PLANS NEAR COMPLETION FOR MACKAY CELEBRATION

Naming of a guest speaker for the Mackay Day luncheon and the hiring of a band to play for the dance are the final steps toward completion of plans for the traditional Mackay Day celebration on May 1.

Chairman Dale Riley reported that everything else appeared in readiness and that a speaker will probably be announced next week. The dance committee is holding auditions this week in order to select the best local band available.

The luncheon committee has made arrangements to place a table at the entrance of the library in order to accommodate students not affiliated with fraternities or sororities with luncheon tickets.

Tickets On Sale
Luncheon tickets are priced at 75 cents each. Persons who eat at the Manzanita dining hall can purchase tickets there for 25 cents; the 50 cents balance being taken care of on their meal tickets. Fraternity and sorority members can contact their house representative for tickets.

Dance tickets are to go on sale next week and can be bought at the same time and through the same procedure as the luncheon tickets.

Barbers to Judge
Three local barbers are being sought to judge the beard contest which precedes the Saturday evening dance. Five judges will also be chosen to select the skit contest winner. A faculty skit team, announced last week as a likely participant in the skit program, did not materialize. Previously, a faculty song team had been mentioned, but it too, failed to organize.

Engineering Plaques Reappear This Year

Copper plaques listing the names of graduate engineers for the years 1942 through 1948 will be engraved this year by the Associated Engineers, according to Dan Rice, president of the electrical group.

In the past, engraving was done in Reno, but at a cost of ten cents per letter, the accumulation of names in seven graduating classes proved far too great an expense. Thus, the engineers have undertaken the task themselves. The new plaques will appear on the benches outside the electrical building by the end of the semester.

The classes of 1944, '45, and '46 will be engraved on one plaque because of their small graduating classes.

Martie to Attend Western PE Meet

Representing Nevada at the Western district meeting of the National Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation will be J. E. (Doc) Martie, head of the university physical education department and president of the Nevada chapter of the association.

Martie will leave Friday to attend the western conference meeting Saturday at Salt Lake City and will go from there to attend the national convention at Kansas City.

The National Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation is a professional organization for all people in the physical education fields.

Board of Regents Approve Purchase

Purchase of two acres of land near the naval armory on Evans avenue was approved yesterday by the board of regents. Charles Gorman, comptroller, announced the land purchase approval this morning, and said the land will be used as the erection site of a new building.

Navy Inspectors Due to Examine Armory Building

The Navy Training Center, located northeast of the campus, will probably be accepted by the navy during the visit of their inspectors April 23 and 24. Allen E. Plummer, navy engineer, announced this week.

Acceptance will not include the dedication. According to word received by Plummer from the commandant of the Treasure Island naval district, the dedication will not be held until the building is at least partially furnished.

If this delays the dedication ceremonies until after the close of school, the navy will further postpone activities until school reopens, Plummer said. This is because those most interested in the use and development are connected with the university, Plummer explained.

Plumbing fixtures, which have been holding up the completion of the building, arrived this week and installation began immediately, Plummer said. He stated that the work now being done, other than final painting and plumbing, is caused by changes made in the plans since the start of the construction of the building.

As an example of the changes, Plummer cited the air conditioning system, changes for which arrived last Friday. The present outlets open along the ceiling of the hall which constitutes a fire hazard. These will be closed and a single large opening made at the end of the hall, Plummer said.

Plummer estimated that $50,000 worth of ordinance equipment is on the grounds waiting installation, including a multiple anti-aircraft gun. These are being installed by a navy crew stationed at the building, Plummer said.

Geologists Planning Extended Field Trip

A six weeks' field study for student geologists in the previously unexplored mining district of northeast Nevada will begin about June 10. Heading the group will be Prof. Allan Cree, assistant professor of Geology.

Twenty-one students having the prerequisites of senior standing and, or the approval of Prof. Vincent P. Gianella, chairman of the department of geology, have so far signed up for the trip.

The base of operations will be the camp of the College of Agriculture located approximately 45 miles north of Wells, Nevada. A fee of $75 plus $90 for board is the cost for the six weeks expedition.

