

Carnival Weekend Plans Announced

Ninth Annual Ski Carnival Bids Out To Ten Schools

By Della Sorenson

Invitations to participate in the ninth annual University of Nevada Ski Carnival have been extended to 10 western colleges and universities, Melvin Rovetti, chairman of the carnival, announced this week. The carnival dates have been set for February 20, 21 and 22 at Mount Rose and White Hills.

The social schedule for the carnival weekend was announced by Elaine Mobley, dean of women, following a meeting of the calendar committee Tuesday afternoon.

Schools invited to participate in the carnival include the University of California, University of Utah, University of Washington, University of Oregon, Fresno Junior College, Placer Junior College, Sacramento Junior College, Stanford University, University of California at Davis and Oregon State College.

Teams Limited

Competing teams are limited to six members and a manager. Replies to all invitations have not been received as yet, Joe T. McDonnell, graduate manager, said Tuesday, but it is expected that most of those who were invited will attend.

A meeting of all competing skiers at White Hills at noon Friday, February 20, will open the ski carnival, Barbara Smith, co-chairman of publicity, announced early this week. The cross country race will begin at 2 pm Friday at White Hills.

On Saturday, February 21, the downhill race will be held at 10 am at Mount Rose, followed by the running of the first slalom at 2 pm.

The running of the second slalom will begin at 10 am February 22, followed by the jumping competition, the last event at 2 pm at White Hills.

Weekend Events

The social events for the weekend will begin with open house at the sororities on the night of February 20. The house displaying the most hospitality, as judged by visiting ski teams, will receive a trophy, Miss Smith said. All fraternities and sororities will again decorate the exteriors of their houses. Decoration expenses are limited to $30 and $50 respectively. Judging of decorations will take place February 20 before sundown by a committee of townsmen.

Plans for a banquet at the Trocadero Saturday night, February 21, are being arranged. The ski carnival queen, to be selected by the carnival committee and Nevada's ski team from visiting coeds, will be introduced during the banquet.

The snow ball, to be held February 21 in the gymnasium, will be limited in decorations due to Nevada's basketball game with Pepperdine on the same night. Attempts to obtain Ray Hackett and his orchestra, well known on the Pacific coast, are being made.

NEW SCHEDULES OUT

Students who wish to plan their second semester programs in advance can obtain the spring semester schedules at the registrar's office.

Flicker Land Mum On Producing Date For Campus Picture

There is no further news from Hollywood on the movie, "An Apartment for Peggy," which is tentatively scheduled to go into production early in the second semester. Miss Alice Terry, secretary to the president, said that no word has been received from 20th Century Fox, Inc., as to the date when the actual filming will begin.

If and when the picture goes into production, about 150 students will be used as extras, and the university trailer camp and Victory Heights will be used as background for some of the scenes.

Miss Terry said that no word has been received regarding the members of the cast. Miss Jeanne Crain has been slated for the lead, but her supporting players are as yet unknown.

More Geography Courses Offered

Two new geography courses are to be offered during the next semester, according to John H. Thompson, assistant professor of geography and geology at the Mackay School of Mines.

The courses, which require no prerequisite, are climatology and the geography of Asia. Climatology, geography 9, deals with the climate of the world, the factors determining the climate and the climate's effect upon man.

This course, according to Professor Thompson, is primarily for freshmen and carries natural science credit.

Geography of Asia, geography 55, is a general survey of the Asiatic continent, including the resources, land and people. As it emphasizes Russia and China it is extremely pertinent to the present international situation, Professor Thompson said.

Music Department Planning Concerts For Spring Term

Spring semester students will be treated to a series of concerts, it was announced today by Prof. Robert Z. Tate of the music department.

When the ice has melted away from Manzanita Lake, the concerts will be given out of doors near its banks. The first indoor concert will be given right after the spring session begins.

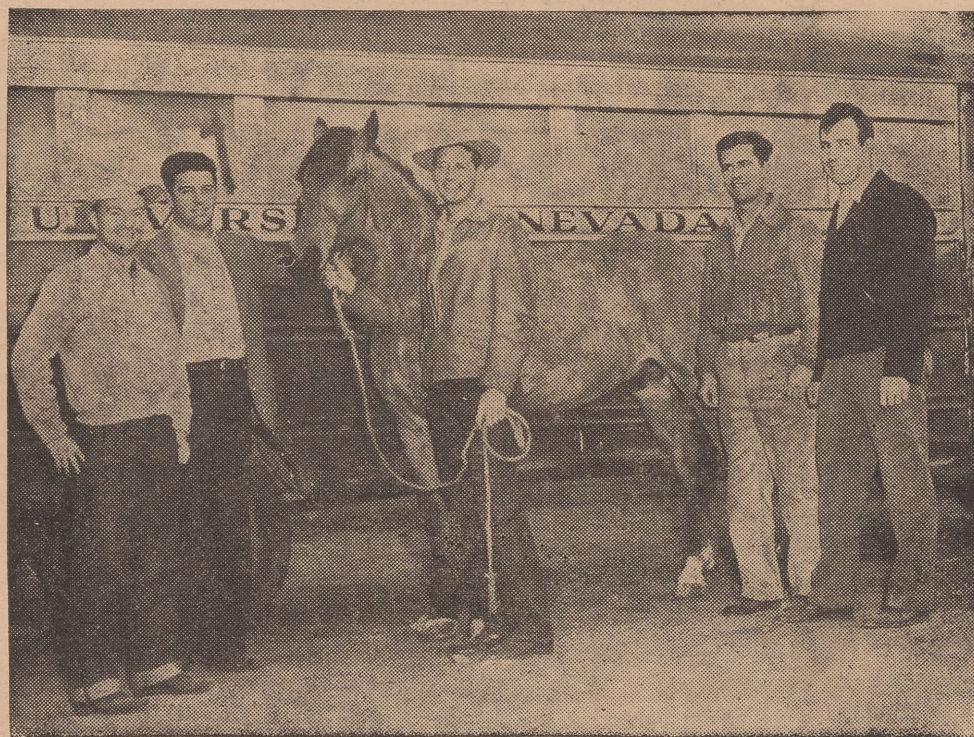

"Rehearsals for the spring concert series is already under way, and the university orchestra is also practicing for instrumental spring concerts," Professor Tate said. The instrumental music will be composed of string and wood-wind pieces. A program will be announced later.

