on this year's squad, including five lettermen and three last year players who did not make their letter. The five veterans are Hal Fischer, Bill Moylan, Jim Mackay, Grant Davis, and Jimmy Duplatt. Former squad members are Rogers Brander, Bruce Larson and Bob Durham.

"It is a little early to predict just how we will come out," Coach Jake Lawlor said, "but we will have to really be out there playing. We have a rough schedule this year."

The team is now practicing six days a week. They are mainly getting the new men used to the system, and trying to get into condition for the first game with the Sacramento Senators two weeks from today.

Challenges Issued By Annie Oakleys

The women's varsity rifle team has sent challenges to women's rifle teams of 14 colleges and universities, Sergeant Earl Grady, director of the rifle range, said today.

One challenge has been received from the University of Hawaii, the match to be fired on March 13.

Tentative dates for matches sent out by the Nevada team are awaiting confirmation from the other schools.

The women's team has sent challenges to the University of Kansas, Colorado A & M College, University of Wisconsin, Massachusetts State College, University of Michigan, Pennsylvania State College, White

Sheeketski Denies Outside Influence At Faculty Meeting

"No outside influence of any nature at any time has influenced my decisions as football coach," stated Joe Sheeketski in a talk before the Faculty Club Tuesday night.

Alluding to an alleged remark by Jim Aiken, ex-coach at Nevada, that gamblers cast an influence over Nevada football, Sheeketski emphasized his freedom from any control.

Dr. Ralph Irwin, president of the Faculty Club, introduced Coach Sheeketski, who spoke on football at Nevada.

A question and answer period followed the talk, and then pictures of the St. Mary's football game were shown.

SIX SHARPSHOOTERS WIN IN RIFLE MEET

Six Rifle Club members won prizes at a re-entry match held on the rifle range Friday afternoon, November 7, and Tuesday morning, November 11.

Prize winners were Dick Wright, Gene Wunderlick, Don Harris, Bill Jager, Ken Rice and Connie Madsen.

State College, Ohio State University, University of Maine, Ohio University, Drexell Institute, University of New Hampshire, Cornell University and Texas State College.

PACK TRACKS

By Bill McFarland

A huffin' and a puffin' is our old friend (or is he) Jim Aiken, coach of the Oregon Webfeet.

Ever since the man with the big voice ex-communicated himself from the "Hill," nothing but saintly sounds have been uttered from the timberlands of Oregon.

The thing we can't understand is why all the "sour grapes" from the former Nevada coach, who is making with the halo now that he is coaching in the PCC.

We can understand Uncle Jim's chagrin. No doubt it must have been a sad experience last October 4, when the boys Aiken once directed lowered the boom on him. There was no malice in mind. It was expected that he would take that defeat in stride.

If my memory serves me right, and if it doesn't, newspaper files in this area will, Jim Aiken got a square deal at Nevada. No one on campus is trying to promote a big issue against the Oregon coach.

Everyone wished Jim well when he got boosted into the big time. Probability for Aiken's verbal blast at Nevada is that he has been suffering an emotional strain ever since that mirky day in Eugene.

That Detroit Affair Perhaps this is the time to look back on the game with Detroit last week. No one is down on the Wolves for losing that one. Detroit has one of the fines offensive units in the 48 states.

Those Titans just out-powered the Silver and Blue. No alibis are forthcoming from anyone. It was Detroit's night all the way.

Tomorrow, the Bobcats from Montana State move into Mackay Stadium, and this week I'll not put the stymie on the Pack by making a shot in the dark guess. A close ball game is in the making and Nevada should bound back to the victory side

Theta Chi Stage 1947 Pirate Dance

Short skirts and ripped shirts were the costumes of the evening as the members of the "good ship Theta Chi" heaved anchor, and the second annual pirate dance got under way last Friday night.

Cannon fire and the clang of a ship's bell announced each member and guest as they boarded ship by way of a two section ladder. Once on board all female pirates were inspected for regulation three inch above the knee skirts. All violating this regulations found themselves spending a short stay in the ship's brig.

A series of passageways, blocked partially at regular intervals by high bulkheads, let the pirates to the "Jolly Roger" room where under a maze of fish nets, star fish and seamen gear they danced to music provided by Larry Chapman and his orchestra.

Refreshments were served in the ship's hold by Gordon Boyer. In an atmosphere of sawdust, candlelight, rum barrels and cushions the pirates sang their hearty song and cracked their salty jokes.

A miniature loving cup was awarded to Alice Arentz for having the best pirate costume.

The judges were Professor and Mrs. William Pullman who also acted as chaperones, Mickey Munley, Barnes Berry and Bill Gillis who were guests from Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Nu and Phi Sigma Kappa, respectively.

of the ledger.

This is the last home outing for our team, and the boys have expressed a work of thanks for the fine support everyone has given them.

They'll be particularly happy to see that same support tomorrow.

General Electric Offers Employment To January Grads

A few select mid-term graduates from the electrical, mechanical, metallurgical engineering and physics departments may find themselves employed by the General Electric Corporation, says Prof. Irwin J. Sandorf, head of the electrical engineering department.