Five-Hour Blaze Takes Heavy Toll At Aggie Station

$1,745 worth of hay and straw and 200 feet of fence was burned on the Nevada Agricultural Experiment station farm Wednesday morning.

Charles E. Fleming, station director, reported that 65 tons of hay and 10 tons of straw were lost.

Sighted at 11 am
The blaze, which was first sighted by members of a farm agronomy class at 11 a. m., was in a field adjacent to Highland terrace.

Three fire companies fought the spreading flames for five hours before the fire was completely under control. Dr. L. R. Vawter, who is associated with the department of Veterinary science, said that the blaze started in a stack of straw and later spread to the alfalfa.

The hay was used to feed the cattle and sheep which were used for experimental purposes in the department of Range Management. Vawter stated that it will be necessary to obtain additional hay from another source since the reserve supply is of inferior quality.

No Statement
The Reno fire department refused to issue a statement about how the fire started. Fleming said that he did not want "to point the finger of blame at anyone" when questioned about the cause of the fire.

It is reported that the destroyed property is covered by the university insurance policy.

Yturbide, Whitney Prep for Meet

In preparation for their appearance in the National Collegiate Debate meet, Bonnie Yturbide and Scott Whitney, representing the University of Nevada, will engage in a series of debates with other members of the debate class.

The Nevada speakers were chosen to represent the Pacific Coast in the national meet to be held at West Point on April 29, 30 and May 1, 2.

S. H. Vinocur, English instructor and debating coach, announced that he had arranged a series of inter-class debates for Yturbide and Scott against other members of the debate team. The other members will be divided into teams representing different schools throughout the county in order that Scott and Yturbide may expect what to encounter at the Nationals.

MALE MEMBERS ADDED TO ORCHESIS ROSTER

There are now two men members of Orchesis, the campus modern dance group, announced Miss Jacquelyn Van Gaasbeck, faculty adviser for the club. The two men, Don Thompson and Bob Coughlin, will do their interpreting in a comedy number in the Spring program of Orchesis.

Orchesis is open to men as well as women, Miss Van Gaasbeck said. Right now, the group is campaigning for more

JOINS 'FAMILY'

To be formally installed in the national organization Saturday at 6:30 pm at the new gymnasium is the University of Nevada's American Legion Memorial Post. Officers of the new campus organization will be Ed Drennon, commander; Jerry Wetzel, first vice-commander; Jim Werhle, adjutant; Lee DeLauer, finance officer; Doug Trail, sergeant at arms, and Kurt Baker, chaplain.

Seven Women Off To Attend Annual Home Ec Meeting

Seven women left yesterday morning for Yosemite National Park to attend the annual district conference of the Home Economics Clubs.

Those attending from Nevada are President Althea Benedict, Meryde Brown, June Powell, Joann Sanford, Miss Mildred Swift, Miss Virginia Carroll of the home economics department, and Miss Elaine Mobley, dean of women.

Fourteen schools will be represented at the conference from both California and Nevada. At least two home economics problems will be discussed at the meeting.

More than $100 was raised for this trip by the home ec cake sale given Feb. 16. Members made cakes and sold them at fraternity houses and Lincoln Hall.

Constitution Amended
At a meeting of the group last week, a final amendment was made to the club constitution allowing juniors to compete for the office of president. Also discussed at the meeting was the new home ec club pins being designed especially for the Nevada club. The pins are being made by an east coast jewelry concern, and will arrive soon, according to Miss Benedict, Home Ec Club president.

Dorothy Thomas reported to the group that pamphlets to be sent high school girls throughout the state are nearly ready for printing. The purpose of the pamphlets is to familiarize the girls with the university and specifically with the home economics department.

One-Third of EE Graduating Class Selected for GE

Practically one-third of the electrical engineering graduating class has been picked by the General Electric corporation for employment. Those men signed up are Dan A. Rice, Henry Owens and Edward R. Uhlig.