DINNER MEETING SET FOR CAP AND SCROLL

Cap and Scroll will hold a combined dinner meeting tonight at the Christmas Tree Lodge at 6 pm, Dorothy Thomas, president, announced.

The club is organized to develop "the highest ideals" on Nevada's campus. Women students who are leaders in student life and activity make up the membership.

NEVADANS COMPETE AT DENVER

Hello on the Hill Week Begins New Nevada Tradition

A new tradition of friendliness will be established on the campus during the second week of the coming semester in the form of a "Hello on the Hill" week. Pat Ussery and Jerry Wyness, presidents of the two co-sponsoring organizations, the Sagens and Sagers, released plans of the week-long program to the Sagebrush today.

"The new tradition will be instituted on the campus to bolster old traditions and the spirit of friendliness among the students of the university," said Miss Ussery and Wyness in a joint statement. The slogan for the affair will be "On the Hill It's Hello."

Week of Activities

A week-long schedule of activities has been planned for the event by the two campus service organizations. Such events as a dance, rally, assembly, ice skating party and the selection of a "Queen Hello" and a "King Hi" have been tentatively planned. Many lesser activities to take place on the campus have also been listed.

Several downtown establishments have already donated gifts which will go to the lucky man and woman selected for the "Queen and King of Friendliness."

Music, entertainers, posters, bonfire, a marshmallow roast, and an ice revue have also been put on the list as almost certainties.

According to the heads of the two co-sponsoring organizations, the affair will be "the best that the university has ever had."

Stock Judging Men Leave for Denver To Take in Show

A group of five men from the University of Nevada college of agriculture left Reno Tuesday to participate in the 42nd annual National Western Stock Show that is to be held at Denver January 17.

Members of the team representing Nevada are Mike Galli, Lyle McCartney, George Potts, Douglas Trail and Warren Welsh. Due to the short time remaining until the end of the semester, no member of the faculty will accompany the team.

Twelve universities and colleges will be represented at the meet. The judging will include cattle, hogs, sheep and quarter-horses.

The team's expenses will be paid by the Aggie Club from funds collected at the annual Aggie horse shows.

Nevada Aggies Bid For Right to Hold HFA Meet in Reno

The University of Nevada agricultural department has put in a bid to Washington, D. C., to hold a meet of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America at Reno in January, announced V. E. Scott, director of residence teaching, this week.

Arizona and California have also asked that the meet take place in their states, added Scott, and it is now up to Washington to decide which state will sponsor the show.

Last year University of Nevada students had the opportunity to use their judging skill at the meet, said Scott, when they met at the university dairy farm with the official judges and classified the dairy herd.

Turkish Lecture Offered Public Tomorrow at 3 pm

"Life in Modern Turkey" will be the topic of a program offered to faculty, students, and the public tomorrow afternoon, announced Tahsin Karacabey, student from Turkey, who is enrolled in his first semester at the University of Nevada.

The program will begin at 3 pm Saturday in the auditorium of the education building. Included in the program will be a lecture by Karacabey, Turkish music, and a recent film of that country.

Covered in his lecture on modern Turkey will be history, geography, agriculture, mineral wealth, and the Turkish people. Also discussed will be conditions in Turkey at the close of World War I, including the constitution, social reform, education, land reform, transportation, the People's Houses (club houses), language reform, administrative machinery, reconstruction, politics, industrialization, and financial problems. Special attention in the lecture will be given Kemal Ataturk, Turkey's first president.

Second Part

The second part of the program is to be about Turkish music. Classical, popular and folk music will be played from records.

Shown in motion picture, "An American Plane in Turkey," will be Dolmabahce palace, a formal ball, a diplomatic reception, Turkish battle-ship scenes, and some informal Turkish scenes.

Pictured also will be a wrestling match, for which participants are first rubbed with oil.

'New Look' Looking For Win Over MSC

You've Gotta Pay

Students will be required to pay regular admission to see the Olympic Club vs. Wolf Pack basketball game on Thursday, January 22, announced graduate manager Joe T. McDonnell. The game will be sponsored by the local Lions Club and all proceeds will be donated to the annual March of Dimes campaigning for funds.

DR. JENSEN

Newly appointed United Nations Correspondence head here at Nevada, Dr. Paul H. Jensen serves on the faculty as an education department instructor.

Dr. Paul Jensen Appointed UNCC Head at Nevada

Dr. Paul H. Jensen, education department instructor, has been appointed head of the United Nations Correspondence Center at the university. Dr. Jensen accepted the appointment from Olav Paus-Grunt, chief of educational liaison in the United Nations.

Paus-Grunt pointed out, in commending the cooperation of the University of Nevada, that the new correspondence centers will help implement a recent resolution of the general assembly. The resolution, he said, calls for instruction about the U. N. in the schools of all member states.