Mr. R. O. Brosemer, G. E. engineer out of the San Francisco office, and Mr. J. C. Porter, G. E. representative for Nevada, interviewed a number of students in the offices of the dean of the college of engineering, Stanley G. Palmer, several days last week.

The G. E. representatives usually visit the school in the spring and interview June graduates, but the demand is so great for these students that they have come to claim a few of the January graduates, Professor Sandorf said today.

It is always a good idea to be careful. Last year many lives were caused by accidents.

This is broadcasting as you see it.

What you do not see are the thousands of miles of telephone wire and cable that link broadcasting stations from coast to coast . . . that make national networks possible.

The administration of these vast broadcasting links requires the varied skills of college-trained men.

University Boosts Friendship Train

The Y room in Stewart Hall bulged with food donations for the hungry people of Europe last Friday afternoon.

Gifts for the Friendship Train arrived in generous amounts from all campus social organizations, dormitories, the dining hall, faculty members and the student body.

Cases of canned milk, bags of flour, boxes of spaghetti and other needed foods piled high in the Y room as the deadline of Friday afternoon approached. Within four days after the appeal was made, donors had delivered their gifts in ample quantities.

Under the direction of the YWCA director, Mrs. Barbara Pinjuv, and Miss Bonny Molignoni, chairman of the food collection committee, the food was assembled and delivered to the main collection point at Sewell's store on Fifth and Sierra streets.

Mrs. Pinjuv and Miss Molignoni joined to issue thanks for the cooperation and quick response given by all organizations and individuals.

Steam Automobiles Demonstrated at Engineers Meeting

Steam automobiles were demonstrated with a Doble Steamer at a meeting of the student chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers last Wednesday.

Roland J. Giroux, authority and builder of steam automobiles, brought his own steamer to illustrate his talk to the ASME's.

The meeting was held in the basement of the new engineering building under the direction of Charles Coe, chairman. Following the talk and a short business meeting, the group served coffee and doughnuts.

Between 10 and 20 tryees are expected to show up for the painting. The task of giving the yellow curbs a new coating of yellow will probably be done by the state, Rice added.

PI PHI ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT TO SAE

The engagement of Beverly Vawter, Pi Phi, to Stanley Smith, SAE, was announced at a formal tea Friday afternoon at the bride-elect's home in Reno.

No definite date has been set for the wedding, but it will probably take place during the Christmas holiday season.

News From Abroad

By Della Sorenson

Looking around on the campus, bless its every acre, and considering the feminine form, bless its every cubic yard, there seems to be a decline in that institution known as "the willowy silhouette." If a woman is slim and svelte, it is well hidden beneath yards and pounds of wool, silk, nylon, linen and leather. Nowadays the term "clothes horse" is more fact than fancy. A woman has to be a horse to get around under the extra load.

However, as it was last week, we are not alone in our dilemma. The following are beefs from various other institutions in the country:

The Utah Chronicle: "For late afternoon the smart coed will choose a black rustling moire, fashioned with a dipping skirt, bustle back and satin trim; evening time: cocoa brown satin, high neck caught with an antique brooch and long clinging sleeves. Date dresses will lose any faddy touch and will emphasize enduring elegance."

Grandmother had one just like it.

BYU's Y News: "Can you take a needle, thread and a piece of material and turn them into something wonderfully wearable?"

Burlap unmentionables, mayhap?

The Idaho Argonaut: Headline, "Shrouded Shin Story Sad; Guys Gloomy, Gals Glad."

"Sneaking under the door of the infirmary, a reporter from the Arg was able to induce the agonized victims to enunciate the jabberings, when faced with that all important question of the week: "What do you think of (whisper it) long skirts?"

"First to lament his sad fate was Lou Dunson of Chrisman Hall who said, "If they only wore black cotton stockings they would look like members of the Auxiliary of the Mystic Knights of the Sea."

Wonder what long red cotton stockings would suggest? Again the Y News: "Just as pretty as it was 100 years ago is the Gibson Girl hairdo. It's simple to fix and cute as can be. Just pull your hair back from the sides and tie it with a huge ribbon-of-grossgrain, taffeta, velvet or satin. It's perfect to complete the ballerina look."

What if one's ears stick out?

Fellas, this item is just for you. From the New Mexico Lobo: Do right and fear no man. Don't write and fear no woman.

Alice: What are you doing with that letter on your sweater? Don't you know you're not supposed to wear that unless you've made the team?"
Mary: Well?

State Road Builder To Lecture Before Campus Engineers

State highway engineer William T. Holcomb will speak at a meeting of the Associated Engineers next Tuesday at 7:30 pm in room 101 of the Electrical Engineering building.

Holcomb is the second speaker to appear before the group, Weld Arnold, lecturer in civil engineering, was the first speaker of the year.

The Associated Engineers had hoped to get Senator George W. Malone as one of the early speakers, but due to state business, he will not be able to appear until a later date.

Holcomb's talk will cover highway engineering and following his speech and a short business meeting, the engineers will serve coffee and cookies.