This high percentage, G. E. representatives say, comes from the fact that Nevada's small graduating class makes much easier the task of learning all the qualifications of each man. It in no way reflects as inadequate the students of other universities where possibly the same number is chosen from classes of several hundred.

There is the possibility that a fourth member of the class of ten graduating electrical engineers may be chosen for employment with G. E.

NOTICE

Seniors measurements are being taken for caps and gowns at the cataloging department of the library every morning from 9 a. m. to 12 noon. All the measurements should be in by April 24 so the caps and gowns will be ready by graduation.

Face-Lifting Due For Peavine 'N'

All first and second semester freshmen are to meet in front of the ASUN building Saturday morning at 8 o'clock to go up to paint the "N," according to Bill Gillis, president of the Block N.

All excuses must be in by that time he said, and those who are not there, or have not presented excuses by that time, will be subject to 'laking' or other forms of punishment.

Students are requested to wear old clothes. Transportation will be furnished, he continued, but those persons bringing their own cars are asked to meet at the ASUN building to pick up passengers.

A close check is to be made of those attending, according to Gillis, so that suitable punishment can be given to shirkers.

"Bud" Bowers is the supervisor of the event from Block N, and "Ted" Lokke, freshman president, is also in charge. Refreshments will be served by the freshman class at the semi-annual affair.

Trackmen Need Luck To Win Over Gators

Reclamation Agents Here to Recruit Engineer Students

Representatives of the Bureau of Reclamation were on the campus last week recruiting engineering students for summer and permanent employment.

By acquainting sophomore and junior students with all the phases of reclamation, the men sought to give future engineers a chance to decide where their interest lies.

The bureau, recruiting mainly for the Central Valley project of California, will try to place men in a location and job of their own choosing.

Though the Bureau of Reclamation does not attempt to compete with the wage scales of private companies, the representatives pointed out several attractions. Besides security, they said, men with the Reclamation Bureau have the satisfaction of doing a vital job for their country.

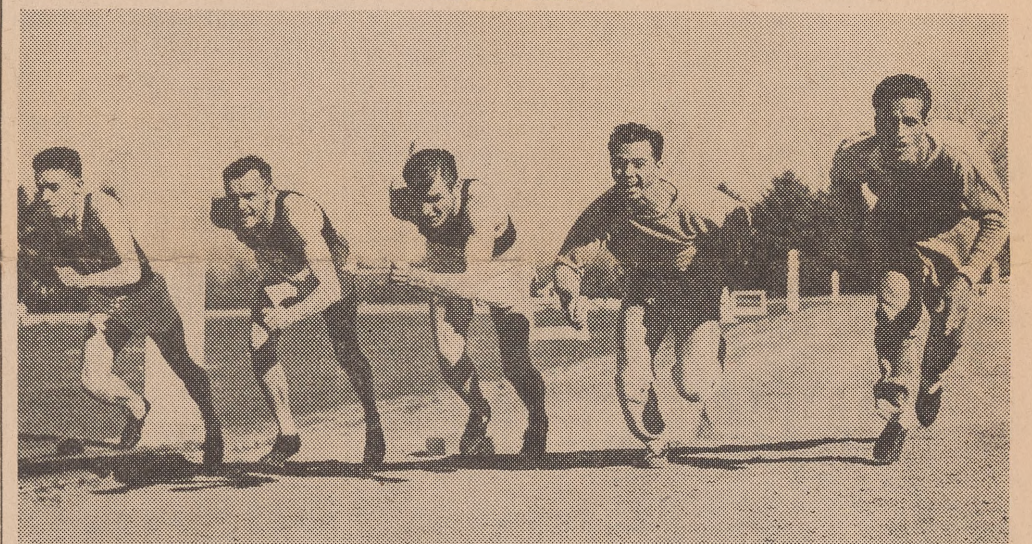

Nevada's trackmen, 20 strong, left this morning for San Francisco where they will take on San Francisco State College Saturday afternoon.

Before boarding the bus, Jake Lawlor, coach of the Pack cindermen, gave a hint of anything but optimism on the meet's outcome. "It'll be a tough battle," said Lawlor, "from start to finish, and we'll have to have all kinds of luck to come home with a win."