The university center will operate in conjunction with the U. N. department of public information, Dr. Jensen said. It will be equipped with sets of United Nations material for answering questions and some loanable material.

A kit is available for interested clubs, schools and other organizations desiring to have a program on the U. N.

The service is primarily for the teachers of the state, Dr. Jensen stated.

ATTENTION, ALL JANUARY GRADS

Those who expect to graduate on January 30 should call at the registrar's office as soon as possible to make a check of their records, Mrs. Jeanette C. Rhodes announced today.

The registrar also said that these students should determine how their names will appear on their diplomas.

Tonight's Tussle First for Nevada In Bobcat Lair

Nevada's new look basketball squad moves into Bozeman, Montana, for a pair of games against the Montana State College Bobcats tonight and Saturday. This evening's opener of a weekend double-header marks the first time a Nevada team has appeared in Bobcat territory and Jake Lawlor's rejuvenated Wolf Pack is anxious to make their first showing an auspicious one.

Montana State will be out to better the performance of their arch rivals, Montana University, which dropped the game in two brilliantly played games earlier in the week.

Leading Coach Max Worthington's crew are Bob Hatfield and Boyd DeTonancour at forwards. DeTonancour is the Bobcats most potential scorer with an 11 points per game average. Joe Mathias will open at center, with Joe Kelly and Bill Peden handling back court duties from their guard positions.

Lawlor's Comeback Kids, still seeking their first win since revamping took place when three regulars quite the team, will counter with Grant Davis and Louie Joseph at forward, Dan Orlich, center, Ron Dupratt and Lou Mendive at guards.

Drop Heartbreakers

Last Tuesday and Wednesday, Nevada all but swept Montana U off its feet, yet came out on the short end of two heart breaking defeats, 69-67 and 67-64, the latter an overtime affair.

Tuesday night's game saw each team battling basket with the lead changing hands 12 times. Nevada led Montana 37-31 at half time, but Lou Rocheleau whipped in four straight buckets after the intermission, giving the Grizzlies a lead that the Wolf Pack could not overcome.

The following night, Nevada led all the way until three seconds before the final buzzer. On the long end of a 61-60 score, the Wolves tried to freeze the ball. Joe Libke was detected fouling at close quarters and Graham tanked a free toss to tie up the ball game, sending it into an overtime period.

Dick Carstensen dropped in two quick two pointers. Joseph countered with three, but Tim Moses quick layup iced it for Montana.

Nevada's Joseph, Davis and Orlich had a scoring rampage at Missoula. Diminutive Louie racked up 45 points for the two nights. Davis added 32 to his total and Orlich found himself to come up with 31 counters.

The Wolves return to Reno next week for a March of Dimes game with the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

DOUBLE ES TO HEAR WESTINGHOUSE MAN

Remi Bollaert, a Westinghouse engineer, will be the guest speaker of the Electrical Engineers at their first evening meeting of the year during the month of February.

Bollaert will speak on the subject of High Frequency Induction and Dielectric Heating.

A FIGHTING CHANCE

A few weeks ago, Nevada basketball hopes were given a terrific setback. It isn't every day that three regulars walk out on a team, especially in the middle of the season. The loss of Moylan, Mackay and Fischer was a blow from which a team with less courage, would never have recovered. But Jake's boys have the stuff from which great teams are made. They didn't call it quits when so many of the local fans were hanging crepe. The fellows just settled down to make the most of a bad situation. What they lack in experience (we doubt if there is a more inexperienced college basketball team anywhere) they have made up in spirit—something that Nevada basketball teams in the past two years have lacked. An indication of public acceptance of this spirited play was shown last Saturday night when the basketballers left the court at half time. The round of applause that followed them off the gym floor was something that these eyes have never before seen locally. That ovation was nothing synthetic, it was the real thing. But knowing the fan likes a winning ball club, we wonder how long he will continue to applaud—when his team is losing. It will take some time before the win column again becomes a permanent part of Nevada basketball. It isn't an overnight accomplishment. All we can hope for is the Wolf Pack be given a fighting chance. Jake's boys deserve it.

University Finds Comstock Miners Had Good Library

Early Virginia City miners were a group of intellectuals. This and more is being discovered as library officials catalogue a collection of books which were originally of the Virginia City Miner's Union library.

The Miner's Union was a powerful and influential organization in late 1880's and early 1890's in Virginia City. They had a very elaborate hall and from all appearances, a good library which had more than 2500 books in it.

Among the collection are books on travel, history, biography, political science, Shakespeare and Thackeray. Almost all the countries of Europe are covered in volume after volume of history. Books on biography predominate. They cover the lives of great leaders of Poland, Spain, Ireland, Hungary, England, Italy, United States and many others. Most of the books were printed in the 60's and 70's.

Strangely enough, very few books of mining or technical subjects were found.

How the Nevada library acquired these books is still unknown. There is no record to be found in any of the offices on the campus. They were given to the library in 1937, according to a small card left attached to the case in which the old volumes were stored.

BARBS COLLECT $33, 15 BOOKS FOR VETS

Thirty-three dollars in cash and 15 books were donated in a before-Christmas drive sponsored by the Organized Independents to collect gifts for the patients at the Veterans hospital, Tom Macaulay, president of the Independents, said today.

New Ed Courses Offered by Dept.

The department of education is offering three new courses, according to Dean of Education Fred W. Traner.

These courses include problems in audio-visual instruction, principals of guidance in elementary schools, guidance and counseling and a continuation of education 94.

Education 94-B, the successor to education 94, concerns the study of school systems in other countries.

Problems in audio-visual education, education 45-B, will give special attention to radio in the classroom and field trips, and projects are to be encouraged. Consideration of the problems concerned and the sources of material will also be studied.

Principals of guidance in elementary school, education 49-B, is a study of the basic growth concepts and their use in a guidance program. The use of tests, questionnaires and interviews in studying the student will be taken up in the course.

Guidance and counseling, education 61-B, is a study of how to counsel students in a secondary school.

All the courses are to be taught by Dr. Paul Jensen, instructor in education.

HISTORY FRAT SEES SPANISH PIC SLIDES

Picture slides of Spain were shown last week at the home of Prof. B. F. Chappelle for the campus chapter of Phi Alpha Theta.

Kathryn Boyle, secretary for the group, announced today that the regular business meeting was canceled in order that the pictures might be shown. The pictures were taken while Professor Chappelle was a student in Spain before the war.

WAA Cools Off On Surplus Deal

Following a previous assurance by the War Assets Administration that the university would be given the surplus pilot testing plant equipment from Gabbs, Nevada, another letter was received from the WAA this week stating that the transaction would be impossible at this time, stated Professor Jay A. Carpenter, director of the Mackay School of Mines.

The equipment from the magnesium plant at Gabbs was used for testing metals during the last war and is now declared surplus property by the federal government, said Carpenter. "The acquisition of this equipment is greatly desired by the university for use in the mining school," he added, "and we shall continue our efforts to obtain it."

The governor's advisory mining board passed a resolution this week requesting that if the university cannot obtain the surplus property, effort should be made through Nevada's congressional representatives for the U. S. Bureau of Mines station on the university campus to secure the equipment and have the federal government finance the building to house it, continued Carpenter.

Such installations by the bureau of mines would be most acceptable to the university as a place of observation and training under the instruction of a government metallurgist, he added.

News From Abroad

By Della Sorenson

Final week approaches. But we'll think about that tomorrow. Today, let's consider lighter things, romance perhaps. Yes, in consideration of the approaching spring (we should live so long) the little man with the arrows will be our subject.

The Idaho Argonaut: "All veterans in training under the VA program who were married during Christmas vacation should file a declaration as to marital status at once. The increased subsistence for a dependent begins with the date the notice is given the VA and not the date of the marriage, the directive stated."

What some guys will do to make a dollar.

The Wildcat: "The traditional box of chocolates was passed. Black heart-shaped cards with white silhouettes of the engaged couple were placed between napkins."

There ought to be something to say about that.

Saint Mary's Collegian: "Starting the new year off in the leap year vein the sophomore class of Holy Names College is holding a spinster dance, at which the girls ask the boys to dance."

The Idaho Argonaut again: "Dr. Boyd Hansen, Sigma Chi, on his way to Lewiston Christmas eve, helped a frantic motorist whose car had

James (Toad) Welin has taken his place at the head of the table as newly elected president of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. Welin was elected to succeed Ed Reed at the election of officers held by members of the fraternity during their regular meeting Monday evening.

Other officers selected to assist him in his job for the spring semester were Lyman Schwartz, vice-president; John McBride, exchequer; Calvin Fricke, scribe; Jack Sullivan, sentinel; David Kinneberg, usher; Brunson Harris, Palm reporter, and George Gibson, who remained as keeper of the annals.

The new officers assumed frat leadership at the Monday night meeting.

That must have been hard to explain.

ROTC Men Exempt From UMT Under Recent Truman Bill

Men who take ROTC in any college or university and who continue with their course for at least two years will be exempt from further training under the new bill for universal military training which has recently been introduced in congress.

The new bill, H. B. 4278, provides for one year of compulsory military training for all United States citizens who have not served or who are not serving in any of the armed services. Six months basic training will be given and then the trainee will be allowed to choose his next training phase from several fields. Among these is the option to take ROTC at some college or university. The bill, known as the "national security training act," has been approved by the house armed forces committee and was recommended by President Truman in his annual message to congress.

New Snack Bar Vigilante System Snares Violators

You too will be nabbed if you throw your candy wrappers on the floor of the Stewart Hall recreation center.

Numerous violators have been apprehended in the week that the new vigilante system has been employed, Barbara Pinjuv, YWCA head, announced yesterday.

The vigilantes were organized last week to curb the messy habits of student center patrons.

So far, they have been eminently successful, Mrs. Pinjuv stated, and the student center is cleaner than it has been for some time.

The idea of the system is to aid in the enforcement of the health rules by reporting students who persist in throwing trash on the floor. Students who continue to ignore the rules in spite of warning will have their names published on the bulletin board and in the Sagebrush.

So far violations have been of a minor nature and these measures have been unnecessary.

Should publicity prove ineffectual, violators will be brought before the student affairs committee. All violators caught thus far have been cooperative, Mrs. Pinjuv said.

Sand buckets and wastebaskets have been provided for the center, she added, and there is no reason why students should not help keep it clean.

Fashion Careers Open to Seniors

A nationwide contest offering three fellowships at a New York fashion school is open for senior girls interested in a fashion career, announced Elaine Mobley, dean of women.

The fellowships, valued at $900, will finance the full tuition at the Tobe Coburn Fashion School for one year. In addition, the winners will have their choice of a John Fredericks, or Sally Victor hat.

The school trains women for executive positions in fashion coordination, buying, advertising, styling and personnel work.

Registration blanks are now available at Miss Mobley's office and must be filed before February 1 for eligibility.