He went on to say that three men counted on for points in the bay meet had to be left home. John Walpole was listed as "probably out for the season due to a leg injury," and Buddy Hardy was lost for this weekend because of an injury suffered in an intramural baseball game. Ted Ensslin is out with an injured knee.

Beating the Gators will be no easy task, Lawlor said. They are rated one of the teams to beat on the coast. ed over a strong Santa Clara squad.

FLEET FEET

Beardless Wonder Receives 'Laking' Penalty Monday

Flying through the air and plopping into the lake went student Don Turner Monday, when he was penalized for not sporting a beard in traditional style for Mackay Day festivities.

Thompson Does Honors
Tommy Thompson, upperclass head, did the honors, as Turner's episode started the ball rolling in the search for all evaders of the "grow beards requirement."

Chief Thompson isn't alone when enforcing the traditional exercises and governing certain campus restrictions. He is backed by two upperclassmen for every Greek letter fraternity on the hill.

"No more excuses of any type will be recognized for non-appearance of the whiskers," stated Thompson, "because there was ample notice that work or doctor's excuses would be accepted up to April 7."

"Bosses" Assisted
The upperclass "bosses" are also assisted by the underclass vigilante committee, which is on the lookout for underclassmen wearing cords on the campus. Upperclass representatives have not yet been sent from the Independents or the Highlanders.

Chamber Musicians Make Campus Debut

The University Chamber Music Group, founded last fall by Professor Robert Tate, made its debut recently before the Faculty Women's Club meeting.

Handel's "Largo," a Brahms waltz, and Beethoven's "Rondino" were played. Anita Davidson gave two harp solos, "Song of the Volga Boatmen," and "Tookana," a song of her own composition, with an Indian "night breezes" motif.

A record of "The Moldau," by Frederich Smetana, Bohemian composer, concluded Professor Tate's musical program.

VA NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR LIBRARY FINES

All veterans must pay their library fines by the end of this semester, Georgia Mershon, head of the circulation department, announced this week.

The Veterans Administration makes no allowances for funds to pay fines for overdue or lost books she said. A list of men owing fines for last semester and this semester has been posted on the library bulletin board.

Fraternities Hold Costume Affairs During Weekend

In keeping with the costume dance season, three social fraternities will hold such affairs this weekend.

Tonight at the California building in Idlewild Park, Lambda Chi Alpha will stage their annual Joe College dance. Those attending the affair will dance in a strictly collegiate atmosphere. Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Buck White, Mr. and Mrs. John Uhalde and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mastroianni. Dancing will begin at 9 pm.

Jailbird Jig
Sigma Nu fraternity has scheduled the jailbird jig for tomorrow night, also at the California Building. The large hall will be decorated in a manner typical of the oldtime jail and prizes will be awarded the couple wearing most original costume. Dr. and Mrs. Harold N. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Smith will be chaperones.

Hobo Jungle
It will be life in a hobo jungle for the Phi Sigs and their guests tomorrow night when they stage their annual hobo dance. The dance, which will be held at the chapter house, will be chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Varrel L. Wilkie and Mr. and Mrs. C. Bogush.

Letter to the Editor

Sagebrush Editor: Dear Editor:

In re: Rhoda Phillips vs. women's upperclass committee.

Our hats are off to Rhoda Phillips! It is not often that a person is found who has the courage of his convictions sufficiently strong to flout the powers that be. It is a quality found in the signers of the Declaration of Independence, the first labor unionist and other groups and individuals who have not asked, "What will people think?" but "Is it right?"

The fact that Germans found it easier to give the nazi salute than suffer the ire of the storm troopers lead to the rise of Hitler. So may our liberties be lost. It is encouraging that there are still people who refuse to bend the knee. In their care our heritage is safe.

Whether the "freshman regulations" (They are not traditions since traditions would need no enforcing) should be maintained, should be decided by referendum to the student body at the next election. That is the only democratic means of settling this question.