SPONSOR APPOINTED

A new sponsor has been appointed for Chi Delta Phi, national literary society for women, announced Billy Heath, president. Mrs. William Holmes has replaced the former sponsor, Miss Florence Billinghurst.

AWS ENDS MEETINGS

Associated Women Students will not meet again this semester. A meeting will be held after final examinations in order to plan AWS activities for next semester, announced Betty Tracy, president.

"Snow time is ski time." It eases that smudge on existence known as stuffy Sundays. It means festive weekends with good companions and a vital outdoor way of living. However, it seems the knowledge-seekers are stuck with time on their hands and no snow to waste it with for that white stuff refuses to materialize.

Winter, ahhhh winter. In the meantime remember, when hikin' on the hill, it's Hello! Get the idea now, and feel at home when the week is here.

Four Coeds Elected To YWCA Advisory Board Membership

Applicants for position of YWCA secretary were discussed at a YW advisory board meeting held this afternoon, and seven new advisory board members were introduced.

Three townspeople and four students were added to the advisory board. Mesdames Joe Moose, H. H. Creek and Miss Alice Jane Chism are the Reno residents. Coeds selected for board membership include Marjorie Menu, Barbara Olsen, Joylin Johnson and Betty Burr.

Mrs. Richard Miller, president of the advisory board, presided at the meeting.

FIRST AID COURSE MAY BE OFFERED

A first aid and health course will be offered by the women's physical education department next semester if enough students are interested, Miss Elsa Sameth, professor of physical education for women, announced today.

The course, embracing first aid and health in the home, school and community, will only be offered if a minimum of six students sign for it. Students who are interested in the course should contact Miss Sameth within the next two weeks.

Sanford, Harris At Fashion Meet

Gertrude Sanford and Joyce Harris will leave for Salt Lake City Monday, January 26, to compete with representatives of 11 western states in a national sewing contest sponsored by the women's auxiliary of the National Wool Growers Association.

The two campus women were judged top winners of the state contest held in the home economics department Monday, January 12, and are being awarded transportation to the national contest and fashion show.

Prize winning garments to be entered in the national contest are a blue gabardine suit modeled by Miss Sanford and a bright green wool dress by Miss Harris. The garments were judged on workmanship, fit, suitability of fabric and pattern to the use for which the garment is intended, and for style and versatility, ingenuity and economy in choosing trimmings and accessories.

WOMEN DORMITORIES GET HOLIDAY CLEANING

Artemisia and Manzanita halls were treated to a thorough cleaning during the holidays, Miss Elaine Mobley, dean of women, said today.

Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds, with the aid of the custodian staff, completed the job, Dean Mobley said.

Cleaning included scrubbing and waxing floors and linoleums in both halls.

STUDENT ART WORK DISPLAYED IN MAY

Art exhibits of next semester will include a display of works by the faculty of the Pacific College of Arts and Crafts, stated John Sheppard, assistant professor of art. This particular exhibit will come some time next March and is expected to attract many interested people in Nevada, he added.

The number of exhibits is being comparatively increased, and we hope to display students art works in May, said Sheppard.

New Look Fails Nevada Hoopsters In 63-43, 49-46 Weekend Thumpings

The strong San Jose Spartans handed Nevada's inexperienced, but game, Wolf Pack hoopsters two setbacks over the previous weekend by scores of 63-43 and 49-46.

Lawlor's "New Look" team was primed for an upset in Friday night's contest, but the over-eager shooters had no luck at the hoop and the experience and height of the Spartans proved too much for the Pack rookies, who fought right down to the final whistle.

Louis Joseph kept the Wolves in the running during the early minutes of the game, but the sharp-shooting of Bob Wuesthoff and Stu Inman put San Jose into an 11-9 lead which was increased to 31-17 by half time. Davis and Joseph were the Pack's "big guns" with 15 and 14 points respectively, while Wuesthoff and Hughes tallied 13 each for the Spartans.

Wolves Hit Hoop

In Saturday night's contest, the Wolves did what they could not do the previous evening, namely hit the bucket, and led the Spartans most of the way.

Joseph began hitting early in the game and the Pack pulled into a 24-15 lead before San Jose spurred to make it 26-22 at intermission period. San Jose tied the score 36-36 with 11 minutes to play, Davis keeping the Pack in the contest until that time. Jack Pringle then added four field goals to the Pack's total.

Davis hit a set shot to give the Wolves a 46-45 lead with four minutes remaining, but

CORP OF SPONSORS TO USHER AT GAME

Members of the Corp of Sponsors will usher at the March of Dime benefit basketball game on January 22, announced Gwen Byrd, leader.

Lieutenant Colonel Bruce Cator, assistant professor of military science, spoke on leadership at the group's Tuesday meeting.

Chuck Hughes put in a lay-up for the Spartans making it 47-46. Nevada tried desperately to gain possession of the ball as the Spartans stalled for time. Hagen added the final layup with just seconds to go.

Pair Leads Again

For the second straight night it was Davis and Joseph who led the Pack scoring, Louie hitting for 15, while "Skip" tallied 13.

Hughes of San Jose took scoring honors for the evening with 19 markers, followed closely by teammate Inman with 16.

Among the Wolves who played a lot of basketball and showed much promise, were Louis Mendive, new starting guard, and John Subda, speedy forward. Jack Pringle and Ron DuPratt also played fine ball against the taller Spartans.

Mike Galli Named Lambda Chi Top Man at Election

Michael Galli, junior agriculture student from Elko, was elected president of the Lambda Chi Alpha Monday evening. Galli replaces Jordan Eliades, senior football star, who has served the past year.

Robert Bondurant was elected vice-president, while the other offices were filled as follows: Tom Collins, secretary; Mario Isola, treasurer; John Sawyer, social chairman; Howard Benson, chancellor; Eric Richards, rushing chairman, and Robert Horton, correspondence. Marvin Piccolo was again named as house manager.

Dale Riley, outgoing social chairman, announced that the actives of the house would play the pledges in basketball this Sunday after which a beer-bust will close the day.

Yearling Basketball Squad Breaks Even In Weekend Games

In preliminary contests to the San Jose series, the Nevada frosh faced two "AA" town teams over the weekend and broke even in the games.

The Cubs defeated the Harrah's Club quintet, 48-26, Friday night. The fast breaking offense and speedier play of the university men proved too much for the downtown club. Benna, Hardy and Collett paced the frosh with their accurate shooting and rebounding. Roger Brander, former varsity player, was high for the gamblers with eight points.

Playing against the Nevada Turf Club aggregation Saturday night, the Cubs were pressed all the way to wind up in a 35-35 deadlock at the end of regular play. In the overtime period the frosh scored once, but the "horsemen" managed to score a field goal and add a charity toss to clinch the contest, 38-37.

The tall trio, Benna, Collett and Hardy, led the Cubs again with eight points apiece while Ken Sinofsky, football luminary, scored 12 points for the town crew.

Vets Must Report Plans of Transfer

Veterans planning to transfer to other schools for the spring semester should make the necessary preparations through the Veterans Administration now, stated Keith Lee, veterans training officer.

An advance notice received by the V. A. would prepare the students' records to be sent ahead to the transfer's next regional office, Lee continued.

To enroll properly at a new school for the second semester, Lee continued, the vets must obtain a certificate of satisfactory progress from this university, secure a supplemental certificate of eligibility, request a transfer of records, and notify the V. A. of their new mailing address to facilitate the delivery of subsistence checks.

MEN'S UPPERCLASS GROUP REORGANIZES

Reorganization of the men's upperclass committee will take place at the next regular meeting, January 16, "Tommy" Thompson, chairman of the committee, announced today.

New members to the sophomore vigilantes and the upperclass committee will be appointed on the above date. Appointment of the nominees will take place on January 23, 11.50 am, at the ASUN building, Thompson added.

Football Schedule Tentatively Set At Coaches Meet

After "renewing old acquaintances and making new ones" at the annual American Football Coaches' conference in New York City, head football mentor Joe Sheeketski returned to the university campus Tuesday with a tentative idea of next season's grid schedule.

The coach said that some 600 coaches from colleges and universities throughout the country met in the hotel New Yorker to discuss problems confronting collegiate football. "Other than discussing pigskin problems, we were also to speculate on tentative game schedules for the 1948-49 season while at the conference," Sheeketski asserted.

An informal meeting of the National College Athletic Association was held in conjunction with the conference.

Enforcement of the policy against subsidization of athletes was the prime topic of the NCAA conference, the coach explained. He added that Nevada is now abiding, and has in the past, abided by the rules put forth by the NCAA authorities.

Holy Cross, Wichita, Kansas, Iowa, USF, Loyola, Oklahoma City College, Portland and Tulsa are names of football elevens that tentatively appear on the '48-'49 football schedule, the coach concluded.

So you're Scotch. Do you know there's a little Scotch in me, too? Yes, I can smell it.

NEVADA RIFLERS SHOOT IT OUT WITH 4 SCHOOLS

University rifle teams fired their first postal matches of the year during the past week, stated Sergeant Earl Grady, director of the campus rifle range.

No winner has yet been named, since scores from the matches have not yet been compiled, said Sergeant Grady.

The men's varsity riflemen competed against Georgia Tech, Northwestern, Penn State College and the University of Hawaii. Next week they will fire against the University of Maine.

The women's varsity team fired against Colorado A & M. They will meet the women's teams from the University of Idaho, and Beaver College in Pennsylvania next week. All match results will be sent by mail to the competing schools.

Nevada's ROTC rifle team fired against the University of North Dakota, Hawaii, Northwestern and Penn State. Next week they will match the University of Wyoming.

Yell Leaders Tired Of Dumb Shows

"The yell leaders are very hesitant about getting out and leading cheers at the basketball games because of the poor cooperation received from the students," said John Etcheto, assistant yell leader, today.

"Due to the fast type of play in basketball there is not as much time to organize and lead cheers as there is in other sports. The yell leaders have tried to overcome this handicap at many of the games but have found it unsuccessful because of the lack of space to lead from and most of all the lack of cooperation from the audience," Etcheto went on to say.

Half time activities are considered almost useless because of the big percentage of spectators who leave the gym and go out for a breath of fresh air.

Etcheto expressed a desire to have a poll taken to get the student body's reaction on the subject.

March of Dimes Cage Game Set For January 22

Nevada's Wolf Pack will meet the Olympic Club of San Francisco in the annual "March of Dimes" basketball game in the university gymnasium next Thursday night at 8 pm. In the preliminary, the Nevada frosh will tackle the Reno High School team at 6:30.

All proceeds of the game will go to the "March of Dimes," the national campaign against infantile paralysis, and the Lions Club of Reno will sponsor the game for that organization. A standing price of $1.20 per person will be charged. Corps of Sponsors have volunteered as ushers and the university students who usually handle the gates, have donated their services for the event.

The game was arranged by Larry Devencenzi, chairman of the March of Dimes campaign, Monsignor Collins, Joe T. McDonnell, graduate manager, and Jake Lawlor, Wolf Pack coach.