Snow Conference Presents Church Medal for Work

Dr. J. E. Church, known around the world as the "father of the snow survey," will be awarded a gold medal in appreciation of his work during the Western Snow conference which started yesterday on the campus.

Now conducting a snow survey in Argentina, while on leave from the university, Dr. Church will not be present to receive his medal at the conference. The organization has scheduled its conclave for Reno especially to honor the snow survey expert.

Dr. Church has been predicting water content and runoff from snow for 48 of his 79 years. He conducted his first survey at Galena Creek.

He will return to the university's experiment station in one or two months. In August he will go to Oslo, Norway, to conduct a snow survey at the request of the Norwegian government.

The conference medal will be accepted for Dr. Church by Prof. H. P. Boardman, emeritus professor in civil engineering.

From February, 1947, to July, 1947, Dr. Church conducted a snow survey in India. Before his work in India, he had spent many years experimenting with his snow survey in the high Sierra.

News From Abroad

By Della Sorenson

After the blank looks following last week's attempt at intellectual analysis, we're back to the usual stuff this week. Never let it be said that the U. of N. Sagebrush doesn't give the students what they want. Besides, the semester is almost over, and someone else will have to do this next year. So we might as well enjoy ourselves for the little time we have left.

The Daily Californian: "Jay Richards, 21, and his 19-year-old date, Phoebe Nichols, in some manner which is still a mystery to the persons who were present, danced or fell through a pair of open full length French windows at the Zeta Psi fraternity house, and fell 15 feet to the concrete steps below."

Carried away, before and after.

The Indiana Daily Student: "Where there's smoke there must be fire—or so everyone in the lobby of the Union Building thought last night."

"At first, one student thought the smoke came from his pipe, but as an assistant in the Union opened the door to the utility room out rolled more smoke. The fire, which started in the trash can, was put out with two fire extinguishers."

Incense in the halls of learning.

The Idaho Argonaut: "At the University of California, 10 out-of-state students received one dollar each for submitting to flea bites. Out-of-state students were used because Californians are partially, or wholly immune to the bite."

Bring your dogs around. I'm working my way through college.

Idaho Argonaut, Joke! "Use the word diadem in a sentence."

San Jose Faculty Showing Art Work

Water colors, oils, monotypes, gouache and pastels by San Jose State college faculty members will be shown in the art rooms of the temporary buildings week days until April 25, from 1 to 5 p. m.

Landscapes of the California locale predominate in the paintings displayed. "Dark Monday," a semi-realistic water color by Warren Faus, is termed the exhibit's best by J. Craig Sheppard, assistant professor of art.

A former student of Mr. Sheppard's at Montana State college, Faus has been an assistant in art at San Jose since 1946. Faus is an outstanding artist for his technical facility and excellent color quality, remarked Sheppard.

MUSIC HOUR SERIES PRESENTS PROGRAM

The University Music Hour Series will present a program of orchestra music by the Reno Civic Orchestra, under the direction of Prof. R. Z. Tate, assistant professor of music, on Tuesday, April 20, at the university gymnasium.

The group, composed of about 35 members, will play a straight program of orchestra numbers. The selections that will be presented have not been announced as yet, but will be available next week. The program will be open to the general public.

Student Decision To Be Final Word On Campus YMCA

Main obstacle in establishing a YMCA on the campus is the large number of student organizations already established which total more than 60. Clarence Marshall, local YMCA secretary, was told by President John O. Moseley in a recent conference in the president's office.

President Moseley also informed Mr. Marshall that he would give all the assistance he could in establishing a campus Y, but that the final decision must be made by the students.

Working with Lou Hilbert, Wesley Foundation director, Marshall will present a two day program to the students on April 19 and 20, on the campus. Bruce McGuire, Pacific area student YMCA secretary will be the guest speaker.

Prof. Miller Speaks To Phi Alpha Theta

"The attempted change to pure democracy in Germany has been too rapid, and modification is necessary," stated Milton Miller, instructor of English, in his speech before Phi Alpha Theta, honorary history society, last week at Artemesia hall.