The Olympic Club will come from the coast with a season standing of three wins and five losses while the Wolf Pack stands at six wins and seven losses.

Not much is known of this season's Olympic Club squad, but past years have proven the Winged "O" quintet to be a strong opponent.

With Nevada's inexperienced outfit fast rounding into shape, spectators can be sure of a top-notch basketball attraction.

The Pack will open with Grant Davis and Louie Joseph at the forward positions, Dan Orlich at center, and probably Ron Dupratt or John Subda at one guard spot, with Louis Mendive holding down the other.

Olympic starters will be Al Dutil and Al Race at the forwards, John McGee at the pivot spot, and Dick Mangen and Jack Hafner at the guard positions.

Radio station KWRN will broadcast the game with Gene Shumate at the microphone.

Sigma Rho Holds Formal Initiation

Eight new members were formally initiated into Sigma Rho Delta, local fraternity, last Monday evening in the SRD meeting room in Lincoln Hall.

Initiates included Vance Brown, Douglas Dodds, Wallace Green, Joel Morris, Roscoe K. Vassar, Frank Robins, Eugene Sprout and Robert Yorty.

Following the initiation which was under the direction of Robert Vaughan, a regular meeting was called to order by president of the fraternity, Elmo J. DeRicco.

Delores Spradling was appointed snack bar chairman for the Young Women's Christian Association at the last YWCA cabinet meeting, Marge Menu, president, stated today.

Appointment of Miss Spradling followed the resignation of Shirley Bell, former chairman.

PACK TRACKS

By Bill McFarland

Coach Joe Sheeketski is back from New York's coaches convention and meeting of the NCAA, where rules, regulations and empty schedules are taken care of.

While in the east, Sheeketski went all out to line up firstclass ball clubs for the Wolves to take a shot at next fall. Already on the Pack's schedule are St. Mary's, USF, Tulsa and Santa Clara. Tempe and Montana State are almost certainties, as a home and home basis was the agreement made last season.

All six have been tabbed away from home games unless different arrangements are made before September.

Of the four remaining games to be filled, and that is if Nevada schedules ten games, an outside chance is given for another go with Oregon at Eugene.

Iowa, a very long shot, may be listed, if so, it too will be a non-Reno affair. A game with Wichita at Kansas City is pending.

Of those nine possible games, not one is on tap for Mackay Stadium. The only opponents mentioned for the home lot are, North Texas State, Loyola of Los Angeles, San Jose State, and College of Pacific, all of which fall into the maybe-maybe not category.

At first glance, things look pretty short for games in this vicinity. Graduate Manager Joe T. McDonnell stated that such would not be the case and at least three and probably four games will be played here.

Nevada's "big game" here next fall is shaping up with North Texas State if the Texans can juggle their calendar in order to make an appearance here Homecoming, and if that can't be arranged, an earlier date will be decided upon.

It is a long way to go until September and dicking will take place all along the line before the final schedule is released. Next season's lineup of games is expected to top any previous year in Nevada's football history.

Intramural Quints Close as Second Week's Play Ends

At the end of the second week of intermural basketball competition, the ATO, SAE and Sigma Nu are leading the fight for the hill championship.

Following their win over the Independents last week 55 to 19, the Taus took the Phi Sigs in camp 46 to 26 last Wednesday. The Sigma Nus trounced Sigma Rho Delta last week with a 51 to 20 defeat.

Sigma Rho Delta was taken again, this time by the SAEs, 51 to 31. Lambda Chi Alpha also lost to the hot SAEs 47 to 33 this week.

In their first play of the season Theta Chi was beaten 55 to 35 by the Phi Sigs. Still stinging from their lost tilt with the ATOs during the first week of play, are the Independents.

Standings:

Teams	W	L
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	2	0
Alpha Tau Omega	2	0
Sigma Nu	1	0
Phi Sigma Kappa	1	1
Theta Chi	0	1
Independents	0	1

Houses Neglecting To Deposit Bonds

The recently passed senate motion establishing a fund for assessing delinquent houses and organizations for not sending members to the sophomore vigilantes and men's upper-class committee, has not been complied with, chairman Tommy Thompson of the upper-class committee said.

According to the motion, each house and organization is supposed to deposit a five dollar bond with the graduate manager for this purpose, Thompson stated.

The committee head pointed out that unless the money is immediately turned in, possible action by the senate might lead to suspension of school privileges for the delinquents.

CHEM CLUB DISCUSS POSSIBLE CHANGES

Possible changes in the club constitution will be the main business before the Chemistry Club at a short business meeting called by Lois Hitchens, club president, for Wednesday, January 21, at 4 pm for all members of the Chemistry Club.

Central Heating Unit Construction Okayed for Hill

Students will soon be able to shed their mufflers and mittens when entering a classroom on a cold morning.

The Nevada state planning board got together in Carson City last Friday and announced that work will begin on a central heating system for the university.

The state legislature some time ago appropriated approximately $317,000 which was felt an ample sum to cover the construction and installation of such a system. However, even the lowest of several construction bids exceeded this amount.

After Friday's all-day session in the capitol city, the board decided to start partial construction with funds available and let the next legislature appropriate additional funds to finish the project.

The system when completed will be connected with all buildings. Temporarily, however, it will be connected only with the new gym, Hatch Hall, the new engineering building, the veterinary building and the School of Mines.

Crucible Club Hears Mining Experiences

Workshop Courses in Conservation Education May Be Offered in Summer

Discussion of the possibility of instituting workshop courses in conservation of natural resources at the university was the topic of the first meeting of the committee for conservation education, George Hardman, state soil conservationist, announced this week.

The committee, composed of members of the Nevada faculty and officials of the state forest, conservation and education services, met Monday to study the problem of conservation education in Nevada.

Believing that conservation education in the Nevada school system is not what it might be, the committee proposed the introduction of workshop courses in the summer sessions at the university.

Courses Given Credit

The courses would be given for credit, and directed mainly at high school and grade school instructors taking summer courses. The intention would be to give teachers an appreciation of the problems of conservation.

Since there is already conservation study listed for this summer, it was decided to wait until at least 1949 before introducing a workshop course. Interest in the summer course, which will be taught by Dr. John C. Sherman of the University of Washington geography department, will determine the future of the workshop plan, said Hardman.

Research Work

The workshop courses, if introduced, will consist of units of research work divided up among the members of the class, who will collect all materials they can find in their particular phase of conservation, explained Hardman.

Thus, one group of students might choose watershed conservation as their topic and collect all the information they could gather from various sources relating to watershed control.

Results of the work of all the groups would then be compiled. It could be used to aid the program of conservation education throughout the primary and secondary schools, Hardman said.

Chapel Chimes

Canterbury Club members welcomed back treasurer Jim Davis who met with a serious accident during the Christmas holidays in Boulder City. Plans for future club trip were discussed at the meeting Thursday night.

Wednesday night the Wesley Foundation held a cabinet meeting comprising officers of the club. Alice "Susie" Pettis will make a report on the YWCA-YMCA Asilomar conference held during the Christmas vacation. Bob Morrison has formed a music appreciation group which will meet at his house next Tuesday. Students interested in the classics are invited to attend.

Jerome Marks, Roger Williams Club president, announced that the program scheduled for this past Sunday will be held on Sunday, January 18. Sunday morning the Comrade class, under the direction of Mrs. Mettie Ann Winston, English instructor at the university, meets at 9:45 pm and will discuss the Bible.

Clarence F. Marshall, YMCA secretary, and Lou Hilbert, Wesley Foundation director, met today to continue discussions on the long awaited student YMCA. Also at the Y, a sports night by the Live Y'ers is scheduled for 8 pm. In addition pictures of Live Y'ers activities will be shown tonight. Most important of all, new officers for the coming semester are up for election. New officers will serve a six months' term.

Tomorrow night at the 20th Century Club the Newman Club's annual dance starts at 9 pm. Dr. and Mrs. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sullivan will chaperone the dance which will last until midnight. Pela Oyarbide, Tri-Delt, is in charge of the dance. Monsignor John T. Smith announces that construction will begin on the Newman Club building in about two weeks.

Veteran Patients To See Assembly

Last week's assembly program will be repeated at the Veterans Hospital tonight, said James "Toad" Welin, chairman of the Red Cross campus entertainment unit.

Highlights of the assembly were Rex Jemison's fiery version of "My Old Flame," and Pat O'Brien's pantomimes. Jerry Wyness, "the attendant from Sparks," will again seek a lunatic, played by Doris Maloney.

Ty Short will be charge of the third in a monthly entertainment series provided for the veterans by the campus group.

Campus Magazine Question Raised At Board Meeting

Publication Board Approves Journalism Frat Plan To Staff Paper

Still unsettled, is the question laid before the publication board concerning the feasibility of a college humor and fashion magazine as an additional ASUN publication.

At a regular meeting of the publication board last Monday, George Himes, representative of the proposed publication, requested that a magazine to be called "Pogonip" and to be published quarterly, be made an official ASUN publication.

However, due to the past failure of the "Desert Wolf," U of N college humor magazine during the "roaring 20's," and the possibility that an additional publication might sap advertising strength from the Sagebrush and Artemisia, the request was left unanswered. Joe T. McDonnell, graduate manager, stated.

McDonnell said that a coming meeting between Tate Williams, secretary of the Nevada Retail Merchants Association, and representatives of the publication board and the proposed magazine will decide whether the available advertising can sustain the magazine.

George Himes, spokesman for the proposed magazine, "Pogonip," today announced that a petition for the purpose of obtaining student reaction to such a publication is being held up pending the outcome of the meeting with Tate Williams. However, the petition will be circulated on the campus in the near future, Himes stated.

Also at the meeting the publication board approved the request that members of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalism fraternity which was recently chartered on the campus, be permitted to staff the Sagebrush for one issue each year. The issue to be published by Sigma Delta Chi has not been determined, MacDonnell stated.

Jerry Parker was appointed as chairman of the publication board banquet to be given on February 15. Kay Sterling and John Smith will act as assistants for this affair. The banquet will be held for the members of the board and their guests, and will be at some suitable place in Reno, said MacDonnell.

'Mail Order' Study Bulletins Available, Announces Deming

New bulletins of the correspondence study department arrived early this week and are ready for distribution, announced department director M. W. Deming.

Approximately 165 students have registered for new courses, Deming said. Courses in demand have been added to the curriculum, while those not called for have been excluded, he added.

In addition to containing an application for enrollment, a book order form has been included in the new bulletin for the student to order text books from the University Book Store by mail. The bulletin is titled, "Home Study at the University of Nevada."

The majority of courses are

Dr. Gorrell Speaks To Humanities Club

Dr. Robert M. Gorrell, head of the English department, discussed traditional ballads and sang several of them at the monthly meeting of the Humanities group held Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hilliard. Mr. Hilliard is a member of the board of regents of the university. The group, which is presided over by Dr. Charlton Laird, is composed of male members of the faculty and staff.

Dr. Laird announced that the next meeting of the group will be held on the second Monday of February.