While with the military government in Germany, Miller saw the great responsibility that the United States has inherited in its occupation of Germany.

Next meeting will be held May 5, at which time elections of officers will be held.

Nevada Netmen To Open Season With Chico State

Breaking the seal on the 1948 season, the University of Nevada tennis squad will invade California this weekend to oppose the Chico State College racquet team.

This will not be the initial match for the Chico squad as they have had early season sessions with strong Californian teams. Ideal weather conditions enjoyed by the southern schools enable them to begin seasonal play months before the schools from colder climates, such as Nevada's, are able to work out.

Early spring rains and high winds have prevented the local squad from getting into top shape for the opening engagement, but head tennis coach Dr. M. W. Deming said the support furnished by two newcomers, Ed Scott and Al Tabor, should place the netters on equal terms with the opponents.

Coach Deming and six net men will make the trip to Chico. Those players representing the university are Ed Scott, Al Tabor, Ed Reed, Glenn Pridgen, Ron Brubaker and Bob Swain.

In a pre-season practice match, the university tennis team was shut out by the Reno tennis team 10-0 on the municipal courts Sunday. The Pack netmen were unable to obtain a single win over the Reno racquet club.

Like honey, kind words not only sweeten but leaven.

PACK TRACKS

By Bill McFarland

Several weeks ago this column ran an item on the future of baseball as a varsity sport this year. In effect, the story was an obituary as far as diamond play against other colleges was concerned. The Board of Athletic Control had suspended, (not abolished), horsehide activities.

One of the reasons given for not having the sport was the limitations of playing facilities such as a diamond. Clark field entered the picture, and that location was decided against because the intramural baseball program would also have to take place at that site.

Last week the Sagebrush ran a story in its sports section stating that the interfraternity council felt that their program did not interfere with varsity baseball and that they would send a petitioned letter to the athletic board asking for the return of baseball to the sports agenda in 1949.

With that commitment on the part of the interfrat council, a conclusion may be drawn that it is possible for both varsity and mural teams to make use of the campus diamond, therefore, eliminating the aforementioned reason for not having varsity baseball.

Sports moguls, on the other hand, apparently did not want to infer that varsity teams were having to step aside to make way for intramural teams. They felt that use of the campus' one and only diamond by both was impractical. The board had to reach a decision as to who would get full use of the orchard.

Since more boys are affected in mural play, the board felt that their program should not be dropped, but instead, varsity baseball would have to hibernate until another diamond could be obtained, preferably one on campus.

To further show that baseball did have a place on campus, the board authorized $300—which they didn't have to do—to buy equipment for the mural league.

The entire picture casts a light on the fact that this university is short on facilities for its athletes. Perhaps conflicts such as the baseball situation offers could have been avoided had someone along the line recognized these needs before now.

Lack of facilities for its sports program has become a big problem at this university. Undoubtedly the athletic department will have to take steps to remedy the situation, or face beefs from several factions around the campus in the future.

Wolf Tumblers Plan Exhibition For High Schools

The Olympics Club, University of Nevada's tumbling organization, will travel to Winnemucca Saturday to put on the first of a series of exhibitions before the high schools surrounding this area. The trip is being taken in cooperation with the alumni association, which is sponsoring tours of state schools with various university organizations and talent to show the high school what the institutions has to offer.

The tumbling team, coached by A. E. (Art) Broten will consist of Bob Wengert, Jack Parke, Dave Cochran, Irving

Hackett, Mel Windsor, Bill Ryan, Don Thompson, Joe Melcher, Gene Wait and Gene Sprout. They plan to exhibit work on the spring board, mat and in building pyramids. The triple pass dive shown for the first time, during Pepperdine basketball game exhibitions, will be perfected and put on to show the younger men what timing and precision can do for the men working off the mats.

Future trips are planned for the team, but as yet none are definite.

Announced also by Broten is a new school tumbling award. The award will be given to each person that passes a series of tests designed by the instructor. Only one man, Bob Wengert, has qualified so far in these proficiency examinations.

Conditions will be looking normal again when used cars are cheaper than new ones.
